Blood poured from his left ribs, shoulders, and back, almost penetrating completely through. The four great individual's strength reached the limit that was allowed within the Hundred Shattering mountains; within this small world, it didn't matter who they met, as they could fight anyone.

Of course, this was excluding the realm's native creatures.

The light in the little guy's eyes were flickering. Blood dripped the entire way, and his body was swaying back and forth, seeming as if he couldn't take it any longer. In the end, he dropped, falling in front of a large lake.

“How come you aren’t running anymore?” Yu Kun carried a faint smile on his face, completely relaxed. As he looked at the child in front of him, he felt that everything was now grasped in his hands.

It was worth mentioning that this youth inflicted a strong blow on him. He was still so young, yet he had this type of ability; just how great would it be when he grew up?!

“You have received heaven warping divine gifts, and in the future, you might really be able to go back and forth with Shi Yi. What a pity, you won’t live past today.” One of the elders was laughing deeply with a cold glint in his eyes.

The four people got ready, and prepared to make their moves.

“Within my mind, I have already set my mind on the fact that you are that child. However, the martial imperial government won’t find out. Even if you are a heaven warping divine person, you will still fall today. Moreover, even if they found out that you are alive, so what? That year, they had already made their choice!”

“That year, we were unable to kill your father, and merely inflicted a fatal wound on him. We lost many of our Rain Clan experts then. Today, after we kill you, once Shi Ziling finds out, I’m sure he will go crazy.”

Cruel and cold smiles hung from their lips. Even now, they did not forget to verbally attack the little guy to ultimately confirm his identity.

The great lake was terrifyingly calm. All of the little guy’s muscles went taut, and his hairs stood erect as he got ready to jump at any time. He stood beside the lake with the back of his hands behind him, aiming the precious mirror at the surface of the lake.

Suddenly, the four great experts moved out. They charged forward together with the goal of catching the little guy. Their bodies revealed countless symbols, lighting this place up with bright and resplendent rays of light.

With a hong sound, the little guy used the golden bone shears to protect himself while the Suan Ni precious mirror emitted a streak of lightning. It struck the great lake, immediately creating a heaven overflowing wave that poured over.

“Do you think you can escape with the help of this wave? In the face of the great waters, my Rain Clan can increase our strength by a large level. It is futile to try and escape by borrowing the strength of water,” one of them coldly laughed.

The four individuals transformed into light, rushing over in an instant.

At that moment, the little guy only made a single action. That movement was to shift horizontally, the speed of his body reaching its peak. He slipped out over ten zhang [1] out, leaving behind an afterimage.

[tl: [1] = 3.3 meters]

In that instant, the Rain Clan halted their steps and wanted to follow horizontally. However, at this moment, from within the heaven reaching wave, a huge figure appeared. Following that, an enormous bloody mouth emerged. The teeth alone reached a few meters, snow white and sharp to the extreme. They were extremely terrifying as they flickered with cold light.

This was a Fish Dragon, and its aura was terrifying. It had the head of a Flood Dragon, and the body of a fish. Its entire body was radiating light, and just its eyes alone were the size of millstones. Its head was similar to that of a small mountain, and as it broke through the water surface, it immediately bit down; this was simply all too sudden.

Ah...

Among them, two individuals cried out miserably. They were enshrouded within an expanse of symbols. A scarlet tongue rolled out, carrying them into its enormous mouth. With a kacha sound, it closed, causing blood to blossom and splash out.

One of them was directly bitten into pieces by the snow white teeth that resembled broadswords before being swallowed.

The other person was going all out and risking his life as he struggled. In the instant before entering that giant mouth, he was heartlessly torn in half! His two legs were snapped off, and he fell down by the shore, miserably screaming as the floor was dyed in red.

“Ah... No!”

The other two angrily roared, and crazily attacked. They wanted to rescue the one who had been swallowed. Unfortunately, they themselves could not avoid the danger, as they could not do anything to that colossus.

Symbols flickered, as if huge billows were engulfing their way over. The blood-colored mouth once again opened. That Fish Dragon was extremely resentful, and wanted to continue eating. This was because these individuals were all rarely seen experts, and was considered precious flesh medicine to it.

The faces of the two individuals in the back paled, supporting the individual who lost both his legs. They frantically used precious techniques, and as symbols hid the skies and covered the earth, they fled from the large lake.

This was a shocking turn of events. Everything happened too quickly, not allowing anyone to react. It all happened in the blink of an eye; among the four experts, one of them lost their life, and another lost both his legs with fresh blood gushing out.

The little guy turned around and entered the jungle, quickly fleeing.

He naturally knew that the Fish Dragon resided there. The first time they passed by, this vicious beast almost swallowed him and the Nine-Headed Lion into his stomach.

There were quite a few terrifying creatures living within this small world. Since they were born within this world, they weren't suppressed. Only the excessively powerful geniuses from outside would face tribulation.

"How could it be like this?"

The Rain Clan's four experts lost a member and had another one crippled in the blink of an eye. Yu Kun and the other elder's eyes were all spewing out flames. They searched for the little guy, really wanting to peel off his flesh; this child was too despicable.

“If I catch him, I am going to put him to death with a thousand cuts!”

They were talking through clenched teeth, blue veins jumping on their foreheads.

Within the lake, the Fish Dragon did not go ashore, only moving to and fro within the waters. It revealed a small mountain sized head as it stared at these people, seeming as if it was preparing to attack again.

The two individuals stared at that great lake. They really wanted to jump into those waters and behead that Fish Dragon. In the end, however, they hatefully stamped their feet before leaving with the wounded on their back. They activated their precious artifacts and hunted after the little guy.

This was due to the fact that the Fish Dragon was extremely terrifying, it's level of power not any lower than theirs. If they fought all out here, then they might risk being discovered by the laws of this small world and get erased.

Although the little guy was still being pursued, he was no longer feeling terrible inside. Not only did they lose one person, they also gained a burden. Chasing after him now was not as easy as before.

However, the Rain Clan's experts were truly powerful. Even though they were carrying a handicapped person, after operating their precious artifacts, they were still incomparably swift. They once again appeared, pursuing closely behind.

“I need to think of a way to break into a few forbidden areas to stir up a few terrifying existences. Otherwise, it’ll be impossible to break past them.” The little guy decided on a plan, and escaped into the depths of the mountains.

He operated his precious technique, breaking through the clouds and piercing through the mist. When he passed over a mountain ridge, he almost collided with a vicious bird within the clouds. It was clear that this was a powerful and easily angered fierce bird. It opened its mouth to clearly cry, directly spitting out an expanse of flaming light.

Shua

The little guy moved horizontally, dodging in a split second. Following that, he suddenly dove past, throwing himself forward regardless of what was there.

This was a flaming great bird. Its entire body had mysterious multicolored light encircling about. It could be said that its outwards appearance was fabulous, and was extremely like the Archaic divine bird — Vermillion Bird.

It passed through the mist, finally seeing the little guy’s appearance. It was immediately scared stiff. It miserably cried out, almost falling out of the sky, flapping its wings to escape.

“Big Red, don’t run! I’m not trying to get you into my bowl!”

At this time, the little guy exhausted all of his strength before finally dropping on top of the Flame Yunque’s body. It hugged its neck as if he wouldn’t let go even if he died. He was happy to the point where his eyes were emitting light, because he didn't need to enter those forbidden lands this time.

The great red bird miserably howled, as if it had been captured by a dinosaur. Its entire body was powerless, filled with unwillingness and despair. It whimpered, "Why?! Why did I have to come across you again? I already hid into the skies, yet we still met!"

"It's fate!" The little guy was laughing heartily while hugging its neck, his heart elated.

However, the Fire Yunque was scared into trembling. It howled endlessly like a chicken or duck about to be slaughtered. "Why am I so unlucky? The heavens want me to die ah... I ended meeting this devil king again."

As soon as the little guy entered the Hundred Shattering mountains, he had an encounter with 'Big Red.' He even sliced off roughly twenty jin of flesh, making a meal of it after stewing it within a pot.

Now, Big Red met him again. It was just like meeting a ghost, affecting his heart. It cursed repetitively, and it was as if hundreds of thousands of horses were trampling over it. Why did it end up meeting this monster above the clouds? This was just too unlucky.

"Big Red, don't be scared. I am very kind, and won't harm you," comforted the little guy.

"Spit out my flesh then!" Big Red was extremely angry.

The little guy gave out a hollow laugh.

“There are evil people chasing after me, so we need to hurry to flee. With your speed, escaping from them is too easy.” The little guy nervously looked backwards.

When Big Red heard this, its eyes immediately lit up. Moreover, this bird immediately turned around with the goal of chasing after them. Wasn't the enemy of your enemy your friend? It was hoping that someone would take care of devil king, rescuing it from this abyss of suffering.

“Stupid bird, quickly run! Otherwise, I'm going to eat you!” The little guy fiercely spoke, revealing a mouthful of small white teeth. He grinded his teeth while hugging its neck.

Big Red was scared to shivering, almost falling out of the sky. It pulled back its neck after suffering from the little guy's bullying, once again running into the distance.

“That's the right way.” Soon after, the little guy was amazed. Big Red transformed into a ray of fiery light. It streaked across the sky, its speed reaching a shocking level.

Behind them, the Rain Clan's two experts blinked their eyes. Does this fucker even understand reasoning? They were so exhausted after chasing, yet he just suddenly rode on top of a bird? The two individuals' teeth were hurting, and their stomachs as well as lungs were sore.

Chapter 131 – Bird Feathers on the Ground

Yu Kun and Yu Wencheng were both exhausted in both body and spirit. They were truly tired as they chased after him this entire time, and was even about to catch him. However, in the blink of an eye, they saw him ride on top of a Fire Yunque, turning around and escaping without a trace.

The two individuals were moving about in anger. White smoke was being spewed out from their nostrils, however, they could do nothing about it. Mist was floating about. Where would they go to find that man and bird? In the end, they failed through the lack of a final effort.

“Forget about it, let’s go back first. The water treasure is about to materialize. To our clan, it bears quite a large importance. Maybe it will be sufficient for our clan to rise to the top, revealing another human emperor.”

The two individuals carried the crippled individual on their backs, hatefully turning around and disappearing into the distance. If the little guy showed up again, they would immediately do everything in their power to kill him.

“Big Red, your speed is really fast.” The little guy gasped in admiration. The big red bird transformed into a streak of fiery light, breaking through the clouds and piercing through the mist like a scarlet ray of light.

The big red bird was proud as it spoke, “Of course. Have you seen who I am? If this magnificent bird emperor didn’t have a few tricks, how would I have dared to come inside the Hundred Shattering Mountains? My name is destined to be recorded in history.”

“Bird emperor? It’ll definitely be tasty then. It’s also an Archaic species, so the taste must be even greater!” The little guy wiped off the saliva from his mouth.

After the large red bird heard what he said, it immediately shivered and shook its head at once. “My body is all bones, and there isn’t much meat. Moreover, I come a small place, and is only the emperor of a small mountain top!” It was truly a bit scared of this little demon king, fearing that it might be eaten.

“All bones is also good, since it’ll be crispy.” The little guy hung off of its neck, and it could feel the heat coming out from his mouth.

The big red bird was absolutely horrified, screaming out, “Don’t! I recently got sick, and contracted some bizarre disease. If you eat me, your entire body will rot!”

“Forget it, I won’t scare you anymore. I am an extremely nice person. In the future, we will be working together, and need to mutually assist each other. I guarantee that you will receive a great opportunity in the future,” spoke the little guy warm-heartedly.

After the big red bird heard this, it was extremely unsatisfied. Working together my ass! It’s so obvious that you’re sitting on my back! If you have the ability, than carry me on your back while flying; that is what’s called mutually assisting each other.

“Hey, dumb bird, what is wrong with your eyes? Why is it almost completely white?” asked the little guy.

It’s obviously to glare at you! I want to throw you off! The big red bird really wanted to spit out those words, but in the end, it didn't dare to do so. It resentfully muttered, "I was born with more white in my eyes."

The little guy patted it a few times and said, "Don't be so stingy. In the future, I'll give you a large gift. I know a small red bird, and although it is only the size of a palm, it is far stronger than you. In the future, I'll introduce you to it as your master. You'll definitely reach the heavens in a single leap, enjoying the benefits for the rest of your life."

"What?! A palm-sized child? Making something like that my master, this grandpa won't do something like that!" The big red bird was angry.

The little guy threw sidelong glances at it and said, "Don't regret this afterwards. That might be a Vermilion Bird or its descendant. When the time comes where we truly meet, don't cry and kneel while begging to become its disciple."

"Pah! This grandpa isn't that type of person, and wouldn't care about things like that." The big red bird had a look of disdain.

"Stupid bird, after meeting up like this, what grandpa? I'm going to strike!"

With a dong sound, a huge blister appeared on that large red bird's head. It became confused and disoriented, almost dropping out of the sky while shrieking.

"Find a spiritual mountain. I need to heal." The little guy's injuries could not be considered light. There were quite a few bloody holes on his body, and even now, fresh blood flowed out.

When the big red bird heard this, its eyes immediately lit up as it flew towards a mountain range. It felt that it could most likely get rid of this devil king.

“Stupid bird, I can tell what you are thinking as soon as you lifted your butt. Don’t play any tricks. Otherwise, I’ll definitely eat you,” warned the little guy.

“Why are you so fixed on me? Can you please change for a different Archaic descendant?” The big red bird was extremely unwilling.

“Who told you to fly so fast? There would be big trouble if I changed for another vicious bird and got caught by the people behind,” said the little guy.

“Then I’ll fly a bit slower, maybe even break one of my wings.” Big Red was extremely angry, and wanted to go on strike.

“Alright, I’ll help you then!” The little guy began grab its feathers, immediately causing scarlet feathers to flutter about. His attitude implied that he was really going to pluck it naked.

“Ah... What are you doing?”

“Plucking your feathers! Afterwards, I’ll throw you into a river to wash you clean before putting you into a pot to stew,” said the little guy.

“You already said that you wouldn’t eat me! How could you go back on your words?” Big Red was screeching.

“That’s on the premise that you carried me while flying. Now that you are going on strike, since you are going to be useless, it’s better to just eat you.”

“Okay, I won’t mess around anymore. I’ll fly, so we’ll go wherever you want to go.” Big Red felt wronged, as if he was being bullied by a younger family member.

Of course, it was still restless. Its large eyes were moving about constantly as if said, “You want an even faster vicious bird right? I know one that isn’t any slower than me, do you want to visit the nest it guards?”

“Let’s go there then, perfect place for recovering.” The little guy knew with a glance that that was most likely a hated enemy of the big red bird. This fellow was not any good, wanting to borrow his hand to defeat its enemy.

This was a mountain cliff with a huge bird nest constructed on top. Bones of the dead were piled up below the cliff, and quite a few belonged to humans. One could tell with a glance that this was the lair of a vicious creature.

The little guy frowned. This creature was not simple. He saw within the bone pile the skeletal remains of seven to eight humans. They were still polluted with wisps of blood, implying that they were devoured not that long ago.

“They are all human race geniuses ah... They all ended up being its food.”

This nest was forged out of dead trees, and was emitting a wave of murderous aura. The surrounding cliff was dense with the smell of blood. It was definitely the remnant of the vicious bird’s last meal.

The big red bird was circling about, speaking in bewilderment, “Yi, it’s not in its nest.

Following that, it quickly pulled together its wings. It dropped down, landing within the nest.

The dead trees were thick and extremely sturdy. However, a layer of soft silver grass lined the inside, neat and cozy.

“Wa, there are eggs!” The Fire Yunque burst into loud laughter, rushing over in high spirits. It tossed aside a pile of silver grass, revealing three enormous eggs.

There were three eggs the size of stone rollers. They were completely black and sparkling, as if they were made out of black jade. Symbols were accumulated inside, circulating with strands of essence energy.

The big red bird’s mouth cracked open, giggling endlessly. “This is the egg of the mountain’s bird of prey! It is equivalent to great tonics!”

“Ai, I lost my cauldron!” The little guy was sighing in despair. His pots, bowls, ladles, etc. were all left behind during the chase. Now, he had no way of creating a meat delicacy.

“What pot or cauldron? Watch me, I am a connoisseur in egg-eating.” The big red bird had a look of pride on its face.

It stood within the grass, its wings suddenly unfolding, slashing toward the eggs. With a kacha sound, it made a perfect cut, as if it was done with a knife.

Moreover, those two egg halves immediately fell down, perfectly sitting horizontally without spilling a single drop of egg juice.

Currently, the egg shells were like bowls. They were filled with egg yolk and white, emitting multicolored light. The fluid inside was sparkling and translucent, distributing a sweet scent, making people drool with desire.

The egg was divided into two, and both halves were like this.

The big red bird laughed foolishly. Its movements were extremely swift, opening its mouth to spew out flames, adding heat to these 'egg bowls.' Both 'bowls' began to emit a strong fragrance. The juice began to bubble before beginning to become golden and shiny.

The little guy started with a stupefied expression. This dumb bird was actually a foodie! In the past, it must have done this quite a few times.

"Turns out that you are an egg thief!"

"Pah! This grandpa only does this sometimes. While your body is maturing, you need some kind of supplement right? Otherwise, how would you become taller, faster, and more powerful?" The big red bird was speaking forcefully and with justice.

The little guy couldn't care less about its bad record. It was currently carrying heavy wounds, so he naturally would not pass up this divine and nourishing good. He immediately move his head in towards the 'egg bowl', eating heartily. In the blink of an eye, the stone roller sized egg was completely eaten.

“I didn’t even eat yet!” Big red was extremely angry.

“There are still two more eggs! Continue cooking!” The little guy wiped his mouth. When his mouth opened, essence energy gushed out. Multicolored light could clearly be seen, and it was obvious how rich the divine essence was within the egg.

In the end, the little guy ate two of the eggs, and they were even heavier than his own body. It completely transformed into essence energy. His entire body radiated light, and as he sat there, he began to circulate symbols to recover.

The big red bird was also rather satisfied after eating an egg. It was full to the point where it was hiccuping, and as it lied down on the ground, it had its legs crossed. It took out a wooden stick and began to pick at its mouth.

“Do you have teeth?” The little guy shot a glance at it.

“This grandpa is happy. This is a type of spiritual pleasure.” The big red bird had an expression implying that the little guy wouldn’t understand.

The little guy did not pay attention to it anymore, and concentrated his mind on healing. The bloody holes began to quickly heal up at a visible speed, quickly recovering. This was caused by multicolored light, making his body bright and clean without a single wound left.

“What a weirdo. Are you sure you’re not a real Archaic vicious beast?” The big red bird had its doubts. It stared at the little guy for a really long time. When it saw that he didn’t show any reactions, it quietly stood up, suddenly jumping off the cliff and spread its wings to flee.

With a peng sound, the little guy also jumped off, smashing down on its back.

Ao... The big red bird miserably yelled, feeling as if it had been stomped on by a prehistoric monster. Everything in front of its eyes became dark, almost crashing down onto the ground.

"I'm still not full. Have you decided that you wanted to throw yourself into the egg bowl to get cooked?" The little guy sat on top of its back as he continued his healing.

"Aiyou, grandpa's small waist!" The big red bird flapped its wings, bird feathers falling down.

After experiencing this, the big red bird no longer dared to rashly escape.

Suddenly, a long cry rang out. A gigantic bird swooped down from the horizon, its voice ear-slitting like thunder. It was twenty to thirty meters long, with a terrifying bodily form.

"The parent is here! Savage child, quickly fight with it!" screamed the big red bird.

"I wasn't the one that roasted the egg. You are the one that did those underhanded things. Quickly go and fight." While the little guy was speaking, he fastened one of the egg shells to its head. It looked like a steel helmet, radiating dark light.

“You are making me into a scapegoat and placing the blame on me! Stop playing around! It’s clearly you who ate two of them! I only ate one!” shouted the big red bird.

However, soon after, he could no longer cry out. He didn’t have time to ramble on, because that mountain bird of prey had already appeared. It was a colossus not only in name but also in reality. It was as if a black cloud was descending, and after it saw the ‘black cap’, its eyes immediately shot out flames, attacking in a berserk manner.

Of course, the big red bird was not that easy to deal with. Just because it wasn’t as strong as the little guy did not mean that it was weak. On the contrary, as an Archaic species, it was extremely powerful. It began its counterattack.

Immediately, bird feathers danced about in the skies. Raging flames scorched the area, and dark light hacked about, causing this area to erupt.

In the end, the mountain bird of prey lost. It escaped without a trace.

“To fight with me, have you seen who this grandpa is?” The big red bird was acting high and mighty. Only when the mountain bird of prey left did it begin to miserably cry out, “Fuck! It hurts so much! Why is that shitty bird so vicious?”

“Aiyou, my small waist. My slender legs and beautiful wings, they are about to break.”

It rolled around in the air, continuously tossing from side to side. Snot and tears were flying about.

Several days later, not only did the little guy's injuries disappear, it seemed as if his body became a bit more powerful. His two pupils were clear as he said, "Let's go and see how the Rain Clan is doing."

This region was full of lakes. Several centuries ago, the Rain Clan's people arrived here. They could vaguely feel the aura of the True Supreme Water from legends.

This could be considered a type of divine fluid, and it possessed all types of strange effects. For example, it could be used as medicine, and be refined into an exceptionally precious pill.

It borrowed the law and order of water. Although it is impossible for people to uncover the source of its mysterious, it still holds extreme significance for the Rain Clan. When they borrowed it to cultivate, they could attain twice the effect with half the work.

The Rain Clan mustered up a large force precisely for this reason. After searching for so many days, they finally gradually gained some progress.

They were not in front of the great lake nor were they at the spiritual spring. They were deep within the only desert in these lands, finding a distant pond. It was only a meter wide, and as the divine fluid bubbled forth, propitious vapors rose.

However, after walking for two days, they still could not reach that divine pond.

“It must be a reservoir of True Supreme Water, but an illusionary land appeared, misleading us. However, this just means that we are getting closer to it.”

Yu Kun was excited. After dispatching so many people and persevering for so long in this search, they were finally going to reap in some harvest.

According to legend, the True Supreme Water was something that even the deities needed. With its spiritual nature of being able to nourish precious artifacts with even a single drop, it was precious beyond belief.

There was actually a divine reservoir here. If the outside world were to find out, then it would definitely cause a huge sensation. A great number of old freaks would no longer care about anything and find any way possible to send in people to fight over this.

Chapter 132 – Promising and Brilliant Youth

“This grandpa doesn’t care anymore, going on strike! During the following few days, my beautiful feathers have been continuously abused. If this continues, I am going to age prematurely and lose the prime of my life!” The big red bird had already flowed for several days, tired to the point of wilting. It was going to go on strike.

“I just fed you a spirit medicine. Now, if we stew you, it would be just like chicken and mushrooms. It would be a mountain and field delicacy,” threatened the little guy.

“Then just stew! I’ve already died a hundred times over, it’ll at least save me from suffering.” The big red bird was like a dead pig that wasn’t afraid of boiling water. It realized that this savage child wasn’t really going to eat it, because he still needed it for transportation.

“You really aren’t going to move?!” The little guy grinded his teeth, beginning to madly pull out its hairs. Scarlet feathers danced in the air, falling like rain.

The big red bird miserably yelled. However, this time it had decided to resist and fight for its own rights. It unexpectedly clenched its teeth and mumbled to itself, “It will grow back in the future, it will grow back in the future...”

The little guy took out the golden bone shears, allowing it to change into its real form that looked like a dragon head. The top and bottom jaw opened and closed, biting off a chunk from its neck, causing blood to flow.

“If you aren’t going to go any more then I’m just going to eat.”

“He’s going to eat me! Save me ah! The savage child is going to eat me!” The big red bird was once again terrified. It did not turn around, and thought that the little guy bit down himself. It flapped its wings, directly taking off to the skies.

“Go forward, continue scouting,” ordered the little guy.

The big red bird hung its head dispiritedly. It did not have any energy left. During these past few days, it was always doing the dry and dull task of investigating the Rain Clan’s tracks. However, this group of people seemed to have vanished; it was difficult to find even a trace of them.

Following that, although the Fire Yunque was still moving along, it was extremely negative, slacking around. When it looked at the little guy, its teeth would hurt. Just how long would it have to search for? He vaguely felt that the Rain Clan had some type of secret; otherwise, why did they stop chasing after him? He felt that he shouldn’t miss this opportunity.

“Big red, I said before that I would recommend a master to you. Do you still remember? As long as you behave, when we return, you will definitely reach the heavens in a single bound.” With no other choice, the little guy began to entice it.

“Ah pei, don’t bring up that little bird anymore. It’s not even as big as a palm! This grandpa won’t serve it!” The big red bird was acting high and mighty, and whenever this topic was raised, it would get angry.

“Those words are coming from your mouth! When the time comes, don’t beg me with snot and tears,” said the little guy.

“Stop dreaming. This grandpa doesn’t do that kind of stuff. You should stop trying to sway me with a bird child whose fur haven’t even fully grown. I won’t fall for it.” The big red bird stared at him with the whites of its eyes. It had a ‘do you think I’m an idiot’ type of look.

“You are positive that you really won’t beg me when the time comes?” The little guy looked at it.

“I’m positive! Even if I am beaten to death I wouldn’t beg you!” The big red bird made a solemn vow. It lifted up its head, leaving the back of its head to him.

The little guy did not say anything, only taking out a stone case from within his bosom. He began to fiddle around with it alone, and then he opened the case, appreciating it alone.

“What kind of aura is that? Something’s fishy!” The big red bird suddenly turned around, staring at the stone case in his hands. His eyes immediately began to stare blankly.

Scarlet multicolored light was overflowing from within that stone case, emitting a unique type of fiery radiance. Although the essence energy was not that abundant, that type of fluctuation still made people apprehensive.

The little guy was calm and unruffled, slowly removing a bright and beautiful feather from within the stone case. He held it within two fingers, placing it in front of his eyes and observing it.

“This is...” The big red bird suddenly couldn’t move its eyes. It was completely stupefied, its mouth agape and tongue-tied; it couldn’t say anything.

That bird feather was as scarlet as blood. The aura being emitted made its heart tremble. It felt as if it was looking at a sovereign who was standing ten thousand zhang within heavenly flames, currently overlooking it!

This was a spiritual light unique to bird species. Although it never saw this little bird’s body before, it could feel an unrivaled divine might through this feather.

It descended down onto a mountain top. After waiting for the little guy to land, it directly turned around, spreading its wings and throwing itself over. “Please, let me become its disciple, please!”

“Yi, weren’t you scorning just now? Saying how you wouldn’t beg me even if you were beaten to death?” The little guy sat on top of a large boulder, feigning astonishment as he asked.

“I haven’t been beaten to death yet, right? That’s why you make it accept me as its disciple!” The big red bird’s face was thick to the point of being comparable to a shield, speaking without any sense of shame.

“I recall someone calling that bird a child...” The little guy was smiling.

“I was wrong! That is my master, how could I be so disrespectful? I am definitely repenting...” The big red bird had snot and tears coming out, and seemed to be aching with sorrow.

“I said before that you would definitely be like this. You still vowed that you definitely wouldn’t, yet the result is like this. With boogers and tears flying, everything matches now right?” The little guy was laughing with haha sounds.

The big red bird originally already had scarlet light flickering about it. Now, its face was even more red, however, it still had a hard mouth [1]. “Knowing your mistakes and improving is the most important. The return of a prodigal son is the story that describes a bird like me!”

[tl: [1] = reluctant to admit a mistake.]

“Not a very good bird!” The little guy made his conclusion.

“You’re just cursing now.” The big red bird was angry.

“I am just declaring a fact.” The little guy patted its shoulders and said, “I say, red red, when do you think we can find that group of people?”

After hearing the words ‘red red,’ the big red bird’s body immediately trembled. It felt its teeth grind, but then it quickly stuck out its chest. Valiant and full of spirit, it said, “They are just a bunch of trash. They can’t run, watch me!”

Following that, it scuttled through the mountain forest. While crying out loudly, it tormented a large group of vicious birds. Afterwards, it opened its mouth and shot out flames, loudly rebuking them and ordering them to reveal everything they knew about the Rain Clan's whereabouts.

After the scarlet divine feather was suddenly revealed, the big red bird seemed to be stirred up. It began to shout with all of its energy, flying past countless tall mountains for half a day. They lost count of how many vicious creatures they disturbed, using force to make them scout out the Rain Clan's whereabouts.

Just like this, only several days passed, yet it had already received precise information. The efficiency was improved to practically ten, or even a hundred times.

The big red bird had an excited look and said, "That group of people entered the desert, appearing to be looking for some type of treasure. Let's hurry and rob them, moving ahead of them to steal it."

This was a great golden desert, dry and scorching hot. The granules of sand were reflecting a bit of light, making people's eyes hurt.

In the distance, there were quite a few lakes, and long rivers winded around mountains. It was the opposite here, and was completely different. It made people a bit indisposed, because this golden great forest was too arid.

After more than half a day, they entered the heart of the desert. Although they didn't have the special perception towards water like the Rain Clan had, they still could vaguely feel that something was different and that there was a mysterious wave fluctuating.

“Treasure ah! It’s definitely an extremely precious treasure. The reason for this desert’s existence is most likely because of that divine object.” The big red bird was even more excited than the little guy.

After entering the desert, the little guy wanted to separate from the big red bird so that they could both look for the Rain Clan’s people. In the end, however, it followed him like plaster, not willing to leave at all.

This made him a bit speechless. Before, he had to threaten it to make it yield. Even then, it was negative and flew with an unwilling manner. Now it was the opposite, and it wouldn’t leave even if he kicked it.

“You have to take responsibility!” The big red bird spoke boldly and with confidence.

“Just stay on the side!” The little guy kicked out once again. The outcome was that it fell over, and then came back.

“Yi, the sweet fragrance of precious medicine!” The big red bird’s nose was especially keen, and could smell a wave of medicinal scent from quite a distance away.

“You’re right, it is a precious medicine!” The little guy nodded his head, and then quickly rushed out.

In front of them was a field of cactus. They were full of thorns, and were one of the few creatures that could thrive within this desert.

A small silver light flickered about. Within the sand surrounding the cactus was a single silvery-white flower. As it swayed back and forth, the fragrance assailed the nostrils. Multicolored light flickered about, and silver splendor dropped. It was like a rain of light.

“It’s... It’s the legendary Desert Silver! This is a precious medicine that surpasses ordinary precious medicines!” The big red bird’s eyes immediately became red.

The little guy was even more amazed. This was because next to that stalk of precious medicine was a silver-robed youth. He was already crouched, moving his hands to pluck it out. With such a large distance between them, it was already too late to prevent it from happening.

Moreover, there were a few giant scorpions on the ground, and the flickering silver lights were all millstone-sized. They were malevolent and terrifying while emitting a demonic aura.

It was obvious that these silver scorpions were protecting the precious medicine. As soon as they blossomed, they would immediately devour it. They grew all year round around here.

However, at this moment, these giant scorpions had already been executed and killed.

“It’s him.” The little guy revealed an odd expression, because he was not exactly unfamiliar with that silver robed youth. He previously struck that individual with a blunt stick, moreover hitting him several times. He was the number one disciple within the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s entrance examination, Xiao Tian.

“Aiya, he ate it!” The big red bird stamped its feet, and was extremely unsatisfied. The distance was too great, and it was impossible to stop him. However, it immediately fiercely shouted, “He ate the precious medicine! It should be okay if I eat him, right? The medicinal effects won’t be wasted.”

At this time, the little guy also had the urge to move. He wanted to take a detour around and knock him out with a hammer. However, after thinking for a bit, he resisted his impulse.

The silver-robed youth came from the Xiao Clan. This time, he was sent by his clan, and not through the Heaven Mending Pavilion. As a result, he did not enter together with the little guy.

In reality, it was not only him. For example, Shi Yi, the Fire Nation princess, as well as many others from large clans all came through their own clans, escorted by an appointed person.

Xiao Tian sat down and began to refine the precious medicine. His entire body emitted light, and it was obvious he was about to break through.

“So powerful! This fellow isn’t that old, yet he’s already opening up his eighth heavenly passage. Within the human race, he could definitely be considered a rare and extraordinary genius.” The big red bird was astonished.

At the present age, to be able to open up the seventh heavenly passage was already extremely outstanding within the human race; a genius that could look at others with disdain.

As for opening up the eighth heavenly passage, that was simply too difficult. It was exceptionally rare, as uncommon as phoenix feathers and unicorn horns. It really was as the big red bird said, and it was impossible unless you were a heaven warping genius.

As for those that could open up the ninth heavenly passage, that was only something from legends. Typically, those were only stories written within ancient books, and was truly difficult to find within this world.

The little guy was paying attention while carefully observing. He noticed that there were seven lumps of light, and the eighth lump was indeed forming, on the verge of being established.

Each person established their heavenly passages differently. Moreover, towards the later stages, it will vary even more.

Suddenly, silver light flickered, and two giant scorpions drilled out from within the sand. Their pincers were chilly, and their tail hooks were terrifying. They slowly made their way to where the silver-robed youth was, preparing to unleash a thunder-like attack.

“We’re going over!”

“Good, neighbors who can’t agree loses out to a third party. While they are fighting, we are going to take advantage of the situation.” The big red bird was excited.

“We are going to lend that silver-robed youth a helping hand,” the little guy corrected.

The opposing party entered the desert alone! He most likely was not aimlessly wondering around, because this world was too vast. There were too many places that potentially held spiritual objects. It was not worthwhile to wander around this wasteland, and it was likely that the other party knew something.

The golden bone shears flew out, quickly bisecting those two giant scorpions. Their corpses collapsed, finally alerting Xiao Tian. At the same time, he broke through, establishing his eighth heavenly passage.

He instantly realized what happened. Even though he felt that those two silver scorpions couldn't do much, he was still grateful that the little guy took action, granting the favor.

“Brother truly is a heaven warping talent, actually able to open up eight heavenly passages.” The little guy was sighing in admiration as he spoke. He was not worried at all about being exposed, because there were bloodstains all over his body.

In addition, these two had never truly met face to face. He only knocked the other party out a few times with a hammer; the other party wouldn't be so sensitive.

“Look at the full protrusion in the middle of your bright forehead! You are definitely a promising and brilliant youth [2] who will inevitably soar in the future.” The big red bird also acted appropriately, following along with the little guy's praise.

[tl: [2] = Chinese characters can also mean outstanding horn on your head.]

However, upon hearing the four characters ‘promising and brilliant youth,’ his body immediately became rigid. He remembered these four characters well. Back then, those people praised the bump on his forehead as if it was a horn.

Even now, this remained fresh in his memory, and it seemed as if he was going crazy.

The little guy understood as soon as he saw his expression. His mouth twitched, holding back his laughter. He reprimanded the big red bird and said, “What are you talking about? What promising and brilliant youth? Everything depends on your own effort, and only then can you become outstanding. I hate the four words ‘promising and brilliant youth’ the most.”

In that instant, the silver-robed youth almost had tears flowing down his cheeks. This was truly someone that understood him! He finally met someone who hated these four words to death.

“Brother, it truly is familiarity at first sight. Your words have stirred me deeply, resonating deep inside of me.” Xiao Tian’s mood shifted greatly. Although it was the ‘first time’ meeting the little guy, he already had a good impression of him.

The little guy walked up and began to converse with him. They talked about everything, from the vicious beasts within the great wastelands to the local conditions and customs, chatting and laughing along the way. The silver-robed youth continuously nodded his head, feeling that this youth truly understood his own interests, as if they really understood each other.

In the end, Xiao Tian opened his mouth and said, “Just now, you helped me out, making me feel grateful. How about this, you are on the same journey as me, so I might be able to grant you a great opportunity.

“What opportunity?” The little guy was curious.

“True Supreme Water!” The silver robed youth revealed a serious expression, saying these three words.

The little guy was shocked. He naturally heard of this type of stuff before. That was indeed a holy object, and even ancient deities would use this to refine weaponry. It was invaluable, and as soon as a single drop appeared, people would break heads trying to fight over it.

“Several hundred years ago, one of my clan’s ancestors discovered a clue, leaving behind directions. As a result, I came here as soon as the Hundred Shattering mountains were opened.” Xiao Tian spoke openly. Currently, it didn’t seem like he could succeed, because the True Supreme Water seemed to have life. It knew how to hide, and even knew how to use symbols.

The little guy’s eyes emitted light. “You have to fight for it no matter what! If you miss these types of opportunities, you will be hacked by lightning from the heavens.”

The silver robed youth laughed heartily after hearing his words, feeling that he was extremely interesting.

“This journey will not be peaceful. I noticed that some people have already entered, so when the time comes, there will be a great disturbance,” continued Xiao Tian. He had made sufficient preparations, enough to be able to unravel the laws of this world.

“Actually, we don’t necessarily have to do the work ourselves. A group of people already went ahead of us, so we should just follow behind them, taking action at the crucial moment,” said the little guy.

The silver robed youth nodded. He was thinking the same thing.

Along the road, the two chatted while smiling, making Xiao Tian feel that this youth was more and more to his liking. Every word the little guy said made him feel comfortable.

The little guy showed great emotion. He looked as if his morality reached into the skies, and with heavy words, he said that Xiao Tian's matters were his matters. In the future, if there were any difficult situations, they had to face it together.

The silver robed youth was rather moved, saying, "We shouldn't keep the truth from each other. I indeed have a great enemy. Although I have never met him, that child is too powerful. In the future, i don't know if I'll be able to release my pent up resentment."

"Who is it?" The little guy blinked his large eyes, and with a curious look, he earnestly asked.

"It is a evil and savage child. I really want him to appear in front me right now, and then smash his head violently with a hammer." The silver robed youth was fuming with rage.

"Good, your enemy is my enemy. In the future, let's beat up that evil savage child!" The little guy spoke with an extremely deep heroic spirit.

Xiao Tian was moved. A close friend was hard to encounter! This trip was truly not made in vain!

The more the two guys spoke, the more agreeable they became. They traveled within the great desert, almost becoming a single person.

The big red bird followed after the little guy with jolting buttocks. It was incomparably polite, and would only say something here and there. It would parrot his words, because it was still hoping for him to introduce to it the master.

They did not borrow the Fire Yunque to fly in the sky, because they were already quite close to their destination. They feared being discovered by others, and so they moved stealthily within the desert.

Chapter 133 – True Supreme Water

The desert was vast and boundless. As golden sand flickered about, it made people a bit dizzy. While stepping on top, one would often feel a burning pain as well as waves of scorching heat attacking their feet.

If it was an ordinary person walking here, then they would certainly not be able to withstand the heat for a long time before fainting. The temperature of this desert was high to the point of being terrifying, as if it was a giant furnace.

Currently, the Rain Clan's mood was fiery and passionate like the desert. They were full of joy, because they were closing in on their destination with the True Supreme Water in their sights.

A divine reservoir could be spotted just two li away. It was only a meter in diameter, however, it was exceptionally conspicuous within the golden desert.

Although the divine reservoir was small, there were still waves of intimidating power coming from it, as if they were the waves from a huge storm. The divine fluid was bright and translucent, and had a type of divine luster as strands of multicolored like illuminated from within.

Moreover, dense mist rose and auspicious vapors were surging about as they enshrouded that area. Even if one was uninformed and had never heard of the True Supreme Water, they would still be able to tell that this was a unique and priceless treasure.

This was due to the fact that the view was extremely astonishing, matching the characteristics of the treasure.

“This is great! There is hope for the rise of our Rain Clan. If we are able to obtain this divine reservoir, our clan will definitely be incomparably splendid in the future, recreating the glory of our ancient family name.” Yu Wencheng was excited, and even his beard and hairs were trembling.

The group of people surveyed the scene from an elevated position, and they were all extremely hopeful. What did that reservoir of water represent? They all knew just how important this was for their Rain Clan. All of them were extremely excited, to the point where their bodies began to tremble.

As long as a single drop appeared in the outside world, it would immediately trigger a sensation. The value of this water reservoir was truly impossible to measure!

Yu Kun reminded, “Be careful. The True Supreme Water has a soul, so we cannot recklessly damage its symbols. We need to carefully close in on it, using the Rain Clan’s natural water’s affinity to obtain its trust.”

Although the True Supreme Water was considered a divine liquid, it seemed to have a mind of its own. After using the symbols and natural laws, it could take to the skies or flee on the ground; it was difficult to truly capture.

They had to get its approval first. If they tried to forcefully seize it, then it was impossible to obtain this entire collection of water.

The Rain Clan’s people were all silently praying as they took steps forward, pausing with each step. They recited their clan’s ancient incantations, and the force of the water in this area immediately became more active, emitting a blue mist of light.

Aohou...

A black tiger roared, creating a black whirlwind. Several sand dunes were directly rolled up into the sky. It was an extremely terrifying sight, and that tornado reached the limit of the sky.

“What is this? Why did a vicious beast appear?” Everyone was suddenly startled.

“It’s not a true vicious beast. It is created out of symbols, and is half real and half illusionary. Do not be deceived by it,” Yu Wencheng muttered.

He began to examine it. Even though they were within the desert, there were still bluish green ripples moving up and down. It extended from where he was, obstructing that black tiger and attempting to reveal its true form.

Hong

With a loud burst of sound, the black tiger exploded, blowing up on the spot. It became sand, and the tornado also disappeared.

However, right when the sound of the wind died down, a different noise began to sound. It was as if the joints between bones were being displaced.

Kacha, kacha...

Golden sand began to shake, and then the desert began to split open. A pile of snow white bones appeared, quickly assembling together. It formed a bird of prey, only that it lacked feathers.

Symbols flickered above its head, emitting a strange fluctuation and a rather terrifying aura.

“This was a powerful expert within the desert back then. Who could have thought that the True Supreme Water truly had a spirit, being able to summon and reconstruct these dead remains.”

Multicolored light flickered, and the sound of joints moving rang out again, causing another section of the desert to be torn open. This time, ten bones appeared at once, all with symbols circulating about them.

“So many strong beings have perished here!” The group of people exclaimed

At the same time, many of their eyes began to reveal a fiery passion. Those were all precious bones! There was a total of ten of them, and regardless of what else happened, just these treasures were already extremely astonishing.

“We cannot directly attack, or else we might agitate the True Supreme Water. If it escapes, locating it again will be troublesome,” said Yu Wencheng.

“This True Supreme Water is truly formidable. It has the unique characteristic of transformation like a guardian spirit, and can actually manipulate these skeletal remains.” That legless elder exclaimed.

The True Supreme Water was currently trying to grant these skeletons life. The symbols once again shone with vitality, creating a rather terrifying scene.

“Fortunately, we made sufficient preparations and deduced the various things that could have happened within the Hundred Shattering Mountains.” Yu Kun nodded his head.

They took out a precious bottle, and after opening it, a dark yellow mist surged. Soon after, it gave off strands of dark light. The three individuals simultaneously used their precious methods, urging the dark light into forming ripples, pouring it forward.

Dark light danced about, sending waves of patterns over. It formed all types of creatures one after another. There were monsters, dragons, humanoids, and all of them were completely different.

This was the Hellwater refined by the Rain Clan. The cost to produce it was extremely high. Many symbol bones were smelted in a furnace, and water from the Yin river within the tombs was used to refine it, causing many symbols to be fused together.

Of course, the precious bones that were used were typically fragments. They were all precious artifacts that had been ruined during the course of a battle or those that had just been created, so they were not as valuable as symbol bones.

Otherwise, how could a bottle of Hellwater make such a large clan feel so much pain? It was because they had to use up so many symbol bones in the smelting process!

The Hellwater [1] was boiling, and the mist drifted about. However, the light that formed was not actually yellow, but was instead a dark light. Strands of the dark light flew out, wrapping up everything in front. All types of symbols resonated, and as if a gate to the underworld was being opened, this entire area became gloomy and sinister.

[tl: [1] = Could also mean Yellow Springs, but the first part of the characters usually refers to the underworld.]

Skeletons were scattered one after another within the desert. Within the dark light, their motion unexpectedly became sluggish. In the end, they fell with hualala sounds. The bone joints collapsed, completely disassembling.

“This is really effective!” The group of people were overjoyed, and were extremely stirred up.

“Our goal for refining this bottle of Hellwater was for the sake of exploring the Forbidden Land of Death. I never expected for us to waste it here. A person should be happy with what they have, I guess. If we are able to obtain the True

Supreme Water, then we'll just wait within the desert without going anyway until the exit out of the Hundred Shattering Mountains opens."

Everyone within the Rain Clan looked at the divine reservoir in front of them. Their hearts were stirred up, but they did not forget to put up necessary precautions. This divine liquid was psychic, and could summon skeletons to do its bidding; only the heavens knew what it was going to do.

"Why have you disturbed me from my slumber?" A weak and indistinct existence appeared, and it had a bewildered look.

All of them were shocked. This divine reservoir really was going to transform into its spiritual body after all! It was originally already full of divinity, so if it truly did succeed, then it would definitely be incomparably powerful in the future, to the point of igniting divine flames and sealing deities.

Luckily, its existence was still weak. The road to forming a spiritual body was still far off, so dealing with it was still possible.

"We are the descendants of the Rain Deity. Our ancestors are the same, we have no malicious intentions..." The Rain clan's elders tried to communicate with it.

Suddenly, the ground cracked open. A beam of green light flew out, and a vine appeared at that location. Its body was sparkling and translucent, and it was several zhang long. It was not that thick, but it was similar in shape to a Flood Dragon.

"There was actually a guardian!" Everyone from the Rain Clan became fearful.

All divine existences had vicious birds and beasts protecting them. They never expected a vine to be here, and it seems like it received some benefits from the True Supreme Water. Its roots were nourished, and had an ample amount of spiritual essence; it was extremely powerful.

“This is the last obstacle. As long as we defeat this Spirit Vine, the True Supreme Water will be in our hands.” The Rain Clan members all clenched their fists, and light burned within their eyes.

“I will fight with it.” Yu Kun stepped forward.

“Be careful, and beat it quickly. You cannot harm it, or else the True Supreme Water will become angry and directly flee!” reminded Yu Wencheng.

“Don’t worry.” Yu Kun nodded his head, and walked out. He took out a sheet of beast skin. Symbols covered the sky, forming a heaven and earth net. It emitted countless rays of multicolored light, trying to ensnare that vine within.

“What a strange precious artifact!” In the distance, the little guy’s head popped out from within a sand dune. He had an amazed expression on his face.

“It is rather powerful, but compared to the heaven and earth net from ancient legends, it is still far off. This is merely an imitation. The real thing is created by refining a chunk of a heavenly ranked Archaic vicious beast’s skin. It is terrifying beyond belief, and there is nothing that it can’t restrain,” said the silver-gowned youth Xiao Tian.

After hearing those words, the little guy became stupefied. He immediately felt a burst of fascination; just how powerful were those ancient saints and deities?!

“Don’t think too much about it. The heaven and earth net is one of the most powerful precious artifacts since ancient times. Do you think that an Archaic divine bird or vicious beast would just casually be killed to allow you to create the precious artifact? You have to understand that they could kill deities.” Xiao Tian woke him from stupor.

A fierce battle erupted within the desert. Although it was an imitation, this beast skin net was still terrifying. There were endless symbols, and it was almost as if it was going to swallow up the entire desert.

That vine was rather terrifying as well. It rose together with its roots, transforming into a dark green Flood Dragon. Symbols flickered, shooting out rays of sword radiance. Soon after, it collided together with that heaven and earth net.

“Good, capture it inside!” The Rain Clan people were excited.

However, as they were cheering for what was to come, that beast skin actually broke apart. The Spirit Vine flew out, sweeping across. Yu Kun coughed out large amounts of blood, and a large amount of his bones were broken, receiving heavy injuries; he was defeated.

“So powerful! This Spirit Vine is too formidable! It actually destroyed the heaven and earth net. We cannot defeat it!” The Rain Clan’s people seemed to have been doused in cold water. Their bodies felt cold, and a wave of worry flooded their minds.

“It seems like we have to reveal our trump card. I am truly unwilling ah... That is our Rain Clan’s true secret...” Yu Wencheng sighed.

“If we have to use it, then just use it. Otherwise, we really don’t have any special way to fight it. Everything else can only be used to intimidate that spiritual existence a bit.” Yu Kun wiped off the bloodstain from the corner of his lips as he spoke.

“In the distance, the little guy’s large eyes were moving about. He stared at the strange scene in front of him while showing an astonished expression.

“They brought out an altar. What are they trying to do?” The big red bird was also rather curious.

The Rain Clan members all knelt down in worship. A small black altar that was not over a third of a meter tall was set up. A sheet of yellow paper rested on top of the altar. Yu Wencheng and a few others began to chant the incantations silently, activating the precious technique and starting the ritual.

Suddenly, that yellow sheet shone, igniting into flames. Following that, an area of characters appeared, penetrating the paper and branding itself in the air as brilliantly as a star.

“Imperial Decree of the Divine!” The silver-gowned youth Xiao Tian shivered, feeling an incomparable shock.

In the midst of his absent-mindedness, they heard the chants of ancient deities. The ancient incantations were transmitted from an ancient world, solemn and divine. It made people revere, making them want to kneel down in worship.

“What is this...” The True Supreme Water revealed a suspicious voice. Meanwhile, that vine began to tremble, leaning towards that water reservoir.

“This is the decree left behind by clan ancestor Rain Deity. Although he never personally wrote the inscription and only spoke of it orally, there were still a few divine sounds recorded. This is sufficient to prove that we are similar, and are close to aqueous forms.” Yu Wencheng opened his mouth.

In the distance, the little guy was horrified. The Rain Deity’s decree, although only passed down verbally, still had so much power. If it was hand written, just how terrifying would the decree be?

If there really were written decrees passed down within the family, then it would most likely be able to easily massacre powerful existence, destroying all types of precious artifacts!

With a simple interaction, the Rain Clan proved their relations to the Rain Deity. In addition, they also took out a few divine remnants. Of course, they were not precious artifacts, and were only used ink stones, paperweights, etc. Pure and holy radiance revolved around them.

“These items did not have many symbols, and could not display any fighting strength. However they were special, as the aura made the True Supreme Water feel rather intimate, allowing the Rain Clan to come close in the end.

“We will bring you out of this world into our Rain Clan. There, you can mature at an even faster pace, perhaps being able to truly seal deities!” said Yu Kun.

After the True Supreme Water felt the aura of the Rain Deity, its attitude towards them completely changed. It was willing to follow them; after all, it only had a lump of hazy consciousness, and did not have any complex thought patterns.

“They succeeded! What do we do now?” The little guy stared with his large eyes. His gaze was fixed in front; everything happened too fast, and there was a dramatic shift in the trend of events.

“The Xiao Clan also prepared an unusual treasure for me. As long as we get close to the True Supreme Water, we will definitely be able to get some of the divine liquid. Unfortunately, now that the Rain Clan got ahead of us, it will be too dangerous to approach with their protection.” Xiao Tian was anxious, feeling incomparable regret.

The little guy heard what was said, and his eyes immediately lit up. “I am not scared of danger. Let me try!”

Currently, the Rain Clan’s expression were solemn and respectful. They were incredibly serious and devout as they asked the True Supreme Water to enter a jade cauldron, wanting to bring it away.

Everyone’s hearts were emotionally stirred. They were truly about to obtain this True Supreme Water into their hands! The Rain Clan was destined to be incomparably glorious, perhaps forming a country as a result in the future!

They all felt as if they had done an outstanding service, and that they would definitely be celebrated in the future.

“Although everything we are doing is for the Rain Clan, the results of our efforts will affect all of the Rain Clan’s people. Our clan will thus once again rise abruptly in power!”

“For this moment, I have waited a long time. We will soon succeed!”

The True Supreme Water transformed into a lump of light in mid air, entering that jade cauldron. Without missing a single drop, it entered completely.

The Rain Clan people released their breaths, as if they had been relieved from a burden.

“There’s no time, send me quickly!” The little guy made Xiao Tian take out the precious artifact. He prepared to erupt with power and directly crash his way through.

With a weng sound, a tortoiseshell shield appeared in Xiao Tian’s hands. They flowed with a bluish green light, flickering with symbols and profound mysteries as he utilized it.

The little guy made a soft shout, and then suddenly soared over. His two feet were standing on the turtle shield. Erupting with a wave of powerful energy, he directly leapt out.

You have to understand that with a stamp of his two feet on the ground, it was enough to make the great earth crack open. He had an unrivaled explosive force that allowed him to directly soar into the skies and land on a mountain summit.

Currently, he was precisely using this explosive strength that others had difficulty striving for. However, the movement was horizontal, directly aiming for that jade cauldron. Right when it was about to reach the climax, he smashed over like a shooting star.

At that moment, the little guy was not the only one who was sent flying by the force. The silver-gowned Xiao Tian also flew out, but he flew as a result of the shock. That powerful precious artifact in his hands unexpectedly cracked, pushing him out five or six li. Following that, the shield completely shattered.

He was dumbstruck. If the little guy did not warn him and had used a different precious artifact to protect his body, then his two arms would definitely be broken.

“I flew five to six li from the recoil?!” He could not believe it. How terrifying was the force in that youth’s two legs?

Similarly dumbstruck was the Rain Clan. All of their emotions were solidified on their faces. They really thought that the heavens were falling and that a calamity was coming, because the True Supreme Water was agitated!

A devilish brat dropped down from the sky like a meteorite, directly smashed towards the jade cauldron precious artifact. He was currently flopping there, continuously swallowing large amounts of the True Supreme Water.

The Rain Clan’s people were completely stupefied. This was too unrealistic. A hallucination, definitely a hallucination!

Chapter 134 – Consume

Where did this rotten child come from?!!

How did this brat appear?!

The Rain Clan people were going crazy. Did this still fall under heaven's reasoning? This is a heaven collapsing calamity!

This was simply too lacking in moral sense. How could he have just dropped from the sky? Dropping down like this, how much would remain? The True Supreme Water will inevitably be startled and run away.

The Rain Clan's people were about to cry. This divine fluid was absolutely not meant for drinking! It could be used as a primer for medicine, and could also be used to refine precious artifacts. Even if they were to take ten thousand steps back and forgot about the fact that you are drinking it, how could you smash down like that?!

The True Supreme Water washed the little guy's filthy face clean. They recognized him instantly. It was simply 'fire smashing against roofs and gates. [1]' Their resentment overflowed into the heavens, and their lungs were about to burst from anger.

[tl: it means remove dirt in a way that makes you astonish. or it can means instant shock.]

"It's you?!"

“Motherfucker...”

The Rain Clan’s people were all boiling in anger. They were fuming from all seven apertures, and their bodies were about to combust.

They worked so hard, and used so much meticulous care. They even exhausted the decree from the Rain Deity! Originally, it was supposed to have succeeded already, yet in the end, a devilish brat dropped down from the sky, agitating the True Supreme Water!

It didn’t matter that the Rain Clan didn’t want to accept this fact, because this wasn’t an illusion. The devilish brat was still flopping around inside. Water blossomed, and he was rolling around inside of it, swallowing with all of his might.

All of the Rain Clan people were miserably shouting. This hurted more than digging out their flesh. They knew that they were finished, and that they could no longer keep the True Supreme Water.

“Kill him!”

“No, quickly seize the true water! Don’t let him get away!”

These were two completely different voices, representing the two opinions of the Rain Clan. The former were angry to the point of going crazy, and no matter what, they attacked the little guy, wanting to turn him into meat paste. The latter did not lose their sense of reason, and prepared to forcibly seize some of the divine liquid. If it escaped into the desert, then they wouldn’t be able to obtain anything.

Although these people differed in opinion, they still all began to move. Some of them chopped towards the little guy's head, and others took out household utensils to hold the water.

This area began to boil in action. All types of symbols danced about, filling the sky densely.

The True Supreme Water naturally violently struggled, wanting to escape from the jade cauldron

“Stay!”

The little guy shouted, and took out a precious bead. Auspicious rays formed a curtain of light, blocking all of the attacking symbols.

The Rain Clan's men were both shocked and angry. Their attacks had lost their effectiveness, and the symbols had been blocked. That curtain of light was difficult to break through at this moment; what kind of treasure was this?

“It's the Sealing Light Bead!”

Yu Wencheng angrily howled, and his veins in his forehead were popping. How could the other party bring out such a unique treasure at this crucial moment? They were helpless in the face of this crisis, making them angry yet anxious.

“It is polished out of the remains of the ancient Sealing Light Bead! Quickly, let's attack together! We can break through it!" They were loudly shouting.

Everyone began to exert their strength together. All types of symbols interweaved, violently slamming towards this curtain of light.

"Use your bodies' physical strength, and use weapons to break it apart. Otherwise, ordinary power from symbols will all receive interference, and will be blocked!" Yu Kun ordered those genius disciples.

In the vicinity of the jade cauldron, all types of weapons lit up as they struck together in unison. Kengqiang sounds rang out, and it was as if steel was being struck, causing people's ears to ring out with wengweng sounds.

The little guy held the Sealing Light Bead in his hand. Without caring about anything else, he drank in large gulps. The Sealing Light Bead in his hands was Xiao Tian's unique treasure, and it was precisely used to restrict the True Supreme Water, preventing it from escaping.

It was clear that this was only a chunk from the destroyed original. The interior received too much damage, and was much less useful now; it couldn't completely restrict it.

Not much time had passed since the True Supreme Water calmed down before it once again began to boil.

"Stop!" The little guy loudly shouted. Although he was swallowing with large gulps, the true water had a soul, and unexpectedly gushed out from his nostrils.

Moreover, after drinking it into his mouth, the divine fluid would flow backwards, trying its best to escape.

In the end, his ears and eyes all emitted light. The True Supreme Water transformed into essence energy. It was not willing to surrender, and there were divine multicolored light shining through his pores.

“It became essence!”

The little guy had a headache. He used the profound and mysterious symbols recorded within the True Primordial Record to carry out the refinement. He closed his pores and locked up his seven apertures; only his mouth was swallowing with big gulps.

Gudong, gudong...

The little guy was drinking with all of his strength. The True Supreme Water was trying its best to escape from his mouth. The two were matching each other's strengths, but in the end, there was still more water being swallowed.

Everyone within the Rain Clan were driven mad. This little rotten child was simply too detestable. This was supposed to be used to refine medicine and weapons! Acting like this without any regard for rights and wrongs, can you bear it?

“Blast it open for me and kill him!” A group of people were in a violent rage.

“Break open!” Everyone brandished their weapons and brought out their precious techniques. However, they just couldn't smash apart the curtain of light.

“Aiyou, why does my stomach hurt?” Within the True Supreme Water, the little guy who was currently flopping around and creating water bubbles lifted his head. His eyes were spinning.

“Shitty brat, drink then. Sooner or later, your body will explode!” Yu Kun cursed while stomping and cursing.

The little guy blinked his large eyes. Since this was a divine liquid, moreover being used as a primer for medicine, shouldn't it be okay to swallow? He once again began to gulp with gudong gudong sounds.

“Don't drink anymore. You need to refine it for it to work. How many jin have you swallowed already?!” There were some people within the Rain Clan who were about to cry; this was too much of a waste.

The little guy did not pay any attention. He covered his nose, ears, closed his pores, and exerted all of his strength to swallow; his small stomach was starting to swell.

Weng

The Sealing Light Bead grew faint, and was on the verge of losing effectiveness.

The little guy knew that he was out of time, and so he hastily took out a jade container, quickly filling it up with divine liquid. Following that, he used the Sealing Light Bead to cork it shut. He brought out the golden bone shears, and with a kacha sound, it sliced towards the jade cauldron. With a kick, it broke apart.

Everyone within the Rain Clan went mad. The group of people pounced forward, collecting the divine liquid. Unfortunately, the True Supreme water that had finally broken free transformed into a dense bright mist. It passed by their bodies, beginning to frantically flee.

“Chase!”

The group of people were split. Some of them took actions against the little guy, wanting to behead him. Others were using household utensils to capture some of the divine liquid.

This place was thrown into complete disorder. The little guy took advantage of the chaos to take action. He faced a precious artifact that was flying towards him, and stamped the ground, using the momentum to soar into the sky.

“You won’t get away!”

The Rain Clan’s people’s eyes were all red. The little guy dropped down from the sky, smashing apart their splendid dream. He smashed their dreams of rising in power from the ninth heaven to the eighteenth layer of hell.

“Let’s see if you’ll be able to escape!”

The Rain Clan’s people were all angrily crying out. They took out their precious artifacts, covering all four directions. Furthermore, there were some people who were standing on precious artifacts. They soared into the air, continuing the chase.

“Flying! Motherfucker! He actually flew away!”

A big figure within the Rain Clan shouted, and his eyes almost popped out. A fiery big bird arrived, flapping a pair of bright and beautiful wings. It caught the little guy, and with a graceful and flashy attitude, it turned around. With a smile, it escaped!

Yu Wencheng and Yu Kun’s faces were dark to the point of turning purple. It was that hateful big red bird again! Earlier when they lost the little guy, they did not actually tell their clan. The others all did not know of this bird’s existence.

“Kill him! I want to kill him!”

The group of Rain Clan people were howling in grief. They were weeping bitter tears, because this truly was a waste of effort. After being startled, the True Supreme Water couldn’t be called out again. It entered the earth together with that Spirit Vine, disappearing without a trace.

For them, this was worse than death. The clan’s hope of rising in power was actually completely shattered by this devilish brat. The group of people were angry to the point of going crazy.

They even brought the Deity's decree. Originally, they thought that it would have already succeeded, yet in the end, this little rotten child broke in, ruining everything. It truly was making the wedding clothes for another [2].

[tl: [2] = Working so hard but in the end not receiving the benefits.]

“So hateful!”

Yu Wencheng and Yu Kun were angry to the point that they were shaking. White smoke spewed from their nostrils, and flames were shooting out of their ears. There were stars in front of their eyes, and they felt as if an Archaic barbarian bull stepped on their head, almost fainting on the spot.

In the end, they swayed from side to side as they took out precious artifacts before beginning their chase.

“Did everything go smoothly?” The big red bird carried the little guy on his back. A thievish look appeared within its eyes as it stared at the container in his hands.

“Oh!” Right when the little guy opened his mouth, multicolored light spouted from his mouth. Some of the True Supreme Water escaped.

“Heavens, how much did you drink? You are actually beginning to be like me, spewing out fire!” The big red bird was exclaiming in admiration.

The little guy grabbed a handful of feathers from the big red bird, bringing with it a bit of blood. He quickly pasted it onto his face, making a few changes shortly after.

The big red bird screeched, "What are you trying to do?"

"Nothing much happened, stop shouting."

The big red bird turned around and gave him a glance. It immediately became extremely angry. It turns out that it was for the sake of concealing his appearance! He actually pulled out feathers from its body, drawing blood; this rotten child was really hateful.

Not long after, they charged over to where the silver-robed youth was. Xiao Tian suddenly jumped up, also getting on top of the bird. He saw the jade container within the little guy's arms, and became incomparably moved.

"It really succeeded?" His voice was a bit shaky.

"I succeeded." When the little guy spoke, auspicious light once again began to spew out of his mouth.

"Why did you directly swallow the divine liquid?" Xiao Tian was so shocked that his lower jaw almost hit the ground. Although this was a divine item, could it be eaten?

The little guy covered his mouth and mumbled, "Can't it be a primer for medicine? I feel like it can be eaten. Help me think of a method quickly. As soon as I open my mouth, True Supreme Water would be spewed out. That's too wasteful."

"Shameful, such an extravagant type of wasting!" The big red bird looked down on him, yet was incomparably envious at the same time. He turned his head around and said, "Why don't you just let the True Supreme Water out? I'll refine it for you, and won't blame you for being filthy."

"Go away!" The little guy's mouth blossomed with multicolored light, and no longer dared to say anything. He swelled his cheeks, and widened his eyes; he really was at his wit's end.

The silver-gowned youth was extremely speechless. This good friend really was a bit outrageous; to even do this type of thing, it really was rather rare.

"Find a place to slowly refine it first. Otherwise, some problems might occur." Xiao Tian was a bit worried.

The little guy covered his mouth, and did not dare say anything. They quickly charged into the distance, separating from the desert and entering a primitive mountain abyss that stretched as far as the eye could see.

Right as they descended down onto a spirit mountain, Xiao Tian sighed and said, "Brother, are you alright? It's not that I'm saying things about you, but there's really no need for you to struggle so much. Although the True Supreme Water is good, you still can't use your body to hold it."

"You don't understand this savage child's world," said the big red bird.

“Get lost!” The little guy kicked him, and multicolored light once against spewed out of his mouth.

The big red bird was shaking its butt as it followed behind, not getting angry at all. It continuously fixed its attention on that jar, muttering, “Let’s see if anything will happen to that savage baby after drinking the divine liquid. If there really isn’t anything wrong, then this grandpa will also store it in his stomach!”

The little guy sat with his legs crossed, beginning his refining. He furrowed his eyebrows, and felt a bit apprehensive inside. There shouldn’t be any problems right?

It was recorded on ancient texts that this type of divine liquid could be refined into divine medicine. Why was it that when he swallowed it into his stomach, it wanted to escape?! He made an ugly face, and was incomparably confused; he couldn’t even open his mouth to say anything.

“Eat it, eat it, eat it all!” He pursed his lips while shouting with a muffled voice.

“Truly savage!” The big red bird spoke.

When the silver-robed youth saw the way he was acting, he also wanted to blurt out in laughter. He held himself back, but he thought that this close friend’s way of doing things was a bit unconventional.

“This style... It feels like Déjà vu.” Xiao Tian didn’t think more about it at all, because he was hugging the jade container. He was incredibly excited, soon putting everything else towards the back of his mind.

Chapter 135 – The Aura of a Supreme Being

Auspicious vapors surged around the spirit mountain, and rays of multicolored light overflowed in all directions. It was as if a meteor showering was falling, splendid and beautiful. It was bright, resplendent, and astonishing.

The little guy sat with his legs crossed on top of a large rock. His entire body was radiating light, and despite the fact that he closed off his pores and covered his mouth and nose, the True Supreme Water still transformed into radiance. It bubbled forth, causing this mountain summit to become dazzling.

“Too extravagant! These actions should be punished by heavenly lightning!” The big red bird extended its neck and widened its eyes. Feathers exploded, and it had a dumbstruck expression.

This was not the dew on top of grass leaves, even more so not water rained down from the skies. This was the True Supreme Water; if even a single drop of it appeared in the outside world, it would immediately cause a huge commotion.

This type of divine existence was currently being squandered by this small rotten child. It felt as if this wasn't really happening right now. The big red bird cried out with ao ao sounds, and was similar to a wolf rather than a fierce bird.

“You can't refine it! Give it to me ah, stop wasting!” The big red bird spoke with big red eyes, doing exactly what he said. He spat out a black pot, and as symbols flickered, it began to collect this divine liquid.

“Let me lend you a helping hand!” Xiao Tian also felt that losing so much was unfortunate, and so he took action to help the big red bird.

“Thank you, thank you. Kindhearted youth, you are a promising and brilliant youth! In the future, you will definitely ascend into the heavens!” The big red bird expressed his gratitude.

With a swing of his sleeve, Xiao Tian almost left in that instant.

The black pot in mid-air was extremely terrifying, and the symbols on it were dense. Strands of lightning and flames interweaved, sealing off this area.

After looking carefully, this was not a genuine black iron pot, but was rather polished out of a bird egg. Dark light flickered, and there was a sparkling and translucent gloss similar ink jade.

The True Supreme water left its parent body, so even though it was trying to escape, it didn't actually have that powerful of a consciousness.

“Haha... Good stuff!” The big red bird opened its mouth wide, and its beak was about to snap apart. With a gulu sound, its saliva almost leaked out; it hurriedly used its fiery red wings to wipe its mouth.

When Xiao Tian saw this, he was speechless. This bird was just like the intimate friend he had just met! After seeing something good, he would immediately salivate; what was your problem?

On top of the rock, the little guy opened one of his eyes. As a result, multicolored light flew out, leaving him with no choice but to immediately close it. Following that, he plugged up his mouth, and with a muffled murmur, he said, “That's my divine liquid...”

“Haha, now it’s mine! Continue speaking, and spill out more multicolored light!” Shouted the big red bird.

The silver-robed youth tried to calm them down. “Brother, I feel that it is still better to spit it out. Don’t make yourself go through so much. This is True Supreme Water, not some spirit pill. If you continue to eat it like this, then some big problem will happen.”

“Not an issue... I already refined a part of it, it’s possible.” The little guy covered his mouth as he spoke. It was muddled with gu gu nong nong sounds, making the words difficult to be differentiated.

“What? You really can refine it?” The big red bird’s eyes widened upon hearing those words. Following that, it followed suit and sat down with its two long bird legs crossed. It sat with its legs crossed on the grass and its two wings hugging the black pot. With gudong sounds, the divine liquid completely entered its mouth. Without saying anything else, it began to refine it.

“Brother, even if you can refine it, it still won’t work. You drank too much! Even if there isn’t ten jin in there, there should be at least eight right? Spit out a bit! Otherwise, I feel that this True Supreme Water will most likely ultimately lead to your downfall.” Xiao Tian was worried.

The little guy tightened his mouth, and did not dare say any more. His eyes were rolling and moving about. As he sat there, he used all of the energy that he would have used on drinking milk, exhausting all of the circulating symbols and carrying out the refinement.

Noise continuously rang out, and symbols flickered continuously. Not much time had passed, yet the area around the little guy became covered in mist. Multicolored light was everywhere, completely submerging this area. The entire mountain summit was illuminated.

Now, the True Supreme Water no longer escaped. Instead, it began to congregate and circulate around the little guy's body. It confronted him, wanting to refine him instead.

This was a divine existence, and had a spiritual nature that was difficult to imagine. Once it made this type of resolution, it became extremely terrifying.

Xiao Tian sucked in a breath of cold air and hugged the jade container. Fortunately, the jar had the Sealing Light Bead; otherwise, the divine liquid inside wouldn't be so tranquil.

Ao...

Finally, the big red bird couldn't bear it any longer and cried out. He spat out a mouthful of the divine fluid, and it transformed into an expanse of multicolored light. However, this fellow was extremely fast, once again opening his big mouth and inhaling fiercely; it once again completely swallowed it all.

"That savage child can endure it, so I can too!" It shouted.

On top of the large rock, the little guy's entire body was transparent and brilliant. Symbols covered this area, interweaving within his body. It could clearly be seen that the True Supreme Water was fiercely resisting.

Part of the divine fluid had already merged with his flesh, making his body appear even more dazzling. A portion of it really was successfully refined by him, fortifying his body.

This was a wave of unimaginable spiritual essence. It was inconceivably vigorous and boundless. If the little guy wanted to completely refine it, then the difficulty was too great; he would most likely damage his body.

This was also because his body was equivalent to that of a heavenly ranked Archaic vicious beast young. If it was anyone else, they would have exploded a long time ago.

“Wuwuwu... Not willing!” The little guy widened his large eyes and puffed his cheeks. He covered his mouth, not wanting to give up like this. He made his last ditch efforts.

Hong!

The True Supreme Water displayed its might. It feared being refined by him, attacking even more fiercely. His entire body seemed to have combusted.

“Shit, he’s not really going to explode, right? I think it’s better if I watch for now.” The big red bird was always observing. Upon seeing this, he spat out the divine liquid in response. Collecting it within the black bot, he struggled to suppress and seal it.

When Xiao Tian saw this, he felt an urge to vomit. That divine fluid was definitely no longer usable by others. That bird truly was not a good bird.

Hong

The True Supreme Water attacked, and the little guy violently shook. It was like a single duckweed within a large sea, overturned at a moment's notice as it was smashed to pieces within the billows.

His mouth swelled, speaking with a mumble, "If it really won't work, then whatever. I'll just use it to nourish two precious artifacts."

The little guy naturally would not play around with his life. No matter how great the divine fluid was, it still couldn't be forcibly absorbed like this. If it did not work, then he had to somewhat abandon it.

Hong

Another great wave swept over. His entire body trembled, and his flesh was brushed by the divine liquid. His bones rang with kengqiang sounds, on the even of collapsing.

However, right at this moment, the pit of his stomach suddenly rose in temperature. It radiated with brilliant light, erupting with waves of terrifying fluctuations. Currently, the entire sky was flooded with color.

Within the sky, the clouds rumbled. They violently surged, seeming as if they were rising and falling along with his stomach. The great mountains rumbled from all directions, as if it was about to explode.

The silver-robed youth was shocked, and quickly used precious artifacts to protect himself. He couldn't believe what was shown in front of him. Meanwhile, the big red bird was even more flabbergasted. His mouth was opened wide, and his wings unconsciously and continuously making palapala sounds.

The little guy's chest endlessly rose and fell, as if a vertical bone was growing. He was radiating light, shaking everyone to their hearts. Fortunately, it was only a wave of fluctuations, and was not actually an unrivalled divine might that was diffusing.

The true supreme water around the little guy's body was completely subdued, and then it became agitated again before calming down. Finally, it transformed into countless rays of multicolored light, flooding towards his stomach.

It was as if there was a sun located there, absolutely dazzling. Within that divine sun, it seemed as if there was a sparkling and translucent baby sitting within.

Strands of blood essence seemed to be like stars as it shone brightly, condensing towards that direction.

The True Supreme Water was merely a nutrient, and was being rapidly absorbed by the blood essence. They assimilated into that little sun, as if a sovereign was producing offspring while sitting in the center.

The little guy was mind-blown. He could clearly feel a special type of force awaken. It was as if it wanted to restore the damaged body. This aura was extremely familiar, because he experienced this before when he was young.

“Supreme Being Bone...”

Water vapors began to bring back all the things that happened after he was born in front of his eyes. It played scene after scene of the cruel and bloody tragedy. His precious bone was gouged out; originally, he was supposed to be a later generation of the martial imperial family, but instead he was forced into exile. His close ones were all separated from him, and no one knew if his parents were dead or alive; all of this was because of this bone.

Originally, his supreme being bone and blood essence was completely snatched away by those people. It was planted into that deity-like Shi Yi's body, and was thought to have never been seen again.

Now, however, his chest unexpectedly was heating up. It was as if a vertical bone was being grown. It emitted a dazzling light, forming a small sun that was difficult for others to look straight at.

The little guy could clearly feel that the blood essence within his body was being resurrected and reborn. It was accumulating energy, wanting to give birth to another Supreme Being Bone!

“The willow deity’s guesses came true...” he muttered.

Along this entire journey, there were laughs, jeers and insults, yet along the way, his heart never changed. It was still perfectly pure, and was always aiming to become more powerful without being swayed for a moment.

Currently, he felt extremely good. His body was immersed in a type of mysterious radiance. His chest was terrifyingly red-hot, as if there really was a Supreme Being Bone lying dormant there, waiting for him to awaken.

“Sooner or later, there will be a day when I will once again grow a Supreme Being Bone!” The little guy tightened his fists. He did not lose reasoning after being attacked by this happiness, and was clearly aware that he could not regenerate that bone purely by depending on the True Supreme Water.

However, he also knew that it would definitely happen in the future. It could definitely be done, because he already saw hope today. The Supreme Being Bone will inevitably be reborn from nothing, and he himself will also change similarly. There will be a day when he will be immersed in divine flames and transcend worldliness, becoming even more powerful.

The True Supreme Water was extremely powerful, and contained an inexhaustible amount of divine might. Even the various ancient saints needed to use it, yet the little guy drank so much this time, and it was ultimately completely absorbed by that that lump of light in the pit of his stomach.

His body was no longer gushing multicolored light, and all of the divine liquid was refined. It assimilated into his chest region, burning like a divine stove before ultimately slowly concealing itself.

“So powerful!”

In the distance, the big red bird released a big breath. Just now, he was absolutely terrified. When the little guy’s chest shone, it was as if this world was resonating with his breath, simply too frightening.

Now, everything finally settled. The area was extremely quiet, and multicolored colored no longer flickered about the little guy’s body.

Suddenly, a ray of flaming divine radiance rushed out, once again enveloping the mountain summit. It scared the silver-gowned youth and big red bird into jumping, because the terrifying scene just now was going to reappear.

However, this time, they over thought it. The little guy's body emitted light, and an eighth 'volcano' appeared beside his body. It surged with 'magma,' and its boundless power was astonishing.

“Breaking through just like this?”

Regardless of whether it was Xiao Tian or that big red bird, they were all shocked. This was because the little guy directly successfully established his eighth heavenly passage without a single warning.

An individual with eight heavenly passages open; this was rare within the human race, and could be considered a heaven warping talent. Now, the little guy broke through so easily. This made Xiao Tian and the big red bird develop suspicions that this was most likely not the extent of his potential. It was likely that he could establish his ninth heavenly passage!

You have to understand that the ninth heavenly passage in reality was rarely seen. It has only been recorded in ancient books, and made people doubt its existence.

The little guy got up. Before he could even feel the difference from the eighth heavenly passage, he already noticed that his physical body was different. His physique unexpectedly improved by a large amount, far surpassing the past!

Chapter 136 – Accomplice

After inhaling a deep breath, the little guy immediately began to emit a sound like the battering of a waterfall. In addition, light gushed out, and his bones and blood vessels becoming more brilliant and sturdy. His inner organs were also radiating light, and he was like a small sun.

This was not an illusion, and was reality. The little guy only slightly used his strength, and his five viscera and six bowels emitted waves of sounds that was like a mountain torrent. The force was shocking, and it was moreover emitting precious splendor. He continuously trembled, releasing a powerful aura.

He could clearly feel that his five visceras were like divine wheels. He circulated his symbols, pressing down on his inner organs. The sparkling and translucent heart, spleen, and other organs were rhythmically moving. They were extremely sturdy, resisting with a mysterious force.

This made the little guy shocked and excited. If he was fighting against another person, then this might truly be a huge advantage. Were even his inner organs as sturdy as bones? This was a powerful type of feeling.

Following that, he smacked himself with a fist. With a loud dong sound, it was as if a heavenly drum was struck, releasing a sound that resonated with all five visceras, blossoming with divine splendor.

He knew that the strength of his physical body was improved by a large amount. This was not only reflected in his bones and blood vessels, as even his inner organs were like this. They were incomparably sturdy, and were not inferior to that of flesh and bones. Once they began to move rhythmically, it was as if a heavenly drum was ringing out.

The little guy looked inside his body, and as a result, saw that his flesh was transparent, and his bones shone with a white luster. His inner organs were sparkling and translucent, plump and tender, transparent. They were transparent and brilliant just like his skin, and even his black hair was radiating light. From inside to outside, there wasn't a single speck of corruption.

This was the embodiment of a body that was sturdy to its limit. His flesh was completely clean, and regardless of whether it was inner organs or divine bones, they all seemed to be forged out of divine glass. Even if he walked within a pile of ashes, it would still not attract any dirt.

"So powerful." This was the feeling the little guy had from a direct observation. He felt as if he possessed an inexhaustible amount of energy.

He directly lept down. The distance from the ground was huge, yet he had no fear. In the end, smoke and dust rose, and the great earth violently shook. He smashed a huge crater within the ground, and large cracks extended outwards, leading into the distance.

"Abnormal... The strength of this child's flesh... So powerful!" The big red bird exclaimed in admiration, and was stammering a bit.

The little guy walked out from within the crater, arriving in front of a forest. Using the strength of one arm, he loudly shouted and said, "Rise!"

A three hundred to four hundred thousand jin boulder instantly rose from the ground, being raised by that one arm. Meanwhile, the rock beneath his feet were being shattered with gabeng gabeng sounds, not able to bear this pressure.

Xiao Tian stared blankly. His mind was in extreme shock; was this still the strength of a human? Was he actually an Archaic vicious beast? He looked down at the little guy, feeling a bit strange.

After using one of his arms to display the strength of a hundred and eight thousand jin of divine force, the little guy did not continue to work out his physique. Instead, he began to emphasize comprehending the True Primordial Record, and understanding the profound mysteries of symbols.

However, the strength of his physical body did not fall. Instead, after receiving the baptism of the True Supreme Water today, it was raised by an entire level. His body was powerful to the point of making people horrified.

You have to understand that he was not even ten years old yet! If he continued to grow like this, just what kind of level would he reach? As long as he matured into adulthood, it would definitely be sufficient to shake the world.

The little guy did not continue examining himself, and tossed aside that small mountain-like boulder. He already felt that his body was not weak, and that his physical body had already reached a terrifying level.

He was still small, and his face was young and tender. His eyelashes were long, and his eyes were bright and shining. They were extremely beautiful and cute. This type of appearance seemed to be quite different from that unrivalled explosive strength. It was really difficult for people to imagine him erupting with such terrifying strength.

After establishing his eight heavenly passage, the little guy's control over symbols improved by another level. His entire fighting strength increased, and if he met another powerful enemy, it would definitely caused them to be shocked.

Hong!

The little guy stepped down on the ground with force, and the rock below shattered. The ground split apart, extending to who knew how far; over a hundred black cracks appeared.

His entire person shot up into the sky, once again leaping back to the peak.

“This... Too savage. He doesn’t even need to stand on a precious artifact. Directly leaping up there, that speed is faster than the speed I fly at!” The big red bird cried out in fear.

“This... Xiao Tian became dumbstruck. He felt that his eyes weren’t enough to see everything. After sizing up the little guy, he was shocked. This close friend’s performance would make any person stupefied. Moreover, he felt that this youth was... Extremely similar to another person!

“Abnormal ah... No one can understand this savage child’s world.” The big red bird used all of its strength to shake its head.

“Why do I feel like he’s like a certain someone?” The silver-gowned youth spoke with a bewildered and uncertain expression.

“Are you trying to say that I’m like that devilish brat from the Void God Realm? I hate it when people say that I’m like him the most. It’s more correct to say that he’s like me. I’m stronger than him, and always wanted to give him a beating, only I never had the chance to meet him. Moreover, with my brave appearance, how could that naughty child compare?” The little guy spoke proudly.

“You do seem to be stronger than him, but...” The silver-gowned youth was too embarrassed to say that his little face was full of meat and rather plump. It made those who saw him want to pinch it; this could still be considered a brave appearance? Although that devilish brat was terrifying, he truly was very pretty.

“Let’s not talk about this anymore. In the future, we will enter the Void God Realm together. At that time, there will be many opponents, and we will challenge all of those various pure lands one by one. At the same time, I will help you give him a good beating.” The little guy said this with extremely deep emotions.

Although the silver-gowned youth was bewildered, after thinking a bit, he felt at ease. If he really was that devilish brat, could they really have become brothers like this? He most likely would have received a hammer to the head a long time ago, running away with the divine liquid.

Xiao Tian turned around and walked towards a large limestone. On top of it he placed the jade container full of the True Supreme Water.

The little guy kicked aside a limestone that was like a brick. He wanted to pick it up, because this was a good opportunity. He could knock out the silver-gowned youth, grab the divine liquid, and escape without a trace.

However, wouldn’t doing this make that silver-gowned youth angry to death? If he went insane, or if he left behind some traces, then that wouldn’t be good. After all, there still wasn’t any deep hatred between them.

The little guy looked at his figure, and his two small hands were twisted together. His large eyes were blinking, and he was truly at a loss.

Upon seeing this, the big red bird immediately understood what the little guy was thinking. It could be seen that this fellow normally was definitely not someone who was upright, and was not a good bird.

Its two eyes emitted a ominous glint, and with a gesture of one of its wings, it was implying 'Go, the two of us will go together'!

The little guy was even more confused. Doing things like this wasn't too good, however... Last time he smashed with the hammer twice. He felt that the back of his head was rather attracting, and always wanted to try it a few times.

He picked up the limestone from the ground, using it as a brick. He walked forward step by step.

The big red bird was immediately excited, and its two eyes emitted light. It walked quietly on tiptoes and followed behind. The two of them working together was obvious better than one. It indicated towards the little guy that he was going to make the first move.

After seeing the little guy nod, its two wings hugged the black pot which opening its large mouth to continuously laugh. Afterwards, he suddenly leapt, throwing itself forward. It prepared to knock out the silver-gowned youth.

At the same time, the little guy also leapt up. He grabbed a rock, slapping it forward.

With a dong sound, it struck firmly, right in the center of the back of the head. This type of technique was definitely an experienced and seasoned skill.

“Uh...”

The big bird’s big mouth that was open and lowly laughing suddenly froze solid. Afterwards, it began to roll its eyes, and from its mouth came out an uh sound before its head slowly turned around, collapsing on the ground.

It did not actually lose consciousness. It only felt rather dazed, and its two ears were ringing with wengweng sounds. Other than the sharp pain on the back of its head, it was as if he had been kicked by a fat cow. That area soon developed a huge blister.

The big red bird was confused and disoriented, however, it became flustered and exasperated soon after. Fucking savage child, your aim is just too poor! How could you smash the back of this grandpa’s head? There’s such a huge head in front of you! Can you not see it? What kind of vision do you have? How do you get anything done? Your accuracy is too terrible!

It was about to throw out a stream of curses; this savage child’s way of doing things was just too unreliable.

When Xiao Tian heard the commotion, he turned around to take a look. He asked in puzzlement, “Why is he lying on the floor?”

“I slapped him. I saw his shifty-eyes, and knew that he wanted to do something bad, so I gave it a slap with the rock,” said the little guy.

When the big red bird heard what was said, it immediately became hopping mad. It struggled to stand up, and was simply angry beyond belief. After going through so much, it turns out that it wasn't because of a loss of accuracy, but was rather because he was originally aiming for the back of his head.

Ironically, he was trying to find a justification by saying that the savage child lost his aim.

"Brat, what is the meaning of this?!" The big red bird was extremely angry. It was clear that you wanted to launch a blunt sneak attack on the youth! I was going to act as an accomplice out of kind intentions, so why did I get knocked out with a stone by you?

"This bird is not something good. Just now, it wanted to mount a sneak attack on you to steal the True Supreme Water. I only slapped it with a rock out of anger." The little guy spoke towards the silver-gowned youth.

The big red bird was angry to the extreme. It rubbed that huge blister on the back of its head, grimacing in pain. It was angry to the point of almost spitting out blood. You're obviously the one being vicious, so why did everything get blamed on this grandpa? The hardest thing to forgive was that the rock strike that this grandpa receive hurted too much; who did things like this?

Xiao Tian's complexion was not good, staring at the big red bird as he said, "You kept staring at the jade container. It seemed you didn't have any good intentions after all."

"It's none of your business." The big red was angry to the extreme. This was just too unlucky, all of these accusations were just too unjust. It wanted to be an accomplice, yet it was instead struck instead. It was also turned into the victim that was blamed, that's right, he wasn't the victim, but rather the big red bird was the one being blamed! Was there still any heavenly logic?!

It naturally was not willing to be made the scapegoat. It opened its beak, and was about to release everything and expose the little guy.

"Ignore it, this bird is rather bad. If it wasn't because it wanted me to recommend a master for it, it would have long rebelled." While speaking, the little guy shook his head before speaking again. "It's so disobedient, now I'm beginning to hesitate whether or not I really should introduce the master to it."

The big red bird seemed as if it was injected with chicken blood. It was previously unwilling to forgive the little guy, and was about to reveal and explain everything to Xiao Tian. However, after hearing these words now, it immediately became spiritless. It rubbed the big blister on the back of its head and sulked with heavy breathing, not willing to say anything.

"Brother, you really are worthy of being called a close friend. If it was anyone else, then they would definitely follow this bird, and be taken advantage of by it. For example, that devilish brat definitely would not give up this opportunity." The silver-gowned youth expressed his sincere gratitude, feeling that this intimate friend was not bad of a person. From beginning to end, he always hated that devilish brat with extreme rage.

"Ahpu..." The big red bird spat out blood. Great heavens! Great earth! Was there still any place with reason? This is the results of the savage child's actions, so why am I the one that's being unjustly blamed ah?!

"We became familiar at first sight, so there's no need to be so polite." A brilliant smile hung from the little guy's face, however, his heart was actually incomparably torn. He endlessly muttered to himself 'I am a good person. I actually didn't take action, and changed my mind at the last second. I am so kind, I am too kind...'

"Brother, you have to be on your guard against this bird. Its inherent nature is too evil, so don't let it take advantage of you." The silver-gowned youth Xiao Tian seriously reminded.

"No problem, give it another chance. I won't let it be so evil, slowly making it yield." The little guy winked with his large eyes.

Ahpu

The big red bird once again spat out a large mouthful of blood. It felt as if these past six months have been raging with snowstorms. Could there be any more injustice than this? This savage child was too dishonest and unkind! It was angry to the point of wanting to wanting to run over and smack him.

“This grandpa... Really wants to stake it all!” The big red bird was resentful.

“Look, it’s holding a grudge,” said Xiao Tian.

“Forgive it this time. In actuality, there is still a bit of kindness inside its heart. As long as it changes, then it’s fine.” The little guy spoke extremely magnanimously.

“This grandpa feels wronged to death!” After the big red bird heard what they said, tears almost began to flow down its cheeks. With dongdong sounds, he directly slammed its head into the ground.

“Look how bad it is. It is using its own misery to threaten us,” said the little guy.

“This grandpa is done!” The big red bird was in grief and indignation.

In the end, Xiao Tian discussed it over with the little guy as to how they should divide the divine liquid, decisively eliminating the big red bird from the equation.

The little guy said, “I’ll give you this chance. If you atone for your crimes by doing good deeds and carry us to look for the Rain Clan's people, we can give you a bit of the True Supreme Water after cleaning them up."

"I don't want the True Supreme Water, I just want to be pure white[1]..." The big red bird angrily said this to the little guy.

[tl: [1] = innocent.]

The little guy said, "Your body originally is already red, and you are carrying a black pot as a precious artifact. What pure white, if you don't want the divine liquid then forget it."

"I... I... I want!" The big red bird rubbed the big blister on its head, and in the end howled out. It covered its nose, carrying the two people into the sky to search for the Rain Clan.

Chapter 137 – Decisive Victory

Ao...!

Wolf howled rang out through the skies. Many vicious beasts were surprised within the mountain depths. They couldn't help but raise their heads to look, but they only saw the flapping wings of a big red bird as it flew over.

“What are you looking at? Have you never seen such beautiful wings on a grandeur and tyrannical bird before?” The big red bird casted sidelong glances at them, and had the look of a great hero as he looked down on them.

“What kind of bird is this? Why is it making wolf howls?”

“It's most likely an illegitimate child. It's the later generation of a Flame Yunque and a Demonic Wolf.”

Vicious beasts mumbled below, criticising the bird.

The big red bird carried a big black pot on his body. Originally, it was already in a bad mood, so now it was even more upset. It overlooked the vicious beasts within the mountain range below and howled, “What do you bunch of ground beetles understand? My grandpa is a descendant of the divine Vermilion Bird. If you guys dare to randomly discuss, my grandpa will one day exterminate you bunch!”

Aohou...

A violent ape jumped out from within the great valley, reaching over a hundred meters. Its entire body was pitch-black, and its hair was thick and murky. Its vicious aura overflowed into the heavens as it jumped into the skies, clawing towards this big red bird.

The big red bird cried out with a strange shout. It scampered off, frantically fleeing and flapping its wings with all its might. That violent ape's enormous palm swiped past, almost scratching it. The big red bird's body transformed into a ray of fiery light as it disappeared from above that mountain range, its body wet with cold sweat.

"What kind of rotten place is this, too dangerous. This grandpa is known as a leading king in the large outside world, yet why am I always being bullied here? In the past, I was always the one pressuring others." The big red bird was extremely angry, and his bad temper almost exploded.

The little guy and Xiao Tian were also shocked. Just now, that violent ape was definitely extremely terrifying. It was not something that an ordinary person could defeat, and its cultivation level was profound and mysterious; it could be considered one of the indigenous species here.

After flying this entire time in search of the Rain Clan's people, they only found a few tiny and insignificant traces.

"Let's go back to the desert. Who knows, maybe they are still unresigned, remaining there." The little guy made this speculation.

The large golden desert stretched as far as the eyes could see. The sand flickered with light, blinding people's eyes. This place was simply too vast and incomparably boundless; it was extremely quiet.

“I’m going to put this out there. Later on, I am not going to fight against those old folks. They’re too terrifying, and I think my life is more important,” said the big red bird.

“If something goes wrong, you just have to escape while carrying us,” said the little guy.

The waves of heat surged, and even the scenery seemed to become distorted. They entered the depths of the abyss to carefully search, and at the same time, the little guy wanted to find the True Supreme Water one more time.

“This container of divine liquid is at least several jin in weight, enough for us to divide.” Xiao Tian understood what the little guy wanted to do. Getting close to the True Supreme Water was extremely dangerous.

“The more the better. I still feel like the amount is not abundant enough,” said the little guy. Other than his need, he also thought back to Stone Village. Bending his fingers one by one, he said, “Grandpa Chief, Uncle Hu’s family, Dazhuang, Ermeng, Pihou...”

“That’s right. How could these types of things ever be in excess?” interrupted the big red bird.

“It’s none of your business.” The silver-gowned youth spoke. Along the way, it became cautious toward this bird, as if he was guarding against a thief.

“Heavens, if you let me die, then whatever. This suffering is killing me! How could I, such a pure and innocent divine bird, have fallen to this extent?!” The big red bird felt incredibly wronged. It wanted to grind its teeth and bite the little guy a few times.

“Quiet down!” The little guy seemed to have heard some sounds.

The big red bird hastily pressed close to the floor. Following that, it carefully passed through a sand dune. While gazing forward, it shouted and said, “There’s an old fellow who is being carried by several little guys.”

Yu Wentian’s face had constantly been gloomy these past few days. His heart was bitter, and he was often gnashing his teeth. He really wanted to catch that devilish brat as soon as possible, giving him a painful death.

He was already sixty years old, and his cultivation was shockingly high. This time, he restricted his own cultivation realm, yet before he even made any accomplishments, he lost both his legs and became a cripple; this really was a crushing defeat.

Moreover, right when he was about to obtain the True Supreme Water, that hateful youth dropped down from the sky, obliterating the Rain Clan’s dream to rise in power. It made him completely irritable and angry.

“Don’t let me see you again. Otherwise, I will definitely crush your bones, slowly tormenting you to death!

There were still a few guys and girls on the side, and they were all Rain Clan geniuses. Two of them were in charge of lifting a chair, carrying Yu Wentian across the desert.

As for this elder's bitterness, they expressed their understanding. After all, he was someone whose cultivation was always astonishing, yet it had to be oppressed here, not allowed to be put to use. He was tormented terribly by that child, making him lose his legs; he was naturally resentful.

"Sister Zimo already left to invite cousin Shi Yi. If he comes over, then as long as he relies on his eyes that can see through the void, then we can definitely quickly find that devilish brat."

"I hope you can invite cousin Shi Yi over. I'm not sure if he broke away from the forbidden land. If he obtained a heavenly bone, then he will have undergone another transformation, destined to become incomparable."

The group of people all had light shining from their eyes. Towards Shi Yi, they all had strong belief and reverence.

"Don't let me catch him!" Yu Wentian clenched his teeth, and was incomparably depressed. Could you grow back legs after losing them? What type of astonishing divine item would that require?! He felt that his life was already a dull gray, and was filled with haze.

"Everything that occurred happened as a result of your own actions." A sound could be heard, and out came a bird and two humans from behind the sand dune. It was led by the devilish brat that made the Rain Clan clench their teeth with resentment.

"It's you! You actually dared to show yourself!" Yu Wentian held an anger that was as big as the sky. He was in charge of continuing the search for the True Supreme Water within the desert, and they did not continue their chase. They never thought that the little guy would be so reckless and suddenly appear again.

“You harbor a grudge against others, yet have you ever thought before as to why you received this type of result? If it were not for you guys wanting to kill me, why would it ever end up like this?” The little guy said this as he stared at the empty trouser legs.

“Little child, accept your fate!” Yu Wentian’s expression was malevolent, and after slapping his vine chair, he rose into the air. He swooped down towards the little guy, and his fierceness was a bit terrifying.

He stared angrily, and his eyebrows stood erect. His murderous aura spread out as his two palms slapped down. Symbols flickered, and they were densely packed as multicolored light submerged the area in front of him.

The little guy’s strength increased by a large amount. Now that he was confronting the elder again, he had quite a bit of confidence. He was not frenetic, and directly brought out the golden bone shears. Within kacha sounds, all of the symbols shattered.

“Open!”

The little guy loudly shouted, and his palms radiated light. His palm shone, and lightning rose dramatically. The strength of his body and symbols merged together, meeting the fog in the air and curling up around the large hand within the rain radiance.

The sound of thunder exploded. The little guy’s lightning palm and that large hand within the dense mist collided together, shaking this area of the desert. The sand were like ocean waves, diffusing in all directions and creating roughly ten large waves.

The scene terrified people to the extreme. The golden sand waves overflowed into the heavens, causing this area to be completely submerged. It hid the sky and covered the earth as it rose into the air; abnormally terrifying.

Peng!

Yu Wentian was shocked. After trading a blow, his body flew out diagonally. As he flew out, all of the bones in his arm became numb, losing all feeling. Lightning radiance curled up around his arm, and his body was violently shaking. Afterwards, with a pu sound, he spat out a large mouthful of blood.

He simply couldn't believe what happened. His own cultivation level was extremely high, and the achievements of his symbols far surpassed that of a youth. However, after that single shocking exchange, it was as if he received a thunderbolt. That huge strength was too terrifying, penetrating through the symbols' protection and affecting his body.

"Purely the strength of the physical body!" A type of anxiety and dread rose within his heart. This youth was too terrifying! If he was allowed to develop further, just how ridiculous would he become?

However, before he could even think any more, the bones in his arm unexpectedly began to emit shattering sounds, exploding at this second.

Following that, his small arm also emitted the sound of fracturing, breaking at several locations. The sharp pain made his face sweat profusely, and he could not believe what was happening. Too terrifying... This type of natural divine force simply shocked people to the extreme! He felt that he had to pass this information to his clan, because this child could not be allowed to grow up.

Yu Wentian angrily bellowed, spitting out a lump of light. A beast horn appeared, and it was completely black. It carried evil influences, sweeping out with waves of dark light. Moreover, the wuwu sounds rang out from within the horn, and the divine sound was ear-splitting as if it wanted to split open one's soul.

"Go away, demons, devils, and evil spirits!" The little guy shouted out, and the Suan Ni bone mirror in his palm emitted a light that shot out a valiant heavenly lightning. The golden lightning was thick, piercing through the dark mist and shooting in front.

With a hong sound, the opposing beast horn trembled. It was not a match for the Suan Ni bone mirror; after all, that was the most precious asset dropped from the body of an Archaic species, far surpassing ordinary precious artifacts.

"Not good. Elder uncle received a great blow to his strength after losing his legs, and his precious artifact is also not as powerful as his opponent's. He is most likely not a match." The young disciples behind them looked at each other before rushing up together.

“Do you think that you’ll win just by grouping together?” The silver-gowned youth Xiao Tian stood up. He established his eighth heavenly passage, and was definitely a top level genius youth; he blocked off everyone by himself.

At the same time, the big red bird’s face also darkened. It took a step with its two long legs and began to press forward. His mood was absolutely terrible. One of its scarlet wings was like a hand as it carried the black pot. It quickly charged into the group of people and began to flip out.

“You bunch of bastards actually dare to insult me! This grandpa will beat the shit out of you!”

What made made them dumbstruck was that the big red bird went crazy. While carrying the black pot, it charged forward while smashing about, causing some of their weapons to be distorted. It created obliterating symbols, and the iron pot rang out with dongdong sounds. Soon after, some of them had their heads smashed into bloody calabashes.

The Rain Clan’s people were depressed. Did this bird go mad? When did they provoke it? When did it harass it? It came over and attacked us for absolutely no reason, and it even endlessly cursed! These people were extremely resentful.

During this battle, the silver-gowned youth was only in charge of blocking off the others, preventing the Rain Clan disciples from running after falling apart. Everything else was pretty much handed over to the big red bird.

It was also an Archaic species, and its strength was incomparably powerful. Just because it suffered under the little guy’s hand did not mean that it was weak. On the contrary, it was extremely powerful, and there were few who could be its opponent.

The bird was carrying a black pot as it smashed left and right. It was crazy as it acted violently, causing the Rain Clan disciples to endlessly complain. They were all smacked around until their scalps were bleeding, and their bones as well as their muscles were snapping.

On the other side, the little guy was confronting the Rain Clan elder. Like a beast youth, each time he rushed out, a sand wave that overflowed into the heavens would be carried along, fierce and berserk.

With a weng sound, the Suan Ni bone mirror emitted light. Lightning interweaved, causing the dark beast horn to shake and crack apart. As a result, it began to dim.

Light burned brilliantly within the little guy's eyes. He suddenly charged forward to attack towards his opponent. Yu Wentian slapped the floor and once again rose. The symbols around his body continuously interleaved, causing the force of a thunderstorm to appear.

However, they were within a desert, and so his divine might was at the absolute lowest. Added to the fact that both his legs as well as one of his arms received serious damage, his fighting strength was truly extremely lacking.

The force of that thunderstorm could not injure the little guy. It was illuminated by the Suan Ni bone mirror, immediately being defeated.

With a weng sound, the golden bone shears flew out. A kacha sound rang out, and that black beast horn that already developed few cracks previously broke apart, falling on the ground.

When Yu Wentian saw this, his heart became incomparably sore. Such a powerful precious artifact was actually destroyed; he almost spat out a mouthful of blood.

The Archaic species were powerful. There weren't that many people who were like the little guy. He held two extremely valuable treasures that previously belonged to Archaic descendants in his hands. These artifacts were enough to make eyes of super large clans red with envy.

"Small child, I will let you see the taboo strength!" Yu Wentian's body received immense injuries, and together with the fact that his precious artifact was ruined, a large dread began to develop in its heart. He began to roar.

"He is about to break his own restrictions! He is going to go all out since he is at death's door, quickly retreat!" The silver-gowned youth loudly shouted.

"Retreat!" The little guy roared with a low voice, also reminding the crazy big red bird. Soon after, he suddenly stamped on the ground, causing smoke and dust to rush into the skies. Waves of sand surged as they disappeared from that area.

Yu Wentian revealed a sneer. He did not actually use his taboo strength, and never broke the seal. This was because he did not want to die, and was instead preparing to bring out another precious artifact to escape from this place.

A feather appeared. It was purple, flowing with multicolored light. He sat on top of it and wanted to escape into the skies.

Suddenly, a terrifying wave swept over. Rays of light flourished magnificently, and a pair of golden shears appeared. With a kacha sound, the precious feather was cut apart, almost cutting Yu Wentian's body apart as well.

Meanwhile, a shadow rushed past. It was too fast, and with a pu sound lightly ringing out, his head was directly twisted off. After tossing it to the ground, it then once again retreated, avoiding the wave of blood that surged.

The little guy did not actually run away, and only kicked up a sandstorm. In the midst of the chaos, he approached, carrying out the most severe and decisive assassination.

"You..." The head that dropped to the ground emitted that single character before it could only watch helplessly, full of unreconciliation and despair.

"If you were really going to use the restricted power, then you wouldn't have roared in advance." The little guy was looking down on him.

Yu Wentian spat out one last mouthful of blood, and his two eyes went dim. He carried a look of unwillingness as he died. If he knew that things were going to turn out like this, it would have been better to directly use the restricted power to carry out one last attack.

“The elder has passed away, elder uncle was defeated!”

The Rain Clan disciples were alarmed. This was the same as the heavens collapsing and the ground sinking. Such a powerful elder died in battle; how were they supposed to fight back? They were definitely not his opponents.

“Go quickly, invite cousin Shi Yi!” There was someone who loudly shouted, and they began to separately flee.

“This grandpa still hasn’t completely vented its anger yet! None of you are allowed to leave!” The big red bird once again flipped out, and the black pot was taken out. It smashed about explosively and continuously, intercepting a few of them on the spot.

At the same time, the silver-gowned youth also took action. Not many of them could escape, and their fate within this battlefield was already sealed.

Yu Kun and Yu Wencheng had left the desert, and were currently searching for traces of the little guy. Meanwhile, Yu Zimo was searching for Shi Yi. Other than these three, the rest of the Rain Clan members that entered the Hundred Shattering mountains were here.

After leaving the desert, the big red bird's mood seemed to have improved quite a bit, once again becoming a bit cocky.

“This grandpa's fighting strength is matchless after all. I single-handedly swept that area! I admire myself so much.”

The little guy was all smiles as he said, “Not bad, you're making progress. Next time, it's your turn to take on Yu Kun and Yu Wencheng.”

The big red bird directly shook its head, saying, “No way. Those two old fellows are too strong. I can't take them on. However, after they receive the news of what happened, I'm sure that they would become half dead from anger. Who knows, if we launch a sneak attack then, it might go smoothly.”

Needless to say, if those two Rain Clan experts received news regarding the circumstance, then they would definitely go crazy. The losses they suffered this time was too great, since the geniuses they brought in this time were all executed; it was definitely difficult to bear.

The silver-gowned youth left. He wanted to find a place to conceal himself, and no longer prepared to come out. As long as he protected that container of divine liquid, then that would become the greatest harvest.

The little guy did not have the Sealing Light Bead, and so he left the divine liquid with Xiao Tian for the time being without taking his portion. He began to continue exploring this small world.

A gate shining with light appeared. It was a passageway, and it allowed them to leave this water country and proceed to a different region.

The big red bird rushed through, taking the golden passageway to quickly enter a new world.

“Who dares to interrupt? The Martial Imperial Family is hunting an Archaic descendant, so back off!” When they had just entered this area, they immediately heard someone loudly howl, berating the little guy who was on the big red bird’s back.

“Martial Imperial Family...” The light within the little guy’s pupils flickered. Wasn’t that where he himself was originally born in? He actually met up with someone from the same clan, only that back then, most of the martial imperial family members did not choose him, but rather stood on Shi Yi’s side.

Chapter 138 – Descendants of the Martial Imperial Family

It was a sable roughly a zhang in length [1]. Its entire body was purple and sparkling, and its pair of eyes were like rubies, transparent and brilliant. It traversed through the mountain forest, appearing at this location.

[tl: [1] = 3.3 meters.]

A group of young experts also sped along. They took out their precious artifacts, attacking in front of them. They wanted to subdue this young Archaic descendant.

“What a spirited creature! This sable is not ordinary. If not for the fact that it was injured previously and was seriously hurt, this group of people would most likely not be able to do anything to it.” The big red bird was amazed.

This was a rarely seen Archaic species. Its spiritual influence pressured everyone, and there was no lack of demonic aura. Between its brows was a vertical eye. It was not known what type of creature it fought with to sustain that injury, as there was a terrifying claw scar.

“Quickly withdraw. The Martial Imperial Family will capture that Archaic species, don’t obstruct us!” The person who was charging in front loudly shouted.

The little guy jumped down from the bird’s back and stood on the ground. He completely ignored them, and stared at the sable that was being surrounded. He felt that it was definitely a type of tonic medicine.

“We are talking to you! Did you not hear us?!” One of them shouted, rushing towards this area. That person wanted to seal off that golden passageway, preventing that sable from stepping over towards another region.

The little guy continued to ignore them like before, appearing rather uncommunicative.

The group of people revealed their anger, and walked forward. Their expressions were callous. One of them stared at that big red bird and said in astonishment, “Fire Yunque, it’s also an Archaic species.”

“We are talking to you. Did you hear us even once?” The leader of that group had thick eyebrows and big eyes, and he was extremely buff. He seemed to be around fifteen or sixteen, and his heroic spirit pressed outwards as he watched this area closely.

The little guy looked at this group of people while in deep contemplation. He wanted to find their figures within his dusty memory, since there was a chance that they met before when he was younger. However, even though he was trying to remember, he still couldn’t find any traces of them. Eight or so years had passed, and all of those former children were now heroic youth, becoming substantially different.

Perhaps this group of people weren’t part of the children he saw back then.

Before the little guy fell ill, there were some older cousins who would often play with him. However, after he lost his Supreme Being Bone and became incomparably weak, there were no longer anyone who looked for him; only bullying accompanied.

“Hey, did you hear me?” One of them shouted.

“I heard you. I’m only standing here on the side. The world is so big, so there shouldn’t be a problem if I stand on this ground right?” The little guy spoke.

The big red bird was surprised. This savage child was acting a bit unusual; his state of mind seemed to be a bit gloomy.

“We want you to stay on the side, not allowing you to affect our capturing of the Archaic descendant,” one of them spoke out.

The little guy’s eyes stood up. He watched them attentively, and did not say anything.

The big red bird couldn’t take it and said, “Why should this grandpa leave? For what reason do I have to get out of the way for you? Who do you guys think you are?”

In the outside world, it was a self-proclaimed king. No creatures dared to provoke it, and it had long acquired the characteristics of a great mountain king. After entering the Hundred Shattering Mountains, it naturally wouldn’t be a pushover.

“What an unbridled bird. It’s also an Archaic descendant, so I think we might as well capture it.” One of them coldly spoke, and already had eyes on the big red bird a long time ago.

The few people heading the group gestured with their hands, and that group of people quickly surrounded the sable. At the same time, seemingly secretly and without gaps, they also targeted the little guy and the big red bird.

The little guy sighed. He gave up recalling his memories, and completely snapped back to reality. His eyes blinked, and with an extremely serious tone, he said, "I'm warning you guys, don't provoke me!"

"We don't want to take advantage of anyone. However, you shouldn't stand here and be such a hinderance. We want to catch the sable, so we ask you to immediately continue on your way. Otherwise, you are responsible for the results." The leader spoke out, lowering his face.

Behind him, there were a group of people who were staring at the big red bird. They were eager to give it a try, and really wanted to take action to capture it.

"This area is so big, so there should be more than enough space for your battlefield. Don't be so overbearing, and don't annoy me." The little guy spoke bluntly.

"Motherfucker. What is that brat looking at? If you keep staring at this grandpa, I'm going to stew you!" The big red bird traveled together with the little guy this entire time, and so now, when it threatened others, he also opened his mouth and said that he was going to eat them, stewing them in his mouth.

"Haha... Truly strong-willed. Those who dare to provoke people from my Martial Imperial Family are quite few. After coming to the Hundred Shattering Mountains, you guys are the first!" Some of them began to laugh loudly.

"What more is there to say? Seize them. I feel that this Fire Yunque is not bad, so capture it. After domesticating it, it will become quite an extraordinary mount.” The group of people laughed as they spoke, wanting to besiege them.

The big red bird’s face darkened. Originally, its mood was already quite terrible, and so now it was even worse as it spoke, “You dare to have thoughts on this grandpa, you guys wash yourself clean and prepare to enter the pot.”

The group of people’s faces were cold and detached as they pressed forward.

“I will say it again. Don’t provoke me.” The little guy also said this one more time.

“Who do you think you are? Do you think you are our clan’s Shi Yi or something? Do you think you are shoulder to shoulder with those who have the bloodlines of deities, and can show contempt towards us? If not, then you will suffer the consequences!” The few who were leading the group wore cold and detached expressions.

“I’ll discipline you guys a bit on behalf of the Martial Imperial Family.” The little guy’s expression was calm as he walked over with long strides.

“That’s going to happen to you! You dare say these words!” The group of people were angry. From their perspective, this was a provocation directed at the Martial Imperial Family.

The group of young geniuses soared up, throwing themselves forward. They opened their mouths and hissed, and as symbols surged, they surrounded the little guy.

The little guy was calm and composed. He lifted his hands, and with a slap, the symbols that filled the skies were extinguished. Strands of lightning radiance were emitted from his hands, curling up around that person's body and directly pulling them over.

"Ah..." That youth loudly cried out, and his entire body was giving off white smoke. His four limbs twitched, and was thrown down at the little guy's feet.

Everyone was shocked. This was like meeting face to face for the first time! One of their talented and accomplished members was dropped; this youth really wasn't ordinary!

The leading members walked out, their eyes like lightning. Their hands began to move about, and a ripple immediately appeared. A Flood Dragon was displayed, drawing out an arc as it appeared. They took out their precious methods and began to attack the little guy.

The little guy stood where he was, and did not move. His palms emitted light, directly sending out a streak of lightning. The golden lightning caused that Flood Dragon attack to continuously tremble, ultimately erasing it.

"So powerful!"

The Martial Imperial Family's youth all revealed concentrated expressions. This time, they might have met a fierce obstacle.

"Kill!"

That youth once again made his move, quickly taking out a piece of beast skin. It emitted a precious light from symbols, placing in on his arm. It unexpectedly merged together, becoming a part of his body.

Hou...

He was shouting, and his stature got taller by a large level. In addition, thick scales appeared on his arm, forming the claw of a Flood Dragon. It was extremely thick, and it slashed its way over.

The little guy was shocked. The opposing party had a precious artifact, and it was originally the skin of a Flood Dragon. It merged with his body, forming a Flood Dragon claw.

The bulky Flood Dragon claw was covered in scales, and it was strong enough to cut open mountains and shatter stones. The little guy dodged to the side, and that arm claw caused a large boulder that was a over ten thousand jin to violently split apart. Smoke and dust rose into the air.

It was obvious that this youth's identity wasn't ordinary. This was because his precious artifact was rare. Even if it was the Martial Imperial Family, they still wouldn't prepare a primitive symbol bone for every child.

This group of people also only had two precious artifacts, but those who carried them were all quite extraordinary.

“Good! Suppress him!” A group of youth were surging with enthusiasm.

The thick and bulky Flood Dragon claw destroyed everything in its way. It held extraordinary strength, and it once again began to attack.

The little guy coldly snorted and no longer dodged. He saw through this precious artifact's strength. His palm emitted light, and as lightning interweaved, his bare hands welcomed the attack.

A violent quake rang out, and the little guy did not move a single jolt. However, that youth that brought out the tremendous force with the help of the precious artifact still suffering incomparably. His face turned pale, and began to retreat backwards step by step.

His entire arm was spasming! At the same time, that beast skin fell off. It separated from his flesh, and its luster began to dim.

“Your bare arm can actually make precious artifacts tremble?” The group of youth were all dumbstruck. What type of terrifying strength was this?

The little guy threw an attack forward, his speed too fast. He carried over a gale, causing sand to fly and rocks to roll; it was as if an Archaic vicious beast was covering the sky.

“Not good!” That youth loudly shouted. Despite the fact that he was doing everything he could to resist, his symbols were still erased like before. That youth was too terrifying. Dropping down from the sky, he directly seized that beast skin and grabbed his neck along the way. Flinging with a sudden force, he was thrown down, landing not far from the youth that had been captured previously.

His heart was angry to the extreme. Right when he wanted to rebel, a foot stepped down, stamping down on his chest. Moreover, electric light erupted, and golden lightning pierced through his body. It made him twitch and suffer a severe blow; it was difficult for him to budge an inch.

“Let’s go up together and arrest him!” The people from the Martial Imperial Family knew that this time, they kicked an iron plate. This youth was powerful beyond common sense. He far surpassed his peers, and it was likely that only those who were much older could make him surrender.

The group of people made their moves, and all types of symbols danced about. In addition, a beast horn appeared, and it was also a precious artifact. With wuwu sounds that made people's souls frightened, it emitted a scarlet red ray of light.

The big red bird glanced over, and immediately became excited. It prepared to go up and take advantage of the crisis.

The little guy stopped him, and did the job himself.

This battle was extremely fierce. Following that, six and seven people began to fight, and in the end, even those who were originally surrounding the sable came over, attacking the little guy together.

The big red bird was watching the fight. At the same time, that sparkling purple Archaic species called it over, wanting to discuss something with it.

Symbols flickered within the battlefield, and rays of electricity filled the sky. From time to time, there would also be precious artifacts sparkling, causing more and more shouts of pain.

The Martial Imperial Family's people were truly formidable. They were all powerful, and did not contradict their statuses. However, it was a pity that they met the little guy; they were destined to meet a tragedy.

Although the fight was fierce, the end result was unbearably ugly. The group of people were all beaten until their mouths and noses were bleeding. They were bruised and riddled with scars, becoming more or less like a pig head.

All of them had bloody noses and swollen faces. Their heads were full of large blisters, and no one knew just how many times they were smacked around by that little guy. These people were beaten until they were crawling and rolling, as none of them could stand up.

In the end, the little guy piled them up together and formed a human pile. He sat on the very top and asked, "Convinced?"

The group of people loudly snorted. As a result, they provoked around a dozen thick streams of lightning. The electricity made them tremble once again, spitting out foam from their mouths.

"I'm giving you guys a lesson. Don't think that you yourselves are all that. For people like you, the number that comes at me is the number I will take care of," the little guy said.

These people were simply ashamed to the point of hiding their faces. They were individuals born within the Martial Imperial Family! Normally, they could be considered to be above their peers, yet now, why did they end up collapsing at the first blow?

Moreover, the one who was doing this was younger than them by a few years; this truly was a type of extraordinary shame and humiliation.

"Still unconvinced? Are you biting me?" The big red bird moved up, and using one of its wings like a hand, it began to random smash about with the black pot. These people immediately began to miserably shout again.

The little guy did not sympathize at all, allowing it to do as it pleased.

“Is the Martial Imperial Family that formidable? Aren’t you getting beaten while being sat on by my butt?!” The big red bird sat on top of the group of people, smashing about as if they were ping pong balls. It beat the group of people until they were badly battered, and their bad tempers disappeared.

“You guys are behaving so well.” In the end, the little guy gave each of them a kick. He kicked these guys into rolling calabashes, stepping on their bodies before leaving.

“Who are you?!” The group of people were resentful, yet they were shocked at the same time. How old was he? Yet he was still so terrifying, it was simply like Shi Yi two to three years ago!

“Fourth brother, sixth brother, and ninth brother, you guys go separately. You all will go into the forbidden land alone to find them and let them know that there is such a terrifying youth.”

“Cousin Shi Yi is there. This time, we lost too much face. If we cannot defeat him, then wouldn’t it mean that we have no one backing up our Martial Imperial Family?!”

The group of people all had black eyes. Their mouths were crooked, and their eyes were slanted. They were swelling like a pig’s head, and all of them were extremely indignant.

In the distance, the little guy stared at the sable and wiped away his saliva. He always felt that stewing it would definitely taste good; after all, it was an Archaic descendant.

Regardless, this sable was extremely grateful towards them. It acted rather intimately, making them too embarrassed to stew it.

“What did you say? There are some historical remains, and within them are all precious artifacts, sword mountains, beast horns, divine rings, and more? That they are all capable of flight, and have developed intelligence a long time ago?” The little guy was shocked.

The sable did indeed escape from that area. A great amount of the most powerful geniuses were fighting it out, and even though it was powerful, it still almost suffered a fatal blow, an inch away from losing its life.

“Correct, those historical remains are one of the Hundred Shattering Mountains’ most important areas. It is also one of the most precious lands!” The sable said.

“What are you waiting for? Let’s hurry!” The big red bird couldn’t sit still any more.

“No wonder the outer regions were so desolate. I didn’t see that many people. It turns out that all of the geniuses left for those places, fighting it out within those historical remains and precious lands,” said the little guy to himself.

They once again set out, leaving through the golden passageway. They continuously charged forward, continuously passing through eight regions. They passed through eight golden gates in succession, running through vast regions.

Along the way, the amount of experts they met increased in frequency, and it became more and more lively.

Sure enough, the closer they got to the heart of the Hundred Shattering Mountain', the more powerful creatures they met. Geniuses began to appear in large numbers.

In the end, they passed through a total of twenty four regions. Along the way, they fought through many battles because the number of geniuses from the various clans began to increase. It was impossible to avoid conflict, resulting in explosive battles.

This trip took up many days before they finally entered the desolate region.

There was no vegetation here, and there was a lack of life. The great land was scarlet red, as if it was contaminated by blood.

However, this area was not quiet at all. There were too many geniuses rushing over, charging towards the center. Clouds and mist curled up around that location, and multicolored light flickered about. It was as if it was a demonic land filled with treasures.

Two stone mountains formed a gate. The region inside was extremely vast, and the black mist took shape, surrounding those large historical remains. From time to time, precious artifacts would fly up, emitting air-shattering sounds.

Outside of the gate formed by the two stone mountains, countless creatures walked over, all of them hesitating as to whether or not they should enter.

The number of creatures here were too numerous. They completely filled up the area outside the mountain gate. The little guy felt a little dizzy when he saw this. There were creatures of all types here; there were golden giant birds, strong creatures, Pi Xiu, and even Suan Ni. There were also human disciples from ancient families, sacred experts, kings from ancient countries, etc.

“Hey, come look! Is that completely golden bird a Peng bird?” The big red bird seemed to be a bit terrified, nudging the little guy.

“It seems like it will taste good.” The little guy’s large eyes flickered, and used his sleeves to wipe his mouth, fearing that his saliva might drip.

The sable was speechless. Along the way, it already realized that this human youth was more savage than Archaic species like itself. He already ate a few powerful Archaic species that dared to provoke him.

‘Come look. Is that horned dragon pure-blooded? Why do I feel that it is extremely terrifying, and that it is carrying some powerful pressure? It shouldn’t really have originated from the Archaic sacred mountains right?’

After arriving here, the big red bird felt as if he didn’t have enough eyes to see everything. At the same time, it was also not as arrogant, holding itself back. That was because the creatures here were numerous, and they were all extremely powerful. The aura they emitted made people’s hearts palpitate.

Chapter 139 – Youth's Ferocity

Numerous creatures waited in front of the towering and great mountain gate. Some of them were densely covered in scales, and others had bright and magnificent feathers. They took in and sent out large amounts of multicolored lights, and all types of powerful species were there, all of them born with different talents.

Yellow mist bubbled forth, and the great earth trembled. There was a huge monster that was more than fifty meters in length with the appearance of a pangolin. However, it had the head of a Flood dragon, and was incomparably dignified. It was flowing with golden multicolored light as it appeared.

Everyone immediately cried out in alarm; this was a Land Dragon! As long as it stood on the great earth, its strength would be incredibly great. It could move mountains and drain seas, and was exceptionally terrifying.

Ao...

An entirely black Violent Ape appeared on top of a mountain. It roared towards the sky, and its voice roared like a tsunami; it made people's hearts tremble with fear. It used its strength to beat its chest, creating an oppressive and astonishing sound that made it seem as if a heavenly drum was ringing out.

With a hong sound, this ten meter tall Violent Ape leapt up, jumping directly from the stone mountain to a neighboring mountaintop. Immediately, it caused smoke and dust to rise into the air, smashing apart the mountain peak. The black hair on its body was black and thick, and it was jumping towards this area.

With a peng sound, the great land immediately cracked outwards. The black Violent Ape roared and hissed, revealing its snow white teeth. Dark light flickered about, circling around its body and giving it a ferocious and malevolent appearance.

Everyone there had no choice but to move away. This Violent Ape was too fierce, and no one dared to provoke it. It stopped in front of the mountain gate, observing the inside from the elevated position. It did not immediately enter, and continuously roared.

A butterfly flew over, and it was roughly a meter in length. Rainbow light flowed with overflowing color, and it was extremely gorgeous as it arrived and danced about the mountain gate.

Everyone was frightened, and even that Violent Ape no longer uttered a word. It could not stop itself from taking two steps back as it revealed a vigilant expression.

“It is the legendary Crack Demonic Butterfly [1] !” Light shot out from the big red bird’s eyes. It was a bit nervous, yet it was developing an expectation.

[tl: [1] = Now that I’m looking at it, Sky Shattering Demonic Butterfly is probably a more accurate name, but since I used this before, yolo.]

The little guy also began to carefully watch. The gorgeous stripes covering its body were all mysterious symbols. It was as if they were made by heaven, and even though they looked weak, they were actually incomparably powerful.

According to the records written down within ancient books, when the Archaic Demon Butterfly flapped its wings, it would cause cracks in ten thousand li of clear sky and shake the earth. It was so powerful that there was nothing else like it.

In the distance, a large golden bird glanced over. In addition, there was also an unusual green bird that continuously stared at the Demonic Butterfly.

Bird species had a deadly attraction towards these types of creatures. If they were able to swallow it, then their strength would definitely increase by an entire level. However, if they were killed instead, then it would be a pity.

Hong, hong...

The great earth lightly trembled, and a bronze-colored ant appeared. It was only a zhang in length. Each time it moved, it would immediately cause the great earth to shake and split apart; it was as if a mountain was moving.

“A Divine Ant that descended from the Divine Bug appeared! In the ancient years, they were all grouped together as they moved out, dominating over a few terrifying years. All of them could move mountains and level land, possessing extraordinary strength.” Someone sucked in a cold breath of air.

“Good thing only one came.”

“Impossible, they’ve always stayed in groups. How could there only be one!”

Sure enough, right as his voice dropped, the great earth began to once again tremble. A bronze expanse appeared, and from start to finish, there was a total of twenty of them. All of them were sturdy enough to crush apart the stone mountains.

Within the group, there was a Divine Ant that wasn't bronze-colored. It was actually silver white, and it flickered with dazzling rays of light, and it was even stronger. As soon as it appeared, it already made people's hearts palpitate.

"This strength of this bloodline sure is astonishing!" Everyone there began to shiver. This was definitely a terrifying competitor.

Colors flowed in all directions, and a creature that looked like a dandelion appeared. It wasn't a type of grass, but was rather a glistening branch with fresh leaves. A snow white globe rested on its upper half that sparkled with a crystalline splendor. It was like white feathers, and a few would drop from time to time, floating into the distance.

"Demonic Cattail Tree!"

Many people were horrified. They all backed off in succession, because those white fluffs were deadly. They were known for their cursing powers, and as long as they dropped on top of flesh, then it would immediately take root, sucking out all the divine essence within.

Since ancient years, there was a Demonic Tree that was greatly blessed. It killed many divine creatures, and when its demonic fluff floated down, it would take root within the flesh of deities, sucking dry all the essence energy from their bodies.

Following that, only after the various saints took action was that Demonic Tree killed. However, it still scattered endless saint blood, making that battle extremely difficult.

Although the Demonic Cattail Tree is a botanical creature, its roots seemed like legs. It could use them to walk, and was also extremely fast. Once it arrived here, it directly took root into the ground and began to absorb the great earth's spiritual essence, not moving again.

Everyone seemed as if they were avoiding snakes and scorpions, stepping aside and giving it its own area. No one was willing to get closer.

Suddenly, a violent gale swept up violently, causing sand to fly and rocks to roll. A large bird swooped down from the skies, and its body was green. However there were specks of red light glittered about, emitting a brilliant radiance. Its beak was spotlessly white, and what was the most peculiar was that it only had a single leg. However, when it landed, it was extremely stable, shaking and splitting apart the surface of the ground.

“Bifang [2]! It's actually a legendary Bifang!” Someone shouted in alarm.

[tl: [2] = image below]

After everyone heard what was said, their expressions all changed. This type of bird was extremely rare, but within the ancient years, it was definitely a demon lord. It was known as a heavenly ranked demonic bird, invincible and unrivalled.

Everyone there backed up. This demonic bird was exceptionally rare. They did not know whether or not this Bifang's bloodline was sufficiently pure. Otherwise, if it truly was the young of a heavenly ranked vicious bird, then it was likely that it would be able to eat a genius just by opening its mouth.

The Bifang's form was similar to that of a crane. Its entire body was green, and specks of scarlet light sparkled about. The bird's beak was pure white, and dazzling rays of divine radiance revolved around its body.

It casted sidelong glances at everyone, its eyes sweeping over the big golden bird, Suan Ni, Pi Xiu, and Horned Dragon one by one. It stood by itself in an area without moving as it observed what was happening within the gate.

Within the vicinity of the majestic mountain gates, the number of creatures grew larger and larger. There were so many that it was difficult to see all of them. They were all extraordinarily powerful, and were all geniuses from various races.

After arriving here, all of the human race experts became extremely cautious. None of them dared to be careless; otherwise, it was likely that they would be torn apart by a terrifying creature.

"Little bro!" Suddenly, the little guy revealed a happy expression. He had good eyes, and saw the Nine-Headed Lion within the group of creatures. It was because the lion was rather eye catching, as its entire body was bright. Its body looked like it was forged out of gold, and no matter where it was, it would still draw attention.

When the Nine-Headed Lion heard this voice, its body immediately went stiff. It was right in the middle of chatting with a few of its close friends. It never would have thought that it would hear this devil-like voice.

The little guy didn't care at all, and squeezed his way forward. When the surrounding creatures saw this human, they were all rather annoyed. They were about to get angry, but they never expected this youth to be so ridiculously strong, directly pushing all the experts to the side.

“Human, you are setting foot in a region that you should not be entering!” warned a creature. This area was all for Archaic species, and all of them were extremely powerful; humans did not dare to come here.

“Don’t anger me!” The little guy replied like this, immediately making this group of powerful creatures bewildered.

Hou... A vicious beast angrily roared, emitting its killing intent. Multicolored light flickered all about its fur, and its might spreading out. “I am warning you! Don’t bare your fangs in front of me, or else I’ll eat you!” The little guy suddenly turned around, facing that vicious beast and berating it.

Immediately, this group of creatures were petrified. Did they mishear what was said? These words seemed wrong somehow... Ordinarily, wasn’t it the Archaic beasts that threatened the humans, saying that they would eat them? Why was it the other way around today? Moreover, this devilish brat was still so young!

“Human, are you tired of living?” These vicious beasts charged forward, and symbols poured down in torrents like a great flood.

The little guy did not say anything else, kicking towards the ten types of symbols flying towards him. Like an ocean wave, it swept out. With a peng sound, the sole of his feet collided into that vicious beast.

Right when everyone thought that his leg was going to be devoured, that tyrannical vicious beast instead began to miserably cry out. Its mouth was full of shattered teeth, and fresh blood flowed; its enormous body flew out.

The other creatures began to move out of the way. This vicious beast smashed into the ground with a hong sound, not getting up again. Its mouth was fractured, and it incessantly howled in grief.

Within the group of Archaic species, there wasn't a single one who wasn't fearful of such a powerful human youth. It was a mere kick, yet it immediately took care of a vicious beast.

"Don't provoke me!" The little guy seemed to be a bit annoyed as he puffed his cheeks. He stared with his large eyes, running them over the Archaic species.

Following that, he walked forward, directly pushing aside these powerful races. He pushed them to the side, and walked forward, appearing incredibly valiant.

The group of Archaic species were completely dumbstruck. Exactly who was the vicious beast ah? This child was too savage! He entered their region that no others dared to walk into, impatiently pushing them to the side.

Everything was truly flipped around to the point where they couldn't believe what was happening!

In the distance, the group of human geniuses were also struck dumb from seeing this. Even if they had a powerful individual in their group who did not fear Archaic species, they still would not be this aggressive!

This child was too savage!

The little guy cleared the way in front of him, and the big red bird jolted its buttocks eagerly as it followed behind him. It was extremely cocky, saying, "Move aside, move aside. You never met a savage child yet right? Get out of the way, quickly, don't blame me for not warning you guys. Those who don't consider carefully will all be eaten!"

The group of creatures were all a bit stunned. They dug at their ears to make sure that they weren't hearing wrong. The human child was really going to eat them? It really overturned their impressions of the human race.

Above all, when they saw that this big red bird was clearly a powerful Archaic species, yet it was still so eagerly attentive, the creatures who were originally about to erupt in anger held themselves back.

The sable summoned its courage, and also began to follow along. It was a bit terrified. Even though it was powerful, following behind this savage child still made it feel fear and trepidation. This was simply too intrepid.

The little guy traveled across and arrived. He had a pure smile on his face as he said, "Little bro!"

The Nine-Headed Lion's entire body was rigid. It truly did not want to meet this devilish brat again. It felt that its neck was a bit numb, and turned around its head with difficulty.

"You're still alive?" It had a complicated expression on its face. Towards this savage child, it felt anger and annoyance, yet also feel a bit of gratitude. Although many things happened along the way to make it thoroughly resentful, at the crucial moment, the other party still risked his life to block four experts, creating a road of life for it.

“Of course! Of those four fellows, I got rid of two of them.” The little guy spoke without the least bit of concern.

When the Nine-Headed Lion heard this, it immediately stared blankly. Under such dangerous circumstances, this savage child was still able to strike back? However, after seeing him leaping and frisking about like before and appearing here, what he said was most likely not false.

“Little bro, it’s good that nothing happened to you. I was scared that you encountered danger.” The little guy walked over, and patted its golden and resplendent clawed arm.

Those Archaic species that previously stood in the little guy’s way almost had their jaws drop to the ground. They were scared until their eyeballs were about to fall out; the little bro he was calling out to was actually the Nine-Headed Lion?

Numerous creatures became foolish. This was the descendant of an Archaic divine king who was known for slaughter! Its bloodline was incomparably powerful, and normal creatures wouldn’t even dare to get close.

A human youth was actually this carefree, calling it... Little bro!

The Nine-Headed Lion’s entire body was brilliant. It angrily stared with its two eyes, and its might was astonishing. It was about to flare-up; to be called little bro in front of so many Archaic species, it really had no face.

“Little bro, are you being hostile towards me? Don’t blame me for being impolite!” The little guy widened his eyes, and no longer cared. He began to take steps forward, staring at that powerful creature whose body was burning with golden light.

The Nine-Headed Lion carried a terrifying dignity. It stared forward, but the moment their eyes met, it immediately withered. It truly was scared of this this devilish brat going crazy, beating it up in the process. In a soft voice, it said, “We’re friends, so of course we have to act friendly, but can you please not address me like that?”

“What are you scared of? You’re my little bro, so what is there to be worried about? Who dares to laugh at you?” The little guy swept his eyes over the surroundings.

No one from the group of creatures that blocked him before laughed, and all felt their bodies turning cold.

However, in front, there were a few Archaic descendants who couldn’t believe it, and one of them sneered. “I say, Golden Lion, did you really make a human your older brother? It truly is humiliating.”

“Right? As brothers that have interacted with you, if you make a human your senior, how can we endure this?”

The two who spoke were from the same race. They had human bodies, but their head regions were not quite the same. It was a bit bigger, and between their brows was actually an extra vertical eye.

These were experts from the three eyed race, and were considered Archaic descendants. They were blood brothers, and entered the Hundred Shattering Mountains together. Their strength was shockingly tyrannical.

“I say, Nine-Headed Lion, you make us too shocked. To actually find a human youth as your senior brother, is he blackmailing you somehow? Do you want me to help you eat him?” At this time, a Luan bird opened its mouth. Its wings were brightly colored, flickering with rainbow rays of light.

This was definitely a tyrannical species. Its race was the impressive and well known Archaic divine bird. Back then, its power shocked everything under the heavens, and it rarely met worthy adversaries.

“You two stay on the side.” The little guy was extremely dauntless, and after speaking, he immediately pressed forward. He pointed at the three eyed race experts and said, “Count yourselves lucky. I don’t eat humanoid creatures, so stand on the side!”

He loudly berated, not putting these two great experts in his eyes at all. This obviously caused a sensation, drawing the attention of countless creatures.

“You!” He pointed at the Rainbow Luan bird and said, “Think. Are you ready to be roasted or boiled? I will give you the opportunity to choose.”

Immediately, a huge commotion erupted outside the mountain gate. Regardless of whether it was the humans or geniuses from other races, they were all shocked. Chatter sprung up everywhere.

Chapter 140 – Rise of the Humans

When the Rainbow Luan heard what was said, all of the feathers on its body stood up, especially those that were gathered on its head. Its bright tail feathers were standing even more upright, and magnificent and bright colors covered its entire body. It angrily widened its two eyes, revealing an ominous glint.

“Human, who do you think you are speaking to?!” Its words resounded, as if blades and swords were clashing together; it was a bit awe-inspiring.

“Aren’t you just a bird? Nothing more than food.” The little guy spoke without caring in the slightest. He casted sidelong glances at it; were you trying to imply that you were actually something special?

The Luan’s cries shook the skies. Multicolored light blossomed, and an expanse of bright feathers flew out. It was as if rainbow-colored swords were slashing their way over, emitting air-shattering sounds. The wuwu sounds were terrifying, attacking straight towards the area between the little guy’s brows.

Hou... The Nine-Headed Lion released a roar, and golden rays of light burned and flourished. It submerged the area in front of it, blocking those bright feather swords and stopping them in midair.

“Brother Lion, what is the meaning of this?” The Rainbow Luan’s face dropped, seeming extremely displeased.

“Brother Luan, there is no need to take things too far. There is no need for such force.” The Nine-Headed Lion spoke. If it was anyone else, then whatever. However, this Luan’s grandparents were quite close to the Nine Spirit King, so the lion was not willing to see it suffer from bad luck.

The little guy got annoyed and said, “Little bro, why are you blocking me from my prey? This type of strange bird is extremely rare. I think that it will be extremely tasty.”

The Rainbow Luan’s feathers stood up one by one. Multicolored light flickered, and its eyes were scarlet red as it said, “Human, say that again!”

The little guy didn’t even pay it any attention, not opening his mouth again. He directly walked forward with large steps, replacing words with action. He closed in on the Rainbow Luan, darkening its little face. He hated being threatened by other creatures the most.

The surrounding creatures were shocked. This human youth was so powerful! Was he truly not afraid of the Rainbow Luan, and truly wanted to eat it?

“Human, you are too arrogant...” Before that Rainbow Luan even made another move, the expert from the three eyed race once again spoke. A cold smile hung from the corners of its lips.

‘If the other person doesn’t provoke me, then I wouldn’t offend that person either.’ The little guy turned around and said towards them, “Didn’t I say this before? You two are humanoids, and I don’t want to eat you, so don’t irritate me!”

The two individuals from the three eyed race immediately darkened their faces. It was always them who threatened others, and there was no one who dared to yap their mouths about eating them or not before.

“Today, no one take action. Let us do it!” The voice came from the three eyed race, and two brothers said this in a heavy tone.

“It really was you. We meet again.” Right at this moment, a cold sou sou cold laugh rang out. A strange snake that was several meters long appeared. It wasn’t that thick, but it was still astonishing.

Its body was scarlet red, and it appeared as if it was cast out of divine gold. Below the head region, its body began to divide into two bodies. It had six legs and four wings. Scales covered its body densely, eccentric and sinister.

This was an Archaic descendant — Feiyi. Within Broken Sky City, it had met the little guy once before. In the past, it directly smashed its tail over, provoking and attacking the little guy, almost sparking conflict.

“Snake, you’re doing this again. If you provoke me one more time, then I won’t be able to forgive you anymore,” warned the little guy.

Thick mists curled up within the majestic mountain gates, and strands of precious light flew out. According to legend, those were all powerful precious artifacts that had long developed intelligence. They were absolutely dazzling.

Meanwhile, numerous creatures were waiting outside the mountain gate. They were crowded there, yet none of them dared to act blindly without thinking. They didn’t go in immediately, and currently, many people’s eyes were drawn towards the little guy’s group.

The Feiyi coldly snorted. Its scarlet blood red body flickered with light, and its two eyes were incomparably ice cold as it said, "This is not Broken Sky City. Without your elder's protection, it really isn't the time for you to act so unbridled."

"Wu, it really is lively here. It has been a long time since a member of the human race has dared to challenge creatures like us." A big Flame Crow spoke. Its entire body was black, and was emitting strands of black flames. It was also a former acquaintance of the Nine-Headed Lion.

The Nine-Headed Lion was getting a headache. This time, things were too crazy. These were all powerful species, and moreover, they all came from extremely powerful races. Now that they were all gathered together, they were definitely up to no good.

"Big red!" The little guy shouted. At this time, he did not have any fear. On the contrary, he was extremely stirred up. He blinked his large eyes and stared at the group of Archaic species while wiping away his saliva.

"I'm over here." The big red bird eagerly appeared, moving forward.

"Hurry up. Wash that black pot of yours clean and boil a pot of water. Prepare for a great meal!" Demanded the little guy.

The big red bird frowned. That was its precious artifact. Although it looked like a black pot, it was actually carved from a bird egg. It was rich with precious energy, and was priceless. However, it became relieved soon after. It raised its brows in delight and laughed with its eyes when it thought of cooking a pot of Archaic descendants. Would he really miss such a great meal?

“Alright! I’ll start boiling the water!” It looked everywhere, searching for a source of water. In the end, it found a spring beside the mountain gate.

The Rainbow Luan had already waited for an extremely long time. It was about to flap its wings over, but was instead stopped by a golden light. The Nine-Headed Lion firmly held it back. No matter what, it had to protect this bird due to the relationship between their two races.

“You crossed the line of death, so you only have yourself to blame!” The three eyed race brothers directly took action without any hesitation.

The space between his brows flourished magnificently with rays of light, emitting an astonishing blue light. The little guy lifted up a boulder that weighed over ten thousand jin, smashing it into that blue light. With a pu sound, the boulder immediately smashed apart in the sky. It transformed into dust, scattering onto the ground. This type of astonishing power made the group of creatures feel their hearts alarmed and their bodies leaping; they felt waves of fear.

The little guy lifted his hand, and a golden light flourished from within his palm. Lightning hacked out, colliding with that blue light. The air immediately exploded into a lump of dazzling light. The shower of radiance scattered down, falling on the ground and on top of the rocks. Waves of pupu sounds rang out, and deep and terrifying holes appeared on the ground.

“He has a few skills.” The three eyed race expert used some strength to step on the ground, immediately causing this region of the great earth to rupture. That black crack extended out over ten zhang, and it was clear how terrifying the strength of its flesh was.

His head of blue hair fluttered about as he suddenly soared into the air. His two arms unfolded, swooping down. It was as if a great Peng was spreading its wings, incomparably oppressive; that type of terrifying aura was extremely intimidating.

Everyone became incomparably fearful. He was angry. It was simply as if a mountain torrent erupted, rushing out from within those ten thousand great mountains. No one was willing to get caught up by it!

“Too powerful! It’s as if the true human form appeared!”

“How could it be this powerful? The three eyed race was indeed shocking, and they are worthy of being known as one of the tyrannical races. Their heavenly talents are different, and other creatures can’t compare.”

All of the creatures were exclaiming in admiration.

The three eyed race genius swooped over, bringing with it a gale. From the ground, sand flew and rocks rolled. Clouds and mists surged. Moreover, multicolored light flickered, shocking people to the extreme.

Right as everyone's hearts were trembling and in shock, the Nine-Headed Lion couldn't watch any longer. It turned around and faced the other way. This was because he knew just how terrifying the fighting strength of the little guy's physical body was. Just use your precious artifacts ... Why do you have to rush over? He began to feel sympathy for the three eyed expert.

Hong

Blue light shone brilliantly, and the three eyed expert dropped down from the sky with his feet stamping downward, aiming for the little guy's forehead. This was the ultimate finishing move; to smash apart the opponent's head.

The little guy's pure eyes lit up. Facing this type of attack, he stood his ground without moving. He simply lifted his hand to erase those bright blue symbols. Following that, with a peng sound, he caught the three eyed expert's ankle with a terrifying divine shackling force. Then, he furiously spun him in a circular motion before smashing him into the ground.

Streaks of cracks extended out from the ground. The humanoid creature smashed into a rock, causing dust and smoke to rise. Its body was convulsing and spitting out loud mouthfuls of blood.

All types of geniuses from great races were petrified. None of them thought that it would be like this, as the discrepancy from start to finish was too great.

The three eyed race's expert rushed out, wanting to crush the little guy under his feet. In the end, however, he were caught by the human youth as if he was grabbing a little chick, directly flinging him into the rocky ground; this was too terrifying.

Aowu... [1]

[tl: [1] = I always use the pinyin for sound effects, but if you didn't know, this is the sound of wailing in chinese.]

The three eyed expert rolled his eyes and almost passed out. Even though his body was strong, causing the rocks to crack open, its body was still in great pain. Blood spewed out from his mouth, yet he wanted to struggle up.

However, the little guy grasped his ankle, once again spinning him around and smashed him with a hong sound on top of a huge boulder. This time, the tree eyed expert directly went unconscious, and quite a few bones were fractured.

“Release my brother!”

The other three eyed race expert was furious. His two hands moved out, and the blue light was like a blade as it sliced apart the heaven and earth. It quickly flew out, attacking towards the middle of the little guy’s back.

Pu

The little guy used the captive in his hands to block his back, resulting in a bloody flash of light. The individual in his hand released a miserable cry, waking up from his unconscious state; it was almost hacked in half.

“Brother!” The other three eyed expert cried out in alarm. His eye sockets were about to split as he attacked forward violently.

The little guy turned around while carrying his captive. His entire body erupted in golden lightning, using everything he had. This sea of lightning erupted suddenly, and it began to hack in front of him.

Hong!

The three eyed expert’s attack was disintegrated, and he began to spray out large mouthfuls of blood as he staggered backwards.

This was extremely astonishing. You have to understand that the little guy used all of his strength as if it was some large scale battle. However, he was not shot dead. Instead, he only trembled a bit and coughed out blood, with a bit of its body charred black. It’s race’s precious techniques and symbols were truly astonishing.

The little guy was dissatisfied. This attack did not achieve the anticipated result.

However, in the other people’s eyes, it was completely different. This was simply too terrifying. This was only one attack, yet it actually severely wounded an expert from the powerful three eyed race!

With a shua sound, the little guy rushed out. Symbols covered the sky, enshrouding the area in front of him. The three eyed expert that had been severely injured previously naturally couldn't fight back. By getting closer, it naturally made the situation even more dangerous.

With a hong sound, the three eyed expert was blasted flying. Its entire body was scorched black, giving off strands of white smoke. He fell on the ground and twitched a bit before never being able to stand up again.

The little guy threw the brother to the side. The two of them lied next to each other side by side, both of them unable to stand after receiving grave injuries.

Everyone there became overwhelmed in shock. This was too savage... It was only a few moves too, yet he already took care of two genius experts.

"Why are you a humanoid? I hate these types of Archaic descendants!" The little guy grumbled, and seemed extremely angry.

Everyone became stupefied. He truly did want to eat them...

"What about that Luan bird? I want to eat it the most. Regardless of whether I roast it or stew it, both ways would definitely taste really good." The little guy turned around and stared at that gorgeously colored and beautifully winged divine bird descendant.

At this time, the Rainbow Luan bird became a bit apprehensive. Such a strong pair of brothers were unexpectedly defeated like this. They were directly mowed down, and even if died it still wouldn't believe it.

“Wei, I’m talking about you. Get in the pot already.” The little guy shouted in discontent as he closed in on the Luan.

“You’re too rampant! I’m going to risk it all against you!” The Rainbow Luan angrily rebuked him, throwing off the Golden Lion’s arm. It spread its wings into the sky, emitting light from its entire body as it covered the sky in symbols.

The little guy concentrated his gaze, getting ready to confront the bird.

However, right at this moment, a ray of scarlet multicolored light rushed out. It was incomparably terrifying, striking towards the back of his head without a single sound or aura. It was hot and sinister, wanting to pierce through his skull.

The Feiyi took action, spitting out a flying sword that had flaming light curling around it. It was only the length of a palm, yet its aura was astonishing. The blade was a glistening scarlet.

Dang

The little guy moved sideways, avoiding the sword radiance. His finger struck the body of the blade, wanting to seize it. However, this blade's spirit was quite strong, quickly dodging him. Moreover, it erupted in endless flames, burning his arm.

A great battle was about to erupt like this. The symbols from the Luan descended from the skies, and the Feiyi on the ground took action. One bird one snake moved quickly and violently like lightning, both of them radiating magnificent rays of light.

Hong!

The little guy didn't hold back. He used the Suan Ni's precious bone mirror to blast out an enormous lightning, frying the Luan's feathers into and scorching a region black.

"Kill!" The Luan was furious. It opened its mouth to spit out a rainbow-colored precious fan. It was made out of feathers, and with a honglong sound, a ray of multicolored flew out. It created a huge crater in the ground.

Kacha

The little guy avoided it. Electric radiance flew out, and his primary target was the Feiyi. This snake was extremely sinister, and it was better to eliminate it earlier.

Scarlet red clouds lingered about, and that flying sword once again attacked with an explosion of fiery radiance. If one examined it more carefully, they would find that it was actually polished out of a fierce tooth, and that its radiance was as red and sparkling as a cornelian.

When a Feiyi is born into the world, it would inevitably create a huge drought. That was because they thoroughly understood the fire dao precious methods. The scarlet fierce teeth flying sword was wrapped in fiery light. It immediately hacked down, and the great earth cracked open with a honglong sound. The small chink it made was astonishing, directly splitting apart over a hundred zhang outwards.

Even the little guy was startled. He quickly evaded to the side, narrowly avoided being pierced. Moreover, he almost fell into that several meter wide crevice. He began to treat these two enemies in this battle seriously.

The little guy's main focus was on the Feiyi, and wanted to get rid of it first. Rays of lightning circulated his body, forming a golden-colored shadow as he dashed out. His hand held the bone mirror, and struck out like thunder.

At this moment, everyone was shocked into a sense of loss. His current appearance was like that of a young deity. Glaring golden light covered his body, and his attack power was powerful to the point of making people tremble.

The Feiyi immediately felt its scalp going numb. It absolutely never thought that the little guy would be so many times more terrifying than when it first met him. It also broke through after coming inside, and wanted to devour the precious blood in this human youth. He never expected to have ended up kicking this iron plate.

However, its cultivation was still extremely terrifying. At the very least, it could be considered outstanding among the Archaic species, and it rarely had a worthy opponent.

It did everything it could to resist, and great flames overflowing into the heavens. The entire artifact was submerged in fiery light. Scarlet multicolored light danced about, and precious techniques flew about in chaos. It tore apart this great earth, causing the mountain rocks to shatter.

That fierce teeth emitted light, transforming into a flying sword. It weaved in and out, and originally, even the little guy didn't dare to face it head on, making the group of creatures feel waves of terror.

Qiang!

Suddenly, the little guy took action, meeting the scarlet glistening flying sword head on. He erupted with countless symbols and rays of lightning. He wanted to subdue this precious artifact, creating kengqiang sounds.

The Feiyi's expression changed. After more than ten bouts within this great battle, it already had thoughts of fleeing. Precious techniques shot out, and the fiery radiance was heaven overflowing; neither of them could do much to the other party. This was the result of the Luan bird attacking cooperatively from the sky. The Feiyi was about to run away.

"You want to leave? It's not that easy!"

A divine moon suddenly appeared behind the little guy's back, silver white and resplendent. It flew out in that instant, colliding with that Feiyi's scarlet divine sword.

With a weng sound ringing out, the silver splendor became hazy. The silver moon surrounded the scarlet and crystalline flying sword, imprisoning it inside and preventing it from flying away.

Following the little guy's increase in strength, his comprehension and understanding of precious techniques became deeper by another level.

The Feiyi's expression changed. This precious artifact absolutely could not be lost. It was created from its own most powerful symbol bone. It personally refined it for over a dozen years before changing it into the shape of a flying sword.

It rushed forward, wanting to seize it back. The fiery radiance burned ever more fiercely, becoming incomparably dazzling. It caused the ground to change into magma, continuously boiling.

"Mine, mine, they are all mine!" The little guy was happy, collecting back the silver moon. This time, he did not use the golden bone shears, so it didn't ruin the other party's precious artifact. He finally obtained an excellent and intact weapon.

"Give it back to me!" The Feiyi was raging, and its expression was fierce.

Chi

A streak of golden light flew out, and the pair of dragon shears was still sent out. With a pu sound, a stroke of bloody light emerged. The Feiyi was almost snapped apart, and fresh blood flowed.

Hong

Following that, the little guy flipped his hand, and the sparkling and translucent snow white bone mirror shone out. Lightning interweaved, this time completely exploding on that severely injured Feiyi's body; it had difficulty defending itself.

Ah...

The Feiyi miserably cried out. Its entire body was scorched black and it flew out horizontally; it was difficult for it to get up.

Meanwhile, the little brought out the golden bone shears again. It rushed into the heavens, hacking towards the Luan in midair.

This entire string of attacks and movements flowed smoothly. From when the Feiyi was suddenly struck by the bone shears to when the shears once again rose up, it was fast to the point where others couldn't react quickly enough.

A streak of golden light streaked across, and with a pu sound, the Luan in the sky shouted loudly. Rainbow feathers fell down, and its leg was wounded. Roughly a dozen jin of flesh fell down. At the same time, its wings were tangled around the bone shears. Golden light flickered incessantly, and as kengqiang sounds rang out, it fell down in the end. It tried to run away, but a bloody hole had been cut into one of its wings. A chunk of precious flesh that was still bloody with feathers sticking to it fell down.

Ah... The Rainbow Luan miserably cried out repeatedly, and did not dare descend. It circled about in the air.

Everyone there was shocked. This was only a short period of time, yet four powerful experts had been defeated. This was completely wrong.

“Big red, did you finish preparing?” Asked the little guy.

“It’s done, just waiting for something to go into the pot!” The big red bird cried out from in front of the mountain gate, and had propped up the large pot up a long time ago. The water inside was already boiling.

The little guy wiped away his saliva. He grabbed the chunk of Luan thigh flesh and the chunk of flesh that came from the divine wing. Multicolored light flickered, and auspicious vapors rose. He said, “Roast these two pieces of meat!”

Soon afterwards, he then then arrived in front of the Feiyi. He directly lifted it up, resting it on his shoulders before saying, “Snake soup tastes the best. I think I will just stew it.”

He dragged his spoils of war and walked towards that mountain gate. He greeted the Nine-Headed Lion and said, “Little bro, come on. I’m inviting you to eat.”

Along the way, there wasn’t a single genius from the large races who didn’t back off. This was too savage! He really was going to eat it ah... This time, there wasn’t a single person who dared to block him.

Outside the mountain gate, there was a clear spring. After he put down his spoils of war, he washed his filthy little face, revealing his true appearance.

“He is... The devilish brat from the Void God Realm!”

A few of the human geniuses cried out loudly, and they all revealed looks of disbelief.

The little guy revealed his true appearance, and after someone recognized him, it naturally caused everyone to be shocked. This area immediately began to boil with commotion.

In the distance, a golden bird glanced at him from the side. The Suan Ni, Horned Dragon, Pi Xiu, and others were astonished, and were looking at him strangely; however, none of them actually took action.

A butterfly quickly fluttered about, and the Demonic Cattail Tree also swayed; they also acted as observers.

“Truly powerful!” The Bifang spoke to itself, and a glaring radiance erupted within its pupils.

Chapter 141 – To Eat Heartily

“I didn’t see wrong right? It really is him! The devilish brat from the Void God Realm truly entered the Hundred Shattering Mountains!”

Loud clamoring was happening outside, and all of the human race geniuses were in an uproar. No wonder someone offered a bounty, wanting his head; he really did enter this small world.

“Seeing his victory proves his reputation. What a pity it is for the Feiyi, three eyed geniuses and Rainbow Luan to have met him.”

“Truly no qualms towards fighting, angering humans and deities alike — devilish brat!”

The people sighed in admiration. When they thought of all the bizarre things that he did, they all felt sorrow and regret. There were many people who wanted to do heaven angering things to him, but in the end, none of them did.

The human geniuses were both amazed and shocked, yet at the same time, they felt rather excited. This rotten child’s savagery was aimed at the powerful races this time, making the human race look more impressive.

“I truly never thought that there would be a day when I could see the devilish brat’s real body! It feels a bit unreal!” A few young girls were chattering, and their vivid large eyes widened. They really wanted to squeeze their way up to the front.

Only, the area around the mountain gate was full of powerful races, so they couldn't rush through with force.

Of course, there were also people who were resentful. Within the Void God Realm, it was precisely the little guy that they couldn't stand, and now that they saw him, they hated him even more.

"If this information was spread out, regardless of whether it is the Ancient Country or the Void God Realm, they would both definitely surge with commotion! This devilish brat is becoming more and more savage, somehow reaching an astonishing cultivation level!"

This area erupted into a clamor, to the point where geniuses from other races even knew the history of the devilish brat. They learned of his splendid past, and they couldn't help but stare with their mouths open; this brat was too weird.

Beside the mountain gate, the clear spring was sweet and cold as it surged with waves. The big red bird added a black pot and sprayed out a divine light. Flames scorched about, heating the water within the pot until it boiled.

"Hurry, it started boiling a long time ago." It turned around to take a look, and it was excited to the point that it was shaking. Divine snakes like the Feiyi had a deadly enticement towards bird species.

"Start it up." The little guy tossed the strange snake over to it.

"Alright!" The big red bird agreed as it cried out with joy. It wiped off its saliva with its feathers, fearing that it might drop down.

The Feiyi's entire body was fiery red. It was covered in scales, and was incomparably solid. Rays of scarlet multicolored light were flickering about, and dang dang sounds ran out whenever it was struck. It was even tougher than that of iron and stone.

It had a single head, and from below its neck, it was divided into two snake bodies. On top of each body was a wing, and only when they were paired together could it take flight. It had a total of six claws, and they were like Flood Dragon claws. Scarlet-colored scales covered them, and they could easily tear apart iron and stone.

"It really is hard to prepare. I never ate this type of snake before." The big red bird was perspiring freely, because this snake's scarlet scales were too hard. Only after using all of his strength, did it finally peel off a small piece from the area scorched black by electricity.

In the end, it borrowed the golden bone shears from the little guy, finally speeding things up. The Feiyi was peeled before being chopped into pieces.

The Feiyi's flesh was sparkly and spotlessly white. It was extremely smooth and soft as it flowed with multicolored light. It had not been boiled within the water yet, but it already began to emit waves of sweet scent, making people drool with desire.

"Haha, alright, we'll slow cook it into snake soup. It will definitely be a delicacy on this earth!" The big red bird swiftly moved the sparkling and translucent snake meat into the pot, slow cooking it in front of everyone.

The sable also moved close to the front. Its pair of ruby-like eyes were swirling as it muttered inwardly; this youth truly was terrifying. In the future, it definitely had to develop a good relationship with him. Otherwise, what if he was eaten by him?

“There is still a bit of fine salt here, don’t waste it.” The little guy tossed over a bag of salt, telling it to use sparingly.

After dealing with the group of Rain Clan experts within the desert, the little guy went on a search for his previously lost ‘treasures.’ As a result, he once again carried a few seasonings on him.

At this time, he was personally cleaning the chunks of meat from the bird’s thigh and wing by the clear spring. After plucking the radiating divine feathers and washing it clean, he made the big red bird flap its wings, raising a flame.

The little guy was extremely patient. He took those two chunks of precious flesh medicine that weighed around ten jin and propped them up. He began to roast the meat seriously, and soon after, the meat fragrance attacked everyone’s nostrils. The shining meat chunks began to shine with a golden tint.

“Smells so good!” The little guy wiped off his saliva.

Not to mention him, even the throats of the Archaic species who were watching nearby were moving as they began to swallow inwardly. It was because this wasn’t any normal type of flesh, but was rather the precious meat from the Rainbow Luan; how many people had the privilege of eating it?

Strands of multicolored light moved about, and the thigh and wing chunks of meat became a glistening gold. The fat fell into the flames, creating chi chi sounds, making people drool with desire.

This was definitely a great tonic medicine. After eating it, it will definitely make one's essence energy boil. They will gain an inexhaustible power, and their strength will increase by a large amount.

Not mentioning the others, the people who were hostile towards the little guy just now were moving their mouths. They were wishing to worm their way into being friends and get a portion of the golden fragrant meat.

There was only a single creature who was indignant. That was precisely the Luan bird. It was circling about in the sky, continuously crying out. It really wanted to break apart the heavens, and its entire body was flourishing with multicolored light.

“Stop shouting, it's not like I'm eating all of you. To give my little bro face, we are only eating a small chunk of your thigh and wing.” The little guy shook his head as he spoke.

The Rainbow Luan's feathers all stood up, and was about to go mad from anger. This savage child was too despicable; he was eating its flesh in front of everyone, yet he was still so tyrannical.

Within the Rainbow Luan's golden thigh meat was a layer of fat, forming a crisp layer. The fragrance pervaded the air, becoming increasingly attractive. The little guy took out the spoils of war he won — that scarlet-colored sparkling flying sword polished from fierce teeth, and cleaned it in the water. Then, he heated the blade for a long time before using it like a cooking knife.

He used the sparkling and transparent flying sword to cut open the fresh and crisp golden precious flesh medicine, causing some of the fine salt to scatter down. After that, he opened up a container and began to smear honey on it while roasting it on low fire.

Originally, he prepared many condiments and cooking utensils. In the end, he lost all of them while he was being chased down, and could only recover these few items.

“Wu, it smells too good!”

It was nearly done cooking. The little guy tore off a chunk of the golden flesh, and the honey was sticky as he ate a mouthful. The mouthful of fragrance left his mouth, and it smelled so appetizing that it made others develop saliva in their mouths. Their saliva was about to splash out.

The little guy closed his eyes. It left a rich aftertaste, and an expression of infatuation covered his entire face. This first bite made him feel as if all of his pores were relaxed, extremely comfortable; it truly was one of this world’s delicacies.

“It tastes too good!” The little guy once again ripped off a large chunk of meat. The honey was pulled until it became like thread, and as it sparkled, the meat was golden and fragrant.

“Big Red, sable, you guys come over and eat too.” The little guy swallowed two jin of meat in a flash. His tongue felt like it was going to melt from the rich aftertaste.

The surrounding group of creatures were incredibly envious. Although this human youth was extremely savage, he really knew how to enjoy himself! In such a intense and dangerous area, he actually acted as if there was no one else here! Seeing him gorge themselves like this made them extremely envious.

The fragrance in particular was simply too alluring. The geniuses from the other races almost threw themselves over to fight for it.

The big red bird was at a loss as he said, "That is bird meat. I don't feel too good about eating it, so I'll wait for the snake soup."

"You lack experience. This is Luan bird meat, so it's a different race from you. It is abundant with essence energy, so you will most likely break through after eating it," said the little guy.

The big red bird began to reject it even more, saying, "The Feiyi is also a great supplement, and isn't inferior to the bird! I'll wait!"

The sable drooled. It was not a bird, and directly moved closer. It sustained a severe injury; the vertical eye between its brows was almost clawed out, and it truly needed this type of precious flesh to supplement its health.

Moreover, it was extremely powerful itself. Its origin was not ordinary, and was not any bit weaker than the Luan in the sky; it was not scared of its retaliation.

With a kenchi sound, the sable swallowed a chunk of meat, and immediately cried out, saying, "So fragrant! It really is a delicacy!"

"Of course! Didn't you see who's work this was? I am the famous gourmet chef!" The little guy was proud.

The two of them ate heartily. Of course, the sable showed proper behavior. It was roughly a zhang in length, and was too embarrassed let loose to gorge itself on the meat.

Multicolored light flickered, and the fragrance assailed everyone's nostrils. The nearby Archaic species were both resentful and inwardly conflicted. They really wanted to go up and ask for a piece, because that smell was too alluring.

Only the Rainbow Luan was angrily crying in the sky. It really wanted to swoop down and fight to the death; however, it held back this urge, fearing that the little guy might get an extra snack.

"Little bro, you don't need to hold back. Come over quickly and eat with us," the little guy called out. He was enjoying the ten jin of bird wing and leg meat, and oil was dripping out of his mouth. Multicolored light sprayed out as he spoke, and his entire body was immersed in the divine rainbow light.

The golden lion moved closer with a complicated expression. This sworn brother of his was too savage; how could he be like this? It now felt as if it was the human, and this little brat was the real savage Archaic species.

"Stop staring foolishly. Hurry over and eat!" The little guy once again spoke.

How could the Nine-Headed Lion eat this? If he did, the Luan bird would definitely fight it to the death. However, looking at that golden and glossy precious meat, it really was drooling with desire. It was struggling to hold it in, and with a gulu sound, it swallowed its own saliva.

The Rainbow Luan just happened to fly across. It could clearly see and hear what was going on. It was immediately angered the extreme, loudly shouting, “Nine-Headed Lion, you... You anger me to death!”

“I didn’t eat any...” The Nine-Headed Lion felt awkward. This couldn’t be blamed on it! That meat was too fragrant, and if there weren’t any other people on the side and the Luan wasn’t there either, then it definitely wouldn’t be polite.

“The snake soup is done!” The big red bird cried out. Divine light flickered about within the black pot, and a pot of snake meat was blossoming with auspicious radiance. The fragrance wafted about, and the soup was sparkling and translucent.

“Little bro, I invite you to eat snake meat.” After eating the last piece of Luan meat, The little guy patted his own little round and bulging belly. He then patted the Nine-Headed Lion as he headed towards the black pot.

Other than the snake meat, there were also two snake gallbladders that were left behind. The big red bird naturally didn’t bother to act polite, directly taking one and swallowing it. The little guy took out the other one, and without paying much attention to it, he swallowed it into his belly. This was the best part of the Feiyi, and could not be wasted.

The little guy’s body immediately began to erupt with scarlet multicolored light. The snake gallbladder’s flourished with might, and it was surging with essence energy. It made his flesh emit thunder-like sounds.

“Good! So powerful!” The little guy was extremely happy.

Following that, it called out to the big red bird, sable, and the Nine-Headed Lion to enjoy the Feiyi together. This pot of meat was truly special. The soup was sparkling and translucent, and as divine multicolored light flickered, the snake meat was sparkling with even more precious splendor. There wasn't a single genius from the other races whose hearts weren't itching.

"Haha... Begin the meal!" The big red bird excitedly and loudly shouted. It was the first to dig in, not being polite in the slightest.

Even though the little guy ate until his stomach was bulging, his appetite was still great. After refining the precious flesh medicine from before, his body became brilliant, and he began to pig out again.

The sable did not hold itself back either. Only the Nine-Headed Lion was inwardly conflicted. It really wanted to eat it ah... However, after glancing up at the sky and seeing the Rainbow Luan angrily crying out there, it truly couldn't participate.

"Stop crying already. We wouldn't have become acquaintances if we didn't fight, so come down and eat with us. Back then, I met little bro like this too," shouted the little guy towards the sky.

The Luan was extremely angry, and naturally wouldn't compromise.

The Nine-Headed Lion was embarrassed, and couldn't say much.

A savage child, big red bird, and sable sat around the black pot as they ate to their heart's content.

There was also a Nine-Headed Lion on the side, so conflicted that it wanted to smash its head into a wall.

The little guy and the others acted as if there was no one else there. They were overjoyed as they ate, completely ignoring the gaze of the powerful creatures around them.

This was a strange scene. All of the creatures who stared were incomparably powerful, yet that human youth didn't pay any attention to them. He was in high spirits as he ate heartily.

The human geniuses had complicated expressions. What was being intrepid? This devilish brat revealed the best interpretation of this. In front of this group of Archaic descendants' faces, he roasted the meat just like that. After steaming and cooking the Archaic species, he directly gorged himself.

"Truly... of another kind!"

The human geniuses all sighed as they spoke. This devilish brat's way of doing things always made people speechless. After encountering him, many people met great misfortune, angering deities and humans alike! This time, however, his way of doing made the human race appear more impressive.

For these types of things, they only appeared every hundred or so years. Never before had they seen such a savage person before, daring to do these types of things.

Countless geniuses as well as experts from various experts were watching these individuals as they ate heartily. After many years had passed from this scene, whenever the people brought up this event, they would still continuously sigh with regret.

Of course, at that time, the savage child's status and position would be completely different; these stories will all have become rumors and stories.

The little guy ate until his belly was as round as a ball. As soon as he opened his mouth, it would inevitably blossom with multicolored light. He absorbed too much precious flesh medicine, and his body was going through a baptism.

It was a pity that he didn't open his ninth heavenly passage from this. After all, this was an accomplishment that had only been recorded in ancient books. In reality, it had never been seen before, and the difficulty to reach such a level was beyond one's imagination!

In reality, it really was like so. It was impossible for the little guy to smash apart the shackles and create a miracle just by eating the Feiyi and Luan.

The feast finally ended, and towards these individuals, this was a type of pleasure. However, towards those around them, this was a type of torture. That type of precious flesh medicine and the delicious light it emitted was something they could only see but not eat; it truly made them suffer.

The little guy picked up the two experts from the three eyed race and carried out some simple first aid. After fixing them up a bit, he began to discuss with the Flame Crow as well as the other Archaic descendants; these were all individuals who were acquainted with the Nine-Headed Lion.

“Since you guys are my little bro's friends, then you are my friends as well. In the future, when we have problems, we all have to bear through it together.” He burped from being full, and patted his stomach that was as round as a ball while speaking.

A few of the tyrannical Archaic descendants looked at each other in dismay. Being friends with you is too dangerous... One mistake and we might get eaten. Have you not seen that Luan in the sky and how much it is cursing and bawling?

Moreover, how old were you? You aren’t even older than that Nine-Headed Lion, yet you call him your little bro.

Now, however, they no longer dared to look down on this human youth. When he spoke, not a single creature dared to be rude. He was treated as if they were on equal grounds, and there was even a type of reverence.

Ao...

Right at this moment, the big red bird screamed. The feathers around its body ignited, turning into ashes. It was naked from head to toe, becoming incomparably ugly.

“Big Red, what happened?” The little guy was startled.

The Flame Crow next to the Nine-Headed Lion revealed an envious expression. It began to open its mouth to explain, saying, “The Archaic Feiyi snake is truly beneficial for my bird race after all. It ate one of the snake’s gallbladders, as well as a large part of its body. This is the Flame Bath Rank Advancement!

Sure enough, right after its words came out, the big red bird once again cried out with ao ao sounds. Even though its hairless body was funny, a terrifying aura was being emitted.

Following that, the surface of its body emitted light. The nearby rocks and ground began to melt, causing magma to boil.

With a honglong sound, new feathers were reborn on the big red bird's body. They were even more beautiful and scarlet, absolutely dazzling.

"Haha... This grandpa broke through, becoming more powerful!" The big red bird shouted with joy. The divine radiance in its eyes rose dramatically, sweeping around in all directions. In the end, it stared at the little guy. "This grandpa is no longer scared of you!"

The little guy scowled and said, "If you keep bickering, I'll eat you later!"

When it heard this, the big red bird immediately withered and completely killed off its temper. Even though it felt that its strength increased sharply, after remembering the scene of the little guy completely refining all of the True Supreme Water, it developed a feeling of powerlessness. It drooped its head, and was incomparably angry.

In the end, it raised its head again. It roared towards the surrounding geniuses from the other races, "Don't irritate this grandpa, or else I'll eat you!"

Everyone became dumbstruck. This really was of common origin! Even this bird was infected by this savage child.

The sable's entire body was also radiating with light. The injury was completely gone, and it almost broke through. Its entire body was sparkling and translucent as it flickered with purple light.

In a short period of time, there were various powerful Archaic descendants around the little guy, such as the Nine-Headed Lion, Big Red bird, Sable, Flame Crow, three eyed race's two brothers, and even the angry Rainbow Luan; it was bustling with noise and excitement.

"Stop making noise. Sooner or later, we will become friends. Haven't you seen that the Nine-Headed Lion and I are sworn brothers?" The little guy turned his head towards the Luan bird, and really wanted to talk about how he also ate a part of it before becoming like this.

In the end, the Nine-Headed Lion's face immediately turned green. It hurriedly stopped him, not allowing him to say it out loud; otherwise, it would lose too much face. The roasted lion head secret was something that he didn't want his acquaintances to know about even if it was beaten to death.

"Then you help me console it," said the little guy.

The Nine-Headed Lion nodded its head at once. As long as its background was not leaked, anything was fine.

There were numerous species here, and they were all extremely powerful. It didn't matter if they were friends or enemies; as long as the savage child was powerful enough, he could stand inside the group of Archaic descendants and be revered.

"Is it him?" From the distance, someone conversed in a low voice within the crowd.

“Correct, it is precisely that devilish brat. In the Void God Realm, he beat a group of experts from my clan until they fled in all directions. In the end, they were suppressed by him and piled up into a human mountain, extorting us!”

“Don’t make any moves now. Wait until we enter the Historical Remains. We will use all of our strength to kill him then!”

The people who spoke were not young, and it was clear that they came in through underhanded means. They restricted their bodies to enter the Hundred Shattering Mountains.

On the other side, there were a similar group of people. Their gaze were chilly, and cold light flickered. It carried the luster of hatred, and as they muttered, they were also discussing how they were going to deal with the little guy after entering the Historical Remains.

Back then, at the Void God Realm’s starting ground, the little guy was targeted by a few people. Some of them wanted to steal his precious bone, and in the end, he did everything he could to counterattack. He even piled the people from the Four Great Clans into four human mountains, ruthlessly extorting them.

This naturally produced a huge complaint. The Four Great Clans all sent people into the Hundred Shattering Mountains, and one of the clans wanted to catch him alive in order to regain that precious scarlet feather fan. That was the treasure of their Zhen Clan, and it was left behind in the Void God Realm, stolen by the devilish brat.

Murder and calamity will rise, dark winds and clouds will surge!

“Why aren’t you guys going into the Historical Remains? I can see divine light rising from time to time, and can tell that it is a precious artifact with a glance. Why aren’t you guys going in to pursue it?” asked the little guy. In his surroundings, there were many Archaic species. He wanted to rope them in with him to enter the Historical Remains.

“We sent in a batch of people previously, and they pretty much all died. Those precious artifacts developed intelligence, and will kill those who come close.” The Flame Crow open-heartedly spoke.

The sable nodded its head. It indeed escaped from inside. At that time, it was attacked from behind by someone, and moreover, there were spiritual precious artifacts chasing after it. If it was not for its strength being terrifying enough, then it would have inevitably died.

“Since we came, we can’t not enter. Let’s go, we will catch precious artifacts!” The little guy did not fear anything as he walked forward.

This naturally raised an uproar. This was because it had already been a long time since anyone entered.

“Go, we should move out as well!”

On the other side, the Bifang, Golden Divine Bird, Pixiu, Horned Dragon, and others seemed incomparably terrifying; it made people feel as if their hearts were palpitating. These terrifying creatures whose power were difficult to estimate moved out, about to enter the Historical Remains.

Everyone was shocked. Soon after, this area began to clamor with noise. More people wanted to join in and enter the Historical Remains.

Demonic Crack Butterfly, Earth Dragon, Violent Ape, Demonic Cattail Tree and others were already moving. They transformed into strands of light, rushing into the Historical Ruins.

“Go, everyone charge in together and suppress those precious artifacts. We cannot go in late and obtain nothing!”

Chapter 142 – Divine Tide

The mountain gate was impressive, and two ash brown stone mountains were present. They were study and ancient, and had existed for many years.

Ever since the the bloodbath of ancient saints, there would always heroic youths entering the Hundred Shattering mountains every hundred years. Many people have entered inside to search for and admire the precious artifacts.

When the little guy entered, a group of geniuses from powerful races had entered as well. The tide of people were like a flood, following inside.

The ruins were vast and boundless, and black mist floated about. The entire world was dusky, and it wasn't possible to see far within this scenery. On the ground, debris covered everything. There were numerous broken walls and ruins; these were the Historical Remains.

Chi

A streak of multicolored light surged within the ruins, as if it was a silver thread. It quickly pierced through the air, startling everyone. It most likely flew up just beside them.

“Chase!”

A large group of geniuses shouted loudly. They ran out one after another towards the distance in an attempt to catch it. That was a precious artifact that had already developed intelligence, so if it was caught, it would be priceless.

“The precious artifacts are buried within the ruins?” The little guy was confused. He clearly saw that the silver thread just now was a tree branch. It had gone through endless years without decay, and was extremely spiritual.

“These precious artifacts are all alive, and won’t hide in one spot. They will constantly change locations, appearing from anywhere,” said the Flame Crow.

A large group of creatures were walking together. Other than the little guy, the rest were all Archaic descendants. Their strength were great, all of them strong and robust; normal people wouldn’t dare to come close.

This area of the Historical Remains was exceedingly vast, reaching straight to the limits of the great earth. Other than the rubble and debris, there were also shattered mountains in the distance. From time to time, there would be precious light emerging from within the dusky mist.

Their group traveled deep inside, creating kacha kacha sounds as they stepped on the rubble left behind by ancient existences. It was as if they were hearing the various divine sounds of battle from back then, making it difficult for their hearts to stay calm as they walked here.

Wuwu...

A purple cloud rose, creating a whimpering sound. There was another precious artifact, and that was a purple beast horn. It bore through a piece of broken wall, rushing into the distance.

“Chase!”

The little guy yelled out. The group of Archaic species’ eyes had long become red with jealousy. This horn was definitely not an ordinary item. It emitted a sound that was like a magician’s spell, making people’s fundamental spirits feel like cracking apart; it was definitely a rare precious artifact.

The big red bird cried out with ao ao sounds, and it used its wing like a palm. It was carrying the black pot, and with a fierce toss, it flung it out towards that beast horn.

Hong!

It was actually struck, however, the purple beast horn seemed unaffected. Dense smoke rose, becoming increasingly brilliant. The black pot was blasted out, smashing against a collapsed yet imposing giant palace and causing smoke to rush into the skies.

“Everyone attack together!”

The Nine-Headed Lion, Sable, Flame Crow, Three Eyed Race experts, little guy and the others all moved together. Symbols covered the skies, moving toward and surrounding that beast horn.

At the same time, they quickly hurried over, trying to overtake it. They wanted to seize this spiritual precious artifact.

Chi

The purple beast horn radiated light, becoming more and more brilliant. It actually directly pierced through the skies, soaring into the dusky heavens. Its speed was too fast, and in the blink of an eye, it disappeared.

“So powerful!”

“It’s possible that the precious artifact is a remnant of a saint. It was full of spirit, and even without taking the initiative to attack, it already possesses so much power.”

They were regretful. They looked on helplessly, and truly couldn’t do anything.

With a weng sound, the air trembled. A sheet of white appeared, and it was like the milky way as it appeared, sweeping towards the little guy’s waist. This streak was a terrifying sword radiance that wanted to slice him in half.

He quickly dodged. The sword radiance that was like a rainbow rushed past his body, cutting apart a hundred thousand jin boulder in half. The surface of the cut was as flat and smooth as a mirror!

This sword was incomparably sharp, and the point was terrifyingly acute. If actually slashed into someone’s body, the results would be obvious; it really was too powerful.

“He dares to attack us?” An ominous glint was revealed within the big red bird’s eyes. It had just promoted a rank, and its strength increased by a large amount, so it was always looking for someone to test its skills against.

The little guy felt a tremble from fear, and his face revealed an angry look. He looked towards that direction and only saw a green-robed man quickly retreating.

“Kill!”

The big red bird shouted out loudly and rose after flapping its wings. It quickly rushed into the distance, and since it could fly, its speed was naturally faster than others.

“Let’s go together. Taking action in front of so many of us, does he not put us in his eyes?” The Nine-Headed Lion also roared. It opened its mouth and released a clear hiss, causing golden light to submerge the ruins.

A large group of Archaic species began to fight back, following the big red bird, Nine-Headed Lion and little guy as they chased.

The fiery light in the sky flew in all directions. The big red bird's black pot and a flying sword violently collided, creating waves of brilliant radiance and dang dang sounds.

"Come quickly, screw him! I can't overcome this!" The big red bird cried out, asking for help.

Even though the little guy couldn't fly, his speed was still extremely fast. He already hurried his way over, and after taking out that Suan Ni bone mirror, lightning rays were released, blasting towards that green-robed individual.

"Aohou..." The Nine-Headed Lion also roared loudly, and its imposing manner could swallow up mountains and rivers. Golden symbols surged like an ocean, rushing forward.

Gu! The Flame Crow cried out loudly, and its voice was ominous. Endless great flames erupted, engulfing everything in front.

The Three Eyed Race expert's third eye opened, and blue divine light flew out, creating qiang qiang sounds.

The green-robed individual was extremely powerful, however, under the little guy and the group of Archaic descendants' attacks, it immediately couldn't support itself anymore. It spewed out large mouthfuls of blood, and the bone sword in his hand emitted a cracking sound. Cracks appeared on the sword, and blood leaked out from the corners of his mouth.

Dreadful radiance were shot out from his pupils, and his heart was in lament. Cracks actually appeared on the precious artifact in his hand, causing the sparkling precious bone to dim. It made him furious, and his body was sore.

“Yi, it’s not a young person!” The sable was shocked.

The green-robed individual’s hair was dishevelled, and he revealed his true appearance. It seemed like he was around twenty-five or twenty-six, and wasn’t a genius youth. It was obvious that he was one of ‘the restricted.’

The little guy shivered inwardly. It seemed as if he thought of something. Quickly rushing up, he said, “Kill!”

Everyone followed, and began to chase after that person.

Even though that green-robed individual’s strength was great, and it far surpassed that of a normal genius, he was still caught up in an incomparably difficult situation.

The little guy took out the Suan Ni bone mirror and used its power. A streak of lightning struck the opposing party's left shoulder, immediately blasting out an area of bloody mist. His scapula was split open, and that arm almost fell off.

The green-robed individual miserably howled. In the end, he clenched his teeth and retrieved from its bosom a divine talisman. He stuck it to the soles of his feet, creating a stream of light and disappearing from this great earth!

"What a powerful divine talisman! That is an item from the ancient era, and it must have been obtained from these historical remains! It's priceless!"

"Divine talismans like these have usage limits. He can't use it that many times."

These Archaic species were all quite knowledgeable, recognizing the 'Withdrawal Talisman.' They couldn't help but sigh at this green-robed individual's luck, actually reaping a harvest within these ruins.

"Damn it, my bone sword cracked." The green-robed individual cursed from the distance. His sinister face was full of bloodstains, and he was in an extremely difficult situation.

"Don't think that you can kill that child just because you are one of the restricted. He is extremely difficult to defeat," said an elder.

Nearby, there were several others. Each and every one of them carried terrifying auras, and none of them were ordinary.

“Let’s slaughter our way over and wipe those Archaic descendants clean. They definitely all carry precious artifacts, so killing them will be easier than searching within these ruins,” said the green-robed young man.

“The origins of those species are great. If we kill one or two of them, it might not matter too much. However, if we kill them all and news of this somehow leaks out, then we would be bringing a huge calamity to my clan!” An elder said in a low tone.

They came from a large clan, and it was one of the Four Great Clans that had previously been blackmailed by the little guy within the Void God Realm.

In another area, there was a hidden group of people who wanted to defeat the little guy. Moreover, there were a few people who already moved out, and as they sneaked their way closer, they prepared to strike like lightning.

Within the ruins, the little guy was aware of this already. His perception was great, and had constantly been observing the surrounding wind and grass movements.

“There is someone who wants to defeat us!” This time, the little guy gave them an early warning.

“Does this never end? Go up together and tear them apart!” The big red bird shouted.

The Nine-Headed Lion, Sable, Three Eyed Race and others were all resentful. They rushed over together, as as multicolored light flickered, precious methods rose together; their might was shocking to the extreme.

These 'restricted' individuals were all startled. They immediately turned around to flee.

"Fuck! We clearly just arrived, and didn't expose ourselves along the way!" The people from this clan did not know that the green-robed individual had made his move already earlier.

A rebellion was happening in the ruins. The group of Archaic species attacked together with astonishing might. The Four Great Clans were slaughtered until blood covered their bodies with no route into heaven and no gate to earth; in the end, they were all killed.

"So hateful! Why is this savage child grouped up with these Archaic species, becoming this powerful?!" The others from this clan were resentful as they hurried over from the distance.

In the following two days, the little guy, Nine-Headed Lion, big red bird, Flame Crow and the others became the rulers. They swept through these ruins, and there weren't many who dared to provoke them.

During this period of time, they had chased after 'restricted' individuals several times. As long as they saw an older person quietly approaching, they would madly and fiercely chase after them.

The army of the Four Great Experts were extremely depressed. Exactly who was killing who? They gathered experts to enter these ruins with the goal of taking care of that devilish brat. In the end, why were they the ones being chased and beaten?

The ruins were vast and borderless. After walking for two days, they still haven't seen the limit. Within this time period, the little guy's group had seen around ten precious artifacts, yet they all flew into the sky, making it difficult for them to capture.

Honglonglong!

Suddenly, it sounded as if a mountain torrent was pouring down. Rays of light flourished at the horizon limit, and it was as if nine suns were rising at the same time. It dispersed the black mist, creating sounds that were like thunder.

"Not good, quickly flee! A large number of precious artifacts are resuscitating, forming a divine tide!" Someone loudly roared.

In front, there were ten thousand creatures that were fleeing back. Their faces were pale, without a bit of color. Within that group was the powerful Violent Ape, terrifying Suan Ni, and others. There were many human children who were from noble descent.

All of the creatures who entered these ruins were running and fleeing. They were all alarmed and anxious from this desperate situation!

"Heavens, the precious artifacts are resurrecting! They are killing the creatures who entered these ruins, quickly flee for your lives!" The Flame Crow loudly shouted. The same thing erupted several days ago, and at that time, quite a few geniuses died as well.

It spread its wings to soar into the sky, forming a streak of dark light before disappearing into the distance. This was simply impossible to defend against.

Ahou... The Nine-Headed Lion loudly roared, and its entire body radiated golden light. It stepped on top of a string of beads before quickly fleeing into the distance.

The big red bird, Sable, Three Eyed Race experts and others were no exception. They turned around and fled, because that was definitely a force that they could not fight against; it was too terrifying.

At the limits of the horizon, divine sound rang out like thunder. Multicolored light flourished magnificently, completely submerging the heavens and the earth. It was as if roughly a dozen Archaic descendant divine birds — Golden Crows were coming into being, covering the sky. They illuminated the ruins.

Those precious artifacts combined together, emitting multicolored light as they slaughtered their way over. They were truly like a divine tide, and as they created rumbling sounds, nothing could contend against them.

Numerous creatures hid the sky and covered the earth, fleeing from all directions in disarray.

The little guy's eyes were widened until they were big. He saw many strange treasures, and they were all refined from Archaic species' precious bones, fur, and other parts. A Golden Crow's divine wing, Flood Dragon's ash horn, Mysterious Turtle's precious shell... They were all extremely valuable treasures.

"Mine, mine, they are all mine!" The little guy clenched his small fist, and his large eyes became like crescent moons as he continuously wiped off his saliva. However, following the rumbling sounds, the divine tide drew closer. He could only hop about in anger before making his getaway as well.

The light of blood bursted out. While a dozen meter tall giant was fleeing, it was sliced by a spotlessly white elephant tusk precious artifact. Its massive head tumbled down, and as blood rushed high into the sky, the headless corpse dropped onto the ground.

Ah...

Not far off, a group of geniuses were bawling miserably. A Golden Crow wing slapped down, creating a blaze that overflowed into the heavens. There were ten individuals who immediately became torches before turning into ashes, leaving behind absolutely nothing.

It was a wretched sight. The divine tide rushed forth and precious artifacts attacked, causing ear-splitting thunder-like sounds. It was as if ten suns were suspended in the air, absolutely dazzling. This area became a stage of massacre.

Dong

The sound of drums shook the skies. That was a Horned Dragon Leather Drum, and just as it rang out, it shook countless people until they coughed out blood. Many geniuses were in dismay; within their respective races, they rarely had opponents, but here, they discovered that their lives weren't worth that much.

Dong, dong...

The drum beats rang out, and in the end, more than ten people's bodies violently shook before they coughed out mouthfuls of blood. They vomited out their smashed hearts, and all of the bones in their bodies broke.

The Historical Remains reeked of blood, and the sight of slaughter was everywhere.

Only four hours later did the bright and resplendent light from the horizon begin to restrain itself.

Within the ruins, the area was completely dusky. From time to time, precious artifacts would rush out, emitting strands of dazzling light. It was as if shooting stars were in the vast sky.

However, they were no longer coveting after them, and instead felt their bodies turning ice cold. The precious artifacts here were too terrifying, and as long as they grouped together and formed a divine tide, they could simply erase everything. There really wasn't anything that could resist it.

After this large calamity passed, there were at least two thousand creatures who were killed. As corpses covered the ruins, the debris were dyed in a fresh red.

“The weapons left behind by the ancient experts are terrifying after all!”

Many people had ideas of retreating. Even though the precious artifacts were good, they were not as valuable as their lives. Those things were all difficult to obtain.

The little guy's face was dirty, and only his pair of large eyes were bright and clear. Just now, he was a member of the large group that was fleeing. He was shaken to the core the entire way, but did not meet any danger as he escaped the bloody battlefield.

“It really was scary. I was almost skewered by that divine tree branch.” The little guy rubbed his arm. There was a wound there, but it had already healed.

The recovery speed of his body was extremely fast. It was only a slight injury, and in an instant, it already stopped bleeding before closing up.

At this time, he had long wandered off from the Nine-Headed Lion, Flame Crow, big red bird, Sable and the others. This was because he was watching the precious artifact curiously, falling behind. The rest of them were most likely unaffected.

“Wu, need to be more careful.”

Half a month passed by in an instant. The little guy's clothes were ragged and shabby as he walked into the deepest parts of the ruins. During this period of time, divine tides had occurred several times, and he gradually became accustomed to the patterns. After a divine tide, there would always be several days of tranquility.

In front of him, mountain peaks covered the area. Some of them would have precious light rising from time to time, causing killing intent to spread outwards.

“Many powerful precious artifacts are hidden here. This is the origin of the divine tide, and it is where they gather. They charge out from here into the ruins, bringing with them a large massacre calamity,” the little guy quietly said.

In reality, even though there were many treasures hidden, it was more safe than the outside. At the very least, there were no divine tides here, and they all occurred outside.

“It seems like I am not the only one that understand the situation. There are many experts that also came in!”

The little guy became cautious. He saw a few powerful individuals moving stealthily, roaming the mountain in search of precious artifacts.

None of the people who were able to arrive here were weak. All of them had terrifying strength and outstanding abilities.

There wasn't a single blade of grass that grew here, and it was completely barren. Regardless of whether it was the mountains, plains, or valleys, they all seemed to have gone through a large calamity. As a result, all opportunities for life were extinguished.

“The Restricted!” The little guy shivered coldly. He noticed that the human experts were all older generation characters. He became serious, taking strict precautions.

To him, humans might be more dangerous. There were a few groups that made the firm decision to kill him, and so he definitely had to be careful when dealing with them.

Two days later, the little guy met an ambush. His shoulder blossomed with a string of blood, almost being chopped off; he received a fatal injury

At the same time, he also took out the golden shears, slicing a person in half at the waist. Their internal organs dropped onto the ground, creating an extremely terrifying bloody smell.

“Kill!”

There were five others who were unaffected, and their ages varied from twenties to thirties. They pounced over like tigers and wolves, and were all ‘restricted.’

The little guy encountered a crisis. He used his strength to stamp his two feet, causing the entire mountain to rupture on the spot. Following that, the mountain top began to slide, creating honglonglong sounds as it fell. Smoke and dust soared into the sky.

The other people’s expressions changed. This human youth was too terrifying, directly causing a mountain to collapse and fall. It was shocking to the extreme!

They couldn't kill the enemy, and began to defend themselves one after another.

The little guy took advantage of the chaos to flee, disappearing within the rising dust and pebbles.

He had encountered a crisis, as this area was full of danger. One could lose their life just by being a little bit careless.

Several days later, the little guy recovered from his injury and walked out from a cave. Divine light flickered within his eyes. This time, he definitely had to pay attention, because it was obvious that there were a few great powers from the human race that targeted him, all of them being 'restricted' individuals.

Yi?

He was amazed. In the distance, there was a valley that was shining multicolored light from its interior. It was obvious that a precious artifact was hidden within. Like a cheetah, he hurried his way over, stealthily moving closer.

There was no vegetation within the valley, and was the same as the place he was previously at. It was a barren piece of land, completely bare.

The little guy entered carefully, and his eyes immediately opened up wide. Sure enough, there was a precious artifact there. A pure white bone pagoda was sinking and floating. It took in and sent out multicolored light, and as propitious vapors rose, it was extremely astonishing.

This was definitely a unique treasure. The little guy felt worried, scared that he would alarm it into fleeing or failing to make it yield.

He took out the Suan Ni bone mirror, and then fiercely shone it in front. He then quickly revealed the golden bone shears, using them together. It shot out to suppress and imprison the this divine bone pagoda.

Within the valley, divine light immediately erupted. Thousands and ten thousands of divine rays danced about, submerging this area. It was extremely mysterious.

Not far off, there was a emperor carriage on top of a mountain peak. A white tiger was sitting upright on it, and beside it were two human genius girls that were feeding it fresh meat.

There were no beasts pulling the cart, but rather four experts who lifted up the cart to move it. Moreover, there were a few elders who were in the front, standing as guards.

“Yi, precious treasure? Let’s go there quickly! No matter who it is, we will kill them!” The white tiger sat up and spoke with a divine voice. Terrifying radiance was emitted from its pupils, and this area immediately began to rumble with the sound of thunder.

“Go!”

The emperor carriage emitted light. It was actually a powerful precious artifact, and multicolored light wrapped around this group of people as they flew towards the ravine.

Hong

When they had just arrived, they immediately began to attack. Countless symbols scattered down, as if they were going to submerge this entire land. The valley began to form landslides from all four sides, and rocks tumbled into the sky.

The little guy was extremely angry. At such a critical moment, there were actually people who interrupted him, coming to destroy everything. They prevented him from obtaining that divine bone pagoda, making him surge with rage.

“Yi, it’s you. This isn’t Broken Sky City, and there aren’t any elders there to protect you. This time, you have nowhere to flee, kill him!” The white tiger shouted. It released a tiger roar, because it hated human speech.

The emperor carriage shone, and the symbols burned even more magnificently than before as they all fell down.

“It was a precious treasure after all. Human, you don’t need to attempt in vain, because it belongs to me!” The white tiger was exited. This was the precious artifact that it liked the most after entering the mountain abyss.

Chapter 143 – Historical Ruin’s Precious Treasure

The emperor carriage emitted light. This was both an ordinary carriage for the purpose of traveling, as well as an ancient war chariot. Currently, symbols were interweaving together, forming a curtain of light as it carried the people within it. Large amounts of densely packed symbols scattered down, almost as if they were going to completely fill in the mountain valley. The walls of the valley began to split from all sides, causing giant boulders to tumble down and dust to rise into the sky.

The little guy was constantly dodging while using his precious artifact to fight back; he was facing a crisis. A streak of divine radiance shot towards him, smashing apart the ground where he previously stood as earth and stones splashed outwards.

The valley rumbled as its walls crumbled down. Chunks after chunks of giant rock were struck until they flew high up into the sky. The valley was beaten and ruined; smoke and dust filled the air, revealing a scenery of destruction!

“White Tiger, you are making me angry! I am going to eat you!” The little guy was angry, and his eyebrows were pinched together. He tried his hardest to take away that sparkling bone pagoda, but he never thought that the White Tiger would rush over and completely ruining everything.

This spotlessly white bone pagoda was truly unique. It continued to bob up and down, and with a gentle shake, propitious vapors began to rise. It pushed apart the bone shears and precious mirror, making it difficult to approach.

You have to understand that it didn’t truly attack yet! This was merely the divine fluctuations naturally being emitted by it!

In the end, the little guy used the ancient methods carved within the 'True Primordial Record' in an attempt to communicate with it. He used the power of symbols to to resonate with the pagoda, however, right as soon as he succeeded a bit, the White Tiger interrupted, immediately startling the divine bone pagoda.

The White Tiger stood upright on the carriage. Its body could not be considered that large, yet it still had a threatening demeanor. Its eyes emitted a faint golden color, and it was as if they were shooting out daggers as it stared at him.

'You are talking to me?' It finally spoke in human speech. Its face was callous and cold, and cold light flickered within its pupils; they were like tail feathers ready to shoot out.

"You don't say? Fat cat, you are bringing about your own destruction!" The little guy yelled in anger. Currently, he was trying to communicate with that bone pagoda, but it was already useless. A mist proliferated outwards, pushing him away.

"Seal up the valley and kill him! I despise humans who speak to me like this. Hurry up and collect that precious artifact!" The White Tiger spoke, and it made its move as well. Lifting up a tiger claw, it dropped down. Immediately, it was as if a mountain was smashing downwards. The earth quaked and mountains shook, and that white expanse of symbols submerged the mountain valley.

On top of the carriage, the white tiger took out a beast skin pouch. An elderly man walked forward and accepted it. After loosening the ropes around it, that pouch immediately blossomed with multicolored light. It possessed a wave of unparalleled attractive force that wanted to suck in everything within the valley.

Hong!

After being agitated repeatedly like this, that bone pagoda finally woke up. It erupted with a white light that was like an ocean wave, shaking all four directions.

The little guy was shocked. He quickly withdrew his bone shears and precious mirror to protect his own body before quickly retreating far into the distance.

“What a great treasure. No matter how great the price is, I still must obtain it! You all, utilize the Heaven and Earth Pouch together to obtain it!” The White Tiger was pleasantly surprised and began to repeatedly roar.

The two female human geniuses inside the carriage, as well as the four buff and husky fellows walked forward, began to support the elderly man. They operated the Heaven and Earth Pouch that was refined from the skin of an Archaic descendant together.

Their bodies all emitted divine light that poured into that beast skin pouch, making it even more dazzling. The opening of the pouch was bright and resplendent as it swallowed everything. Boulders that were several tens of thousands to even millions of jin were pulled in and stored within the pouch.

The pouch opening was clearly not big, yet it seemed like it could take in the entire mountain and river.

The little guy's eyes were filled with divine light as he watched it. That bag was truly too great, being able to store all living things. Regardless of how many things there were, it could all be kept inside, so there was never a need to worry about not being able to bring something.

“What a great treasure! If I obtain it, I can wrap up all the Archaic descendants as take out and carry it with me!” He clenched his fists tightly.

All types of giant boulders were flying into the sky before rushing into the Heaven and Earth pouch, yet that bone pagoda didn't move a single inch the entire time. Thick and dense mist circulated about it, making it seem more and more mysterious.

“Rise!” The White Tiger roared loudly. It also made its move, spitting out multicolored light. It scattered down on top of the Heaven and Earth pouch, making its might flourish even more.

Hong!

The pure white bone pagoda was continuously agitated. Finally, the pagoda began to fight back; its body began to shake. The valley thoroughly cracked apart as it ascended into the air. While shaking, it created an ocean-like ripple that shook the mountains, creating a great earthquake.

“Not good, the precious artifact is activating!” The White Tiger was crying out in fear. The carriage quickly rose up as if it was going to enter the clouds; it wanted to keep a certain distance away from the pagoda out of safety.

The bone pagoda began to sway, scattering out an expanse of symbols. It almost turned the carriage over and made it fall; fortunately, they were far enough away.

“Try again one last time. If we fail, then we are leaving immediately!” The White Tiger was unwilling to give up.

They once again cooperatively operated the Heaven and Earth pouch. Light shot out in all directions, and the pouch entrance emitted large amounts of symbols. They shot out strand after strand, streak after streak in all directions.

The bone pagoda trembled, quickly collecting all of the mist. It began to radiate with light, and its crystalline body seemed to almost be transparent as began to diffuse a heart-trembling fluctuation.

Upon seeing this, the little guy was silent and no longer had the urge to eat White Tiger meat. He jumped on top of the Suan Ni bone mirror before turning into a streak of light. He quickly escaped far away, because he felt the dangerous aura approaching.

Hong

Sure enough, the land behind him blew up. That bone pagoda was emitting light, and it was as if a meteor was falling down. The mountain region collapsed, and the sky seemed to be splitting apart as well; it was as if a sun exploded.

Terrifying waves of energy engulfed the mountain range, and quite a few mountain peaks swayed before collapsing. Smoke and dust flew everywhere, and that area was completely ruined.

“What a powerful precious artifact!” The little guy flew in escape, and felt that it was truly a pity. This type of precious artifact was too powerful, and it was likely that even if the human emperor saw this, his eyes would also become red with passion.

“Hurry up!” The White Tiger roared. It knew that this treasure couldn’t be moved. Upon awakening, it far exceeded their expectations, and was not something that they could get their hands on.

“Could it be that this is a divine artifact left behind by an ancient saint right?” An elder hesitated.

The carriage flew quickly, but even though they were moving fast, one of the buff men was still struck by the multicolored light’s attack. With a miserable shout, he fell out of the carriage before exploding in midair.

“Faster!” The White Tiger’s complexion changed, and it was fearful.

They had ascended above the clouds long ago, and the gap between them was already sufficient. However, below them, multicolored light continued to radiate everywhere. They covered the sky as they flew about, and rays of light would still sweep over from time to time. The people within the carriage supported up the curtain of light together, fleeing as fast as they could Ao... White Tiger cried out miserably. Even the White Tiger was stuck by one of the divine rays of light, and while staggering, it almost fell out of the carriage. Its shoulder was penetrated, and blood continuously flowed out.

With a pu sound, an elder's chest was pierced through. He coughed out large mouthfuls of blood, almost being killed.

The carriage rushed along at a fast speed, quickly streaking across the sky and escaping from this place. Blossoms of blood scattered down from the skies as they fled for their lives.

With a chi sound, the bone pagoda no longer bobbed up and down and transformed into a rainbow-colored streak. The destroyed mountain region was peaceful once again.

"The bone pagoda is so powerful, yet it decided to escape and leave the valley?" The little guy could clearly see within the darkness that it unexpectedly left. It was in a hurry, making him extremely suspicious.

He did not waste any time, and chased after it in an instant. He pursued it the entire way, utilizing the precious mirror to fly quickly.

However, the pagoda was too fast. It left behind an after image before disappearing.

The little guy continued to move forward, and the mountains and creeks quickly disappeared behind him. He did not give up, and searched this entire mountain range. Finally, he once again felt the fluctuations of that bone pagoda.

In front of him, a fiery light overflowed into the heavens. It was a sea of fire that burned with vast quantities of magma and lava. They bubbled about, dyeing the mountain peak in a deep red. The scene was strange and extremely terrifying.

“There’s actually a sea of fire!” The little guy was shocked.

He had not passed by this area yet during the past few days. This area was melting along with several mountain peaks, turning into magma and trickling downwards.

‘This is phoenix fire! It actually appeared here!’ The little guy was astonished and finally recognized the flames.

This was a top-notch flame for refining precious artifacts, yet it was unexpectedly gushing out from here. In reality, it was a single flame, yet in the end, it melted all of the mountains and creeks here.

At the heart of this mountain creek, there was a throbbing ball of fire. It was bright and resplendent like divine radiance, burning with exceptional magnificence.

The little guy’s pupils were suffused with divine radiance as he carefully surveyed the scene. That was definitely a precious flame. That pulsing ball of flame was like a dancing phoenix, extremely astonishing.

“The bone pagoda is at the heart of that flame!” The little guy was startled. He finally noticed the the bone pagoda figure. It was rising and falling there, taking in the forging and refining of the fire ball.

Could it be that it was injured, and needed to recover? Or maybe it wanted to transform, refining itself anew? This was definitely shocking, and was rarely seen within precious artifacts.

The tall mountains melted, and magma surged out. It submerged the area in a fiery light. The little guy had no choice but to retreat.

For the next few days, he continuously roamed about nearby. He would always stay within fifty li, waiting for that flame to extinguish. However, magma continued to bubble about there without any intention of stopping.

A streak of sword radiance hacked out, and a green-robed young man appeared with a bone sword in hand. He had an air of arrogance as he chopped towards the little guy, and other human figures appeared as well in succession.

One of the four great families arrived, appearing here. That green-robed man was precisely the first person who attacked the little guy after entering the Historical Remains, but fled after being attacked by the Archaic species.

The little guy avoided the sword flash and stared at these people. There were old and young people, totaling to nearly twenty people. There were six or seven 'restricted' individuals.

"You all truly are souls that have not yet dispersed. Exactly what type of enmity do you guys have with me?" The little guy asked.

"Void God Realm. Part of the human pile made of the Four Great Races." The green-robed young man spoke coldly.

After hearing what was said, the little guy stared blankly. Soon after, he laughed loudly. "That truly was a period of happy days. Unfortunately, I was expelled, ahh what a cherished memory... After the expulsion period ends, I will definitely create an even bigger human mountain."

This was an absolutely savage sarcasm, and the group of people's faces immediately soured. Being defeated by this devilish brat was said and done already, but they were also extorted, and lost so much face.

“Wu, could it be that you guys were the ones that I made a human mountain out of?” The little guy sounded suspicious.

With these words spoken, the group of people’s faces became ugly beyond belief. The veins on the young people jumped, and even those few elders’ faces darkened.

“Hahaha...” The little guy laughed at the top of his voice and was incomparably overjoyed. It turns out that the people who were chasing after him had been beaten by him in the past.

Laughing like this, it made the group of people’s complexions gloomy like water. They wanted to skin him alive.

“I get it now. The others who chased me must be like this as well, coming from the Four Great families. They were all people who were defeated by me, haha...” The little guy laughed extremely joyously.

Before, he was depressed. Why was he always being chased by others? Now, all of the tension was completely dispelled, after all, these were people that he had already beaten up before. Seeing the people he defeated before face to face really made him happy.

“This isn’t the Void God Realm’s Starting Ground, so our cultivation levels won’t be suppressed to such a low level. Just give up your life!” The green-robed man shouted. He was originally an elite from his generation, and among his peers, there were few who were worthy opponents. However, within the Void God Realm, he was actually cruelly beaten by someone and piled together with his clansmen; it truly was an extraordinary shame and humiliation.

“It’s not a big deal, you guys were defeated by me previously, and I thought you guys wouldn’t make it. If you don’t listen, then let’s go back and continue forming a human mountain.”

This was a calamity of slaughter. The little guy was smiling mischievously, making this group of people all reveal a gloomy light within their eyes; it truly made them hateful and angry.

The little guy’s two hands continuously made seals, putting to use the symbols from the True Primordial Record. He drew out a golden wave that slashed its way over, colliding with that green-robed male’s bone sword.

“Go up together, get rid of him!” Another young person walked up, making his move with everyone else.

At the same time, several elders walked up. With each step, the ground would gently tremble. It was as if giants were walking, and their eyes were bright and resplendent like golden lamps.

Hong

An intense and great battle erupted. The little guy fought with different people one after another, causing blood essence to roll over and over like waves. The symbols covering the sky were suffocating, pressing down as precious techniques attacked from all directions.

His essence energy began to boil. Although his physical body was unparalleled, his symbols were not as powerful as those few elders'. He was shaken until a trickle of blood flowed out from the corners of his mouth.

With so many people making their moves together, they were definitely more than he could take on. The little guy shivered inwardly. These 'restricted' elders were definitely not ordinary people, and it was impossible for him to withstand. If he was surrounded here, he would definitely fall.

He did not zealously continue fighting. He wiped off the bloodstain from the corner of his lips, and did not let them crowd around him. He was half fighting and half retreating.

"Young one, your innate talent is truly astonishing, but you've provoked people you shouldn't have provoked. How can my Kun Clan tolerate your existence? Receive death!" shouted out an elder.

They revealed their identity, because they determined that this youth was not going to live past this.

The little guy did not trade blows with them, and continuously received the elders' suppressing symbols. Precious techniques poured over like an ocean wave, making blood once again flow out from the corners of his mouth. In the end, he used the golden bone shears to quickly rush into the mountain depths.

“Where are you going?!” How could the group of people agree to let him slip away? Several elders were standing on top of precious artifacts, leading the clan’s younger generation in pursuit.

Scarlet liquid blocked their way, and fiery light surged about. The scene in front of them was terrifying. The mountain peak was thoroughly red, and the heat waves of the great earth were rolling about, forming magma.

The little guy was standing on the golden bone shears as he crossed these vast rocky lands. His eyes were flickering with rays of light, and after glancing backwards, he began to increase his speed!

From the back, the group of people were coldly smiling. Their speeds were not inferior to the little guy’s, making it difficult for him to break away; sooner or later, they were going to catch up.

“Weren’t the other clans also offering a bounty? If we kill him and take away the precious artifacts on him, we can then turn his head in for the bounty.”

“This devilish brat is truly hateful. Simply decapitating him would be letting him off too easy. We must torture him to death!”

The group of people were extremely cold. They finally caught the devilish brat, so they were all thinking of ways to take his life.

Suddenly, the little guy turned around with a strange smile on his face. He raised his hand, revealing the Suan Ni precious mirror. He shone it towards the magma behind him, creating a fierce explosion. Lightning radiance dropped down streak after streak.

Hong

The heart of the magma raged, and billows soared into the heavens. The scarlet liquid's temperature was shocking as they erupted high into the sky.

“He truly is a child. Does he really think that this magma can harm us?” An elder laughed coldly. With a flash of his precious artifact, he blocked off the surging scarlet wave.

However, his cold smile immediately froze. Everyone suddenly felt dreadful.

A wave of terrifying aura rushed charged into the heavens, making every person tremble.

A crystalline pagoda bobbed up and down within the magma, surrounded by a lump of phoenix fire. It revealed its body, and then began to violently shake. It seemed as if it was incomparably angry as if erupted in a heaven overflowing radiance.

“Ah... No!”

The Kun Clansmen released blood-curdling screeches. They knew that they met a terrible calamity, because this precious artifact was too terrifying. It far surpassed their clan's treasures, and was currently attacking them out of anger.

Bubble

The sound of precious artifacts shattering were emitted, and three of the elders' precious artifacts shattered on the spot. All of them cried out miserably as they sank into the magma.

"Flee quickly!"

The green-robed male and the two other elders carried the people from their clans, and while stepping on their precious artifacts, they fled for their lives.

Unfortunately, they were too close to the magma. Moreover, this bone pagoda was at the crucial point of its own refinement, and as a result of being disturbed, it madly displayed its might out of anger.

Another precious artifact cracked open, and the elder on top of it also exploded. The people beside him also fell into the magma.

The green-robed youth as well as another elder suffered heavy injuries. There was blood everywhere on their bodies, and their precious artifacts were almost destroyed.

What was rather unfortunate was that the little guy was waiting in front. He directly took out the golden bone shears, and with a pu sound, the two individuals were sliced at the waist, spraying out fresh blood.

"So hateful!" The two of them were in despair. They were filled with unwillingness, dying at the magma's shore.

“So terrifying!” The little guy stared at the sea of magma and felt a wave of dread.

Just like this, he guarded this area for more than ten days. It had already been more than a month since he entered these Historical Ruins. The magma finally congealed, and the temperature here began to drop.

“Yi, the bone pagoda didn’t reappear?”

The little guy was in doubt. He walked around this region and carefully observed everything. In the end, he couldn’t hold himself back anymore and began to probe deeper.

He brought out the scarlet flying sword , drawing out a red streak and cutting deeply into the rocky ground. After searching carefully, there was still no fluctuations like before, and the bone pagoda did not rebel.

Half a day later, the little guy personally got up and arrived at the area where the bone pagoda was rising and falling previously. After looking around carefully, he saw that this area had been dug out by the flying sword a long time ago. Pieces of shattered rocks were everywhere.

With a dong sound, the ground rang out with a hollow sound. Moreover, there was a blaze that flickered before disappearing. The little guy was startled, and when he looked downward, he couldn’t help but reveal an astonished expression.

There was a pagoda there, and it absorbed the last of the flames. It became completely sparkling and transparent.

“This... Did it absorb all of the flames here?” There little guy was horrified. He quickly retreated, but noticed that the object below did not actually show any reaction.

“Yi, it changed.”

The pagoda in the ground had all of its radiance restrained. It did not have a strange appearance, and was only the size of a palm. Moreover, it began to shrink, in the end becoming only the length of a finger. It was only about the size of a thumb when it stood up.

The little guy was shocked. After waiting for a really long time, he saw that it no longer had any changes. He released a stream of symbols to feel it out, and he got the same result.

In the end, he retrieved the small pagoda and placed it at the center of his palm. It did not have the slightest reaction.

The small pagoda was only an inch tall, and was roughly the size of a finger. Its entire body was transparent and crystalline, as if it was carved out of white jade, exceptionally beautiful. It did not seem like a precious artifact at all, instead seeming like a gorgeous piece of jewelry. It did not have any fearful aura at all.

The little guy looked it over repeatedly, but could not feel any symbols at all. Following that, he used some divine force to try and activate the treasure, yet it still did not show any reaction.

If he did not see it himself personally, he definitely would have thought that this was a delicate and elegant object.

“Why isn’t it showing any reactions?” The little guy scratched his head. He was full of doubt, and after studying it for a really long time, he still didn’t have the slightest idea. In the end, he stuck it in his hair, truly using the pure white crystalline pagoda as a piece of jewelry.

Several days later, the little guy arrived at the heart of the mountains. Along the way, he met over twenty precious artifacts, but he couldn’t subdue any of them. He truly felt that it was a pity, but there was one thing he was sure of, and that was that those precious artifacts weren’t as mysterious and terrifying as the bone pagoda.

Unfortunately, the pagoda did not react to the little guy, and was just like a normal object.

There was a giant mountain at the center, and it was extremely massive. It was as if ten mountain peaks were merged together, and it was exceptionally grand and majestic.

“What a big mountain!”

The little guy sighed in admiration. Divine light flickered above the mountain, and precious artifacts would fly about from time to time. It was as if fireworks were blossoming, and they were all powerful spiritual objects.

At the foot of the mountains, he saw a Bifang, Golden Divine Bird, Horned Dragon, Pixiu, Demonic Cattail Tree, Crack Demonic Butterfly, and other talents of that sort.

There were people on top of the mountains long ago, and all of them had met by heavenly fate. This was the origin of the Historical Remains. It was known to have precious cliffs, and according to legend, this place was full of treasure.

“My sword... my sword...” Suddenly, the little guy heard an aged voice beside his ear, making him absolutely terrified. He replied in fear, “Ghost grandpa, don’t scare me. Didn’t you stay behind in the Heaven Mending Pavilion? Why do I hear your voice again?”

Chapter 144 – Divided Treasure Cliff

“My sword... My sword...” The voice was sporadic, constantly starting and stopping.

The little guy who did not fear the heavens or the earth was completely scared. When he saw his reflection in the Suan Ni precious mirror, he noticed that black-colored characters appeared on his forehead, and that the voice had something to do with this.

“Damn it!” The little guy was frightened. He already clearly knew that this was going to happen. The Heaven Mending Pavilion’s ancient deity’s existence was extremely old, and should the individual chosen by it fail, then that individual would be cursed by black characters and inevitably die.

“Ghost grandpa... You stupid idler!” The little guy was resentful.

The Divided Treasure Cliff was grand and majestic, and it towered into the clouds. A ring of black fog circled about the mountain, as if it was an imposing Archaic devil mountain. It carried an oppressive aura!

An ancient road lead into the mountains. The road was paved with limestone, and the effects of time were permeated within. No one knew just how many heroic youth passed by here before, but in the end, they still ultimately dyed this demonic mountain in blood, never again coming out.

The Bifang, Pi Xiu, Golden Divine Bird, Demonic Cattail Tree and the others stood on one side. They were on guard against each other, and all of their auras were shocking. They were definitely the group of powerful geniuses that no one wanted to provoke in the slightest.

The little guy was cursing, and his mood was naturally not very good. Darkening his face, he directly walked forward. As if everyone owed him ten precious artifacts, he paid absolutely no attention to those powerful experts.

Not even a single blade of grass grew within the mountain, and the entire place was an ash brown color. A portion of the mountain rocks were a dull red color like that of bloodstains. The limestone stairs were extremely long. He ascended those stairs, and as he ascended the stairs, his small face increasingly darkened as he fumed with anger.

“How am I supposed to know what kind of sword it is? It’s not like anyone told me what it’s like, so how am I supposed to find it? This headache is killing me!” The little guy wrinkled his nose and walked up the mountain.

Beside the road, the Bifang, Pi Xiu, Demonic Cattail Tree and the others were flabbergasted. This human youth unexpectedly didn’t even give them a single glance, walking past them arrogantly just like that.

You have to understand that among those who entered the historical ruins, who would dare act so absent-minded? As long as a single one from this group appeared, one would immediately feel dread and stay off to the side.

“Absolutely unbridled and unrestrained.” The Violent Ape spoke out, the gaze in its eyes chilly.

When the little guy heard this, he was awoken from his own world. He turned around to look at them, saying, “Gorilla, what are you looking at? You really were born ugly. Yi, are you really pure-blooded?”

The Violent Ape was an Archaic descendant, and its race was powerful and tyrannical. Its ancestors were known as the Divine Ape, so who dared to call it a gorilla? It truly was absurd! It was so angry that its nose was turning crooked!

The little guy shook his head and said, “I promised uncle that one day I will make a pure-blooded vicious beast yield. Are you the one?”

The Violent Ape was furious. With a fiery gaze in its eyes, it wanted to jump out in anger and tear him to shreds.

In the back, the Golden Divine Bird’s pupils were even colder. Strands of magical radiance were emitted from its pupils, staring straight at the little guy.

“Forget it, I’m not in the mood. I have to find that rotten sword, or else I will definitely die from the curse.” The little guy hung his head dejectedly before turning around and climbing the mountain.

The gazes of the group of powerful creatures were like sharp blades. After hearing those words, they immediately felt apprehensive and couldn’t help but take a few steps back. Things like curses were the extremely strange, as even a slight mishap might incur a disaster on themselves. None of them were willing to get involved.

Hou... The Violent Ape beated its chest fiercely, venting out its discontentment. It was as if a heavenly drum was ringing out with dong dong sounds.

The Demonic Mountain was grand and majestic. It was impossible to see the peak while walking, and there was no end in sight. This was the little guy's first time scaling such a giant mountain. It wasn't even like climbing a mountain anymore; it was like scaling a plateau, because the mountain was simply too huge.

Giant stones were laid about in disarray on the mountain, creating a bizarre landscape. However, this wasn't actually the pure land. Black mist circled around this area, and the entire heaven and earth was extremely dusky. From time to time, large skeletal remains could be seen. They were all left behind by the geniuses of ancient times.

This small world opened once every hundred years. Who knows how many heroic youth's bones were buried here.

"Ya, that's a Bi'an. Unfortunately, the primitive symbol bone had been picked up by someone a long time ago." The little guy looked around before continuing to walk forward.

Nine-Headed Bird, Jiao Tu, and the remains of all other ancient creatures that one could imagine were there. Along this road, he noticed all types of human remains, all of them as solid as iron and stone.

This was the accumulation of countless years of time, and was the 'precipitation' that collected from ancient times until now.

The mountains were extremely dusky, and the higher you went, the more concentrated the mist became. The little guy was prudent as he took precautions, because it was extremely dangerous within the mountains. One could tell just by seeing those skeleton remains, as too many powerful creatures died in the past.

Suddenly, a cold and remote sharp point appeared, attacking straight towards the middle of the little guy's back. It was steady and accurate as it approached fiercely. This was a green lance, gorgeous and shocking. Only when it closed in on the little guy's body did it burst out with a bone penetrating killing intent.

Goose bumps appeared on his body, and all the fine hairs on his body stood erect. His body shifted horizontally, and like a flat scroll, he drifted towards the side. With a dong sound, the green lance's point smashed into a ten thousand jin giant boulder. With a slight tremble, the rock split into pieces.

Following that, the green colored lance swept past fiercely, carrying with it a frantic gust of wind. The rocks on the ground flew into the air immediately afterwards. Smoke and dust covered the air as wuwu sounds rang out.

The little guy retreated. Like a spirit ape, he crossed over a large boulder before turning around to observe the situation.

Hong

In that area, the entire forest was broken and shattered. The green lance's spear point was firm as it swept past a large amount of boulders. Following that, it began to follow over.

This wasn't actually a human, but rather a strange plant. The green colored lance was its stolon. It was solid and its point was sharp, and with the ability to pierce through iron and stone, it slaughtered its way over.

The little guy firmly believed that he had never met this plant before, so there was no hatred between them. It was clear that this was a pure killing desire, wanting to steal the precious artifacts on his body.

After entering the Hundred Shattering Mountains, these types of things happened often. In particular, those that visited this giant imposing mountain were all extraordinary. On their bodies would inevitably be rare and precious spiritual treasures, easily causing others to lust after them.

The little guy's pupils emitted light. He walked forward to meet it head on, preparing to fight a great battle against this strange plant. The green lance carried with it symbols as it emitted waves of bluish green light, its might absolutely tremendous.

However, when the little guy began to use lightning, it surprisingly became alarmed. Its natural instincts restrained itself, alerting itself that its life was in mortal danger.

Before this, it had never met the little guy before and didn't know how powerful he was. He appeared to be a single human youth, so it thought that it could quickly kill him. It never thought that it would be so troublesome.

It was also worth mentioning that it was extremely powerful. Under the little guy's violent attacks, it withstood ten moves. It definitely could be considered a formidable genius!

Kacha

With the little guy's attack, half of the stolon was hacked until it was charred. Leaves rustled as they fell, and this plant was in dismay. The stolon pierced into the ground, and it quickly fled; however, it was impossible for it to get away.

Golden lightning flew over, once again enveloping it. With a hong sound, its body was scorched back, causing it to receive a fatal injury.

The little guy's eyes revealed divine light. He pounced forward with the intention of breaking that stolon and seize that green lance because that was definitely a rarely seen precious artifact. At the same time, he also wanted to acquire its symbols and precious methods.

Hong

This plant knew its own fate. Its body emitted light before shattering soon afterwards. It wanted to destroy its own life imprint and symbols.

The little guy took out the bone shears. In that last crucial moment, he sliced off that battle lance. With a dang sound, it fell onto the ground, not perishing together with it.

“Sigh, what a pity. The battle lance is a bit short, and the symbols are hidden within.” The little guy picked it up. This battle lance was roughly the height of a person, but it was still a bit shorter than its original length.

“I’ll give it to Dazhuang, Pihou and the others as a present.” He was always gathering symbolled bones with the intention of giving them to the villagers after returning to Stone Village.

The mountain was massive. The higher one went, the more people he encountered. In the next few hours, the little guy fought fiercely with others several times. There were also many corpses that had died not long ago scattered around the road.

A streak of precious light flew out, and that was the birth of a precious artifact. There were quite a few hidden within the mountains, and it immediately drew in a group of creatures. They surrounded it, and all wanted to obtain it. Naturally, a large battle occurred as a result. It was unavoidable, and soon after, bloody mist permeated the air.

“The Golden Crow Wing has is appearing in this world!” Someone shouted loudly.

“It’s a precious artifact that survived from the ancient times!” In front, a group of people were loudly roaring as they frantically attacked.

There was a golden wing that covered the sky. With a gentle flicker, flames overflowed the sky. It melted the entire mountain area, causing lava to boil and rush downwards.

The little guy cursed. He turned around and fled, because he was currently situated in the low parts. He was about to meet that flood-like lava head on.

He took out a precious artifact and sped out. He was almost dragged into the great battle above; this an absolute disaster.

“Heavens, the Golden Crow Wing has been obtained by someone! How could that precious artifact choose a new owner? The experts above were all crying out in alarm.

A large golden bird rushed past, and within its mouth was a golden precious fan. Like a shooting star, it streaked across the sky and disappeared to the other side of the mountain.

“It’s that creature!” The little guy was astonished, and then became incomparably envious after. He previously met that Golden Divine Bird before, and knew that it was extremely powerful.

“Sigh, creatures with wings are just faster than those with legs. It began its ascent after me, yet ended up ahead. I’m so pitiful,” the little guy mumbled.

At the same time, he was on alert. That giant golden bird was extremely powerful to begin with, and was quite similar to the Great Peng. Now that it also obtained that precious fan, it would definitely become even more terrifying. He needed to seriously watch out against it.

The Divided Treasure Cliff was extremely huge. The little guy continuously climbed up the whole way in search of precious artifacts, and after arduously climbing for several days, he still haven’t reached the mountain peak. Instead, during the course of his journey, many bloody battles occurred. As long as a spiritual object appeared, there would inevitably be a blood-reeking massacre.

Golden light flickered. He took out the dragon shears and killed a human expert. A head flew high into the air, carrying with a string of blood. The headless body collapsed.

This was an expert from the ‘Li Race’, and was similar to the Kun Race. Within the Starting Ground, he previously wanted to seize the little guy’s precious bone so he took action. In the end, he was thrown into the human mountain.

In these next few days, he continuously rushed upwards and fought with many other people. He encountered many attacks from mysterious people, allowing him to thoroughly understand the origins of the Four Great Clans.

The Kun Race were completely exterminated within the historical ruins. There were still the Li, Yuan, and Meng Clans. They finally met with each other within the Divided Treasure Cliff, inciting a bloody battle.

For several days, the little guy's body was bruised and riddled with scars. He was extremely powerful, but the opposing party had 'restricted' individuals. It was as if they were souls of the dead that wouldn't disperse, and would constantly appear time and time again. There were a few times where his body almost met a huge disaster.

Fortunately, he was powerful enough. Even though he was still young, the genius youth from the three clans were far from being his opponent, and they were completely reliant on the actions of the 'restricted' individuals. During the course of events, the little guy killed twenty to thirty people within the three races, almost cleaning out their geniuses.

This made the remaining 'restricted' individuals erupt in anger. They were completely driven mad, swearing to find him and torture him to death.

The mountain was towering and majestic. The closer one got to the mountain peak, the greater the danger, because those that could reach this point were all the most powerful group of people. The little guy forged ahead arduously on foot and finally reached the mountain peak, arriving at the true Divided Treasure Cliff.

The three race's 'restricted' individuals were almost here as well. They intentionally lagged behind to outflank him, waiting for a moment to deal a fatal blow.

The mountain peak was vast, like a plateau. It really wasn't some small region, and various giant boulders lied about in disarray. They were in all types of bizarre shapes, as if they were petrified precious artifacts.

In reality, there really was such a legend. The ancient saints shed tears and dripped blood, and after the vast amount of people collapsed, their weapons were arranged on top of the Divided Treasure Cliff.

There was an ancient monument that stood tall and upright. On top of it was inscribed a few characters that warned the people that they they must not create a clamor here or disturb the deep slumber of the ancient saints. They must not cause destruction again and destroy the Divided Treasure Cliff.

This was an area of prohibited land, not allowing people to fiercely battle.

"This this real?" There was a vicious beast that spoke out, because it wasn't really convinced.

"The owl over there also did not believe this and wanted to destroy a large boulder. In the end, it became a pool of bloody paste." A humanoid creature acquainted with that vicious beast reminded.

Not far out, an enormous creature fell onto the ground, turning into a bloody paste. Only a few shattered white bones that were sparkling with radiance remained; it died an incredibly miserable death.

All of the geniuses took in a cold breath. Turns out that this place was not easy to provoke after all.

Even though the ancient saints have fallen and were hibernating deep within the ground, their resting place could not be damaged.

Quite a few people entered the Stone Forest, diligently reacting to their surroundings while searching for precious artifacts. According to legend, there were quite a few hidden within the giant boulders.

“Ah, that huge boulder is emitting light!” Many people were in shock.

A large boulder cracked open, emitting precious light within the cracks. The stone covering it came off, revealing a precious artifact!

It was a staff, sparkling and transparent. It was scarlet red like blood, and was not longer than a third of a meter in length. However, it was incomparably dazzling, and a large amount of symbols swirled around it. It emitted rumbling thunder-like sounds, creating a frightening scene.

“Heavens, could it be that it really is a weapon left behind by a saint? The Divided Treasure Cliff’ rumors were actually true?” The people were all crying out in surprise.

In front of that giant boulder was a bird. Its entire body was green, and was adorned with blood-colored streaks. It was circulating with a blazing light; this was precisely the Bifang. The staff dropped in front of its body, and was acquired by it.

“It’s a pity that the staff is damaged. It’ll be difficult for it to display the ancient saint’s might.” The people were regretful and noticed that the staff was actually already broken. It was only a small chunk.

However, this was still enough to shock the world. If this short staff was properly cared for and refined, it could still become a powerful and precious treasure.

“Why did that creature acquire it?” One of them couldn’t accept this. He raised his voice and charged forward.

However, a pu sound rang out, and a terrifying beam of light shot out from within the Divided Treasure Cliff. It immediately smashed him to pieces, turning him into a lump of bloody paste.

Everyone sucked in a breath of cold air. They all calmed down, no longer daring to speak any more nonsense.

The Bifang turned around, and with ice cold eyes, it swept its gaze over everyone.

“We will also enter the Stone Forest and attempt to communicate with the ancient weapons. We will obtain precious artifacts that we can consider our own!” Passion burned within the eyes of these geniuses that came from the various clans, and all of them flocked inside.

After entering, the little guy felt as if he didn’t have enough eyes to see everything. He looked at a crouching tiger stone, then at the green cow stone before staring at the True Devouring Moon stone in front of him. His large eyes blinked, and were full of joy.

“Mine, mine, they are all mine!” The little miser’s eyes were full of stars as he clenched his small fists.

If these giant boulders truly all had precious artifacts sealed within them, it would be absolutely astonishing. The Divided Treasure Cliff would not only have treasure in its name, but also in reality.

Li, Yuan, Meng Clans’ ‘restricted’ individuals all moved up. After observing the inscriptions, they once again stared at the little guy. Their eyes were suffused with ominous light, but when it was all said and done, none of them dared to act blindly without thinking.

“We can’t do anything here. After leaving the Divided Treasure Cliff, we will take his life!”

The little guy also saw them, directly giving them a condescending look. He then flipped his head around, completely ignoring them, making the group of people so angry that their faces were turning green.

“Yi, Big Cat you came too.” As soon as the little guy turned around, he saw the White Tiger.

The White Tiger released a low roar, its eyes filled with ominous light.

“Big Cat are you trying to speak? Why do you sound weaker than a little kitty that was just born? Speak louder.” The little guy placed his hand beside his ear, hinting that he couldn’t hear what it said.

The light coming from the White Tiger's eyes were completely cold. In a very low voice, it said, "Once we leave the Divided Treasure Cliff, I will take your life!" It naturally did not dare to roar too loudly, or else it would definitely be turned into a lump of bloody paste.

The little guy did not get angry at all. On the contrary, he wiped away his saliva and said, "I look forward to our splendid reunion."

Chapter 145 – Ancient Sword

The mountain summit was wide and open with all types of giant rocks lying about in disarray. After walking into the depths of the Stone Forest, everyone couldn't help but sigh. There were many giant boulders with designs on them. They were extremely vivid and lifelike, for example a Golden Crow pursuing lightning, a cow treading on the ocean, a giant Peng bird spreading its wings to take flight... All of them had different shapes and forms.

The ancient diagrams left behind were of all types of species. No one understood what type of messages these diagrams were trying to convey, and since ancient times, many geniuses have passed through here to comprehend and gain enlightenment without much success. Maybe it was simply an account of a past glory.

“Precious artifact, precious artifact, where are you really?” The little guy murmured.

The Stone Forest was extremely vast, and there were too many giant stones. He carefully felt about, yet did not reap any harvest. Even communicating using the symbols recorded within the True Primordial Record proved futile.

“What's going on? Several creatures already obtained precious artifacts, so why haven't I gotten anything yet?” The little guy scratched his head in puzzlement as his darkened his small face in confusion.

He looked left and right and saw that a few 'restricted' were grouped together, discussing something. One of them wiped a giant boulder clean, and another carefully tried to get a response from it.

The little guy walked over from the back and patted one of the individual's shoulders and said, "Old brother, any results?"

"Sigh, completely empty-handed." An elder shook his head, but felt that something was wrong soon after. Something was wrong with this voice, why was it so delicate? All of them turned around at the same time.

They only saw a devilish brat with a dirty face. His eyes were extremely bright as he stood on a chunk of limestone. While tiptoeing, he patted one the individual's shoulders as if they were extremely familiar with each other.

"Go away!" The beard of the elder who had his shoulder patted stood straight. This was a great life or death enemy ah! After killing off most of their descendants, his skin was actually thick enough to try and worm his way into being friends; it was absolutely aggravating.

"Old brother, pay close attention to your image. We are both able people, and need to have a bit of magnanimity, and even more tolerance." The little guy stepped on a giant stone and went on his tiptoes, once again patting his shoulder.

The elder's nose was about to turn crooked. If this place did not prohibit fighting, then his palm would have already slapped over, hitting that devilish brat until he split open like a peach blossom!

"Brat, what you are doing is clearly provocation! Don't think that we don't dare move our hands!" The others couldn't continue watching any longer, and were so hateful that even the roots of their teeth were itching.

“Old brothers, this is where you all are wrong. True opponents are those that appreciate each other’s talents and are mutually respectful. We could fight it out with our lives on the line, but when we sit down, we can also drink and chat merrily about this world’s major events.” The little guy appeared to be regretful as he continuously shook his head.

“Little bastard, who wants to appreciate talents with you. If we weren’t here right now, you still wouldn’t become our opponents. Just a single finger of mine could crush you to death!” An elder’s bad temper erupted, his eyes immediately standing up.

“Old brother, your anger is too great. I dare to say that within your five visceras, the symbols in your liver have some problems. With such a burning anger, it’ll affect your future natural luck.” The little guy took the opportunity to move in closer while stepping on a large chunk of limestone, directly hooking his arm around the elder’s shoulder and embracing his neck.

“Go, go off to the side!” This elder shouted his reply. Shitty devilish brat, what a load of fart, daring to even try to become brothers with this elder. The worst part is that not long ago, you went face to face with us to kill off my descendants.

The few elders were all angered. If not for the fact that they couldn’t use force, they really would have pounced over to skin him alive.

In the end, the little guy shook his head and patted their shoulders. Then, he slapped his butt before turning around and leaving.

“This damn child!” These individuals almost flew into rage.

On the side, a tall and bold, entirely back Violent Ape laughed with hou hou sounds. Afterwards, it looked at the little guy with eyes full of despise. It even filled the air with killing intent.

This was precisely that Archaic species that he encountered at the foot of the mountain. The little guy gave it a sidelong glance and said, "What are you looking? Gorilla, don't try and become friends with me. I am not familiar with you, and won't appreciate talents with you. Because you are humanoid, I have no way of throwing you into the pot."

The violent ape became furious. It pounded its chest and really wanted to roar into the sky. However, at the last moment, it covered its mouth in a hurry, swallowing down a breath of muffled air. The sound of leaked wind was emitted from its mouth.

"Gorilla, what are you giggling about. Was what I said funny? You actually covered your mouth to hide your laugh." The little guy glared at it.

The violent ape turned around and ran. Its entire body was shivering, using all of its strength to block its mouth. It didn't dare to let it go as white smoke shot out from its nose.

"Gorilla, why are you running? If you have something happy to talk about, then say it out loud so we can be happy together. Being happy alone is not as good as being happy together! You are too selfish."

The gorilla truly couldn't hold it in any longer, and even its ears were starting to emit white smoke. It widened its two large legs and finally strode out of the Stone Forest. Following that, it suddenly jumped off of the mountain peak. Only now did he release his large hand and roar towards the sky, “Yellow skinned monkey, don’t let me catch you! I will tear you to shreds!”

It dropped about ten zhang below and stood on top of a giant boulder. Using strength to beat its chest, it sounded like muffled thunder. The sound shook the heaven and earth as it went crazy there.

“Old Macaque, Transparent Armed Ape brothers, you all need to be careful. Down there, that gorilla said that he’s going to tear you guys apart and eat you in one bite.” The little guy reminded them with good intentions.

These monkeys were speechless, rolling their eyes together.

The little wandered back and forth in search of his own precious artifact. When he arrived in front of a worn-out rock, he suddenly quivered and began to coldy shiver. The reason behind this was because the gloomy whooshing sound once again rang out beside his ear.

“My sword... My sword...”

He raised his hand, suddenly revealing the Suan Ni precious mirror. He looked at the reflection, seeing a string of black characters appear on his forehead. Strands of dark mist were emitted, lingering around his ears.

“Ghost grandpa, you are always crying out. Give me some concrete directions, or else how will I find it?” The little guy was depressed.

Right at that moment, the tattered stone that was not even two thirds of a meter in length began to emit black smoke. It cracked, emitting kacha kacha sounds before finally splitting open.

“Ah... found it!” The little guy was overjoyed.

With a cry of surprise like this, everyone threw their gazes over. They were all shocked, because another person obtained a precious artifact. It made them incomparably jealous.

However, when they saw that tattered stone, they all became stumped for words. Then, when they saw that there was no multicolored light there and instead had fierce flames spewing out, they all began to grin.

What kind of treasure was this? Forget about symbols, there wasn't even the slightest bit of a propitious vapor. On the contrary, it seemed as if there was dried cow poop burning, emitting this type of black smoke.

The little guy's forehead was also emitting a black thread. Why did it not create anything different? It looked just like burning firewood within a cave. Thick smoke was released everywhere; this was simply too unsightly.

In the end, the black smoke scattered, revealing a broken sheet of metal. It was as ugly as ugly could be, and it was rusted until it was full of stains. It had corroded until it was about to rot.

Only after careful observation would one notice that this was a sword. The decorations on the shaft were already rotted, and only the sword bone remained. It was barely enough for a hand to grasp around.

“That sword truly has... Personality!”

Haha...

Everyone began to mock him, and some of them couldn't help but ridicule it.

The little guy darkened his small face, also feeling that this sword was excessively simple and crude. Was this still usable?

A kacha sound rang out, and as a result, he didn't move for a long time. The rock skin that previously split open actually wanted to close up, once again wrapping around the sword.

The little guy wrinkled his nose and crouched down in an instant. His right hand gripped the sword hilt and pulled outwards. However, it unexpectedly did not move in the slightest, making him shocked.

Right at that moment, a wave of heaven overflowing killing intent swept its way over, charging into his body. In that instant, he saw a mountain of corpses and a sea of blood. The scene of blood flowing through the great land appeared, and endless creatures were exterminated.

This type of aura was too terrifying, enough to crush a genius. Even the little guy's powerful physical body was trembling, directly creating wounds. A mouthful of fresh blood bubbled forth, and was forcefully swallowed down.

The others couldn't tell what was happening, but the little guy already understood that this sword was too powerful. It was absolutely not an ordinary object, and was definitely a great killing weapon left behind by the saints!

The wave of killing intent poured out endlessly, continuously trespassing his body. The little guy was trying his best to withstand it. Finally, he was able to resist it; his mind was in shock.

At this moment, he finally understood why all those people failed in the past. If he was switched out for anyone else, their physical bodies would definitely shatter!

Right at this moment, that decoration in his hair, the finger-length and crystalline pagoda, flashed with a glimmer. All of the killing intent was immediately pushed back like a wave.

Everyone noticed the strange behaviors of that small pagoda.

The little guy released a breath, silently calming himself down and recovering a bit. He once again slowly pulled the sword, and with a qiang lang sound ringing out, the ancient sword broke away from the rotting stone, appearing within his hand.

Pu chi [1]

[tl: [1] = Sound of escaping laughter.]

Many people immediately began to laugh. This sword was too worn-out, almost losing the sword shape. The sword's body was filled with rusted marks, and it was only a third of a meter long because the majority of it was lost after being broken off.

Even the remaining portion was broken, and there were clear traces of it being pieced together. The exterior surface of the sword was bumpy, seeming as if parts of it were about to rot off.

The group of people all shook their heads. For an Archaic artifact to have lasted until now was already an amazing thing. Many of them were already damaged, and this was a completely ordinary thing. This devilish brat was simply unfortunate, encountering a damaged and deformed weapon.

“This broken sword’s condition is just too terrible. You should go back and completely reforge it, hehe!”

“It really does match you well.” Even that Violent Ape couldn’t hold back his condescending words. Its bloody mouth was wide open, revealing fierce snow white teeth as it continuously laughed there.

“You should add it to your collection and consider it your most precious treasure.” An individual from the ‘restricted’ pinched his beard and became completely relaxed. When the little guy found the precious artifact just now, they immediately panicked. You have to understand that this was an Archaic artifact, and who knows if a few world shocking treasure will appear or not.

“Even though it’s broken, it is still an Archaic artifact in the end. Bring it back and take care of it properly. Who knows, there might be a day when it will develop a spirit again.” Another relatively younger ‘restricted’ individual mocked.

Haha... The group of people all broke out into laughter, shaking their heads continuously.

The little guy’s face darkened and did not say anything. It was because he knew that this sword was definitely not ordinary after it created that world shocking and unprecedented killing intent. Even the weight alone was enough to scare people to death. It looked like it was about to decompose, but after picking it up, it had several tens of thousands of jin in weight; this was still the weight after having part of it broken off!

This was precisely the terrifying strength of the little guy's body. Normal people definitely could not lift it as if it were rice straw. Holding it in his hand, he flipped it around as he looked it over.

The bone sword did not have a sharp point, and the areas that were not rusted were black. There were some fuzzy patterns on it, and the sword body was ice cold.

"Your eyes are truly bad. You all can't even recognize such a unique divine sword, yet dare to ridicule, sigh!" The little guy shook his head and carried the sword on his back as if he couldn't care less about them.

The more he spoke like this with a sense of indifference, the more it made the others believe that it was a piece of rotting steel. It immediately caused a wave of roaring laughter.

"When that boulder cracked open just now, black mist sprayed outwards. That mist is the dark baleful aura of the ancient battlefield! Even a powerful artifact will slowly decay under it. To have been sealed up since ancient times, constantly accompanied by this dark baleful aura, if it really still had spirit, then it would truly be heaven rebelling." The White Tiger appeared. It was incomparably cold and detached, carrying a hint of ridicule within its pupils. It was obvious that it was taking joy in his calamity.

“You guys don’t understand!” The little guy looked like he was hiding something. He rubbed the rusted sword on his back and pretended to be speaking bold and visionary words, “Since you have seen the light, your fame and glory will once again be spread widely under the heavens.”

The group of people sneered. The Violent Ape, ‘restricted,’ and White Tiger all stared at the little guy. He did not obtain a sufficiently breathtaking precious artifact, so when he leaves, that will be the best time to kill him.

A group of people entered Stone Forest led by a young lady. Her beautiful hair was jet-black, and her forehead was full and sparkling white. Her chin was sharp, and she had a pair of bright eyes and white teeth. She was extraordinarily beautiful, and carried a type of spiritual nature.

This was precisely the Fire Nation princess, and even though she was only fifteen or sixteen years old, her figure was extremely wonderful. Her curves went up and down, seemingly near perfect. Her pupils wandered about like waves, flickering over. Her neck was spotlessly snow white, and her chest was full. Her waist was small, and her legs were slender; her steps gave off the beauty of a lotus.

Huo Ling’er’s skin was sparkling white like goat jade. Her body had a layer of radiance circling about it, and her pair of lotus arms were wrapped around a small ashy wolf. It was shaggy with large eyes, and with a pair of small wings on its back, it was extremely cute.

Behind the Fire Nation princess were a few cloaked individuals. It was obvious that they were ‘restricted’ individuals, and they were precisely the ones who intruded the Divine Cave to bring out the divine descendant. They were extremely powerful, and their wounds back then have long recovered.

Furthermore, the Heaven Mending Pavilion's five geniuses were following closely behind, none of them dying along the way.

Everyone glanced over at them with surprise. To be able to bring over such a large group, it was clear that they weren't ordinary people; they were definitely sufficiently powerful.

"Yi, it's the Fire Nation princess, the human emperor's daughter!" Someone cried out in alarm.

With these words spoken, regardless of whether it was human experts or the geniuses of the other races, they all sucked in a cold breath of air. That human emperor made everything under the heavens tremble, with accomplishments blessed by nature's luck. He was simply too powerful, and there were numerous powerful races that did not dare provoke him. All of them wanted to retreat.

The little guy carried the broken sword on his back and walked over like a great model. He directly arrived in front of Huo Ling'er and said, "Junior sister, don't be scared here. With this senior brother covering for you, no one will dare to set their ideas on you."

Huo Ling'er's large and black jewel-like eyes were raised as she shouted, "Why would I need your protection?!" No matter how you looked at it, this devilish brat was clearly seizing an opportunity, yet he spoke as if it was something to be expected. It made her so angry that she wanted to strike out.

Moreover, she was older than the little guy. If they really were going by honorifics, she should be the senior sister. In the end, she would always be called the junior sister, so she was already in a bad mood a long time ago.

The little guy pinched the little wolf, and the young deity immediately scuttled over to his bosom, carrying with it Huo Ling'er's unique scent. It rubbed itself against his body, expressing its intimacy.

The fire nation princess jumped again and again, speaking in anger, "I raised such a thankless wretch!" Along the way, all sorts of good things were fed to it. In the end, when it met the little guy, it immediately defected over.

The little guy smiled happily before turning around to the others, saying, "I didn't say anything false. This is my junior sister who is under my protection. None of you are allowed to randomly have ideas on her, otherwise, I won't be polite."

Chapter 146 : No Title

The Fire Nation Princess was absolutely stunning, drawing the attention of everyone standing there. However, with the devilish brat standing on the side, it was like a blot within a beautiful landscape. Many people wanted to give him a good beating.

“What do we do?” The ‘restricted’ individual frowned. That hateful youth actually walked together with the fire nation princess, making them rather fearful of the consequences.

“No matter what, we have to eliminate him. Otherwise, when he leaves the Hundred Shattering Mountains and enters the Heaven Mending Pavilion, it really will be difficult to make our move.” Someone muttered.

Stone Forest once again restored its peace. Everyone once again went on a search to find their own precious artifacts. However, after so many days, there weren’t even ten precious artifacts that were obtained in total.

It was clear that it was extremely difficult to gain any harvest, and that a certain set of conditions had to be met. However, these people did not actually know how to meet these conditions.

“Old brothers, have you guys found any treasures yet?” The little guy asked, casually leading Huo Ling’er and the Heaven Mending Pavilion senior sisters and brothers over to give them an idea of the circumstances.

“Go away to the side!” The several ‘restricted’ individuals truly hated it whenever the devilish brat was involved. Every time they saw him, they would immediately get extremely angry.

“Junior brother, you are acquainted with them?” A senior sister from the Heaven Mending Pavilion asked. Seeing how familiar he was right from the start, she truly thought that they were old friends.

The little guy nodded and said, “En, I’m quite familiar with them. We’ve accompanied each other along the way these past few days, about to become intimate friends.”

“Ah, so close, hurry and introduce us. We should pay our respects,” the senior sister from the Heaven Mending Pavilion said.

“Don’t, there’s no need to be that intimate.” The little guy indifferently shook his head.

“Why?” A senior brother didn’t understand.

“Do you see that fat old man? I killed his grandson. There’s also that thin old fellow, I killed both of his grandnephews. As for that black old man, I think I kicked his sister’s son to death...” The little guy pointed at them one after another before explaining.

The Heaven Mending Pavilion senior brothers and sisters were stupefied when they heard those words. What kind of relationship was this? Didn’t you say that you accompanied each other along the way? Exactly what type of God angering things did this savage child do?

On the opposing side, the group of old men were shooting flames out of their mouths and eyes. Their ears were sending out white smoke; they were simply too angry. This shitty child really needed to be killed.

Huo Ling'er also stared at him, saying, "You're trying to put on a show again!"

"No no, what I said was the truth. They tried to kill me this entire time mercilessly, and in the end their younger generation were killed off by me. I feel like I developed friendly relations with them and wanted to find some way to settle our past disputes, but in the end they did not appreciate my kindness. They just had to constantly shout beat and kill towards me. Too unfriendly," said the little guy.

The group of people were speechless, and all of them had completely stupid expressions on their faces. Settle what past disputes? It was definitely not something that could be forgiven unless he died.

"Old brother, beating and killing each other is not right. Can we not sit down and chat about it if there is something? If we started out with a toast under the bright moon, we wouldn't have had to have this type of tragedy between us. Sigh. What is there to be said about this..." The little guy walked up and stood on his tiptoes, once again patting the elder's shoulder.

"Little bastard, we'll wait and see who is right!" The elder couldn't restrain his anger any longer, and his lungs were about to explode. He pulled the sleeve of his gown away, not wanting to stay together with him any longer; otherwise, he would die from excessive anger.

Several days later, the little guy completely gave up. Outside of that tattered sword, he did not obtain a single precious artifact. On the contrary, there were a few other creatures that obtained treasures, and after adding all of them up, there were finally almost ten of them.

He was lying on top of the crouching tiger stone, sleeping with loud huhu sounds. He did not waste any more time, and decided to preserve and nurture his spirit [1]. He made preparations to leave this place and search for the Unaging Divine Spring.

[tl: [1] = Honing one's strength for the big push.]

If it was possible, he truly wanted to smash apart these giant boulders with a hammer and retrieve the sealed ancient weapons. However, he did not want to get punished by the tribulation, and so he had choice but to hold it in.

Suddenly, the little wolf began to cry out with ao ao sounds. It began to squirm about within Huo Ling'er's bosom as it stared at a giant boulder. It was strange and difficult to describe, and that boulder actually split apart, emitting a bright and resplendent radiance.

"Heavens, there's another formidable precious artifact!" The people were shocked.

This was a bone ring, and was an azure color. It was as if it was carved out of precious stones, and it was unknown what type of creature's precious bones this was created from. It possessed a type of astonishing spiritual nature, and even though so many endless years have passed, the luster and gloss did not decline at all.

With the appearance of this ring, it immediately created waves of sound. Symbols covered everything densely, as if the entire area was covered in a sparkling and translucent layer. It transformed into an azure color, and Huo Ling'er was enveloped within, her skin sparkling and her pupils moving about lively; she appeared more and more beautiful.

“Ancient weapon! What a pity, it also has a bit of deficiency.” The people were regretful. This bone ring had a piece missing, and was not a complete circle.

Everyone sighed. Until now, there still hasn't been a perfect ancient weapon, and all of them were damaged.

However, when they thought about this, they all became relieved. If a perfect and whole one did appear, then it would definitely be able to become a country subduing absolute treasure. It would make even a Great King unable to sit still.

This bone ring was not large, and fitted Huo Ling'er's wrist perfectly. It was like a jade bracelet, sparkling and transparent as it flickered with radiance.

As long as it was activated, it would shine. There were a terrifying amount of symbols, so many that it was almost blinding. It suppressed the space around them, and needless to say, its might was certainly great.

Huo Ling'er was delighted, wearing it around her wrist. In the end, the little wolf continuously nipped at her, wanting to take it off of her and give it to the little guy.

The Fire Nation princess was extremely angry, saying in a reproving tone, “I wasted my love on you! You anger me to death!”

The little guy was naturally roused awake, quickly running over, saying, “Truly not bad, it's a good precious artifact. Being so beautiful, if it was given as a gift to the tiger girl's group, they will definitely be very happy."

"This is mine!" Huo Ling'er cried out in anger, wearing it on her snow white wrist. She was unwilling to take it off and tenaciously held the little wolf while asking the little guy suspiciously, "Who is this tiger girl?"

"A little sister that is sturdy and beautiful like me," said the little guy. After thinking for a bit, he added a sentence. "Much prettier than you."

After hearing the first half, Huo Ling'er was still blinking her eyes and holding in her laughter. With such a strong and sturdy build, what kind of beauty was that? After hearing the second half, her rage surged violently, screeching, "Go die!"

She hugged the little wolf and twisted its plump butt before directly leaving in rage. She truly couldn't stand the little guy.

"Truly an unfathomable mystery." The little guy shook head.

"Junior brother, you are still young. Wait two years, you will understand then what is called beautiful, and what is called sturdy." A senior brother from the Heaven Mending Pavilion walked over and patted his shoulder, speaking in a profound voice.

"Tsk, do you think I'm dumb? What do I not know? Senior brother, didn't you peep at senior sister while she was taking a shower last time?"

"Don't say random things! I never did those things!" This Heaven Mending Pavilion senior brother became anxious before turning around and walking away.

Behind them, the two senior sisters from the Heaven Mending Pavilion were already revealing murderous glares.

The little guy finally calmed down, and began to look everywhere out of boredom. He was preparing to end his trip to the historical ruins. He couldn't benefit any more by being here, and was only wasting his time.

He rubbed the small pagoda in his hair and said to himself, "Other than that rusted sword, there's only you. Why aren't you moving? Even the symbols are gone, so what are you useful for?" The little guy was annoyed. He wrapped a few more circles of hair around it, binding it even tighter.

The little guy arrived at the edge of the Stone Forest and looked at the dusky sky. As a result of the mist being so thick, he couldn't see the sun formed by the Golden Crow.

"Why isn't there any precious artifact that will just show up, waiting for me to pick up?"

Hu

A streak of fiery light slashed across the dusky sky, directly falling down.

“It really came?!” The little guy was overjoyed, but soon after, he once again wrinkled his forehead. It was actually the big red bird, dyed in blood from top to bottom. It was extremely tired, gasping for breath as it dropped at the mountain summit.

“Ah, you really are here! We need to hurry and save the others! The Nine-Headed Lion, Sable, and the others are about to be ripped into corpses by the others!” The big red bird seemed to be extremely impatient.

The little guy was shocked. The Nine-Headed Lion was so powerful, yet there was someone who could shred these Archaic descendants into corpses? Who exactly was this terrifying?

In an instant, he once again calmed down and said, “How did you know where I was?”

“I heard someone say this while in the middle of the battle!” The big red bird continuously cursed, and its entire body was emitting light. It was trying to recover from its wounds, and was extremely impatient as he hurried the little guy along.

The light in the little guy’s eyes flickered, and he rubbed the sword on his back. His eyes immediately lit up, and there wasn’t the least bit of fear in them.

“Wait a moment!” He rushed back to the Stone Forest, calling Huo Ling’er over. “Junior Sister, are those under you ‘restricted’? Help me out in a bit.”

He turned around, allowing the big red bird to inform them of the situation. Afterwards, he didn’t say much else, jumping onto the back of the big red bird and directly entering the mist.

The battlefield was not far, roughly twenty li from the foot of the Divided Treasure Cliffs. Currently, the battle was almost over, and it appeared extremely bloody.

The Nine-Headed Lion was dispirited and lifeless, all of the golden light around its body dim. There was a large hole in its chest, breathing deeply as it laid in a pool of blood.

Beside it, the Flame Crow seemed to have scorched itself, and all of its black feathers were in disarray. Moreover, there were some golden tail feathers that pierced through its body, causing fresh blood to rush out.

The Three Eyed Race’s two brothers’ foreheads were almost cracked open, and there was a clear claw mark there. Luckily, their vertical eyes had not been scratched off.

The Rainbow Luan was also fighting, but it was currently already at its dying breath. Its body was almost ripped into two halves, and it continuously cried out in a low voice.

The sable had its forelimb twisted, and it was clear that it was broken by someone. The bone was fractured, and it was an extremely grave injury; the opponent's methods were extremely fierce.

They were all still alive, and were gathered together, carrying out their final stand. However, after encountering this type of serious damage, they definitely couldn't last that much longer.

The little guy looked towards the other side, and when he saw who the enemy was, he became relieved. The Nine-Headed Lion's group's losses were not unjustified, because the opponents were truly powerful enough!

The creatures at the front were all creatures that he met before. There was a golden divine bird that was like a great Peng, standing on top of a mountain stone motionless. There was a violent ape, roughly ten meters in height. Its entire body was covered in black hair, and fierce teeth lined its blood mouth. It was currently beating its chest, ringing out with dong dong sounds. A White Tiger stared towards this direction with cold and gloomy pupils while emitting a terrifying aura.

Other than these individuals, there were also roughly a dozen other Archaic descendants. Each and every one of them were extremely powerful, all of them flowing with killing intent. Some of them were humanoid, blossoming with precious splendor.

They held an absolute advantage from just numbers alone. With enough power to suppress the Nine-Headed Lion and the others, there was no need to explain just how deep the cultivation realms of those creatures were, as they were powerful enough to be shoulder to shoulder with the 'restricted.'

"We only carried out some simple plans, yet you all obediently delivered your lives over. Truly well-behaved." The White Tiger spoke calmly in a cold tone.

There was a type of arrogance on its face, carrying a look of a disdain.

“Stupid cat, do you think that me and the savage child don’t know your dog fart schemes? He came over precisely to eat you guys!” The big red bird clamored loudly.

“You won’t die unless you are looking for it. You all are playing a death seeking tempo.” The little guy looked towards that group of Archaic species.

“I’ve tolerated you for a long time already. Today, I will tear you to shreds!” The Violent Ape was the first one to roar in anger.

The White Tiger shook its head and looked at the little guy. It sneered in disdain, “You are the one playing the tempo of delivering your death. Being so rude to me, there has never been a human who have lived long after doing such a thing.”

“I’ve wanted to try tiger bone soup for a while already. I am thankful for this brilliant reunion.” The little guy replied, and then looked towards that golden Luan.

From beginning to end, it did not move, nor did it make any sounds. However, none of them dared to ignore it, because its aura was too terrifying.

“You walked out from the Archaic sacred mountain, so are you truly pure blooded?” asked the little guy.

“Why does it matter?” The golden divine bird replied, shooting out strands of golden threads from its pupils, intimidating those around it.

“If you are pure-blooded, then I will make you yield and carry you out. If you aren’t pure-blooded, then I’ll directly eat you!” said the little guy. The Nine-Headed Lion, big red bird, and the others were all injured, and as a result, he was now truly angry.

Chapter 147 – Vajra Divine Force

“You are going to eat me?” The giant golden bird glanced over. Its pupils were like golden whirlpools, terrifying to the extreme. It was as if they could swallow souls.

“I... Why do I feel dizzy?” The big red bird was horrified. Currently, all of the fur on its body was standing up, and only after it shook its head fiercely did it snap out of it.

The golden divine bird’s pupils were deep, swirling like an ocean abyss. It truly seemed like it would drag out and suck in someone’s soul. If it was another creature just now, they would definitely have harbored a grudge.

It stood atop a boulder, bright golden light shining from its body. It possessed a type of innate prestige, as if it was a golden divine spirit descending into this world, overlooking the people under it.

The little guy felt his heart shiver. This giant and mystical bird was extremely powerful, and he had to constantly stay on alert; otherwise, he would definitely pay dearly for it.

“There’s not much to be said. Let me go first, I’ll tear apart this yellow monkey. I can’t stand him any longer!” The violent ape angrily roared. It strode over with large steps, and was the first one to make its move.

The great earth shook again and again, and the stones on the ground were all jolted upwards. It was ten meters tall, but the force that it trampled down with far surpassed that of its body weight. The black hair covering its body were a third of a meter in length, absolutely terrifying.

“Be careful, this Violent Ape has extraordinary strength. It possesses the Vajra divine force precious method.” The Nine-Headed Lion reminded him from the rear in a weak voice.

The Rainbow Luan [1] groaned. It was the one that suffered heavy injuries from the Violent Ape, almost being torn in half. Currently, there was blood all over its body as it laid on the ground. Within their group, it was the one that received the greatest injuries.

[tl: [1] = This is not the golden Luan that is on the powerful side. This is the one that the little guy ate a part of.]

With a hong sound, that black Violent Ape’s feet stamped down, carrying with it a domineering aura. There was even a type of coarse and wildness, as well a bit of contempt. It looked down from above with the intention of trampling the little guy alive.

It widened its mouth to reveal its fierce teeth, fierce and terrible looking. This was a type of unbridled confidence meant to humiliate. This was an indifference like a giant dragon crushing a bug, an unblockable killing force that pressed down!

Who was the little guy? He had never been humiliated by someone before, and was without a doubt powerful. His hand revealed the Suan Ni bone precious mirror, fiercely and accurately shooting out a streak of thick golden lightning. It directly smashed into the center of the Violent Ape’s foot.

Ao... The violent ape immediately roared in pain.

Even though that large, dustpan like black foot had symbols flickering about it, as a result of its arrogance and wildness, it lacked some protection. After getting struck by the lightning, the curtain of light around the center of its foot was penetrated, emitting a scorched and burnt smell.

The little guy did not give it any time to catch its breath. He charged forward, directly taking out the golden bone shears. Aiming towards the area that was scorched black, he sliced forward with a sharp divine radiance.

Blood blossomed in all directions, and the Violent Ape sustained a wound. However, he quickly responded to this unforeseen event, and a big dipper divine body protection appeared. Dark light rose dramatically, and it immediately soared high into the air. It jumped ten meters into the sky, avoiding a terrifying attack.

The Dragon Shears returned, carrying with it a string of blood. The little guy's expression was cold as he once again raised the precious mirror in his hand. A thick streak of lightning hacked towards the sky.

The Violent Ape was furious, and never thought that it would be the first one to be careless. It was actually on the defensive, and was the first one to be on the losing end.

Even though it was enormous, it was rather flexible. With a flip in the air, it traveled a few meters before dropping onto the group with a honglong sound. It smashed down with so much force that it caused the ground to rupture. A large black hand dropped down with a muffled sound, causing a boulder that was tens of thousands of jin to instantly shatter.

It was furious. Now, all of the scorn and contempt in its heart completely vanished. It retreated backwards, light emitting from its entire body. A wave of heaven overflowing black mist rushed out, forming a tornado that circled around itself.

These were Vajra symbols that contained a world shocking divine force. Its entire body began to grow dramatically, making it much taller at once. Its body reached an astonishing thirty meters, making it huge section taller than it originally was.

Hong!

The violent ape rushed over again, dark light covering its body. It was as if a black-colored clock was strapped to its body as wengweng sounds ran out. It charged over, and the ground that was stepped on immediately crack open. Giant boulders rose up, and the earth was like a tide as it surged up and down, wanting to drown out the little guy.

This was a huge wave, formed out of the black-colored symbols erupting from the the giant ape's body. There were roughly ten waves smashing forward, slamming into the little guy below.

“Open!”

The little guy shouted loudly. His two legs stamped against the ground, and silver-colored symbols began to proliferate. A precious moon appeared in the sky, wrapping itself around him; he was actually levitating in midair, as if he was a deity.

“Suppress!”

The little guy shouted loudly, continuously changing hand signs. All types of symbols appeared, and his body continuously changed. One moment, he was like a great Peng spreading its wings, another moment like a Horned Dragon breaking into the sky, then he would be like a True Devouring Moon... These were all symbols recorded within the True Primordial Record, and even though they were not precious methods, they could still allow a person to advance in their cultivation. However, when the little guy used these symbols, there was actually a type of revitalizing power!

With a loud peng sound, that black-colored wave was completely dispersed. Even though the youth in the sky was small, that type of strength was unmatched. A fist smashed forward, shaking everything between the heaven and earth.

The Violent Ape's pupils were fierce and malicious. A dustpan-like large hand swiped out, as if it was tribulation lightning striking down, wanting to squeeze the little guy into meat sauce.

Both sides began to emit light from their bodies, and a net-like pattern appeared. This was not purely the strength of the physical body, as it also had the strength of symbols inside. With both fused together, it was definitely terrifying.

Finally, they collided together. That large hand seemed like it was going to completely envelope the little guy, however, at this moment, it was actually jerking and convulsing. The Violent Ape roared angrily, feeling an incomparably sharp pain.

That small fist was like a drill bit as symbols circulated about it. It smashed into its flesh, splashing out a large amount of blood, making it frightened.

This was clearly a small body, but the force emitted was even greater than its own. After colliding together, it tore through its flesh, making it terrified.

“Open!”

The Violent Ape roared and hissed. The dark light around its body burned even more magnificently, in the end truly forming a black-colored clock. Ringing out with wengweng sounds, it shook the little guy away.

Dang

The little guy fiercely moved his palm, slapping right onto that giant black clock. A heaven shocking sound rang out, echoing for several thousand li.

“What a powerful precious method!” He was shocked. The Violent Ape’s defensive strength was astonishing. This black clock was not much different from a genuine one.

The black giant ape howled, beating its chest towards the sky. The large clock left its body, and the dark light flourished even greater. It shone towards the little guy, its aura shocking and terrifying.

This clock was too big, and its speed was extremely fast. It was difficult to avoid, and when the little guy fell onto the ground, he was surrounded and trapped by it!

Dang!

“Yellow-skinned monkey! To fight with me, I’ll kill you until even your skeleton becomes shattered!” The Violent Ape cried out while beating its large chest with both hands.

Dang, dang...

The giant clock released an ear-splitting sound. It activated the large clock, wanting to shake the little guy to death inside, transforming him into a lump of meat paste.

In reality, in the past, it always defeated powerful enemies this way. Many of its past opponents were pressed into crushed bones and bloody mist from the clock's ripples. It had yet to fail, working a hundred times out of a hundred.

However, this time, it did not immediately reveal results. The little guy was surrounded by a silver moon, and as he stood there, it was as if he had taken root while he fought against the clock's fluctuations.

"En, yellow monkey, you are quite powerful. Again!" The black giant ape suddenly roared. Its two hands continuously slapped over, this time with even more symbols poured in. The large black clock emitted light, and an ancient character appeared on its surface. It drew out the word 'seal.'

The big clock became even more terrifying, and the clock's sound waves caused all of the nearby mountain rocks to turn into fine powder. Meanwhile, the little guy in the center was surrounded by the silver moon, unaffected like before; the only difference was that his body was now swaying a bit.

"I don't believe that you can endure much longer!" The Violent Ape was furious, and its two hands began to smack around even more fiercely. Ancient characters appeared one after another, respectively: Kill, Refine, Sacrifice, etc.

The big clock emitted a strange noise, as if it was offering sacrifices to a higher being. It wanted to use the little guy as a live offering. The dark light was like a flood as it enveloped the center.

"Gorilla, is this the limit of your skill?" The little guy's entire body emitted symbols and raged with flames. Following that, they suddenly erupted, and with both his palms moving, it continuously slammed down on the same area on the large clock. Finally, with a hong sound, it directly blew up the large black clock.

The black giant ape's enormous body flew out horizontally, colliding into a stone mountain. After spitting out blood from its mouth, only after a long time did it stand up again. It roared towards the sky as it charged over.

“Divine Patterns Armament!” It roared loudly. It was truly like a glaring Vajrapani, emerging into this world to subdue demons and deities alike.

Its four limbs emitted light. The symbols formed a protective armor, appearing on its arms. Incomparably violent and tyrannical, it charged over towards the little guy.

This place immediately erupted into chaos. The Violent Ape displayed its might, and its divine strength was world shocking. It even pulled up the Stone Mountain from its roots, chucking it towards that youth.

However, what made people shocked was that that the human youth was still full of life. After being struck so firmly, he did not retreat at all. Just the strength of his physical body alone was already several tens of thousands of jin. Together with the strength of symbols, his divine might was astonishing, far surpassing any of his peers.

This region began to shake, and the two individuals exchanged about ten moves. The little guy grabbed one of the giant ape's fingers, directly beginning to swing it about. With a peng sound, the Violent Ape smashed into a stone mountain, causing stones to fly out randomly.

All of the fight's witnesses became dumbstruck. That little figure could actually swing the Violent Ape's body? This was too fake-looking, making them feel as if everything wasn't real.

The Violent Ape angrily roared. That finger was broken.

Hong

The little guy swapped and hugged a different finger, once again spinning it around and slamming it into another stone mountain. Smoke and dust rose, and giant boulders tumbled down, almost burying the Violent Ape.

“Ao...” It roared angrily. It sustained injuries in succession, and even the number of symbols decreased by a lot. Its body shunk, once again becoming ten meters in height.

The radiance in the little guy’s eyes exploded. He had no intention of showing mercy, rushing forward immediately. He locked down the Violent Ape’s body and began to pound it with all his might.

Hong

This time, he directly grabbed the huge ape's wrist and began to spin it around. Smashing it into the ground, it shook the earth until it created ten to hundred meter long cracks.

Hong

Following that, he then spun the head region, smashing the Violent Ape onto the rocky ground on the other side. It shook until the entire mountains began to tremble, creating a shocking scene.

Everyone there was dumbfounded. Just how much terrifying strength was stored in that small figure's body? He was actually this formidable, as if he was throwing a scarecrow around! He spun the ten meter Violent Ape from the east and smashed it down to the west; it was simply too terrifying.

"Stop him!"

On the other side, there were more than ten powerful Archaic descendants that suddenly moved out together. They couldn't helplessly watch the Violent Ape that was still alive get ferociously smashed to death any longer.

Immediately, there were four to five experts that rushed over. There were humanoids, vicious beasts, and even vicious birds. Their steps cracked open the earth and their wings struck the skies as they arriving together.

"Kill!"

Precious light flickered and symbols covered the sky. There were also precious artifacts pressing downwards; it was a terrifying scene.

The little guy roared loudly, not holding back at all. The golden bone shears soared into the sky, the Suan Ni precious mirror shone, and a silver moon rushed up. Countless strands of lightning danced about, and there were all types of symbols clustered together. The sky was bright and dazzling, completely drowned out by his own strength alone.

Not only did he use precious artifacts, he also used his remarkable abilities, using all of his strength to attack those few creatures.

Waves of terrifying sounds were emitted up ahead. There were sounds of precious artifacts being shattered, fierce birds wailing, and even the loud sounds of huge monsters collapsing.

The five experts that rushed over all received heavy attacks. One of the fierce beasts had its precious artifact smashed to pieces by the golden bone shears. The creature itself was also killed, its body into two pieces. Fresh blood surged as it poured out.

There was also a vicious bird that was hacked by lightning. Its entire body was scorched black, and it fled after encountering this difficult situation.

The little guy stopped and turned around. The gaze in his eyes was incomparably cold and serious. On his back were several bloody scars that flowed with blood. Even his bones were about to be exposed.

Other than those five powerful creatures, there was another expert that made its move. It chose to mount an assassination, almost tearing open his back. It far surpassed those five Archaic species, and was extremely terrifying.

The white tiger was extremely cold and unhurried. It placed the claw with blood sticking to it into its mouth, mocking with a sneer, "The flavor is not bad, it's the type of blood that I like.”

“You’re looking for death!”

The little guy took steps forward, and then abruptly broke into a run. He stepped over the Violent Ape’s body, rushing towards the White Tiger. In the end, after ten steps dropped, the Violent Ape suddenly released a heaven shocking bellow. All of the bones in its body exploded, completely shattering; it would no longer get up again.

Hou...

The white tiger also moved. Its roar shook the heaven and earth, forming an area of blazing white light. As if rushed out, it brought with it a sweeping gale. Within the brilliant splendor, it fiercely fought against the little guy as they collided again and again.

Chapter 148 – Broken Sword Beheading All Directions

The White Tiger's speed was too fast. It was like a white streak of light as it moved vertically and horizontally, bringing with it a strong gale. The hundred to thousand jin boulders were all lifted up, flying randomly within the dust and sand.

It collided together with the little guy continuously, tiger claw versus fist. Kengqiang sounds rang out, and symbols danced in the air. The surrounding boulders all soared into the air, flying outwards from the tremendous shock waves.

Hou!

The white tiger opened its mouth to roar, spitting out a boundless milky way like radiance that carried an heaven overflowing killing aura. The little guy's entire body emitted light, about to block that attack. Meanwhile, behind him, that stone mountain collapsed with a loud rumble. Soon after, it exploded, turning into fine powder.

Hong!

A white-colored large claw dropped down. The little guy avoided it, but the ground where he previously stood on immediately shattered, being sliced open. A deep ravine appeared, completely black and terrifying.

The White Tiger was powerful. It fiercely attacked, weapons covering its entire body. Even when it had its back towards the little guy, a swaying snow white tail would sweep over. It still had the power to instantly smash apart a giant ten thousand jin boulder.

This type of crazy fierceness made everyone tremble!

“The big cat went crazy! What powerful attack power!” In the rear, regardless of whether it was the big red bird, Flame Crow, Nine-Headed Lion or the others, they were all fearful.

The little guy lifted his hand to fight back, erupting with endless lightning. It flooded its way over towards the White Tiger, because he also began to fight with boiling blood.

Ao...

The White Tiger released a long hiss, spitting out an area of white symbols. It flickered with metallic luster, welcoming the lightning in midair. The two individuals erupted with blazing radiance, and the sound of metal weapons striking together were emitted, guiding all of the lightning into the ground.

According to legends, during the ancient years, the White Tiger was located in the west. Its attribute was metal, and it was in charge of assassinations. It was the most terrifying and deadly creature.

Right now, it was spitting out a metallic qi, appearing to be proving this true. It pierced through the heavens and shook the earth, even dissolving all the lightning. It channeled towards the boundless great earth, splitting open a sea of lightning.

“Fresh and powerful taste, I like it more and more.” The White Tiger shouted, its eyes ice cold. It leapt up suddenly, once again throwing itself over.

Not only was its physical body incomparably tyrannical, its cultivation realm was high as well. It was comparable to that of a 'restricted' individual, so it was definitely powerful. It used the most ferocious and forceful killing method to charge towards the little guy.

Peng

The little guy's fist smashed out, and the two individual's bodies violently shook. The symbols were like falling stars as they continuously rushed out. This area was like a volcano erupting, and even the ground began to violently tremble.

The White Tiger and the little guy retreated at the same time, once again launching their precious techniques.

Hou...

With a roar from the White Tiger, twenty eight battle spears appeared. They were silvery white and shiny, circling with symbols. They erupted with a heaven soaring killing aura, and brilliant rays of light began to flourish.

These twenty eight battle lances were formed out of tiger teeth. As they towered over the ground, they seemed like pillars that supported the heavens. Thick and cold, they gave people a strong shocking and terrifying feeling.

These enormous battle lances were the White Tiger's precious artifacts. After they were brought out, they oppressed the heaven and earth. In addition, when theses battle spears appeared, they were all polluted by blood, creating a shocking scene.

"Kill him for me!"

The White Tiger roared, throwing itself forward. The twenty eight battle spears made a u-turn, their spearheads pointing forward. They were arranged all around its body, piercing towards the little guy together.

This type of attack made people's hearts feel fear, as if the White Tiger's strength was comparable to that of a 'restricted' individual's. Just who could guard against such a powerful precious artifact within this small ancient world?

The White Tiger was imposing and heroic. The twenty eight battle spears by its side seemed as if they came out of a bloody prison, bringing with it an aura of calamity. The radiance was terrifying as it drew near.

The little guy's expression changed. He took out the Suan Ni bone mirror and fetched the dragon shears soon after. The multicolored light was bright and resplendent, revealing tens of thousands of bright streaks as they fiercely fought it out against these precious artifacts. At the same time, his body was also bathed in lightning. He used everything he had to fight the White Tiger head on, carrying out a life and death confrontation.

Hong

The symbols were bright, and the rays of light were like countless comets as they covered the sky. It flooded this area, divine energy diffusing everywhere. Countless ripples crushed the mountain stones, splitting open the mountain and making people tremble in fear.

Dang dang sounds rang out incessantly. The golden bone shears and Suan Ni precious mirror would sweep out divine light from time to time. They collided with those battle spears, and lightning interweaved.

The Archaic descendant's fierce teeth precious artifacts were all sturdy. Sparkling in the sky, a wave of heaven shocking killing aura swept over, almost twisting iron and stone into shattering. However, the little guy stood there like before, his flesh not being split open. He withstood it by attacking with precious methods.

“Go die!”

The White Tiger roared, its pupils ice-cold. It opened its mouth to spray out white light, and the twenty eight battle spears began to burn even more magnificently. Piercing the clouds and breaking through the mist, it penetrated the symbols and pressed towards the little guy's flesh.

Their great battle reached the climax. The little guy was shaken; these battle spears were too powerful! It wasn't a single spear, but rather a total of twenty eight spears, making it extremely tiresome to deal with.

Dong!

The giant spear points flew over, piercing through the ground beside him. Its might was unmatched, completely penetrating the great earth and breaking it down.

Every single battle spear was shockingly thick, as if they were giant pillars. These were already no longer thrusting weapons, but rather massive mountains that pressed down. Once you were struck, you weren't pierced through, but rather smashed into bloody paste.

Hong!

Twenty eight battle spears dropped at the same time. The little guy dodged by a hair's breadth, however, the ground that he stood on collapsed. Twenty eight dark and large holes extended out, smashing this place apart. The falling rubble battered him until he flew into the air, and as killing intent engulfed everything, there was no way for him to evade. In the end, it made contact with his body, causing blood to flow out from the corner of his mouth.

Along the way, the little guy had fought with many race's geniuses, broken and exhausted the entire time. While sweeping through his enemies, he rarely received injuries. He wiped off the blood from his mouth; the radiance in his pupils flourished, and his fighting spirit was raised.

The opposing side's cultivation realm was higher than his, and this was the terrifying reality of the situation. However, his fighting strength was heaven opposing, and he was not scared. With a qiang lang sound, the golden bone shears rushed out, separating from the little guy's side and slaughtering towards the White Tiger.

Meanwhile, the Suan Ni precious mirror also emerged, shining out more than ten streaks of lightning. They struck out in front simultaneously, surrounding the White Tiger.

With a weng sound, silver light flickered, and a layer of battle clothes appeared on the White Tiger's body. It was dazzling, and the multicolored light was blinding. Soon after, symbols covered the sky, preventing the golden bone shears and Suan Ni precious mirror from getting near.

“White Tiger Battle Clothes!” Someone cried out. Those were the battle clothes refined from the precious skin of an Archaic species. It's defensive capabilities were astonishing, and under ordinary situations, it was truly difficult to breach.

No wonder the White Tiger was so confident, it actually mastered so many terrifying precious artifacts. No matter who ended up here, within its peers, it was definitely invincible.

The dragon shears emitted light, fiercely attacking forward. In the end, it was useful, breaking apart that white light. It cut a slit through the White Tiger battle clothes, making blood trickle out.

“Such powerful precious shears!” Everyone’s expressions changed. It could actually cut through the White Tiger Battle Clothes! These golden bone shears definitely came from a shocking origin.

Even that giant golden bird that watched from the distance was astonished, carefully staring over.

Hou... The White Tiger roared in anger, its aura flourished even more. Below, the twenty eight battle spears emitted light. Killing intent overflowed into the heavens as they swept towards the little guy.

“Not good!” The little guy was shocked. These battle spears did not pierce forward, but rather stayed penetrated on the ground. However, they erupted with countless symbols, forming a killing formation; it wanted to trap him to death.

The boundless white light was like a vast body of water as it surged, submerging this area instantly. The little guy coughed out a mouthful of blood, and was swept back and forth by ten of these waves. These were all made of symbols, and were filled with the force of profound mysteries and laws.

“Come!” The little guy shouted loudly and lifted his hand. The Suan Ni precious mirror swooped down from the sky. It appeared in his hand, and the the sound of thunder immediately exploded.

At the same time, the golden bone shears also suddenly attacked from the air. It sliced apart another portion of the White Tiger battle clothes. Blood once again squirted out, and the White Tiger was injured again.

“You made me angry!” The White Tiger originally wanted to depend on its body’s absolute strength to suppress the enemy. It wanted to crush its opponent’s fighting spirit to make its own confidence seem even greater. However, in this battle, not only did its cultivation realm not suppress the little guy, it even received a heavy injury; this was unbearable!

It opened its mouth and released a long roar. Spitting out a lump of hazy light, it emitted a large multitude of propitious vapors. While rising, they created an extremely dazzling sight.

This was a beast skin pouch. The White Tiger took out its most powerful precious artifact, wanting to capture the little guy’s precious artifacts. It also wanted to suppress him within, thoroughly killing him.

Releasing the golden silk rope, the pouch’s entrance opened. Thousands of multicolored light streaks immediately appeared, as well as numerous streaks of auspicious colors. It overflowed with countless precious splendor, completely enshrouding the area below, wanting to collect everything.

“Not good!”

The little guy’s expression changed. He already previously saw how terrifying the Heaven and Earth Pouch was. Out of fear that the golden precious shears might be collected by it, he quickly withdrew it. Forming a streak of flowing light, it dropped beside his body.

The White Tiger had the precious clothes, and so it could stay in midair. Currently, it stood on top of a mountain peak, coldly speaking, “You have to understand just how petty and low you are. If I wanted to kill you, I could have finished it in an instant. Just now, I gave you a chance, and you didn’t take it. Now, I won’t waste any more time and take your life!”

It spoke in a cold and threatening tone while overlooking everything below. Opening the heaven and earth net, it wanted to deal the fatal blow!

As expected, a terrifying fluctuation diffused. The entrance of that pouch poured out inexhaustible auspicious radiance and began to swallow everything. Below, all types of enormous boulders flew up, and the little guy could no longer stand still; he was on the verge of being sucked into the net.

“Big Cat, you are asking to die!” The little guy coldly shouted. With a qianglang sound, he pulled out the broken sword from his back and pointed it towards the heavens. His arm suddenly shook, and a wave of heaven overflowing sword qi rush out immediately.

Peng

The auspicious colors being released by the Heaven and Earth Pouch was actually resisted. It did not have the ability to spread downwards, and did not suck the little guy inside.

“It’s that rotten sword?” The White Tiger was shocked. It personally saw the sword’s condition after being dug up. Being enveloped inside the ancient battlefield’s dark baleful aura, it almost completely rotted. How could it still contain this type of power?

The little guy really did not want to use it, because revealing it too early would make that giant golden bird wary. However, now that the White Tiger used the Heaven and Earth Pouch, he had no other choice.

Qiang, qiang...

The battle lance rang out with kengqiang sounds, and the twenty eight silver battle lances formed from tiger teeth shook at the same time, piercing towards the little guy. At the same time, the Heaven and Earth Pouch once again emitted light. The White Tiger exhausted all of its power to try and kill this terrifying human youth.

The little guy’s pupils were ice cold. With the broken sword in his hand, he swept out in all directions. A wave of terrifying sword aura filled the air, pouring out as if it was a tsunami. Qiang qiang sounds continuously rang out, and the twenty eight battle lances were completely chopped in half.

“Aiya, my heart hurts too much!”

While everyone was in shock, this type of sentence was heard. It sounded like someone's heart was tearing and their lungs were cracking. However, it was not the White Tiger, which made people baffled. The little guy beated his chest and stamped his feet, because he didn't think that the rusted sword's might would be so strangely great. All of the battle spears were destroyed; originally, he wanted to collect them.

The White Tiger almost spat out a mouthful of blood. That was its precious artifact, and was typically collected within its body. It truly hated to part with it and use it, yet the White Tiger didn't even shout out its heart's pain. That human youth instead shouted out so loudly, it truly angered it to death.

The little guy truly felt regretful. In his eyes, these battle lances already belonged to him. In the end, he never would have thought that the rusted sword would directly slice them right through the middle; slicing these precious artifacts was truly too wasteful.

You have to understand that he did not truly activate this broken sword! The ancient saint's artifacts are truly too terrifying!

"The Heaven and Earth Pouch is mine!" The little guy mumbled softly. His two eyes revealed a burning light as he stared at that supreme treasure. This time, he decided to take it for himself, and absolutely no mishaps can occur.

His foot stood on the Suan Ni precious mirror. Releasing rays of lightning, it soared up, rushing towards that mountain peak.

"Kill!"

The White Tiger roared angrily, and it almost went mad from anger. Its precious artifact was destroyed, yet this human youth still provoked it like this; it was unforgivable. Ordinarily, who dared to treat it like this? Those who dared to offend it were all immediately killed, becoming a pool of blood.

“It’s me who will kill you!” The little guy was extremely powerful. He grasped the broken sword as he hacked over, but he avoided the Heaven and Earth Pouch, directly aiming for the White Tiger’s body.

You are looking to die!” The White Tiger’s gaze was heavy. He dared to show such contempt towards it, avoiding its precious artifact; this was looking for the route to death. Multicolored light erupted beside it, and after spitting out with its mouth open, a precious mark flew out and smashed forward.

Everyone became astonished after seeing this. This White Tiger’s origins were definitely great; otherwise, how could it have so many precious artifacts? You have to understand that it was difficult for other geniuses to have the right to use even a single one.

Qiang!

The broken sword in the little guy’s hand immediately hacked out. This precious mark directly shattered, forming a lump of terrifying radiance.

“Aiya, my heart is so sore. Why didn’t you give me a heads up before taking out the precious artifact?!” The little guy was furious. His heart was sore and uncomfortable; another spoil of war disappeared.

Ahpu

The White Tiger couldn't take it anymore. It directly spat out a mouthful of blood out of anger. Who felt more sorrow than itself? It was so angry that its heart was about to split open, and even its stomach was in pain. The precious artifacts that it raised and refined with blood essence for all these years were ruined like this.

This battle's conclusion was already decided. The little guy avoided the the Heaven and Earth Pouch, tore through the auspicious light, and slashed forward diagonally with the broken sword.

Pu

The White Tiger howled severely. Blood gushed out, and one of its hind legs were sliced off.

“Big Red, catch it! Don’t waste any!” The little guy’s voice rang out. This was the White Tiger meat from legend, and had supplemental effects that would be shameful to waste.

He carefully controlled the broken sword, and was finally able to handle it. He did not hack the White Tiger into pieces, and once again chopped forward.

Even though the White Tiger fought back, in the end, it was still not a match. With a pu sound, it was sliced right at the waist. Its lower half fell down, blood frantically surging out.

Meanwhile, the little guy successfully seized the Heaven and Earth Pouch after the White Tiger’s divine strength lost control over it. Its symbols were drawn inside, gradually becoming dimmer. It was seized into the little guy’s hands.

“What a great treasure!” The little guy fondled it admiringly. His large eyes were like crescent moons, and as he revealed his small sparkling fierce teeth, he was incomparably happy.

“With the Heaven and Earth Pouch, I could pack up all the Archaic species within the Hundred Shattering Mountains to go and it wouldn’t be a problem.” He eyes were full of stars, and he quickly wiped away a mouthful of saliva.

The big red bird, Nine-Headed Lion, Sable, Flame Crow and the others were originally joyous and cheering, but after seeing him act like this, they immediately shut their mouths.

Hou... The White Tiger was at the end of its road. It never would have thought that it would fall here and meet this type of end.

With a weng sound, a streak of golden light rushed into the heavens. It suddenly filled the sky, and the dusky world immediately erupted with divine splendor, enveloped in divine radiance. A wave of terrifying might hid the sky and covered the earth, making the mountains, rivers, and land tremble.

The giant golden bird finally moved. It spread its wings and rose into the clouds, appearing high in the sky. It was like a golden divine spirit, overlooking everyone below.

“All of you, go and kill him!” It ordered the ten or so Archaic descendants below to kill the little guy.

“He... Has that broken sword. Our precious artifacts cannot defeat it.” These Archaic descendants were ranting and raving. That broken sword was too terrifying.

“Don’t worry. If he dares to move, I’ll take that broken sword, so give it your all and kill him!” The giant golden bird spoke with an ice cold tone. Its body seemed like it was made out of gold, emitting endless brilliance. It was incomparably terrifying, as if a divine king was overlooking the commoners.

Chapter 149 – Golden-Winged Peng

“Truly conceited!” The big red bird was speechless.

The giant golden bird soared into the sky, its body enveloped in radiance. It looked like a deity, incomparably terrifying. It carried a type of dominant aura as it looked out disdainfully everywhere.

The Nine-Headed Lion, Rainbow Luan, Flame Crow and the others were apprehensive. This creature was extremely domineering, and possessed a powerful strength to match it. That type of aura truly made people frightened.

Even the the Three Eyed Race that used eye techniques had their hearts alarmed and their bodies leaping in fear. They were not willing to look at it face to face, because that creature’s golden pupils were like soul devouring vortexes.

The little guy did not raise his head, and didn’t even look at the giant golden bird. Instead, he waved the sword, chopping towards the dim-eyed White Tiger that only had the upper half of its body left. He did not want to overlook any potential danger.

“No, you can’t kill me!” The White Tiger shouted loudly, its eyes full of dismay. There were no creatures that did not fear death, and when the final moment arrives, even a deity would feel their hearts tremble.

The little guy did not say anything. After fighting up to this point, if he softened his heart and showed reluctance now, he would only be leaving behind a great danger.

“Brother Peng, save me!” The White Tiger shouted loudly while gazing into the sky. It was turning hysterical, and its fear carried a type of madness as it begged that creature.

When everyone heard what was said, their hearts all began to develop fear. A cold air began to rise from the bottom of their hearts; they were incomparably shocked. Was this really a Peng?!

The little guy’s face was expressionless, and he was not reluctant in the slightest. The broken sword in his hand hacked down, and with a pu sound, blood splashed out. A tiger head flew out, blossoming with blood.

The White Tiger’s eyes were suffused with unwillingness. In the last second, its pupils burned vigorously, as if they were lumps of flames as they combusted. His frontal bone quickly cracked in all directions, soon after destroying its own snow white fierce teeth.

The little guy sighed. This was truly a pity. Even though the White Tiger was already falling apart, it still had enough strength to destroy its primitive symbol bone while at death’s door, making him extremely regretful.

This meant that the White Tiger race’s precious method was so close, yet it passed him!

A creature typically did not grasp many precious artifacts. The reason they were so rare and precious was precisely due to what just happened. It was extremely difficult to seize another race’s magical abilities, because all the experts from powerful species could still break their own precious bones even while facing death to prevent them from being obtained by enemies

The giant golden bird was indifferent from start to finish. It was emitting a terrifying aura, pouring out like a mountain torrent. It towered high in the sky, not rescuing the the White Tiger as it was getting slaughtered.

“Your own path is something you walk yourself. Left with only half your body, even if you live, it would still be a type of sin!” In the end, it opened its mouth. It spoke out these words, sounding extremely ruthless.

“Big Red, catch!” The little guy threw the entire White Tiger’s carcass down. He had just obtained the Heaven and Earth Pouch, and did not have any time to probe inside of it, so it was better not to directly store the White Tiger’s body inside.

“This is good stuff!” The big red bird’s saliva was gurgling. This was definitely a rare and great tonic medicine.

The little guy killed a powerful enemy, ending a great battle. He turned around and gazed towards the sky, crying out in anger, “Hateful little chicken, you made me move too anxiously, accidentally destroying the White Tiger’s battle clothes. Do you even have enough to compensate for this?”

The group of Archaic species were dumbstruck, their jaws almost dropping to the floor. What are you yelling about? This was simply too cocky, calling the giant golden bird a little chicken... Such arrogance...

It was quite possible that this truly was a Golden-Winged Peng. To actually be called this, it truly was a type of contempt and shame. The group of Archaic descendant’s gazes were all strange.

In the heavens, that giant golden bird also stared blankly. Ever since it was born, there had never been someone who made fun of it like this. This human youth simply had too much guts!

“Kill!”

A short snap rang out in the sky. When those ten Archaic descendants heard this order, they immediately rushed forward. They each took out their precious artifacts, and in that instant, birds broke into the skies and vicious beasts howled towards the moon; they all began to slaughter their way over.

The symbols were bright and resplendent. This area erupted into chaos, causing sand to fly and stones to tumble. Lightning interweaved, and flames overflowed into the heavens. All types of remarkable abilities were displayed, and any genius youth seeing this would become horrified.

The Nine-Headed Lion, big red bird, Sable, Flame Crow and the others' expressions all changed. They were truly worried. When these creatures grouped together, they were too terrifying; they had enough power to destroy the mountains and rivers.

The little guy was fearless. With the broken sword in hand, he swept across. Boundless sword qi immediately engulfed everything like an ocean wave. With a loud sound, it split apart all the precious light, stopping these magical abilities.

Moreover, the sword qi was like a waterfall as it surged and bubbled. A vast expanse of whiteness appeared, swallowing everything in front. It wanted to slice through all the enemies, completely wiping them out.

Everyone was trembling. This rusty and rotten looking sword's power was too great, and was simply impossible to defend against. If there were swept up by it, they would definitely fall apart and become a lump of meat paste.

The ten or so Archaic descendants' facial expressions immediately changed. Even if they worked together, they still couldn't block it. The precious artifact was unmatched, enough to kill them all!

A cold snort rang out from the sky. The giant golden bird began to scatter a hazy mist from its body. Its aura was frightening, as if ten thousand giant mountains were pressing down. It made people shake violently, making them acknowledge its power.

The fog curled up around itself. It opened its mouth to spit out an ash colored stone. It quickly grew in size, becoming a mountain. It unexpectedly blocked off all the sword qi.

"What kind of precious artifact is this?!" The big red bird cried out in fear. It felt absolutely terrified. With this precious mountain's appearance, it surprisingly fought off the sword's might; it was simply inconceivable.

The Rainbow Luan, Flame Crow, and the others were all shocked as well. Anyone could see for themselves just how formidable the broken sword was. This golden winged divine bird actually spat out a similarly terrifying weapon from its mouth.

The ashy mountain blossomed with auspicious multicolored radiance. It flickered with a demonic magnetic light, and as it sounded out chi la chi la sounds, it was about to directly collect the broken sword from the little guy's hands.

“It’s the Primary Magnetic Mountain!” The Nine-Headed Lion was immediately gobsmacked after seeing this. It had previously heard that this precious artifact was extremely terrifying and powerful. It specialized in subduing swords, spears, and other metallic precious artifacts.

“So powerful. That ashy mountain was originally an extremely powerful Guardian Spirit. After it was killed by someone, it was refined into a precious artifact. It possesses the same type of divine might.” The Three Eyed Race’s experts spoke out in shock. Their vertical eyes were spiritual, and could see through the precious artifact’s origins.

The broken sword in the little guy’s hand trembled, as if it was about to leave his hand. It emitted waves of kengqiang sounds after encountering a powerful wave of interference from the primary magnetic divine force.

“Collect!”

The giant golden-winged bird within the sky shouted. This was the base for its confidence in claiming that it would take responsibility. With this type of mysterious, powerful and shocking precious artifact in its possession, it was naturally fearless. It excelled at suppressing other creatures’ weapons.

“Be careful, the Primary Magnetic Mountain’s origins are great. Back then, there were many experts that all encountered disasters because of it!” The Nine-Headed Lion shouted, giving out its warning.

This was definitely not some ordinary precious artifact, and it even made quite a few of the powerful Archaic species a bit jealous. You have to understand that these creatures all surpassed these youth.

The little guy's sword shook, and the sword qi became vast and boundless. The vast qi surged violently, and was not one or two streaks of sword qi, but rather an expanse. It was like a mountain torrent as it smashed towards the sky, creating a rumbling sound.

The sky erupted with endless lumps of light before exploding. The sword qi collided together with the Primary Magnetic Light, and it was as if a raging inferno collided with dry firewood. The flames burned fiercely, inciting chaos between the heaven and earth.

Even though this Primary Magnetic Mountain was not an Archaic artifact, it was still far more terrifying than the precious artifacts people normally see. It can be said that it was a most precious treasure.

In the past, there was a Guardian Spirit that shook the great earth. It swept away everything before it, giving itself the title Primary Magnetic Mountain. It suppressed everything, and was absolutely unparalleled. In the end, however, it was defeated by a great golden Peng. It was ripped apart, and its defeat resulted in its death, as well as being turned into a precious artifact.

The primary magnetic rays flew about, and every streak that shot out had the power to pierce through an expert, turning them into mush. It could even capture precious artifacts to extract their essence energy and use it for itself.

The broken sword was an Archaic device, and carried an inconceivable past. Even though it was broken, it was still extremely powerful. When these two top level precious artifacts clashed together, it naturally created an incomparably intense situation.

The giant golden-winged bird was shocked. This precious artifact from its clan that could break through everything somehow couldn't do anything to that ancient sword; in all these years, this was the first time such a thing has happened.

The little guy also shivered. The opponent's precious artifact was truly heaven defying. It was actually able to forcefully withstand the Archaic device, it really was something rarely seen.

“Kill!”

Up ahead, when the group of Archaic descendants saw this situation, they all ran over and attacked the little guy together.

“This grandpa is coming! I'm going to stake it all against you guys!” Upon seeing this, the big red bird wanted to rush over and support the little guy. The reason was because it was difficult to tell the results of the little guy's fight with the golden divine bird. Now that a group of powerful species wanted to come over as well, it would most likely only lead to disaster.

The Nine-Headed Lion, Sable, Flame Crow, and the others also struggled to stand up. They prepared themselves to move out, because if the little guy lost, then they would all definitely die. Now, they had to fight with everything they had.

“You all stand back!” The little guy shouted. Unexpectedly, he blocked off everyone.

Hong!

His entire body emitted light, and lightning interweaved. A silver moon appeared, and the broken sword began to shake with a rumbling sound. Sword qi increased dramatically, forcing the Primary Magnetic Mountain back, and after breaking out of this situation, it slashed its way forward.

“Suppress and kill!” The giant golden bird shouted. It also used all of its strength to make the ashy magnetic mountain flourish, and an even more terrifying divine might descended, blocking that broken sword.

The mountain revealed its might. Sure enough, it began to work, once again throwing the sword qi into chaos. However, like before, it was a bit slower, and couldn’t block everything.

An Archaic descendant was caught up in the sword qi, causing it to directly explode and turn into a bloody mist. The other dozen creatures were all horrified, all of them stopping before immediately retreating.

Wasn’t the sword stopped? How could it suddenly burst with power? All of the Archaic descendants were ranting and raving, none of them daring to act blindly without thinking again.

The giant golden divine bird seemed to be cold and indifferent. It hissed towards the sky before diving down, and that Primary Magnetic Mountain descended with it. Tens of thousands of propositions vapors streaked out, surrounding the broken sword in an attempt to stop it.

The little guy’s lips had a hint of a sneer. Facing towards the sky, he began to fight a great battle with the divine bird.

Hong

The broken sword emitted light as it collided together with the Primary Magnetic Mountain. It was like raging waves beating against a shore, and it was also as if the heavens were falling and the earth was splitting. Boundless beams of light enveloped the land, creating rumbling noises.

Meanwhile, the giant golden-winged bird swooped past with the Primary Magnetic precious artifact protecting its body. Soon after, a giant golden claw dropped, swiping towards the little guy.

Peng

The little guy did not get pushed back at all. The broken sword matched the magnetic mountain, and his left palm blocked that giant claw. The two individuals exchanged moves, and in the sky, it seemed as if lightning struck down. Rumbling sounds rang out, and countless symbols erupted.

The giant golden bird released a long hiss and rushed into the sky. An odd expression was revealed in its eyes. Its accomplishments in symbols were deeper than its opponent, and its cultivation realm was also greater, yet it could not slap that human youth into bloody paste.

The little guy shivered inwardly. This giant golden bird was terrifying after all, far surpassing the White Tiger; it was definitely a formidable opponent.

“Mountain chicken, you aren’t pure-blooded, yet you’re stronger than an Archaic species. Exactly what type of background do you have?” He asked while holding the broken sword in his hands.

“It’s a half-blooded golden Peng!” From the rear, the Nine-Headed Lion opened its mouth, revealing how powerful the bird’s bloodline was. In fact, it was also trying to walk down this path in hope it might become a pure-blooded Nine-Headed Lion as well one day.

“Half-blooded golden Peng, it’ll definitely be extremely delicious!” The little guy spoke. The broken sword pointed towards the heavens, and at that second, its aura became completely different.

“Back up, all of you!” The giant golden-winged bird in the air shouted. Its entire body lit up, wanting to use its ultimate magical ability to obliterate the little guy.

After it spoke like this, not only did those ten or so Archaic beasts quickly charge into the distance, even the big red bird and its group also hastily retreated. This area will inevitably become a land of disaster.

The little guy's fighting spirit became even stronger as well. With a loud shout, his body seemed to be transparent. All of the divine essence energy in his body boiled, and soon after, it completely poured into that broken sword.

With a weng sound, the sword seemed as if it awoke from a deep slumber. It transformed into a blazing sun, and the brilliant rays flourished even more magnificently. Sword qi overflowed into the heavens, erupting out like a sea.

The sword's current divine might was unfathomable. Previously, the little guy still held back a bit for precisely this moment. He suddenly activated it with the intention of killing that golden-winged Peng.

The golden-winged peng released a long cry. An intimidating look appeared in its eyes as it quickly rushed up into the heavens. Using the Primary Magnetic Mountain to defend itself, it had to be mentioned that its speed was simply too fast, actually avoiding this disaster.

This type of lightning speed made the big red bird shiver coldly; it knew that it was no match for this speed.

"The Peng kind are truly one of the world's fastest creatures!" The little guy said to himself. His heart became increasingly vigilant.

“You are very powerful, and you even obtained a rather formidable precious artifact. However, like before, it is still not enough, and I will take your life today!” The golden-winged giant bird spoke with a callous tone in the sky.

Hong

Suddenly, divine flames overflowed into the heavens. The golden radiance became even more terrifying. That giant bird was not the only one emitting light, as there was another fan. Its entire body was golden as it burned fiercely.

“Archaic device!” There was a creature that cried out in alarm. This was a golden golden fan, its feathers brilliant like a blazing sun. When the divine tide erupted, this precious artifact already began to display its might.

“It was refined from the wing of a Golden Crow! What a powerful precious artifact!” Everyone became incomparably frightened.

The large flames overflowed into the heavens as it surged, immediately creating boiling magma on surface of the great earth. Red waves soared into the heavens as they poured towards the little guy. It carried a world-shocking divine might as it tried to drown out the little guy.

“Open for me!” The little guy loudly shouted as he stood on the Suan Ni precious mirror. Electricity danced about, rushing high into the sky. The broken sword hacked into the sky, slicing through the boundless waves of flames towards the golden-winged Peng!

“Kill!”

The golden-winged giant bird shouted and swooped over. The Primary Magnetic Mountain pressed down, interfering with that broken sword. The golden precious fan suddenly began to flap, sweeping downwards. The fluctuations it created were terrifying to the extreme.

The two individuals collided, and with a honglong sound, countless rays of light submerged the heavens and the earth. No one there could open their eyes.

Only after a long time later did the rays of light disperse, allowing the people to open their eyes to see what was going on. The little guy's entire body was tattered and worn out. There were quite a few places that had been burned by the fiery light, and blood was dripping out of his mouth.

The golden-winged Peng was in a just as unpleasant situation. Its golden feathers were drooping, and there was a wound on its chest. Fresh blood was gushing out.

"So powerful ah!" The little guy sustained some injuries that couldn't be considered light. His physical body was quite powerful, yet today, he was actually almost shaken into pieces.

The giant golden bird was similarly stunned. Its precious fan was obtained from the Divided Treasure Cliffs, and was a device left behind by an Archaic saint. Even though it was already damaged, no matter now you looked at it, it should still be better than that broken sword right? Why was it that it couldn't completely block it, and it still encountered a streak of sword qi?

If it were not a creature with a powerful body that was already on its way towards being a pure-blooded existence it would have immediately exploded.

The golden-winged Peng cried out. Its cultivation realm was higher than the little guy's, and there were two world shocking precious artifacts in its possession, yet it still couldn't kill the other party. This was unforgivable.

If this human youth was swapped for the White Tiger, it believed that it would have immediately been killed. This human youth was actually stronger than that White Tiger by that much!

“Kill!”

The golden-winged Peng spread its wings and took off into the sky, once again swooping over with both of its precious artifacts. The Primary Magnetic Mountain blocked the broken sword; it didn't matter if it didn't completely block it, because as long as it could hold it off, it was enough. It used all of its strength to activate the golden wing. It was rumored that this precious artifact contained the feathers of a pure-blooded Golden Crow's feathers. Even though it was damaged, its might was still unparalleled.

The little guy roared. He encountered a truly great enemy. The opponent had two precious artifacts that were both comparable to Archaic devices. At this moment, he also fought with everything he had.

The stronger the opponent, the stronger the broken sword became. It once again emitted light, and the rusted marks unexpectedly began to come off. It revealed a portion of jet-black sword blade, and the sword radiance began to burn even more magnificently.

“What? It still can become more powerful?” The golden-winged Peng felt a wave of fear. It noticed that the more it pressured down, the more terrifying that sword became. If this continued, then it would truly be difficult to imagine the result. A dark cloud began to form in its heart.

Earlier, when the little guy sliced down the White Tiger with the sword, the giant Golden-Winged Peng stared coldly with the eyes of a bystander. It assessed the power of the sword, and as a result became confident in its victory.

However, now that the battle reached this point, it already surpassed the limit of that sword’s previous power several times, and it was truly becoming more and more terrifying!

“This lord will cut you down, killing you right here!” The golden-winged Peng shouted loudly. Light blazed about its entire body, releasing all of its hidden potential. It wanted to kill the little guy immediately, because it felt that the longer this fight was dragged out, the worst the situation would become.

The golden-colored precious fan emitted light, forming a giant divine wing. Hanging in the air horizontally. It fanned downwards, and not only was there a god-like flame, there was also electric, as well as other types of terrifying symbols.

The little guy's black hair fell down vertically, and his eyes were like lightning. The corners of his lips flowed with blood, and they were facing towards the sky. The broken sword in his hand erupted with a beam of light, as if it came from a volcano, hacking towards that divine wing.

With a weng sound, that ashy mountain dropped. It began to fiercely interfere, affecting that sword's power.

With a hong sound, the three precious artifacts erupted, making the heavens endlessly terrifying. Fiery light, sword qi, primary magnetic divine force, and others flourished, turning the land into ruins.

The little guy coughed blood. With a loud shout, he began to fight fiercely with the golden-winged Peng. The giant bird's body also received an injury, gushing out blood.

This battle was incomparably fierce. The one who cowered first becomes the one that was killed first. They could only press forward and fight this bloody battle to the end.

The little guy was extremely tired from all this fighting. The opponent had two terrifying precious artifacts, and he was tired of dealing with them. He really wanted to take out the heaven and earth pouch and try out its power. However, he just obtained it and hadn't refined it yet, making it difficult to control.

"Kill!"

The little guy took out the broken sword, using it to rush into the sky. It hacked towards the divine wing and primary magnetic mountain.

“Come, I’m waiting!” The giant golden bird howled. Meanwhile, it also activated the two precious artifacts to suppress the little guy’s Archaic device. Meanwhile, it attacked towards the little guy personally.

The precious artifacts fought it out, while the two individuals began to attack each other in close combat.

The golden Peng was a half-blooded divine bird, moreover, its cultivation realm was higher. Its accomplishments in symbols surpassed that of the little guy as well, and as a result, the amount of strength it displayed was absolutely terrifying.

However, the little guy’s physical body was absolutely tyrannical. It was enough to fight a true Archaic vicious beast youth, and could even capture or kill one.

As a result, their battle was dangerous and fierce as blood splashed out. They were evenly matched, and all the creatures watching were incomparably mind-blown.

The Golden-Winged Peng was inwardly shocked. This human youth was definitely holding back before, and only displayed his true fighting prowess now. His physical body was simply too unreasonable, and was definitely comparable to that of a pure-blooded divine beast.

“Kill!”

After fighting to this extent, there was already no route for retreat. The Golden-Winged Peng's two eyes changed into two golden spirals, as if they could swallow people's souls. It wanted to tear the little guy's mind and spirit into pieces.

Hou... The little guy shouted out. He spat out a wave of extremely powerful essence energy. It combined together with lightning, striking towards the golden Peng's two eyes.

Hong

Divine light burst forth. The electric radiance and the golden spirals burned together, creating a shocking scene!

With a shua sound, the golden wing hacked down. It was even sharper than a blade from heaven, and was really a great peng wing. Golden colored symbols filled the sky, and it was incomparably terrifying.

“Open!”

The little guy shouted loudly. His right leg was winded back, and then it fiercely kicked out. At the same time, a multitude of divine light streaked out, colliding with that divine wing. Rumbling sounds sounded out, and all types of symbols interweaved together densely.

The two individuals both flew out backwards. The little guy's gaze was penetrating. The golden winged divine bird felt a sharp pain in its wings. If not for its high cultivation realm and symbols to mitigate the damage, it might have suffered a wound.

The little guy shivered. If it were any other Archaic species, they definitely would have been shattered by his powerful kick. This giant golden bird actually blocked it with force; he really did encounter a real opponent after all.

At this moment, he felt an incomparably longing. If his cultivation realm was a bit higher, then this battle definitely would not be so arduous. He really wished to become more powerful!

“Kill!”

The golden Peng’s two wings flapped, and it directly swooped down from the clouds. Another fierce attack was being carried out, and a golden giant claw was stretched forward with the intention of tearing the little guy into pieces.

Chapter 150 – Defeat of the God-like Peng

The Golden-Winged Peng swooped down with dazzling sharp claws. It was intimidating as it swiped down, emitted waves of sharp whistling sounds!

Not to mention a flesh and blood human, even solid iron and stone or mountain tops would be clawed to pieces. The large golden claw was terrifying to the extreme.

The little guy's black hair fluttered behind him, blasted back by a strong gale. Electricity flickered within his two eyes, and while standing on the Suan Ni precious mirror, he directly took off into the sky.

Dang!

He fiercely contested with his fist. Symbols erupted between the two individuals, and it was as if a volcano was bubbling out, creating a vast and boundless light.

This was a showdown between their symbols' divine might, as well as a contest of physical strength. The two sides were evenly matched, and it was difficult to determine who would win. They both flew out horizontally.

The golden Peng had the edge in symbols, as its accomplishments in them were more profound. As long as it attacked, there would inevitably be golden multi-colored light covering the sky and loud rumbling noises. Meanwhile, the little guy's forte was that its physical body was formidable, comparable to that of a heavenly ranked pure-blooded vicious beast youth.

Even though they had just separated, the Golden-Winged Peng immediately made a u-turn. Its aura burned even more vigorously, and golden symbols flickered all about its body. Those feathers seemed like they were cast out of gold. They were full of authenticity, erupting at this time.

Chi chi chi...

This area became a sea of gold, creating a storm of feather arrows. The Peng swooped down, all of its feathers opened outwards. Quite a few left its body, shooting down towards the little guy.

The wind made wuwu sounds, and the feathered arrows were bright. Each plume feather was several meters long, as if they were golden spears. They were extremely shocking as they broke through the sky with thunder-like sounds.

The little guy's expression changed. His two hands moved, and a silver moon appeared. Within it, there was a palace, an ancient tree, and a Green Sky Peng. It burst forth with divine light, flying out forward.

This was still not enough. His two hands continuously emitted light, creating dense symbols. Silver disks flew out one after another, and everything in front of him was completely submerged in silvery white. Silver moons filled the sky, making it extremely bright and resplendent.

In addition, every single precious moon was rotating. They paired up, once again forming a silver millstone disk as they crushed the numerous golden feather arrows in the sky.

Kacha kacha sounds rang out, and a few of the golden feathers broke. There were also some that passed through the silver disk, directly arriving in front of the little guy. He used his palm to break it, creating keng qiang sounds.

If he was swapped out for anyone else, that individual would have found them impossible to deal with. Even a Violent Ape's powerful flesh would inevitably be pierced through, becoming a golden hedgehog. However, the little guy was actually able to avoid this disaster.

The Peng released a long hiss, because it was extremely unsatisfied. The golden feathers circled around as they filled the sky, all of them once again covering its body. Like before, the golden light was absolutely dazzling.

"Mountain chicken, are you done yet? It should be my turn!" After constantly being assaulted by the golden Peng's spontaneous attacks, the little guy's anger boiled. While standing on the Suan Ni bone mirror, he soared into the sky.

In his left hand appeared a silver moon, and in the right appeared a large area of electric light. Following that, the two sides combined, fusing together into a golden divine moon. Within it, there was an Archaic Devil Bird that was crying out.

Hong

This was a layering and mixing of precious methods. A golden sea of lightning boiled, condensing into a spherically shaped ball of lightning before blending into the silver moon. The golden Sky Peng inside [1] of it flew out and slaughtered its way over.

[tl: [1] = This is the Peng inside the silver moon, not the same one that the little guy is fighting.]

The Peng immediately became angry. The devil bird in that silver moon resembled itself, and unexpectedly becoming an extremely sharp and effective weapon. It spread its wings and soared while emitting light from its entire body. It transformed into a streak of radiance and swooped over.

Hou!

The golden Peng roared, and actually shook the mountains and rivers with its cry. It wasn't like the sound of a bird species at all, and as golden symbols interweaved, they formed a golden divine sword. It was incomparably sharp, and rays of light rushed into the heavens.

This was its precious method, representing its power and fierceness. There was nothing it couldn't overcome, shattering everything!

In reality, the true pure-blooded Peng was indeed like this. It was known as a deity, being titled the king of the Archaic creatures. It was invincible, and it was truly rare for it to meet an opponent.

The golden divine sword emitted light. The blazing light was shocking, and the sword seemed to be burning as it sliced forward. It was dazzling, and as the sky shook, it was as if it was severed by the sword!

Qiang

That golden divine moon erupted. Lightning interweaved, creating an astonishingly powerful defense. It collided with the divine sword, creating a kengqiang sound.

If it were not for the fact that the little guy's cultivation advanced after coming here, resulting in an improvement in his strength and comprehension of symbols, as well as his non-stop efforts to understand and evolve his two precious methods, furthermore combining them together, he would have most likely have had difficulty dealing with the divine sword.

After all, the other party originated from an ancient race, inheriting an extraordinary inheritance. Its precious method was shocking, and was rarely seen under the heavens. The little guy lacked these types of inside connections and inheritance, and had to depend on itself. He had to slowly comprehend his way up from the Green Scaled Eagle to the Suan Ni precious bone.

However, this type of comprehension was definitely extremely deep and profound. He explored and probed bit by bit to comprehend and unravel precious artifacts. This was extremely good towards his future.

Qiang!

The golden-colored divine sword sliced out, as if there wasn't a single stronghold it couldn't overcome, and that divine moon was split open. However, it was precisely because of this that it was so terrifying. It was a spherically shaped lightning, so after it was attacked like this, it completely exploded.

Hong!

Lightning shot into the heavens, and this area became densely covered in symbols. The lightning was like a vast body of water as it poured down in torrents, directly smashing down from that divine moon and overflowing the sky.

The divine sword sustained damage, and cracks appeared on it. Kacha sounds were emitted.

At the same time, the Archaic Devil Bird created from the divine moon spread its wings and took to the skies. It was covered in green feathers, but soon after it blazed with gold again. It rushed out and continuously grew bigger.

Kacha

This Green Sky Peng's talon broke apart the already cracking golden divine sword, and then dove down toward the golden Peng. The two individuals' figures were the same, both of them releasing terrifying auras.

The Peng was furious. This was a type of humiliation. He actually used this type of precious technique, forming something that resembled it like this. It made its golden pupils even more sharp and penetrating.

Chi

It opened its mouth to spray out a golden light. Swooping down from the sky, they violently traded attacks. The sky immediately erupted with terrifying golden storms as the two individuals violently clashed together.

Hong!

In the end, an expanse of gorgeous and terrifying divine light flew across the sky. The world became momentarily peaceful, and all precious techniques disappeared.

The Golden-Winged Peng looked out disdainfully from the corner of its eye. A few plume feathers fell, soaring into the vast sky. Their radiance did not decrease at all.

The little guy stood on top of the precious mirror. His face carried a serious expression, because he really did meet a formidable opponent after all. After fighting up to this point, they could tell without seeing the outcome of this battle that this going to be a bitter struggle.

“Kill!”

The two individuals seemed to have shouted out at the same time, and they once again charged towards each other.

The Golden-Winged Peng’s pupils were terrifying, forming two golden vortexes. It tore at the little guy’s divine essence energy, wanting to swallow it while he was still alive. Meanwhile, its two wings rose dramatically in power. Golden light blazed even more vigorously, as if it were a pair of hands that clapped together, shaking the land below until all the mountains began to split open.

The divine force of the great Peng's wings was unrivalled. During the archaic years, they once massacred deities. They rarely met true opponents and lived in this world arrogantly.

The little guy acted out violently. Divine radiance erupted from within his pupils, and his two palms met his opponent head on. They carried the ordinary symbols recorded within the True Primordial Record, giving birth to the profound mysteries that he himself understood. The force of the palms were heaven shocking.

Honglonglong. The two individuals collided, and the clouds in the sky were even scattered. They fought fiercely high up in the sky.

This was a fierce battle between dragons and tigers. Blood scattered about, and golden feathers withered. The two individuals both received injuries, but contrary to what one might expect, the battle actually became even more vicious. With no thought for personal safety, they fought together ferociously.

Chi

The large golden claw stretched down. The little guy dodged, and then he suddenly. He climbed up the Peng's claw limb, striking the great Peng in the abdomen. The palm strike was like a rainbow, carrying with it an extremely penetrating force.

Blood gushed out, and the great Peng's abdomen took the strike. It cried out in anger, and its entire body emitted light. Symbols covered the sky, erupting in a sea of gold, and its abdomen shining even greater. With a hong sound, it sent the little guy flying, making him cough out blood.

During this battle, neither of them could cower. After fighting up to this point, it was either life or death. If they ran here, then it would not be a small blow to their confidence, and it would be extremely difficult to walk out of that shadow.

The great battle continued, and it was as if two lumps of light were colliding. Precious techniques rushed out, and their bodies clashed fiercely. This was a crazy battle immersed in blood.

A long time had already passed. They had exchanged at least a few hundred times, and both of them sustained many severe injuries. However, they still persisted on, because the first one to drop their fighting spirit would inevitably lose and die.

The Golden-Winged Peng continuously struck out fiercely. Its entire body was ignited, and there were faint golden drops of blood falling down. However, the more it fought, the braver it became, almost as if it was suppressing the little guy by attacking.

They fought from the sky down onto the ground, and then from the ground into the abyss. In the end, they rose into the sky, once again standing in the heavens. The Peng held the advantage, adding many more wounds to the little guy's body. The most ferocious attack was a strike from its talon that almost tore apart his abdomen. Blood was gushing out from there, and his intestines almost spilled out.

Fortunately, the little guy's body was astonishing. After sucking in a deep breath, divine light circulated and the wound quickly closed, and blood no longer flowed.

The fierce battle was coming to an end. The two individuals were beyond tired, especially the Golden-Winged Peng. Its symbols were no longer brilliant, and its speed was not that fast anymore either.

Right at that moment, the little guy erupted. Golden light were flushed out in disorder all over his body, urging the lightning to rush into the sky. It began to oppress and strike the Golden-Winged Peng.

"I've endured you for a long time already. This fight should come to a close!"

Even though he was also extremely tired, and his symbols were no longer as magnificent as before. His body was incomparably powerful, and this was his strong point; it hadn't changed from start to finish.

Meanwhile, symbols were where the Golden-Winged Peng was dominant, but after using them up until now, they were already weak. Now that the little guy erupted, it was naturally going to be a fatal blow.

This time, he grabbed the Peng's golden claw, and with a jump, he arrived at its abdomen. It was the same area as before, and it was struck fiercely.

Hong

Blood squirted out, and the Peng cried out in fury. The wound it received was extremely serious, and a bloody hole appeared within its belly, causing its feathers to flutter about in the air. Golden light once again sparkled around its body, attacking towards the little guy in an attempt to strike him flying.

The little guy grabbed onto its feathers and jumped up. With a turn, he landed on the Peng's back and began to use precious methods to viciously attack!

The golden Peng angrily cried out. Its body radiated light, and ancient golden symbols began to arrange themselves. They surrounded its body in an attempt to refine the little guy.

The little guy naturally also exhausted everything he had. He used all of his strength to resist it, and then he blasted towards the Peng's back with all his might. At this moment, the two individuals were both emitting light. Their symbols were used to defend while their physical bodies staked everything. Blood flew everywhere.

Below, all of the Archaic species were stunned. They never thought that this fight would last this long. It was too fierce and terrifying, and if it were them up there, they would have died long ago, exploding in this world.

“Kill!”

The little guy was incomparably valiant. He was being suppressed by the golden symbols and coughed out a mouthful of blood, yet he hugged onto the Peng's neck. His two arms exerted force, and almost disconnected its neck.

With a hong sound, the golden symbols rushed out, and all of its feathers turned upside down. The Peng protected its body, not allowing him to attack its neck.

“Get out of the way!” The little guy roared and cocked his fist back before smashing towards the Peng’s head. He carried out the most fierce killing blow.

“Refine!” The Peng also roared loudly. The symbols that filled the sky interweaved and condensed together, all of them enveloping its head and neck region. They were wrapped around the little guy, wanting to refine him.

Peng, peng...

The little guy waved his fist, smashing into that golden head. Every single strike carried a force exceeding 300,000 jin, enough to split open mountains and shatter boulders.

The Peng’s head emitted light. Symbols protected it, and a huge volume of golden symbols surged over and wrapped themselves around the little guy, trying to frantically kill and refine him.

They were fiercely competing to see who could last until the end. They crazily attacked each other, because the one that revealed the smell of defeat would be the one to die!

Hong!

It had to be said that the little guy's physical body strength was matchless. The more he fought, the braver he got. On the other hand, the Peng was about to run out of gas. The two of them exchanged over eight hundred rounds, and it was spiritually and physically weary as its symbols gradually dimmed.

"I want to eat chicken stewed with mushrooms!" The little guy roared angrily, and the strength of his fists became stronger and stronger as it struck the curtain of light. It shook the golden Peng until it coughed out large mouthfuls of blood.

Below them, all of the Archaic species were in shock. Exactly what kind of background did this human youth have? How could his physical body be this ridiculously powerful? Even the half-blooded Peng who was half a cultivation realm higher wasn't his opponent! This was too terrifying!

Peng

Another fist was sent out. The giant golden bird's body swayed, and it sprayed out large mouthfuls of blood from its mouth. It was on the verge of falling out of the sky.

It knew that it lost, and wasn't his opponent as it roared angrily towards the sky. The precious artifacts that were duking it out in the sky emitted light before falling down together.

The broken sword, Golden Crow Wing, and Primary Magnetic Mountain fought until now. Light rays blazed brilliantly, and they were extremely shocking.

"Come back, chop him to death!" The golden Peng shouted furiously.

The Primary Magnetic Mountain was close to it like its own flesh and blood, because it had been personally refined for more than ten years. It had that Golden Crow Wing for a few days as well, and could control it, so they both returned.

The little guy was fearless. He also had the broken sword for a few days, refining it for several days within the Divided Treasure Cliffs. He could also control it, and as a result he met this great enemy head on.

Fiery light overflowed into the heavens. The Golden Crow Wing erupted with even more power. The Primary Magnetic Mountain also went crazy, disturbing the entire area.

However, right at this moment, that broken sword also underwent a strange change. Clanking sounds rang out, and it seemed like it had been slowly awakening while being oppressed. A large chunk of rust fell off, and its might instantly increased by a large amount.

This made the golden Peng feel dread. Its two precious artifacts were actually no longer a match for it. Meanwhile, that broken sword seemed as if it still didn't reach its peak, because there were still a large area of rust on it. If it was stimulated to the point where all of the rust completely fell off, just how terrifying would it become?

“Oppress!”

The Golden Peng's heart felt a huge fear, and it no longer wanted to zealously continue fighting. Even if it ended up feeling a shadow in its heart afterwards, it would still be better than immediately dying here. It called back its two precious artifacts and descended, wanting to send the little guy flying to make it easier to flee.

During the Archaic years, a flap from the Golden-Winged Peng's two wings could cut open space. It would emit loud screaming sounds between the stars and rivers, and with its extreme speed, there weren't many creatures that could match it.

As long as it was given the opportunity to spread its wings into the sky, it would definitely be able to quickly flee, and a human youth would not be able to chase after it.

Fiery light overflowed into the heavens as it scattered down. However, it was actually forced apart by the broken sword, making it difficult to hurt the little guy. The sword's might grew increasingly magnificent, and its sword qi poured out like an ocean.

However, none of them noticed that while the broken sword, Primary Magnetic Mountain, and Golden Crow Wing fought, it startled another object.

On the little guy's hair, there was a small pagoda that wasn't even an inch tall. It was sparkling and transparent, like an extremely pure jade. It was exceptionally beautiful, and at this moment, it gave off a glimmer, and was unexpectedly swallowing the flame essence, sword qi, and primary magnetic light quietly.

This area was bright and resplendent, and the entire region was submerged. As a result, even the little guy and the big Peng who were fighting didn't notice.

However, those three precious artifacts noticed. The Golden Crow Wing was startled, and it noticed that something abnormal was happening. With a slight tremble, it turned into a streak of fiery light before flying into the sky with extreme speed.

"What?!" Everyone there became shocked. That Archaic device actually left the battlefield and fled, disappearing into the horizon with a flash.

"My precious artifact!" The little guy's heart felt awfully sore.

At the same time, that primary magnetic mountain also lightly trembled. It rushed into the heavens, also wanting to escape.

The great Golden-Winged Peng was shocked. Why was this happening? His own precious artifacts fled, ignoring its control. That Golden Crow Wing in particular was something it had just obtained, so if it ran away, it would mean that recollecting it would be nearly impossible.

“Don’t go!” The little guy shouted angrily while moving the broken sword. It hacked out a streak of radiance towards the primary magnetic mountain. After letting one go, he did not want to miss out on another one.

However, there was another thing that he forgot. The broken sword shook off quite a bit of rust and exploded in strength. As a result, it had enough power to oppress the other two’s precious artifacts. Now that it was focusing all of its strength on one of them, its destructive force was simply too terrifying.

The Primary Magnetic Mountain was hacked into pieces, exploding in the sky. Rays of light flew about in chaos, and after dividing into ten pieces, they dropped onto the ground.

“Aiya, this is angering me to death! It hurts too much!” The little guy’s eyes spewed out flames. It was such a great precious artifact, yet it was destroyed like so. His heart and lungs were sore, and he felt an incomparable sorrow.

The Peng’s heart felt even more sore than he did, and was so angry it coughed out blood. However, it did not lose all reason, and taking advantage of the little guy’s moment of wrath, it saved its energy and suddenly erupted. Light shone all over its body, sending him flying. Following that, it flapped its wings with the intention of taking off into the skies.

“Mushroom and chicken stew, where are you going?!” The little guy shouted. After scaring away the Golden Crow Fan, he also hacked apart the Primary Magnetic Mountain. If he then allowed the Golden-Winged Peng to leave, then it would truly have been a waste of a fight.

The broken sword flew over. The little guy held it in his hands, and once again understood its power. He carefully controlled it, hacking out a streak of brilliant sword radiance that tore open the vast sky.

Pu

Golden light splashed out, and the golden divine bird wailed. A giant wing was sliced off, and it dropped down onto the great earth. Its end was already inevitable.

Chapter 151 – Swept Clean

With a peng sound, a golden wing fell onto the ground. It was a half-blooded Peng wing that shattered the mountain stones. Being more solid than iron and stone, the wing had an immeasurable divinity.

Ah...

The golden-winged peng cried out. It actually lost, moreover so miserably. It fell onto the ground, causing faint golden blood to splash out. It smashed open a crater in the ground with cracks extending out ten to a hundred meters.

“Quickly stop the bleeding, don’t waste any!” The big red bird was extremely regretful. It rushed forward, because that was precious flesh and blood medicine.

The little guy was ruthless, and while stepping on the Suan Ni bone mirror, he already swooped down. With the broken sword in hand, he hacked down. Now that the life and death battle had already reached this point, there was no way he would be lenient now.

“No... Ah!” The Peng cried out in anger and its golden pupils widened.

The little guy was cold and callous. The sword qi in his hands were like a rainbow, directly sweeping over.

The golden light around the Peng’s body was bright, and its feathers were brilliant. Its frontal bone cracked open, and the inside of its body exploded; it destroyed its own symbolled bone!

The little guy sighed. He was full of regret, because the great Peng race's supreme precious method brushed past him like this. It made him feel helpless, but there truly wasn't anything he could do about it.

Pu

The sword qi was like a rainbow as it streaked across. A huge golden head flew out diagonally. It carried with it a large streak of blood as it fell onto the ground.

It was clear without even looking that carefully that all of the symbolled bones in the great Peng's body were split open.

The half-blooded divine bird lost just like this, making the group of Archaic species feel as if everything that happened wasn't real. Such a powerful Golden-Winged Peng was actually not a match for a human youth!

Flee!

More than ten Archaic descendants turned around and fled, moreover fleeing in all directions. They were scattered as they ran; that youth was too savage, and they couldn't use force to fight back.

Everything happened in the middle of lightning and flames. The little guy's reaction was fast, and after taking care of the golden Peng, he used all of his strength to use the broken sword, hacking towards that region.

The broken sword revealed its power. The sword radiance was like a sea as it surged violently. It hacked that area apart instantly, causing rocks to fly in all directions and dust to rise into the sky.

This sword's might was too great. The fleeing group of Archaic species received the attack at once, and two of them were directly sliced apart. The remaining creatures' bodies stumbled, and since they were lucky enough to avoid being hit, they quickly fled.

“Chase! Don't let a single one go!” The little guy shouted loudly. If news regarding today's events were transmitted outwards, then it would most likely cause complications. After all, the White Tiger and giant golden bird were both from extremely powerful backgrounds.

The Nine-Headed Lion knew precisely how powerful the individuals those creatures were related to were. With a loud roar, it dragged its wounded body and began to chase in one direction. The big red bird, Sable, Three Eyed Race's brothers, and even the Flame Crow understood as well; all of them chased in pursuit.

They did not seek to kill off their opponents. As long as they were able to stall them, it would be enough just to wait for the little guy's aid.

The little guy developed a murderous red in his eyes, and quickly chased after a group of Archaic descendants. The broken sword revealed its might, slicing them all at the waist before quickly rushing to another direction.

At this moment, the sound of angry roars and long bird cries interweaved. On this blood dyed great land, a fierce massacre was happening. The precious artifacts were world-shocking, and divine light flew out and danced in the air.

This battle was even more fierce than the one before. One side wanted to flee, and the other gave everything they had to stop them from doing so. It was an incomparably bloody and reckless great battle.

Of the thirteen Archaic species, four of them were taken care of by the little guy. The Nine-Headed Lion and the others also blocked off five of them, however, four of them still escaped far away.

Those three bird species in particular had already spread their wings and rushed into the clouds. To chase after them at this point would truly be too difficult.

“I definitely won’t let them go!” The big red bird’s eyes were already red. After abandoning one of the vicious beasts, it soared high up into the sky to chase after the vicious bird.

The wounds it received couldn’t be considered serious, and it could still use most of its strength. With extreme speed, it entered the clouds to chase down those Archaic descendants. It did not want the news leaked and invoke some type of disaster.

The Nine-Headed Lion and the others all received serious wounds. The Rainbow Luan was almost torn apart, and the Flame Crow seemed to almost be charred black. Currently, their hands were joined in an effort to hold back these opponents, but they had no strength to kill them.

The little guy also chased after a vicious bird. With one foot on the golden bone shears and the other on the Suan Ni bone mirror, these two precious artifacts’ brilliance circulated. Mixing together, his speed immediately increased by several folds. He did not care about the cost as he ignited his divine essence energy to chase after them with extreme speed.

This type of speed could be maintained for a short period of time, but it wouldn’t last or else it would dry up one’s blood essence and wither to death.

Using this short period of time, he soared into the clouds and finally saw the figures of those Archaic species. Raising the broken sword, he hacked out.

The vicious bird cried out in anger, and all of its plume ignited. It also frantically raised its speed as well as take out its precious artifact to defend itself in pursuit of the sliver of opportunity at life.

It was a pity, however, that as soon as the broken sword erupted, it already had no chance. Boundless sword fluctuations poured over, and it did not hack out, but rather directly oppressed it. With a honglong sound, it directly exploded between there.

Ao...

In a different direction, the big red bird howled. Fiery light erupted all over its body, and that bird Luan refined precious artifact – Black Pot, emitted a multitude of multicolored lights. Propitious vapors rose, striking that vicious bird firmly.

Their battle became even more fierce, and bloody rain scattered down. When the little guy arrived and found it, the big red bird was already falling towards the ground, miserably crying out endlessly. It said in anger, “This grandpa is hurting to death! I’m going to eat ten vicious beasts later!”

Its opponent was killed, and was falling down onto the ground. The big red bird itself also almost lost its life, and was fluttering its wings as it fell.

Pu

The little guy offered his support, killing off the few Archaic species the Nine-Headed Lion and the others were holding off one by one. With firm and severe strikes, they would never release hehe or haha sounds again.

“Unfortunately, there were still two that got away!” All of their expressions were serious and heavy.

Even the multitude of creatures below whose flesh’s medicinal qualities were terrifying did not have a hint of a smile on their faces, because the White Tiger and that golden Peng’s origins were too great. If they leaked this information out, it would lead to disaster.

Suddenly, a bird cry rang out, and a rain of blood scattered down from the sky.

“Yi, why did that stupid bird return?” The little guy was shocked.

When theses words were uttered, it immediately made the big red bird, Rainbow Luan, and Flame Crow resentful. They were also bird species, and hated this type of name.

The little guy stepped on the Golden Bone Shears and shot up at once. Brandishing the broken sword, with a pu sound, it made this ringleader reveal a fierce expression. However, it was killed in an extremely terrifying way.

A few figures appeared in the distance. Huo Ling’er appeared while hugging the young deity. Several cloaked individuals were distributed in all directions, and they were the ones who forced these Archaic devil bird descendants to return.

“Many thanks, junior sister!” The little guy fell onto the ground and blinked his eyes. He walked up and cupped his fist in respect.

“These Archaic descendants... They were all killed by you?” When this group of people arrived, Huo Ling’er was at a loss for words. The brilliance of disbelief filled her eyes.

Huo Ling’er and a few restricted individuals had already arrived for a period of time, only they didn’t come closer. They always stood from afar, and as a result of the Historical Remains’ curling mist, they couldn’t see everything clearly.

“Am I really that savage? I rarely take lives!” The little guy resolutely rejected that statement. He looked over towards the Nine-Headed Lion, big red bird, and the others with his eyes widened before saying, “Do you see how savage these creatures are? They’re all dripping with blood. They are the ones that killed them!”

The Nine-Headed Lion, Flame Crow, Three-Eyed Race, and the other experts all rolled their eyes. They all snorted together. Who was the savage one ah? They were pretty much all killed by you alone!

Seeing them act like this, how could Huo Ling’er not understand? She was immediately shaken, and after seeing the White Tiger and Golden-Winged Peng, she became even more stirred up.

How savage was this? To even kill the great Golden-Winged Peng!

A cloaked individual walked up and dipped his finger into the golden blood. After carefully observing it, the individual cried out involuntarily, "This is a half-blooded divine bird at the very least! Its potential was limitless, and would rarely meet an opponent!"

Huo Ling'er was around fifteen to sixteen years old. Her skin was extremely delicate, white and glossy. She had an oval face with curved black eyebrows. Her large eyes were incomparably intelligent, and they were currently emitting an unusual luster. Her expression was full of shock as she looked at the little guy in disbelief.

The little guy smiled shyly and shook his head, saying, "Even though I am extremely heroic, you can't look at me like that... Actually, you only need to continue losing weight. Even though you'll never be like me, it still won't be that far off."

His large pair of eyes roamed about and looked at those places that he shouldn't be looking at. It was quite clear what he was implying.

The fire nation princess was originally still staring at him in shock with incomparably admiration. After hearing those words, she went crazy, shouting, "Go die, go die little brat!"

On the side, the cloaked individuals were silent; great waves were stirring within their hearts. This youth really was too formidable. He actually killed off so many Archaic descendants, including the half-blooded Peng! This truly shocked both the heart and the soul, making people's spirits tremble.

"He's still so young, and is quite susceptible to change. His potential is seriously limitless!”

“He shouldn’t be any less terrifying than the human emperor when he was at his age, it truly is frightening!”

This was the conclusion that these several individuals quickly came to. It was difficult for them to calm down, and their eyes were looking at that savage child with a bizarre expression.

“Sigh, in the end, one of the vicious beasts still got away. This time, it’s really going to be annoying.” The little guy was frowning and worried.

“Now you understand fear. When you were stirring up trouble, why didn’t you think a bit first?” Huo Ling’er was taking joy in his calamity. Her body was long and wonderful, and her curves were exquisite as they moved up and down.

“They wanted to eat big red and my little bro, so of course I would go all out. Even if I incurred some heaven overflowing calamity, I still cannot back away!” The little guy’s voice was powerful and resounding.

The Nine-Headed Lion was extremely moved, and almost roared along.

Behind them, the Flame Crow, Three Eyed Race and other experts’ expression also changed. They felt grateful within their hearts; after all, this time, if the little guy did not slaughter his way over, they would have all died.

Only the big red bird was twitching its mouth. It was too familiar with this little brat’s ways. Even if they didn’t meet this disaster, with this savage child’s nature, the White Tiger and the others would have still been eaten.

“Stupid bird, what kind of look is that? Why are you rolling your eyes for no reason?” The little guy seized its black pot and smashed it down on its head with a kuang dang sound.

“This grandpa is going to fight to the death with you!” The big red bird stomped in anger as it used all its strength to rub the blister on the back of his head.

“Make any more noise and I’ll eat you!” The little guy revealed his small and shiny white fierce teeth.

The big red bird immediately withered. It had no choice. This child was too savage! The Nine-Headed Lion, Rainbow Luan, and itself were all eaten by him before.

“Junior sister, your father is the human emperor. He is extremely blessed by nature, and his cultivation is extremely world defying. In this great earth, there shouldn’t be many who can be his opponent right?” asked the little guy.

“Even if that’s true, so what?” Huo Ling’er was vigilant as she looked at him.

“If I can become sworn brothers with him, there shouldn’t be anyone that dares to provoke me right?” asked the little guy.

Huo Ling’er’s beautiful figure immediately fell before standing up straight again. This little brat wanted to take advantage of her?

“Don’t misunderstand. He’s so old, so how could I become sworn brothers with him. The little guy immediately pulled back.

“What are you saying? What do you mean by old?” Huo Ling’er became extremely angry. This rotten infant’s words were truly unpleasant to listen to.

The little guy simple-mindedly asked, “When people become old, they all reminisce about their youth. Does he not want an intimate friend that is younger than him? It’ll be hard to find even a few unrivalled heroic youth like me even if you searched the entire great earth.”

Huo Ling’er was so angry she started laughing. “You provoked a disaster and now want my father, the emperor, to cover for you? How convenient that you thought of such a thing! Your status is so low, yet you want to talk to the human emperor as if you were a peer?!”

“Why not? Many female genius’ godfathers are over a hundred years old. How do you know that your father the emperor won’t be able to become friends despite the age difference?”

“Get lost!”

Ordinarily, Huo Ling’er carried the gracefulness of a beautiful and refined woman. She would appear educated and well-balanced, as well as full of intelligence. Currently, however, she was extremely violent, and her black eyebrows were jumping; she almost bared her fangs and threw herself over.

Wuwu...

Right at this moment, the little wolf in the the fire nation princess' bosom cried out. Its nose opened and closed, and indicated towards a direction.

The little guy slapped his forehead and said, "What emperor, what different age close friends, there's no need!" He snatched the young deity and said, "Hurry and help me find that fish that escaped the net!"

The young deity was always watching from the side and knew what he was looking for. Without uttering a single thing, it extended a small claw, pointing towards a direction.

The little guy dropped his smiling expression and ran out with the broken sword in his hand. Upon seeing this, the Nine-Headed Lion and the others also revealed serious expressions as they followed behind.

The group was as fast as lightning. The mountains and rivers quickly disappeared behind them, and by depending on the young deity's nose to chase, they finally stopped after a hundred li. The little guy's sword hacked out, splitting apart a mountain.

Ahou... A vicious beast threw itself out. It was terrified and resentful, because it still couldn't flee from this disaster in the end.

In the end, the Golden-Winged Peng, White Tiger and the ten or so species were completely executed without a single one getting away.

"Now we can feel relieved. Together with the fire nation princess, the Nine-Headed Lion and the others, we met an ambush. After a bloody battle, we finally killed off all these evils!" The little guy tightened his fist and used all of his strength to wave it about.

“I didn’t do anything. You guys are the ones that killed them.” Huo Ling’er emphasized the fact that this matter was not related to her.

“Didn’t you display your divine might and wipe them clean alone?” The Nine-Headed Lion and the others were unconvinced.

“Let’s not talk about these things first. Currently, there is a small mountain of delicacies piled up. Watching it already makes me salivate, so let’s eat first.” The little guy cried out enthusiastically.

The fire nation princess did not say anything. The few restricted individuals beside her spoke in a low voice, “That is a half-blooded Golden-Winged Peng, a rare precious medicine. You cannot give up this opportunity. If you enjoy it now together with them, even if the golden Peng race’s experts are informed later, it will still be worth it. You won’t be losing out.”

Huo Ling’er nodded her head. A half-blooded divine bird’s value was truly difficult to imagine, and she couldn’t just stand here and watch this group of savage foodies waste it. At the very least, she knew a bit of ancient methods that could improve the blood essence medicine’s efficacy to the max.

“This place is very quiet and peaceful. Let’s go and stew them.”

The group of people moved out simultaneously. After finding a clear spring, they began to skin and clean the meat. They were going to stew the Archaic descendants here and use their divine essence to nourish and strengthen their bodies.

Chapter 152 – Advance

“Don’t move. The Golden-Winged Peng is a half-blooded divine bird, so eating it like this is too wasteful. I know an ancient method, so after we find some precious medicine, we can stew them together to bring out its divine effects.” Huo Ling’er spoke out to stop the big red bird and the others.

This was a mountainous region, and it was quite similar to the other regions within the Historical Ruins. Black mist also lingered about here, making it appear secretive and calm. Within the mountains, there was a clear spring that was bubbling. The big red bird, Nine-Headed Lion and the others were all stripping the giant golden bird of its feathers.

The Peng’s body was enormous, and golden light sparkled all about its body. Without talking about its body, even the wing that was sliced off was more than ten meters. It gave off a brilliant divine splendor, and essence energy surged and overflowed; it was enough to completely fill one up.

“There are still so many details regarding taste?” The group of descendants were impatient, and none of them wanted to wait too long. You have to understand that this was a deity’s descendant, and was rarely seen in this world.

Huo Ling’er had a serious expression on her face as she said, “There are naturally many details we have to pay attention to in taste. Together with a few precious methods, abnormal wood, spiritual blood, and other ingredients, the medicinal strength this Golden Peng can emit will far surpass your expectations!”

The Nine-Headed Lion nodded its head. It came from a great background, and was born within an ancient King race. It naturally knew about these things and agreed with her point of view.

“Alright, since it can display that much medicinal strength, then I don’t have any complaints either.” The big red bird spoke out. Although it was also of the bird species, it still wanted to eat a few bites of the great Golden-Winged Peng.

In the end, the group of creatures all nodded their heads, giving their approval towards the Fire Nation Princess’ suggestion.

This was a small Archaic world. There were definitely quite a few spiritual medicines, and even more spiritual wood, divine bugs, etc. These medicinal primers could be found, but it was on the premise that they left the Historical Remains. Not even a blade of grass grew in this place, making it impossible for them to collect those things.

“This Violent Ape is truly a rarely seen species. Its ancient blood is rich, and is still radiating dark light.”

“The body is so enormous! It truly is rare to come by, enough for us to eat.” The big red bird wiped off its saliva.

With a dong sound, the little guy lifted its black pot and smashed it on its head again. “You truly are cruel, eating the a humanoid species. Don’t cook it in front of me.”

The big red bird was so angry it was hopping mad. With great resentment, it said, “You are the cruel one, to not eat humanoids and only eat vicious beasts and spiritual birds. Too cruel.”

On the side, the Nine-Headed Lion was a bit depressed, because even its own flesh was eaten by the little guy before. Only, out of shame, it was too embarrassed to tell its group of brothers.

“Hello? Brother Luan, what type of look is that? It was for you that I risked life and limb this time. While fighting with that group of Archaic descendants, my own life was almost thrown in there.” The little guy glanced over at the seriously injured giant bird.

The Rainbow Luan stared at him with the whites of its eyes. After having flesh from its wing and thigh eaten, even though it was because of him that it was rescued, the tension was still not completely released.

“Stop staring. You’ll be able to eat some precious flesh medicine in a bit to repair your body,” the little guy said.

At the edge of the clear spring, the cloaked individuals beside Huo Ling’er were currently cleaning up a vicious bird. It had an elephant head, but other than that, the rest of its body was not much different from that of a bird. The dark green feathers covering its body were emitting multicolored light.

“This is a Jade Feathered Elephant Bird, and is considered an extremely rare descendant. Unfortunately, its pair of pure white tusks were destroyed, or else it would definitely be the most spiritual.” A restricted individual was incomparably regretful.

There was nothing they could do about it, because these powerful races would never leave behind their precious symbolled bones while facing death.

On the other side, the Nine-Headed Lion, Flame Crow and the others were handling the Violent Ape. This enormous body was enough for their group to eat.

The little guy was fiddling with his spoils of war alone. With a frowning and worried expression, he was full of regret. The White Tiger's battle clothes were torn into several pieces, and the Primary Magnetic Mountain was even more so broken into more than ten pieces. It was useless even when they were pieced together, and as a result, its might plummeted.

“Don't feel so unsatisfied. The Heaven and Earth Pouch that you obtained is extremely rare, and is something left behind by a White Tiger ancestor after its death. It can definitely be considered a race guarding precious treasure.” Huo Ling'er rolled her eyes at this small money grubber.

When this spoil of war was mentioned, the little guy immediately became happy. His mood was great as he took out the beast skin pouch, flipping it around as he looked it over.

This was refined and created out of the skin of a White Tiger. There were all types of symbols on it that were ancient and world-changing, and a bright golden silk rope fastened the pouch opening.

The little diligently refined it, and began to try it out afterwards. He used its ability to collect and release objects, slowly familiarizing himself with it and understanding how to use it.

With a honglong sound, rubble began to roll about. A giant boulder over a hundred thousand jin was collected inside the pouch. Auspicious light rose, creating a shocking scene.

“It truly is a good treasure!” The little guy sighed in admiration before reversing the symbols. All of the mountain stones and fragments were poured out in torrents.

He experimented once again, and with a hong sound, the smoke and dust in the distance soared into the sky. A short mountain rose from the ground and was directly collected into the Heaven and Earth Pouch. Multitudes of multicolored light shone at the beast pouch entrance, and thousands of auspiciously colored threads shot out as it swallowed everything. There really wasn't anything it couldn't collect after all.

“Aiyou, youngster, what you doing?” The big red bird cried out in fear. It could not stand the force and began to shrink. Multicolored light surrounded its body, and it flew towards the Heaven and Earth Pouch before ultimately disappearing within.

Haha... The little guy laughed loudly and used the golden thread to tied up the pouch entrance. A tormenting sound immediately rang out from within the pouch. The big red bird was isolated within the beast skin pouch, and so its voice was small as it said, “Let me out!”

After untying the golden silk rope, propitious vapors gushed out. The big red bird was released, and in a flustered and exasperated tone, it said, “This grandpa is going to stake it all against you!”

The little guy immediately raised the beast skin pouch. In the end, it was resentful, and after twisting its butt, it headed towards the distance towards the violent ape. Shouting noisily, it said, “I am going to eat you!”

Flames jumped about. The Nine-Headed Lion, Flame Crow, and the others surrounded the fully cooked Violent Ape and began to gorge themselves.

This meat contained an extremely powerful essence energy. They all sustained injuries, so this type of precious medicine was the best type of supplement.

It only took a little bit of time before the Sable, Rainbow Luan, Three Eyed Race and other experts began to emit light. The skeletons within their bodies rang out with ga beng ga beng sounds. The broken bones were mended, and even though they were not immediately restored to their former conditions, their movements were no longer hindered.

In addition, their flesh were squirming about, and divine multicolored light shone. All of their wounds closed, and the blood inside rumbled. A rain of light was being emitted from all over their bodies.

“So powerful, I feel like I’m about to break through.” The Sable originally had its pair of forelimbs snapped, but after eating more than a thousand jin of the powerful Violent Ape’s flesh, its entire body emitted light. Purple energy rose, and it began to resonate with noise.

“The purity of my blood has improved by a level, so powerful!” The Nine-Headed Lion was also extremely happy. Faint golden traces of blood appeared within its body; this type of precious flesh medicine was extremely beneficial for it.

After experiencing this life and death situation, the essence energy in their bodies were almost completely exhausted. Now that they received this type of replenishing, it almost made all of them break through. Each and every one of them were like little suns as they gave off light.

“Eat!”

The giant ape was ten meters long, and it had a robust figure. Even though it left behind a large amount of precious flesh medicine, after the group of descendants ate until they were belching, not even the bones were left behind.

They were all lying on the ground, their bodies radiating light. They didn't want to move at all.

On the other side, the little guy and Huo Ling'er as well as those restricted individuals were much better as they ate the majority of a devil bird. The sparkling and transparent meat entered their mouths as the delicious smell wafted about.

Finally, Huo Ling'er couldn't go on any longer. She really couldn't eat any more, especially with that hateful youth constantly reminding her to make sure to lose weight. With all the statements about how her chest was too high and her butt too big, it made her so resentful that she flipped out in anger.

In the end, even the restricted individuals no longer dared to eat any more. Even though their strength were powerful, in the end, they still could not digest so much precious medicine.

“It's shameful to waste!”

After the little guy said this sentence, he continued to gorge himself, cleaning out the remaining half of the golden glossy bird. He continuously refined his essence energy to forcefully advance his flesh.

When the group of people saw this, they became completely dumbstruck. How could someone so small eat so much?!

Even the Nine-Headed Lion, Flame Crow and others felt their hearts alarmed and their bodies jumping. This was truly savage... He ate even more than them, completely disproportionate to his body.

“No wonder he started salivating as soon as he saw us, making us have to move out of his way. If he becomes hungry one day, who knows if he will swallow all of us in one go.” The group of Archaic descendants secretly wiped off their cold sweat as they inwardly classified that human youth as a prehistoric demon.

The little guy’s entire body was overflowing with light and color. Essence energy gushed out from his pores, healing all of his injuries. His essence energy surged like a tsunami as it cleansed his flesh. It penetrated all of his organs, and even his hair began to shine.

“Sigh, the ninth Heavenly Passage is too hard to open. Currently, I still can’t even feel it.” He scratched his head.

One of the restricted individuals couldn’t help but sigh, saying, “The ninth Heavenly Passage is too rare in reality, and there were only a few recorded in ancient texts. Within our human race, the eighth heavenly passage is already as rare as phoenix feathers and unicorn horns. You can start thinking about advancing to the next great cultivation realm.”

“I can still wait. I’ll attack at it again after eating the great Peng!” The little guy was extremely angry.

Seeing him darken his little face, everyone there became silent. You still aren't satisfied? Ever since entering this small world, your cultivation has shot up sharply, comparable to what others have to bitterly cultivate several years for!

The restricted individuals in particular found it difficult to calm their hearts. Back then, even when they painstakingly trained, they still did not reach the accomplishments this savage child had after entering this small world. They wanted to cry just by thinking about it; this truly was an evil spawn!

"Are you guys all full?" The little guy patted his small round belly as he asked towards everyone else.

"Full!" As soon as these descendants spoke, they would spew out essence energy and multicolored light.

"Oh, then I guess I'll have to eat by myself." He fetched the White Tiger and with the broken sword in hand, a kacha sound rang out. He directly chopped off a hind leg, quickly skinning and cleaning it.

"You... You are wasting things recklessly!" Several elders were so angry they began to hop about in anger.

"These things were caught for the sake of food. Moreover, I'm not eating the whole thing, only a hind leg. It just enough to boil a pot of soup." The little guy was not concerned in the slightest.

"We are going to eat too!" The group of Archaic descendants all rushed over. This was White Tiger flesh ah! Even if they couldn't eat anymore, they still had to forcefully swallow it down.

Huo Ling'er was furious. This was simply too wasteful!

Flames danced about, and a fragrance assailed everyone's nostrils. After a good six hours, the tiger leg in the black pot was stewed until it became soft. Even the bones were melted by the little guy's precious techniques. The juices were sparkling as it overflowed with multicolored light.

As soon as they got close, a white tiger shadow pounced over. It bared its fangs and brandished its claws, yet carried with it a powerful fragrance. The little guy opened his mouth and shouted fiercely, "Eat it, eat it!" Following that, he swallowed it in one gulp.

The tiger bone soup completed its slow-cooking. The juices were sparkling and glistening, as well as being incomparably thick. The little guy scooped out a large spoonful and poured it into his mouth. He felt as if the pores around his body were being penetrated. A rain of light was emitted from all over his body, as if he was going to levitate and take flight.

"It truly is delicious, not inferior to lion heads at all!" He was extremely infatuated, and so the words he spoke out weren't articulated.

The Nine-Headed Lion's face immediately became green. Fortunately, it seemed as if no one heard him clearly.

"It's too tasty!" The little guy shouted and then began to frantically scoop. The tiger bone soup continuously went down with gudong gudong sounds.

The group of people, including Huo Ling'er, no longer cared about their status.

They crowded forward and fought over the tiger bone soup.

In a short period of time, the pot of soup completely vanished. It was completely finished, and the group of people seemed as if they were still not done as they stared at the remaining White Tiger's body.

Only the little guy was completely satisfied. He ate until he was full and drank all he wanted. As a result, he was like a small sun as he emitted light.

"You all are too savage! After eating so much, you are still thinking about more! Truly a group of foodies!" He scolded all of them, including Huo Ling'er.

The group immediately became infuriated. Who was savage and who was the foodie? You have the nerve to say this to us?!

"Good things cannot be wasted like this. Wait until we find some spirit medicine to slow cook it together. Maybe at that time, we can all break through," the little guy said.

He used the Heaven and Earth Pouch to collect the Golden-Winged Peng, White Tiger, and other descendants. After using the golden silk rope to tie up the pouch, he hung it on his body.

"It truly is convenient. In the future, I'll catch some more vicious beasts that want to eat me."

The group of people rolled their eyes. It'll be fine as long as you don't want to eat other creatures; who dares to eat you?!

“The Heaven and Earth Pouch seems to be able to preserve things without letting them rot. With so many Archaic species, I want to bring it back to Stone Village for Grandpa Chief, Uncle Linhu, Dazhuang, Ermeng, Pihou, and the others. After letting every villager eat Archaic descendants, it’s quite possible that they can all make breakthroughs quickly.” The little guy rubbed his small round stomach, and with a sweet smile on his face, he entered the land of dreams.

The group of people were speechless. This delicate, cute, and beautiful youth that even made girls jealous was actually smiling so brilliantly in his sleep. Being so peaceful, it truly was difficult to imagine why he was so savage after waking up.

The Sable, Flame Crow, and several other creatures broke through. After drinking the tiger soup, they finally broke through the shackles. Their essence energy blazed all about their bodies, advancing another layer; it created quite a bit of activity.

Only after a long time did this area become peaceful again.

It was already deep into the night, and all the creatures slept extremely peacefully.

The next day, the Archaic Golden Crow’s body rose from the horizon. After turning into the sun, it shone down from above the Historical Ruins’ mist, scattering down a hazy light.

“Let’s go. For the sake of spirit medicine, collecting the prescription, as well as eating the Golden-Winged Peng, let’s go towards those spiritual medicine lands!” The little guy was full of emotion as he spoke.

The group of people twitched their mouths, but not a single one left. It was because they were all thinking about the rare precious medicine!

This region of the small world had many special areas, such as the Saints’ Fallen Ground, Forbidden Heaven Bone Area, Precious Artifact Vestige, and others. The various geniuses that entered were scattered everywhere.

“You want to find the Immortal Divine Spring?”

When the group heard what the little guy wanted to do, they were all shocked.

It was rumored that this small world truly did have an immortal spring, but that area was extremely dangerous, and since ancient times, not many individuals were able to receive its benefits.

“The immortal spring is located within the Hundred Grass Land. There is a mysterious stadium there, and through its precious shackling techniques, it could easily shatter creatures’ physical bodies. Ordinarily, no one dares to break in,” said Huo Ling’er.

The Hundred Grass Land was the spirit medicine field of this small Archaic world. Spirit medicine grew in plentiful amounts inside, and many were rare and valuable objects. It was even rumored that there was a possibility that even divine medicine grew there!

“Didn’t you guys want to try little gold stewed with mushrooms? Now that we have a Golden-Winged Peng, where do we get mushrooms? Of course we have to enter the Hundred Grass Land!” Said the little guy.

The group banded together. That area was definitely a blood scarred demonic land. In the past, it was always a place where one entered but never came out; going there to pick spirit medicine was most likely the same as sending over your life.

“We can help you, but can only stay outside. We don’t want to enter that demonic land.” The Nine-Headed Lion said things flatly.

The little guy saw that the others all revealed serious expressions. Not willing to enter the Hundred Grass Land... He spoke to himself suspiciously, “Could it be that I was cheated by the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s old farts?”

From these people’s expressions, he could tell that that place was definitely forbidden ground!

“Without a certain degree of power in one’s flesh, one cannot enter. Throughout all of time, only pure-blooded Archaic youth dared to enter to search for a heaven defying chance.” It was a restricted individual beside Huo Ling’er that spoke. The individual’s hair was completely white, and he spoke things as if this fact was not exaggerated in the slightest.

“What?” The little guy’s eyes immediately lit up. The previous gloominess was immediately swept away, and he became incomparably excited as he said, “I can meet true Archaic vicious beast young there? That’s perfect!”

The group of people were speechless. Other creatures did everything they could to avoid it, yet he was interesting, daring to directly take the opportunity to enter.

The fire nation princess' large eyes blinked. They appeared extremely quick-witted as she said in a small voice, "This little fellow is pretty much a human pure-blooded vicious beast himself, not inferior to those pure-blooded divine birds and beasts at all. After entering, it truly wouldn't be easy to say who is going to eat who."

After the big red bird heard what was said, its eyes immediately revealed a deceitful luster. It instantly threw itself over, using its two wings to hug the little guy's arm, saying, "Bring along..."

"Have you thought it through? To have me take you along?" Asked the little guy.

"No way!" The big red bird used all of its strength to shake its head, saying, "If I go inside, I'll definitely be eaten by those pure-blooded vicious beasts. Bring my pot with you! With your fierceness, you can definitely eat an Archaic vicious beast young. I won't ask for anything else, just that when the time comes, it would be enough if you just brought back a bit of soup gravy!"

Dang!

The little guy lifted its black pot and directly smashed it down on the back of its head.

"This grandpa... Is going to... Hold himself back!" The big red bird wanted to say that it was going to stake it all, but after realizing how unrealistic that was, it spat out those words in anger.

After leaving the historical ruins, the little world's sun illuminated everything. The flowers and plants were brilliant, and the ancient trees reached high into the sky; everything was full of vitality.

Their group made their way towards the Hundred Grass Land. With this many powerful individuals walking together, it directly scared numerous creatures along the road into fleeing.

Of course, there were also a few powerful creatures that had coveting desires. They stared at them, and wanted to make their move several times.

The little guy did not want to be outdone, and roared towards the terrifying eyes in the dark. His voice was like thunder, and in the end, the creatures within the forests backed off.

"What was that? Why do I feel a bit frightened?" They were shocked.

"Why do I feel a bit happy to have a savage child by my side? I feel like if it were not for him, I would have become food after facing those powerful creatures." The big red bird's scalp felt numb as it spoke.

"They shouldn't be pure-blooded creatures, right?" Huo Ling'er frowned.

They were already approaching the Hundred Grass Land, and they felt the presence of several others that were precisely like this!

The little guy took precautions as he faced these true pure-blooded creatures.

He did not dare to act carelessly, because even though he wanted to catch one, he still had to treat them with caution.

They were finally closing in on the Hundred Grass Land, and from quite a distance away, they could already see the propitious vapors rising from that region. All types of vegetation were emitting radiance.

It was a spiritual medicine land with all types of divine radiance enveloping it. There were all types of brilliant lights and vibrant colors, and essence energy surged. Even ordinary medicinal herbs that grew there would become sparkling and translucent as a result of the exceptional spiritual essence density.

“Mine, mine, they’re all mine!”

Everyone was speechless. That brat changed into a small miser after all. His eyes were twinkling with countless little stars as he wiped away his saliva.

Chapter 153 – Divine Garden

Even though they were still separated by a distance, they could already feel that divine aura! The area was dense in vegetation, and the trees were incomparably tall.

The mountain forest was verdant. They surveyed the scene from a tall position. Dense vapors rose, and a bright colored mist circulated about. The Hundred Grass Land was auspicious and peaceful, as if it was a pure land.

Kacha

An odd sound was emitted from within the mountainous region, making their hairs stand erect. They felt a wave of ice cold killing intent, as if an autumn wind had just swept past.

“What type of creature is that?” A restricted individual was bewildered.

Everyone’s eyes were flickering as they watched. From within the primitive forest, there was a sinister creature that was currently staring at them with deep cold eyes. Its appearance was monstrous.

It had three heads. The one in the middle was still rather normal, with blood-colored hair scattering down its back. The one on the left, though, was actually a Peng head with brilliant golden feathers. On the right was the head of a devil, and it was covered in pitch-black scales as it radiated with dark light.

It was five meters tall, and its figure was sturdy. Both its hands had blood dripping, because in its claws was a powerful Archaic descendant. It was torn apart alive, and fresh blood was dripping with di di da da sounds.

At that moment, none of them could recognize that terrifying creature, but they could recognize the Archaic species that it tore apart. It was a Jade Scaled Leopard, and even though it was extremely powerful, it still killed like this.

Kacha

This creature carried a extreme amount of ominous intent in its eyes. After tearing apart the Jade Scaled Leopard, it directly threw it into its mouth to chew and swallow. Fresh blood poured out, continuously trickling down.

It could be said that it was extremely savage. Powerful creatures would typically all be rather mindful when eating, and would typically cook their meals meticulously. Only a few powerful races still eat and swallow things alive like this.

The more they were like this, the more terrifying they were, because this represented their unruliness. Even after being so cruel and unreasonable, their strength was still so powerfully heaven defying.

Hou...

It quickly devoured the Jade Scaled Leopard, and more than half of it disappeared in the blink of an eye. It threw the bloody white bones onto the ground and roared towards the group with a sound like thunder.

Hong!

The nearby ancient trees all exploded, and many rocks were blasted into the air. Everyone's expressions changed, because this creature was too powerful. Just its sound wave alone was already so powerful.

"I loathe people who disturb me when I'm enjoying my food!"

It was the middle human head that spoke. Its head of scarlet hair danced about, and a bloody light flickered within its eyes. Following that, it directly threw itself over. Surging killing intent overflowed into the heavens, saturating the air with black mist.

A restricted individual beside Huo Ling'er made his move. With a blue bone sword in hand, he hacked outwards, revealing his skill. The sword qi rushed out more than ten meters, sweeping out with a force that turned the ancient trees and thousands of giant boulders into pieces.

However, that creature's speed was too fast, and its strength was even more matchless. It arrived after the mere blink of an eye, and with a dang sound, it stuck out a sharp claw and struck the bone blade. The blade was blasted apart, and with a fierce tear, a kacha sound rang out. The restricted individual's small arm was separated from his body, and blood immediately poured out with a pu sound.

Its speed almost reached an inconceivable level, moreover, it was extremely daring. In front of so many people, it directly pounced over, excessively quickly and violently. This creature was extremely cruel and formidable.

The restricted individual was originally already extremely powerful, but with just a small bit of carelessness, it suffered such a great consequence. It did not anticipate that the other party would be so aggressive and daring, actually rushing into their group to unleash a slaughter.

Everyone was shocked. Several of the restricted beside Huo Ling'er were shocked, angrily moving out together.

However, the creature came and left like the wind. It directly broke through their encirclement, and while standing not far away, it stared at them with a deep and cold look.

“All of you back off!” The little guy shouted and flew over. He felt as if the opposing party was mainly staring at him, as it felt that he was more threatening than the rest.

The three-headed creature’s eyes were ice cold. It also rushed forward to fight in close combat.

Peng

The little guy used his flesh to exchange a firm blow with it. Symbols were like flames as they blazed, and as they quickly interweaved, this area rumbled, causing an expanse of smoke and dust to splash out.

All the ancient trees collapsed, and a great black crack more than two-thirds of a meter was created. It was incomparably terrifying, and as boulders rushed high into the sky, everyone moved out of the way as they backed off.

Hou... The creature shouted, and its voice was like thunder, shaking one's ears until they rang with weng weng sounds. It was difficult to even stand properly.

It began to fight fiercely in close range with the little guy. Symbols blossomed, and the area was filled with precious splendor. A demonic aura overflowed into the havens.

The two individuals transformed into two small suns as they emitted a brilliant radiance. They continuously traded attacks with shocking precious methods. It submerged this area, making boulders that were over several tens of thousands jin roll about. One after another, they flew into the the sky before shattering soon after.

"Too savage! What type of race is this? Why is it this powerful?!" The Sable was horrified.

"I remember! This should be a bloodline of the spirit race. It possesses the king's blood, and is extremely powerful," the Nine-Headed Lion said.

“Correct, it belongs to the spirit race, and is a descendant from the most powerful Archaic king bloodline.” Huo Ling’er nodded her head. Her large eyes emitted light. Spirit blood was extremely valuable, as it could assist one’s comprehension in the dao.

When the little guy had just entered this small world, he killed a spirit race expert whose body was completely flickering with silver light. Using its spirit blood, he exchanged it with the fire nation princess for a purple heart.

Everyone trembled with fear. This creature was definitely powerful, yet at the same time, it was definitely valuable. Using the spirit blood in its body, one’s essence will definitely become more pure.

The little guy's fist smashed into that creature's shoulder, and a bone fracturing sound rang out on the spot as blood splashed out. This was definitely a peak level genius from the spirit race, and it was powerful and terrifying. However, it still received a serious injury, and was not a match for this savage child.

It turned around and immediately fled, only leaving behind afterimages.

"Where are you going? Leave behind the spirit blood!" The little guy shouted before pursuing after it closely.

He firmly grabbed the spirit race king bloodline genius' small arm and wanted to subdue it. However, he never would have thought that while struggling, the three-headed creature's arm broke. Fresh blood gushed out, and it escaped as fast as it could.

It abandoned an arm and entered the forest. Its fierceness and resoluteness could be seen, as its eyebrows didn't even twitch.

Upon seeing this, the little guy threw away that small arm and used everything to chase after it. This spirit race expert was very dangerous, and had to be treated with caution. He took out the broken sword and wanted to hack out with it. Suddenly, that spirit race expert suddenly jumped, entering the mist covered sacred land before disappearing.

"It entered the Hundred Grass Land. Don't use any symbols or precious artifacts, because they will become useless. There is a crazy domain there!" Huo Ling'er spoke.

Everyone's hearts trembled; this area was dangerous after all. They had just arrived, yet they already encountered such a powerful spirit race genius.

"Elder Wu, are you alright?" Huo Ling'er showed her concern.

One of the elders wrinkled his eyebrows. Fortunately, the lost arm was not destroyed and was seized by the little guy. Moreover, he even tore off that spirit race genius' arm.

“The young really need to be respected even if they are inexperienced...” The elder sighed. An expert from the younger generation geniuses even made him feel intimidated. He reconnected the broken arm, and after using some spirit medicine, there was no longer any problem, and would grow properly.

“This region is extremely scary. We need to be careful, because those that rushed towards the Hundred Grass Land are all top-notch experts!” said the Rainbow Luan.

In reality, it really was like this. All those who came to this area were powerful experts, and there were even some pure-blooded Archaic vicious beast young.

“This arm’s spiritual nature is too powerful. It has the aura of spirit blood, and can be condensed out!” A restricted individual on the side revealed a shocked expression. That broken arm was emitting light, and as propitious vapors curled about, the dense smell of blood filled the air.

Hou...

Within the jungle, a ruthless roar rang out. There were terrifying creatures fiercely fighting it out, and many ancient trees were broken there. Mountain peaks crumbled, and the scene was terrifying.

“Is this a confrontation of pure physical strength? It’s too terrifying! Even if they aren’t pure-blooded, they are still pretty close.” Everyone’s expressions changed.

The little guy revealed a serious expression as he said, “You all leave first. Don’t get any closer to the Hundred Grass Land.”

Upon entering the sacred land, symbols and precious artifacts became useless. It didn't matter how high the restricted individual's cultivation realm was. It was truly possible for Archaic vicious beast young to roam about here.

Everyone nodded. This area was a land for power struggles among the physically powerful. Ordinary creatures had no way of entering.

It was just like the Forbidden Heaven Bone Area, only that your accomplishments in symbols had to be extremely profound before you could meet a heavenly fate that would allow you to search for a heaven bone. Otherwise, those who entered would be twisted into pieces by the mysterious symbols.

Huo Ling'er, Nine-Headed Lion, and the others were all decisive. They quickly left after letting the little guy know where they were going to meet up afterward.

Wuwu...

A devil bird's cry rang out from the distance, and it almost sounded like they crying of a ghost. These were creatures indigenous to this small Archaic world, however, whenever these evil birds appeared, the land would inevitably bleed from tragedy.

The little guy advanced and arrived at the front of the Hundred Grass Land. The land was flowing with brilliant lights and vibrant colors, and as he looked inside, he saw all types of vegetation. There was a rich and sweet aroma that assailed his nostrils.

This place seems like a fantasy dreamland, and everything felt extremely unreal. Even if it was just ordinary grass and trees, after growing up here, they all became bright and resplendent as they emitted multicolored light.

“According to legends, this sacred land was established by the saints, and this divine earth was scattered down by them. It seems like it wasn’t just a story,” said the little guy to himself.

He began to step inside. As soon as he entered, he felt his body shudder, as if there was a type of pressure. This area had a strange force, as if the space itself was distorted.

“What a terrifying domain!” However, he was confused. Why did this pressure not affect the vegetation?

He walked forward step by step, and felt the pressure becoming greater and greater. In the end, it was as if he was carrying a mountain on his back as he moved forward, and the bones in his body were making ga beng ga beng sounds.

The little guy took a deep breath. His body was sparkling, and his precious bones emitted light. Following that, everything was once again peaceful. His body completely stabilized, and each step carried a powerful strength. His speed became faster and faster as he walked towards the interior.

This was still the outer perimeter, and the domain was not as terrifying. At the heart of this area was where it was the most deadly, and the Immortal Divine Spring was located precisely there.

Chi

In the distance, a shadow flashed before vanishing. The ground it stepped over emitted dong dong sounds. The aura was astonishing, and it caused the giant boulders it stepped on to crack apart.

“Bifang!”

The little guy was amazed. It was a green divine bird that was adorned with red stripes. Multicolored lights flickered about it, making it appear incomparably mystical. He saw it before, and quite a few people speculated that it was most likely a pure-blooded divine bird!

Suddenly, a purple vine wrapped around the little guy's arm like a viper. Venomous stings appeared on its surface as it tried to pierce inside his body.

This was a spirit medicine within the divine land. It unexpectedly gained intelligence, and developed spiritual wisdom; it launched a killing attack on its own.

The little guy braced his arm and then used all his strength to tear it off. The purple vine shrieked, as if it was as if a malicious spirit was weeping and bawling; it was extremely terrifying.

"Spare me, I won't do it again..." It's appearance was like a purple flood dragon. It was more than ten meters long, and its body was sparkling and full of spirituality as it took root within the seams of the rocks.

The little guy was amazed. He tore it off his arm and threw it onto the ground before carefully observing it.

Chi

Suddenly, he felt a wind blow towards the back of his head. Another stalk from the purple vine shot out. It was like a purple battle spear as it pierced towards the back of his head.

The little guy's reaction was swift, grabbing it as soon as it closed in on his hair. This time, he did not say anything, and with a jolt from both his arms, it was directly ripped apart.

Ah... The purple vine was howling in grief. Soon after, it was pulled up by the roots and completely torn apart.

"Don't kill me. That has nothing to do with me." On the side, an old tree opened its mouth. It was slightly trembling.

"It truly is strange... What kind of random mess was planted within this land?" The little guy was curious, because there were many plant creatures that could actually speak here.

He continued to take steps forward. He casually kicked out, but it provoked a loud shout. It was a stone that was grimacing in pain as it cried out with ao ao sounds, "Savage child, I am just a rock, don't eat me."

"Yi, even a boulder can open its mouth and speak. Could it be that you are a Guardian Spirit, and that there is precious blood stored within you?" The little guy's eyes emitted light. He squatted down and lifted it up.

“I don’t have any precious blood! It’s purely because I live in this divine garden and took advantage of the spiritual divine flower’s dust. As a result, i developed intelligence and the ability to speak.” The stone was terrified as it spoke.

“Spiritual Flower, what kind of thing is that?”

“It’s a type of sacred medicine. You should go search for it immediately, because a few pure-blooded creatures have already entered. If you are late, you might end up empty-handed.” The stone was scared, and was afraid of the little guy eating it.

With a dong sound, the little guy struck it. Then, he carried it in his palm and quickly moved forward. “You are going to explain to me what goes on in this divine garden.”

Chapter 154 – Medicine Field

“Softly, I’m going to be squeezed to pieces. Don’t use so much strength... Everything that should be said I already said... I’m just an ordinary stupid rock that gained the ability to speak after being transformed by the Spiritual Flower! In the past, I was confused and ignorant, so I truly do not know the history of the divine garden.”

The stone that was the size of a human head grimaced in pain. It cried out loudly, because it felt somewhat unsafe in the savage child’s hands, as if it would be broken into pieces at any time.

“It’s just a single flower, how could It have such great and magical effects?” The little guy was doubtful.

“Of course, It is a sacred medicine ah! It is rarely seen in this world, and every stalk of this earthen treasure possesses a world-shocking medicinal power. It is known as the Spiritual Divine Flower, and it naturally can transform any inanimate object and give it an elementary level spiritual knowledge.

This rock truly had a mouth and a pair of eyes. It could also move about with kacha kacha sounds. Currently, it was frowning and worried, and wished for the little guy to let it go.

“So it’s like that! I never thought that the sacred medicine would be so powerful. Exactly how many stalks of sacred medicines are there within this spirit medicine garden?”

“How many stalks? For a true Archaic divine mountain to have a single stalk is already quite good. In that area, it is quite possible that a Taotie and other Archaic vicious beasts are occupying it, making it practically impossible for an ordinary person to get close. There aren't any deities or devils guarding this area, and even if there is only a single stalk of sacred medicine, it would still be considered heaven defying. Of course, it might also be due to my lack of knowledge. After all, the garden is huge, and I've heard in the past that there truly was two or three stalks of sacred medicine. Only, it hasn't appeared in so many years, and it might have escaped from this small world."

As long as this rock was questioned, it would always give an answer. Moreover, it would even say a bunch more, and was extremely cooperative.

"From your words, it seems like the Spiritual Divine Flower is something that entered the spirit medicine fields later on?" The little guy was curious, and at the same time, he felt that this rock seemed to know about too many things.

The stone said, "It's more correct to say that it was later on born here. I heard that old tree say that the divine medicine was originally a stalk of rare precious medicine. After entering the Immortal Divine Spring, it received an enormous amount of essence. In the end, it broke through and transformed into a type of Spiritual Divine Flower, becoming the most precious sacred medicine."

The little guy widened his eyes on the spot. Using some force as he shook the rock, he said, "Tell me quickly, where is the Immortal Spring?"

"Stop shaking... I'm going to break from all that shaking. The Immortal spring is right at the heart of the spirit medicine field. Go look for it alone, since I never been there before either way."

"Little rock, if you dare deceive me, I'll take care of you when I come back."

The little guy played around with the stone in his hand and continuously used his strength, however, he noticed that even though it was crying out with wawa sounds, it was actually rather solid.

“Who dares to peep at me?” The little guy quietly murmured, and without making a sound, he chuckled the mischievous stone outwards.

In the end, two ah ah sounds rang out simultaneously. One naturally came from the little stone, and the other came from a powerful genius. It was smashed in the forehead, causing blood to gush out.

“When did I provoke you? Why did you attack me?!” It was a bizarre creature with a bird head and a human body. On its back was a pair of wings, and its entire body flickered with a purple light. It became furious, and a huge blister grew on top of its head.

“Truly sturdy!” The little guy muttered. Of course, the one he was talking about was that stone. After smashing into that extremely powerful Archaic species’s body, it actually did not crack open.

However, when that creature’s ears picked up those words, it became extremely upset. It felt as if he was ridiculing it, and immediately howled before rushing forward.

It came from the Feather Race, and even though it was only part of a branched bloodline, it underwent a variation, surpassing the bloodline of the King Race. Its power was extremely great, and with a flap of its wings, it was as if lightning hacked over.

“I’m not talking about you, I’m talking about how hard that stone is,” explained the little guy.

“Less nonsense!” The Feather Race expert revealed its might. The birdman opened its mouth to release lightning, however, it forgot that this was the divine garden, and so nothing came out.

With a honglong sound, it adapted quickly, and a wing hacked over. It was like a purple-colored heaven blade, and with a terrifying astral wind, it even hacked open the ground.

Dang

The little guy passively guarded, and his arms were guarding his body as he said, "I didn't intentionally offend you."

How could the Feather Race expert believe him? It laughed coldly and said, "I'm hungry, so if you have any good intentions, just apologize with your flesh."

"This is acting against me forcefully, but why is it another humanoid?!" The little guy sighed.

A battle erupted, and this time, he no longer held anything back. Palm and fingers were like wheels as they continuously attacked outwards. After ten moves, the sky was filled with the fluttering of purple feathers.

The Feather Race expert shouted loudly, and its pair of feathers were completely bare. All of its feathers were plucked clean, revealing its naked body. It had an extremely sorry appearance.

It turned around and ran. If this continued, all of its feathers really would be plucked clean, and it really was going to end up in a pot. It really did not want to be eaten by a human youth.

"I'm letting you go this time." The little guy was angry and regretful that he couldn't eat it.

The stone on the ground was quietly rolling, wanting to escape. In the end, it was directly stepped on by the little guy and picked up afterwards. "In my opinion, you seem rather durable. I can't use any precious artifacts here, so I'll borrow you for the time being."

"Nooooo!" The mischievous stone cried out miserably.

This divine garden was extremely large, and it was flowing with light and color. At first, only a few scattered precious artifacts could be seen, but after entering the interior of the medicine field, things finally changed.

"What a great fragrance!"

Rich fragrance wafted over, and it was as if an ocean of spiritual essence appeared in front of him. It was extremely brilliant and dazzling as the radiance diffused.

That was a true Archaic medicine field. Now, there was even spiritual things growing. No one knew how long many years passed, and many of them already died from age, turning into mud. Afterwards, their seeds would bud and new life would grow.

Spiritual essence surged and turned into a huge sea. It was shocking, and even the human emperor's medicine garden didn't have this many precious medicines. Blazing radiance blossomed, and a dense mist rose as propitious vapors enveloped this area.

"I feel so blessed, as if I arrived in a fairy tale world!"

The little guy was truly stupefied. There were so many spirit medicines, one stalk after another. There was only about ten meters between them with bizarre grass emitting fragrance between them.

You have to understand that a spiritual mountain can only grow a single stalk of spirit medicine. There were so many here, and the medicinal field was so large. There was a large expanse of ancient medicine, and they were sparkling and bright. There was a rich medicinal fragrance, making people infatuated.

The little guy stepped forward and quickly rushed out.

Suddenly, when he got closer, the domain's divine might instantly increased by at least ten times. It made his entire body completely rigid, and the sound of joints cracking once again rang out. His body was resisting an extremely great pressure.

If an ordinary expert came here, they would definitely explode. The space here was almost distorted, and had a strange and terrifying force circulating about.

"So powerful! This must be preventing people from stepping on the medicine!" The little guy softly spoke. He was subjected to a tremendous pressure as he moved forward, but it was still not enough to stop him.

Finally, he set foot into the medicinal garden. He was completely enchanted, and strands of spiritual essence formed clouds of multicolored light as they surged over. It was as if he had just entered a divine sea!

The spiritual essence was too rich, as if it was about to condense into liquid form as it flowed about. The little guy took in deep breaths, swallowing the essence energy. Divine light poured out endlessly from his pores, and his body was bright, as if he was completely cast from divine gold.

“Mine, mine, it’s all mine!” The little guy was so happy he tripped over himself. With so many spirit medicine, even if he ate one while throwing out two, it still wouldn’t matter.

Following that, he then became anxious. Even though there was a stalk per meter, the amount was too shocking... How was he going to bring it all out with him?

“It would be great if I could use the Heaven and Earth Pouch.” He was frowning and worried. There were so much spirit medicine, yet he couldn’t bring it out; in his mind, he truly believed that he would be struck by lightning.

“I’ll eat, eat, eat it all!” This savage child would never waste anything, and directly pounced towards a scarlet orchid.

With a hong sound, he was sent flying. His body shuddered, and his bones rang out with pipa sounds. If his body was not sufficiently powerful, then his bones would have fractured and his tendons would have snapped.

“What happened?” He was shocked. After rubbing his arm, he felt a wave of pain.

“Please don’t bring me any closer.” The small stone shouted miserably.

When the little guy heard it, he directly threw it over. It landed beside the ancient medicine, and in the end, a circular ripple began to undulate, causing it to fly out.

“Ao... Broken, I broke, save me!” It was bawling miserably, but in reality, it did not have a single crack like before.

“So strange... This domain has spirit medicine growing, and is especially powerful. There should be a mysterious prohibiting formation, right? It guards the medicine fields, preventing people from picking any.” The little guy spoke to himself.

He walked forward, and this time he was on his guard. After slowly reaching out with both hands, he tried to pluck out the scarlet orchid.

A strange force appeared. It was the power of the domain, and it violently repelled. It blasted back his fingers, and it was definitely a powerful attack. It was comparable to that of the White Tiger and Great Peng’s fight.

The little guy did not believe in demonic things, and used everything he could to get closer. He reached forward, and absolutely had to dig up that stalk of spirit medicine.

Hong!

He obtained it, but the spirit medicine was also broken. He was blasted into the air by an enormous divine might. Qi and blood rolled about, and a streak of blood flowed out from the corner of his lips.

“What a powerful domain! This is a bit too bullying!” The little guy was extremely mad.

The only fortunate thing was that the stalk of spirit medicine did not receive that much of the attack. Even though it was damaged, it could still be used. He rolled up his sleeves, and gathered all of the falling pieces before putting them in his mouth.

“For each stalk of spirit medicine, one has to pay a streak of blood as the price. This really is infuriating.” The little guy was angry.

Following that, he ate four stalks of spirit medicine in succession. In the end, blood flowed out of his mouth twice. Even though his physical body was strong, and after refining the spirit medicine, he would quickly recover, it was still extremely annoying.

Even though there was such a huge medicinal garden around him, could it be that he had to depend on vomiting blood to pick them?

“Even if it’s like this, I’ll still eat!” This savage child’s world did not have the word ‘wasting’ in his dictionary. He spat out blood four times, and ate nine stalks of precious medicine.

He walked forward with the goal of finding the most valuable precious medicines. After seeing this garden that was full of spirit medicine emit all types of colors, the little guy was truly at a loss. Why couldn’t he just pluck them all?

Suddenly, the smell of blood poured over. He became alert, and saw a corpse in the middle of the medicine.

“It’s him!” It was precisely that Feather Race expert that fought with him not long ago. Moreover, only the top half of its body was left behind, the rest completely eaten by someone!

“It’s only been such a short time, yet it was already eaten by someone?” He began to think deeply. This Feather Race expert was definitely not weak, yet it still ended up as someone’s lunch; in addition, it was eaten alive.

After walking forward a bit more, there were four more remains in succession. The blood had already dried up, and it had already been one or two days since they died. When the fifth corpse appeared, it made him shiver in fear. It was actually that spirit race expert that fought with him before, and was the one that had its forearm torn off by him.

“It also died. It was pretty powerful ah...” The little guy frowned.

These things did not actually make him stop, but it made him increasingly alert. Step by step, he walked into the depths of the medicinal garden. If his suspicions were not wrong, then there was definitely an extremely terrifying individuals up ahead.

“Don’t go forward anymore, we are about to meet pure-blooded creatures...” That stone reminded with a sullen expression.

After walking forward a certain distance, the little guy’s eyes lit up, because he saw a few creatures up ahead. There were seven or eight that were picking the medicine while continuously coughing out blood.

Meanwhile, there were also more than ten corpses on the ground. It was obvious that they could not bear that type of domain any longer, and already died.

“You... Quickly come and pick medicine!” A shouting voice could be heard. The loud voice was shouted towards the little guy.

This was a humanoid creature, and its entire body was full of golden hair about a third of a meter in length. It was dazzling, and it also had a pair of flood dragon horns on its head. They were also golden as they flickered with divine radiance.

“Golden beast?” The little guy was shocked. These types of creatures could only be seen within Archaic divine mountains, and was a servant of the pure-blooded vicious beasts.

Even though it was a servant, they were still far more powerful than ordinary vicious beasts. They were close to half-blooded divine beasts. Because Archaic devil birds and vicious beasts bestowed them their terrifying bloodlines, they possessed an immeasurable amount of magical power.

Using this Golden Beast as an example, its reputation was not fake. It was extremely powerful, and was like a golden sun as it emitted light. It was dazzling, and a fiendish aura overflowed the heavens. As it stood there, it made people feel a sense of fear.

The little guy revealed a strange expression and said, “Are you guys cooperating to pick medicine?”

“We are picking it all for my lord! Hurry up and go!” The golden beast’s two eyes were like golden lamps. Its voice was heavy as it shouted at him.

“Huh? It’s all for someone else? Then I don’t need to worry anymore. Hand over all the medicine now.” The little guy extended his hand, indicating that he wanted the medicine from the Golden Beast.

“What did you say?” It immediately howed, and like thunder, it even shook the heavens and earth.

At the same time, another cold voice also rang out. “Who wishes to seize my spirit medicine?”

The soft voice was not high, but it shook everyone’s ears until they began to ache. There was a terrifying penetrative force, and it was clear that this was a powerful and terrifying creature.

“Me!” the little guy answered.

He looked towards the depths of the medicinal field. Golden sacred light permeated the area there, and like golden waves charging towards the sky it enveloped that area.

“Immortal Spring!” The little guy was shocked.

There was a spring there, and it was only about three square meters. It emitted golden colored fluctuations, and was absolutely dazzling. Blazing multicolored light was like water as it submerged this world. There were a few creatures that gathered together there, and as they approached, they wanted to get some of the divine spring’s fluid.

Chapter 155 – Divine Striking Stone

The light rays blazed extremely brilliantly. The one zhang [1] pool was as bright and resplendent as a golden sun. Illustrious multicolored light shone boundlessly within the skies, and everything shone with a golden color.

[tl: [1] = 3.3 meters]

Within the group of creatures, there were humanoid, bird, and beast species. They were all trying their best to move forward in an effort to get closer to the immortal spring. The golden ripples within the pond overflowed into the heavens. It was extremely gorgeous, and as a result, only their silhouettes could be seen.

The little guy squinted his eyes and revealed a happy expression. In the end, he did not arrive too late, and those creatures did not obtain it yet.

Because the region near the divine reservoir was where the domain was the most terrifying, the few powerful creatures had no way of getting close quickly. They were all a few zhang away.

He played around with the mischievous stone in his hands and aimed at those individuals. He really wanted to chuck it at them and send them flying.

“Save me! Don’t be like this! If I fall in there, I will immediately explode!” The stone cried out with ao ao sounds. It was truly frightened.

“Human, do you know who you are talking to? What are you waiting for? Get over here and pick medicine to make up for your foolishness, or else you will bring a huge calamity to yourself!” roared the Golden Beast.

It was a zhang in height, and golden hair densely covered its body. It was as if a lump of golden flame was raging, and even its pupils were golden as they shot out two strands of penetrating light.

The little guy glanced at it sideways, and then he looked at the few figures beside the pond. He found a large limestone and sat down. Propping up his chin, he began to observe carefully, as if he was not going to get involved at all.

However, its two large eyes were extremely quick-witted, almost as if they had a deceitful look in them. From time to time, he would also laugh a few times. He made a plan, and was prepared to ‘collect tax’ here.

“Human youth, are you looking for ways to die? Did you hear what I said?!” The Golden Beast roared, and its pupils shot out two strands of golden flames.

“So noisy!” The little guy suddenly moved fiercely, throwing that mischievous stone out.

Ah!

Hou...

A miserable cry and a shout sounded at the same time. The playful stone was shouting in pain, and the Golden Beast’s eye was flowing with blood. The corner of its brow was torn apart, and blood flowed outwards. It was stamping with fury.

It was a divine servant, and came from the Archaic divine mountain. Their status and identities were extremely high, and after exiting this world, all types of large and powerful clans would pay their respects. Right now, a mere human youth actually injured its head; it truly made people feel as if it was absurd.

The most unforgivable part was that this stone was too hard. After being struck, he started to bleed endlessly, messing with its vision.

The little guy was quite shocked. This stone was not normal after all, and he suspected that there was something eccentric about it. It really was too solid, even injuring the Golden Beast after smashing into its head.

Ao ah....

As the mischievous stone tumbled on the ground, it bawled incessantly while using all of its strength to express its pain.

When the Golden Beast saw this, it truly was angered beyond belief. Being struck by a human youth was fine, but this dumb rock actually didn't shatter, and was still rolling about here! Was he trying to ridicule it?

It extended out a big foot, and directly trampled down.

"Save me!" The mischievous rock cried out miserably. The rolling chunk directly once again arrived beside the little guy.

"You are even sturdier than many powerful precious artifacts, truly not bad."

The little guy's eyes revealed a strange light.

“You are asking for death!” The Golden Beast pounced over. The golden hair that was a third of a meter long flickered with brilliant radiance as it charged over with extremely speed.

Weng

The little guy once again moved his arm, fiercely chucking the stone out. With a dong sound, the Golden Beast's chin became a bit crooked. A long streak of blood flowed out, and an ear-splitting howl rang out.

It was naturally the mischievous stone that was bawling. However, it was full of energy as it rolled and shouted, "Hurts too much, like I'm going to die!"

"Shi-!" The Golden Beast almost released a whole string of curses, but it covered its mouth. It felt an unbearable pain, yet it did not yell as loud as the stone that was like a pig being slaughtered.

What the hardest thing to take in was that even though it was bleeding profusely, the stone did not have the slightest crack on it. It was still in excellent shape, yet it was shouting so fiercely. The Golden Beast's seven apertures were all emitting white smoke from anger.

The little guy scratched his head. He was quite happy and rather narcissistic. "My hand is becoming more and more accurate, hitting with almost unfailing accuracy!"

"Fuck that stone!" The Golden Beast roared in anger. Its hatred towards that mischievous stone soared, and its enmity towards the stone was about to be on the same level as the little guy.

"Save me!"

The stone rolled, quickly fleeing.

This time, it learned from experience and rushed towards another direction. It wanted to escape, but the little guy was already prepared. Leaving behind an afterimage, he rushed out, grabbing it in one go.

Following that, with a dong sound, it was thrown out a third time. This time, it firmly struck the bridge of the Golden Beast's nose. A kacha sound could clearly be heard, and after that, the mischievous stone howled in grief, rolling while sticking close to the ground.

"I'm broken, I'm broken... I'm going to die from pain, it hurts too much!"

The mischievous stone was howling out, as if it was suffering the pain of being hacked into eight pieces.

The Golden Beast held its nose while tears and mucus flew about. It really was painful and difficult to bear, and everything in front of its sight was turning black. After carefully rubbing the bridge of its nose it immediately erupted in rage.

"Damn stone!"

It was almost angered to death. That stupid stone wasn't even close to shattering, and there wasn't even a single crack on it. It was completely unaffected like before, and the Golden Beast was the one that had its nose broken.

The Golden Beast was half kicking the annoying stone, and half charging towards the little guy. It truly had enough, because it received heavy injuries before the real fight even started. This was an extraordinary shame and humiliation.

The divine servant was extremely powerful, and the Golden Beast in particular had an immeasurable magical power: the Archaic divine mountain's inheritance. As long as it grew into adulthood and appeared on the great earth, it would be absolutely invincible!

However, it could not use any precious techniques here, and could only depend on its own power as a half-blooded divine beast.

"Something's fishy. That stone is not ordinary. Every strike hits the mark, moreover it is so sturdy, as if it's the legendary Divine Striking Stone!"

One of the creatures near the Immortal Spring spoke out.

"Since ancient times, there were only a few Divine Striking Stones in existence. They have all been collected away by great Archaic beings and refined into valuable treasures. How could there still be more?" There were also other creatures that began to doubt.

The mischievous stone wailed with anguish. Faced against that golden bigfoot thing, it quickly dodged and headed towards a burrow to escape.

"Don't be scared, it can't do anything to you. I'll help you vent your anger!" The little guy reached out and with a peng sound, he once again caught it.

This time, he personally held the mischievous rock in his hands, and using it like a brick, he charged towards the Golden Beast. With a random smash, he smashed down ferociously.

He began to fight a great battle with the divine servant. It was extremely fierce, causing smoke and dust to erupt in all directions. The medicinal field began to crack, and even a few spirit medicine were caught up in the fight. Fortunately, the domain was astonishing, and it was difficult for them to truly destroy the medicinal garden.

The Golden Beast was extremely powerful, and precious methods was where it excelled; however, they couldn't be used here. Even though it was still extremely powerful like before, compared to the little guy, it still fell a bit short. After all, it was only a half-blooded divine beast, and the latter was comparable to a heavenly ranked vicious beast young. In this region where they had to depend purely on physical power, it was definitely going to be suppressed by the little guy.

Ah...

Aohou...

Miserable shrieks and angry roars rose and fell in succession, and their fight created too much noise and activity. The mischievous stone in the little guy's hand sounded like its heart was tearing and its lungs were cracking apart. It was shouting in pain as if it was a chicken or duck being slaughtered, but in reality, it was the Golden Beast's mouth and nose that was spewing out blood.

Truthfully, the Golden Beast's hatred towards that stone was already about to surpass that for the little guy. This was simply undisguised ridicule! It was smashed until even its molars flew out and blood splashed onto the ground. That rotten stone wasn't even affected in the slightest, yet it endlessly howled; wasn't this simply mockery?!

After ten exchanges, the Golden Beast was directly smashed down by the little guy. Many of its bones were broken, and among them, its nose, mouth, and forehead was in the most sorry state, almost being deformed.

“It’s over, over! I’ve been crippled!” The annoying stone shouted.

This moment was exactly when the Golden Beast was smashed down by the stone in the little guy’s hand. After hearing these words, it immediately became so angry that it began to emit white smoke, fainting on the spot.

“Stop yelling, you made it faint.” The little guy shook the mischievous stone.

“You were the one that smashed it, hurting me so much, aiyou...” Its voice quieted down before staring at the Golden Beast below.

The little guy truly felt that something was strange. This stone was truly odd after all, and it was extremely easy to use as a weapon. Every strike hit its mark, not failing a single time.

Most of the creatures beside the spring were apathetic towards the Golden Beast’s defeat, and didn’t want anything to do with them.

Only one of the creature’s voice was cold as it said, “Are you trying to provoke me?”

Golden light burned magnificently around the Immortal Spring, filling the air and submerging the area with multicolored splendor. The several creatures there were all blurry, and only their outlines could be seen.

This creature was naturally like this, and it was an extremely terrifying humanoid creature with purple hair fluttering behind it. It was quite clear that this was the pure-blooded vicious beast, because it could be inferred from the servants around it.

“Provoke? I never do that kind of thing. If there’s a need to take action, then I’ll just make my move.” The little guy spoke without the least bit of concern before asking seriously, “What kind of creature are you really?”

He knew that pure-blooded vicious beasts could transform into humanoid forms even in their youth. They had remarkable skill, and it was likely that this was not its true body.

“You are not worthy of knowing!” It stood within the golden light with an expressionless face.

“You are female?” The little guy was curious, because from its voice, he could hear that this was a female who wasn’t that old. Its voice was a bit cold, but it was quite pleasant to listen to.

Ahpu!

The few creatures that were picking medicine almost coughed out blood. This human youth was too intrepid, actually daring to say things like this! There was no one more clear than them on how terrifying that creature was. Their group went up together against it, but all lost in the end. A few died, and they all became a part of the Golden Beast's meal.

“Human, you made me angry. After obtaining the Immortal Spring in a bit, I will kill you!” That purple haired female had her back towards him. Her figure was elegant, and she was extraordinarily beautiful.

The little guy scratched his head and said, “I want to make a divine beast yield, so what is your true form? It'll suck if you ended up ugly after I made you yield. I like horned dragons, Nine-Headed Lions, and creatures like that. Sitting on top of creatures like that makes you feel impressive.”

He had a sincere and down to earth look, and his eyes were full of longing.

The few creatures that were picking medicine were scared stiff. Exactly what kind of background did this youth have? He really did dare to say anything; could it be that he wanted to go against the heavens?

That purple haired girl had her back towards him, and her body was slightly trembling. She resisted her impulse, and did not actually turn around. The domain here was extremely terrifying, and so reaching where she stood was already quite difficult; she couldn't move about randomly.

The other creatures were indifferent. Regardless of whether it was humanoids or divine birds etc, they were all calm and composed. Currently, they all had their eyes on the golden spring before them.

The little guy kicked the Golden Beast as said, “Wake up, time to scoop up medicine.”

The golden beast woke up and was about to erupt with rage. However, only a stone was waiting for it, smashing it until it saw stars, almost making it faint.

The little guy stepped on its body as he walked over and made a move himself. He picked up a beast pouch and after looking inside, he saw a total of twenty to thirty stalks of precious medicine. Among them, there were six or seven that were in excellent condition, and it was obvious that they were dug up outside. The ones that were picked from the medicine field were all broken and in pieces.

“Too great, it truly is a great harvest.”

The little guy's large eyes were curved like crescent moons, and was as happy as happy could be. While sitting on that large limestone, he propped up his chin and began to stare at the individuals near the golden spring.

This child knew from experience the benefits of reaping without sowing, and it felt especially good when it was taken from his enemies. He had his eyes on that purple haired girl, and felt that the best time to strike would be after she obtained the Immortal Spring.

Chapter 156 – Immortal Spring

The little guy sat comfortably on the limestone, resting his chin in his hands while watching the few creatures approach the Immortal Spring. He wasn't anxious at all, and was waiting calmly for them to gain something.

At the front of the medicinal field, a few Archaic descendants were earnestly harvesting the medicine. Every time they plucked a stalk out, they would cough several mouthfuls of blood as a result of their bodies suffering from heavy damage.

“Aren't you guys tired? You all are already coughing out blood to this extent, yet are still harvesting the medicine, not scared that you might die?” The little guy blinked in curiosity as he inquired.

The few creatures revealed ugly expressions that were worse than crying. Did he really believe that they wanted to do this? This was only happening because they were being forced to by that divine servant. Everyone had to harvest above ten stalks of spiritual medicine before they were allowed freedom.

The little guy appeared to know what they were thinking about and said, “Don't be scared, this Golden Beast has been taken care of by me, you can all leave.”

A creature amongst them stammered before speaking softly, “It's owner is a pure-blooded divine beast. We have already promised to harvest ten stalks of spiritual medicine. If we escape like this, it will be disastrous once we get caught.”

“You are talking about her? Don’t worry about it. What’s hers is mine, so just hand me all the spiritual medicine you harvested. I’ll ensure your safety.” The little guy waved his hands, making this look like a small matter.

At the banks of the Immortal Spring, those few terrifying creatures were getting closer to the pond little by little. They were all focused, because they were withstanding too much pressure. The domain here was too frightening, their bodies were in intense pain, and it felt as if they were going to split open.

That purple haired girl had her back towards them, and her body trembled again. That human youth at the back was acting on his own initiative by dividing her medicine, making her absolutely furious. However she had already walked this far, and was about reach the Immortal Spring. If she were to give up here and retreat now, it would really be a waste of all her previous efforts.

“Human, you have succeeded in angering me!” The purple haired girl’s tone was freezing cold. Although the voice was pleasant to listen to, it was full of killing intent.

The little guy looked around, and in the end, he picked up a giant rock that was several hundred jin before chucking it forward. Its target was the back of the girl, and its speed was as fast as lightning.

Hong!

However, as soon as the giant rock was thrown, it was immediately smashed to pieces by the powerful domain. It failed to hit its target, and immediately turned into powder.

Although this action did not harm that girl, it still caused her hair to flutter. She nearly turned around, because no one had ever been so disrespectful to her.

“Not sturdy at all.” The little guy shook his head before evaluating the mischievous stone in his hand. “Should I use you to try? I feel like you should be able to hit the target”

“Don’t ah, I will break into pieces if i enter.” The mysterious stone squealed with a voice that was higher than a piglet undergoing a butcher’s knife as it struggled with all its might.

The little guy hesitated for a moment, before deciding not to attack in the end. The main reason was that he was scared of disturbing the girl from obtaining the water, because he still wanted to get some from her.

The golden spring was resplendent, and the light it emitted enveloped and shrouded this area. A few powerful creatures were doing everything they could to move forward bit by bit, slowly getting closer.

The mood here was keyed up, and it gradually grew thicker and thicker. The reason was because everyone knew that the crucial moment was coming; the time to fight for control over the divine spring was quickly approaching.

“You idiots, why aren’t you leaving yet?” The little guy pursed his lips, and no longer paying attention to the few Archaic descendants. However, he squatted down and looked at the yellow Golden Beast with interest.

“Did you come from the Archaic Divine Mountain?” He questioned curiously.

“Correct. Human, you are truly naive, and dare to even humiliate. You will bring about the wrath of the Deities. If you release me and apologize earnestly, there’s a chance that I will forgive you,” spoke the Golden Beast without much confidence.

“What do I need your forgiveness for?” The little guy held the stone in his hand and smacked it down with a paji sound. It began to see stars, becoming dizzy.

“You... What do you want?” The Golden Beast raged.

“To rob you. Hand over everything you brought from the Archaic Divine Mountain!” The little guy was excited, because that was the place where Archaic divine birds and vicious beasts occupied, so the goods produced there would definitely be impressive.

“Nothing, only my life!” The Golden Beast went straight to the point.

“Do you truly believe that I won’t deal with you?” The little guy glared at it, and began to act himself. He searched its body, but did not find anything at all.

“Speak, where did you put all the treasures? Oh, I know, you must have kept it in the Heavenly Passage you opened.”

The little guy was happy. Treasures could be kept inside the Heavenly Passage and be nourished. It wasn’t that there wasn’t anything good on this Golden Beast, just that the items were too good and did not have to be placed outside.

Soon after, however, he scratched his head. He couldn’t use any of his items here, and couldn’t use any symbols. Naturally, he wouldn’t be able to break open the Heavenly Passage unless he killed the Golden Beast directly.

“This horn of yours is not bad, and shines with brilliant golden light. It can even be used to imitate a dragon’s horn.” The little guy’s eyes shone with light, using force to break off its golden horn.

“Indeed, this is a treasure! The horn of a divine beast has spiritual properties. After grinding IT into powder, it can be use as medicine, and can be considered a rare medicinAL primer,” The mischievous stone spoke.

“I was thinking of eating chicken stewed with mushroom, and was just lacking a medicine primer like this.” The little guy grabbed the stone and smashed it towards the head of the Golden Beast.

“Ah....”

Naturally, two miserable cries echoed throughout, as if it was a slaughterhouse. The cry of the stone unexpectedly overpowered the scream of the divine servant. This caused the Golden Beast to be absolutely resentful while it experienced intense pain at the same time.

Two of the horns were smashed apart, shining with golden light. They dropped onto the surface of the limestone with a sonorous metal ringing noise.

“What a great treasure.” The little guy was delighted, feeling a rich spiritual energy from it.

“I’m going to fight you to the death!” The Golden Beast howled in rage. This was really the unluckiest day of his life. How did it end up meeting such an abnormal and strange youth? Could he even be considered human?

Those Archaic Descendants who were harvesting spiritual medicine also began to whisper amongst themselves. They were starting to feel that this was a pure-blooded savage beast, only that it transformed into a human form.

“Fight what fight? I hate fighting and killing the most!” The little guy slammed a rock on its head, causing it to faint. He didn’t want hear its clamoring anymore.

“If not for the fact that I want to subdue your owner and her back to watch the village, I would have plucked you clean by now and left you for Big Red to cook.” The little guy muttered to himself.

“Everyone here have seen it right? This human youth is plotting something against us. If we successfully acquire the Immortal Spring, he will definitely ambush us. After advancing forward without stopping, our bodies will definitely have suffered some serious damage. When the moment arrives, he might really benefit from us.” The purple haired girl opened her mouth. Her voice was as beautiful as heavenly music. Her figure was gentle yet beautiful, graceful and elegant. The fluttering of her purple clothing made her look like an angel who had descended to earth, but was about to fly away.

“Hey, you can’t frame me like this!” Shi Hao shouted.

“Why don’t we get rid of him first. Clear the area first before competing fairly.” Another creature suggested.

Everyone nodded in agreement, feeling that this human youth was quite strong. If they allowed him preserve his strength outside, it might really pose a threat later.

“Sigh, you guys are bullies. Forget it, I’ll compete fairly with you all. I originally wanted to test how strong this domain was anyway.” The little guy sighed.

He knew that these creatures wouldn’t come out easily. After all, they had already entered such a huge distance; retreating like this would be a waste of all their former efforts.

This was merely to force him to act. If he continued to wait like this as if he was waiting to profit off of their fighting, then those creatures would eventually cooperate to remove him first.

The little guy bore the beast skin sack on his back and walked inside.

Sure enough, those creatures didn’t speak again. As long as nothing truly threatened them, they would naturally hold their silence.

The little guy entered the fray. Looking around his surroundings, he made sure to keep some distance between himself and every other creature. He wanted to prevent the arising of any conflict from the very beginning, and began to walk forward step by step.

The domain here was indeed very strong. No wonder those creatures walked really slowly, advancing only a small distance in the span of half a day as if there were mountains pressing on their backs.

The ground was sticky. The little guy lowered his head only to find that under the golden light, there were quite a few bits of broken bones and flesh. This caused him to be alert, as a few strong creatures had already unexpectedly exploded into pieces here.

The little guy's bones started to creak, because he was bearing a huge pressure. However, his footsteps were firm, forever moving forward without stopping. On this road, he already found eight corpses that only exploded recently.

“What a terrifying domain!”

Finally, he stepped into an even more dreadful domain. His body started to sway, and his speed was not as fast anymore; he was only able to progress gradually.

So far, it was already proven that the creatures still alive were equally powerful. Even if they weren't pure-blooded divine or savage beasts, they were still definitely worth paying special attention to.

The deeper one went inside, the brighter the light blazed. It was as if he was facing a sun that had transformed from an Archaic Golden Crow, and it was so bright that one couldn't even open their eyes. The creatures were no longer that far from each other, but it was also harder to see each other's true bodies.

This place was obscure and indistinct. The golden ripples reached the sky, shrouding the entire place. Everyone seemed to be enveloped and surrounded by a golden ball of flame, dazzling extremely brightly.

Time elapsed little by little, and an entire day and night had passed. The little guy was close to the golden spring and was standing beside the other people.

The pool was filled with golden symbols, and it was shaking and vibrating with a terrible fluctuation akin to the rise and fall of a patch of golden waves. There was majestic and boundless aura welcoming them.

Pu!

A line of blood appeared on the forehead of a person amongst them. Following which, more cracks started to show on his body, and with a kacha sound, even more bones broke. This person did not say anything and retreated rapidly. He apparently couldn't withstand the pressure anymore.

However, there was an even faster figure. This was a divine bird, and its eyes were sharp. It suddenly exploded into action, directly attacking with murderous intent towards the person.

With a kacha sound, it grabbed out, grasping that individual's arm firmly. It locked the person in before bringing it back again.

Ah... That person shouted loudly, and blood spurted out from its entire body. Under the pressure of the domain, the bones broke, and the whole body was in intense pain before breaking apart into many pieces.

That divine bird reached out with a claw and snatched the heart away. It then opened its mouth, swallowing it whole to replenish its energy, “Evolving to this stage can be considered rare already. Bloodline really isn’t the only criterion in determining whether you are strong or not,” muttered the divine bird.

The little guy shivered, this place sure was cruel. Such a strong creature died just like that, and its heart was even eaten.

Half a day later, the few living creatures were making progress with great difficulty. They were finally closing in on the Immortal Spring; however, none of them dared to move rashly.

It was pool of about ten square feet. There was a dense steam rising, making it difficult to see the liquid inside. Only strong waves of life energy could be felt, causing people to feel as if they were about to ascend to heaven.

The little guy stayed at the back, not moving to the front. He was afraid that these people might join hands and act against him together.

Someone kicked a rock into the Immortal Spring. There was no sound of splashing water, but there were golden ripples that clashed like a storm, causing every creature to become apprehensive.

They were able to determine the strength of the domain, and felt that it was possible for them to retrieve the water and acquire the Immortal Spring!

Qiang!

Suddenly, a sharp ray of blade light flew across. Someone had attacked, slicing towards the people beside him. This was not just acquire the divine spring, but also to take the opportunity to kill a divine blooded creature for its blood and flesh as precious medicine.

Peng!

Someone struck towards the little guy. It was a black sharp claw that was sturdier than steel, and it resounded with an ear-splitting noise as it struck towards him.

On the banks of the Immortal Spring, it was absolute chaos. The strongest creatures started to act, engaging in battle.

“Just in time! Pure blooded savage beasts and divine creatures, I will make you yield to me!” The little guy shouted.

Chapter 157 – All Mine

Dang!

Sparks flew in all directions. The little guy collided together with that creature's black claws, creating a thunder-like noise. The earth beneath their feet cracked, and it was incomparably violent and fierce, as if two volcanoes collided with each other.

The creature's pupils were ice-cold, and did not utter a single word. It was entirely focused on the little guy as it carried out its murderous attacks. Its speed was simply too fast, resembling a streak of lightning. Moreover, it was possessed extraordinary strength, making it absolutely terrifying.

Hong

An exploding sound rang out in the air. The creature's tail swayed. It was a black-colored flood dragon tail with thick scales, as if it was forged out of liquid metal. The tail had a metallic texture as it flickered with an ice cold light, hacking towards Shi Hao's head.

This kind of exploding sound was extremely ear-piercing. One could see just how great its speed and power was. Even if it was a mountain that was targeted, it would still be smashed to pieces.

The little guy quickly retreated backwards, and his body seemed to almost be lying on the ground. That scaled tail swept right above his forehead. A lock of hair was immediately cut off before turning into fine powder.

He jumped up and pounced towards that creature's back. His two palms were sparkling as they sliced towards the middle of its back. It created a sharp wuwu sound, as if a divine weapon sliced across air.

The creature was extremely calm. It suddenly turned around, and the vertical eye on its forehead emitted light. Even though it couldn't use any precious methods, it could still make one's mind feel unstable, as if their souls were about to be hacked into pieces. At the same time, its pair of black-colored claws once against stretched out. Dark light danced about, crossing swords with the little guy.

Sounds of metallic objects colliding continuously rang out. The two individual's palms and fingers emitted light, and both of them were dazzling. This was a reflection of their powerful peak level flesh, and both of them had the power to break apart precious artifacts with their bare hands; this was an incomparably powerful battle.

They fought at close range. Even though they were still submerged within the golden light, they could clearly see each other, making the little guys extremely shocked. This was a bizarre creature that had a human face, but instead of the normal two eyes, it only had a single vertical eye on its forehead; it was extremely weird.

Moreover, it had the body of a scaled leopard. The leopard body was slender and sturdy with black-colored scales covering it densely, carrying a truly shocking strength. Behind its body, there was a powerful flood dragon tail. It could annihilate everything by itself, and with a flicker of dark light, even mountains could be smashed into pieces.

“Zhujian!” The little guy finally remembered what type of creature it was. It truly was an Archaic vicious beast’s young after all, moreover being a species that was extremely difficult to deal with.

Zhujian; human face, leopard body, ox ears, and a single eye. Long-tailed and powerful.

It was particularly terrifying because of its extraordinary strength. It could move mountains and overturn seas, and was worthy of its great Archaic reputation. In addition, it could release a huge roar that could kill.

This was definitely a pure-blooded Zhujian. It possessed a shockingly great strength, and was fiercely fighting it out with Shi Hao. Their attacks battered the land until it cracked, causing the great earth to shake with rumbling sounds.

You have to understand that there was an Archaic restriction here. The domain covered the area densely, and could easily tear through an intruder, making it so that only a few people could break into the divine garden's mountains and forests.

The little guy fought a huge battle with it, and his eyes were clear and bright. He was extremely focused, and did not have the slightest bit of contempt in his heart. This was because this was the first time he fought a life-threatening battle with an Archaic vicious beast youth.

The Zhujian was even more shaken, feeling far more shock than Shi Hao.

It was a pure-blooded vicious beast, and was super strong even within his own race. However, currently, it could not immediately kill a human youth, and actually received an attack.

It's worth mentioning that it already reached the ten thousand extreme realm while in the Blood Transformation stage. It naturally became stronger and more powerful, and its flesh reached an inconceivable level.

It felt that in the future, its flesh could reach a Saint level, so how could it possibly have known that right after exiting the Archaic divine mountain, it would immediately meet this type of human youth? It was actually not able to take care of him.

The little guy fiercely contested it, and he was extremely angry as well. He had his cheeks swelled, and his large eyes were widened; he felt that this strange creature was truly hard to strike.

“Why won’t you fall after two or three strikes? Why are you so strong?!”

After hearing his words, the Zhujian’s eyes revealed a completely ominous look before going completely berserk. Originally, it already felt rather stifled and wronged, but now, it was even more unbearable.

After exchanging ten or so blows, the little guy took out the mischievous stone from a beast skin pouch and directly smashed out.

With a dang sound, sparks splashed out everywhere. The Zhujian roared in rage, and unexpectedly couldn’t avoid it. It was struck by the mischievous stone right in the forehead, almost colliding with its only eye.

The other creatures were all startled, and they were even more certain that this was the Divine Striking Stone. One shot, one hit; it was simply impossible to avoid.

“Please, don’t hit anymore... What am I being smashed against? I’m about to die from pain!” The mischievous stone was howling in grief.

Dang

The little guy held it in his hands, immediately beginning to smash down continuously. Even though the Zhujian was using everything it could to contend against it, it still felt its arm becoming sore and numb. Its claws were in intense pain, because that was a sacred object that could be refined by an Archaic might into a most valuable treasure.

After attacking for a long time without any success, the little guy loudly shouted and used his arms to grab the Zhujian, fighting it out at close quarters.

The Zhujian was angry. Its race was known as the Powerful Divine Kings, and during the Archaic years, they would call the wind and summon the rain, sweeping everything before them. However now, there was actually a human who wanted to make it yield with brute force!

Hou... It opened its mouth to roar, and its voice was loud like a divine clock. It shook the area until it began to ring with weng weng sounds. The other creatures really wanted to cover their ears, because they were starting to feel extremely uncomfortable.

The little guy was affected the most, and directly coughed out a mouthful of blood. His entire body began to violently tremble, almost splitting apart.

Other than possessing extraordinary strength, the Zhujian's voice was also loud like thunder. It would make shake others to death, and was truly terrifying.

"You are making me angry!" The little guy flipped out. His cheeks swelled, and his two hands became pinwheels. They danced about continuously, and all of them slapped down on the Zhujian's body.

Because the two were tangled together, it was impossible for them to avoid these various attacks.

The Zhujian did everything it could to fight back, and a fierce struggle broke out between them. Earsplitting sounds erupted, as if two mountains had collided together.

Hong!

The little guy's palms were too powerful, striking one of the Zhujian's claws until it started to spasm and its chest began to move up and down. It spat out blood from its mouth.

Pu

At the same time, the little guy's palms and fingers dropped with the intention of breaking off one of its arms. In the end, it did not twist apart its bone, but it did tear off a chunk of flesh.

Hou...

The Zhujian's roaring voice was as loud as thunder. Fortunately, the little guy was prepared, sending a similar sound wave back as he screamed towards it. His voice was like a divine drum, and was unexpectedly not inferior to the Archaic vicious beast descendant's.

"I am going to eat you!"

The little guy was fuming as he yelled out, and threw that chunk of precious flesh medicine into his bag. Following that, he began to attack with even more ferocity, and was even more imposing than the Zhujian.

Everyone was stupefied. Was this still a human? Why did it seem like he was even more savage than an Archaic vicious beast? He truly was ridiculously powerful.

Pu

Even though the little guy was also spitting out blood, he still occupied the advantage. A palm slapped down, striking the Zhujian and making it stagger. Moreover, it created a bloody wound on its stomach region.

The black scales began to fall from that region, and fresh blood gushed out. However, what made the devilish brat regretful was that there wasn't a second chunk of precious flesh medicine.

The Archaic vicious beast descendant was too powerful, and couldn't be oppressed and dealt with like ordinary descendants; a bloody battle had to be fought with it!

Right at this time, a slender figure appeared. A bright jade palm slapped out, and it was pure white and brilliant as it struck towards the little guy's back. It was incomparably terrifying, and actually twisted the space around it!

Hong!

The little guy turned around, directly meeting it with his palm. A terrifying energy wave erupted between the two individuals, and like a tornado, it engulfed everything.

It was precisely that purple-haired girl that attacked, because she wanted to take care of the little guy a long time ago. Now that the opportunity presented itself, she naturally wanted to make her move!

“Ya, it’s you! You and this Zhujian should both help protect my village.” The little guy’s eyes were widened until they were perfectly round.

The purple-haired girl’s body had a layer of divine splendor covering it, and her fair skin could be seen. It was like jade as it carried a type of sparkling luster. Her large eyes were quick-witted, and her red lips were bright-colored.

However, in the end, everything was still shrouded by the divine splendor. He could only catch a glimpse and could not clearly see everything.

Her pupils were spiritual, but currently, her gaze was extremely cold. She unleashed killing blows targeted towards the little guy, and she was like a divine phoenix as she made her move. Even though she was graceful and elegant, she still carried a vast and mighty wind.

The two individuals fiercely fought hand to hand, and were like two lumps of light as they collided.

The Zhujian roared in anger, and also joined the fray. Immediately, the little guy’s face changed, revealing an expression that was uglier than crying.

Suddenly, a divine bird threw itself over from nearby. Green colored feathers emitted light, and it was adorned with red streaks. It blazed magnificently, and it was the Bifang.

“You truly are a divine bird!” The little guy made a bitter face, and his brows wrinkled together. If these creatures all charged over at him, then he could only flee.

It was obvious that he over thought things, because the Bifang rushed towards the Zhujian. It was not defeated, and as a result of the huge enmity between them, they directly began to fight a bloody battle.

“Thanks bird brother!” The little guy was extremely happy.

“You and I aren’t on close terms!” The Bifang responded, and did not have any intention of joining hands. Creatures like itself did not have many things to be scared of.

“Wait until you are caught and we go back to Stone Village, then we’ll be close!” The little guy muttered with an extremely soft voice.

Hong

The purple-haired girl was truly too powerful. She didn't even reveal her true form, and dared to contest the little guy in her human form. Moreover, she was incredibly imposing, and her battle strength was absolutely shocking.

"Come back with me to Stone Village quickly!" The little guy cried out with loud ao ao shouts, and his body immediately lit up. The joints of his arm sounded like beans being fried, and his strength exploded; he wanted to make his opponent yield.

The battle was incredibly fierce, and the two individuals burst with multicolored light as they continuously clashed.

Suddenly, from not far out, a noise rang out from the spring. Golden ripples surged outwards, covering the sky with dazzling light. There were creatures that were about to enter the divine reservoir, startling everyone.

"Don't fight over it!" The little guy shouted and looked at the divine reservoir. Several creature were rushing over, and he naturally wanted to follow along as well.

However, the purple-haired girl continued to attack like before. The corners of her lips carried a sneer, and she was incomparably calm, unaffected by the activity there.

Her skin was sparkling white like jade, and her eyes were quick-witted. Even though her true appearance was hidden behind a hazy silhouette, making it difficult to see everything clearly, as the divine splendor was shed off more and more, it made her appear extremely refined, as if she was a fairy that did not eat the food of common mortals.

Her attacks became more and more powerful. As her purple clothes drifted about, it was as if she was going to ascend into immortality as she exhausted everything she had against the human youth.

The little guy was angry, and turned a blind eye towards her unmatched appearance. Using all of his strength, he threw out the mischievous stone. With a peng sound, it struck the girl right in her sparkling white forehead.

“Aiya...” The purple clad girl cried out in pain. It could be seen that there was a blister swelling on her snow white forehead.

She was extremely ashamed and angry, and went completely mad. Essence energy surged from her entire body, releasing an undying divine radiance in front of her.

“If you keep annoying me, I’ll smash your incisor teeth apart next time!” The little guy harshly threatened and added, “After making you yield, I’ll make you squat while you guard the village every day!”

Hateful child!

The young lady was furious, and was gnashing her teeth in extreme anger. Ordinarily, who dared to treat her without the utmost respect? Even if it was a hand to hand fight, it would always be a disciplined and upright fight. This devilish brat actually dared to threaten her.

From childhood until now, there still hasn't been anyone able to injure her. Forget about those sweet-talking geniuses from various races, even those true deity descendants treated her with courtesy.

Today, she was actually smacked by a stone, firmly striking her forehead. This was truly the first time in her entire life, and it was an aggravating and painful experience.

The most hateful thing was that the stupid stone was still loudly crying out, talking about absolute nonsense.

"The pain is killing me, it really is killing me... What kind of forehead is this ah... It's harder than a wall formed by a God..."

Was it ridiculing her about how thick her face's skin was? The young lady was so angry she started spewing flames out of her eyes. She attacked with even more ferocity, and not only was it directed at the little guy, she also wanted to smash the stupid stone apart.

"Hurry up and seize the Immortal Spring. After lasting from the Archaic times until now, it should have dried up a long time ago. There shouldn't be that many drops left, and if you arrive late, you will end up with absolutely nothing," reminded the mischievous stone.

When the little guy heard this, his large eyes immediately widened until they were perfectly round and he began to shout noisily, "Mine, mine, all mine!" He quickly charged forward.

"Where do you think you're going?!" The young lady shouted.

She once again made her move, and tried her best to stop him. She decided that she absolutely couldn't let him go!

With a peng sound, the little guy tossed out the naughty stone again, and it truly was a chunk of Divine Striking Stone, with a one strike one hit ratio. Even though it hadn't been refined into a valuable treasure, within this area where precious techniques couldn't be used, it truly was the most powerful weapon.

Aiyou!

The young lady covered her forehead and released another screech. This time, it was symmetrical, and the two blisters were like a pair of dragon horns.

She was so angry her entire body began to tremble. It was simply unbearable! Normally, everyone look up to her in reverence, and was always at the center of attention. She was like an otherworldly fairy, but today, she constantly had stones thrown at her.

This hateful human youth!

The naughty stone was sensitive, and rolled over in an instant with extreme speed. It could tell that here, it was still safest sticking with the little guy.

"I'm coming!" The little guy rushed forward.

The other creatures already entered the divine reservoir to try and seize the Immortal Spring.

After arriving here, everyone's movements became slowed, because the domain was too terrifying.

Even the purple-haired girl, Zhujian, Bifang, and the others were like this. They wanted to attack fiercely, but when they stretched out their hands, it was as if they were old people, slowed down to an inconceivable amount.

The golden divine reservoir began to boil, and all types of multicolored light began to surge. However, everyone there began to cry out loudly. They were suffering, yet at the same time, they were pleasantly surprised.

The suffering was due to the domain being too powerful, as if it would shatter their bodies. They were happy because once the golden fluctuations entered their bodies, it would nourish their essence energy.

Soon after, all of the creatures fell into the divine reservoir.

"Why isn't there a divine spring, and only silt?" The little guy was unsatisfied. He was the first one to come down, and after scooping around with his hand, he did not see any golden liquid.

"This is also good stuff!" The mischievous stone dashed in bravely, smashing into the silt before opening its mouth to swallow with all its might.

This silt was extremely sparkling and transparent. It was rather moist, and flickered with golden multicolored light. All of the fluctuations were created by it, releasing a powerful and immortal divine energy.

The little guy was at a loss, because it was the first time he felt as if there was an aspect where he was inferior at. The playful stone was swallowing with large gulps, yet he could only watch impatiently. He felt that even though his own appetite was great, he still could not digest this type of thing.

The other creatures were also struck dumb. Even the purple-haired girl stopped her attacks.

“Where is the Immortal Spring?”

“How could the divine liquid have dried up? Why is it like this?!”

Everyone began to squat down to search, because they all felt unwilling. It was truly difficult for them to have reached this place, and their bodies had gone through too much suffering since symbols and precious techniques couldn’t be used at all.

“I’ll eat, eat! I’ll also eat!”

In the end, the little guy went against the heavens. Leaning towards the center of the divine reservoir, he dug out the sparkling silt and also delivered it to his mouth. He wanted to be shoulder to shoulder with the Divine Striking Stone.

When the mischievous stone saw this, its jaw almost dropped onto the ground. The sparkling sand in its mouth all flowed out, and it howled, “Don’t fight over this with me! You can even eat this?!”

“There’s nothing I can’t eat!” The little guy spoke fiercely and tried his best to chew. He hoped to chew out a bit of the golden liquid.

Suddenly, he became disappointed. Even though the sand was moist, it did not shed any of the golden liquid.

“Refine, refine, refine it all!” The devilish brat puffed his cheeks and blurted with an inarticulate voice.

Even the Zhijian, Bifang and other pure-blooded vicious beasts were frightened. Truly savage ah... This devilish brat was even more brutal than them! Exactly who was the Archaic vicious beast descendant?

At this time, even that purple-haired girl was stupefied. How could this fellow even nibble on earth? She momentarily forgot about attacking, and did not make any moves.

“Stop stealing from me!” The mischievous stone was resentful. Why was there an opponent even in sand eating? It began to hurriedly swallow.

The little guy puffed his cheeks and widened his eyes. He really was a bit at wit’s end, because it seems like he couldn’t digest this stuff. He was absolutely furious, and in the end, he opened all of the pouches he carried on his back and began to fill them up with this sand.

He began to compete with the mischievous stone, the two of them rolled and fought all over the floor. They made the silt fly in all directions, making the Zhujian, Bifang, and purple-haired girl dumbstruck; they were absolutely speechless.

“Is the human race this violent? Why is it that my grandfather told me that this is the race that is the easiest to bully? That old fart tricked me again!" A younger divine bird was extremely angry, feeling that it was deceived.

The mischievous stone was too good at eating, but the little guy also wasn't someone easy to deal with. The silt was almost completely cleaned out, and soon after, the two of them directly scooped towards the bottom.

The little guy spat out a mouthful of silt and revealed a happy expression. He opened his mouth to chew downwards. This was because he saw a small golden snake, and it was only a third of a meter long.

"The Immortal Spring is actually transforming! It wants to take form, no wonder it's drying!"

Everyone cried out in surprised, rushing out together.

The snake woke up from its slumber. It opened its eyes, and had an ominous and threatening look.

However, it was shocked to find that there was a human youth that was even more savage and was the first to try and eat it. With a kengchi sound, the little guy bit down on its tail.

Hou... With a roar, the golden snake flourished magnificently with light. It cracked open the reservoir, doing everything it could to struggle free. Its tail then broke off.

Soon after, it turned around and fled, turning into a streak of fluid light before leaving the divine reservoir and rushing into the distance.

“Chase!”

The Zhujian, Bifang, and purple-clad girl were all shocked. They ran outwards, chasing after that snake.

“Mine!” The little guy opened its mouth, and as a result, the tail fell out. His hands moved about in a flurry, grabbing it quickly. He was extremely annoyed, and ran into the distance while shouting, “Mine, mine, all mine!”

Chapter 158 – Return From a Rewarding Journey

The snake tail danced about madly. It actually wanted to escape, releasing many rays of golden light like a small sun. The bright light was so intense that it was difficult to see properly.

The little guy fumbled with the snake, and finally grabbed hold of it firmly. However the snake's tail was actually dividing into five little snakes. Each of them was only as large as the belly of a finger, and was about to escape in various directions.

“You aren't allowed to run!” The devilish brat was angry, and enclosed all of them around his hands before stuffing them all into his mouth. With his cheeks puffed, he was threatening to eat them completely if they tried to run again!

The golden liquid collided against each other. The little guy's mouth started to bulge, sticking out in one area before swelling in another. This was a result of the five little snakes trying to escape by tormenting the little guy.

“There really is an Immortal Spring huh. I thought it had dried up a long ago! It's truly unimaginable that there was still something here, and five drops have been captured by you!” The mischievous stone was shocked.

“Do you have any ideas on how to seal them off?” The little guy was covering his mouth with his hands, and asked with unclear articulation.

“Seal it into the jade container, then they can't run off anymore.”

Hearing this, the little guy quickly fished out the small jade container from his bosom and placed the five small dragons inside before stuffing it with a piece of cork.

Then, he curiously stared at the mischievous stone. This guy seemed to know too much. When he was inside the divine garden, he should have drunk quite a bit of the Immortal Spring right?

“You became sentient a long time ago, and contain a huge amount of golden liquid within your body, right?”

“No such thing, don’t set your ideas on me!” The mischievous rock who was gulping down huge amounts of crystal jumped up in fright before quickly rolling to one side, staring at the little guy in alarm.

The little guy didn’t ask anything else. Time was very tight now, and he wanted to catch that golden dragon. If he was late, the dragon would most likely be shared evenly between those creatures.

“There’s no point in going, you won’t catch it. Those people’s hopes and efforts will also come to nothing. Since the Immortal Spring has successfully taken corporal form and it was roused awake like that, it would be able to fly into the heavens and burrow deep into the earth, unable to be caught by anyone anymore.” The mischievous stone shook its head.

As long as divine liquids like this have taken form, they would acquire sentience. As long as they are given some time, they will become strong rapidly and turn into Guardian Spirits, so much so that when enough time passes, becoming a divine spirit won’t be an issue!

Inside the divine garden, the domain does not affect the Immortal Spring. The golden liquid changed form into a dragon [1], and could travel far away in an instant, burrowing deeply into the soil.

[tl: [1] = Not sure if its a dragon or snake, but for snake, the chinese is 'little dragon' which can also mean snake.]

Kengchi, kengchi

The Divine Striking Stone started to crunch on the sand violently. The surface had been eaten completely, so he started to swallow the sand underneath. This place was filled with endless rays of golden light, rising to the top in clouds of mist and smoke, like golden waves. This was all due to the Immortal Spring.

Although that golden little dragon had long vanished, this place was still pervaded with divine light. The sand had been nourished by the spring for an immeasurably long amount of time, and long had its own spiritual nature.

“Don’t try to snatch anymore from me. You already have the golden liquid, and you can’t eat all this anyway!” The mischievous stone cried out.

“I have to bring some back to the willow deity for him to recuperate, and I also have to save another Guardian Spirit.” The little guy plundered some too. The beast sack served a purpose at the moment, and was piled up and filled beside the pool.

The mischievous stone fought with him over the sand. Both of them had similar characters, completely devouring this divine pool. This was still not enough, as they even dug deeper into the ground and continued.

In the end, there wasn't even a meter of it left. They had already exceeded three meters in turning all the soil over. The golden rays of light were completely gone, because the golden soil had all been stolen by these two greedy eaters. This place became completely ordinary.

"I ate to the point of bursting, so full!" The mischievous stone burped in satisfaction. Its whole body shone with light, unexpectedly becoming a little more crystal-like, giving out a faint golden luster. It was much more appealing to the eyes than before.

The little guy opened his eyes widely. This was the first time he felt that he met his match. This guy was perhaps a little strong? He ate half the silt from the spring and appeared like nothing happened to him. He was able to digest it completely, seeming more and more magical.

"You digested it completely?" The little guy asked it. That mountain of golden silt was larger than him, and he actually swallowed all of it.

"How can I digest it all in such a short while. I'm reserving and storing the golden sand at one side, leaving it for later before I absorb it. It's all valuable treasures!"

"It won't be as good then, right?" The little guy asked nonchalantly.

"You don't know what you are talking about! The older the wine, the more aromatic it is. Even divine sand like this is more delicious the older it is. Being bathed by the Immortal Spring for so long, the taste is even better," the Divine Striking Stone said as if hit was drunk and enchanted by something, before quickly coming to himself and shutting his mouth immediately.

The little guy pounced forward and picked it up immediately, saying, “There is definitely something strange about you. Say, was this pool of divine spring drunk up by you?”

“It hurts! I’m gonna crack, quickly release me!” It screamed like a pig being slaughtered.

Now that you think about it, it was strange that as soon as that golden liquid vanished, the domain also became weaker, as if it followed that golden dragon and vanished.

“You clearly said just now that you ate the golden sand here in the past!” The little guy punched it, each punch stronger than the last.

“Don’t hit me anymore, I’ll confess!” The mischievous stone howled miserably.

Turns out that it had eaten this divine sand quite a few times already, and after being found out, it was expelled through the laws of this region. It was difficult for it to get closer to the divine reservoir, and only now after the Immortal Spring was about to dry up did it finally get the opportunity to get closer.

Indeed it had not only eaten the divine sand once, however later on it was chased out by the rules of this place, finding it difficult to approach the divine pool. Today the Immortal Spring had dried up completely, that was why it had another chance to approach the place against.

“Was the golden liquid emptied by you?” The little guy’s expression was hostile, staring at it.

“I can only eat rocks, after swallowing that liquid, it all flowed out!” The Divine Striking Stone was dispirited. It was guarding a treasure mountain, yet could not reap any harvest.

“But you must have gotten quite a few benefits, how much sand have you eaten?” The little guy questioned.

“The first time, I ate about two hundred or more jin before being chased away. The second time was less, and the third time I entered, I was knocked away!” The Divine Striking Stone was resentful.

According to what it said, it ate to its satisfaction only on the fourth time, being completely full.

It was really quite different now, shining with light golden luster. It was more crystalline, and using the little guy’s words, it had a better appearance, a little like a jade stone.

“How did the Immortal Spring become so little?” The little guy was doubtful.

“It became sentient and tried to evolve, to become a dragon-like living being. You think there isn’t a price for this? All of it was used up completely, and it almost failed!” The mischievous stone said.

“What a waste, we probably won’t see another Immortal Spring again in the future.” The little guy was depressed.

“That might not be the case. It has become a spirit and succeeded in making a corporal form. Once it grew stronger in the future, creating more golden liquid would definitely be possible.”

After finding out about this, the little guy became extremely happy. After all, he gained five drops of golden liquid, and the medicinal effect would definitely be astonishing.

“I’ll give grandpa chief one drop, so that this time, he can definitely be cured of all the hidden ailments, and his body won’t be in decline anymore. I’ll give another drop to the Willow Deity, and perhaps it can comprehend some rules and secrets from it. Giving Dazhuang, Pihou, and Ermeng one drop each, to let them have a stable foundation... Ai, there’s isn’t a lot.” The little guy counted on his fingers, find out that there was simply too little. He could only save one or two drops, causing him to be at a loss.

A while later, he came to his sense, saying, “Little stone, you dare to eat my divine sand secretly!”

“No I wasn’t! I was helping you check to see if these beastskin sacks were leaking.” The mischievous stone rolled to one side.

“I recall now, that sentient flower, didn’t you say there was a stalk of sacred medicine? Your sentience might be because of it, so this can’t be false right?”

“There is indeed such a flower, but it isn’t enough to enlighten me. It fought for the sand with me, but it was also chased out at the end. That guy wanted to swallow the golden liquid too.” The Divine Striking Stone was discontent.

“That is a sacred medicine ah, where did it run off to?” The little guy opened his eyes wide, asking it anxiously.

“I fought with it, before biting a mouthful out of it. It ran away, but I can feel that it is still nearby the medicinal garden,” the Divine Striking Stone said.

“You bit it? That is a sacred medicine! Where did you put that treasured medicine?” The little guy held it up.

“Sacred medicine is indeed a good thing. Of course I wouldn’t waste it, such an action would cause me to be struck by lightning. I buried it deep in the ground, when it became dirt and soil, I ate it.” The mischievous stone was immensely proud of itself.

Dang!

The little guy smashed it towards the ground and did his best to stamp on it, making it scream out aoao in pain. Rolling on the ground, it said, “Don’t hit me anymore! Next time we see it, I’ll help you catch it!”

“You should be struck by lightning!” The little guy was infuriated and regretful. That was a stalk of sacred medicine ah, rarely seen on earth, and the stupid stone had actually bitten it. This was already said and done, but this stone actually went to bury it into the ground, waiting for it to rot into dirt and soil before consuming it. The most hateful part about this was that it was completely satisfied by what it did.

“Leave quickly, or else those pure blooded creatures will return and snatch those few drops you have when they find out they can’t catch up to the Immortal Spring.” The mischievous stone changed the topic, urging him to leave.

The little guy nodded his head. The beastskin sack was full of sand, and it was too conspicuous.

He heaved eight sacks on his shoulders while attaching three more sacks to the mischievous stone for it to carry before quickly leaving the divine garden. He originally wanted to make those Archaic species to help out, but after looking around, he found that they were long gone.

The smell of blood pervaded the divine garden. Dozens of creatures had died during this time. Their races were different, and all of them died recently. They were most likely killed by the pure-blooded creatures.

“I finally came out.” The little guy released a breath of relief before taking out the Heaven and Earth Pouch. Removing the golden rope that fastened it, the opening momentarily shone with rainbow light before sucking in the eleven sacks of divine sand.

The palm-sized small sack could absorb a great number of objects, and anything could be kept inside. When used, it was indeed very convenient and also quite powerful.

“What do you want now?” The mischievous stone was held and evaluated in the little guy’s palms. It shivered in fear.

“To catch the young of an Archaic vicious beast or divine bird, then to search for that stalk of sacred medicine,” the little guy said.

“Then go, what are you grabbing me for? The mountains won’t change, the rivers will continue flowing, we will meet again in the future!” The mischievous stone cried out.

“ I just want to let you see the world!” The little guy said.

Entering the divine garden, this brat finally loosened up and relaxed. He had completed his task and found the Immortal Spring. Now, he was looking about to see if he could find something of even more value.

Half an hour later, he dug up eight stalks of spiritual medicine in this perimeter, even digging up the soil and roots completely to keep it intact.

“After planting it in stone village with some golden soil, it will definitely grow well. At that point, the whole village will be filled with spiritual energy!” The little guy was delighted with himself, wanting to forge a paradise for his people.

He immersed himself in finding spiritual medicines, and wanted to take everything here with him.

There were many ancient medicines in the medicinal field, but the domain there was too strong. Even if it were to be dug up, it would also shatter into pieces.

During this period of time, he encountered pure-blooded creatures several times, while also becoming a member to search for that golden dragon. After being tormented for almost half a day, they ended up empty-handed.

Hong

Along the way, he fought with the Zhujian again. This fight was quite violent, and he managed to tear off another piece of flesh medicine.

Dang

Aiyou!

The purple haired girl cried out in unison with the mischievous stone. She engaged the little guy in battle and got hit by the same move again, being smacked by the stone in the middle of her crystal white forehead. A large lump swelled up, making that girl shiver in anger.

At the end, the little guy started to run away, scampering off frantically. He wanted to subdue the descendant of that Archaic vicious beast, battling it repeatedly. However, what resulted was that those creatures couldn't find that golden dragon, and started to cooperate against him to snatch that dragon's tail, engaging in a chase after him.

"You guys are unreasonable, how can you all be like this?" The little guy was extremely angry. He was surrounded, because those powerful creatures had joined hands to kill him off.

"Kill him!" The Zhujian roared in rage. Two pieces of flesh had already been torn from its body. It heard that fellow say that when he returned home, he would barbeque a piece and stew another, making it absolutely furious.

The purple haired girl's beauty was out of this world, akin to an immortal who was way above the common populace. However, at this moment, she was furious. She was actually hit three times by that stone, and now her crystal white forehead had three lumps!

Ordinarily, she was aloof and remote, surrounded by an unearthly aura with many gifted youth of various races revolved around her. Even the descendants of gods didn't dare be disrespectful towards her. Yet today, she was tormented by this brat, infuriating her to the extreme.

What was most unforgivable was that when she was ambushed just now, that brat jumped onto her back. He grabbed ahold of her neck while stamping and biting, arguing noisily about how he wanted her to guard some lousy village. This couldn't be tolerated!

Her, a daughter of heaven, unmatched in her generation who looked down on various races fell to such a state? Being a guard dog for someone, protecting some lousy village?

In reality, she was currently in a rather sorry state. Just now, when that brat was chattering nonstop while wrestling her, it was quite intense. It scattered her beautiful hair everywhere, throwing her clothing in a mess as they toss and turned about on the ground.

They were fighting in such close quarters, and that brat wrestled with her over the ground. This was too hateful, what was this humiliating fighting method?

The Bifang was also extremely angry and had his face darkened. That human youth kept arguing noisily about how he was going to bring it back to see a deity, saying how there was an extremely powerful tree deity there. He really treated it like some country bumpkin! Its race even ate true deities in the past, yet he was trying to kidnap it like this! It sent a slap over, not wanting to hear his noisy chatter anymore. In the end, the hateful child yelled with aoao sounds and continuously pulled out a few of its most brilliant feathers. He was saying how he was going to bring it back to some lousy village and give it to a tiger girl to play badminton with.

“Kill him!” A Horned Dragon was also roaring, transforming into a ray of light before killing towards the little guy!

That hateful rascal was chirping deviously nonstop, continuously wasting its time. He kept saying how it wanted to borrow some dragon blood for some medicinal primer or something, and that it would invite it to eat some dragon blood stewed great Peng.

In the end, the little guy caught it off guard and ripped off two bloody dragon scales before running off.

Those creatures all chased after his ass. The little guy darkened his small face and began to contemplate with a serious expression. In the end, he reached the conclusion that these fellows were not easy to associate with, and that their personalities were too lousy!

Chapter 159 – Forbidden Heavenly Bone Region

At first, the little guy was running around the divine garden in circles. However, he noticed that even though this area was large, there weren't really any places to hide himself. Those creatures were all pure-blooded experts, and they wanted to surround him.

“You all are truly disappointing, really hard to get along with!” His darkened his small face and spoke in anger, running out of the divine garden.

When the Bifang, Horned Dragon and others hear what he said, their nose all almost became crooked. This brat actually had the nerve to say that there was something wrong with their personalities? You good for nothing, after taking advantage of others, you still dare to pretend to be the good one!

The Zhujian became even more angry. After losing two chunks of flesh, its eyes even became red. If that fellow really did pan fry one piece and stew the other, it really will spit out blood.

As for the purple clad girl, she had long turned into a ball of light. She was surrounded by divine splendor, and as her purple clothes fluttered about, she was like an otherworldly fairy while she rushed over.

“Stop chasing after me! I don't want to wrestle you!” The little guy turned around and glanced at her as he spoke.

The purple-haired girl was extremely sensitive towards the word ‘wrestle,’ and bit her bright colored lips after hearing what he said. She truly wished to immediately grab that devilish brat, not to immediately kill him, but to first hoist him up and beat the crap out of him!

The little guy really wanted to make a divine bird or vicious beast yield, but no matter how heaven defying he was, he still couldn't deal with all of these pure-blooded creatures at the same time. After all, he was still young, and his cultivation time was too short.

At this moment, not only was he howling in grief, he truly wanted to face the sky and borrow three years from the heavens.

Finally, he frantically ran and rushed out of the Hundred Grass Land, leaving this sacred ground.

Right when he exited, his entire body flickered. Propitious vapors surged chaotically, and he could once again use the strength of symbols. However, when he turned around, he was immediately shocked; those creature were even more terrifying.

Behind him, it was as if volcanoes surged one after another, and the blazing light rushed into the heavens. They erupted with incomparable fluctuations, and were covered densely in symbols. The heaven and earth trembled, and all of them were like deities.

The little guy's eyes flickered with light. He knew that it was the distinctive feature of those that opened up the ninth Heavenly Passage. Leaving the divine garden made things worse, because these Archaic divine birds and vicious beasts were incredibly powerful, able to sweep everything before them.

He directly took out the broken sword and prepared to cut them. However, when he saw the Horned Dragon spit out a net, he hesitated. That precious artifact was too shocking! It was decorated with stars, and flickered with brilliant light.

This net was incomparably terrifying, the aura it emitted shook tens of thousands of souls. The heavens and the earth were throbbing. It was weaved out of Archaic beast tendons, and was fused together with sparkling and translucent scales one after another; it could swallow up all things.

“Those dragon scales are pure-blooded!” The little guy was terrified. This type of precious artifact was absolutely frightening.

On the other side, a ball of light appeared on top of the Zhujian’s head. A whip appeared, and it flickered with multicolored light and surged with divine radiance. It was similarly terrifying as it emitted an aura that was like the stars and rivers shaking.

As for the Bifang, it was currently standing within heaven overflowing flames. A hundred and eight divine feathers appeared behind it, forming one divine sword after another. They rang out with kengqiang sounds, and their killing intent shook all ten directions!

As for the purple-haired girl, she was currently enveloped within a ball of light. Only a vague slender and beautiful body could be seen. Her figure was out of this world, and dense purple energy rose in her surroundings. It was as if she was a fairy, forming a streak of purple lightning as she charged over!

The other divine bird and humanoid creature were incomparably magnificent as well. Their symbols were so powerful it shook the heavens. The area’s mountains were all trembling and making rumbling sounds.

The little guy lifted the broken sword, but ultimately did not hack out with it. He did not want to fight to the death with them, because these creatures came from the Archaic divine mountain, and definitely did not lack valuable treasures.

“Not good! After leaving the divine garden, they became even more powerful, and their accomplishments in symbols are astonishing! I did not cultivate as long as them, and so if we seriously fight it out with symbols, I will most likely bring about a disaster!”

The little guy did not dawdle and activated the broken sword. He left behind an afterimage and entered the mountain forest, charging into the distance.

With a wenglong sound, the mountains and forests behind him were smashed apart. Multicolored light advanced like a flood, sweeping through this open space. It was incomparably terrifying, and there weren't many things that could stop those pure-blooded creatures.

These individuals were too powerful, and even the hills were blasted into cracking apart before collapsing. They destroyed everything, cutting like a hot knife through butter. They were all chasing after the little guy's butt.

“This is a bit too powerful!” The little guy was speechless. The only fortunately thing was that the mountain forest was dense, and after entering it, he could hide his body, making it difficult for them to immediately find him.

However, there was a divine bird behind him. It spread its wings and soared into the sky, and the sky was even shaking. Its speed was too fast, and it was impossible for him to break away from it.

“Should we run back to the divine garden? These creatures went mad, so if they catch up for some reason, we’ll definitely become corpses,” said the mischievous stone without much confidence.

The little guy also felt that he miscalculated a bit. Those creatures were truly terrifying, and their accomplishments in symbols were shocking. In addition, they all grasped exceptional precious techniques.

“I truly want to catch one!” He began to salivate after looking at them, and was extremely envious. Those precious artifacts were invaluable, and even the human emperor’s eyes would turn red after seeing them. However, currently, he couldn’t handle that many of them, and was being chased down by that group.

Like a wisp of smoke, he disappeared into the great mountains. The purple-haired girl, Horned Dragon, and other creatures were too powerful, recognizing his tracks. They followed him the entire way, wanting to kill him off.

Similarly, the Bifang was even more vicious. Its eyes were penetrating, and as it soared in the air, its gaze seemed like it could pierce through the forest. It continuously swooped down to launch attacks.

The little guy was extremely angry, and really wanted to chop off its wings. The Bifang and the other divine bird’s speeds were too fast, making it incredibly hard for him to break away.

While fleeing, the little guy was wounded, and he spat out a mouthful of blood. The creatures were not willing to spare him, and chased after him for an extremely great distance. After passing through countless mountain ranges, it disturbed many experts.

In the end, he took out an ancient seal, and his heart became incomparably soar. “Sigh, using it once means I’ll lose one opportunity to use it in the future... It truly can’t be helped ah.”

He stuck it to the soles of his feet and his entire body became a streak of light. It crossed the mountain range and directly disappeared. It was so fast that the Bifang, purple-haired girl and the others felt as if it wasn’t real, and was instantly stupefied.

“What is that? So fast, even I can’t chase after it!” A comparatively smaller divine bird was shocked.

“Its a talisman refined by the Archaic Might — Earth Withdrawal Symbol!” The Horned Dragon’s pupils flickered, revealing an amazed look. It never expected the little guy to pull out this type of thing.

“Right, it really is that type of symbol.” The purple-haired girl nodded, and her divine splendor dimmed, revealing her true body. Her clothes fluttered about in the sky, and her sparkling white and pretty face carried a look of annoyance.

They did not continue the chase, because they were fully aware of the Earth Withdrawal Symbol’s potency. As long as it was used and transformed into a streak of light, it could instantly transport one to the extreme of the world, making it impossible to chase after.

After that, they quickly dispersed, taking precautions against each other. They were all descendants of Archaic creatures, and were rather apprehensive towards each other.

“You actually have this kind of good stuff?” The mischievous stone cried out.

The little guy’s heart was sore. He did not catch the Horned Dragon, Bifang, purple-haired, or Zhujian, and instead wasted one use of the Earth Withdrawal Symbol, making him extremely unhappy.

Not long ago, on the Divided Treasure Cliffs, there was a green robed male that wanted to kill him. In the end, he relied on this symbol to escape, and it was seen by the little guy.,

Afterwards, the green robed male once again appeared, and he was a Kun clansman. Originally, their clan’s restricted individuals were going to collaboratively kill the little guy, but in the end, they were lead towards the blasting magma, where he borrowed the power of the small pagoda hidden within the flames.

However, even though the green robed male passed through the magma, he was killed off by the little guy’s dragon shears. The ancient symbol was taken from his body, and until now, it was the first time the little guy used it.

The Earth Withdrawal Symbol had another crack on it, and it was clear that a usage was consumed. It was more worn out, making him pant with rage.

Guangdang!

The little guy threw the head size mischievous stone onto the ground and sat his buttocks on it while breathing deeply. After running this entire time, he truly became exhausted. He didn't get a single break during that entire time.

"Hey, where do you think you're sitting?!" The Divine Striking Stone shouted while grinding his teeth in anger.

"You are so heavy. While running, I still had to carry you along this entire time. I was going to die from fatigue, yet I can't even sit on you right now?" said the little guy.

"You can even carry things that are ten thousand jin in weight, so how could you be tired just by carrying me? Moreover, I didn't even say that I wanted to go together with you! Also, couldn't you have just placed me in the Heaven and Earth Pouch?" The mischievous stone said.

The little guy twitched his mouth. If he did not sit on this fellow, it most likely would slip away. If he placed it into the Heaven and Earth Pouch, there was no doubt that the golden sand in there would all be eaten by it.

The mischievous began to develop a guilty conscience under his gaze, and felt a bit scared as it said, "What are you thinking?"

"I heard from those fellows that you were a Divine Striking Stone. Since ancient times, not many have appeared, and can be refined into valuable treasures. Carrying you by my side is too inconvenient. Why don't I just refine you into an almighty treasure.”

“Ah pei, do you think you are some Almighty Archaic Being? You even want to refine an almighty treasure! Continue cultivating a few more years.” The mischievous stone curled its lips.

The little guy immediately began to pound at it, creating kengqiang sounds.

“Don’t hit me anymore! It’ll be fine if I shrink myself, right?” It howled out.

Finally, the Divine Striking Stone became smaller, and was only the size of a fingertip. It carried a golden radiance, becoming as smooth as jade; its outward appearance was fabulous.

The little guy was satisfied. He fastened it to his hair, near the small pagoda.

“Ah... What kind of thing is this? Don’t let it get close to me!” This was the first time the mischievous stone noticed the small sparkling pagoda. Even though it was only a finger in length, its spirituality made it feel scared.

“Do you know about its origins?” The little guy asked with curiosity.

“Don’t know!” The Divine Striking Stone directly swayed to the other side of his face. It stayed away from the small pagoda, or else it would begin to feel flustered.

The little guy rested for a night and recovered from his injuries. He prepared to go on his way again, and did not immediately go to where Huo Ling’er, Nine-

Headed Lion, and the others were. He was scared that the Bifang, Zhujian, and Horned Dragon were still there.

“The Hundred Shattering Mountain’s most valuable restricted lands include the Divine Treasure Cliffs, Hundred Grass Land, Forbidden Heavenly Bone Region, and a few other places.”

It was early in the morning, and the little guy was talking to himself after he washed up. He decided that he would go and take a look at the forbidden region where the heavenly bone was hidden. He expected that area to definitely not be peaceful.

“That person also entered. I haven’t seen him for so many years, I wonder just how powerful he is now.”

The little guy’s face was peaceful as he took large steps forward.

He used the golden gate to travel through the passage. He continuously crossed many regions and arrived at a bizarre land.

This was a great desert, and it lacked the resources for life. There were stones and sand everywhere, stretching as far as one could see.

There really wasn’t much plant life, and the few vegetation here grew sparsely. Every few li [1], there would be a single enormous tree. They were incomparably thick, as if an ancient dragon was crouching in a coiled position, and its branches and leaves were lush and flourishing. The lack of life force made this place appear increasingly bleak.

[tl: [1] = Friendly reminder that a li is 500 meters.]

As he got closer to the heart of the desert, more and more creatures showed up. The ancient trees also began to appear more frequently, and there was more and more vitality.

“This place is truly strange!”

When the little guy reached the center, he revealed an unusual expression. This area was full of vitality, completely different from what he just saw previously.

The most shocking thing was that those stalks of ancient trees were too tall. They reached into the heavens, and were each at least a few thousand meters in height, absolutely shocking. Moreover, those old vines were incomparably thick, and a single one was enough to wind around a mountain peak. They were like enormous dragons, completely different from the desolate scenery from before.

“According to legend, this was originally an area of distressed earth. Not even a blade of grass grew here, however, the blood of Saints died the surroundings of the forbidden region in red. As a result, the vegetation began to flourish extremely magnificently, surpassing all expectations.” A creature commented on this place.

Only the surrounding of the restricted region was full of vitality like this. An enormous bone monument appeared in front. It was as white as jade, with four characters on it: Forbidden Heavenly Bone Region.

In front, too many people had assembled. There were all types of experts from great races. They were densely packed, and even though they wanted to charge in, they were all rather hesitant.

That thirty meter tall bone monument could also be considered a landmark. After walking past it, one would enter the Forbidden Heavenly Bone Region.

This was an area covered in mist. The vegetation was sparse, and was no longer lush. Moreover, there was a gray mist curling about, and countless white bones could be seen in this vast and boundless area.

“This place... Just how many creatures died here?” The little guy was shocked.

The bones were like snow, filling up this great land.

Hong!

The heart of the restricted area was in rebellion, and all types of tyrannical creatures were fighting. The trembling could be felt even outside of the battlefield, as if mountains were being moved and oceans were being created.

The group of creatures could vaguely see a pair of green pupils. It penetrated through that gray mist, as if it was two divine lamps, making people shiver!

“Pure-blooded creatures are battling!”

Everyone completely gave up. Even the most powerful Archaic descendants remained outside to watch the battle. They were unwilling to take risks, because divine beasts were slaughtering each other there.

“It’s rumored that there was a creature inside that obtained a piece of Heaven Bone! It was full of good luck and was incredibly profound, truly making people jealous!”

Everyone could only sigh, because that was not a battlefield they were willing to be a part of.

Hong!

An endless amount of radiance was released, and a single human youth could be seen within the mist. It unexpectedly shocked the green-colored divine beast into retreating. Each time he stepped down, it would release waves of rumbling sounds, as if a giant was moving.

“It’s him, the powerful eyed expert Shi Yi!”

“A deity like youth, comparable the a God’s heir!”

Many people were shocked. This was not the first time Shi Yi displayed his might, because after the powerful eyed expert entered the Hundred Shattering Mountains, he was always fighting here while searching for the Heavenly Bone.

His entire body was emitting light, and he was surrounded by a divine radiance. His stature was tall and thin, and his black hair scattered about. He was a heaven warping divinely talented individual, as if the king of deities descended to earth, sweeping everything before him!

The depths of the restricted region was in chaos. Divine birds and pure-blooded creatures were fighting fiercely. It was an area of disorder, yet he easily dispatched them, not receiving any disturbance.

A demonic butterfly appeared, softly fluttering. The heavens and the earth shook with honglong sounds, and a mountain peak within this forbidden land was directly sliced off. It fell off, filling the air with smoke and dust.

“What a terrifying Demonic Crack Butterfly! It’s simply too powerful!” Everyone was shocked.

This butterfly’s body had symbols all around it. It was bright and dazzling, and with a gentle flap of its wings, divine light flew out.

This attack was originally targeted at Shi Yi, but was actually blocked by him and deflected towards that mountain.

“That’s a pure-blooded Demonic Butterfly! Tradition has it that with a light flap of its wings, it could crack open the blue sky!” Someone exclaimed in admiration.

“Who would have thought that it was actually pure-blooded! Being this powerful, if it grew into adulthood, it truly might recreate the Archaic Demonic Butterfly’s divine might!”

The Demonic Butterfly was a meter in length, but it was shockingly terrifying.

“Even a Demonic Butterfly as powerful as this was continuously defeated by Shi Yi four times! It’s truly inconceivable. He can actually fight with a devil God’s descendant.”

“It’s quite clear that Shi Yi wants to force it into submission and use it as his mount or a battle servant!” Someone seemed to have come to a conclusion.

With a honglong sound, the Heaven and earth shook. Shi Yi soared into the sky, and his entire body erupted in divine light like a heavenly deity that moved the heavens and shook the earth! His black hair danced about, and his pupils blossomed with auspicious colors. He opened his mouth, releasing a clear roar. Rainbow colored light shot out, attacking towards the Demonic Crack Butterfly.

“What?! That is the Archaic Devil King — Rainbow Peacock King’s precious technique! He actually grasped it! This is already the fifth amazing ability that Shi Yi revealed!

They were all shocked. That Godlike youth truly was like a deity. Auspicious multicolored light surged, fighting intensely with the Demonic Butterfly. In the end, it was completely suppressed.

“The Imperial Family’s background is truly astonishing, actually including five types of world shocking precious techniques! However, it isn’t quite perfect, as they are all from Archaic descendants [2].”

[tl: [2] = This might be referring to techniques that are not from pure-blooded or divine creatures, and are simply techniques like the ones Shi Hao has.]

“Shi Yi is terrifying ah... Actually suppressing the Demonic Crack Butterfly for the fifth time!”

They were all exclaiming in admiration. Producing waves of powerful force, this youth was too formidable. No one could defeat him, and within this Forbidden Heavenly Bone Region, it was truly difficult for him to meet a worthy opponent.

Chapter 160

“This youth is truly too powerful. For a human to reach this level, it truly is inconceivable, and rarely seen on this earth!” The Mischievous stone muttered while flickering with crystalline luster in the little guy’s hair.

The little guy’s face was full of concentration. Shi Yi’s accomplishments in symbols were extremely terrifying and profound, making it extremely difficult to gauge exactly how powerful he was now.

The surrounding geniuses were all gasping in admiration. Even though they were all proud and arrogant, when they saw this type of heaven warping and divinely blessed individual, they all couldn’t help but lower their heads, because the disparity was too large.

“It’s the fifth time he defeated the Demonic Crack Butterfly. I wonder if it will surrender now?”

Weng

Space began to distort, and the stripes over the Demonic Butterfly’s entire body became brilliant. With a flap of its wings, it flew several hundred zhang [1] instantly. It sliced into a hill, penetrating through it.

[tl: [1] = one zhang is 3.3 feet.]

Everyone sucked in a cold breath. That divine bug was too powerful! With just a single flap of its wings, precious light would fill the sky. If it wasn’t Shi Yi that fought it, who else could do so?

The Demonic Butterfly landed on a mountain peak. Its entire body emitted light, as if it was harmonizing with qi through its breathing. Following that, it evoked a resonance between heaven and earth. Countless essence energy frantically rushed towards it, setting it ablaze.

Finally, the Demonic butterfly began to flap its wings before flying over once again. Its two wings flickered, and shocking lightning surged. Electric radiance suddenly appeared, and this place began to curl with clouds and mist as a glaring scarlet light blazed.

“It’s about to release another attack. After challenging so many times in succession today, is it about to carry out its final fight?”

The Archaic Demonic deity’s descendant became angry. It wanted to carry out the final decisive battle, but after constantly losing, it was still extremely unconvinced. This time, it used up everything it had, and exhausted all of its divine power.

The Demonic Butterfly’s entire body radiated light, developing a jade-like luster. Its wings were like two immortal swords, intersecting each other as it rushed towards Shi Yi.

Hong!

There was still quite a bit of distance separating them, but the thunderlike sound immediately shook the spectators until their ears began to hurt. The lightning radiance was like a sea of stars as it frantically smashed out. Countless lightning radiance hacked about, dazzling and terrifying.

The Demonic Butterfly's precious technique was astonishing, making all those watching flabbergasted. All of their hairs were standing up vertically.

Shi Yi was like a deity as he stood there. Radiance enveloped him, and his hair fluttered behind him. His pupils flickered with a radiance that made people's heart rate speed up, as if a God was descending into the world of mortals.

He did not make any unnecessary movements. Directly raising his right hand, he pointed towards the distant heavens. In an instant, he was immediately surrounded by a misty fog that merged with multicolored light. It madly rose, sweeping the heaven and earth.

Honglong!

At the same time, a black cloud began to swirl about above his head. The thunder was world-shocking, and an enormous lightning appeared, hacking its way over.

"He also use a lightning precious technique! So powerful!"

Everyone was shocked, yet they felt relieved in the end. This precious technique was something Shi Yi already used before, and they didn't see him use a sixth precious technique in the end. If he truly did use another one, then that would simply be too shocking!

"That's a Rain Clan technique! It's the suppressing ability from his mother's side of the family!"

Shi Yi's thunder and lightning was something that was absolutely terrifying. The raindrops were like sparkling flowers as they filled the sky, and the thunder and lightning were crazy.

"When he uses it, the power is clearly more powerful than when Rain Clan members use it!"

The people sighed. A heaven warping divinely talented individual was incredible after all. Any kind of remarkable ability, once in his hands, would reveal a power far exceeding the norm. It made it difficult for people to chase after his back.

"One person grasping five great abilities, and any one of them could be considered a clan guarding precious technique!"

Shi Yi was immersed in lightning. The golden light was brilliant, and he was like a deity as he guarded against that Demonic Butterfly. It could be said that the two were like needles in a haystack, as they were all surrounded by interweaving lightning.

This was the most unyielding battle. Tough and bright, there was nothing that couldn't be destroyed. The lightning was like a river of stars as it hacked down streak after streak, making this place incomparably dazzling.

Everyone covered their ears. Those sound waves were too terrifying, and their ears were about to split apart. The electric light was like a storming wave as it rolled up the inexhaustible sea of thunder.

Everyone was dazzled as they watched. Once one's accomplishments in symbols reached this degree, it truly could be considered divine; who dared to attack someone like this? The two individual's intense battle could be considered a historical battle.

Even if the heirs of deities came, they would also be surprised. Shi Yi and the Demonic Butterfly were too powerful!

"If I recall correctly, the martial imperial family only has two supreme precious methods. The rest are merely some small auxiliary abilities. How could he have grasped five clan guarding precious techniques?"

"Don't all of these belong to the martial imperial family's collection?"

"The martial imperial family has no shortage of small abilities, but for true supreme precious methods, if a great clan had even one, it could already be considered quite excellent.

Everyone began to mutter amongst themselves. With the Martial Imperial Family's two great divine abilities and the Rain Clan's suppressing precious technique, these were only three types. There were still two more, so where did Shi Yi learn those from?

Everyone was bewildered, yet they could only sigh. A heaven warping and divinely talented individual would naturally have his own great opportunities.

Moreover, the Martial King is no ordinary person. During his younger years, he fought with others for the title of Emperor, and his strength is terrifyingly powerful. Even though he hasn't shown himself for the past many years, the people would still never forget him. It's entirely possible that he passed down two hidden abilities secretly, and that the outside world merely didn't know about it.

Hong

The Demonic Butterfly was blasted flying. Even though it's lightning was extremely powerful and was not any bit inferior to Shi Yi's, in the end, it was still defeated.

Dual-pupiled individuals were extremely terrifying. A dual-pupiled person could turn just a small weakness into something major before attacking fiercely. As long as a small opportunity was given, it would inevitably be destroyed.

Shua

Thunder and lightning were dispersed everywhere, and the Demonic Butterfly was unwilling as it turned into a streak of light. It rushed over with its two wings like immortal swords, sparkling and transparent. They were brilliant to the point of making it difficult for people to open their eyes, and killing rays shone everywhere.

Divine radiance erupted from the pair of wings, scattering down streak after streak. It cracked apart the mountain peaks and valleys, and they collapsed with honglong sounds.

Everyone was overwhelmed with shock, and couldn't help but feel scared.

That pair of crystalline and brilliant butterfly wings were truly like a pair of immortal swords. They were too sharp, and the light they emitted could conquer everything as it slashed towards Shi Yi.

Shi Yi was fearless. He opened his eyes and shot out a terrifying net. A divine sound followed, and a radiance formed from mysterious symbols enveloped the region in front of him.

This type of scene was extremely startling, and it was as if the sky was being opened. The hazy radiance was extremely similar to the energy of primal chaos as it surged.

“Dual-pupils opening the heavens!” Someone cried out in alarm.

The rumors were true after all! Shi Yi’s twin pupils truly have immeasurable and profound divine might. It can suppress and kill enemies. His pupils emitted a divine light, focusing on the heaven and earth.

The Demonic Butterfly struggled, but in the end, its two wings went rigid. It was restricted in the sky, and the light from its wings dimmed. It was difficult for it to emit any sword radiance, and was quiet as it stayed in the air.

“Other than this, what else do you have?” Even though the Demonic Crack Butterfly was trapped, it was not frenetic. Its voice was cold and clear, and was actually the voice of a young girl.

Shi Yi did not say anything. His entire body emitted light, and with a hong sound, all types of symbols appeared in the surroundings. The most frightening part was that several Heavenly Passages appeared, and deity like creatures were stored within them.

Within one of the Heavenly Passages was a Rainbow Peacock. It spread its wings and cried out, flickering out with a bright radiance. It was powerful and frightening.

In another Heavenly Passage, there was a Bi'an. It was incomparably ferocious, and was similar in shape and appearance to a divine tiger with dragon horns. Its entire body bloomed with light, blinding one's vision as it roared with its head held high.

Within the third Heavenly Passage, there was a Golden Peng that seemed to be formed out of gold. Its pupils were like lightning, and as golden light surged from its entire body, it was as if an Archaic deity once again appeared!

The fourth one...

A total of five Heavenly Passages emitted light, and terrifying creatures occupied them. There was a Rainbow Peacock, Bi'an, Golden Winged Peng and others. All of them were circling around Shi Yi's side, and the splendid rain of light danced about him, making him seem like a king among deities, one that looks at everyone with disdain.

Everyone was amazed. The realm of perfection in precious techniques were reflected in the profound symbols found within these five divine techniques! However, each precious technique was concentrated into a single symbol. As they were nourished within a Heavenly Passage, it gave birth to those Archaic divine birds and vicious beasts!

"One symbol, one precious technique!"

“One Heavenly Passage can store one supreme creature!”

The people became shocked one after another. This was too terrifying! Only one who possessed natural talents as well as an extremely high level of understanding and comprehension in symbol could be so outstanding.

“Worthy of being called a dual-pupiled individual! As long as one appeared within the human race and matured properly, they would become comparable to saints and deity like existences!”

The various race’s experts were all quaking in fear. They were simply not a match for this youth!

Outside the crowd, the little guy fetch a handful of golden silt before tossing it into his mouth. Kengchi kengchi sounds rang out, and his face was expressionless.

The fingertip sized playful stone that was as smooth as jade was flowing with a faint golden luster. Upon seeing this, it immediately cried out in grief, “Wasn’t that left behind for me? How could you eat it?!”

“Eat up, eat up, refine it all up!” The little guy spoke to himself. The sparkling sand was being chewed up within his mouth, and his words were unclear as he said, “I really want to grow up two or three more years!”

“Regardless, you still can’t eat the divine sand! You really can’t digest this stuff!” When the Divine Striking Stone saw how he was wasting it, its heart hurt so much it felt as if it was dying.

“You don’t understand!” The little guy spoke. Even though he was chewing on the golden silt, he was somewhat absent-minded. His mind was everywhere, and scenes from his past appeared one by one.

The Divine Striking Stone was amazed. As it watched the little guy eat the silt, it suddenly felt as if there was something deeply hidden within his heart. He seemed extremely savage, but was actually recklessly trying to increase his strength.

“That Godlike youth is your main adversary?” Asked the mischievous stone.

The little guy smacked it, creating a dong sound and said, “I am without rival!”

The mischievous stone fought back and said, “If you keep smacking me, I’m going to leave!”

The little guy grabbed it in one go and placed it in his mouth before chewing and saying, “How much good stuff of mine did you eat up already? Your essence’s divinity should have improved by a lot, so let’s me see if what you taste like.”

“Save me!” The Divine Striking Stone screeched. This savage child really was biting it with gazhi gazhi sounds!

Shi Yi nce again released the Crack Demonic Butterfly. He threw it into the depths of the Restricted Heavenly Bone Region, into the mist. Following that, the dual-pupiled individual [2] entered as well, disappearing from sight.

[tl: [2] = Shi Yi of course, but you know, chinese. Always Riddles.]

Hong!

An hour later, a loud world-shaking sound was released. This entire small world was shaking and emitting light. Every region's passageways began to turn fuzzy, and all of the golden gates quickly dimmed before completely disappearing.

All of the regions within the small world were fused together, becoming connected. They no longer needed to borrow support from the golden passageways to travel between regions.

The entirety of the Hundred Shattering Mountains appeared, and no longer was it separated into chunks.

It was now reaching the final period of its opening, and was about to end. Anyone who wanted to enter again would have to wait another 100 years. Moreover, this signified that the true crisis was approaching.

From ancient times until now, it had always been like this. When the regions connected, not only would geniuses collide with each other more often, the more terrifying part was that the indigenous creatures of the Hundred Shattering Mountains would hunt and feed!

Aohou...

An oppressive roar sounded out, shaking this entire world. Terrifying auras proliferated from the depths of all the great mountain ranges, shaking all the mountains!

Of these formidable creatures indigenous to this land, quite a few were previously sealed within these narrow regions. Now that they were completely free, they frantically rushed towards their territories.

It was as if they received some kind of order, and began to massacre these geniuses from outside this world!

Wuwu...

A group of humongous bats flapped their wings and emitted hissing noises. Every one of these bats were as large as pterosaurs. They broke out from the sealed abyss, hiding the sky and covering the earth as they slaughtered in all directions.

A Silver Leopard awoke within a mist shrouded ravine. After standing its body up, it was over several hundred meters in height. Its entire body flickered with silver scales. It suddenly jumped, and with a hong sound, it descended on a mountain peak. A claw descended, directly causing the mountain top to collapse.

Kacha!

An active volcano split open, and a completely scarlet red Luxurious Cow rushed out. It treaded on magma, and its roar shook this small world. It made all of the mountains and rivers crack open.

“These outsiders dug up and ate spiritual medicine as well as plundered precious artifacts. They have roamed freely around here for too long. It’s about time for us to begin our feast as well!” A Blue-eyed Golden Beast opened its mouth.

It walked out from a great river, and it was similar to a qilin [3]. There was a pair of antlers on its head, and scarlet scales covered its body densely. Its tail was like a mace, and its claws were extremely sharp. Its entire body was scarlet red, and as water vapors filled the air, multicolored light surged.

[tl: [3] = A bit similar to the Japanese's Kirin.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Qilin>]

On top of a high mountain peak, a Peacock and a Golden Peng were standing side by side. They watched over everything within the mountains and rivers. Following that, their bodies erupted in precious light, causing the mountain to crack apart in all directions. They spread their wings and took to the skies, charging into the mountains separately.

Chapter 161 – Blood Colored World

The Hundred Shattering Mountains is an extremely dangerous place. The mortality rate was high, and if forty percent of the incoming geniuses survived, it would already be quite good. In actuality, the number of survivors was far from reaching even a tenth during the most terrifying year!

This was a treasure land, yet it was also a blood-dyed demonic earth. Luck and death danced together, and if one wanted to reap the benefits, their life had to be used as a bargaining chip.

The Hundred Shattering Mountains were in chaos, and vicious beasts, birds, and humanoids were fleeing for their lives. The ancient creatures were all incredibly ferocious, as if they climbed out from the pits of hell. They opened their huge bloody mouths and slaughtered towards everyone.

Ah...

Immediately, miserable cries sounded out from everywhere. All types of ancient beasts appeared from within the mountain abyss, sweeping towards geniuses from all races. They were all extremely old demons and ridiculously powerful.

A loud roar struck down like heavenly thunder. Everything shook, causing sand to fly and rocks to tumble about. A black Hou rushed out from the mountains, and even though it wasn't pure-blooded, its figure was shockingly large. As it ran over, it carried with it a strong gale, shaking the earth and mountains.

It opened its bloody mouth wide, and immediately bit a Silver Blood Giant to death. It swallowed it whole, and then immediately swiped down with a claw. Three geniuses exploded, and a bloody light entered its mouth.

“Kill it!”

Experts from all races cried out as they began to fight back one after another.

Its pupils were ice cold. They shot out an expanse of gorgeous radiance, smashing apart the area in front of it. Flesh and blood were immediately mangled and mutilated, and all types of limbs fluttered about; no one could fight back.

As soon as this black Hou opened its mouth, more than ten geniuses would immediately be swallowed inside. It was simply a Asura King, fierce and unrivalled.

It was precisely this creature that was without equal during the Archaic year when saints descended. Every creature wanted to avoid it, and even deities being murdered was not a strange sight.

Even though it was a descendant that did not have a pure bloodline, it was still extremely terrifying. They relied on mixed bloodlines, yet they could similarly cultivate to a very high realm; they massacred in all directions.

The black Hou in front was the perfect demonstration of this. It opened an entire road of slaughter, swallowing hundreds of experts. It was crushing everything like a roller, and it was difficult for it to meet a true opponent.

Of course, this was related to its long period of cultivation. After cultivating for endless years bitterly, it became exceedingly powerful. It shouted, and wanted to find the most powerful pure-blooded creatures in hopes of being able to swallow them to advance in strength; it wanted to improve greatly in its road of cultivation.

The geniuses did not have any complaints. Since they already made the decision to enter the Hundred Shattering Mountains, then they had to make mental preparations for these types of situations. Opportunities had to be gained by risking one's life, and even if their cultivation period was shallow, they had no one else to blame for it.

Aohou...

The black Hou roared, creating a road of killing. It charged towards the most concentrated group of geniuses.

Every region was like this. Powerful birds and beasts broke out from their restraints and seals, murdering their way over. Blood splashed out along the sides, and their gazes were terrifying as they searched for the most powerful food.

It was originally an area of treasure ground, and all types of geniuses were picking spirit medicine, searching for precious artifacts as well as for things that saints left behind in hopes of receiving a heaven defying opportunity. However currently, everything changed, and the pure land had turned into a hell. There was slaughtering everywhere, and they became the food of the indigenous creatures.

Of course, the Divided Treasure Cliffs, Hundred Grass Land, Restricted Heavenly Bone Region, and the seven or eight other regions were the most terrifying. All of the ancient monsters within rushed out with an appetite for Archaic divine birds and pure-blooded beast descendants.

Wu...

A fierce gale appeared abruptly, and a hundred meter tall Dragon Horned Lion stood up before killing its way over. With a swipe of its claws, mountain peaks were collapsed. It was terrifyingly powerful as it pounced over towards the ten geniuses below.

Pu

It opened its mouth to spit out a precious light, and as it danced about, they became brilliant streaks of light blades. The ten geniuses were sliced apart, turning into chopped limbs and broken bodies. Soon after, the fierce teeth within its wide mouth shone, creating a vortex. It directly swallowed all of the bloody mist and corpses into its mouth.

A ruthless massacre unfolded, and this became a blood flowing world. It was vastly different from what it was like previously, and a great deal of geniuses were howling in grief as they tried their best to escape.

They were still young, and if they were allowed to mature, they would definitely have been destined to have names that tremble large regions of people. However now, they met this calamity, and was being hunted down by these ancient monsters; there was no road into heaven and no gate into earth.

However, they truly had no one else to blame. They chose to improve themselves by coming here and wanted to obtain opportunities. As a result, they already made the mental preparations to invest their lives prior to coming here.

A Blue Eyed Golden Pupiled beast¹ appeared in the vicinity of the Divided Treasure Cliffs, cutting off the geniuses of all types of races. Its build resembled that of a Qilin, but when its fierce teeth opened and closed, it was incomparably vicious looking. In the blink of an eye, it swallowed those geniuses, blood dripping from its snow white teeth.

During the Archaic years, the Blue Eyed Golden Pupiled Beast was one of the ten great mounts. The saints were extremely fond of it, because beside the fact that it looked like a bold and powerful spirited horse, its power was also publicly known.

Hou...

Within the historical ruins on the outside of the Divided Treasure Cliffs, corpses were collapsing in large expanses. Bloody rain scattered down, and this vicious beast carried out a great massacre. Its cultivation realm naturally far surpassed everyone else's.

It was a blood-colored world. The mountains and rivers were in chaos, and all of the powerful individuals were trying to escape. The geniuses from various races were all in fear, and they never thought that this moment would appear so suddenly without any warning.

It would be a vain attempt for them to search for opportunities now, and being able to survive was already a fortunate thing. To protect their own lives was the greatest challenge they had to face during the next few days.

Ordinarily, these circumstances don't persist for more than a few days. Afterwards, the Hundred Shattering Mountains' exit would open, and that is precisely the opportunity for them to break out of this blood-colored hell.

Countless golden light flickered, and a golden Peng took to the skies. It covered the heavens, slaughtering its way into the Restricted Heavenly Bone region. It completely scattering the mist in this region.

Its goal was evident, and it was to kill the pure-blooded creatures and eat their precious flesh medicine, refining its own great Peng true blood. It wanted to reach a crucial point and advance another step to become more powerful.

Honglong

Those golden wings were incomparably huge, and were roughly a hundred meters in width. They swept past everything, and many mountain peaks were directly snapped in half by those golden divine wings. The sliced surfaces were smooth, and were incomparably glossy.

Within the rumbling sounds, several mountain peaks fell, and dust soared into the air.

Towards the numerous geniuses here, it was simply a type of unchallengeable divine might. How were they supposed to resist? Even Archaic vicious beasts descendants were not its opponent.

The bright golden light was dazzling, and the giant Peng's body covered the sky. It emitted a terrifying aura that made a large number of geniuses feel dread and tremble.

This golden Peng was rather fussy, and did not impatiently make its move. It was constantly searching for powerful food, because its cultivation was extremely long. As a result, weak creatures were not even worth its attention.

Dark clouds concealed the sun, and the large number of bats appeared. Every single one of them were several meters long, creating a large expanse of darkness. They were like a group of pterosaurs as they filled the sky, and in fact, their names were called bat dragons. They swooped down towards everyone.

Their precious techniques were extremely terrifying, being a type of formless fluctuation. It pierced gold and cracked stone, making everyone on the ground immediately cry out miserably. Many creatures began to bleed from their seven apertures, and their ears in particular became badly mangled and mutilated.

This was a place of bloodbath. A single Bat Dragon might not be too terrifying, but with such a densely packed mass that completely covered the Restricted Heavenly Bone Region's surroundings, who could fight back?

Below, everyone was in a terrible situation. Corpses dropped one after another, and were devoured by the Bat Dragons that swooped down.

In the end, the Golden Winged Peng became discontent. With an angry cry, countless golden divine feathers flew out. With pupu sounds falling incessantly, it penetrated over ten Bat Dragons, and they fell one after another onto the ground.

Its terrifying prestige was not something one could afford to offend. Whoever dared to provoke it will inevitably have to pay with their blood and life, and these Bat Dragons interfered with its hunt.

In reality, Archaic beast young were all powerful and quick-witted. Their senses were extremely keen, and since they previously received their elders' warnings, they have already used their great abilities to mask their auras, leaving this place at the first moments.

"So powerful! I'm also going to leave stealthily!" The little guy was mixed within the crowd. He attacked outwards, and did not try to stick out. He did not stay at the very front, and was always at the very edge as he began to make a great retreat.

Other than those powerful kings, there were still many others within the Hundred Shattering Mountains. Many creatures that were similar in strength to the geniuses were closing in, carrying out a murderous encirclement.

The people were overwhelmed with shock. When they entered, the breeze was still and the waves were quiet; they didn't notice these creatures at all. Now, all of them rebelled, appearing together while treating them like prey.

Finally, the little guy escaped from the Restricted Heavenly Bone Region and left this desert. He rushed into the boundless mountain range.

He quickly became dumbstruck, because regardless of what place it was, there would still be fierce beasts wreaking havoc everywhere. The Hundred Shattering Mountains were full of vitality, and it was an extremely vast small world. It produced too many vicious spirits, and they were killing everyone everywhere.

Along the road, he saw too many people die, and even the woodlands were dyed in red. Within those sinister indigenous creatures, there were humanoids, beasts, and even plants. They were devouring experts from all races with large gulps. The sound of crushed bones rang out with gechi gechi sounds, and as fresh blood flowed out, it made everyone terrified.

It was exceedingly miserable; this was a blood-colored world!

The little guy noticed that of the experts that escaped together with him from the Restricted Heavenly Bone Region, seventy percent had already fell, becoming the food of these kings. Scarlet colored blood splashed out, and only a few shattered bones were left behind.

“Older brother!” A human girl cried out with a heart wrenching scream.

In the distance, a black clad youth released a loud roar. He was doing everything he could to struggle, but it was completely useless. His body was snapped apart by a great crocodile’s mouth before being swallowed.

“Move out of the way!” The little guy cried out.

That girl’s eyes lacked emotion, and when she heard the warning, it was already too late. An enormous sawtooth bird swooped down, and with a pu sound, it bit her into pieces, swallowing a large chunk of her flesh.

The little guy lifted a large boulder that was several tens of thousands of jin in weight. With a honglong sound, it smashed towards the sky. It struck that vicious bird whose mouth was like a sawtooth, smashing apart the flesh where it made contact, making it fall onto the ground.

However, he was still too late, and that girl had already died.

The little guy did not pause unnecessarily and quickly left, because he didn’t have the time to tend to everything; this type of thing was happening everywhere. It was as if he came out from a pile of flesh, and too many creatures were being killed.

Hou...

An unusual ferocious beast roared, hissing towards him. Its large mouth opened, and its fierce teeth were like daggers. Precious methods rose as it slaughtered its way over.

Hou!

The little guy also roared loudly, his voice sounding even more berserk. He directly threw himself over, revealing his small snow white canines as if he was going to eat it.

The vicious beast became shocked. Why did it feel like it somehow became the food instead? It rushed forward fiercely in anger.

In the end, the little guy killed it. With a pu sound, its head fell down, and blood frantically surged.

“It’s another formidable precious beast! Even though its symbolled bone shattered, its flesh’s essence is still there!” After charging out of the Restricted Heavenly Bone Region, this was the twelfth vicious beast he placed into his heaven and earth pouch along his road of slaughter.

He did not want ordinary creatures that were killed, and only wanted the most powerful types of strange beasts, because those were the most precious flesh medicines!

“I’ve previously arranged to meet with Big Red, Huo Ling’er, Nine-Headed Lions at the rendezvous point. That place isn’t too far from the Hundred Shattering Mountain’s central region, so I should go and find them.”

The little guy was worried that they might have encountered some disaster. Even though he knew that it was extremely dangerous to look for others within this blood colored world, he still did not want to give up. He left behind a trail of blood as he killed his way forward.

“Yi, I’m getting closer to the central region, the nest of the kings!” He was shocked. He came to this place before, but back then, all these volcanoes and great ponds were all closed off. They were all previously sealed, and no vicious spirits appeared.

Now, things were completely different. The golden passageways within the Hundred Shattering Mountains had disappeared, and every region was connected together. The sealed regions had all been freed up, and the central region became a dangerous land.

“Bifang!

While passing through a cliff, he became shocked. He saw that powerful divine bird, and it was unexpectedly also roaming about here.

If he used his physical body to contest it, then he wouldn’t be inferior to anyone. However, the other party’s cultivation period was longer than his, and its knowledge regarding symbols was excessively terrifying. After breaking out from the Hundred Shattering Mountains, it would definitely proclaim itself as a king.

“What is it doing?”

This region was relatively peaceful, because normal vicious beasts didn't dare invade here. This was an area where kings roamed.

The Bifang's body was like a crane. Its entire body appeared to be made out of green gold, and there were blood colored streaks running along it. The divine feathers covering it were sparkling and brilliant. It was extremely prudent, and was flying within the shrubbery. It carefully approached a hill where a giant nest rested.

“This fellow is so shrewd!” The little guy revealed a strange expression.

The king left its nest, and was currently looking for food. The most powerful descendants were their favorite. However, these Archaic divine birds and vicious beasts weren't so easy to deal with. They avoided being killed, and were currently going to the king's nests to steal things while they were away.

The little guy climbed on top of a mountain peak and surveyed the cliff from the elevated position. There was a nest there, and inside was a silver egg. It seemed like it was burning, and as flames raged, it flickered with bright multicolored splendor.

After the Bifang decided that there were no creatures protecting it, it rushed over and quickly threw itself over. That sharp bird beak easily broke through the divine egg with a pu sound, and it directly began to suck the juice inside.

“Wastrel!” The little guy's heart was extremely sore. This was definitely the egg of a powerful descendant. If it was bred, it would represent a type of extremely powerful precious technique.

However, the Bifang was a true divine bird itself, so how could it not have disdain towards the precious techniques of other descendants? Especially towards those of other bird species, it needed it even less, and as a result, it directly used it as precious medicine.

“If you don't need it, can't you give it to me? Giving you a pile of precious medicine would even be fine.” The little guy was grinding his teeth until they made gabeng sounds. He only had two precious techniques, and they were both obtained himself through trials and tribulations. He could not compare to Shi Yi, Bifang, or Zhujian, and even if he was compared to other descendants, he was still just a suffering child.

“Give it to me!” The little guy opened the heaven and earth pouch while grumbling in anger. Multicolored light immediately sprayed out, and that broken egg was immediately collected into the pouch.

The Bifang immediately became extremely angry after finding out that there was actually someone who dared to steal food from the tiger’s den. It had just eaten a small portion and felt the huge amount of essence accumulated within, but it was then actually stolen by someone.

When it saw that hateful human youth, it was even harder for it to restrain its anger. It spread its wings and pounced out.

“Collect!”

The little guy aimed the heaven and earth pouch towards it. His eyes emitted light and wanted to collect the divine bird. If he could have it in his hands, the benefits would undoubtedly be enormous and beyond belief.

“For stealing a bird egg, you must use your body to pay!” The savage child shouted.

On top of his hair, the divine striking stone was speechless.

The Bifang was beyond angry, and cried out furiously. However, its body was beyond its control, and was truly flying towards the heaven and earth net. This was an extremely powerful precious artifact.

“Stop this instant!” The Bifang shouted, and a hundred and eight divine feathers appeared behind it. With a kengqiang sound, it was as if immortal swords were emitting their precious splendor as they submerged the broken cliffs.

The little guy did not say anything else. He took out the broken sword and hacked downwards.

The Bifang's expression changed. A lump of light was spat out from its mouth, and a supreme precious treasure appeared. It immediately blocked off the thick sword qi, and as a result, the bird's nest and mountain region below immediately exploded.

Rubble collapsed, forming a cloud of smoke and dust. When the cloud of dust scattered, the little guy's traces disappeared.

The Bifang's pupils revealed a vicious light. It leapt towards the heavens in search of the little guy's whereabouts. However, as soon as it reached a high altitude, a vicious bird cried out from the distance. It was like a milky way galaxy, silvery white and pure. It directly charged over, and was even more furious than the Bifang.

Whoosh!

After receiving its anger, the Bifang also fled. This was because the true victim's family came back, and the master of the silver divine egg returned.

"These fellows truly have guts, actually going against the dao. All of these creatures are making their way into the Hundred Shattering Mountain's deepest regions to steal everything from the most powerful creatures' precious ground." While moving forward, the little guy noticed the tracks of the Zhujian, Horned Dragon, and other Archaic vicious beast youth.

It was not just the Bifang; other creatures all entered as well.

"I like this!" His large eyes emitted a happy radiance. He clenched his fists; how could he miss such a heaven defying chance? Either way, he still had to enter the mountains, so he was just going to loot a bit behind these divine birds and vicious beasts.

"Yi, it's him!" Not long after, the little guy noticed the purple-haired girl within the Hundred Shattering Mountains' depths. She was currently stealthily hiding her tracks and moving forward carefully.

"This spotlessly white girl who is being surrounded by a hundred and eight divine rings, exactly what type of divine bird or vicious beast is she? What kind of opportunity is she searching for?" The little guy crouched down and carefully followed along. He felt that if there was a need, he would get into another tussle with her.

Chapter 162 – Bite One’s Ear

The mountain forest was extremely dense, and the enormous mountains were tall. The spiritual essence was rich, pouring down like a waterfall and flowing about like a spring. Along the way, the little guy dug out several stalks of precious medicine and threw them into the heaven and earth net.

“Almost there!”

At this time, he felt an unusual aura. There were no people or creatures here, and it was empty to the point where there weren’t even smaller creatures like moles and ants. It was peaceful everywhere, and not a single vicious beast dared to draw near. Essence energy soared, and multicolored light flickered.

Everything originated from the grand and imposing spiritual mountains up ahead. They were incredibly tall, and many creatures resided there. Beside them grew rarely seen precious medicine, and the fragrance was strong.

The purple-haired girl was extremely careful, and was like a dragon as she climbed. She moved her slender waist as she moved along the mountain precipice.

“The mountains have many restrictions, yet she is breaking them one by one without making a single sound! What a powerful level of symbols!” The little guy followed behind.

While climbing upwards, he became considerably shocked. He could see from the sides that the restrictions were extremely powerful. If it was a normal person here, it would be difficult to accomplish anything even after several months, yet the purple-haired girl directly broke them.

After reaching the mountain peak, he carefully looked around. There was a cold pond that was emitting waves of cold air. The icy cold was bone-chilling, and the water inside was black like ink.

These types of cold ponds were extremely suitable for Flood Dragon Beasts to live in. Beside the pool grew four stalks of spirit medicine, and they were precisely Black Flood Dragon Grass. They were jet-black with specks of luster, and were emitting a sweet scent.

This could serve as proof that a powerful Flood Dragon Beast inhabited this pond before, moreover not just a single one; otherwise, it would be impossible for such a rich flood dragon energy to flourish here and produce such rarely seen spirit medicine.

“Where did the divine beast run to?” The little guy was suspicious. He hid behind a giant boulder as he observed everything. On the summit, other than the cold pond, there were also many giant boulders, creating a stone forest.

Soon after, he heard some activity. The purple-haired girl was moving stealthily in front and entered the stone forest. She appeared in front of a cave, and divine splendor was emitting from that area.

“Why is there a pile of Flood Dragon bones here?” The little guy was quite shocked. After entering the stone forest, he saw a bunch of white bones that belonged to Flood Dragons.

These were not left behind by only one or two creatures, and after adding them all up, there were definitely at least twenty of them. It was too shocking, because even though Flood Dragon Beasts were the descendants of Archaic vicious flood dragons and their bloodlines weren't pure, they were still extremely powerful. It was truly unexpected that there were creatures that treated them like food.

The little guy trembled with fear. After turning around and looking at that cold pond, he immediately understood. That was a pond that was purposely set up for the sake of raising Flood Dragon Beasts.

“Just what kind of powerful creature would do this type of thing?” This truly made him rather upset. This was simply too extravagant and terrifying.

“Did the foodie finally meet his opponent?” The mischievous stone quietly muttered.

“This is different.” The little guy shook his head. If it were not for the geniuses gathering together to enter this trial by fire, how would he be able to find these precious descendants? Normally, it would be extremely difficult to meet one.

Yet this type of creature typically uses Flood Dragon Beasts as food. This was too astonishing!

The ancient cave was misty with multicolored light. At the cave entrance grew a stalk of grass, its body entirely silver. It radiated with precious light, as if a silver flame was burning. What was most peculiar was that there were ripples on top of the grass leaves, as if they were feathers.

“Silver Feather Grass!”

The little guy widened his eyes. This was the best of the best among spirit medicines! According to legend, if it grew long enough, it could improve by another step and undergo transformation.

The Silver Feather Grass only had five feathers, and it was silvery white all over. It emitted a divine radiance, and there were feather marks all over the leaves. The sweet scent was emitted in waves, making people infatuated.

“Normally, it takes root where propitious vapors rise. It seems like this cavern is not simple, and the creature that dwells within must be incomparably powerful.”

The little guy thought it over and decided to turn back. However, he first decisively dug up the four black Flood Dragon Grass and entering the stone forest to put the Silver Feather Grass into the heaven and earth pouch.

“Who cares about what’s inside? Being able to obtain five stalks of precious medicine already makes this a worthwhile trip. Following along was not in vain.”

You have to understand that once you leave this small Archaic world and arrive in the outside world, searching for precious medicine becomes extremely difficult. Where would you be able to pick it so easily like this?

In the past, the little guy crashed his way through the boundless great wasteland, yet he could only find a few stalks beside a descendant’s cave.

Hong!

A loud sound was transmitted from within the cavern, and the restrictions were triggered. That purple haired girl seemed to have been struck by lightning, and blood flowed from her mouth. However, her achievements in symbols were extremely profound, and was extremely good at breaking through formations. She quickly stabilized herself.

The little guy also entered inside and watched from behind. He couldn't help but be startled; what kind of creature's den was this? It was clearly within a cave, yet why did it seem like a bird nest?

Other than the dried vines, there were golden silk grass spread on the inside of the nest. It was soft and crystalline, making it extremely cozy. The entire nest had multicolored streaks of light running about it, and it was obvious that there were precious bones buried within, because the cloth had formation patterns on it.

The purple-haired girl's entire body was surrounded by divine splendor, making her appear incomparably holy. She held a golden horn in her hand, and it was small and elegant, as well as transparent and shiny. With a slash, it drew out a streak of divine light, turning the surface of the nest closest to her into fine powder. It even smashed apart a piece of precious bone.

"Truly destroying someone's home!" The little guy silently criticized.

"Yi, why isn't there any?" The purple haired girl frowned. Even though she broke through a restriction, it was completely empty within the nest. She didn't find much.

The little guy was also disappointed. Originally, he thought that there would be some formidable treasure. In the end, it was just an empty nest.

"Hateful human, how can i take care of that brat?" The purple-haired girl spoke to herself, and it was obvious that she was still pissed.

The little guy scratched his head. She was clearly exploring a nest, yet why did it seem like he was being talked about instead? It seems like she just can't be good-natured.

"I need to make a plan to draw him out, and then..." The purple-haired girl was untainted by even a speck of dust. While being enveloped in divine rings, her spirited pupils flickered with a strand of electricity.

"She plans to scheme against me?" Originally, the little guy was going to back off, temporary not wanting to make a new branch grow out of a knot¹. After all, the outside world turned into a bloody purgatory, and it wasn't good to make too much noise. However now, he stopped himself again.

“I’ve always wanted to capture an Archaic vicious beast youth. It will be you!”
He made his decision.

Following that, he turned into a stream of light as he pounced over, directly jumping onto that purple-haired girl’s back. With his arms around her neck, he began to suppress her. Lifting up the heaven and earth net, numerous strands of auspicious light headed towards her head.

Ahpu

The purple-haired girl was so angry she almost spat out blood. She just finished talking about that human youth, yet in the end he immediately appeared. Moreover, he directly hung from her back, this was simply... Infuriating beyond belief!

Normally, she was treated like a goddess. She was set up on high, aloof and remote. She was divine and inviolable, and any race's genius would inevitably show her extreme courtesy. They would admire her endlessly; who would dare to blaspheme?

No matter where she went, she would always attract the attention of tens of thousands. It would be like the stars grouping themselves around the moon, and her unmatched appearance would make others feel ashamed of their inferiority, making them unwilling to face her.

Yet this brat actually treated her like some vicious beast, jumping and moving about on her. After jumping onto her flawless back, he directly began to fight and wrestle about, truly about to anger her to death.

"Get inside for me!"

The little guy hung from her back, one hand around her snow swan-like neck, and the other propping up the heaven and earth pouch. Multicolored light flew out in a multitude of strands, and thousands of propitious light strands were emitted. He wanted to collect her inside, thoroughly making her yield.

"Damned brat!" The purple-haired girl was so angry she began shaking. Divine splendor was released from all over her body, and the ornaments on her head in particular flowed with divine multicolored light. She resisted the heaven and earth net, and did not enter it.

Soon after, the symbols around her entire body began to flicker, wanting to refine the little guy. She was incomparably resentful.

The little guy wouldn't let go even if he died. As he hung from her neck, he used all of his strength to subdue her. However, he was actually grimacing in pain. The purple-clothed girl's symbols were too terrifying, shaking him until his bones were bursting noise.

“Archaic vicious beasts really are powerful! Even the random things around her head region is precious.” The little guy was discontent. Just now, if it were not for the jewelry hanging around her earlobe flickering with multicolored light, stopping the heaven and earth pouch, he definitely would have collected her inside.

The two individuals fought, one using brute force and the other using heaven defying symbols. However, the little guy felt as if something was wrong. The opposing party’s body was emitting light, as if it wanted to refine him alive.

In particular, that piece of jewelry on her ear was emitting precious splendor. There was a divine radiance being emitted, hacking towards him.

Dang

The little guy moved his head about, using the small pagoda in his hair to block it. The small pagoda trembled, becoming sparkling and transparent. It emitted strands of mysterious aura, making that earpiece immediately dim down.

“Mine!”

Upon seeing this, the little guy bit down on the earring and pulled downwards.

Ah... The purple-hair girl was angry and embarrassed. This fellow was too shameful, actually biting her ear, this... Her entire body turned pink, and was humiliated to the extreme. Her jade-like body began to tremble slightly.

“Mine, mine!” The devilish brat couldn’t care less about her screaming. He focused all of his attention on the purple earrings, and after biting down, he used all of his strength to pull downwards.

The purple-haired girl was on the verge of going mad. This was definitely an undermining image. Typically, she would be known as a goddess, yet now she was in this state.

A row of teeth marks appeared on that sparkling and pure white earlobe. The little guy wouldn’t let go even if he died, and he bit down with his little fierce teeth with all of his strength. Grinding with all of his strength, he wanted to remove that mysterious earring.

The purple-haired girl was beyond angry. Not only was she in pain, but she was also humiliated and angry. This was the first time such a thing has happened in her life, because if such a thing did happen to her before, even a deity would collapse.

She activated the earring, wanting to smash apart the little guy’s teeth. However, she found that it didn’t work. After the earring collided with the small pagoda in the little guy’s hair, it seemed like it no longer worked properly, and couldn’t be activated.

The pure and holy symbols around her were momentarily dimmed as a result of the biting. She was so humiliated and angry that she almost fainted. Her heart was in disorder, and the strength of her precious methods suddenly diminished.

The two individuals fell onto the ground, rolling around and wrestling about. During this period of time, he bit her sparkling and translucent ear, and without letting go, he shouted, “Mine!”

With a weng sound, the purple-haired girl use her right wrist to strike backwards. There was a sparkling divine ring there, and it was also a terrifying precious artifact. She wanted to blast the little guy to death.

As a result, a kengchi sound rang out, and her wrist felt a sharp pain. She was bitten again, and that transparent ring was also restrained, no longer able to display its might.

The purple-haired girl was going crazy. Exactly how many mouths did this devilish brat have? How can he endlessly bite like this? What type of disgraceful strategy was this? She had never seen such a thing before!

Something was wrong. Her eyes flashed past, and noticed that the stone in this brat’s hair grew bigger. The one that bit her sparkling white wrist and divine bracelet was that divine striking stone, and it was shouting, “This is mine!”

She was so angry she began to tremble. These two degenerates, where is your morality and conduct? Both of them were actually biting her.

“Mine, mine, all mine!” The little guy had his mouth on the sparkling earlobe, as well as the transparent earring as he shouted.

“This piece should belong to me!” The Divine Striking Stone did not give in.

“I won’t forgive you guys!” The purple-haired girl shrieked, and the symbols around her body blazed.

The little guy grinded his teeth and used all of his strength to bite down. Finally, he obtained it. The earpiece’s chain refined out of divine gold was broken by his chewing.

The earring came off, and a row of teeth marks as well as a bit of blood appeared on the girl’s white and brilliant earlobe, emitting a sweet fragrance.

“It’s sweet. What kind of precious blood is this?” The devilish brat was biting the earpiece while he revealed puzzled expression. He once again bit down on the moist and bright earlobe before sucking in a bit of the sweet blood.

“I’m going to fight you to the death!” The girl truly was going to go mad from anger. Her dark brows jumped, and her large quick-witted eyes shot out flames as she began to stake it all against him.

The devilish brat was wrestling on the floor with her, and in addition, they both used their most powerful precious artifacts. The broken sword was bright, and a crystalline mirror on the girl’s chest also emitted light as they fiercely collided.

Hong!

The entire mountain was smashed apart. They fell down, and the little guy noticed that there was a place of exceptional charm and beauty within the mountain center. There was actually another bird nest, and lying within this area was a cocoon.

He quickly rushed over and picked up the cocoon. After that, he began to make his getaway.

“Little thief, where do you think you’re going?!” The mysterious fluctuations around her surged, making her look like a fairy. The sleeves of her clothes fluttered about as she chased after him with killing intent. Her graceful and slender body was shaking, and her pure white skin emitted light.

Chapter 163 – Hundred Shattering Heart

The little guy disappeared like a wisp of smoke. While carrying that shining cocoon, he passed over the mountain ridges extremely quickly. In his opinion, things that the purple-haired girl were interested in were definitely not inferior, so he decided to grab it first and think about it later.

“Disgraceful little thief!” The purple-haired girl’s clothes lightly fluttered as she traveled high up in the sky. She was like a fairy that descended from the lunar palace, possessing an unspeakable amount of pureness as she chased after him.

She was truly angered to the extreme. This hateful child lacked basic moral sense, and dared to mount this type of sneak attack on her! What kind of mess of a technique was that? Wrestling was bad enough, yet he also bit her ear!

The little guy paid no attention to her, and only silently cursed. Who told the other party to scheme against him? This was an extremely normal type of fight. He even tried to chew sand before, so what’s so special about a vicious beast’s ear?!

He constantly changed directions, weaving in and out. He ran within the primitive mountain ranges, and would turn around to grumble from time to time. “You are too savage and unforgiving. Are you never going to stop?!”

The purple-haired girl was furious. This little thief was too shameful, actually blaming her instead! Attacking her from behind, wrestling with her, biting her ear, moreover snatching away everything! The precious earring artifact and shining cocoon were both carried away by him.

“Damned little thief, you don’t even know what kind of thing that is, yet you run up and seize it. Too hateful and disgraceful!” She spoke through clenched teeth.

The little guy didn’t care at all. He decided to steal it first and then think about what happens after.

Finally, after an hour of chasing, he shook off the purple-haired girl. After all, there was only one person chasing after him, and it was not several flying divine birds that surrounded him.

“You are truly savage, actually biting off that piece of jewelry from her ear. Why couldn’t I bite off her bracelet?!” The Divine Striking Stone was full of regret. It already shrunk down to a fingertip size, and was swaying in the little guy’s hair.

“You didn’t have the heart of one who is unrivalled!” The little guy said with an unwavering expression.

“Ahpei!” The mischievous stone curled its lips. Biting someone’s ear is something that an unrivalled person does? It felt that it was truly not shameful enough.

“Truly is good stuff.” The little guy moved the earring pendant back and forth. It was only the size of a pigeon egg, and was perfectly round and transparent. Its entire body was purple, emitting sparkling multicolored light as well as dense propitious vapors.

“Let me see exactly what type of stone this is.” The divine striking moved forward, and it was obvious that it wanted to eat it.

“This isn’t a stone, it’s a pearl, so don’t have any strange ideas on it. Otherwise, I squeeze you together with the small pagoda,” warned the little guy.

The fingertip size precious pearl was flowing with brilliant light. As long as it was activated a bit, symbols would immediately appear on its surface, forming a curtain of light. It could be used to protect one’s body, and could also release sword qi; it was truly wondrous.

“It’s only a small piece of jewelry, yet it actually holds divine might!” The little guy was amazed. This kind of precious artifact was truly rarely seen.

The only thing was that this earring was too delicate, and he had no way of attaching it to his hair. In the end, he refined that divine golden chain again, making it longer and thinner. He fastened it to his wrist, and at a crucial point, it could be a great killing weapon.

“Yi, something’s not right!” The little guy shivered. He felt a wave of killing intent, and quickly hid himself.

Following that, he saw a Mang ox¹. Its entire body was scarlet red, and as it tread on rocks, they all immediately turned into magma. It could be seen how terrifying and scorching hot its body temperature was.

It directly smashed into a stone mountain, or it can be said it melted its way inside. Magma trickled out, and it once again sealed up the cave, only leaving a small hole open.

“What is this fellow doing? It’s definitely a beast king!” The little guy had his suspicions, and after watching a bit more, he finally understood. This old cow was going into hiding, and was lying in wait for opportunities. It was hunting the geniuses that entered the mountains.

A few divine birds and pure-blooded creatures entered the mountains, wanting to loot the nests of the most powerful beast kings. However, not all of these old monsters left their nests, and they were also preparing an ambush on these pure-blooded vicious beasts.

Hou...

A blood-curdling screech rang out from the distant mountain range, shaking everything. An extremely powerful genius was executed, and was swallowed by that rainbow peacock.

“So powerful!”

The little guy was shocked. That was definitely a formidable genius. Precious artifacts blossomed with divine light, shining on that mountain range until it became bright and resplendent. However, in the end, it was still no match for that enormous peacock.

He became more and more careful. There was killing everywhere, and there was no area without danger.

“What kind of background does this cocoon have?” The little guy found a remote mountain forest and placed it down. He carefully sized it up. It was like a divine silkworm was hiding inside as it flowed with multicolored splendor.

The Divine Striking Stone said, “This is extremely good material, and is not any inferior to Heaven Silk. There’s isn’t a single blemish, and neither fire nor water can get inside. It’s defensive capabilities are extremely impressive.”

“I wonder when it will break out of the cocoon. Could it be a Demonic Crack Butterfly?” The little guy was suspicious, and was incomparably hopeful.

“When have you ever seen a Demonic Crack Butterfly living in a bird nest?” Spoke the mischievous stone.

“That’s true.” The little guy placed the large egg inside the heaven and earth pouch.

Suddenly, a roar rang out from the distance. The earth quaked and the mountains shook, making even that rainbow peacock in the air retreat. It actually did not want to approach that mountain range.

“So powerful! That was the central region of the Hundred Shattered Mountains. Exactly what type of creature is that?” The little guy was amazed.

After arriving here, he became extremely careful and prudent, because he knew that there were beast kings in hiding. They could release a terrifying attack at any time.

Honglonglong

The great earth trembled, and the Zhujian appeared. A huge chunk of flesh was torn from its back, and blood poured out. It carried with it a gale as it ran away as fast as it could.

Behind him was an old wolf. It seemed rather thin, and was not rather big. It was only a meter long, yet it was terrifyingly imposing. Its two eyes were bright like lamps, and each leap would cross several zhang². It's speed was so fast it made people fearful.

Wherever it landed, the ground would inevitable cave in. The sound of the old claws digging into the ground was more terrifying than a thunder god's hammer.

The Zhujian used a supreme precious artifact. It turned into a circle of light, wrapping itself around its body. It ran extremely quickly, because if it didn't, it would have been restrained by that old wolf.

"So powerful! It looks like an ordinary wolf, but it was actually this vicious and powerful!"

"Don't underestimate that wolf. It should have trained for at least several hundred years, and is one of the strongest within the Hundred Shattering Mountains!" Said the mischievous stone.

Pulengleng

The sound of wings flapping could be heard. In the distance, a Bifang rose high above the mountain range and cried out. It was using an extremely powerful precious artifact that emitted divine radiance, but it still suffered greatly.

A rainbow peacock was pursuing it, and a single claw was able to tear through its defenses. Feathers swirled in the air, and a rain of blood gushed out. The Bifang fled towards the distance while carrying this injury.

This wasn't the only place where this kind of thing was happening. Within the heart of the Hundred Shattering Mountains, the few extremely daring creatures that broke into the forbidden land of beast kings were all ambushed.

The little guy began to feel extremely troubled. It took an arduous half a day to finally get to the place where Big Red, Nine-Headed Lion and others agreed on. However, other than the mass chaos, he didn't see anything else.

Hou...

A roar once again sounded from within the central region with an extremely strong penetrative power. Even the trees here began to sway, making leaves fly everywhere.

It was so ridiculous that inside of the mountain region in the distance, there were ancient trees that exploded, leaving behind only large areas of fragments flying about.

"What type of creature is it?!" The little guy was endlessly bewildered.

Chi

A beam of light rushed over, twisting apart the ancient trees. It pushed its way through the mountain region, and it was precisely a Horned Dragon. Currently, there was blood all over its body, and its tail almost broke off. It was in a sorry state as it fled quickly.

Following that, the little guy finally saw what was in the center of the mountain range. There was a group of monkeys, all of them surrounded by bright and resplendent golden light. They were extremely powerful, jumping from one mountain to another. While crying out with wuwu sounds, they chased after the Horned Dragon to capture and kill it.

There was a divine monkey in that group that was especially powerful. It was not taller than 150 centimeters, but its entire body seemed like it was cast from gold. It was the boss of the group, and was terrifying. It even made the Rainbow Peacock in the air retreat.

It took in and released large amounts of multicolored light, each time cracking apart the great earth. It directly crossing over the mountain range, and was simply too quick and violent.

The Horned Dragon was injured by it. The group of monkeys surrounded it, making the pure-blooded beast almost fall here.

Pu

The divine monkey possessed extraordinary strength, and threw out a divine lance that was several tens of thousands jin in weight. With a pu sound, it nailed the Horned Dragon, making it release a wretched cry. The tail that was about to fall off was blasted into mush.

Even while down, it was decisive. With a fierce movement, it broke off the badly mangled tail and used its precious artifact to turn it into a circle of light. With the light wrapped around itself, it penetrated into the mountains.

The Archaic vicious beast heir was extremely powerful, moreover, it had a supreme precious artifact in its hands. However, here, it was still not enough. It received a serious injury, and seemed like it was going to die.

The little guy trembled with fear. This place is too dangerous! Big Red, Nine-Headed Lion and the others could have fallen as well, right?

These golden monkeys all came from the lands that were sealed off. No one saw them previously, and they were all rather powerful, especially that leader, who was even more unreasonably violent!

“Why do I feel like the Horned Dragon took the initiative to provoke the divine monkey? Otherwise, with its ability to conceal itself, it’s unlikely for it to be so miserable.” The little guy said.

“The Horned Dragon must have had its eyes on the divine monkey. There must be some incredible object there!” Said the mischievous stone.

Chi

Suddenly, a tall ancient tree trembled. Bright and resplendent light blossomed, and several dozen strands of shining stolons simultaneously rushed over. Some were like battle spears, and some were like small horned dragons as they attacked together.

“This is a Ironblood Ancient Tree!” The Mischievous stone cried out in fear.

Honglong

The little guy took out the Suan Ni precious mirror, and a barrage of lightning struck down. However, it was difficult to break apart the giant tree's body. Its entire body emitted light, and its stolons became incomparably sturdy. The entire tree was a precious artifact.

Dang

The dozen stolons attacked at the same time. Some were like battle lances, and some were like divine whips as they struck forward. The mountain stones shattered, and even the Suan Ni precious mirror began to tremble.

“Run! Even though your precious artifact is powerful, this tree’s cultivation is too high! You are far from being its opponent!” Said the mischievous stone.

The Ironblood Ancient Tree is a type of terrifying creature, and it was born with spiritual wisdom. It was humongous, and after it flipped out, there wasn’t a single creature that wasn’t intimidated.

Weng

The little guy held the broken sword in his hands and hacked down violently. An enormous sword radiance swept past,

The Ironblood Ancient Tree went crazy. Its body immediately became the color of blood, and even the leaves became like so, scarlet and glistening. It went completely berserk, and all kinds of stolons and branches emitted light. They scattered out endless symbols, submerging everything in front.

“Too powerful!”

This ancient tree’s cultivation realm was terrifyingly high. The little guy turned around and ran while using the broken sword to clear the way. He chopped apart a few branches, and at the same time, the pendant around his wrist emitted light, forming a curtain. It gathered around his body, and blocked a large amount of symbols.

With a hong sound, this mountain region exploded. The little guy was like a falling leaf, and flew out from the chaos. He coughed out blood from his mouth.

The Ironblood Ancient Tree rose steeply from the ground and was like a demonic deity. It completely recovered its strength, and it became several times stronger than before. A sparkling stolon thrashed over. With a pa sound, a mountain peak was smashed apart.

“Too terrifying! This is also a king class creature!” The little guy was frightened. This mountain range appeared to be peaceful and lacking in vicious beasts, yet it was still full of murderous dangers.

He began to escape, however, the Ironblood Ancient Tree was truly terrifying. Its entire body was a moist scarlet, and travelled even faster than a giant creature. It chased after him, flattening the mountain region while doing so.

This colossus really did have the ability to move mountains and seas. It emitted a bloody light, and with a sweep of its symbols, rubble collapsed. All types of obstacles were turned into broken pieces.

The little guy fled for his life. The Ironblood Ancient Tree destroyed more enormous mountains, obliterating everything in its way. It crushed apart all the large mountains along the way within the mountain range, and was simply powerful without rival.

Four hours later, it finally broke free. However, there were bloodstains all over his body, and he nearly collapsed.

The little guy went into hiding, and for the next two days, he always moved sneakily through this region. He noticed that the Horned Dragon, Zhujian, Bifang and the others returned, once again appearing here.

In addition, the purple-haired girl also arrived. She came to an agreement with the other pure-blooded creatures, and actually joined hands with them.

In the end, he even noticed the Crack Demonic Butterfly, Demonic Cattail Tree, and Shi Yi's tracks. They all came from the sealed Hundred Shattering Mountain depths, and did not know what was hiding within these divine monkeys' nest.

"Over here... This side!"

When the little guy heard this voice, he immediately turned around. To his surprise, he saw the big red bird, and it was currently whispering and hinting for him to come over.

"I almost didn't notice you!" He was considerably shocked. How did the big red bird come out of nowhere? Following that, he saw Huo Ling'er, the Nine-Headed Lion, and others walk out from thin air.

Chapter 164 – Divine Monkey Treasure Land

“You guys are all fine?” The little guy’s eyes were round as he stared. He himself even got into difficult situations several times while being attacked by the Ironblood Ancient Tree, yet in the end, these guys were rather carefree and relaxed.

This was especially true for the Big Red Bird. Using one of its wings like a hand, it held a roasted lamb leg. It ate while walking over casually, rocking from side to side. Grease dripped from its mouth, and it was so carefree and content that it made others want to give it a few smacks.

“So miserable looking. Did you get beaten up by someone?” Asked the big red bird.

Dang

The little guy removed the Divine striking stone from his hair and directly threw it at the big red bird. In the end, the mischievous stone cried out with ao ao sound while rolling on the ground, complaining about the pain.

The big red bird was dumbstruck. It was originally grimacing in pain, yet after seeing how this rock acted, it couldn't help but question itself. Was its head really that hard?

However, it then saw how smooth and sparkly the stone was, without a hint of damage. After rubbing the huge blister on its own head, it immediately began to stomp in angry. It was flustered and exasperated as it said, "What are you bitching about?!"

"I'm in so much pain... About to break... Your head is too hard, is it made of steel?" The mischievous stone shouted.

The big red bird swallowed the roasted lamb leg in one gulp and jumped over. Slamming down with all its strength on the stone, it said, "Talking stone, after speaking to me like that, let's see if you'll break or not."

"You should just save your energy. This thing gave even the Horned Dragon, Zhujian, and other Archaic vicious beasts several big bumps on their hands. You won't be able to break it." The little guy advised.

"Damn stone!"

The group of people were all curious, asking how that could be. The little guy quickly explained a bit, leaving all those that heard him dumbstruck.

"Right, where were you guys hiding? I saw you guys come out from nowhere. Have you guys encountered the massacre caused by the indigenous creatures these past few days?"

"In the beginning it was extremely dangerous, but we had a unique treasure here, allowing us to easily avoid the great calamity." When their experiences during the past few days were brought up, the people's expressions became that of amazement.

At first, they went all over the place to search for spirit medicine while feeling rather relaxed. With the group of Archaic species walking together, no one dared to provoke them. However, the wave of beasts erupted, and the indigenous creatures released their fierceness as they moved out to hunt. The entire small world became a bloody wasteland.

During the initial stages, they did indeed encounter their attacks. They almost died on the spot, because there were Golden-Winged Pengs, Rainbow Peacocks, Silver Feathered Bird Kings, and even a group of powerful golden monkeys here; it was incomparably terrifying.

“Fortunately, brother Luan’s family property is quite ample, actually possessing a Cloud Piercing Boat. It must have been refined through the clan’s Rainbow Precious Bone, making it extremely fast. It allowed us to escape the group of beast and bird kings’ pursuit.

The Rainbow Luan bird originated from an ancient race. Originally, they were pure-blooded divine birds, but later on, a few unforeseen events occurred. Their bloodlines thinned, but the race’s foundation was still there.

“Of course, we were lucky to have the fire nation princess’ divine blanket, hiding our presence. It allowed us to hide in the void, making it so that no one could see us.”

This was the skin of an Archaic Void Beast. It contained an out of the ordinary ability, and after it was refined into a precious artifact, it allowed one to hide between the heavens and the earth without being discovered by others.

The little guy was curious, and so he hopped onto that enormous divine rug. He noticed that there were a few white jade tables set up, and on top of them were roasted meat and berries. These people truly knew how to enjoy themselves!

He was utterly speechless. He killed his way over with strenuous effort while fearing that something bad happened to them. He almost threw away his own life, yet in the end, these fellows were all leaping and frisking about, each of them more healthy than the last.

“I’m warning you, you better not have any ideas about this divine blanket!” Huo Ling’er stared at him, because she was fully aware of his character.

The little guy was embarrassed and mumbled, “What’s there to be so selfish about, not like you lose anything if I just touch it a bit.”

“This is my father the emperor’s possession.” Huo Ling’er was tall and slender, and her fiery clothes flickered with multicolored light. Her curves moved up and down, and they were extremely large and wonderful. Her appearance was exquisite, and even though her age was not great, her figure was still better than those eighteen and nineteen year old’s.

“The human emperor’s treasure?!” After the little guy heard this, his saliva gurgled.

This really was the Fire Nation Emperor’s treasure, and he bestowed it upon the daughter he doted on. Otherwise, where would they possibly see such a legendary Void Beast Skin?

“Exactly what is there within the mountain range depths?” The little guy was extremely curious. The Horned Dragon, Bifang, Zhujian, and purple-haired girl all entered, and it was obvious that there was a great purpose for doing so.

“I don’t know. The shitty monkeys are too strong. I used the divine blanket to look around, and yet in the end, I was still almost caught by a damn monkey!”

When this topic was brought up, the big red bird immediately became angry. It sneaked in like a thief while hiding itself to look around the forbidden area, yet in the end, it didn’t know how, but was still discovered by a monkey. It tore at the big red bird’s feathers frantically with its claws, making the big red bird’s butt region bare. Its tail feathers were almost completely plucked clean, leaving it in an extremely sorry state.

“What did you say? That leopard-bodied, cow-eared, single eyed fellow is a pure-blooded Zhujian?” The big red bird’s face fluttered from white to green.

The little guy brought up those divine birds and vicious beasts and asked them whether or not they noticed what these pure-blooded creatures were up to. In the end, it made this group beat their chest and stamp their feet.

Even Huo Ling’er sighed, feeling great pity. The several restricted individuals’ flowery white hair and beards trembled, all of them shouting for the will of heaven.

That Zhujian was also hunted by the group of golden monkeys, moreover having a large chunk of its flesh chopped off by them. It was lying down not far from the divine blanket, and as long as the big red bird took out the black pot, it would be able to collect it. In the end, they did not know, and it was happily taken away by a group of monkeys.

“Stop thinking so much. We won’t be staying within the Hundred Shattering Mountains for many days longer and will be exiting soon. Let’s use this time to quickly find some spirit medicine and other treasures.” The little guy was the one that spoke. He was extremely curious towards the monkeys’ den, and really wanted to find out what was over there.

Two days later, the little guy was convinced that there was some amazing treasure. Otherwise, how could it attract so many pure-blooded creatures? They saw the Horned Dragon, Zhujian, Bifang, purple-haired girl, and others several times.

Finally, those creatures actually grouped together to carry out some kind of operation. They surrounded this central region and continuously wandered around.

It was obvious that they also had concealing treasures that allowed them to mask their presence. Even though they would provoke the divine monkeys from time to time and get attacked, they could still spy from a distance.

In addition, the Demonic Cattail tree, Shi Yi, and the others were also moving out. They were cautious and prudent, and all of them wanted to get near that mountain.

Besides them, there was also the enormous Black Hou, and from the magma walked out a scarlet Mang ox. The Rainbow Peacock, and Golden Winged Peng could also be seen, but they did not yet approach.

“What kind of heaven angering thing did these monkeys do, attracting the attention of so many people?” The big red bird was stunned.

They hid within the divine blanket and watched from the side. After watching for several days in succession, they had a good idea of what went on outside.

Finally, they moved. They felt like they just had to find out what exactly those monkeys were protecting.

The divine blanket began to float, carrying them forward within the void towards that pure land. However, they no longer dared to approach after a while even though there was still a large distance between them, because the divine monkey boss was too powerful. Their spiritual awareness was so sharp it was a bit terrifying. Several pure-blooded creatures that were using their race's ancient concealment treasures were even discovered by it, almost being struck down as a result.

If these pure-blooded creatures did not rely on the precious artifacts passed down by their ancestors, they all would have died here. Not a single one would be able to survive.

A long time passed. They were still separated by the forest, and were far away. After wasting an entire day, they could only make out a bit of the scene inside.

This was a pure land, and strand after strand of smoke-like spiritual essence was being emitted. A small sparkling and transparent lake lied at the center, brilliant and dazzling.

“That lake is formed completely out of spiritual essence! It actually became a liquid form! This is simply too astonishing. This group of wretched monkeys are actually occupying this kind of precious land. No wonder they are so powerful and terrifying.”

Everyone became incomparably fearful. This type of spirit earth was truly rarely seen within this world. The essence energy was like water, and as it flowed on the ground, it collected into a small lake.

Large boulders lied in disarray within the vicinity. Beautiful trees grew here, and there was no lack of spirit medicine here. It was like a fairy tale world with overflowing multicolored light, making the area exceptionally bright.

“What are those? The small trees by the spiritual liquid lake, why are they burning?” The Nine-Headed Lion was bewildered.

“Right, they are a total of four trees. They look like torches.” The Sable also nodded its head.

“Let us take a look.” The two three-eyed brothers walked up and stood at the very front of the divine blanket. The vertical eyed between their eyebrows lit up, and symbols began to spread out as they looked forward.

“They are four small trees roughly half a person in height. However, they aren’t burning, and are just excessively dazzling. Even the branches and leaves are emitting light, and as a result, it looks like there are flames jumping.”

The little guy’s body was powerful, and his spiritual awareness was naturally extraordinary as well. His eyes were sharp, and strange symbols appeared on his eyes. When he looked forward, he also became amazed.

There really were four shining precious trees. None of them were bigger than a person’s waist in thickness, and was roughly half the size of a human. Regardless of whether it were the branches or the leaves, they were all silver; they were like a silver flame as they lit up.

There were two or three silver peaches on each tree, and they were all a moist faint golden color. They were exceptionally resplendent, and seemed like they were carved out of divine jade.

“Really want to eat it...” The little guy wiped off his saliva.

“Look at how mature you are.” Huo Ling’er shot him a look. What a model foodie, taking a bite out of everything he sees.

“Yi, do you guys smell something? It’s almost as if a faint sweet scent is drifting over.” The big red bird’s nose was better than a dog’s.

“Right, there really is a unique scent floating around.” The sable nodded

“This can’t be the legendary Immortal Peach Tree, right?! I heard a long time ago that the Hundred Shattering Mountains had this type of divine medicine, but I never thought that this legend was real!” The Flame Crow exclaimed in admiration, and its eyes were wide open.

“It really is how I guessed after all. These monkeys are protecting a divine medicine.” The Divine Striking Stone spoke and was proud of itself.

“If you knew this entire time, why didn’t you say it out loud?” The little guy stared at it.

“What? If you knew, why did you let us squander this entire day? We owe you a beating, right?”

The group of people had enough, and with the big red bird as the leader, they surrounded and began to beat it.

“I was only guessing! If there turned out to be nothing, how embarrassing would that be? Stop hitting me! There are a few things that you guys definitely don’t know! That isn’t a divine medicine!”

The Immortal Peach Tree was a divine medicine within the Hundred Shattering Mountains, and was far more ancient than the other divine plants. Later on, for the sake of evolving, it searched for the necessary objects within the Hundred Shattering Mountains, but still failed in the end.

“Isn’t it growing well over there?” The Nine-Headed Lion didn’t believe it.

The Divine Striking Stone explained, “The Immortal Peach Tree was aggressive and ambitious, and in order to establish a supernatural foundation, it used too much heaven and earth essence. In the end, it refined itself to death while still alive, leaving behind four seeds.

It could tell with a glance that the four trees weren’t divine medicines. They received the nourishment of the spiritual liquid, and after an extremely long time, they developed sentience and transformed. They were about to transform into divine medicine.

Everyone became dumbstruck. Could it be that four stalks of divine medicine were going to appear at once? This truly made people amazed.

“It’s too difficult for all four of them to turn into divine medicine. Three of them will be sucked dry to support one stalk, so for one new divine medicine to appear is not a problem,” the Divine Striking Stone said.

In that instant, everyone’s eyes lit up. These were actually four stalks of unique precious medicine! They were on the brink of becoming divine medicine, and it was no wonder so many creatures coveted after them.

“The four stalks of medicine are about to transform. Moreover, the silver immortal peaches are on the verge of becoming ripe. They can definitely help one undergo a complete transformation.”

No wonder the Bifang, Horned Dragon, Zhujian and the others couldn't sit still. They all came here, and it was for the sake of seizing the divine medicine! The purple-haired girl, Shi Yi, and the Demonic Cattail Tree were all like this as well. It was to the point where even the Hundred Shattering Mountains' Kings Golden Winged Peng, Black Hou, Scarlet Flame Mang Ox, Rainbow Peacock and others were like this.

"They are about to move. I'm guessing that this group of monkeys most likely won't be able to protect it for long. Even the Kings of the Hundred Shattering Mountains are here, and that Golden Winged Peng and others simply aren't easy to provoke."

"Not necessarily. I reckon that the divine monkey at the forefront is unrivalled. The Peng is not even its opponent."

They speculated that there would inevitably be a great battle here. The four Immortal Peach trees would definitely bring about a heaven overflowing crisis.

Hou...

Up ahead within the fairytale like pure land, a single monkey stood on a giant multicolored bird's body as it slaughtered its way over. A golden battle spear was held in its hand, and with a honglong sound, it hacked towards the mountain range in front of it.

Hou...

There were several beast kings there, and all of them got up. They spat out symbols and held precious artifacts to fiercely contest it.

"They started fighting!"

"Those pure-blooded creatures also made their moves, prepared to take advantage of this crisis!"

"What do we do? Should we fight as well?"

The big red bird, Nine-Headed Lion and others were anxious, as they wanted to take actions too.

"You guys only know how to attack and kill, too savage. We only want the divine medicine, so there is no need to kill," said the little guy.

Chapter 165 – Little Devil Wine

“To actually dare steal my divine medicine, have you all forgotten what happened to your ancestors?” This golden monkey was extremely overbearing. It pointed its golden battle spear forward and faced the opposing parties.

“Shitty monkey, hand over your life!” Fiery light overflowed into the heavens, and the entirely scarlet Mang Ox rushed over. Magma surged, and everywhere it treaded upon turned into boiling scarlet liquid, raising the temperature to an extremely high degree.

“A Mang Ox isn’t good enough to be my opponent. A small cow like you even wanna flip the wind and waves? You aren’t going to go after pure-blooded creatures, and instead have your eyes on me, you truly picked a route of death!” The divine monkey’s temper exploded. Golden light overflowed from its body in all four directions, and with a single leap, it directly rose several hundred zhang into the air. It used the golden battle spear like a large rod and thrashed out downwards.

With a dong sound, the scarlet magma on the ground surged like a huge wave, rising several hundred zhang into the air. The golden battle spear smashed with a kengqiang sound into a scarlet blade.

The demonic cow changed forms and stood up in human form. With a giant blood-colored blade in its hands, it fiercely collided with the divine monkey. However, it was actually forced backwards. After coughing out blood continuously, it shouted, “What are you all waiting for? Take down that monkey and the four stalks of divine medicine by the pure land’s spiritual lake will be ours!”

In the sky, rainbow colored divine light flickered. A huge peacock swooped down towards the depths of the mountain range. It did not participate in the fight, but instead directly rushed towards the spiritual lake to seize the divine medicine.

“Rise!”

The monkey shouted loudly, and with a hong sound, the spear smashed down. The scarlet Mang Ox’s expression changed, because it was left with no choice but to resist with all its strength. As a result, the divine monkey was able to borrow this strength to soar into the air. It sat on top of a multicolored giant bird and chased after the Rainbow Peacock.

After a loud rumbling sound, the Mang Ox roared loudly. The earth beneath its feet cracked apart, and at the same time, magma surged like a huge wave, covering its body. It continuously retreated while blood dripped out of its mouth.

“Monkey, you are too overbearing. Back then, you killed so many of our ancestors and seized the divine medicine without leaving behind even a single stalk. After acting like this, did you truly not fear the kings all coming after you?” Shouted the Rainbow Peacock.

It opened its mouth and spat out a precious imprint. It circulated with symbols as it flew over.

“The weak will serve and the strong will rule. It has always been this way, and if I wasn’t strong enough, I would have been eaten by other creatures a long time ago. There isn’t much to say about this.” The golden monkey’s body was not large, but it was imposing and bold. The golden battle lance in its hands pierced forward, causing a multitude of golden light to burst forth. With a qiang sound, sparks flew everywhere and divine multicolored light surged.

The precious imprint flipped around as it flew out, continuously growing in size. Finally, it smashed apart a strip of the mountain range, emitting an expanse of auspicious color.

“Kill!”

In the distance, a golden great Peng flew over. As it spread its wings to take to the skies, its massive body could clearly be seen. Its firm and fierce body emitted golden bright and resplendent light as it directly used its divine wings to sweep over.

With a honglong sound, the entire heaven and earth seemed like it was about to shatter. Its physique was powerful and unmatched. As it looked at that monkey, it felt as if it was looking at an ant.

Hou!

The golden monkey released a roar and jumped off of the multicolored giant bird. Its body quickly grew large, and it looked like a golden mountain as it stood up within the mountain region.

This type of aura and forcefulness completely shocked all of the kings stiff. They all began to feel somewhat scared and upset.

The monkey was incomparably divine and brave. A fist smashed down on the great Peng's wings, causing golden divine light to burst forth. A honglong sound rang out between the two individuals, creating a violent gale that engulfed the mountains and rivers.

Rubble and broken pieces of wood all swirled up together. It was like a tornado, causing sand to fly and stones to roll. This entire mountain range was in utter chaos as it violently began to shake.

The Golden Winged Peng's body was tyrannical; however, after the divine monkey used its precious method, it became equally lofty and powerful. Its combat strength was unrivalled, and it was impossible to resist.

"So powerful!" In the distance, the big red bird withdrew its neck. These two giants were too powerful, and their cultivation realms far surpassed its own.

"That's the Heavenly Law and Earth!" The little guy's large eyes shone as he stared at the monkey's powerful physical body. Speaking to himself, he said, "What a pity. The symbols within Hairy Ball¹ were destroyed; otherwise, my comprehension would be more profound, allowing me to understand more!"

With a weng sound, the great Golden Winged Peng circled around before swooping over once again. It spat out a golden divine sword that was circulating with auspicious multicolored light, and shot it out towards the monkey.

The divine monkey sneered. With the battle spear that similarly grew in size, it sprinted forward. Symbols erupted everywhere; this was a confrontation carrying the force of the dao and law.

Dang

The sharp and clear metallic sounds shook everyone's bodies until they began to sway back and forth. Divine multicolored light shot out in all directions due to both precious artifacts emitting light. All types of mysterious symbols radiated, and in addition, the powerful force caused the entire mountain range to shake, making numerous tree leaves shatter.

The monkey bared its fangs, revealed a mouthful of snow white fierce teeth. It stamped on the ground and directly soared into the skies. Brandishing its battle spear in his hands, it smashed down on the opponent in front of it.

Meanwhile, after enduring the fierce collision, the great Golden Winged Peng exhausted a severe amount of divine strength. It almost lost control over the golden divine sword, and was sent flying together with its owner outwards. After seeing the divine monkey follow up with another attack, it couldn't help but release a roar. Its wings moved, activating its primitive symbols. Transforming into a blazing wheel, it charged downwards.

Hong

The great Peng coughed out blood, and its body flew outwards. Cold light shot through the divine monkey's eyes, and it quickly shrunk. It fell down on the multicolored giant bird and looked disdainfully in all directions.

Chi

Suddenly, a streak of black wind swept over. A Hou appeared, and its body was entirely pitch black. Symbols radiated as it soared into the sky to kill the monkey.

“None of you are worthy of being my opponent. Unless that old fellow whose already at death’s door comes, don’t even think about trying!” The divine monkey coldly laughed. It opened its mouth to release a hiss, spewing out a golden colored gale. The wind was sharp like blades, cutting apart the mountain ridge in front of it.

The black Hou roared, and its entire body was in sharp pain as bloody scars appeared on its body. The black light it released also struck the monkey’s body; however, it did not inflict any injuries.

“You dare!”

The divine monkey roared, and while riding the multicolored giant bird, it rushed towards the pure land. It was extremely enraged, and its battle spear was like a windmill as it murderously charged towards the Rainbow Peacock.

Kengqiang sounds rang out incessantly as the enormous Peacock released an expanse of feathers. Rainbow colored light shot out streak after streak, and they were all its feathers. They turned into divine swords as they hacked over, falling in front of the monkey and multicolored giant bird’s bodies.

The divine monkey angrily roared. Its entire body erupted in precious light, protecting itself and its mount. An enormous curtain of light was constructed, blocking all of the incoming feather divine swords.

“Kill!”

Following that, he thrust the spear out. The tip of the spear became adorned with stars, as if an ocean of stars were moving. This powerful strike actually carried with it the imagery of the milky way falling.

With a pu sound, many feathers shattered. The Rainbow Peacock recalled the mountain sized precious imprint and blocked the spear. However, it was still shaken to a point where it coughed out large amounts of blood.

“Everyone, we need to go up together. Ignore the divine medicine for now, because if the monkey doesn't die, even the Heavens won't be able to tolerate it. Have you all forgotten how it murdered our ancestors?"

An entirely silver white creature whose body was covered in thorns rushed over. It had a flood dragon head, hedgehog body, and crocodile tail; it was a ferocious Thorn Beast!

It was obvious that this was an extremely aged Archaic descendant that was powerful to the extreme. Silver flying swords shot out from all over its body to block off and kill the monkey.

With its roar, the Golden Winged Peng, Rainbow Peacock, Black Hou, Mang Ox and other kings all grouped up and came over. They were currently carrying out a group battle against the divine monkey, wanting to kill it together.

This region immediately began to boil. This one battle made the heaven and earth lose light, and caused the sun and moon to lose color. The mountain range trembled, and a great catastrophe arrived.

These creatures were too powerful, especially the divine monkey. The more it fought, the more brave it became. It did not have any fear, as if it possessed unlimited strength.

"Too powerful! This monkey is terrifying after all. If it truly gave everything it had into this fight and fought with its life on the line, it would be even more powerful than an emperor that cultivated for several hundred years!" A restricted individual beside Huo Ling'er said.

The Fire Nation princess nodded her head. This divine monkey was a mixed descendant, but through countless years, its cultivation gradually grew deeper. Now, it truly reached a great level, and was a creature that was worth the human emperor personally taking action against.

"They infiltrated the pure land and are making their move." The Nine-Headed Lion was carefully observing the Bifang, Horned Dragon, and the rest of their group this entire time.

"That's not important. The other monkeys aren't easy to deal with either." The mischievous stone spoke.

Sure enough, when the group of experts entered, a group of golden monkeys became alarmed. The ground flickered with symbols, and restrictions emitted light. Tens became hundreds as the monkeys charged out together.

“Why are these monkeys so powerful?” The little guy was shocked.

Within the group of monkeys, there was surprisingly not a single weak member. They cried out with aoao sounds and revealed their fierce teeth. Their bodies emitted dazzling golden light as they encircled the intruders.

In particular, every single leader’s fighting strength was astonishing. The pure-blooded creatures were chased until they became terrified, because the monkeys’ cultivation levels surpassed theirs.

Right at that time, the Demonic Cattail Tree began to move, and the Crack Demonic Butterfly as well as Shi Yi appeared. They began to charge murderously into the group of monkeys, because they also wanted to seize the four small stalks of divine medicine.

With a shua sound, purple light flickered. The purple-haired girl made her move, and in her hand was a golden horn. With a light stroke, the entire symbol formation was disposed of, and she quickly rushed forward.

In the distance, the divine monkey’s pupils were cold. It fought with everyone while keeping an eye on the pure land. A ruthless smile could be seen from its lips. “Pure-blooded creatures, I like!”

The creatures fighting with it were even more shocked. If they were able to kill this monkey, then today’s harvest would be simply too great. Other than the four stalks of divine medicine, there was also a Horned Dragon, Zhujian, and others! This was simply an irresistible enticement.

Hong

Several dozen stolons rushed over like hornless dragons. All of them emitted scarlet multicolored light, locking up the monkey. The Ironblood Ancient Tree appeared as well, and it also wanted to seize the divine medicine; as a result, it made its move against the divine monkey.

“We should make our moves as well. Be careful not to be detected. We are going to take advantage of this crisis,” the Divine Striking Stone suggested.

The group all agreed. The little guy already took out the heaven and earth pouch in preparation of collecting treasure at any time.

Huo Ling’er was graceful and elegant, and was absolutely gorgeous. She personally steered the divine blanket refined from beast skin. Wordless and uncommunicative, they entered the pure land without being detected.

Right at this time, the small wolf in the Fire Nation Princess became restless. It continuously struggled and moved about before ultimately jumping onto the little guy’s body. Suspending itself off his body like a koala, it continuously breathed in and out. Following that, it tugged on the devilish brat’s hair, pointing toward a direction.

That area was close to the spiritual lake, and there was an expanse of ancient trees. They were all incomparably tall, and light shone from the tree’s bodies. It gave birth to a spiritual medicine that resembled a monkey head.

“Lion’s Mane2!” Huo Ling’er was astonished.

These mushrooms were all shining. They grew on the the tree trunk, and were all sparkling and translucent. While emitting spiritual essence, there were more than ten in number, all of them extremely gorgeous.

“Rumor has it that it is a rare delicacy on par with lion head and tiger bone soup. After being refined into precious medicine, I believe the Lion’s Mane will become extremely delicious.” The little guy’s eyes were fixed on them as he quickly wiped off his saliva.

“You all wait over here. I’ll go and collect them!” The little guy jumped off the divine rug and carefully made his way over. The ancient trees grew densely, and since the divine blanket was rather large, it was impossible for the rest of them to travel that deep.

Without alarming any enemies, he directly arrived in front of these ancient trees. He was incomparably happy and was about to pick them.

However, the little wolf, on the contrary, seemed rather anxious. It stopped him, moreover jumping onto the ground to dig up part of an old tree trunk.

With a hong sound, the little wolf was sent flying. That thick old tree trunk shone, revealing terrifying symbols.

“Wuwu...” The little wolf became worried, hinting for the little guy to quickly make his move. There seemed to be some kind of priceless object within the tree trunk. It didn’t even act like this when it saw the Immortal Peach Tree.

The little guy did not say anything more and took out the broken sword, slashing outward. The symbols on the tree’s body were immediately shattered. Afterwards, he struck the ancient tree, only to find that it made a hollow sound.

Chi

He used the broken sword to cut apart a small hole. Immediately, a wave of strong fragrance overflowed, making people feel a bit intoxicated. The young deity immediately widened its eyes and became incredibly happy.

When the little guy saw this, he immediately enlarged the hole in the tree. As a result, dense multicolored light rushed out and a strong fragrance assailed his nostrils. It transformed into divine light and submerged this area.

The hole in the tree was full of liquid. It was sparkling and transparent like exquisite wine, the fragrance making people feel as if they were becoming drunk.

“Little Devil Juice! It’s a exceptional type of precious medicine!” From on top of the divine blanket, Huo Ling’er widened her eyes from incomparable shock.

The little guy already had the heaven and earth pouch out during the first moments, turning it into a heavenly curtain to isolate this area. He feared that the rich fragrance would startle other creatures.

“Is this a type of wine? It seems like something that would taste really good.” He did not know the value of the Little Devil Wine, and while leaning on the tree, he drank a small sip. Suddenly, he felt as if the sky was spinning and the earth was turning, almost becoming completely intoxicated. In addition, the fragrance flooded his body, making countless rays of multicolored light gush out from his pores.

“Such powerful medicinal effects!” The little guy was shocked.

At this instant, he could sense the flavor of many precious medicines; for example, the Scarlet Orchid, Black Jade Lotus, Snow Jade Ginseng, Scarlet Flood Dragon Vine, and others. They were all extremely strong.

This was made from spirit medicines?!” The little guy stared with his eyes wide. His felt his heart tremble, because this was definitely an absolutely priceless and rare treasure!

“Wu, there is still a partly peachy flavor.” He recognized the flavor, and couldn’t help but look towards the Immortal Peach Trees in the distance. Could it be that the Little Devil Wine had some of the silver immortal peaches inside?

This... Truly was worth a terrifying amount!

The little guy believed that he would be able to break through the ninth Heavenly Passage soon. It would be extremely beneficial for his body, and who knows, it might even be able to restore a bit of the Supreme Being Bone!”

The liquid from this tree hole was not inferior to those four Immortal Peach Trees. It truly was an opportunity that was difficult to imagine possible.

Chapter 166 – Great Harvest

The tree hole was full of wine. The fluid was sparkling and translucent like amber, and as if flowed, it emitted an intoxicating aroma. The little guy was full of happiness as he swayed back and forth in dizziness. His large eyes were squinted until they became crescent moons; this was truly an unexpectedly shocking surprise.

This was not some ordinary wine, but rather one formed gradually from various types of spiritual medicines. It was priceless, and if even a single cup making its way out into the public, many people would immediately break their heads fighting over this.

This tree hole even had silver colored Immortal Peaches fermented within. It made one feel shocked just by looking at it, because this was something that even experts from formidable sects would covet over.

The little guy drank a small mouthful. All type of fragrances overflowed, making his small face rosy. He was about to lose consciousness from being completely drunk. Multicolored light gushed out from his mouth and nose, and only the purest divine light was entering and exiting his body.

“Quickly collect it, otherwise it won’t be good if something problematic occurs.”

His body was powerful, allowing him to quickly refine this small mouthful of Little Devil Wine. He quickly became sober and used the broken sword to carve out a wooden stopper. Sealing up the sparkling wine again, he used both arms to pull up the entire tree before placing it within the heaven and earth pouch.

This was definitely a supreme treasure. Now that they obtained this Little Devil Wine, there was nothing to be regretful about even if they didn’t get the Immortal Peach trees.

From behind, the big red bird’s saliva gurgled. This was just like a dream! It was a wine made completely from spiritual medicines, and was actually discovered by them like this. It truly wished to jump over right now.

The Nine-Headed Lion, Rainbow Luan, Flame Crow and others were all astonished. Now that this kind of precious liquid came into existence, just how many people could enjoy such a thing? Those terrifying old folks would be happy just to drink a single cup. They would be as happy as children and regard it as a complete honor.

Even Huo Ling'er became stupefied. As the daughter of the human emperor, she was definitely experienced and knowledgeable. She drank Little Devil Wine before, but this kind of tree hole as well as characteristics made it an absolutely world-shocking Little Devil Wine. It was the first time she saw something like this.

As for the old restricted individuals next to her, they've long become crazy. Overwhelmed with emotions, Huo Ling'er really wanted to hit herself a few times because she felt like this was a dream!

"Little gray, is there any more divine wine?" The little guy's eyes were shining. "Rather than fighting for our lives in front of the spiritual lake, we might as well look for some of these monkeys' belongings."

The young deity's large eyes resembled black gems. It was incomparably clever and smart as it carefully searched about with its nose moving about.

Within the mountain range, the divine monkey boss was not aware of what had happened. The little guy could collect anything within his heaven and earth pouch. It sealed off their odors, so no one outside noticed the strange things that were happening here.

The divine monkey king fought alone against the group of kings, and a huge battle unfolded. The golden fur rang out with kengqiang sounds, actually making metallic sounds. It was impervious to sword or spear as it attacked everyone, fearing neither fire or water.

The golden great Peng, Rainbow Peacock, Black Hou, Mang Ox, Ironblood ancient tree and the other group of experts launched their assault together. Precious artifacts flew everywhere and symbols covered the sky. They moved mountains and shifted the seas with world-shaking divine might; however, it was still not enough to subdue that monkey.

"Everyone, don't conserve your strength anymore. If this ferocious monkey doesn't die, none of our future days will be pleasant!" The Horned Beast shouted. Its entire body was silvery white, and bony outgrowth like those of a hedgehog's were continuously being shot out.

With his loud roar, the other creatures began to reveal their most powerful precious techniques one after another. The divine monkey was like a large mountain that was pressing down on their heads. If they couldn't overthrow it, then they would be killed off sooner or later.

Within the group, the golden great Peng was bold and powerful, and it was the only one able to contest the divine monkey physically. Its entire body emitted light and smashed downwards like a sun.

Hong

The two were intensely shaken, and were like two golden erupting volcanoes. The others also used their most powerful precious techniques as they rushed forward together to fight that terrifying divine monkey.

Within the pure land, the four Immortal Peach trees by the spiritual lake were flickering with silver light. They were brilliant and dazzling, and their fruit were silvery white. While emitted a sweet fragrance, lightning radiance circled about them, creating a rather shocking appearance.

A group of monkeys protected the area. They were currently fighting fiercely with the pure-blooded creatures.

The Zhujiang went mad. It had a human face and a leopard shaped body that was covered in black scales. Its tail was sturdy and powerful like a black flood dragon, and could absolutely smash apart mountains and rivers. It whipped out with a honglong sound.

Pu

Even though the few golden monkeys were formidable, they were still thrashed until they began to cough out large mouthfuls of blood. Two of them had their bones broken and tendons snapped, and after flying out, they no longer budged.

“You’re looking to die!” Upon seeing this, the divine monkey leader’s body shone. It leapt into the air, turning into a streak of golden lightning as it murderously pounced over. Its cultivation realm was deep and profound, strong enough to suppress the intruders.

The Zhujian screamed. A circle of blazing light floated above its head, and a precious artifact was wrapped within. It emitted an undying aura as it suppressed forward.

On the other side, the Horned Dragon was incomparably brave and fierce. It tore apart a few golden monkeys, but was seriously hurt by one of the bosses. A golden claw dropped down, almost breaking apart one of its joints.

“Monkey, I have endured you for too long!” The Horned Dragon was angry. As an Archaic vicious beast descendant, it had its own pride. Even though it was still young, it did not allow itself to become defeated.

It opened its mouth, spitting out a large net. The surface was adorned with many stars, making it brilliant and dazzling. This was a precious artifact with pure-blooded Horned Dragon scales refined on top of ancient beast tendons.

A divine monkey boss tried to dodge, but fell a bit short. After being collected inside, it immediately released a loud howl. Despite its cultivation realm being deep, it simply couldn’t defend against the sharp dragon scales, so its entire body began to pour out blood.

“Break!”

It roared loudly as it struggled against the precious artifact. Its mouth was full of fierce snow white teeth that flickered with cold light.

With a pu sound, the divine monkey finally broke free. However, a part of its body was refined, giving it grave injuries. It lost a great amount of its battle strength, and so when it was attacked by the Horned Dragon again, blood splashed high into the air.

Pure-blooded creatures were generally rather passive because they were still young. This was the first time they killed such a powerful divine monkey boss, and so it immediately had a bit of intimidation effect on them.

Weng

The Bifang made its move, also taking out its precious artifact to fight the group of divine monkeys. Even though many of its feathers fell in battle and it had bloodstains on its body, its pupils were still shining. It even rushed towards the silver-colored Immortal Peach trees several times!

A chi sound rang out. It pecked off a silver leaf, directly swallowing it into its mouth. This made everyone feel shocked; this was too savage! Was it trying to devour the whole thing and destroy the Immortal Peach trees or move away the small divine medicines?

Weng

The Demonic Crack Butterfly shook its wings, releasing rays of divine light. It blocked off the Bifang, not allowing it to destroy the small divine medicines. It was clear that it wanted to bring away the precious trees.

A honglong sound rang out. A brave and beautiful youth appeared, and the monkeys were forced backwards. He strode over towards those four stalks of small divine medicine, dual pupiled and carrying an astonishing aura.

He was like a dragon or tiger as he moved. Brilliant splendor enveloped his entire body, and with his black hair drifting behind him, he was like a God that descended into this world.

Shi Yi moved as well. He unleashed powerful precious techniques, forcing back more than ten monkeys. He rushed forward to kill, wanting to seize those silver flickering objects.

When one of the divine monkey bosses saw this, it immediately rushed over. With a roar, it tried to block him, and even took out a powerful precious artifact to murderously suppress him. It was a chunk of divine metal that circulated with dark light, and it smashed down towards the youth.

Seeing this, Shi Yi did not panic. Symbols interweaved within his pupils, and with a hong sound, he unexpectedly froze the space here! The precious artifact was momentarily motionless. Taking advantage of this, he rushed forward quickly.

The boss soared into the air and personally took on the responsibility of killing him. Its body emitted light, releasing a precious technique.

Hong!

No one knew what type of precious artifact Shi Yi took out. It hacked down on the monkey boss's precious technique, immediately dispersing it. Soon after, it pierced into the monkey's chest.

At this moment, the powerful divine monkey released a miserable cry. Its body exploded and blood scattered everywhere.

“What a powerful human youth!”

Everyone became shocked, and no longer dared to belittle his status as a human; all of them carefully took precautions against him. Two divine monkey bosses jumped out from nearby and rushed towards Shi Yi with killing intent. Their cultivation realms were high and both possessed terrifying strength.

The fight reached its climax, and regardless if it were the kings within the mountain range or the divine birds and Archaic vicious beasts descendants by the Immortal Peach Tree, they were all fiercely fighting. It was coming to a conclusion.

The little guy searched within the old forest while the little wolf's nose continuously sniffed. Finally, it widened its eyes and ran towards an ancient tree, using all of its strength to scratch at a section of land.

This time, it no longer dared to directly claw at the tree trunk and get sent flying. Instead, it tugged at the ends of the little guy's pants, indicating for him to move quickly.

"Ah, there really is more!" The little guy was pleasantly surprised. He clenched his fists tightly and looked it over; this was truly a bit unusual.

Sure enough, when he used the broken sword to slash forward, symbols began to flee in disarray. After being destroyed, he gently tapped the trunk, and there was hollow sound. He gently pierced open a small hole and looked inside. The wine was sparkling and translucent, surging with multicolored light. In addition, a few spirit medicines were still afloat, not completely refined.

"This is new wine, and still hasn't been completely brewed!" The little guy was too happy. He saw two silver Immortal Peaches inside as well as many other types of spiritual medicine. It really was like how they predicted; this was absolutely priceless.

He hurried the restricted individuals over. Afterwards, the entire ancient tree was uprooted and collected into the heaven and earth pouch.

"This is amazing! There should be enough to drink within the two tree holes. I need to bring back some for Grandpa Chief, Uncle Linhu, Uncle Feijiao, and the others to try. They will definitely like it a lot!" His large eyes were narrowed until they were like crescent moons. He wanted to let the villagers taste this divine wine, because it will have an extremely great effect on their bodies.

Stone Village would also ferment a bit of wine, but it would always be of the lowest quality crude wine. Even though it was like this, the robust men within the village would still savor it slowly as if it was a type of immortality elixir.

Following that, not only was the little wolf sniffing around with its nose, even the little guy was doing work. He tapped things everywhere, and as long as symbols appeared, he would immediately start digging.

Even though symbols appeared on a few more tree holes, there was no wine. They might have contained wine within them many years ago, but they have already been cleaned out by the group of divine monkeys.

In the end, he was only able to collect the wine from the two tree holes. If any of these tree holes were released to the outside world, it would definitely stir up a tempest; the people will all fight over it.

The little guy moved quickly. The dozen Lion's Mane mushrooms were all picked up by him within this ancient forest. They were sparkling and released a rare fragrance; all of them were unordinary spiritual medicines.

"The best ingredients for little chicken stewed with mushrooms are done!" He felt extremely happy inside.

The little guy put away the heaven and earth net and together with the little wolf, he decided to return to the divine blanket. After all, this area was too dangerous, and if the group of monkeys noticed what he was doing, they would abandon all enemies and focus on him.

"It truly is an enormous harvest! There's nothing to be regretful about even if I can't obtain the Immortal Peach trees," he murmured to himself.

"I'll go make Golden Winged Peng stewed with Lion's Mane in a bit. After that, I'll drink some Little Devil Wine." He felt happy just thinking about it, and by now, his mouth was already full of saliva.

"I'll then roast a Golden Sheep, simmer-fry a few Archaic descendants, and in the end slow-cook a pot of tiger bone soup..." The little foodie wiped away his saliva and somewhat impatiently began to leave this place.

This time, his harvest was extremely great. The Little Devil wine that was formed gradually from over ten different spiritual medicines could not only allow one to undergo complete rebirth, but even had all types of medicinal effects. It could cure all types of illnesses and get rid of all types of terrifying diseases.

The only unfortunate thing was that even though the silver Immortal Peaches wasn't far from becoming divine medicines, they still weren't divine medicines. Otherwise, this Little Devil wine would be even more precious, and its rarity would truly be difficult to measure.

“Wu, since there are Immortal Peach trees here, if I don't dig one up during the chaos, will I be struck by lightning?”

Chapter 167 – Demonic Cattail Tree

Within the pure land, multicolored light danced about in the air, and the spiritual lake shone with a brilliance like that of jade. However, currently, a great battle was destroying the peace here, because a group of heaven warping geniuses were causing havoc within the divine monkey's nest.

Aohou...

A divine monkey howled. It leapt into the air, latching itself onto the body of a bright horned dragon. Opening its ferocious mouth, it revealed a mouthful of snow white fierce teeth before grabbing the dragon's tail and immediately biting down.

"Get lost!"

The Horned Dragon snarled and used all of its might to shake its body. As a pure-blooded creature, his body was incomparably powerful. With the support of symbols on top of its natural strength, it could easily make a mountain collapse.

Kacha

The divine monkey's fierce teeth were broken, making it cry out miserably. However, even though it suffered this injury, it was still incomparably savage. Its claws were extremely sharp, and with a flicker of cold light and dense mysterious symbols circling about, they landed on the Horned Dragon's tail.

The Horned Dragon released a muffled grunt. Its tail was bleeding, but this wasn't because it was weak. Two days ago, it was attacked by the divine monkey king. After the monkey threw out its battle spear, the spear pinned the dragon by its tail onto the ground. Even though the Horned Dragon already used precious medicine to reattach the broken tail, because it had already broken off before, it was still not as strong as before.

The divine monkey was sinister. Using its sharp claws, it tore off a chunk of the dragon's flesh before bringing it to its mouth. Divine blood splashed out, arousing the vicious natures of the surrounding golden monkeys. They threw themselves over together.

That was precious flesh medicine, and in their eyes, it was more precious than anything else.

Hou... The Horned Dragon screamed in anger, and its precious artifacts began to light up. It did not hesitate to use up its essence energy, and wanted to kill those who offended it.

On the other side, the Zhujian was also bathing in blood as it fought against a large number of monkeys. Meanwhile, the Crack Demonic Butterfly, Bifang, and other monkeys were engaging in a muddled warfare.

When the battle reached this point, every side began to stake it all as they fought bloodily.

Back then, this group of golden monkeys were extremely savage. Under the lead of the divine monkey king, they killed more than one king, and even stole the four small stalks of divine medicine. Currently, a group of young ones actually dared to extract a tooth from the tiger's den! This wasn't something that they could tolerate.

Shi Yi walked over with large strides. Astonishing multicolored light circulated about his body, and he was one step away from pulling up the silver Immortal Peach Tree. He was truly extremely powerful, and nothing could stand in his way. Beneath his feet, there were quite a few monkey corpses.

Within the ancient forest, the little guy was standing behind an old tree trunk as he calmly observed everything. The battlefield was extremely intense, and every side was engaging in bloody warfare. He did not utter a single word, and silently observed the battle.

Suddenly, he felt a bad omen, and his eyebrows jumped. At the same time, the little wolf also cried out with an aowu sound, as if it noticed something extremely dangerous.

Snowflakes scattered down one after another. Transparent and glistening, they were extremely beautiful as they drifted about within the ancient forest.

“Not good!”

He had a bad premonition. At the same time, his right arm became sore, as if it was bitten a few times by bugs. Some type of seed had taken root in his flesh, and was quickly sprouting.

The little guy was alarmed and furious. He widened his eyes to see what was happening at the mountain region ahead. Those were not snowflakes at all, and were pure white wads of cotton that were fluttering about in the air!

“Demonic Cattail Tree!”

During the Archaic years, there was a matchless Demonic Cattail Tree that brought about a devastating calamity. Blood flowed like rivers from the great wasteland, and as long as it decided to make its move, no one could be its opponent.

The divine seeds it releases can also be called Cursed Devil Tassels. They could take root inside an expert’s body and absorb the essence from their bodies to continuously strengthen itself.

During its most powerful years, even the most powerful guardian spirits worshipped by the various races would retreat. None of them were willing to fight back, and that was truly years of darkness.

Later on, it planted the Cursed Devil Tassels in a God's body and absorbed its essence. In the end, it sucked its essence energy dry, allowing itself undergo another advancement and becoming unrivalled under the heavens.

Due to its murderous nature, in the end, the saints joined hands to apprehend it together. After fighting fiercely for an extremely long period of time and paying a heavy price, it was finally defeated.

Those were terrifying years. When the Demonic Cattail Tree appeared, it would become quiet everywhere. No one dared to provoke it, and even the honored deities from the ancient countries would retreat, because it was simply too terrifying.

After endless years, this race no longer appeared.

Without a doubt, the Demonic Cattail Tree that entered this small world was not ordinary. It dared to walk together with the pure-blooded creatures, so if it did not have the strength, how could it have so much confidence?

At this moment, it decided to choose the little guy as its opponent. As soon as it approached, it released the Cursed Devil Tassels. It moved noiselessly, and by the time the snowflakes could be seen, it was already too late to defend against.

The little guy's entire arm was shining, because he wanted to force the divine seed out.

The Demonic Cattail Tree appeared. It was not that tall, but it carried with it a type of divine might. Surrounded by brilliant sacred radiance, it was like a divine tree that came from the ancient world, absolutely intimidating.

Its leaves were bright green and glistening. Filled with the aura of the dao, its body had a snow white round shape. While emitting a sparkling luster, it was like a full moon, scattering down a few Cursed Devil Tassels from time to time.

"Leave!"

The little guy shouted loudly, and a ripple proliferated from his body. It forced back the divine seeds that covered the sky.

However, his arm was in pain. Two devil tassels had already taken root, trying to suck up the nutrients and divine energy from his flesh. The Devil Tassels had already sprouted, giving birth to tender branches.

Aowu... The small wolf cried out softly.

“Once infected by the devil tassels, it’s difficult to escape death.” The Demonic Cattail Tree spoke.

Its stolons were thick and powerful, allowing it to walk about like human feet. Its entire body was covered densely in silver colored symbols. Even though it was a tree, there were still five sense organs on its body, allowing it to open its mouth and speak.

Chi chi sounds could be heard, and the demonic tassels in the sky flew over. They flickered with cold light fell like a starry river.

“What a powerful precious flesh medicine!” The Demonic Cattail Tree released a even more ferocious assault, and when it opened its mouth, it looked somewhat sinister.

The little guy’s eyebrows stood up. He was trying to operate the bone text recorded in the True Primordial Record to refine the seed in his arm while withstanding the sky covering demonic attack.

“Break!” He shouted. His arm shone, and with a forceful shake, a large amount of blood immediately gushed out, bringing with it a chunk of flesh. It directly squeezed out those two divine seeds.

“Come back!”

The Demonic Cattail Tree yelled, retrieving those two seeds. From them, it could receive the little guy’s blood as well as traces of the absorption and mysterious power.

“Can’t collect it!”

The little guy screamed, and with a kengchi sound, he directly bit down on a dark green soft shoot. His small snow white teeth shone, and after a few bites, he crushed apart the demonic tassels that were harder than steel.

Afterwards, he... Directly ate it!

The Demonic Cattail Tree became stupefied; this was the first time it met this type of opponent. Usually, it was the one absorbing other people's flesh, yet today, it actually met a savage that directly ate its seed.

The other demonic tassel could not avoid this fate either. The little guy took out the the Suan Ni bone mirror, stopping it in its tracks. It was like he was chewing on a radish as he bit apart the budding seed, eating it completely.

"Such powerful teeth!" The Demonic Cattail Tree was shocked. The Cursed Devil Tassels were precious artifacts, and their sturdiness surpassed one's imagination. The opposing party actually could bite apart and eat it, this was simply unbelievable.

Shua

The little guy left behind an afterimage where he previously stood and began to fight fiercely with the Demonic Cattail Tree.

Symbols filled the sky, and divine light covered the sun. The little guy was extremely angry, because the opponent was actually trying to devour him by planting the demonic tassels in him. He attacked his opponent with everything he had.

The Demonic Cattail Tree was truly extremely powerful, and the entire tree was flickering with multicolored light. Mysterious symbols and precious techniques enveloped this entire region.

The divine seeds in the air were shining with light as they condensed together with the various symbols. They arranged together into an Archaic demonic formation, trapping the little guy in the center to carry out refinement.

Pu

The little guy held the broken sword in his hand and sliced outwards. Meanwhile, the Demonic Cattail tree began to sway. It released a lump of light, and it was actually another ancient artifact. As soon as it appeared, it was already releasing a ridiculously large amount of demonic light and endlessly ringing with wuwu sounds.

“So terrifying. It shouldn’t be a precious artifacts left behind by that deity murderer, right? How could it create a terrifying scene like this?”

On top of the divine blanket, the Nine-Headed Lion and the others were all shocked.

An indistinct and unusual scene appeared. On the bloody earth, all living creatures were howling in grief. Countless creatures were massacred, and there were even ancient countries that were destroyed. A heaven reaching demonic tree ruled over the boundless mountains and rivers, and even deities were retreating.

Dang

The broken sword in the little guy's hands hacked down on top of that lump of light, revealing the Demonic Cattail Tree's precious artifact. It was a scorched black magic staff, and it circulated with an aura that could suppress the sun, moon, and stars.

"This was the weapon of that demonic tree back then! A piece was actually left behind until now." Huo Ling'er became fearful. She came from the Fire Nation, and was naturally knowledgeable about the dark years of the ancient world.

It was clear that this small demonic tree had quite a terrifying relationship with that unrivalled demonic sovereign from back then!

With a weng sound, the broken sword and that scorched black staff collided together. Divine splendor blazed, and heavenly stars appeared one after another. There were also deities shouting, and both parties turned into a sea of stars. They were stuck to each other as they fiercely collided, both of them trying to swallow up the other.

This was an extension of the ancient saints' fight, as if it had lasted from back then until now!

The Demonic Cattail Tree emitted light, and its entire body became sparkling and transparent. Leaves created hualala sounds, and green light surged together with dense smoke.

Its own body was already a precious artifact, allowing it to conquer everything before it. Its stolons in particular were like ten arms, and they penetrated the boulders that were several tens of thousands of jin in the surroundings. The stolons then wrapped themselves around the little guy.

The savage child naturally did not want to be outdone. Lightning radiance danced about on his body, and the silvery white divine moon was like a blade as it hacked outwards.

"Not good. Once wrapped up by the Demonic Cattail Tree, one will inevitably die. There truly is no one that dares to fight with it," said the Flame Crow.

The Demonic Cattail Tree was extremely cold, and strand after strand of stolon wrapped itself around the little guy. Soon afterwards, sharp blades appeared, piercing towards his body, wanting to suck out his body's essence energy.

“Not necessarily. It isn't clear who is going to eat who yet.” The big red bird still had quite a bit of confidence in the savage child, because it even saw him swallow the True Supreme Water before.

The divine striking stone nodded, and it had the same feeling, because that fellow even ate divine sand before. The silt was completely grinded in his mouth before being swallowed, and after all that, he was still healthy and active.

The little guy's body emitted golden lightning radiance, blocking those stolons. Even though there were some parts that had been penetrated, making him bleed, he was still not scared. He held the Demonic Cattail Tree and madly bit down.

Kengchi kengchi

The Demonic Cattail Tree violently shook, because a hole was bitten out of its trunk. The savage child's eyes were bright as he ate with gusto; he chewed madly nonstop.

What the fuck, was he still human?! Why is his teeth sharper than an Archaic vicious beast's? It truly was almost heaven defying. The Demonic Cattail Tree cursed, and was in so much pain that its entire body was shaking.

It penetrated through the little guy's body and devoured his blood essence. However, this human youth didn't become weaker at all. Precious techniques erupted, and his small teeth became bright and shiny. He was trying to bite apart its trunk ah! He directly ate a large piece of its trunk with incomparable speed and viciousness.

In addition, his arms were struggling and his feet were stamping with extraordinary strength. He was trying to tear apart its stolons and branches.

If it was anyone else being wrapped up by the Demonic Cattail Tree, they would definitely be absolutely terrified, because being caught like this meant inevitable death. However, the little guy was fearless, and was actually competing with it to see who was faster as he devoured the tree's body.

Kacha

The little guy's divine force was absolutely shocking, almost cleaving apart the Demonic Cattail Tree. He forcefully tore off an extremely thick branch, and as precious techniques danced about, lightning radiance shot into the tree's body.

The Demonic Cattail Tree had enough. With a sudden shake, it released all of its stolons before quickly retreating. It withdrew that scorched black staff and labeled the little guy as the most savage type of creature. It kept a considerable distance from him as he stood across in confrontation.

The little guy still had blood dripping out from his body. That green and lush branch was flickering with multicolored light, and as he hugged it, he began to chew with kengchi kenchi sounds, quickly devouring it into his stomach.

When the Demonic Cattail Tree saw this, it was utterly speechless. It did not say a single thing and silently retreated, disappearing into the depths of the jungle. From start to finish, it was completely taciturn.

"Truly... Strong teeth!" From behind, Huo Ling'er, Nine-Headed Lion, big red bird and the others were all speechless after watching this. None of them knew what to say in this situation.

"Sugar cane taste, it's somewhat sweet." The little guy blinked his large eyes and ate the last branch with relish as he spoke.

In the depths of the jungle, the Demonic Cattail Tree's body shook before turning rigid. Afterwards, its entire body shuddered, before erupting in a bright and resplendent radiance, making this pure land quake and tremble!

However, in the end, it still did not turn around and decided to silently depart.

Hong

A conclusion was reached by the spiritual lake. The purple-haired girl brandished her golden divine horn, obliterating all types of symbols. A large group of monkeys were blown back, allowing her to rush towards one of the silver immortal peach trees; she wanted to pull it up by the roots.

The group of monkeys went mad and decided to attack her together.

At the same time, the Bifang, Zhujian, Horned Dragon, Demonic Crack Butterfly and the others also made their moves. They killed their way over, using their supreme treasures to force back the group of monkeys.

At this moment, the space around them began to tremble. Shi Yi took action. From his left eye flew out a Bi'an, and his right eye released a golden peng; they were all constructed from symbols. It sent all the monkeys around one of the immortal peach trees flying.

As he held his precious artifact in his hands, he was dazzling like a blazing sun. Following that, he released two great precious techniques using its dual pupils, increasing his power by many folds.

String after string of symbols interweaved. They were bright and dazzling as they wrapped up one of the small silver divine medicines. They were on the verge of leaving this place.

“This is bad!”

The Nine-Headed Lion was amazed, because someone was finally going to obtain one of the divine medicines.

The little guy who was silently standing within the ancient forest suddenly moved out. He turned into a streak of light, and with a honglong sound, a mountain peak in the distance was immediately broken apart. He lifted up the broken rocky peak and directly smashed it down in front of him, completely enveloping the people below!

Chapter 168 – Obtaining the Medicine

The mountain peak collapsed, sealing off the spiritual lake's upper region. Everyone there became shocked; who was this, acting so daring? It simultaneously suppressed everyone!

Everyone became distracted and had no choice but to defend against this. If that stone peak made its way down to this area, even if they were able to avoid it, the silver-colored immortal peach trees definitely wouldn't.

All types of precious techniques rushed towards the skies. Symbols flickered, striking apart the stone peak. Rocks shot out in every direction, and dust rose into the sky. The sky in this region became dusky, and as the dust scattered down on the spiritual lake, it covered everything in earth and rocks.

Taking advantage of the disorder, the little guy collected the young deity into the Heaven and Earth Pouch before turning into a streak of demonic light. He rushed forward, and within the smoke, dust, and flying rocks, he made his move. Opening the Heaven and Earth Pouch, he collected all four silver peach trees.

Precious techniques displayed their might, and divine radiance danced about; this area was in chaos.

Many small trees left the ground, being uprooted from the earth by Shi Yi, the purple-haired girl, and others' symbols. However, it was obvious that the little guy's Heaven and Earth Pouch was a bit more domineering as it swallowed everything.

This area was in complete disorder as all types of light flew left and right.

Hou...

A roar was released, and an old wolf appeared. Even though it did not exceed one meter in length and was as thin as a match, it was still powerful to the point of being terrifying even though it was aging in years.

With a pu sound, its claw tore open a bloody wound in a pure-blooded creature's body. This attack borrowed the radiance that was surrounding a precious artifact, and was absolutely frightening.

The old but still alive creature that the divine monkey king talked about also came here to seize the divine medicine. Its strength was deep and unmeasurable, and as it opened its relatively smaller bloody mouth, the space itself was being distorted.

The little guy was greatly alarmed. He furrowed his brows, because he lost this contest. He couldn't get the silver peach trees into the Heaven and Earth Pouch, because the old wolf waited in the dark for the most opportune time to interfere.

However, it did not succeed either. From within the darkness, there were other creatures that coveted the peach trees. A Xique¹ appeared, and even though it was an ordinary species, its strength was a bit frightening. It quickly enlarged itself, and like a Kun Peng, it covered the sky. Extending out a large claw, it disturbed the heaven and earth, forcing back the old wolf. It was about to walk away with the divine medicine.

This place was in utter chaos. Surly and unreasoning creatures appeared from their hiding places, and there was no lack of those 'old farts' from the olden days.

The divine monkey released a long roar. As it fought with a powerful opponent, it continuously observed this area. With a rumbling sound, symbols blazed brightly, and the spiritual lakeside surged with overflowing radiance.

"You want to seize my precious medicine? I'll beat the shit out of you! Your beating has already been long overdue!"

Following the angry roar, all types of mysterious symbols sparkled within the pure land, forming a sky sealing great formation. It locked up this area, and in addition also held the four silver peach trees so that no one could move it.

A great formation came into view. The monkey king had made preparations a long time ago and was calmly waiting for several old fellows to appear. He wanted to catch all of them and the pure-blooded creatures in one big go.

"What a powerful formation!" Everyone was shocked.

"Monkey, you are too conceited! Do you truly think you are the ruler of the Hundred Shattering Mountains?! Acting this arrogant, you are digging your own grave!"

“It should be about time for us to settle our old grudges! Monkey, you might as well hand over your life now!”

The ancient creatures’ voices were downcast, carrying heavy killing intent.

“In the past, the number that arrived was the number I defeated!” Said the divine monkey.

With a honglong sound, it dodged the Golden Winged Peng and Peacock’s attacks, as well as smashed flying the black Hou and Silver Thorn Beast. It returned to the pure land to directly take out the old kings.

“Kill!”

“The monkey must be eliminated this year!” The Mang Ox roared and joined the old kings.

The Ironblood Ancient Tree expressed its agreement through actions. Its stolons extended, splitting open the great earth. It instantly arrived at the pure land and attacked the enemy here.

The other kings also rushed over and did not shrink back. Since they fought all the way up until now, it was already at a point where they wouldn’t give up until the monkey died. If they did not kill it today, then they would inevitably suffer the great consequences.

The pure land erupted into action and the group of monkeys went crazy. The divine monkey had returned here, and was attacking in all directions with its battle spear.

The pure-blooded creatures were weary of the great foe. Activating their precious artifacts, they were forcefully trying to break through. If they were stuck here, then they would undoubtedly die, moreover, they still had confidence in their race’s ancient treasures.

The little guy concealed himself. He had the broken sword in one hand and grabbed onto the small pagoda with the other, ready to slip away at any time. Since he was going to lose if he made his move now anyway, he didn’t want to die for no reason here. Those creatures’ cultivation realms were high, making them difficult to defeat.

“Monkey, your formation is truly disappointing. There are so many holes, yet you want to trap all of us? An old Flood Dragon appeared, and its entire body was a blue-green. It was extremely old, with its blood vessels almost dried up.

“It’s you! Didn’t you die back then?!” The divine monkey was shocked. The old Flood Dragon was a formations expert, and with its arrival, this ancient symbol formation would have a difficult time trapping anyone.

“If you don’t die, then I can’t pass away!” The old Flood Dragon spoke in a overcast voice.

“Stop speaking rubbish, hand over all of your lives!” The monkey king rushed over.

“I’m going to break your formation first and let you understand just how laughable it is!” The old Flood Dragon ridiculed. Symbols were released, and a shattering sound immediately rang out.

Soon after, a piece of the formation broke off, and the symbols crumpled apart; they could see the light of day again. Several old monsters displayed their might at the same time. They were unparalleled as they broke apart the formation.

It was obvious that their hatred for the monkey surpassed all. They wanted to kill it immediately, and so all of them joined hands.

At this time, the Black Hou, Mang Ox, Peacock, and others arrived. They attacked the monkey in a group violently. Precious techniques flew everywhere, and divine light illuminated everything.

The pure-blooded creatures didn’t have a choice. They were forced to use their precious techniques and fight in this war. They were currently situated within the pure land as well, and this place was already in a large mess.

Of course, the Bifang, Zhujian and others’ strength were not sufficient. After all, their cultivation time was still short, but with their supreme treasures, they could still protect themselves and not be killed instantly.

Only, the more time that passed by, the more their faces paled.

Finally, one of the pure-blooded creatures fell. It was torn apart and turned into precious flesh medicine!

The great battle became more and more cruel. The little guy twitched his mouth. His entire body was wounded, and he was also affected by the battle's effects. Despite having the broken sword in his hand, the terrifying killing light emitted by those kings was still immense and limitless like before.

He was able to last until now because his figure was rather small. After fighting fiercely with the group of monkeys, no one paid particular attention to him; otherwise, he would be in even more danger.

The pure-blooded creatures were incredibly daring. The Bifang took out a precious artifact and actually constructed a golden passageway that stretched all the way in front of the silver peach trees before directly pulling out one of them.

“Get lost!”

The divine monkey was furious. A palm slapped down, and a golden claw enlarged. It smashed apart that golden passage, and the Bifang's body was broken, its bones shattered!

It received an extremely serious injury. It released a wail and used its precious artifact, allowing it to disappear in a flash.

Everyone was shocked. That was definitely a supreme treasure, actually allowing it to escape from the hands of the monkey king! Truly not simple!

The little guy did not run, because he still had some stamina and had a talisman that could allow him to instantly flee into the distance. He fought the group of monkeys in a messy fight, but his eyes were always watching the divine medicine.

Other than him, the Horned Dragon was also extremely valiant. Even though it fled towards the horizon, it released a divine net that surrounded one of the silver trees, taking off with it.

At the same time, the Zhujian made its move. It took out an ancient talisman, and after it was set aflame, it began to emit a mysterious force. It took on the form of a circle of light and wrapped itself around a divine medicine. The Zhujian escaped with extreme speed towards the distance together with it.

The little guy was stunned as he watched what was happening. This bunch actually all had strange treasures and got their hands on the divine medicine.

“Come back at once!” The Monkey King roared. It turned towards the sky and inhaled, sucking in even the clouds in the sky. Those two peach trees were pulled back as well.

Moreover, countless monkey fur flew out from its body. They all turned into golden needles, shooting out densely.

The Horned Dragon roared in anger. Its entire body was bloody, and after being attacked by the divine needles, it couldn't help but release a miserable cry. Fresh blood gushed out, and it could only let go of the peach tree before making its getaway.

The Zhujian was in an even worse state. After being sliced by a divine symbol blade, its sturdy tail broke off before it ran for its life.

“I'll let you guys go for now. When I have time, I'll take care of each of you one by one,” muttered the monkey king. It fought fiercely with everyone while collecting back those precious medicines.

Weng

Suddenly, the space was interfered with. One of the silver peach trees that were returning was stopped, and it rapidly fell downwards.

The purple-haired girl held a golden horn in her hands. After extinguishing the divine monkey king's symbols, she unexpectedly intercepted the immortal peach tree and fled quickly into the distance with it.

"A sacred horn that specializes in destroying symbols?" Everyone cried out in alarm, and greed was revealed in their eyes.

"Those are my divine medicine! Who here has the ability to take them from me?" The divine monkey's tone was extremely cold.

Its two pupils shot out beams of golden light, and they were like lightning as they struck over. Surrounding the small silver tree, the beams were trying to seize it back.

"Monkey, you are too distracted! Be careful not to fall here!" The old wolf sneered and attacked wildly.

Moreover, it actually wanted to help the purple-haired girl out. The divine monkey was distracted, and as a result, the divine medicine fell down and broke free from the monkey's control.

Several pure-blooded creatures pounced over. It was difficult to tell if anyone could seize the three other precious medicine within the pure land, so the one that just broke free from the divine monkey's control was the best choice.

The Crack Demonic Butterfly shook its wings, obstructing the purple-haired girl. A divine bird swooped over, descending instantly...

The battle was fierce as they all engaged in the blood-soaked battle.

"You guys can fight all you want for now. In the end, not a single one will escape!" The divine monkey's chilly voice rang over from the distance.

The space around them shook, and Shi Yi appeared suddenly at this crucial point. His eyes were bright as silky streaks flew out, freezing the space here. It imprisoned the precious medicine, fiercely pulling the divine medicine in front of him.

The purple-haired girl's entire body emitted light. She quickly made her way over, and her sparkling lily-white hands made a seal. Drawing out a divine pattern, she used it to bind up the immortal peach tree, pulling it towards her.

The other creatures also rushed over and fought over it.

"My apologies to everyone! Shi Yi's eyes emitted light, and they contained a bizarre divine might. The space here was temporarily locked up, obstructing everyone and preventing them from coming over. Following that, his chest emitted light, and a sparkling white jar appeared. It was not bigger than the size of a palm, and it was refined out of precious bone. It was beautiful like jade, and streaks of multicolored light flew out to collect that peach tree into the jar.

"Open!"

The purple-haired girl shouted. Symbols diffused from one of her lily-white hands, shaking the space here. Her other hand slashed out with a golden divine horn in her hand. The imprisonment crumbled, restoring the space to a peaceful state again.

However, it was still a bit late. The silver peach tree shrunk in size, and it was about to fall into the bone jar.

Suddenly, a streak of light struck over. The little guy stuck the shrinking symbol to his feet and quickly rushed over. He threw the small pagoda, and it collided with that bone jar. With a sharp ding sound, it was displaced.

He rushed over, and at the same time snatched towards that silver peach tree. Everyone was shocked, and they all tried to stop him.

The little guy shivered a bit. Using both his hands to defend himself, he blocked everyone's attacks and use his mouth to bite the silver tree in place.

The purple-haired girl and Shi Yi released their techniques and did everything they could to stop the little guy, making him feel like he was stuck in a pitfall. Afterwards, with a kengchi sound, he bit apart a tree branch and quickly left. Leaving quickly, he was reluctant to part with it, but did not make any stops.

Everyone was shocked, and was momentarily terrified.

The small tree lost a portion. It began to fall, and none of them chased after that indistinct figure. Instead, they all went after the divine medicine.

“Damn it! Lost one of the silver peaches!”

The branch that the little guy bit off had a peach on it. This made everyone absolutely furious, yet they couldn’t do anything since he already escaped rather far.

Shi Yi’s pupils were cold and detached as he watched the figure disappear in a flash. He was just about to obtain that small tree, yet it was damaged like this.

The little guy grabbed the small pagoda and once again twined it within his hair before disappearing from everyone’s line of sight.

The symbols here rumbled, but unfortunately, everyone else was somewhat farther away so they were left empty handed. Shi Yi and the purple haired girl obtained it, with the former getting a tree branch and the latter the tree body.

‘Let me go!’

Right at this moment, a sound rang out from the Heaven and Earth Pouch. It shook with dong dong sounds, making the little guy shocked. When he opened the pouch, he found out that it was unexpectedly the cocoon that was shaking.

“Yi, my divine medicine! Why is it in your hands?” A sound rang out from within the cocoon.

“Ahpei! Wanting my divine medicine, you have to understand that even you are mine!” said the little guy.

The cocoon emitted light, and at the same time, the pure land shook. Following that, it split apart, and a complex and mysterious great formation seemed to have resuscitated.

“Collect!” The creature within the cocoon breathed loudly, as if it would die at any time.

Three silver peach trees flew over, but unfortunately, it was blocked by the monkey king halfway. Only a single one successfully broke through and came near.

The little guy was shocked, but did not hesitate at all. He grabbed it in one go, and then using the talisman attached to his feet, he disappeared like a wisp of smoke.

Chapter 169 – Creature Within the Cocoon

The immortal peach tree wasn't tall. It flickered with silver light, and the branches wriggled about as if a young dragon was hibernating within. Two silvery white peaches hung from it, carrying a faint golden color and a strong fragrance.

The little guy fled the entire time, wiping away his saliva along the way. He almost directly bit into them, because the peaches were too fragrant. The tree was filled with silver radiance, and the light surrounded him as well.

Even though he obtained it, he still didn't dare relax. He was only able to obtain it through the cocoon's efforts, and so he wasn't reassured at all; he was attentively on guard.

After he collected the immortal peach tree into the Heaven and Earth Pouch, he took out the cocoon. He was scared that it would toss around in there and ruin all the spiritual medicines.

"What are you doing?" The shining cocoon trembled and felt somewhat unsafe. The little guy's movements were swift, and as a result, the broken sword pressed down on it, ready to cut at a moment's notice.

"What kind of creature are you exactly?" The little guy asked with unending bewilderment. He wasn't really worried, because the creature was extremely weak and didn't have that much life force.

Just now, the reason they were able to seize one of the silver peach trees was because the creature inside the cocoon knew about an ancient formation within the pure land. Only after it was reactivated did that area crack apart, allowing him to obtain it.

An hour later, Huo Ling'er and the others rushed over on the void beast skin. They saw that the savage child was roasting a large cocoon over a bonfire, and was even releasing a few streaks of lightning from time to time.

The big red bird immediately ran over eagerly, asking, "Such a large pupa, and it's even emitting light! My favorite!"

It was a part of the bird family, and so it liked insects and serpents the most. Without saying anything else, it came up and spewed out a scarlet red blaze. The big red bird went on its own initiative to roast it together with the little guy, salivating the entire time.

A miserable cry rang out from within the cocoon, shouting out, “Don’t cook me anymore! I’m about to turn into paste! If this continues, this old one is going to fight you to the death!”

Everyone was at a loss, and did not understand what was going on. The voice coming out was obviously an immature sound, yet why did the words that come out feel like someone old and decrepit?

“It’s definitely an Archaic descendant. This grandpa is truly lucky. My mouth is blessed again.” The big red bird crouched in front and put more energy into it, taking the little guy’s place in roasting this large cocoon.

“Stupid bird, this old one is a deity. You dare to act disrespectfully in front of me? Why aren’t you kneeling in worship yet?” An angry voice rang out from within the divine cocoon, but it was still a pure and immature sound.

“You little bug, even at death’s door you’re trying to take advantage of this grandpa. See if I can’t roast you to death!” The big red bird was annoyed. It spat out scarlet multicolored light, and it even turned the rocks on the ground into magma.

“What is this?” The Nine-Headed Lion asked.

The little guy was at a loss. He tried to find out through every way possible, but in the end, the cocoon was reluctant to reveal anything. It didn’t want to say anything, and instead had the pride of an elder. As a result, he set it ablaze again.

A voice came out from the cocoon. “This old one has swallowed the essence of nine heavens and absorbed the immortal essence of ten earths. I lived a life of immortality despite facing countless obstacles and surpassing the mortal realm. By disturbing my peaceful meditation, what do you think you are doing?”

Everyone one was speechless. This creature truly knew how to bullshit! Serves it right to have the misfortune of meeting the devilish brat!

The little guy didn’t say anything further and directly released a bolt of lightning. The big cocoon began to emit black smoke and chi la chi la sounds as it flickered with electricity.

“Aiyaya, I’m being cooked, don’t do this anymore. This old one has truly been harassed by you! I was hiding within the mountain depths, yet you carried me out like a thief. Now, you are even burying me in flames, you are making me furious!”

“Nonsense, I grabbed you from the hands of that vicious beast,” the little guy corrected. This was something that he fought for.

“You call her a vicious beast?” The creature in the cocoon was stupefied momentarily, then began to laugh loudly.

“Am I wrong? Nothing happens when I bite her, and her skin’s as hard as immortal steel.” The little guy grumbled, and seemed discontent.

He wrestled everywhere with the purple-haired girl, and after fighting for more than half a day, he still couldn’t make her surrender. Finally, he bit off a pendant from her ear, but he still felt that his harvest was too small.

“You bit her?! Hahahaha...” The creature in the cocoon laughed incessantly.

“Is something wrong with this guy?” The little guy was confused. What was so weird about biting a vicious beast? He even ate them before. He urged the big red bird to burn it more until it surrenders.

“Ow, don’t burn me any more! This old one is hurting to death.”

“Little bird, if you light the flames again, then when I emerge from this cocoon, I’ll turn you into a roasted bird!” The creature in the cocoon threatened.

“You dare to talk to this grandpa like this? You’re dead for sure!” The big red bird’s face darkened. It used its most powerful divine flames to envelope the large cocoon. It set this entire region on fire, causing magma to flow.

In the end, the creature in the cocoon gave up and begged for it to stop. It told the bird that they should talk things through first, and that anything could be discussed.

“Come out first then.” The little guy spoke. He wanted to know just what kind of creature this was.

“This old one is extremely weak, and doesn’t have much strength. Help me open up the cocoon please.” The creature in the cocoon spoke.

The little guy wanted to use the broken sword to break it apart, but Huo Ling’er stopped him. “This is a rarely seen material, and wouldn’t be any weaker than heavenly silk. If you turn it into clothes, it will be untainted by even a speck of dust and impermeable to fire and water. It’s defensive capabilities are shocking.”

In the end, she made a few restricted individuals do the job. It looked like they were spinning silk, and the entire process was done patiently. They spun the silk, turning it into a silk ball that radiated multicolored light.

When everyone saw the creature within the cocoon, they all became stunned. The first thing they saw was the naked head region that stuck out, and a pair of large eyes were swirling around.

This was a bird’s head. It was completely bald, and couldn’t be considered beautiful. However, it had a bright red beak that flickered with sparkling light.

Finally, it revealed its body. It was about two meters long, and light continued to flow from its body like before. There wasn’t a single hair on its body, making it completely naked; there was a type of indescribable strangeness.

“How could you be a bird?!” The big red bird was struck dumb. Wasn’t this a cocoon? Why did a naked bird come out?

“This old one has gained insights into the supreme profound mysteries. I can become a qilin or phoenix, for my form can be changed at will. Isn’t turning into a worm or a bird merely a moment’s work?” It spoke slowly, but paired with its current appearance and immature voice, there truly was an indescribable strangeness.

Dang!

The big red bird swung the black pot and used the method the little guy often used, directly smashing it down on the bald bird’s head and lecturing, “Cheeky thing! So small yet speaking so much nonsense and daring to act old and proud!”

The bare bird immediately became stupefied. When it used its naked wing to rub the back of its head, it immediately jumped. There was a huge blister there, and it quickly erected like a horn; this was the first time it had this type of experience.

“Little bastard, you dare to act this rudely in front of this old one! I will suppress you for five hundred years and refine your soul every single day!” It was flustered and exasperated as it yelled out.

Dang

The big red bird didn't even say anything before giving it another whack with the black pot. It smashed down right on that blister on the same spot. That 'horn' grew sharply in height and quickly swelled up.

"You just don't learn, you cheeky and impolite thing. This grandpa will teach you how to respect others." It arrogantly overlooked the strange naked bird.

"Ah ah ah! This old one is being infuriated. Who actually dares to treat me so rudely? In the past, this old one could do anything under the heavens with a multitude of creatures worshipping me. There wasn't a single expert from the powerful clans that did not acknowledge me! You are simply a small bird yet dare to treat me this way, a sneeze from me will blow you to oblivion!"

"You still won't surrender?" The big red bird acted arrogantly and gave it another good beating. In the end, the naked bird withered. It could tell that only worse things awaited it if it continued to rebuttal.

The little guy was watching the entire time and was extremely curious. "What kind of history do you have?"

"This old one is a divine creature!" It replied loftily.

"Deity my ass. If you speak any more nonsense, I'll beat you until you wish you were dead!" The big red bird glared at it.

Right at this moment, a multicolored streak of light flashed past. An elegant figure appeared, and the purple-haired girl appeared, passing through this area.

The naked bird immediately hid its body and then squeezed itself into the little guy's heaven and earth net. It was clear that it was extremely unwilling to meet her, and did not want to caught.

"Vicious beast, where are you going?!" The little guy shouted out and quickly rushed out.

When the purple-haired girl heard him, she turned around. Her brows immediately stood erect, and her pupils became bright as if she was going to take action. However, when she saw that there was a group of Archaic descendants gathered together, she feared that she might be outnumbered. As a result, she turned into a streak of purple light before quickly fleeing into the distance.

“Little thief, just you wait, I will catch you sooner or later.”

“Vicious beast, next time, I will fight with you another hundred bouts. I will definitely make you yield, make you my mount, or maybe even make you my village guardian!” The little guy was extremely unresigned as he shouted.

The purple-haired girl was so angry she began to shake. She turned and glared at him with her fists clenched, but in the end, she still disappeared into the horizon.

“Why are you that scared of her?” The little guy carried the strange bird out.

“Me, scared of her? I just don’t want to encounter creatures from that race!” the naked bird said.

The mischievous stone in the little guy’s hair shook, and in an almost inaudible voice, it quietly said, “I think I met this fellow before. It entered the Hundred Grass Land before to secretly drink from the immortal spring.”

“How long ago was this?” The little guy asked.

“A few hundred years at least. It was the divine monkey king’s master at one point in time, and is the same as you guys, originating from the outside.” The striking stone continued to speak in a weak voice so that only the little guy could hear it.

He immediately became dumbstruck and speechless for a long time. He didn’t question the strange bird anymore, but his eyes continuously sparkled. It seems as if he was staring at a divine and precious technique manual.

“You don’t have a name yet, right? Since you won’t tell me where you came from, I’ll just give you one. You are a bird just like big red, so I’ll place you guys together, naming you second baldy.” The little guy was giddy as he spoke.

“Ahpei, who do you think this old one is? I am the one who holds supremacy between the heaven and earth, so how could I use such a rotten name? Keep that stuff to yourself!” The strange bird was furious.

“I’ll just call you second baldy. I feel like that that sounds great.” The big red bird was laughing with hehe sounds.

Leaving it to rebut as it please, the little guy and the others just called it this. It made the naked bird stomp in anger, but it had no choice.

In the end, they once again got off the void beast skin. All of them disappeared to their original places. The ancient beast skin also shook, quickly rushing into the distance.

The sun set, and night arrived. However, it was not completely dark and without light. A moon appeared, emitting a pure white splendor that scattered down on the great earth. According to legends, this was also the body of a vicious beast that turned into a moon, rhythmically appearing and disappearing within this small world.

The void beast skin was extremely large. It floated above the clouds, and a group of people were admiring the moon while awaiting a great meal.

Within the black pot, golden light sparkled. A great fragrance wafted through the air. Chunks of the great Golden Winged Peng meat were inside, flowing with brilliant multicolored light. Around it, there were also bright Lion's Mane mushrooms that were being slow cooked together with the golden meat.

A strong aroma rose from within the pot, making everyone salivate. They couldn't help but want to dig in immediately.

In addition, there were also a few spiritual medicines in the black pot. Being stewed together, they were all sparkling and translucent as they emitted a beautiful radiance.

Stewing meat? This was simply refining a world-shocking precious medicine!

"Small chicken stewed with mushrooms, my favorite!" The little guy stared at it without blinking. Saliva continuously flowed out, because he truly wanted to immediately go up.

One pot was obviously not enough. The others also brought out their precious artifacts, and even the flame crow's bone cauldron became a cooking utensil. It was currently simmering tiger bone soup. Crystalline fluid sparkled, and a strong smell spread through the air.

Apart from this, there was also a golden lamb leg, purple camel hump... Several Archaic descendants were added to the flames. They were roasted until they became a glossy golden, and were emitting an alluring fragrance.

In addition, there were a few jade tables on top of the void beast skin with crystalline jade cups arranged on its surface. They were filled with little devil wine, sparkling and transparent. The intoxicating fragrance made the group of experts feel dizzy even though they didn't drink any yet.

"I truly can't wait any more!" The big red bird swallowed a mouthful of saliva.

Everyone's eyes emitted light. This was not only a delicacy, but also a chance to break through. The reason was because these materials were simply too shocking. They were all waiting in expectation for the food to become fully cooked.

Chapter 170 – Ninth Heavenly Passage

The black pot shone. A great golden winged Peng appeared, surging with golden light as it hovered about. As it emitted a rumbling sound, it sounded as if the deities themselves were chanting!

The great Peng's body was bright as it scattered down silky streaks. They were golden symbols, completely submerging this area.

A wave of rich fragrance gushed out. The golden chunks emitted a precious splendor, and the medicinal smell of Lion's Mane mushrooms, Scarlet Orchids, and Snow Jade Ginsengs wafted through the air. The soup was extremely concentrated, its appearance sparkling and translucent.

This was already no longer purely a culinary delicacy, but was instead a stove of precious medicine. It could easily make any expert's heart tremble, because how would they encounter such precious ingredients normally? Who could eat a golden winged Peng?

"Okay, it's completely cooked!" The little guy yelled out and was the first one to move. He scooped up a chunk of Peng meat and placed it in his mouth. Immediately, it was as if a sun was hiding within as golden divine light rushed out.

"It is so good! It almost melted my tongue." The little guy was completely infatuated. The piece of meat he tried was a bright piece of Peng meat that had divine multicolored light flying about it. When he closed his eyes, he could feel waves of essence energy flying about in disorder within his body.

In the next moment, his mouth and nose felt as if there were small snakes entering and exiting. Those were strands of light beams, and they originated from the Peng's divine essence. They moved along with his breathing.

Following that, the chopsticks in his hands quickly moved. He continuously scooped the sparkling Peng meat from within the rich soup. Great changes were happening within his mouth, and as radiance overflowed everywhere, all seven apertures of his head were trickling with divine multicolored light.

The group began to fight over each other. Fortunately, the black pot was a precious artifact and could be enlarged, enabling the stewing of a portion of the golden Peng. As a result, the amount of food was abundant.

There was still a large portion that the little guy was going to bring back to Stone Village.

Everyone dug in, and all of them were completely infatuated. They almost swallowed their own tongues as their bodies surged with light. Every one of them were praising ceaselessly, because this was Peng meat, and was known to be one of this world's true delicacies.

The other meat being roasted were fully cooked by now as well. The meat was fresh and tender as they shone with brilliant light. In addition, honey was smeared all over, and it was a wild honey they found within this small world. Regardless of whether it was the little guy, Huo Ling'er or the others, none of them cared about their outwards appearances any longer as they stuffed their mouths.

"This taste truly surpasses the heavens." The little guy was elated as he lifted up the luminous cup from the white jade table. The wine inside shone like amber, and the fragrance was so rich it almost seemed everlasting.

He downed it in one go, letting the strong fragrance travel from his mouth to his throat, and then again all the way into his stomach. It left a rich aftertaste, and his entire body was shining.

This was a world shocking precious medicine, and it was brewed from ten types of spiritual medicine chosen by the divine monkey. Every single drop's value was high enough to even make the emperor want to become a drunkard.

The little guy never drank before, but now that he became enchanted by this type of feeling, he continuously ate the Peng meat, roasted wing, and others while getting tipsy from drinking. His body and mind were so relaxed that he felt as if he could float away, making him forget all feelings of resentment and hatred.

"Good wine! Good wine."

The others were impatient for a long time already. The mythical Little Devil Wine was something sought after but could not be found. One would rather miss the meat of a Peng than to pass up this mythical wine as they all toasted each other.

One of the restricted elder was rather restless. After drinking one cup, he downed two more before allowing the taste to even kicked in. He instantly fell to the ground in his intoxicated state and began to snore.

None of the others believed that they would knock out like that and continued to drink. As a result, two more restricted individuals also became like this. Their sparkling bodies became limp with the smell of wine lingering around them; it was tough for them to wake up again.

Apart from the little guy, no one could handle more than a few cups. Excessive drinking immediately made them collapse from intoxication.

Clearly, this was not just the effect of alcohol. There was also the spread of powerful medicinal effects. It would eventually bathe them in its energy, causing their bodies to undergo a transformation.

“Good wine, good wine!” The little guy drank left and right until he downed twenty cups in a row. His face was thoroughly red like a big apple, and his vision finally became a little hazy.

He ate over half a pot of the Peng’s meat and drank the tiger bone soup previously, so before he drank the Little Devil Wine, his body was already bursting with multicolored light. After drinking, it was simply as if an explosion was ignited. His body became brilliant, making him look like he was burning.

After the little guy drank over eighty cups in a row, his entire body was submerged in flames and his aura blazed into the heaven. Of course, that was not a real fire, but the result of his energy being refined before ejecting out of his body.

“No good, we can’t let him stay on the void beast skin anymore. The strength of his body is too powerful, and might bring about a terrifying destruction here,” one of the restricted individuals said.

The two were both startled awake. The little guy appeared rather strange, as if he was bathing in phoenix flames. This scene was astonishing.

“Another cup!”

He was still drinking. A strong and intoxicating fragrance surrounded his entire body. There wasn't a single speck of dust on his body, making him appear bright and divine.

In the end, he drank another 36 cups before also eating the remainder of the Peng meat and downing the tiger bone soup. Furthermore, it seemed as if he was eating the pile of spiritual medicines like vegetables.

Hong

Finally, his entire body changed. Essence energy burst into the heavens, creating a streak of light that connected the earth with the vast sky; he could tell that he was going to break through. Despite being dizzy and drunk, his awareness was still intact, allowing him to directly jump off the divine blanket.

A huge sound echoed outwards as he smashed apart a mountain peak, making many vicious beast and fierce birds flee in shock.

From the ground, a total of nine volcanoes were accumulated. As magma boiled about, they all erupted with multicolored light. The boulders and ancient trees appeared as if they were floating in the ocean. They undulated up and down before being smashed apart.

There was a youth sitting in a meditative position on the mountain, and these nine 'volcanoes' were caused by him. They looked like actual caves that blended the heavens and earths to seize the luck within.

"Ninth Heavenly passage!"

In the sky, those several restricted on top of the void beast skin cried out. This was too shocking! An achievement like this was an extreme boundary observed only from within legends, and it was now broken by this youth. This kind of astonishing marvel was currently unfolding!

The Nine-Headed Lion and the others were all lamenting. However, relatively speaking, they were not that shocked, because they had realized a long time ago that he was a strange human.

The humans were relatively weak, and a nine heavenly passage expert was rarely seen. They had always been known to be in ancient books, and were practically written off as legends. Now, there was actually someone who achieved it.

"The humans are really strange. There is a huge gap between every individual. Some are so weak that they can't withstand the wind, and yet there are some that can even reach this level." The strange, hairless bird mumbled. A moment ago, it also ate some precious flesh medicine and drank some Little Devil Wine. It was clearly more energetic and in a better state compared to before.

“You don’t understand this savage child’s world.” The big red bird’s lips twitched. There was no one who understood more regarding how terrifying the little guy’s potential was than itself. He even drank the True Supreme Water and refined it.

“How strong can he be?” The strange hairless bird asked.

“You’ll know in the future.” Big red said while slapping the back of its head, “Second baldy, don’t lose face for me in the future. You’re my younger bro, so you have to cultivate well. This kind of appearance which makes you seem toppable by a mere breeze is truly too shameful.

The strange naked bird was so angry it began to shudder. Fucking shit, this bird actually treated it like this! If it were not for the fact that its body had some problems, it would have definitely dragged the big red bird over before kicking it until its face blossomed, letting it know who was the elder and how to show respect.

“What? Second Baldy, you’re still not going to be submissive?” The big red bird glanced at it.

“I... Have to endure!” The strange hairless bird swallowed a deep breath of air, and a golden sheep leg disappeared in a few bites. It viciously vented out its anger on the food.

All kinds of symbols shined as they gushed out of the nine volcanoes and ebbed into the magma spectacularly.

“You successfully comprehended the symbols,” Huo Ling’er said.

A long time elapsed. Finally, the little guy’s body emitted keng qiang sounds, and the nine heavenly passages shook.

Multicolored light gushed out, and the symbols transformed into a river of stars that revolved and danced around him.

This sight became increasingly mysterious and shocking. In the end, even those volcanoes erupted with different figures like the peacock, Qiong Qi, Baize, Suan Ni, Chiwen, Bi’an, great Peng. They were all images created out of symbols.

“What is he comprehending?! How astonishing!” At this moment, everyone was emotionally stirred. Even Second Baldy threw out the sheep leg it was eating as it stared vigilantly.

“So strong! I have a feeling that if we meet another pure-blooded creature, he really might be able to fulfill his desire of making one of them yield and have it guard his village gate,” the big red bird said.

“What kind of strange looking symbol is this? It’s so primitive and powerful!” The strange hairless bird erred.

The little guy forgot everything. The only thing within his heart was the bone text and symbols from the True Primordial Records, not any precious techniques. However, these developed into the most simplistic and foundational power.

He appeared drunk and mad within his meditation. At this moment, his entire body looked as if it transformed into a Kun Peng. When he leapt from within his inner self, it seemed as if it skyrocketed 90,000 li and became a god of war.

Soon after, he also looked as if he transformed into a revered sovereign that rampaged through the land without a single enemy under the heavens as it defended its ancient country.

Quickly, he also seemed to have transformed into a fearless and unrivalled Taotie that could devour 10,000 creatures and would not even miss the chance to eat a God.

The Vermillion Bird, Horned Dragon, Bi’an, and Xiu Pi, and other creatures were all being imitated by him one after another. He was experiencing their symbols as if he had reincarnated into these powerful and ancient deities himself.

The little guy became silly, and forgot everything else. Finally, a scene from the record of the wars between deities also appeared from within his heart. It was mysterious and endless, and all kinds of obscurely strange symbols rushed forth at once.

His understanding of symbols was improving. After opening his ninth heavenly passage, the benefits were enormous. It was as if he broke through the shackles binding him and wandered into a new and completely different land

After a long while, the nine heavenly passages withdrew, and the symbols entered into his own body. The little guy opened up his eyes, and could not help but let out a long roar that resonated and rumbled through the entire mountain range.

“You were actually here! Where are you going?”

A roar echoed from the distance. It was precisely the Zhujian with its face of a man, body of a leopard, and black scales all over. It transformed into a streak of black light and charged over while stirring up rubble along its way.

The little guy was fearless and charged forward to block it directly with his symbols. A lift of his hand stirred up a river of stars, and it bristled with electricity as it struck out. After a bang, the Zhujian cried out loudly as it shuddered, its body burnt black.

It shivered inwardly. After it heard the commotion, it unexpectedly encountered the moment that he had broken through. Not only was this human child's body powerful, even his knowledge of symbols had vastly improved.

The little guy rushed out and his palm descended in an unconstrained manner. A silver moon filled the sky, smashing down like a torrential rain on the Zhujian, making it tumble outwards.

Just like this, the two continued their fierce, intense battle.

The Zhujian's tail was cut by the Divine Monkey King, so it was suffering some serious damage. Right now, it was clearly struggling and had a tough time confronting the little guy. It was very decisive, turning away and escaped from a fight it could not win. It wanted to wait until its injuries were healed before attacking this human youth again.

“Where are you going!” The little guy chased. Finally, he unexpectedly jumped onto its shoulders and mounted it with the intention of making it surrender.

The Zhujian roared and activated its clan's ancient artifact, shaking the little guy until he coughed blood. He hastily used the broken sword to protect himself. The space between the two began to shine as if two suns combining together.

Everyone was overwhelmed. The savage child was actually so heaven defying. He was actually starting to make a descendent of an ancient vicious beast yield.

Pu

He chopped off several jin of flesh, making the Zhujian rage. Its ancient treasure ignited, and symbols flooded out like a vast ocean.

At the same time, a dragon roar echoed from the distance. The Hornless Dragon appeared and murderously attacked. It released a large net to ensnare the little guy.

“You want to become my mount in place of this Zhujian? How about you follow me back and guard my home?” The little guy was furious. He chopped off several jin of flesh from the Zhujian’s body and put it away in the Heaven and Earth pouch. Then, he stamped with all his might and rushed forward. He drew his broken sword to meet the Hornless Dragon in battle.

Unfortunately, before they could start their actual life and death battle, the mountain range shook. A huge monkey appeared. The master of this pure land gigantified. Its body was boundless and majestic as it grabbed towards them.

The Hornless Dragon and Zhujian both activated their precious artifacts they inherited from sacred mountains. They rapidly escaped, instantly vanishing without a trace.

The little guy shuddered. No matter how strong he was, he would not dare to battle the monkey king because it reached a shocking cultivation realm; it was not something he could fight against.

With his feet on his withdrawal symbol, he also slipped away like a wisp of smoke.

Ultimately, he returned to the divine blanket again. He breathed out in harmony, and as the nine heavenly passages resonated, his body instantly recovered to its peak condition.

“Delicious!” This devilish brat’s world was something that outsiders had a tough time understanding. A moment ago, he was still killing, yet in the next moment, he became a little drunkard. His face was flushed rosy as he happily drank.

Others would have become drunk after several cups, but he drank the entire night without any danger. This kind of giddy feeling was wonderful.

During the night, the big red red, Nine-Headed Lion, and the sable all underwent shocking transformations. Huo Ling'er also reaped tremendous benefits, and she felt as if she was reborn.

This group of creatures practically all broke through. The void beast skin was overflowing with exceptionally bright colors.

Honglong

This entire small world was trembled extremely violently. The tranquility of the night was broken, and everyone was astonished.

“The exit is going to open. In at most a day or two, we could leave!” The restricted were pleasantly surprised.

“Having to leave is truly a pity.” The little guy was reluctant because he felt this ancient little world was too interesting.

Everyone faced each other. This abnormal child relieved everyone and allowed them to breathe out. He was so easy-going, and treated this place as his playground.

“Ai, I’m unsatisfied. I haven’t even caught a divine bird or pure-blooded vicious beast yet.” The little guy sighed.

Everyone was speechless. What else could they say?!

Chapter 171 – Departure

The small world was on the verge of opening. As it opened, it became more and more dangerous because the indigenous species would go on their final violent hunt to harvest blood and flesh.

The exit was destined to be dyed in a field of blood since there would certainly be powerful individuals who blocked it in order to start their massive killing sprees.

Even though the exit was large and very difficult to guard, it was still fraught with dangers. No geniuses dared to act carelessly as they preserved their strength for the inevitable.

The night was tranquil. The little guy's group practically all made breakthroughs and gained enormous benefits. The moon was still hanging in the sky when the horizon lit up, and a golden fog rose.

The divine blanket flew outwards. Everyone was well-behaved and did their part. No one carelessly looked around for opportunities, because the closer it was to the final moments, the more careful they needed to be; a single slip up might make them lose their lives.

Sure enough, massacres were happening within the mountain ranges and plains. The indigenous species rampaged about, chasing and killing many geniuses; they created a huge slaughter.

There were many humanoids living within this small world. Whistling sounds rang from between the rivers and mountains as fog erupted from beneath them. These humanoids were more cruel than vicious beasts. They weren't really human because they were born with horns and wings.

Many geniuses were killed because they were too young. Their cultivation realms were not high enough, and had not fully matured yet. However, none of the indigenous creatures felt threatened, because many of them had ages of experience.

These fallen geniuses were once outstanding talents from their respective clans. However, in this congregation of young heroes, all the land their clans ruled did not seem that outstanding anymore.

This time, the mortality rate was extremely high. By now, roughly eighty percent of them had already died, and only twenty percent remained.

Along the way, the ground was stained with blood. The excessive killings they witnessed made them completely silent.

There were several times when the little guy jumped off the Void Beast Skin to lend help to the weak, however, his efforts were futile. If these events continued, this world would inevitably be filled with blood.

“Wu, it’s the people of Rain Clan!”

In the afternoon, the sun rose high up into the air. When they passed by a large pond, the big red bird’s eyes caught sight of two individuals. One was a middle aged man, and the other was a white-bearded elder; these two were precisely Yu Kun and Yu Wencheng.

“It’s really them!” The Nine-Headed Lion, who had just broken through as well, widened its eyes. Before the little guy had a chance to speak, it jumped straight off the divine blanket and charged towards the two individuals. Back when these two attacked the little guy, the Nine-Headed Lion was almost killed as well.

Yu Kun and Yu Wencheng were apprehensive. They had remained in this small world for too long. As restricted, although their strength were originally very strong, they didn’t want their graves to be in this place.

So far, apart from Yu Zimo¹ who went to search for Shi Yi, the rest of their clan’s seniors had all died. This made them very anxious as they did not know how to explain this to their clan upon their return.

A multicolored yellow light began to surge as the Nine-Headed Lion dove down. This shocked the both of them, because in the brief time between their last encounter, this descendant’s power increased by an entire level.

“This grandpa is here too!” The big red bird clamored while flapping its wings. It carried its black pot as it swooped down.

An intense battle commenced. The two experts of the Rain Clan were shocked because they did not hold the advantage at all.

The Three-Eyed clan’s expert, Five-Colored Luan, Sable, and the Fire Crow all forced their way forward. Yu Kun and Yu Wencheng became uneasy, especially after they saw the little guy and Huo Ling'er together. There were even several restricted individuals behind them, making these two completely anxious.

"There's nothing to say. I'll send the both of you on a great journey." The little guy spoke.

"You all are seeking death!" These two were feeling the pressure. They were fully aware that they could not withstand this many people, and that it was difficult for them to escape death. Unexpectedly, they instantly went mad and unsealed their restriction to commence their slaughter.

Honglong!

The little guy took action. He hacked forward with the broken sword in his hand, borrowing the endless sword energy to stop their advance. The two released strange shouts because they had no way of defending against this artifact left behind by saints.

They somersaulted backwards a few times before quickly backing away.

However, everything was over. Once they undid their seals, they could only carry out a few strikes before the small world's laws begin to affect them.

They were forced to retreat, and their charge was completely futile. That broken sword was shining and stirred up an ocean of sword energy. It poured down on them like a torrent, leaving them with no choice but to retreat.

Hong

In the sky, a streak of bloody light dropped down. Fear was written all over their face as they began to cry out.

“No!”

This was a blood colored divine chain created from the natural laws. It greatly resembled lightning, but wasn't. It hacked across the sky and struck the two in half, frying their bodies until they became ashes.

“So terrifying!”

The group's faces all changed colors. The law in this small world was too powerful. It instantly exterminated those two until there was nothing left.

The faces of the restricted beside Huo Ling'er all paled. Their hearts were filled with terror, it was simply too dangerous as the divine law chain flashed right in front of their eyes.

The only rejoiceful thing was, they did not need to use any of their unrestricted power. As a result, they did not enrage the small world by exposing themselves.

Four hours later, the little guy carried out a hunt together with the Nine-Headed Lion, big red bird, sable, and other descendants because they ended up encountering the survivors from the four large clans. It was clear that the only ones still alive were restricted individuals.

The wheels of fortune turned. They wanted to get rid of the devilish brat not long ago so they grouped up to hunt him down. Now, the situation had completely reversed, and they were the ones being chased.

“When we leave this small world, it will be hard for you to escape death.” A few of them threatened when they were chased to the point of no escape.

“What a pity. You will never be able to deliver the news, and that day will not arrive.”

These people's fate had already been determined. A few were killed, and a few undid their restrictions; however, after encountering the laws of this small world, they all died.

“Ai, being unrivalled under the heavens is a great feeling. It’s as silent as snow.” The big red bird shook its head and sighed.

“The monkey king is here!” The Divine Strike Stone shouted.

Ceng! The big red bird instantly jumped up and flapped its wings with the intention of escaping. However, after seeing the group’s peaceful appearance, it suddenly figured out that it had been lied to.

Hou....

Suddenly, an ear-splitting roar echoed past. A golden creature that was as tall as a mountain stepped onto the earth in the distance. It split mountains and rivers as its shining body made its way over.

“The monkey is actually coming this time!” Everyone became apprehensive as they hid within the divine blanket, concealing themselves in the sky.

“What is it going to do?”

“Not good, the Divine Monkey King is going mad. It lost two divine medicines, so it is blocking the exit and massacring everything in that area. It’s simply an awful and cruel scene.”

The Monkey King had some wounds on its body. It defeated a powerful expert in battle not too long ago, and suffered some unpleasanties as a result. What it absolutely could not endure was that it lost two trees’ worth of divine wine.

The old Flood Dragon, Golden Winged Peng and others were either dead or gravely wounded. The survivors gathered and defended together in order to not get eliminated one by one. They did not want to challenge it again.

“None of you should even think about escaping!” The monkey king angrily roared and shook the entire mountain range in its rumbling. It gave everyone the premonition that some large terrible event was going to occur.

“This... We won’t all be wiped out right now, right? Are we all going to die here?”

With the entrance of a king like this that wanted to obstruct the exist, just how many people would be able to pass him? No matter how many of them attacked it, it would simply not be enough.

“We might have hope if several pure-blooded creatures go in together. After all, they all have some type of supreme treasure on them, so creating a path to life shouldn’t be a problem.”

Soon after, everyone in this small world became aware of the situation. The Divine Monkey King went crazy, and it was going to commence mass murder. This immediately frightened everyone.

“This monkey child was actually this powerful! If I were to escape right now, I’ll most likely be swallowed whole by it.” The strange hairless bird said to itself.

“What are you talking about?” The big red bird asked.

“You guys go. Can you leave me behind in this world? I don’t want to go.” The strange hairless bird said.

“No, we have to enjoy and suffer through life together. You’re my younger brother. How could I abandon you?” The big red bird glanced at it. It clearly did not want to let it go.

The strange hairless bird was flowing with tears. Such a small bird dared to call itself the older brother. It was simply absurd!

Ga Beng

When the sun rose from the horizons once again, the small world shook and trembled as if it was going to split open. Furthermore, it seemed as if the aura of primal chaos was surging forth.

Hong!

Finally, an enormous gate that connected to the outer world opened.

A streak of green light charged forth. It was a very powerful jade bird that was the first to attempt an escape to the outer world.

The Divine Monkey was high up on the mountain as it blocked the front of the gate. It raised one finger, and with a pu sound, a streak of blood splashed, instantly squeezing a jade bird to death.

“I said, no one can leave!”

“If everyone charged for a door that large, could it possibly stop everyone?” A few shouted loudly.

No one took the initiative, because none of them want to end up like the head bird.

However, there was a limit on how long the door stayed open. As soon as the time limit passed, they would be sealed within this land. If they wanted to leave again, they would have to wait several hundred years.

Finally, the commotion and worry began to infect everyone. Many people could not wait any longer as time slowly trickled by. No one knew when this door would suddenly snap shut.

“Kill!”

“Let’s charge forth together!”

A large group of densely packed creatures shouted loudly as they charged towards the huge door. When they approached it, they rapidly separated in an effort to avoid being taken down.

The monkey king let out a cold laughter. It opened its bloody mouth, exposing its fierce snow-white teeth. While charging towards the group of people, it shouting loudly. Beautiful lights instantly danced in the air as divine thunder shook the sky.

The sound was like a divine constellation striking down from the sky. The group of people spurted out large mouthfuls of blood before staggering backwards. A few people instantly exploded; their body and souls were instantly extinguished.

The survivors all had fatal wounds as well. Blood dripped from their ears as their heads ached and their bodies trembled.

Peng

A large foot descended from above. The monkey king activated its gigantification technique and became incomparably huge, only this time, symbols interweaved around its foot as it split the earth and stomped towards those remaining survivors. Many creatures immediately turned into meat paste because it was impossible to block the monkey king's killing blows.

Everyone inhaled a breath of cold air. This time, it caused the violent death of a group of at least several hundred geniuses; it was truly an unfortunate event.

Time trickled by. This place was very peaceful. The monkey king glanced around while exposing the fierce teeth in its mouth. It guarded this land, allowing no one to pass.

Weng

The pure blooded creatures commenced their attack. The Bi Fang activated its most precious artifact to construct a golden passage. It turned into a streak of light before disappearing within in effort to escape.

The monkey king roared. The bristles of light within its hand shone, making a golden spear appeared in its hand. It thrust forward, and with a hong long sound, the golden passage exploded. The Bi Fang spat out fresh blood after failing its escape.

It did not dare to stop, and escaped back to the small world with extreme speed.

Just like this, a whole four hours were wasted. Many creatures tried to approach the exit, but they all faced defeat. Even amongst the pure blooded creatures, not a single one could successfully force their way through.

This made everyone anxious. If the small world close, they would truly become turtles trapped in a jar. Even if they could survive, it would be several hundred years before they could escape.

The area flared up. There were constantly people trying to charge through but they all failed.

Half a day passed by quickly, and endless number of creatures were wounded or dead. Not a single creature could escape, and everyone present was fretful.

“I said, not a single one can leave. Everyone will die here!” The monkey king was like a huge golden mountain range as it roared. It completely blocked the exit.

“Is that right? Do you really believe you can rule this small world and do as you please?” At this exact moment, a crisp voice echoed over.

“Who!?” The Divine Monkey was astonished. This person was too terrifying, possessing a powerful penetrative force that made even him shudder.

“You better step aside, and avoid making a mistake.” This voice contained some magnetism, seemingly as if it originated from a middle-aged man.

The monkey king suddenly turned around as it faced towards the huge gate. A pure aura lingered around the exit, but it was hard to see past it because the passageway was too long.

“You’re outside, and you can affect things happening inside. Who are you really?”

“You are... The human emperor!” Some people cried out in alarm.

“It’s indeed his majesty!” On the divine blanket, a few restricted were shocked.

Huo Ling’er’s large eyes flickered as she revealed a cheerful smile. The emperor personally came, so what was there left to worry about? They were going to be safe and sound.

“Emperor... You’re revered in the outside world, but you cannot enter this ancient small world. Do you really think you can do anything?” The monkey king roared.

“Don’t involve yourself anymore, or else a calamity will descend upon you from the heavens,” the emperor calmly uttered.

“You... Actually think you can interfere with matters in this small world?!” The Divine Monkey King sneered. It was not convinced that his adversary could step in here and wage battle.

However, with a hong long sound, a golden wave smashed over and instantly struck the monkey until it flew straight across the air, making it spout out large mouthfuls of blood.

Chapter 172 – The Emperor’s Power

The monkey king was incredibly powerful and could sweep away everything in its path. In this small and ancient world, it was considered an existence at the peak of the food pyramid. Not even the group of old kings were its opponent, yet now it was struck with injuries by a golden wave from the outside.

The Divine Monkey roared furiously. It crept up from the ground and its enormous body made a mountain range collapse. Its golden body shined, shooting out two streaks of golden light; it possessed the aura of a war ox.

“Clear a way to the exit!” An imposing voice commanded from the outside. His actual body did not come inside.

“You think I’ll get out of the way because you asked me to? If you have the abilities, just come inside and kill me!” The Divine Monkey’s evil aura overflowed into the heavens. The incredibly thick golden battle spear in its hand shined as it pointed at the exit.

Mist filled the air. The small world’s gate had already opened up, allowing everyone here to leave. It was all because that golden monkey was blocking the way. It killed many geniuses from all over the land, making this road impassable.

Powerful astral winds billowed majestically as a wave made of light soared into the sky. A golden palm appeared and slammed forward like a hand of god. It was enormous and filled with an imposing power, intimidating and difficult to defy.

The monkey widened its eyes and bared its fierce white teeth. The battle spear in its hands struck forward ferociously and tyrannically as if it was going to pierce through the heavens.

It used its gigantification technique, making its body taller than a mountain. Its spear was like this as well, its thickness making it seem as if a mountain ridge was lifted up vertically. Hazy light and deathly metallic aura surged powerfully at the same time.

Dang

A palm slammed down, striking down on the tip of the spear. An ear splitting keng qiang sound rang out, but the sparkling center of the palm was unaffected and not penetrated in the slightest. In addition, a frightening sound was emitted in the next moment. With a kacha sound, a crack appeared on the battle spear before quickly spreading outwards.

A peng sound was emitted. The battle spear shattered, and it was like a mountain collapsing. The broken pieces surged with golden light as they fell down, smashing the ground until it became full of holes. Smoke and dust soared into the skies.

Everyone became overwhelmed by shock. How powerful was the emperor's strength?! He could actually overrule the small world's regulations! A palm created out of light directly destroyed the monkey king's precious artifact.

Ke

That was not the end of it. The divine monkey coughed out a mouthful of blood and began to stagger about. It seemed like it received a heavy injury.

“The emperor is so powerful! Even while separated by different dimensions, it can still gravely wound the monkey king. If his real body descended here, just how terrifying would that be?!” There wasn’t a single creature that was shaken.

“Even this small world’s laws and regulations couldn’t stop him! The divine force of his symbols still entered... Just how powerful is he?” All of them were fearful.

“I won’t surrender!” This was the first time the divine monkey suffered such a crushing defeat. From the moment it was born, it had never encountered a foe like this.

It opened its mouth and released a clear hiss. Symbols appeared from within its pupils before turning into two divine swords. They flew out with the intention of slicing apart that palm and disintegrating the emperor’s precious artifact.

Dang

The sparkling hand moved its fingers, and with two motions, the two divine swords were completely shattered. They turned into a stream of light before disappearing into thin air.

Moreover, that palm slammed over, making the monkey king's body violently tremble. It brushed past it, directly making it stagger about before flying out horizontally. The monkey smashed into a mountain and coughed out large amounts of blood.

Ah...

The monkey roared in anger. It felt extremely stifled. It was originally a self-proclaimed king, yet it met such a crushing defeat here. It was truly difficult for it to take in.

With a honglong sound, a head appeared on its shoulder. At the same time, arms appeared from beside both its left and right arm respectively. With a roar, its entire body shined with light. It produced an ocean of symbols as it murderously charged forward.

Peng

This time, that sparkling palm directly smashed down. It was absolutely ruthless, no longer giving the monkey another chance.

The monkey's body was gigantic, moreover with its twin heads and four arms, its strength doubled. However, its bones were smashed and its tendons were snapped as if that made no difference. With the descent of the large hand, it was like a sparkling divine mountain as it crushed the monkey underneath.

The symbols were dense and auspicious vapors were rising; the emperor was going to refine the divine monkey. In the blink of an eye, half of the monkey's body became fuzzy, as if it was going to be converted into heaven and earth essence and dissipate within this world.

Finally, something different happened within this small world. A blood-colored divine chain appeared. It pierced towards the emperor's hand with the intention of destroying it.

Dang

The emperor released his grip and gently lifted a finger. It collided with that scarlet-colored divine chain and emitted a crisp metallic sound. The chain became unsteady and almost cracked apart.

The divine monkey leaped and retreated backwards. Upon seeing this situation, it became overwhelmed with shock. The emperor was terrifying after all, and if he was able to advance another stage, it was quite possible that he could directly break into this small world.

Currently, all of its pride and haughtiness was put away as it rushed towards the deepest parts of this world, no longer blocking the entrance. At the same time, that sparkling palm also slowly vanished. It emitted strands of essence energy before ultimately disappearing within this world, and the entrance was finally peaceful again.

“The emperor is so powerful!”

His body could not enter, but he could still utilize a few precious techniques to interfere with this small world, making people feel intimidated.

“He should only be able to interfere with the entrance, right? If he could truly break into the limits of this small world, then that would truly be heaven defying.”

“Who knows!”

The various creatures here were all geniuses. They were proud and arrogant, but currently, they thoroughly accepted the current situation. Even if they bitterly cultivated, it would still be impossible for them to reach that level. It truly was a monarch within the great wastelands, and it would be difficult to find someone to be his opponent.

“Charge!”

Everyone shouted. They did not hesitate, and all of them flocked forward. They urgently wanted to be separated from this small world.

They’ve fought in here for more than a month, and everyone was mentally exhausted. They wanted to leave immediately, and even fifteen more minutes sounded like torture.

“Sigh, what a pity it is that I have to leave now. I haven’t stayed long enough yet,” the little guy murmured. He was the only one that was unwilling to leave.

There were so many spiritual medicines here. As long as one looked carefully, they could dig up several stalks every day. There were so many Archaic descendants as well, and as long as one was diligent, they could eat one every day.

After leaving, where would they find spiritual medicines, and where would they be able to find Archaic beast youth? They would all be scattered within the great wasteland and be extremely difficult to find.

“What a pity!” He said to himself. When the surrounding people heard him, they all wanted to trample on him.

“You still aren’t satisfied? You really are confusing yourself as a small demon king.” Huo Ling’er rolled her large eyes and felt that this devilish brat was truly hopeless.

She stretched out her body, her figure appearing incomparably delicate and relaxed. Her small waist was wonderful, and her physique was tall and slender, seemingly perfect. Her hair was pitch black, her wonderful face sparkling white, and her lips bright red. This type of relaxed appearance had a unique type of beauty to it.

“So unhappy.” The devilish brat’s eyes were sullen as he spoke. “I didn’t catch an Archaic vicious beast youth.”

The group of people immediately turned around, none of them wanting to face him!

“Sigh, sticking around with you truly hurts my ego.” Only the big red bird muttered a statement.

“Let’s go, we should leave as well,” Huo Ling’er said.

“Right, your father is so powerful. Can you introduce me to him?” The little guy asked hopefully.

“What are you trying to do?” Huo Ling’er casted a sidelong glance.

When the little guy heard her, he became bashful. His small arms were crossed together as he said, “Didn’t I tell you already last time?”

“What? You want to become the son-in-law of upper nobility?” The big red bird asked.

Several ‘restricted’ individuals immediately revealed killing intent as they glared at it.

“It’s about me becoming different aged friends with your father. Being in such a relationship with me, I promise he won’t lose out,” the little guy said.

“Get lost!” Huo Ling’er turned around. There was no reason for her to have a small uncle, and only someone with something wrong with their brains would do something like that. She walked out.

“Come on, let’s go.” The Nine-Headed Lion and Flame Crow also spoke. They had been itching to get out for a long time already, and were preparing to rush out.

“Sigh, truly a pity. I’m not going, I’m going to stay here.” After saying this, he directly ran inside and warned repeatedly, “Little Gray, when you enter the Fire Nation Imperial Palace, you must eat as much as you possibly can!”

The little wolf lying in Huo Ling’er’s bosom nodded with all of its strength. Its large eyes emitted light.

Everyone became dumbstruck. Did this fellow go crazy? Was he really going to stay here?

Huo Ling’er’s mouth twitched. “If he really wants to stay, then to hell with it. He must be scared of being hunted down after leaving, and it’s possible that he’s worried about us.”

When the big red bird heard this, it immediately rushed off to madly chase after him. It was still waiting for the little guy to introduce a master to it. If he lost this opportunity, then it would truly not be able to shed tears even if it tried.

The Nine-Headed Lion and the others all laughed. The Rainbow Luan was astonished. Before, it still wanted to use its race’s power to scare the devilish brat a bit. In the end, the brat slipped away and directly ran.

When everyone thought about it, they became relieved. This brat stewed a great Peng, cooked the White Tiger, and chopped off a few pieces of flesh from the Zhujian. He even pulled off the scales of the Horned Dragon and wrestled with the purple-haired girl, so he probably didn't dare to walk out just like this.

The little guy turned into a small fatty and waved towards a person in the distance. It was the silver-robed youth Xiao Tian, and he was hiding within the desolate desert. He avoided the great calamity, and only now did he rush over.

"Bro, it's good that you are okay. I heard that there was a huge disturbance within the depths of this small world and that devilish brat made his move. Have you encountered him?" Xiao Tian asked.

He decided to block off the information, because this was just a single person living within the uninhabited region. Xiao Tian did not know what happened, and only heard a few rumors while walking out.

"I saw his figure from the distance, and truly wanted to give him a beating." The little guy responded vaguely and then asked for the True Supreme Water. He wanted to get his portion.

"Do you have any precious artifacts to hold it? Aren't you scared that it would fly away?"

"Don't worry, just give it to me." The little guy took the jade container containing the divine fluid before quickly collecting it into the heaven and earth pouch.

"Truly is a good treasure." The silver-robed youth was a bit jealous. Following that, he invited the little guy to leave together with him. If they encountered that devilish brat, they had to give him a good beating.

"You go first. I still have some things to take care of." The little guy was a bit embarrassed.

There was a vast crowd, and all types of creatures were here. They rushed towards the exit, and even though more than eighty percent died here, the remaining group was still enormous.

In the outside world, the Flame Crow, Nine-Headed Lion and the others had exited a while ago. They followed beside their elders. Among the elders, some of them were in humanoid form, and some were in their original bodies; all of them were extremely powerful.

In the sky, there were moving palaces floating in the air. They were incomparably enormous, brilliant and imposing. Huo Ling'er entered one of these enormous palaces, and it was clear that this was the palace of the human emperor. One of his incarnations arrived to bring her home. One could tell from this action just how much the emperor doted on his daughter.

Other than the emperor's shocking palace, there was an ancient battle chariot not far off. Even though it was rather dark and did not have much luster, it still made people feel intimidated.

Soon after, a golden beast walked out from the chariot. Its entire body emitted light, and it was brilliant and dazzling. This was a race that served the Archaic divine birds and vicious beasts, and was incomparably powerful.

Everyone inhaled a breath of cold air. It definitely originated from the Archaic divine mountain and came on behalf of the pure-blooded creatures.

People continuously rushed outwards, and an entirely pitch-black large bird was sticking its head about like a thief as it followed the various creatures out.

"That bird, why does it seem rather wretched? It seems kinda familiar." The Nine-Headed Lion muttered.

"Right." The three-eyed race experts also nodded.

"It is definitely not from my Flame Crow race, but it seems rather like..." The Flame Crow spoke up.

"It's the big red bird!" They all stared blankly and recognized that this fellow died itself black.

Unfortunately, they did not see the devilish brat.

"Why hasn't that brat come out yet?" The purple-clothed girl stood atop a war chariot while frowning.

As for the Zhujian and Horned Dragon, they were also looking. They did not inform their elders, because they did not want to explain what happened. They even more so did not want to complain, because they all had their own pride and dignity.

“This won’t work, because your precious technique is lacking. You can cheat normal people, but it won’t pass true supreme experts.”

Within the small world, the naked strange bird shook its head. It was not satisfied with the little guy’s transformation technique. It had already tried to slip away many times, but each time it was caught again and trapped within the Heaven and Earth pouch.

The little guy was originally extremely calm and collected. After hearing what was said, he felt as if he was too careless and said, “How about you teach me a unique ability?”

The naked bird rolled its eyes. It didn’t wanna teach him anything at all.

“The one that I hold the most hostility towards is that purple-clothed girl vicious beast. You have to understand that if I’m exposed, you can’t run either.”

The naked bird was at a loss. Even if it was beaten to death, it still didn’t wanna meet anyone from that race. If not for them, it wouldn’t have hid within this small Archaic world that year.

“I’ll teach you a small ability to perfect your transformation technique.”

The little guy was originally delicate and pretty, but in the end, he made himself into a robust youth. He became tough and stocky, and his appearance gave him a bold and powerful aura. He directly walked out arrogantly.

Chapter 173 – Disturbance

No one noticed. Even Huo Ling'er, Nine-Headed Lion and the others were deceived. This proved that Hairy Ball's seventy two transformation technique was extremely shocking, allowing one to make the fake appear real.

Even though the precious technique was badly damaged, through the strange naked bird's guidance, the body transformation technique was restored.

The current little guy was robust and full of vitality. His skin had the color of wheat, and as he walked within the group of people, he called out to random 'friends'. Regardless of whether or not they recognized him, he still acted as if they were extremely familiar.

He walked out just like this without anyone noticing. After arriving in the outside world, he blended into the crowd of creatures and then became one of the 'spectators'.

"Wu, even though you're wounded, your cultivation improved by quite a bit." A completely shining elder looked at the Nine-Headed Lion with relative satisfaction.

The Nine-Headed Lion had four of his heads chopped off by the little guy. They grew back later on, and this was the shocking method of his race. Currently, he was too embarrassed and couldn't speak about it.

"Good! Not many of our race's experts that entered died, and the two of you are well-known figures. Your cultivation levels have greatly improved! This was truly a rare chance!" On the side, the two brothers of the Three-Eyed Race also received praise.

Many creatures came out, however, there were many races whose geniuses never appeared. Some of the Archaic descendants couldn't help but reveal overcast expressions, and among them, there was a White Tiger that was the most terrifying.

The White Tiger was spotlessly white like jade with scattered golden stripes across its body. With a luminous and pure body, it appeared as if it was created out of a ceramic glaze. It emitted a powerful aura as it stood atop a battle carriage, and its face was downcast. Its mood was similarly terrible.

This was a king that came from the Western Tomb Beast Mountain. It was waiting here to meet its most pampered offspring, yet in the end, its child never appeared.

It had a feeling that its descendant had fallen.

Aohou... The White Tiger faced the sky and roared. Golden energy shone from its body, creating a vast expanse of whiteness. It shook everything until even the heavens began to sway.

The Nine-Headed Lion, Flame Crow, Rainbow Luan and the others revealed strange expressions. Their elders were even more prudent, asking them about the death of the small White Tiger.

They all shook their heads. This wasn't the place to talk about that. Could it be that they were going to tell their elders that the White Tiger was eaten by them and was currently inside their stomachs? If news of this leaked, a great war would definitely unfold.

"Why hasn't our Rain clansmen come out yet?" Within a mist in the distance, a group of elders were anxious as they walked over.

"Came out, Yu Zimo came out." They revealed happy expressions, because they finally saw a genius walk out alive. Since one came out, there should be others behind her, right?

"Zimo, is it because you guys obtained the True Supreme Water and fear coming out as a result of being careful? Don't worry, our preparations are sufficient, so they can come out!" An elder was waiting in expectation.

torch like radiance flickered within his pupils.

"Ancestral grandpa, wuwu..." Yu Zimo broke into tears.

"What's wrong?" The Rain Clansmen immediately panicked. They had a bad feeling and all of their faces turned green. Could it be that the group of geniuses as well as the four restricted individuals all died?

"The elders all died, and my clan's geniuses all fell. I was the only one to look for brother Shi Yi..." Yu Zimo's face was drenched in tears. She was a unique genius, and after sensing that there was a great danger, she hid herself and avoided the calamity.

She failed to find Shi Yi, but survived in the end.

“What? All died? Who did this?!” The Rain Clansmen were furious. This group contained the clan elites, and they were the hope of their clan, yet they were all exterminated.

“It’s that child from the Void God Realm.” Yu Zimo cried as she spoke. At the same time, she told them about how the True Supreme Water was seized.

Ah... The group of people roared loudly, and there were many that were so angry they coughed out blood. This was simply too hateful! A little baby actually killed off an entire generation of theirs.

“Seize it back!” Someone roared in a low voice.

“The True Supreme Water was agitated and fled. He drank some into his stomach because he didn’t have the corresponding vessel to contain it. He can’t keep it inside of him forever,” Yu Zimo said.

“So hateful... What a waste it is for such a precious divine decree to be broken by a devilish brat...” The group of elders beat their chests and stamped their feet as they wailed in anger.

They felt that it was simply too much of a pity. If they didn’t succeed, then that was that. However, they were clearly already at the crucial point, and the True Supreme Water was already on the verge of entering the jade cauldron, yet in the end, this kind of devilish brat charged over.

It was to the point where a few people were in remorse. They shouldn’t have made so many problems for that youth, and should have just focused on obtaining that True Supreme Water. If they had done that, maybe they wouldn’t have had this disaster happen to them.

Unfortunately, it was already too late no matter what they said. There was no such thing as a medicine for regret within this world.

What made them especially uneasy was whether or not that child was the same one as the one back then. Just how big of a deal was this?! To actually be capable of killing their restricted individuals, this was a type of absolute terror!

“He absolutely must be eliminated!” They shouted in an overcast voice. They almost smashed their teeth apart, and were simply angered beyond belief.

Beside them, there were people who heard but did not care since too many similar situations had occurred. Many geniuses were buried within, and some experts such as the White Tiger were even roaring like thunder.

What about my Kun clansmen? How come not a single one came out?”

The exit was shining as fog lingered around it. The number of creatures that came out of it was gradually decreasing. However, the Kun Clan did not see a single one of their own geniuses exiting.

“How come no one from my Li Clan came out either?” There were many others like them who were in the same puzzling situation. No matter how cruel the competition was inside, it wasn’t likely for their entire group to be wiped out since they had restricted individuals accompanying them.

Finally, they came across some clues because a few people beside them furiously roared, “Devilish brat, I’m gonna kill you!”

Those were people from the Yuan clan. From the word of mouth from others, they obtained information that the devilish brat killed in every direction, and he wiped out all the geniuses and restricted individuals clean.

The Kun clan, Li Clan, Meng Clan, and Yuan Clan; these four large clans once had conflicts with the little guy in the Void God Realm. This time, they even put a bounty on his head before entering the Hundred Shattering Mountains.

In the end, the result was like so. Everyone’s heads were picked off by that child.

After the four large clans heard the news, they practically became insane from anger, and even their hearts were bleeding. There were over ten geniuses and restricted ones, yet they were actually all killed like this?

He was just a child. Whether it was in the Void God Realm or the Hundred Shattering Mountains, he displayed his extraordinary power. Such a shocking feat astonished everyone.

“How did this happen? I’m not giving up!” The four clan’s geniuses were their hopes for the future. They were sent in to search for an ancient treasure; however, no one came out alive in the end.

Other than them, there were also many others that were discussing.

“Have you guys heard? Within the Hundred Shattering Mountains, there was a savage child that swept in all directions. Rumor has it that he even dared to kill Archaic vicious beast youths.”

“I heard! So powerful... Have you guys seen? The four great families there on the other side all have sullen faces. It seems like the race’s experts have all been wiped clean by that child.”

“Such savagery!”

Soon after, the people were informed that this infamous savage child in the Hundred Shattering Mountains was precisely the devilish brat from the Void God Realm. It immediately shocked them to the ground.

“I truly hate him. No matter where he goes, everything gets tossed from side to side. In the Heaven Mending Pavilion, he picked up a treasure...”

Their thoughts were complicated. Currently, many people were searching for the little guy.

The Heaven Mending Pavilion chief elder Tao Ye held the glistening yellow gourd in his hand as he stroked his beard with the other. He kept feeling his eyelids twitching; he somehow had the feeling that the child flipped the Hundred Shattering Mountains on its head.

“Shi Yi came out! The divine dual-pupiled one has arrived!” Right at that moment, everyone became alarmed. They all looked towards the entrance.

There was a tall and thin youth standing there. He was sturdy, and vigorous with black hair flowing down. His eyes had two pupils that flourished with heroism. He dragged an enormous beast skin as he walked outside, and even the ground underneath trembled.

“What?! That’s... a mature Archaic Descendent!”

Everyone was dumbfounded. Killing a descendent of his own generation was understandable. How can a youth do such a heaven defyingly large thing? This was truly a magnificent feat.

One has to know that even the elders who were currently here had difficulties against an Archaic Descendent; this was not right.

He was just 13 or 14 years old, yet he actually accomplished such a splendid feat. He was truly like a God destined to rise above this great wasteland, and not a single person could stop him.

Shi Yi's entire body was enveloped in a layer of splendor, gradually making him appear even more mysterious and powerful. He looked like the reincarnation of a revered God king who was walking within the mortal world.

He dragged an enormous old green Flood Dragon behind him. There were many wounds on the Flood Dragon, and some places even had white bones exposed. This shocking prey made the group of creatures speechless.

"This is the old Flood Dragon that was battling with that divine monkey! It ended up with heavy injuries, but never would I have thought that it would have perished under Shi Yi's hands." Some pure blood creatures showed strange expressions.

They weren't the only ones, as there were others who witnessed that battle. As a result, discreet discussions started. When people found out how terrifying this old Flood Dragon was, they became even more astonished.

"Even though it had an injury, Shi Yi being able to capture and take out its corpse represents the magnificence of his power and luck."

Everyone was emotionally moved.

"Shi Yi also obtained some divine medicine too. If that savage child did not make his move, he might have even obtained an entire tree," some people said.

Once word got out, it stirred up an even greater commotion. What was a holy medicine? It represented an opportunity to change your entire body, and make a person undergo a huge breakthrough. It also represented an extra life; being able to revive you no matter how heavy your injuries were.

Of course, there wasn't even a need to mention that it could improve a person's life force.

“There was actually a person who spoiled my Martial King Family’s happy occasion and obstructed my Yi’er from seizing a divine medicine?” An elder of the Shi family was furious.

“That child from the Void God Realm breaking one of Yi’er’s records was fine. But he also came to the Hundred Shattering Mountains to display his might. Is he trying to provoke us?” Another elder had an ice-cold gaze.

“Yi’er is blessed by the heavens. Even if he does not have a stalk of holy medicine, he’s not a person who someone else can surpass.”

A group of people from the Martial King’s mansion came. They were all high-leveled experts who were welcoming Shi Yi back. They were all extremely careful in trying to take care of him, as they were scared that someone would assassinate him in the middle of the night while he was on his way home.

“No matter who he is, it would be disadvantageous for him to think about challenge Yi’er. He has to get past my Martial King’s Mansion first!”

“Heng, that devilish brat from the Void God Realm is too capable of making a ruckus. Is he not afraid of dying young?!”

These words were spoken by the two elders who were partial and loving towards Shi Yi’s bloodline.

In the distance, the little guy was alone by himself. He calmly looked around with his pure, large, and bright eyes without uttering a single word.

The young geniuses of the Martial King’s Mansion all gathered up and surrounded Shi Yi in the middle. They helped him carry the old green Flood Dragon as they lingered around him like stars around the moon.

Shi Yi was unmatched and fearless. He attracted the gazes of too many people. Thousands of eyes focused on him as a divine splendor flowed from him. Even his hair was shining, making people exclaim in surprise.

While people were passionately debating things related to Shi Yi, it was unavoidable that they would naturally raise up the topic about the child who dared to steal his holy medicine. They felt more than ever that this devilish brat was abnormal, and had a shocking potential.

Without a doubt, the savage child was also very famous at this time. He stirred up countless commotions within the Hundred Shattering Mountains. After words of his deeds had been spread about, everyone became shaken and speechless.

The little guy turned around by his lonesome self as he left the area of the Martial King's Mansion, walking into the distant earth. He was walking his own path, and did not need anything to anchor him down.

Without any of the Martial King Mansion's protection and spiritual medicines, he also arrived at this point. He firmly believed that he was the strongest as he gathered his state of mind and paced into the distance.

Chapter 1741

The little guy did not enter Broken Sky City, but rather disappeared into the horizon instead. He wanted to leave this bustling place, and so he left into the distance by himself.

For him, that place was too dangerous. If the powerful clans were to recognize him, they would naturally decide to kill him. At that moment, without any clansmen to protect him, it would be difficult for him to escape death.

A dragon worm measuring over 100 meters in length crawled through while ingesting and expelling mud. It looked at the little guy who was sitting in the middle of a swamp with a strange look; however, it didn't attack because it sensed danger.

"Where do I go?" The little guy sat on top of a clean rock in the middle of the swamp. He scratched his head while reminiscing about his recent losses. However, now he was very happy, because after all, he was still a child.

"I obtained so many precious thing and ran into the middle of the wastelands by myself. Now that I found a place to cultivate earnestly in peace, I don't need to run around everywhere anymore."

After he opened his Heaven and Earth Pouch, he became elated. He dragged out Second Baldy who was currently secretively eating his spiritual medicines sat his butt on it as he started to count what he gained.

The precious artifacts, spiritual medicine, little devil wine, immortal peach tree, True Supreme Water, and the other things were truly astonishing. If any of these things were spread around, it would instantly instill a huge commotion. Apart from this, there was the flesh and blood of Archaic Descendents that could be piled up into a small mountain, as well as the pure-blooded Zhujian's precious flesh medicine.

"So much!" He happily smiled. Without relying on anyone, he obtained all these spiritual objects by himself. It was enough for his cultivation needs.

However, he could not use all of these by himself. He needed to bring some back to his clansmen and the children of the village for them to use, because that was the place that provided him with warmth and happiness. They were the people most intimate to him.

“Let me go!” Second Baldy yelled. When the little guy sat on it a moment ago, it almost could not breathe. It took a great deal of effort for it to roll back its eyes and recovers. This devilish brat’s strength was too strong.

“Who told you to secretly eat anything? Fortunately, you did not take any silver peaches; otherwise, I would have stewed and boiled you into a pot of precious medicine,” the savage child threatened.

“Wu, your situation is not reassuring at all. You won’t live more than a few days.” The strange bald bird spoke with a very profound appearance.

The little guy spanked its butt and said, “Enough, stop saying such frightening things. Let’s go and find some old cave to cultivate in. Then, you can teach me whatever precious techniques you wish.”

“Why do I have to teach you precious techniques. What do I owe you?” Second Baldy rolled its eyes.

“You teach me precious techniques first, and then I’ll search the world and charge through every ancient divine mountain to make that female vicious beast’s clan surrender so that you won’t have to run in the future,” the little guy said.

The strange bald bird was dumbstruck. How self-confident was this youth? His mannerism was too lofty. However, it soon remembered this savage child’s feats. He chased a hornless dragon running and rode on a Zhujian to make it surrender. His valiance made people speechless.

Thinking carefully, this child really did have a practically limitless potential. The only troublesome thing was, if he was so fierce and explosive when young, would he remain this way when he grew older? One must know that divine birds and vicious beasts possessed an extremely powerful latent strength and would walk a triumphant path from start to finish. However, humans were naturally slightly on the weak side.

“Ai, don’t say anymore. Looking at your ominous appearance, the heavens are going to be jealous of you and you might truly die.” Second Baldy sighed.

“You’re looking for a beating aren’t ya? Why are you cursing me?” The little guy glared at it.

“It’s not me who is cursing, but there is a malicious spirit cursing you. There is a strand of black mist hidden within the light on your forehead, and it’s going to break out soon. With your cultivation, it will be tough for you to defend against it, and you’ll die in a few days,” said the hairless bird.

After the little guy heard this, he quivered and trembled. He knew that Second Baldy was not entirely lying. To be honest, the reason why he entered the Hundred Shattering Mountains was to find a sword for an old spirit.

“I already found the broken sword. Looks like I have to go back to the Heaven Mending Pavilion.” The little guy kicked opened a stone beneath his feet.

Of course, he did not want to go anywhere right now. There were currently many talkative mouths in Broken Sky City, and there were also a few with godly eyes piercing about like lightning. It was pretty risky to go right now.

“Let’s wait two more days.” The little guy muttered.

After that, he began swallowing and spitting out multicolored light as he extracted the essence of nature to cultivate his symbols. He was comprehending the supreme mysteries of the True Primordial Records, and as he sunk into an extremely calm state, he earnestly tried to gain insights into the dao.

Although the little guy’s natural gifts were astonishing, he would never display them for no reason. If he wanted to become stronger, he did not have anyone to rely on. He only had himself as he treacherously advanced on his path of struggle.

After opening his ninth Heavenly Passage, his body became sturdier. A slight wave of his hand could seemingly move mountains and lift seas; his strength was supreme. Moreover, all kinds of golden symbols glittered within each Heavenly Passage, nourishing his precious techniques. His abilities in symbols advanced leaps and bounds, advancing by an entire level.

“So comfortable!”

The morning light sprinkled down as the little guy stood on top of a limestone within the swamp. He breathed the essence of day in and out as his body warmed up all over. It made him feel as if cultivation was not very difficult, but rather comforting instead.

“Time to go find old man Tao Ye and re-enter to the Heaven Mending Pavilion again.”

He believed that Tao Ye had not left, because his actions within the Hundred Shattering Mountains must have spread about by now. Heaven Mending had to protect him well and disallow anyone to harm and fight over him.

Of course, if Tao Ye knew that the little guy was wrestling with the purple clothed girl, he might have went crazy.

In reality, although the Zhujian, Hornless Dragon, and other pure blooded vicious beasts fought with the little guy, they did not inform their clansmen. They did not want to take revenge using their elders’ power, because they had their own egos and pride.

Two days later, Broken Sky City became desolate. Apart from some special people, all the genius creatures from every clan had already left.

They fought within the Hundred Shattering Mountains for over a month. This was such a long time that they had all tired out. They wanted to return to their clans right away, and so they decided to hit the road with their seniors as soon as possible.

“Wei, is uncle buying a sword?” The little guy strolled towards the house he visited before, and sure enough, he saw Tao Ye’s figure. He was still here.

For the past two days, Tao Ye firmly held within his hands the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s utmost treasure – the gourd. He walked everywhere around Broken Sky City to look for traces of the little guy in fear of him being captured by others.

Now, after seeing a finely clothed youth walking towards him while speaking these words, his heart suddenly jumped. Then he asked, “I only want a cursed sword. Nothing else.”

“Done.” The little guy was beaming with smiles as he blinked his large eyes.

“This brat!” Tao Ye was elated and immediately whacked him. Then, he quickly dragged him back to the garden, and returned to their residence.

“This is... junior brother!” A young girl was pleasantly surprised. She was very perceptive, and realized his identity from the smiles in the eyes.

“Junior brother!” The others also surrounded him.

Amongst his three senior brothers, one of them died in the Hundred Shattering Mountains, however, both the senior sisters were still alive. The dead made people melancholic; but relatively speaking, this was still a very good result. One must know that for many families, their geniuses had all died.

“Let’s go. There’s no need for any more talking. Let’s go back to the Heaven Mending Pavilion immediately,” Tao Ye said.

He rapidly laid down several pieces of symbolled bones and took out a little altar. Then, he chanted and started his ritual.

With a weng sound, a glittering passage that lead into the distance appeared in midair. Tao Ye dragged them and rapidly entered. Then, a multicolored light shined and they all disappeared.

“Senior, why are we in such a hurry. Could there be people out to kill us?” A senior male practitioner asked.

“No one is after us, but there is a rotten fetus here that many people would be happy to have. They would probably cage him up and treat him like a pure blooded vicious beast pet.” Tao Ye smiled.

The little suddenly widened his large eyes and said, “I haven’t captured a true Tao Tie or Ya Zi, and there is already people after me. I’ll have to completely suppress them.”

“No harm, as long as we return to Heaven Mending Pavilion, no one would dare to behave atrociously. After all, our Guardian Spirit had lived since the ancient era. Who would dare provoke it.” Tao Ye was very happy.

This was because he heard news that a savage child dug a meter into the Immortal Spring and did not let even a speck of sand get away as he completely dug everything out.

He felt like the Guardian Spirit of the Heaven Mending Pavilion could be saved

now. It would be able to live even longer, and could awe every clan so that no one would dare to offend them.

“It’s still alive. Several hundred years ago, I felt like it was going to perish. It’s still alive in this world even now, so terrifying.” A murmuring sound transmitted from within the Heaven and Earth pouch.

“What kind of creature is this?” Several people were shocked.

The little guy opened his bag and took out Second Baldy. He discovered that it secretly ate another two leaves of a spirit medicine, and immediately gave it a beating.

“So ugly.” The two senior sister laughed.

“What are you looking at? I’m not wearing any clothes, so why are you guys peeking? Are you not afraid of being poked by needles?”

As a result, it received a few pinches, and it began to clamor.

Multicolored light flashed as the passageway glittered after nearing its end. A group of people walked out. They stood at the the forbidden area of the Heaven Mending Pavilion – the ancient garden where the Guardian Spirit cultivated.

“Finally back!” Tao Ye let out a long breath since they did not encounter any misfortunes along the way.

The upper class of the Heaven Mending Pavilion were shocked after the group of people appeared because they heard news that the savage child had even taken the soil from the Immortal Spring away.

After the outside world heard news of this, they did not know whether to laugh or cry. This child truly knew how to create a ruckus. The Hundred Shattering Mountains practically became his playground.

The group of people anxiously gazed over. Among them, there were several hundred year old elders, natural and sumptuous middle aged women as well as strange looking descendents. They were all strong existences within the Heaven Mending Pavilion.

“Stop looking at me like this. I’m embarrassed.” The little guy blinked his large eyes and said.

Everyone was speechless. With his style of angering all the men and Gods, was he going to feel embarrassed?

“Child, did you bring the Immortal Spring back?”

“I didn’t!” The little guy scratched his head.

“Although The Immortal Spring dried up, that silt should always be there right?” An elder said with a fiery expression.

The little guy nodded and said, “There is, I did what I promised and even brought back the entire hole where the Immortal Spring was. Will all the seniors also keep their promise and let me live in the Sacred Secluded Pavilion for a year and a half?”

They seemed to not have mentioned such a thing a long time period right? The group of elders looked at each other in dismay, but this child’s contributions were too significant.

“You may. You can even live there for ten years!” At this moment, an elder who radiated light all over appeared. His face was blurry, and his entire body seemed divine and auspicious.

“Pavilion master!” Everyone was gobsmacked.

The Pavillion Master who had always shut himself in and had not appeared for many years came out. Furthermore, he firmly recognized the little guy’s merits and permitted him to live in the Sacred Secluded Pavilion as he pleased so that he can observe and study all kinds of scriptures.

“Really?” The little guy widened his eyes on the spot and exposed his shocked expression. Not even he could have thought that the pavilion master that he had never seen would be so generous.

When the Pavillion Master came out, he seemed like a divine spirit enveloped in radiance. He seemed extremely pure and holy. However, his powerful aura did not oppress people, but gave them a calm and serene feeling instead.

He rubbed the little guy’s head and sighed, “Go learn some more things. Soon, the great wasteland will be in turmoil.”

In this place, the wastelands were endless, and the mountains were limitless.

Every clan was surrounded by dense, primitive forests, and several ancient countries were sprinkled within these boundless great wastes.

Therefore, this region was known as The Desolate Wastelands.

Chapter 175

“Go back and rest first. We have to make preparations to make sure everything is safe, and you need time to recover as well,” the Heaven Mending Pavilion Master said. His words were warm, and his body shined, making this ancient ground appear brilliant.

The Guardian Spirit had withered, and its entire body was sickly. It existed since the ancient era until now, and so extremely long time had passed. It already lacked vitality, and only had a few more years left to live if nothing unusual happened.

Many years had passed, and Heaven Mending Pavilion had tried out countless ways to preserve its life force in hopes of allowing it to live longer, but everything was ineffective. However, they had collected some rare spiritual objects, and prepared to use them all this time. It would be used in tandem with the moist soil of the Immortal Spring in order to display their greatest effect.

This required the most meticulous preparations, to the point where they even had to refine some divine remnants of Archaic Descendents. They were going to pour them into the golden sand to ensure success.

The little guy slipped away without a trace like a wisp of smoke. After obtaining such a conclusion upon returning, he was naturally incomparably happy. He would rest a bit first and enter the Sacred Secluded Pavilion after.

There was plenty of spirit energy within this ancient pure land, far surpassing the outside world; however, it could not compare to that of the Hundred Shattering Mountains. The spirit energy in the ancient small world was so dense that it liquefied and flowed on the ground. It was a sight rarely seen in this world, and consequently difficult to find.

The little guy ran between the mountains. Underneath each mountain was a patch of bamboo forest. Within the rows of bamboo houses was where the new disciples lived.

He couldn't find Hairy Ball. Before he left, he left it within the Heaven Mending Pavilion. This has always made him uneasy, because this fellow's teeth were too strong, and it could eat even more than him!

“Isn’t this junior brother? You’re back.” Many people simultaneously greeted him. Before he left, he had defeated a bunch of geniuses. This aroused a shock amongst the new disciples.

Naturally, some people immediately scampered and ran off in fear of encountering him. They knew that he had been possessed, and an ancient apparition was attached to his body. As soon as night fell, a ghost would follow by his side.

However, he was a cultivator, and it was daytime right now; the ardent sun was still high up in the sky. Many people had no fears at all, and they all came up to greet him. At the same time, they curiously stared at the big, bald, and wingless bird beside him.

Currently, the ordinary disciples did not even know who he was, let alone where he had been and what he had done in the past month. Only a few people within the genius camp and some of the senior disciples vaguely knew about how heaven-defying this savage child was.

Obviously, this was a flame that couldn’t be covered for long. News of this will be exposed in the near future.

“Have you guys seen a little monkey? It’s plump, round, and only the height of a fist,” the little guy asked.

“You’re talking about that walking havoc! Of course we know about it! That’s right, junior disciple. I remember that it was being raised by you since it was always leaving and entering your room. Don’t you know that it provoked a large calamity?”

“That’s right. That little monkey is too difficult to deal with. It ate away an entire field, and it also ate away all the old medicine from some of the spiritual mountains. If it wasn’t for the fact that it slept under a stalk of spirit medicine after being full, it probably still wouldn’t have been caught.

The group of boys and girls around him were sighing as they recounted the events that happened recently.

The little guy scratched his head. His ominous premonition had indeed come true. Hairy Ball had ruined one of Heaven Mending Pavilion’s medicine fields, and was captured by an old senior.

“If I had known, I really would have brought it with me into the Hundred Shattering Mountains,” he mumbled.

At the same time, he felt that the ancient little world was too dangerous. With Hairy Ball’s ability to invoke disasters, if it was by its side, he might have been chased to death all day; thus, he left him at Heaven Mending Pavilion. Now, it seemed like a true blunder.

A large group of people surrounded him; they were all new disciples. The little guy was very open, and was able to befriend anyone after entering. Many people heard the news and came to see him.

Soon after, the little guy appeared at the genius camp, and suddenly drew some peculiar gazes. A few people heard rumors and vaguely knew of his origins. However, they were still not a hundred percent sure.

“Junior brother, I heard you made some major commotion in the outside world and instilled disturbances endlessly. Are there no geniuses in any clans who can match you?” A green clothed young girl smiled as she walked over. Her skin was fair, and her figure was slender. A smile hung on her charming face as her eyes swivelled.

She was truly a young, pretty, and elegant girl who appeared to be fourteen or fifteen years old. She had once fought with the little guy. Although she lost, she had no animosity towards him.

“What is pretty sister saying? Why don’t I understand?” The little guy pretended to be naive. Facing a senior sister a head taller than him, he was still acting like he did before as he exaggeratedly wiped his saliva.

“You’re really that devilish brat from the Void God Realm, and you even went into the Hundred Shattering Mountains this time to display your strength?” Another girl walked over. She wore a short skirt made of beast skin, and her skin had a brown tint, giving her a wild beauty like a leopard. Her figure was slender and fit, and even her expression seemed wild.

“Sister Piao Xue, long time no see. You’re even prettier now.” The little guy wiped away his saliva as he deliberately went off topic since he did not want to reveal any more.

A group of people surrounded him with a strange expression. This little rotten kid was not even ten yet, and was a head shorter than all these other youthful girls; yet he had the nerve to act like such a swine.

In fact, these people did not hold any animosity, and they also extended him their friendship. Originally, they had all been defeated by the little guy and lost a bunch of medicinal powder and bone books.

They continued to ask him question, because they all wanted to know whether or not he truly created some major events in the Hundred Shattering Mountains.

“Brother Yuhao, long time no see. I missed you a lot.” The little guy giggled and said, “Are you better now? When are we going to exchange pointers again?”

Zhou Yuhao had just undone his bandages, and he met this savage child once again. His face turned green, and quickly retreated. He did not want to have his bones broken again. The last two times, all his bones had been completely broken.

“Little brother!” A delicate and pretty child ran over with a face full of joy. He was precisely Qingfeng, and he had already entered the Heavenly Passage realm. In the past few days, he was more diligent than anyone else and did not waste any time at all. He had just known that the little guy came back.

“Let’s go! Time to find Hairy Ball.” The little guy dragged him and ran. He did not want those people to ask him about anything.

A spiritual mountain was currently being surrounded by flashing purple lightning. This area seemed like a sea of thunder as bristles of lightning lingered around it. An ancient palace hall sat on its peak, divine and majestic.

The Zhuyan¹ had exposed its original form. Golden hair was shining all over its body, and a few divine chains tethered its hands and feet in the middle of the hall. The surrounding lightning flickered and wrapped around it, so that it was difficult for it to escape.

Hairy Ball was extremely unhappy and dejected. It had almost been suspended for half a month, and that old man still had not let it go. The divine chains were one of the most precious treasures of the Heaven Mending Pavilion; otherwise, it would have chewed through it a long time ago.

“Zhi Zhi!” When it saw the little guy appear, it immediately began to screech. It wanted him to save it as soon as possible.

“This monkey isn’t simple!” The strange bald bird immediately quivered inwardly. As it faced that fist sized golden sphere, it seemed as if it was facing a colossal dormant threat.

Although there was a big problem with the strange bald bird’s body, its powerful perceptive ability remained. This was how it was able to see clearly that the little guy’s body was cursed.

“Senior, please let Hairy Ball go.” The little guy pleaded.

“It destroyed my medicinal fields and ate my spiritual medicine. Its crimes are too grave!” A senior surrounded by bristles of electricity was sitting as he calmly displayed his power.

This was one of Heaven Mending Pavilion’s ancestors who practiced the law of thunder symbols. His strength was deeply profound, making him incomparably powerful.

“Senior, please give it a chance. Furthermore, my brother brought back the silt of the Immortal Spring that can save our ancient Guardian Spirit. Give Hairy Ball his freedom back.” Qingfeng also pleaded with his completely pure and honest expression.

“You’re that child?” In the hall, that old man suddenly appeared at the foot of the mountain. His entire body was dispelling a thunderous light, and a strange ancient symbol was on his forehead. Bristles of lightning interweaved around him, creating an extremely bright scene.

He looked at the little guy and said, “Can you understand this symbol?”

This is the mystery of lightning that had turned into symbols. All the laws had been condensed into one symbol. This is one of the best and most complicated one that he had cultivated.

“Such a powerful symbol. It’s so complicated yet easy to explain. This is made using endless thunder symbols and condensed into one divine symbol; it’s astonishing and heaven defying. Senior is truly talented and hardworking.” The little guy exclaimed in admiration.

He was incredibly respectful. This symbol was particularly enlightening to him, because he had studied the Suan Ni’s precious technique. He also researched lightning symbols, so he was currently absolutely fascinated.

过了很长时间，他才醒转，觉得受益匪浅，虽然没有彻底弄明白，但却像是看到了一片新天地。

After a long time, he came back to reality. He felt that it was really beneficial. Although he did not understand everything, it was as if he had just peeked into a brand new world.

“Not bad, you’re indeed as savage as the rumors states.” The senior nodded. The thunderous light on his body constantly flourish and rumbled.

The little guy embarrassingly said, “I’m really kind. I’m not savage at all.”

“Who believes that?” Second Baldy quietly muttered beside him.

Peng

The little guy slapped him over, and while he was at it, he released a streak of lightning, utilizing what he had just experienced. Second Baldy immediately began to emit black smoke as he twitched in place, electricity crackling nonstop.

“You really have an astonishing talent gifted by the heavens.” The senior praised.

The unlucky Second Baldy was emitting black smoke from all over his body. Bristles of electricity continuously spurted out of his mouth and nose. It cursed nonstop, because it was used like a test subject to see how strong the precious technique was.

“After you enter the Sacred Secluded Pavilion, you’ll be able to choose a few lightning dao ancient symbol bone books. Go through them slowly, and if you are confused about any part, you can come and ask me.” The ancestor of the Heaven Mending Pavilion said.

“Many thanks, senior!” The little guy was extremely happy, and was sincerely grateful.

“Thunder techniques were originally one of our Heaven Mending Pavilion’s supreme divine techniques. After being passed down until now, the essence of it was lost.” The elder shook his head. With a flash of thunderous light, he disappeared from the foot of the mountain and appeared once more within that ancient hall again.

“Brother, this is one of Heaven Mending Pavilion’s ancestors. He wants to teach you thunder techniques, so the power of your precious techniques will rapidly advance a lot!” Qingfeng was amazed as he loudly congratulated his brother.

“Senior, can you let Hairy Ball go?” The little guy asked.

With a qiang sound, those divine chains came loose. Hairy Ball immediately transformed into a streak of golden light and charged downwards. He landed on the little guy’s shoulders with a sou sound and hid behind him while staring with one of its eyes widened. It waved its small golden claws at the mountain top while baring its fangs.

stared at it with one of its eyes widened as it waved its little golden claw towards the mountain and grimaced.

“Look after it. It’s best that no one else see its true form.” The old man opened his mouth after releasing the golden Zhuyan and warned with a serious tone.

Clearly, he also saw that golden monkey had an enormous origin that could not be easily revealed in front of other people’s eyes.

“Let’s go Qingfeng. I’ll bring you to eat some delicious things.” The little guy brought Hairy Ball and Qingfeng and ran into the distance.

“Good, let’s go and celebrate. Tomorrow brother can enter the Sacred Secluded Pavilion. The Sacred Secluded Pavilion is a holy place with bone books that had been passed on since the ancient era. There has to be many mysterious techniques there. Perhaps you can even find some lost secret precious techniques.” Qingfeng was extremely happy for him.

When they returned to their residence, they saw a silver gowned youth who had a gloomy expression on his face. He had been waiting in front of the residences in the bamboo forest for a long time. His face was flickering between red and white as he clenched his fists tightly.

This was Xiao Tian. After he returned to his clan, he did not stay for long and immediately came back.

He heard all kinds of events that had happened within the Hundred Shattering Mountains, and increasingly began to suspect that savage child was the intimate friend that he had just met. After closely questioning others and researching, he almost spat out a mouthful of old blood.

Therefore, he did not stay for long, and returned to Heaven Mending Pavilion in order to clear everything up.

Chapter 176

Qingfeng naturally recognized him. The silver-gowned youth was the number one genius within their batch of disciples, and his reputation was so great that it made many of the senior disciples sigh with admiration. He didn't understand why the silver-gowned youth came here.

"Brilliant and promising youth, number one disciple. He stayed within the talented genius camp in the past, and is an incredibly talented and valiant."

When Xiao Tian heard this, the corners of his lips immediately twitched. He despised that type of praise. He previously stayed in the talented genius camp, but was later chosen by an old monster, so he naturally knew Qingfeng.

The little guy also grinned. Isn't this just touching someone else's sore spot? They had actually met again after such a short time. However, he did not fear, and confidently said, "What can senior teach me by blocking my way here?"

Xiao Tian's face darkened. He had reasons to believe that his intimate friend in the Hundred Shattering Mountains was the little guy who had once clubbed him on his head more than once.

The more he saw this, the more he felt it was true. He fumed with anger as black wrinkles appeared on his forehead. He really wished that he could immediately pounce on him and start a big battle.

"You are the devilish brat of the Void God Realm who sneaked attacked me in the second battlefield, as well as the one who looked for the True Supreme Water with me in the Hundred Shattering Mountain, are you not?" He wanted to hear the words directly out of the opposing party's mouth.

"It really hurts seeing you so angry at me. It seems the great kindness I showed towards you was in vain." The little guy shook his head.

"It really is... You?!" Hearing him respond like this made the silver gowned youth inwardly furious. It was like being stepped on, so how could he endure this? He was going to spit out blood immediately.

He endured his stomachful of anger after being clubbed several times. However, after entering the Hundred Shattering Mountains, he also considered the devilish brat his intimate friend. This made his face darken to the point where it couldn't become any darker.

“This is intolerable. I'm going to fight to the death with you!” He shouted loudly. Silver splendor sprinkled over his entire body like a white dragon charging forth as he activated his strongest technique.

The little guy did not have any objections. He removed the Divine Striking Stone from his hair and immediately threw it out. It took a crooked trajectory through the air, but it still struck Xiao Tian's forehead with a dang sound.

“Ah... It hurts. It hurts so much!” Wretched screams echoed as the strange rock tumbled on the ground and cried loudly.

Qingfeng was dumbstruck. This rock could speak! Why was it crying in pain?

The silver gowned youth covered his forehead and staggered back in genuine pain. He also cried out, but he was dumbstruck at the rock on the ground. Who was truly hurt in the end?! Why wouldn't it not stop yelling?

“It hurts!” The strange rock tumbled back and forth with great exaggeration.

Xiao Tian was stunned for a moment before finally coming to his senses. He touched his forehead and suddenly stomped with thunderlike fury. He wanted to curse so bad, because another ‘horn’ was growing and swelling rapidly on his forehead.

“Ah... I'm gonna fight to the death with you!” The silver gowned youth fiercely charged forth. As he lifted his hand, symbols blazed and an incomparably ferocious silver Bi'an appeared.

“I really don't want to beat you up.” The little guy said this, but his movements were quite agile as he charged past. He destroyed that silver Bi'an and picked up the Divine Striking Stone again.

“But I want to beat the shit out of you!” The silver gowned youth was very powerful. He was known as the strongest genius of the Heaven Mending Pavilion within his class. Once again, he raised his hand to stir up a sudden commotion, and a group of young males and females ran over to the bamboo forest to watch them.

“Die!”

Xiao Tian angrily shouted. His entire body was covered in silver symbols that transformed into patches after patches of pure white feathers. He unexpectedly charged into the sky as if he grew bird wings, then swooped down from midair. The multicolored light of his precious technique was so splendid that it seemed like a shower of light was raining down.

The little guy simply and straightforwardly tossed out the Divine Striking Stone as he stood in place, using the exact same force he used last time. After a peng sound, Xiao Tian began to cry loudly as he held his head.

The legendary Divine Striking Stone struck wherever one pointed. It had a hundred percent accuracy, and was simply unavoidable. Otherwise, how could it be called an utmost valuable treasure.

“Ao... Are you done? Why did you hit me again? It’s hurts so much!”

The mischievous rock tumbled along the ground as it cried loudly in pain. The group of people had their mouths agape, but their tongues were tied. As for Xiao Tian, he was immediately struck down from the sky. As he panted heavily on the ground, tears almost came out because it was truly too painful.

The most shameful thing was that the rock clearly had no problems at all, but it cried out with every step. It made him almost ashamed to cry out in pain.

“Me... And you...” The silver gowned youth’s horn on his head became even bigger and taller.

But before the words “Fight to the death” had been yelled out, the little guy stopped him, and said, “You should thank me instead, why are you fighting me with your life on the line?”

“You are wicked beyond redemption. Why do I need to thank you?” The silver gowned youth grimaced. Even though he was really angry, he had no choice but to control his facial expressions; otherwise he would make the wound on his forehead worse.

小不点开口：“你想想，当初如果是别人敲了你两榔头，你还有命在吗？如果是别人还会将补天石还给你吗？如果是别人，在百断山中会与你和平相处并分给你太一真水吗？多半直接就是击杀。”

The little guy opened his mouth and said, "Think about it. If another person had clubbed you twice on the head before, would you still be alive? If it was anyone else, would they still return your Heaven Mending Stones? If it was someone else, would they have worked with you in the Hundred Shattering Mountains, as well as divided up, and shared the True Supreme Water with you? You most likely would have been killed right away."

Xiao Tian immediately became discouraged. How could he not have known that. If it was anyone else, how could they have left him with his life after suppressing him. His heart was always a bit confused.

"Generally speaking, I showed a gargantuan kindness toward you. You could even say that you owe me two lives." The little guy had a beaming smile on his face.

At first, the silver gowned youth was a bit discouraged. However, after hearing that, he started clenching his teeth again, and said, "There are many evil people in this world. Do I really have to engrave them all into my memory and thank every evil person who had not killed me for their kindness?"

"Little bro is a kind person. He would never bully another person!" Qingfeng was unsatisfied.

After looking at his honest, and pure expression, Xiao Tian had been completely defeated. If that devilish brat was a kind person who had never bullied anyone, then there really wasn't anyone too evil under the heavens.

"It's still Qingfeng who understands me the best." However, that hateful child still had a self-satisfied expression on his face. He truly felt that he was a really great person.

"Show's over. There's nothing here to see." Second Baldy opened its mouth and told the bystanders to leave.

At this time, the sun was also rapidly descending, dying the horizon in red hues. People feared that the spirit would appear from the little guy's body, and so they all immediately scattered.

"Let's go. I'll treat you to some wine. Genuine little devil wine is priceless. It's equivalent to a rare divine wine." The little guy patted his shoulders and said.

Xiao Tian was unsatisfied. His head had been knocked several times, and large blisters had appeared. There had always been a thought in his heart that would not leave as he said, “Can you actually fight me once without that damned rock? Otherwise, I won’t be satisfied!”

“Fine, I’ll satisfy your desires. I’ll show you the meaning of honor, and the number one expert and heavenly warping genius!” The little guy glanced at him and shot out his hand to gesture for the his opponent’s first move.

Qingfeng’s face became red after that. Why was his brother so annoying sometimes?

Weng

The air shook, and the silver gowned youth immediately charged out. Symbols interweaved over his body as he activated his utmost power to battle. He wanted to suppress the little guy, and give him a good beating.

Unfortunately, his wishes were hard to fulfil. Not to mention the little guy’s supremely strong flesh, even his cultivation realm was higher. The little guy had established his ninth Heavenly Passage; for humans, that was something rarely seen since ancient times.

Peng, peng...

The silver gowned youth was knocked confused and disoriented by the little guy. After making the arduous effort to challenge him, he was not even the little guy’s opponent after using all his effort. Now, in addition to his lofty horn, even his ears, chin, and eyes protruded as well. His earlobes hung over his shoulders. His lips and eyes had blisters all over until he resembled a God from ‘Journey to the West’.¹

In the end, he was convinced. There’s was nothing he could do even if he didn’t want to surrender. If he continued like this, his appearance would change from something that resemble a God to an ugly ghost. If he took a few more blows, he would not even resemble a human anymore.

“Let’s go and drink some wine.” The sun set and the night wind blew, rustling the bamboo forest.

They found an empty patch of land without any bamboo on it and picked out a few clean rocks. They put up a cauldron, and began to boil the golden Peng meat. They even put up several bonfires to barbeque some Archaic descendents.

“Are these all Archaic descendents?” Qingfeng’s stared with his eyes wide open in disbelief.

Following that, all kinds of meat had been cooked golden and glossy, and even the Peng meat in the pot began to shine as it transformed into a precious medicine. The aroma filled the air and wafted through the entire bamboo forest.

“Qingfeng, eat a lot. Your body is too weak. Although your understanding of symbols is pretty good, your body is not powerful enough.” The little guy kept on giving him golden Peng meat so that he could eat a lot more.

“It’s delicious!” Qingfeng ate mouthfuls of Peng and tiger meat left and right until his mouth was full of grease; he was incredibly happy. In just a short while, his entire body looked like a burning flame that gushed out multicolored light.

“Aiya, why do I feel like I’m flying.” Qingfeng was scared to the point that he did not dare to eat anymore. All kinds of symbols recovered in his body as his essence energy began to surge and rush forth.

“Then let’s slow the eating down a bit. When we return, bring some back to eat a bit everyday. The flesh medicines’ medicinal effects is all very powerful. If you eat too much, you won’t be able to bear it.” The little guy laughed. This was a good sign that Qingfeng was going to breakthrough.

The silver gowned youth who was originally sulking had a tough time moving his eyes away after seeing so many descendents as well as this banquet of rich flesh medicine.

“Let’s eat together.” The little guy laughed and said.

“He should be more polite. I feel like I don’t have enough to eat here.” Second Baldy opened its mouth. This fellow could eat a lot, but that was not the main reason. The one who could eat the most was that fist sized golden Hairy Ball. No matter how much meat was given to it, it would devour it as soon as possible like a bottomless pit.

In the end, Xiao Tian couldn’t hold back his doubt any longer and joined in. The food was so sweet that he almost swallowed his own tongue.

Suddenly, Hairy Ball stopped eating and started to breathe in and out through its little nose. Then, it scuttled in front of the little guy, and stole his wine cup. The wine inside was sparkling as it glittered under the moonlight with a fragrance that assailed everyone's nostrils.

"Don't fight over it. There's enough for everyone!"

"The legendary little devil wine!" Xiao Tian was shaken. This time, he truly couldn't shift his eyes away. He had forgotten all of his anger as he stared.

They drank the shining and flickering fragrant divine wine under the moonlight. They all felt as if their bodies were going to float and fly away.

Xiao Tian hurriedly sat cross-legged. He felt that he could already breakthrough into a higher cultivation realm. However, he forcefully endured it because he did not make ample preparations yet.

As for Qingfeng, his inside began to rumble. His understanding of symbols was extremely good, and had comprehended enough a long time ago. The only thing he was lacking was some divine energy. At this moment, he broke through, establishing his second Heavenly Passage, and his entire body began to shine with symbols.

As for Second Baldy, it began to speak mouthfuls of nonsense. It was constantly bragging about stuff, but it was all in bird language, so no one could understand.

The golden hairy ball was staggering as it circled around the bonfire practicing its Monkey Fist arts. It was so drunk that it almost dove head first into the fire.

In the end, everyone was drunk. They all staggered from side to side. Even Second Baldy started to drool before passed out.

Only the Divine Striking Stone was sober, and it was even in pain. This was because after Hairy Ball ate and drank enough, it embraced the stone while sleep talking. Sometimes, it would even grind its teeth on it. It was truly annoying and unbearable.

In the latter half of the night, the little guy came to his senses. The bonfire was still burning, yet he still felt his body was a little cold. An ominous wind attacked, so he quickly turned around and sat up.

Nearby, an old man with dishevelled hair had an old sword stuck in his head. His hands trembled, and continuously stroked a broken sword. His expression was unspeakably complicated.

“The past, you have buried too many. Time is like water, it will never return!” Its words contained so much sadness and loneliness.

The little guy found a black streak of air appeared on his forehead that slowly dissipated. He knew that the curse was broken and disappeared completely.

“Senior, I have already found and returned this sword. If you have any unparalleled precious techniques, please feel free to just teach me a few of them.” The little guy’s nerves were always very thick, let alone when he actually did an enormous favor.

Chapter 177 – Beaten

Flames began throbbed in the depth of the night. The old man had black blood in between his hair, and a unspeakably strange ancient sword was stuck in its head.

Suddenly, it moved, lifting up the little guy in one move. Then, it swung its palm in an arc before striking it on the little guy's body. His strength was astonishing, making even the little guy whose body was incredibly powerful feel an unendurable pain.

He almost cursed out to no end. After kind-heartedly finding and returning the sword, he did not receive any rewards yet was beaten up instead! What was this?

The little guy struggled with all his might, but this ghostly grandpa's strength surpassed even his. That hand swinging seemed like a millstone as it spanked his bottom no stop.

"Your uncle1!" He was truly angry. How could he have such bad luck. This was the first time that he had been beaten by another person, and it was by an old ghost who owed him.

The little guy was outraged. His body shone, and symbols began to interweave into a golden screen of light. His entire body released a powerful aura as he waved and kicked around. One of his arms contained a force of a hundred thousand jin, and with all four limbs violently flailing like this, he would undoubtedly be able to level a little mountain.

However, the elder was as stable as a boulder. He lifted the little guy as he stood there without moving a single foot. He used even greater strength to beat up the little guy until the whites of his eyes rolled over, almost making him lose consciousness. He was furious.

"Old ghost, I'm going fight to the death with you!" He made threatening gestures as he activated his precious techniques. However, whether it was the golden lightning or the silver moon, after they struck with keng qiang sounds, the old man didn't budge an inch. The most overwhelming part was that this old man's clothes couldn't be torn at all.Sou, He used symbols to retrieve the Divine Striking Stone. After grabbing it, he used all his strength to strike the old man's body as a counterattack. However, it only ended in him getting beat even more viciously.

Aiyou!

"It hurts so bad!"

This time, the Divine Striking Stone cried out in pain along with the little guy. He could not make the old man budge at all. It felt like he was knocking against a mountain, and his entire body felt like it was going to crack apart. This was simply unbelievable.

"What happened?" Qingfeng was startled awake. He quickly knew that something was happening. Although he could not see the ghostly grandpa, he had heard rumors of an ancient apparition.

The silver gowned youth also awakened. After seeing this, he was dumbstruck at first, but then he began to laugh out loud. He was so incredibly happy, since this was genuine retribution.

Second Baldy was also startled awake, and similarly began to laugh and grin. It spoke to itself, "Aren't you savage you little kid. You can sweep away your opponents, but now you're finally being taken care of. Hahaha..."

Hairy Ball was on its guard as golden light flowed from its entire body. It did not seem to have any sense of loyalty and did not go up to help out the little guy. Instead, it scuttled backwards with a sou sound and watched from afar.

Seeing the little guy beaten, apart from Qingfeng who was incredibly worried, the silver gowned youth and Second Baldy felt incredibly satisfied. They truly felt this was history in the making.

This was the first time that the little guy encountered such misfortune. He was beaten to the point that violent pain was all over his body, and his bones were going to fall apart. It angered him to the point that he activated the Golden Flood Dragon Shears. However, it was blocked by a barrier of light and he was unable to behead the old man.

"Why are you beating me up? You're being ungrateful towards a friend, you old ingrate!" He was incomparably angry as he struggled nonstop.

A long while later, even the old man was tired from beating him up. He let go of his hands and released the little guy onto the ground. If it had been anyone else getting beaten by the old man, he or she absolutely would have turned into a mist of blood after a single strike. This devilish brat's skin was very solid. Even after getting beaten, he was still vigorous and full of energy. He jumped up and cursed nonstop as he rapidly distanced himself from the old man. Then, he tore off the little pagoda in preparation for battle.

"Old man, you do not have a conscience. I kind-heartedly helped you, but you treat me like this!" His eyes shot out anger.

No one knew why, but the more they saw him stomp about in anger, the happier Xiao Tian and Second Baldy felt. It was truly a relief that this hateful child was finally being tidied up.

The little guy blinked his large eyes and carefully examined the gap between him and his adversary. In the end, he became incredibly dejected. This was an ancient existence who was terrifying to the point where his power was insurmountable. Even if he used all his strength, he was still not be this old man's opponent.

After seeing the silver gowned youth and Second Baldy smiling with happiness, his small face suddenly darkened. He then immediately threw the Divine Striking Stone out.

With a peng sound, Xiao Tian covered his forehead and painfully cried out. He already had a face full of large blisters, but after being struck again, the horn on his head was big to the point of being scary. It was almost gonna spurt out liquid.

The little guy then rushed over and slapped Second Baldy whose mouth was crooked from smiling and sent it flying. Even if he could not beat the ghostly grandpa, he could absolutely tidy these two people up.

"Why did you hit me?" The little guy had difficulty relieving himself. He stared with his large eyes and looked at the ghostly grandpa with seething anger. He exhausted all of his strength and risked his life to retrieve the sword. Even not receiving anything was okay, but he was beaten up instead. What the heck was this?!

In reality, ever since he began cultivating, he was always a headache to others.

This was only the first time that he was beaten in such a ruthless manner, so he was truly unreconciled.

The old man's expression was somewhat blank, and only after a long time did it come to its senses and say, "It's for your own good."

"Haha..." Second Baldy could not hold it in anymore, and laughed until its mouth became crooked again. After this savage child received such a vicious beating, he actually still had the nerve to say such a thing. It was completely possible for him to be driven mad.

Xiao Tian did not dare to act that rampant, but his mouth also twitched. He was incredibly happy. When could he become strong enough to beat up that devilish brat like that and then still have that much gusto?

Second Baldy screamed miserably. Its mouth was crooked and his eyes were tilted because it was swatted flying by the little guy again.

"Your recent cultivation has improved too quickly, and advancing leaps and bounds has left behind a few concealed dangers. It's best that you refine your body well first and advance only after tempering yourself," the old man said.

Originally, the little guy was still sulking; however after hearing this, his heart jumped a bit. This was always what he had been worried about. After entering the Hundred Shattering Mountains, he successively opened up several Heavenly Passages. This was truly a divine speed! He had previously been warned that if he cultivated too fast, there might be some problems, and dangerous will be left behind.

But in that small world, the spiritual energy was too dense. Additionally, he also comprehended enough mysteries about the symbols and devoured all kinds of different precious medicine; even if he wanted to stop breaking through, he still would not be able to.

He did not actually feel strange at all, but he genuinely felt that his cultivation was rising too quickly. In just one month, he finished a journey that many geniuses would need several years for.

Even if there was nothing out of sorts, he was still secretly anxious. Now that this old man had pointed it out, he would naturally be on alert. He hurried asked,

“Is it really serious?”

The old man seemed to have awakened. His eyes were deep, and he truly had an admiration for the little guy’s heavenly gifts. It’s not that big of a deal. You are truly quite savage, so there is only a few small problems. As long as you sit by the Guardian spirit in meditation every day, it will quickly be fixed.”

“That’s what I’m talking about. I’m the strongest!” He once again declared with such savagery and self-confidence.

When he thought about it again, he felt as if he had actually been beaten up for no reason. If there was no problems, why did the ghostly grandpa still spank him? This made him angry again.

“You can’t beat me up for no reason. You have to make up for it!”

“Go to the Sacred Storage Pavilion and learn some more things. There will be a day when all the mountains and living things here will disappear, and that day will not be far away, just like those dead ancients.” The old man sighed deeply. Then he erupted with a glaring light that made people unable to open their eyes before disappearing into the bamboo forest.

After the powerful light disappeared, the traces of the old man had become almost invisible. Only a broken sword fell onto the ground, striking onto a rock with a clear and crisp ding sound.

“What!” The little guy was unsatisfied. He stared with his eyes as he searched in every direction, but was unable to feel the old man’s aura again.

Hairy Ball scuttled over from the distance. It turned into the a streak of golden light as it hoisted the broken sword in its hands before gnawing with all its strength. However, with a dang sound, it gritted its teeth and threw it onto the floor again.

The little guy picked up the broken sword and found that another patch of rust had fallen off. That area was somewhat transparent, and had a type of gelatinous feel to it.

This broken sword was glued together from two pieces with some divine substance. Now, the rust had fallen off a little bit, revealing this transparent substance.

Just now, this was precisely the stuff Hairy Ball wanted to gnaw at.

Second Baldy jumped up and down, before quickly rushing over to say, “Let me have a look!”

How could the little guy give this to it? If this weird bird turned on him and struck him with it, then it truly wouldn’t be a laughing matter.

“Could this substance holding the broken sword together be a divine paste created from phoenix beak and unicorn horn? Inconceivable! This can’t possibly be real, right?” Second Baldy stared with its large eyes as its gaze fixated onto that transparent substance.

The little guy was amazed. Was this sword actually connected by an adhesive that was slowly smelted from the beak and horns of Archaic divine birds and auspicious beasts? This truly was too shocking!

“Something’s wrong. It’s most likely not made out of Archaic Divine Creature’s beaks and horns. I feel like it’s lacking some divine force.” Second Baldy shook its head and looked at the pagoda between the little guy’s hair, and said, “What’s this, let me see.”

“Not giving it to you.” The little guy refused.

“This little pagoda is too perfect. Although its jade all over, why do I feel like it’s made from the bones of heavenly deities?” Second Baldy said. Then it quickly shook its head and said, “There are so many fake imitations on you.”

For the sake of concealing it, he immediately gave it a beating and did not let it act so smug. The origins of the little pagoda was mysterious. He felt that it was more terrifying than this broken sword, and did not want anyone else to notice.

The unlucky Second Baldy’s mouth became crooked again. However, this time, it was not because it was laughing, but rather because it was being beaten up.

A strand of multicolored light illuminated the dawn. They opened their eyes, and stretched their bodies out. Although Xiao Tian was beaten up again and his horn became even larger, the matters in his heart concerning the little guy were finally resolved.

This time, he ate Peng meat, drank little devil wine, and obtained enormous benefits. As soon as he got up, he quickly left in order to continue consolidating his own cultivation. He wanted to make preparations for breaking into a higher realm.

The little guy wrapped up the Peng meat in the cauldron as well as the barbequed meat from the bonfire and gave it to Qingfeng. He let Qingfeng take it away in order to rapidly assist his cultivation. This was all so that he could become stronger as soon as possible.

However, he also warned him to not be too impatient in seeking success, because he himself almost ran into similar problems. This was to help Qingfeng learn from the mistakes of others.

The sun rose, and the mist in the bamboo forest was dyed into a rainbow luster. It was incredibly beautiful and illusionary. The red clouds of dawn glittered and the finally mist finally dispersed. Warmth from the light sprinkled onto everyone's bodies.

The little guy took large strides towards a forbidden area. That was a spiritual mountain surrounded by tens of thousands of streaks of multicolored light, and even a waterfall cascaded down, making this scene an extraordinary sight to behold.

The Sacred Storage Pavilion was precisely constructed in this mysterious forbidden area. No one was allowed inside, since this was the most sacred place in the Heaven Mending Pavilion.

After walking in the middle of the spiritual land of this paradise, the little guy discovered that this place was truly vast. There were around ten spiritual mountains here that emitted auspicious light towards the red morning clouds.

A magnificent and ancient building stood ahead. It had an old and simple aura, and had existed from the ancient era until now. It had truly existed through too many things.

During those days, precious bones were buried beneath this building as a foundation, and a spell from ancient gods was laid over it before the construction of this enormous building started. Therefore, even time had difficulty taking it down.

The magnificent and huge walls were piled high with huge boulders, and its tiles flickered with a dim golden luster. This building looked like a divine temple, and as it sat within the red clouds of dawn, a divine luster enveloped it.

This was the Sacred Storage Pavilion, the most important place in this ancient pure land. The little guy arrived!

Chapter 178 – Golden Jade Ripple Technique

The structure really resembled a divine temple. Within the red morning clouds, it appeared even more charming as the tiles and walls were dyed in a layer of dim golden splendor.

Walking here and facing it made people feel like they have a pilgrimage. That precise moment made people feel full of energy, giving them a pious and joyous feeling that cleansed their spirits.

“Precious techniques, here I come!” The little guy spoke softly. His large eyes were exceptionally bright.

Second Baldy also followed behind him, sticking its head out while looking all over the place. It gave off a crafty-looking feeling no matter how you looked at it, and completely contrasted with that golden temple.

The ancient building was grand and magnificent. All sorts of rare vegetation surrounded it, and there were even genuine spiritual medicines to dispel their fragrances. In addition, even the heaven reaching ancient trees were mystical as they emitted divine light.

Outside, there were some spiritual birds and auspicious beasts running about, making this place appear calm and peaceful.

A place as important as this would naturally have powerful experts guarding it. There were a few people sitting motionlessly on top of a boulder as if they were petrified. They were cultivating while guarding this ancient land.

Second Baldy was barred from going in, and even Hairy Ball had been obstructed. They were not allowed to take a single step further; only the little guy himself could advance.

“So stingy. Whatever, I presume that Heaven Mending Pavilion won’t have much left over anyway. After so many years has passed, how much essence can the different types of secret precious techniques still contain?” Second Baldy was unsatisfied.

On top of the boulder, an old expert swiftly opened his eyes and shot out two rays of electricity as he gazed towards it. Second Baldy’s heart was shaken and it hastily shut up its mouth, no longer daring to speak any nonsense.

As for Hairy Ball, it lazily crawled onto the edge of a spiritual medicine field to bask in the sun. Its golden hair was illuminated gloriously by the red morning clouds as it began to take a big nap. In reality, it opened its eyes from time to time to take a few peeks at the medicine field, only, it did not dare to make a move. Last time, it was chained up in a sea of thunder for half a month, making him rather scared.

The little guy followed the stone steps and arrived in front of the Sacred Storage Pavilion. Suddenly, he was blocked by a barrier of light. There was an enormously powerful restriction here that was difficult to break through.

A messy-haired, half-asleep senior rose from his rattan chair. He doubtfully casted his gaze, then said, "Are you that savage child?"

"I'm not savage. I'm the kindest!" The little guy corrected. If rumors of him continued spreading like this, he would be called a vicious beast soon.

"Wu, not bad. You're indeed very savage. Since pavilion master have given the order, you can go inside. Every region has been opened for you." The senior nodded and said.

"Every region." The little guy's eyes began to shine, then asked, "Where is the most powerful precious technique?"

"Sacred Storage Pavilion's bone books are as vast as the ocean. No one will ever tell you where divine abilities are. You need to find them yourself, encounter them by chance, and you will inevitably find a bone book that suits you." The senior dispiritedly said this before falling asleep again.

The little guy did not ask anymore. All of these high-up senior people were strange. He wanted to know more, so he would ask more, but that only increased the chance of him being ignored, and he wouldn't be told a thing.

After entering the old building, there were rows after rows of bookshelves. They were filled with bone books, and all of them were overflowing with luster. This truly was a sea of books; he felt dizzy just from looking at them.

"Isn't this a bit too much?!" The little guy was dumbstruck. The Sacred Storage Pavilion was extremely large, and he couldn't see the end of it from where he stood. His sight was completely blocked off by the heaps of bone books. If he wanted to find the strongest precious technique, just how long would that take? Just looking at it made him dizzy and gave him a small headache.

He walked inside and noticed that a few of the bookshelves in the deepest corners had already rotted. Bone books were scattered with no one to clean them up, and it was to the point where they were almost buried by the dust.

“How am I supposed to find anything with things like this?” His little face displayed his bitterness. There were too many bone books; he did not have a single idea where the divine abilities he wanted the most were.

He took a look around the Sacred Storage Pavilion, and felt dazzle. There were rare symbol bone books everywhere in front of his eyes, and anyone who saw this would want to spit out blood. He felt like his two eyes weren’t enough to take in everything, and couldn’t find what he was looking for.

He picked up a piece of earthen-yellow bone book, and felt that it was rather mystical. Symbols densely covered it, as if it was a heavenly book. The symbols were so small that he had to widen his eyes as he carefully observed it.

The little guy concentrated and studied it for a few minutes. In the end, his little face darkened, because what was recorded inside was only a way to grow spiritual medicine. It did not have a dime of a relation to precious techniques at all.

“Cheats!”

Once again, he picked up a bone, this time a silver one. There weren’t many symbols on it, and seemed to possess quite a bit of antique charm. After carefully studying it, he found that this book was a method of raising spiritual beasts.

These were not what he wanted. What he lacked the most right now were divine abilities, and at the same time, he wanted to perfect his two great precious techniques; these were the things he needed to become stronger.

He picked up another bone book, this time finally finding a method related to cultivation. However, it still wasn’t what he needed.

“How long to I have to search like this?” The little guy was unhappy and ran towards the entrance again. He headed towards that elder to ask for guidance that can point him in the right direction.

“Don’t run before you can walk. Cultivating the mind is more important than cultivating the body,” The senior said. His hair was a complete mess just like wild grass. Shaking his head, he said, “Besides, the secret divine abilities which had been lost are lost, and those that still exist have remained. Perhaps there’s one of two of them within this sea of books. One’s opportunities must be found by oneself.”

Sigh!

The little guy sighed. Conversing with this kind of senior was genuinely tiring. They spoke very profoundly, but they wouldn’t mention anything of substance.

“Fine. I’ll just live here for ten years then!” He made a firm decision. He had to find a powerful bone book.

At the same time, he felt what the senior said was logical. He might have been excessively impatient. Since there are so many bone books here, he would just study them all slowly.

The little guy went back to the entrance, and started flipping through the pages from the beginning. He was going to read them all little by little, since he would eventually find what he needed.

At first, he felt that this was boring, but he slowly calmed down. In half a day, he flipped through over ten bone books without finding anything special in particular.

“Wu, this is an ancient method that researched how to make essence energy flourish. This is interesting.” The little guy began to read with keen interest.

Finally, he found a somewhat good cultivation method. He read and comprehended the entire thing in half an hour. Following that, he walked down to another section to pick and read.

By the time the sun set, the little guy had read over thirty bone books. Only two of them gave him some insights, and the rest were all of no value.

The next day, the little guy came early again. He faced the horizon and looked towards the morning mist before entering the Sacred Storage Pavilion. This time, he picked up a bone book that was covered in dust.

A dim golden luster was revealed after blowing off the dust. This bone was almost at the end of its days. It was very ancient, and was already cracking apart. However, it did not affect the legibility since the symbols were still very clear.

“Golden Jade Ripple Technique!” The little guy was astounded. He never thought he could find such a technique. This should be considered a powerful method that was extremely suitable for battle, allowing one to protect their body with miraculous effect.

When the genius camp exchanged pointers with the ordinary disciples, there was a tall and sturdy youth who utilized this technique. It could not be considered a precious technique, but its effects were still extremely useful.

This was a protection symbol extracted from the Golden Winged Peng. After going through human development and evolution, it arrived at the extraordinary state it is in today. Of course, it was certainly incomparable to a Golden Peng’s protection symbol. After all, that technique was perfect and flawless.

“Sigh, there’s only one volume here. It clearly states that there are three volumes. If they were all gathered together, then it would be a precious technique. Furthermore, it should be an extremely powerful divine technique!” The little guy regretted that he was only able to find the first volume and was missing the other two. Even this golden bone book was practically covered in dust.

He was comprehending the technique when suddenly, strands of ripples appeared from his body. They transformed into a golden whirlpool that appeared very mysterious. He was quite joyous because this technique seemed very strong, and it was also resonating with another precious technique in his body.

He had always relied on both the Green Sky Peng’s and Suan Ni’s precious techniques as his offensive divine abilities in battle. Now, however, this golden whirlpool emerged and resonated with the Archaic devil bird within the silver moon. The devil bird flickered and cried out.

“So it can actually turn out like this!” The little guy was overjoyed.

Since they were both of the Peng species, when their similar symbols circulated together, there were interactions occurring, allowing them to resonate.

He used this entire day to fumble about and continuously look for ways to use them both together. In the end, he actually managed to slowly blend them together.

Originally, the Green Sky Peng's precious technique displayed most of its power inside that bright silver moon. This time, after practicing the Golden Jade Ripple Technique, that devil bird inside the silver moon became visibly more robust.

No matter how one looked at it, that silver moon resembled a divine egg that was about to hatch.

From that day onward, the little guy neglected food and sleep. During the entire next half month, he studied the Golden Jade Ripple Technique in order to mix it on top of the Green Sky Peng's precious technique.

Finally, after a bubbling noise, that silver moon was dyed in a dim gold. Furthermore, it seemed as if it was incubating a Devil Bird, and gradually transformed into a divine egg. The Devil Bird inside it became increasingly ferocious.

Meanwhile, the palace, ancient trees and everything else within the silver moon underwent transformation, turning into symbols on the eggshell.

"Wu, it's more complete now. It's approaching the true technique of a genuine Sky Peng!"

The little guy was pleasantly surprised. He did not waste half a month of effort for nothing. His precious technique was closer to the precious technique of a Peng now after blending and linking them together. It made the power of this divine ability rise by an entire level.

Just like this, he entered and left the Sacred Storage Pavilion daily as he carefully studied each book. He emphasized studying the Golden Jade Ripple Technique until he finally incorporated it into the Green Sky Peng's precious technique.

Day after day, the people of Heaven Mending Pavilion still did not try to find him. It seemed like they were preparing some divine substances to ensure the full recovery of their Guardian Spirit's life force.

In the blink of an eye, a month had passed. The little guy was refreshed, and his body was indescribably comfortable. He did not painstakingly try to breakthrough, yet he felt as if the state of his own body had improved to its peak.

"Ghost grandpa did not beat me up for no reason. So it turns out that it was actually good for me." The little guy scratched his head. For the past month, he studied all kinds of literature. He slowly realized that the places he had been beaten up had a warm feeling that resonated as he studied the books.

In the Hundred Shattering Mountains, his strength had improved furiously. In just one month, he had broken through many Heavenly Passages consecutively. This exceeded the extreme limits and left some hidden side-effects inside his body.

Ghost grandpa's slaps looked like a beating, but it was actually helping him clear up the obstacles in his limbs and bones. Now, his entire body surged with divinity, and his spirit felt incredibly ample.

Every time he studied a scripture, he would feel his body become even more comfortable and even resonate along. He felt as if a divine artifact had polished him, making him shine more resplendently with light.

"Ya, there's so much benefits to this. Not only does it train the body, it also tampers with my foundation, secretly making it stronger. My comprehension of the symbols is even better now as well."

The little guy was extremely happy. After a month, he had read over a hundred bone books. It unexpectedly had some direct effects on him, and allowed him to gain an even deeper understanding of the essence of symbols.

It even gave him some enlightenment, allowing him to even understood a bit more of the True Primordial Records. Starting from the simple places, he found an answer within the tens of thousands of scriptures.

Everyday, he incited scriptures, and all kinds of mysterious truths would appear. The little guy was immersed in a wonderful world, and he became concentrated and obsessed with it.

Many scriptures might have been useless. However, throughout this journey, he was still able to feel that his body was strengthening and his spirit was slowly becoming more robust.

“Wonderful, this is really an enormous treasury!” He was incredibly happy.

Everything was going smoothly except for one thing, and that was the fact that the Guardian Spirit’s resting place was sealed off, allowing no one entrance. If not for this, he would have followed ghost grandpa’s suggestion to bring the scriptures there to meditate and study.

In the next half month, the little guy was surprised to find the second and third volume of the Golden Jade Ripple Technique. They were buried underneath a pile of other bone books and were covered in a layer of dust.

He was so happy that he almost did a barrel roll. Three volumes combined into one would complete this precious technique. This was the protection technique developed from the Golden Winged Pengu.

Not far away, that messy haired old man exposed a smile.

“Thanks old gramps.” The little guy was aware, and gave his respects toward that direction.

It was clear that the complete Golden Jade Ripple Technique was a powerful precious technique. However, after merging with the Green Sky Pengu’s precious technique, it underwent a transformation and refinement that might have made it even stronger than the Suan Ni’s precious technique!

“Ah...” Suddenly, the little guy was startled. After roughly looking at it, he found out that what he had obtained might be even more astonishing than what he imagined.

It was written that the treasury contained an ancient Large Pengu bone. It was very special, and its symbols had not yet been erased. This Golden Jade Ripple Technique was made by an ancestor who had comprehended that bone.

“Where is it?!” The little guy clenched his fists, and trembled in excitement.

Chapter 179

“That golden bone is not ordinary. If there are no leads, then it might be pointless even if you spend a lifetime. The last time it appeared was two thousand years ago,” the senior at the entrance said.

“Could it be that it has senses, and can hide itself?” The little guy was shocked.

“There have been many mysterious events that had happened in the Sacred Storage Pavilion from the ancient era until now. Secret precious techniques have disappeared without a trace and turned into an unsolved mystery. No one knows what happened to this piece of golden bone either.” The senior lightly sighed because he felt that it was unfortunate to lose such a great ability.

The little guy was astounded. This place was possessed? Could it be that those bones could run by themselves? How could such things happen?

“These bones have existed for a long time. They had experienced the endless passage of time. Such special events happening can also be fathomed,” the senior said.

“The bone gained intelligence and transformed itself into a powerful precious artifact then ran away?” The little guy opened his eyes wide. He truly felt that this Sacred Storage Pavilion was special.

Then, he asked about the origins of that golden bone, and how it was different from everything else.

The senior shook his head. He did not know the origins of that bone either. It had only appeared three times in the past, and some people comprehended the symbols on it in order to invent the Golden Jade Ripple Technique.

This made the little guy even more passionate. He had always felt that this bone was not simple, and if he could comprehend it completely, it might be quite world shocking.

Afterwards, he calmed down. Those kind of things were truly rare. It was something that one could encounter but not wish for. Rather than spending time yearning for those things, it would be better to comprehend the bone books here at hand.

These were two pieces of dim golden bones that were cracking. Small characters were densely engraved on top, and the little guy was earnestly studying one of to comprehend the Golden Jade Ripple Technique.

After completely comprehending the first piece, he now moved on to the second volume. The conditions were just right, and his body completely grasped the Green Sky Peng's precious technique. He was making progress without a hitch.

With a weng sound, a layer of golden whirlpool appeared on the little guy's body. It slowly swivelled like a flickering divine golden wing. It seemed as if a large Peng was being born.

Furthermore, during this entire process, golden clouds appeared from within him. They intersected over his body, as if he grew a pair of golden wings.

The little guy opened his eyes on the spot. This kind of precious technique was too powerful. This was extremely beneficial for him. After reading the second volume, not only was the protection technique more complete overall, he even grew a pair of golden wings.

"This is indeed a powerful technique!" He laughed. He was so completely happy and joyous that he might even be able to fly. He would soar through the air and wage battle with others in order to increase his own speed!

This was still just the second volume. If he completely comprehended the last volume, he expected it to make him even stronger. No wonder it was said that the three volumes would combine into a very powerful divine technique! Those were not empty words at all!

In the next half month, the little guy carefully studied. He comprehended the second volume to the highest level. Now, whenever he used it, his body would be covered densely with a golden whirlpool that was very difficult to pierce through.

Furthermore, the little guy really could materialize a pair of dim golden wings that allowed him to glide, increasing his speed by a lot.

Therefore, he was greatly looked forward to the last volume, and started to immerse himself bitterly in its comprehension. As a result, another ten or so days had passed, and the divine golden wings no longer appeared that dim.

Unfortunately, it was still incapable of flight. The golden symbols were relatively weak, so it was only capable of short-term gliding. However, its speed increased even more.

“Sigh, what do I have to do to make this more perfect?” The little guy sighed.

All in all, the Golden Jade Ripple Technique had been successfully completed. He was able to display a layer of spinning whirlpools that had the ability to dissolve incoming attacks, making it very powerful.

The little guy had always felt that the lost golden bone was much more terrifying than this. If he was able to completely comprehend that, it would certainly carry with it a world shocking precious technique.

He started to combine it with the Sky Peng and combined the two Peng species' abilities into one. Although this process was difficult, it was not impossible.

The silver moon turned a dim golden, and genuinely turned into an egg. Bird cries overflowed into the heavens, and the Green Peng inside became even more ferocious.

Finally, he completely combined the two types of precious techniques. The divine egg could open up at any time he wanted it to, but the greenish-black devil bird that had some dim golden symbols was hibernating.

The little guy sat down cross-leggedly. His comprehension was deep, and he completely grasped the Peng's precious techniques. He learned complicated symbols, and activating it would display a sky-toppling power.

He wanted to continue gaining insights and master it by studying everything related to it. This would increase the power of the Peng's precious technique so that it could become an utmost powerful divine technique that could provide both offense and defense.

However, at this moment, Heaven Mending Pavilion's people came to look for him. They wanted him to come out in order to participate in their Guardian Spirit's resurrection.

This was because in the blink of an eye, he had already been cultivating in the Heaven Mending Pavilion for two months. Heaven Mending Pavilion had already prepared all the divine materials necessary for healing the gourd that survived since the ancient era.

Along the way, it was desolate and barren. Only until they were near the forbidden area did signs of life appear. There was a ruined garden there, but grass and trees flourished in an area that was full of life.

There was a family that had lived here in the ancient era, but the few courtyards had already collapsed. Grass and trees were overgrown, and the gourd was growing in the middle of the backyard.

Piles of rubble, tiles and broken walls all made this place appear desolate; however in this place, there lived an unimaginably terrifying existence.

The backyard was blazing like an ignited flame that overflowed into the heavens. It submerged the entire area, terrifying everyone to the point of making them tremble.

That was a gathering of the sun's divine essence. The golden multicolored light was resplendent, as if a golden bird had been born into the world. Divine splendor surged in this entire area, and the light from the flames reached the heavens.

The Guardian Spirit was on the verge of death. However, whether it was night or day, it would seize the essence of the sun and moon in order to obtain what it needed to survive a bit longer.

One could imagine just how powerful it was!

A group of people walked over and broke apart the golden curtain of light. They approached the guardian spirit and saw its true body. What they saw at that moment was completely different from what they could see from a distance. The gourd's vines were still dried up and withered all over, and its leaves were all yellow without a single flicker of radiance. It seemed like it was about to dry up and die.

A terrifying and strange scene appeared, but they all happened in the surroundings. Right at noon, the sunshine were like streams of gold as they converged!

That golden river did not flow into the ground at all. It was poured on top of the withering yellow leaves, and was completely absorbed. The huge volume of daylight energy became an effective supplement for the gourd.

However, it still could not change much. The vines withered, and the leaves had wilted. It could die at any moment.

From afar, it seemed unfathomably glorious. After entering the barrier of light, it was already wilting and incredibly deteriorated. There were two completely different appearances.

A group of seniors were speechless as they worshipped. The glory that Heaven Mending Pavilion had today were all obtained by relying on the support of this ancient vine. It had protected this place since the ancient era, and no one dared to offend it.

Everyone offered their prayers before taking all types of spiritual substances. They were all precious materials that could elongate the lifespan of botanical beings, such as large amounts of spiritual water, fertilizer mixed from ancient bones, and spiritual medicine.

Even the pavilion master took out a piece of dried-looking flesh. Although it looked black, it contained a powerful divine force. He presented it in front of the Guardian Spirit.

“What is that?” The little guy was curious as he quietly asked.

“A piece of flesh from a deity.” Tao Ye answered.

The little guy was startled, and became speechless for a while.

They even had flesh from a deity! Just how much hidden power did the Heaven Mending Pavilion really possess?! While watching them pay their respects, one could see just how urgent they hoped for the revival of their Guardian Spirit. At the same time, one could understand its terror and power.

Another senior held an ancient cauldron in his hand. He poured out a pile of earth that circulated with a blue light. It was the rumored Blue Spirit Earth; if it was spilled outside, it would give an utmost powerful aura of life.

Thunderous light flickered, and the ancestral elder Mu Yan, who once captured Hairy Ball, came out as well. He took out a little bottle that contained a drop of purple liquid. It contained the sound of thunder, and a terrifying aura erupted out from it.

The people were startled, because they did not think they could find such a thing.

finally able to refine a thread of life force that emerged from destruction. After refining it in every way possible, it became a drop of purple liquid.”

This was Liquid Thunder; it was rumored to be a precious liquid of the utmost powerful spiritual nature. Its value was priceless, and was simply impossible to find.

Today, for the sake of saving the Guardian Spirit, ancestral elder Mu Yan brought it out as a sacrifice.

The value of these types of objects were simply impossible to appraise. This single drop of liquid could allow Mu Yan to undergo transformation and advance his power by another step. For the sake of obtaining this liquid, he must have paid a great price.

The little guy did not hesitate. He opened up his Heaven and Earth Pouch and took out four bags of silt in succession. Each beast skin bag was very big and full. All the people gazed over with incomparable expectations.

The beast skin bags were slit open, and silt came out. Suddenly, golden light shined, engulfing this place like a huge wave. Everyone here became startled!

This was silt that had been nourished by the Immortal Spring for countless years. It contained a powerful divinity and life force. For plants, it was an utmost treasure that provided them with another life.

“Quick, commence sacrificing!” Someone shouted.

Heaven Mending Pavilion’s pavilion master, ancestral elder Mu Yan, and the others all took action. One symbol after another shined as they transformed the Blue Spirit Earth, Black god meat, and Liquid Thunder into a ball of resplendent light.

Then, they buried the golden earth underneath the ground in place of the original soil in order to pour in everything within the resplendent ball of light.

Wenglong. The entire ancient vine startled to tremble as if it had awakened from its deep slumber. The dried yellow trunks started shining as it diffused the mysterious aura.

At the same time, a green skinned gourd appeared from the mist. It softly swayed while suspending from a vine, and a loud divine noise sounded.

The sun was blazing in the sky as sunlight sprinkled out from it. Now, it was frantically being seized as golden streams converged downwards into the body of the Guardian Spirit.

“Just how powerful is this?” The little guy was inwardly speechless.

The Guardian Spirit was reviving; this development was heading in a positive direction. The silt from the Immortal Spring that the little guy brought back had divine effects. Of course, the materials that the people from Heaven Mending Pavilion prepared were also very astonishing.

Hong!

The heaven and earth exploded. One lump of golden light ball exploded after another in midair, transforming into a shower of light. They were all sprinkled onto the withered yellow leaves and absorbed.

The Guardian Spirit was reviving! A supremely powerful fluctuation of life engulfed the heavens and the earth like a vast ocean, and diffused into every direction with incomparable force!

The little trembled. This was a deity?

The heaven and earth trembled as dense symbols covered it. In the blink of an eye, the life force in Heaven Mending Pavilion was like an ocean as it linked the heaven and earth.

In the sky, not only was the sun's essence being seized and transformed into divine streams, even the light from the river of stars outside fell. They seemed like waterfalls that transformed the clear sky.

River of stars were illuminating the clear sky!

“Even this kind of strange scene appeared. Seems like it held out. What a pity!” In the distance, perhaps tens of thousands of li away, divine light illuminated everything. It covered the entire sky when it erected itself in midair. Its terrifying silhouette rose into the heavens, like a god descending upon the world.

“After living for so long since the ancient era, it can still hold on. I wonder just when it will truly perish.”

An incomparably terrifying vicious bird was surrounded all over in black mist. Its length was tens of thousands li, and its eyes seemed like two silver moons that were as large as lakes as they shine in the sky. Even swallowing the lives of thousands in a single mouthful was not a problem for it.

“I’m not convinced. It must be forcefully keeping itself alive, and is on the verge of falling. I will see everything clearly today!” In another direction, several tens of thousands of li away, a creature stood on top of a large mountain. Its divine radiance hid the skies and covered the earth as it shook the vast earth. Many large tribes and clans were trembling as they worshipped towards that divine mountain.

Chapter 180 – Fusion

On top of that divine mountain, the silhouette was shrouded in propitious vapors. Multicolored light surged, and when he took a step forward, a golden passage appeared beneath his feet. No one knew how many tens of thousands of li he instantly traveled.

The speed of the golden passageway was too quick. It was like a comet streaking across the empty sky. Divine light spread across the heavens from end to end. He came out after several tens of thousands of li, but did not actually approach the Heaven Mending Pavilion.

“If you don’t perish, then it will truly be heaven defying. I’ll await your death!” His words were very crisp. It had already held back its divine splendor that shook the heaven and earth, and was currently standing on top of an enormous lofty mountain.

In addition to him, two other figures also came. However, none of them got closer to each other. They each stood in their respective positions as they watched silently into the distance.

Inside the Heaven Mending Pavilion, the Guardian Spirit’s vitality was exuberant. Its previously dim leaves were quickly turning green and becoming pure again. They emitted a peaceful light, and the gourd on the vine rumbled as the aura of primal chaos appeared. A terrifying and loud noise sounded.

Everyone was overjoyed. All the people from the Heaven Mending Pavilion kneeled and worshipped. A few seniors were so happy that they cried, because the Guardian Spirit had revived; there weren’t any news that was better than this.

For the past few years, the Guardian Spirit’s vitality had deteriorated to the point where it was on the verge of death. News of this had spread into the outside world long ago, which devastated Heaven Mending Pavilion’s reputation to a point where it was no longer comparable to its past.

If it were the past, whenever they gave an order, no one dared to act against it. Now, many great powers even dared to claim be equals. All of this was due to the Guardian Spirit’s inevitable death.

After so many years, Heaven Mending Pavilion had lost its secret precious techniques. If their Guardian Spirit perished, they would fall from being a top-notch power, creating a disastrous situation.

At this moment, cheers were coming from all over the Heaven Mending Pavilion, because the Guardian Spirit was currently reviving. All the depressing things from before were swept away. The leaves were all verdant and alluring as they circulated with sparkling green multicolored light.

The little guy was dumbstruck. This vine was completely different from before. It seemed like it was carved from jade, sparkling and green as it emitted precious light. Auspicious and peaceful vapors surged out strand by strand.

Was this the same gourd vine he saw before? It was completely different!

Powerful waves spread out, and life force circulated like the revival of a revered god. Rivers of stars hung from the heavens like a waterfall. Even the sun sprinkled its essence down as if they were all being devoured by the old vine.

An unknown amount of time passed. The aura of life in this place was exuberant, allowing the old vine to grow some new buds that looked like emeralds. They were shining and incomparably powerful.

Finally, when everything calmed down, all the strange scenes disappeared. Its transformation was mystical and indescribable, and as it curled up in divine chains like a God, it was so awe-inspiring that it was inviolable.

The Guardian Spirit had revived, once again becoming powerful. News spread across the Heaven Mending Pavilion, and countless people immediately cheered as they were incomparably inspired.

An event this big would naturally spread into the outside world. News quickly spread far and wide. In an instant, all the great powers in the Wastes trembled, and all of them revered.

Everyone believed that this vine would die. After all, it had lived for so long and couldn't hold on any longer. Never would they have thought that it would straighten itself up to the point where they could sense its exuberant life force just by getting close to the Heaven Mending Pavilion.

In a faraway mountain outside of the Heaven Mending Pavilion, a shining voice gently sighed. He stomped on the golden passage, and instantly vanished into the distance without a trace.

An enormous vicious bird with eyes like bloody moons blinked constantly. It stirred up a black mist that overflowed into the heavens, and spread its wings to charge high up into the distant skies. If it flew near the clouds, it would shake the entire land due to its enormous size.

There was still a path of divine light that appeared as resplendent as the sun that immediately exploded, disappearing from its original location. It was so terrifying that it made people tremble.

The revival of the Heaven Mending Pavilion's Guardian Spirit stirred up everyone. The pure land was lively for several days before slowly calming down.

In the depth of the night, the little guy was sitting cross-legged beneath a translucent green vine while holding a bone book in his hand. He carefully studied it, and at this place, his heart was especially calm.

His contributions were great, because he brought back soil nourished by the Immortal Spring, allowing the Guardian Spirit to revive. Therefore, the Pavilion Master allowed him to bring the symbolled bone books from the Sacred Storage Pavilion here.

The little guy naturally did not forget the ghost grandpa's words. He immediately decided to come to the Guardian Spirit in the depth of the night in order to cultivate. Sure enough, this place was different from anywhere else. The gourd on the vine shone and sang, allowing him to comprehend things with great ease.

During these days, he combined the Golden Winged Peng and the Green Sky Peng's precious techniques into one. Their power increased by an entire level, becoming terrifying beyond comparison.

"Where in the world is that golden bone. If I could find it, my precious technique would certainly undergo some transformations." The little guy blinked his large eyes.

Behind him, a divine golden moon appeared; perhaps it could even be called a divine egg. It contained an Archaic devil bird that contrasted greatly with the little guy that sat with his legs cross.

“Yi, this Devil Bird seems a bit different.” He turned around and revealed a strange expression.

He studied the method that refined the Peng’s precious technique for an entire night. He completely combined them into one, and discovered that the Archaic devil bird was a bit different. It seemed even more mysterious and powerful now.

Why did it flash with golden light sometimes before turning green? Why was it transforming into a fish shape? It was too strange.

The little guy was suspicious and repeatedly tried to figure out what was going on. He discovered that he had completely combined these two precious techniques. Its power increased rapidly, becoming many folds stronger than before. There was no mistake.

However, why did this happen? He carefully stared at it while thinking it over.

“Could this be... a Kun Peng?!” He suddenly trembled. This idea hit him suddenly, causing him to widen his eyes and reveal an unimaginable expression.

All of a sudden, he realized this, and widened his eyes, revealing his unimaginable expression.

He truly was apprehensive. That kind of creature was said to be supreme with nothing else comparable to it. It was strong enough to be ranked amongst the ancient era’s top ten divine birds and vicious beasts.

“Is this for real?” The little guy doubtful. He absolutely did not imagine that he could create such a devil bird with his own comprehension and effort after combining techniques.

He stared at the creature within the divine golden egg. It was truly a bit similar, transforming from a Peng. Hazy mist lingered about, and a type of terrifying aura filled the area!

“Wu, I have opened up a path, but this is only the starting point. It’s certainly not a genuine Kun Peng. The disparity is enormous. I’m only approaching it, and it’s slowly transforming.”

A blazing light shone from within the little guy's eyes. He was incredibly happy that he fumbled onto such a powerful road. If it was possible, he wished to reconstruct this supremely powerful precious technique!

The Kun Peng's precious technique was an unrivalled ability whether it was during the shining era when ancient gods lived, the present, or even the future. It was once ranked amongst the top ten most powerful!

"The Golden Winged Peng combined with the Green Sky Peng could create such a transformation! They combined into a Kun Peng. I have to research this route carefully!" The little guy was full of confidence.

"Not bad, your path is correct. The combination of the Golden Winged Peng with the Green Sky Peng can recreate the Kun Peng." An ancient and omnipotent voice echoed outwards.

The little guy was shocked. He raised his head to discover that this was the first time the old vine spoke and conversed with him.

"Great Guardian Spirit, please guide me!" The little guy jumped up and embraced the gourd vine. He blinked his eyes, and was full of expectation.

The old vine was speechless. Who dared to act this way towards it with such courage? After just meeting, this child did not respect it at all, and did not even have a hint of fear. He acted like they were previously acquainted, and hung from its body like a koala.

The devilish brat truly had some confidence. After all, it was him who brought back the 'immortal silt' that dragged the Guardian Spirit away from death. He believed that the other side would not criticize him too harshly.

"I'm a vine. I do not understand how to guide you in the Kun Peng's technique. I'm only telling you that the direction is right." The Guardian Spirit sighed.

The little guy scratched his head before letting go and quietly said, "Is there anything else you can guide me in?"

"Learn some more things. There are some pretty good scriptures in the Sacred Storage Pavillion. Perhaps they could even be very good," the old vine said, seemingly very weak and dispirited.

The little guy was suspicious. He felt something was off and said, “Guardian Spirit, what happened to you.”

“I’m going to die.” The old vine calmly said this as if it was telling him a very ordinary thing.

The little guy cried out in alarm. He covered his little mouth and said, “How can that be? Your life force has just been restored. Why are you going to die again?”

The Guardian Spirit was verdant and alluring like sculpted jade with divine Splendor flowing all over it. It was powerful and mysterious as its boundless life force filled the air, making everyone revere.

“I have lived from the ancient era until now. That’s enough time. My life has all been used up. It’s very natural.” It opened its mouth and said.

“However your condition is much better than before!” The little guy was in disbelief.

“That’s because I have to be like this. If I die immediately, a huge calamity might befall the Heaven Mending Pavilion.” The Guardian Spirit sighed.

“Ah?” The little guy cried out in alarm.

“The wastelands is going to become chaotic. Perhaps the Heaven Mending Pavilion might become the prologue. It’s even more possible that it will originate from my death.” The Guardian Spirit said with a sinking feeling.

The little guy was dumbstruck. This wasn’t the first time that he heard this. Looks like there really will be a day when a great disaster will befall the wasteland.

“Troubling times are approaching. Everything is empty. Only by becoming stronger will you be able to survive,” the old vine said.

“You’re really going to die?” The little guy looked at it. It seemed full of vitality, so never could he have thought that it was going to end up like this.

“There’s no other way.” The Guardian Spirit nodded.

The little guy said with some hesitation, “If I gave you two drops of True Supreme Water from the Immortal Spring, will you live?”

The Guardian Spirit shook its head and said, “No one can prevent an exhausted life force. A few drops of divine water cannot change my destiny.”

The little guy heard its words, but could only sigh. Such a powerful Guardian Spirit would still die eventually. Inside his Heaven and Earth Pouch was a jade jar. Inside it was five little golden dragons, each of them a drop of divine liquid.

“I will keep holding on in order to buy the Heaven Mending Pavilion more time. Perhaps it will be several months, maybe a year.” The Guardian Spirit spoke. It would not perish immediately, and would keep holding on for a bit longer.

The little guy accompanied it and talked a bit longer. He felt that this old vine was very optimistic; it was not distressed at all. According to what it said, after living for so long, it should have died long ago. This was a very natural thing.

Seeing it like this, the little guy naturally was not as serious as before. His mood recovered, and he was not sentimental at all.

“Senior, can you really not guide me in any direction?”

“I really don’t understand the Kun Peng’s techniques.”

The little guy did not give up and said, “You’re so strong, you must have some methods. Didn’t you say my path was right? I think you can get that golden bone in the Sacred Storage Pavilion. Perhaps that will let me strengthen my precious technique, allowing it to transform and improve it.”

The dark green vine trembled. A new bud grew out and extended onto the ground. The earth was dug into deeply as the vine penetrated inside. Finally, it wound up around a golden bone and left it on the soil.

The little guy’s eyes immediately straightened as he stared at it without blinking. Symbols flickered on top of this golden bone with incredible radiance. It had even more spiritual essence than precious artifacts, and appeared incredible mysterious.

“Is that that bone? Why is it here?” The little guy was shocked. Then he stared at the earth by the Guardian Spirit’s root. There shouldn’t be more bone books buried beneath this place right? Could it be that the lost secret techniques were all over here?

“This bone is not bad. It’s not any worse than secret precious techniques. If you can truly comprehend this completely, you will obtain endless benefits,” the Guardian Spirit said.

Chapter 181 – Kun Peng

The golden bone circulated with a glossy shine, and the writing on it burned brightly. They were not small densely packed characters, but one symbol. They dazzled the eyes as multicolored light shone.

The little guy's heart trembled. This was a primitive precious bone. Its originals were unknown, but the symbols on it had not really disappeared or faded. They were still there, waiting for people to understand them.

Under normal circumstances, if a precious bone left the body, its symbols would disappear after a while as they fade into the bone itself. They could still turn into precious artifacts, but they would eventually become incomprehensible.

This golden bone was passed down from the ancient era. Why did those complicated and mysterious secrets not disappear and still remained there? This was certainly a rare scene!

The little guy was extremely excited. His large eyes were squinted into half moons as he wanted to throw himself into studying. This bone's importance towards him was too great. It would inevitably transform his precious technique, advancing it by leaps and bounds.

"Don't try to run before you can walk. Even though you have a rare gift, your cultivation is too fast. It's better if you just refine your cultivation more." The vine did not actually give him the golden bone.

The little guy immediately became anxious. A secret precious technique was in front of his eyes. He could obviously get it since it had not been lost. This kind of feeling was difficult to bear.

"Strengthen everything first, then you can cultivate the methods on this precious bone." The Guardian Spirit warned, and did not allow him to be impetuous.

"What's there left to strengthen?" The little guy impatiently stared with great longing.

"Cultivating a precious technique demands mastery of all the subjects. They must completely comprehend all aspects, including why they have these kinds of powers. Only then will you understand its fundamental nature. You have already done very well in combining two precious techniques, however, there is still some luck involved. You have not completely understood all of it.”

The Guardian Spirit offered its guidance. It wanted him to not stick to just the textbook, but to genuinely understand the actual meaning of symbols. This would allow him to evolve the precious technique, making it undergo all kinds of permutations. Only then would they be completely understood.

In reality, although many people had grasped powerful precious techniques, they did not understand their underlying secrets. They would only display an imitated power.

The Guardian Spirit stated that this was absolutely not enough. If one wanted to become a supreme expert, one must start from the very beginning and understand every minute detail about the precious technique in order to fully understand each possible variation.

This involved trying to figure out how the precious technique was made, and understand all of its secrets. Only then could it be considered a genuine comprehension, and only then could it become even more powerful!

“Ancestor, I understand!” The little guy always did this, but he did not reach the pinnacle yet. He needed to start his comprehension all over again in order to fully understand everything.

Just like this, he started his new studies as he wholeheartedly delved inside. He spent an entire half a month fully immersing himself within the Peng tribe’s symbols in order to understand their mysterious secrets.

During this time, he was either within the Sacred Storage Pavilion or sitting in the Pure Land where the Guardian Spirit was. It was difficult to find traces of him anywhere else because he was completely immersed.

For the sake of understand the Pengs’ methods, the little guy borrowed many bones books from the Sacred Storage Pavilion. He neglected food and sleep, and put all his energy into it.

The ancestral elder guardian at the door nodded. This time, he did not say anything, but picked up and carried a large pile of bone books that were all related to the Pengs.

In the blink of an eye, another half a month flew by. Apart from understanding the Peng's symbols, the little guy also skimmed through the techniques of other fierce birds in order to understand their relations. Therefore, his understanding became even more thorough.

Finally, he felt that he had comprehended everything. At the very least, he fully understood the details of all the symbols he mastered to the point where he could even create and transform similar symbols.

After reaching this result, the ancestral elder guarding the door was dumbstruck. He stared in disbelief, since this was truly a little monster that was rarely seen in this world.

After reading through all the bone books regarding the Pengs, the little guy felt that he became a divine Peng himself. He extended both his arms, and golden light circulated. Divine wings materialized as if he was about to soar into the sky.

Clearly, after threading everything together, this precious technique became absolutely more powerful and terrifying. It far surpassed what it had been originally, because he combined the symbols from too many different bone books.

Now, bit by bit, the endless transformations was being instilled within his heart. The little guy had consumed everything that these bone books had to offer!

With a weng sound, he created a strange scene within the Sacred Storage Pavilion while studying. While comprehending the dao, he placed the golden divine moon into a Heavenly Passage, and within it rested a devil bird.

That volcano spouted 'magma, and the divine golden moon transformed into an egg. Green symbols covered its surface, making it appear terrifying yet powerful. It was bobbling within the volcano entrance, and could be summoned with a single word.

This was the embodiment of when one completely mastered the precious technique to its limit. A precious technique being nourished by a Heavenly Passage was considered astonishing.

One Heavenly Passage could nourish one symbol containing a supremely powerful precious technique. When it was needed, its powerful and might could make others tremble as it swept across every foe.

Following the movement of the little guy's eyes, a divine Peng charged out of the Heavenly Passage and stood by its side. It was incredibly mystical and terrifying.

"If the day comes when I have ten Heavenly Passages open and have a supreme symbol for each of the ten most powerful divine bird and vicious beast in them, just how powerful would that be?" The little guy gently sat beneath that gourd vine, and was full of yearning.

"If you can obtain even one of the ten most powerful primitive precious techniques and truly understand it thoroughly, then you will be able to rule the entire wastes, making even the Gods tremble. You would have no rivals in the heavens or the earth!"

According to the Guardian Spirit, it was enough to obtain one of the supreme techniques, because that would already be enough for one to live a life of comfort. Even if you could open ten Heavenly Passage, there wouldn't be enough opportunities to accommodate ten supreme ancient precious techniques! No one was that heaven defying.

"Ai!" The little guy sighed. The top ten ancient species were practically all extinct. Not to mention ten, even seeing one would be very difficult.

What he needed to do now was try his best to understand the origins of the Kun Peng's precious technique. This was one of the ten, and who knew when he would be able to approach a solution.

"Ancestor, I have already truly mastered this, and I already feel like I'm a Peng. I have understood every permutation of the symbol thoroughly.

The little guy asked for that golden bone. To this date, a month had already passed by. With his astonishing heavenly gifts, he truly understood everything thoroughly. His entirety practically became a humanly divine Peng.

"You can now." The Guardian Spirit nodded. Then, it warned him that when he was comprehending this precious bone, it would be best if he could read some more books daily. It would be very beneficial for him.

“I know!” The little guy nodded. For the past few days, he had seen too many scriptures and symbols. His body was very comfortable and warm as he did not deliberately pursue a breakthrough. However, his flesh was still strengthening when he studied. His knowledge of symbols became even more profound.

He held the golden precious bone in his hand. He was extremely happy as he turned and flipped it about. He then immediately started to study and comprehend it.

Soon after, he was shocked. He revealed an unimaginable expression, and said in an alarmed voice, “This isn’t a Peng bone?”

He truly understood why the old vine wanted him to thoroughly understand the Peng’s technique before trying to comprehend this bone. They were completely different, because this was a Kun Peng bone!

As soon as he started to look into it, he felt a terrifying aura, as if he saw a ten thousand li long fish leap out of the ocean surface before transforming into a large Peng. It skyrocketed up ninety thousand li into the air, and was shockingly large.

“This is why I said that this bone’s origins aren’t weak. It is comparable to one of the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s supreme suppressing techniques,” said the Guardian Spirit.

“It’s a Kun Peng bone?” The little guy was excited. He used all of his power to grab the golden bone because it was truly too astonishing. It was precisely the target that he was trying to strive towards.

“No, this is only its descendent.” The Guardian Spirit shook its head.

The little guy felt relieved. How could one of the ten most powerful ancient species just leave behind a precious bone that ended up in Heaven Mending Pavilion’s treasury. If it really was here, the Heaven Mending Pavilion would have been destroyed a long time ago, and even the old vine wouldn’t have been able to defend against it. All the deities and creatures from ancient divine mountains would have personally come down to take it away.

Even so, it was still a priceless precious bone!

The little guy was delighted. His reward today was too great. This was the bone of a supremely powerful descendent that could greatly benefit the precious techniques he comprehended.

“I must understand this to fully recreate the Kun Peng’s technique!” He muttered to himself.

The little guy had already spent three months in the Heaven Mending Pavilion after he came back. He passed the time by cultivating, and the old vine had also ‘revived’ for a month. During this time, many events took place outside.

First of all, the great wastes began to tremble. The ancient country boiled, since Heaven Mending Pavilion’s Guardian Spirit resurrected, shocking many people. No one could have arrived at such a conclusion.

Secondly, great waves began to surge from all over the place, and no one could stay calm any longer. It was as if something was going to start. Some people even saw the figures of deities flying across the sky while emitting their endless radiance.

During this time, many of the disciples from the Heaven Mending Pavilion began to prepare themselves. They were completely confident that their school was going to become more and more powerful, and that they were going to over to rule an entire region.

However deep down inside, the pavilion master and some other upper-level individuals were endlessly worrying. They naturally obtained the Guardian Spirit’s warning, so they were aware of the true circumstances. It was simply a huge disaster.

Therefore, the pavilion master and the other high-leveled elders began to secretly take actions. They needed to make plans as soon as possible; otherwise, a huge disaster might truly befall them when the time comes.

Half a month ago, Shi Yi returned with the desire of meeting the little guy. However, at that time, the devilish brat was wholeheartedly dedicating himself to researching the Kun Peng’s precious technique. As a result, he was not aware.

Ultimately, they had a brief encounter, but did not truly meet each other. This was because Shi Yi had actually successfully stepped into the ancient holy courtyard several days ago, instilling a huge commotion.

Everyone was shocked. No one knew how much time had passed before another person had entered. As soon as a person entered, if he or she did not die an untimely death, then there was a possibility that the person would become a saint in the future.

This was especially true for people like Shi Yi who who was naturally born with dual pupils, a feature that was rarely seen. He would eventually surpass his predecessors and successfully become a revered divine king of the world one day.

During dawn, the morning clouds glittered splendidly. The little guy stood up from underneath the vine. He was radiating with vigor while in high spirits. He had only researched for one night, but his benefits were already enormous.

During the past few days, he was either in the Sacred Storage Pavilion or here. He would rarely return to his own room, because he spent his days within the world of symbols.

“I haven’t seen Qingfeng for a while. I’ll go and check on how he’s doing.”

He faced the morning clouds and began to tread of the brilliant path. He was in a happy and carefree mood as he walked out from this restricted region and headed towards his own room.

The sunshine illuminated everything, even seeping in between the verdant bamboo forest. Along the way, he met many people. Many of them were ordinary Heaven Mending Pavilion disciples, and they were currently discussing something.

“How come there are so many people this early in the morning?” The little guy was astonished. He had not returned in a while, so he did not know what happened.

Thus, he asked some people to get to find out what was going on.

“You truly disappear and appear unpredictably. You disappeared for so long yet again.” This new disciple clearly recognized him, so he quietly said, “Zhulu Academy’s people are here to compare notes and exchange pointers with us.

Sigh!”

“Why are you sighing? Isn’t this a good thing?” The little guy did not understand.

“How is this good? You don’t understand. Yesterday, only one person came forward and beat all of us up. This is simply just a miserable lesson.” He was full of dismay.

“That strong?” The little guy was astonished.

“Zhulu Academy’s female war god led over ten disciples here. Only the youngest one came forward and defeated our entire group. His moves were very tough, and many people had their bones broken.

The little guy was shocked. Zhulu academy was this powerful? No one from Heaven Mending Pavilion was actually worthy of being his opponent.

Soon after, he saw elder Xiong Fei and Zhuo Yun and heard sounds of them discussing. His heart could not help but jump because Zhulu Academy did not simply come to compare notes, they also wanted to pay respects to the Guardian Spirit.

“Are they here to investigate?” The little guy’s heart began to shiver.

Moreover, even though there was a competition between the Heaven Mending Pavilion and Zhulu Academy, they were not considered enemies. If they were to investigate like this, could it be that they already forecasted that a major event was going to arrive?

The little guy left and headed towards the genius camp. As soon as he arrived, he raised his eyebrows. Many bloodstains fell by the lakeshore, and some painful groans would occasionally transmitted outwards from the wooden houses along the shoreline.

Clearly, a fierce battle happened here, and many people suffered heavy injuries. Patches of blood sprayed all over the place. It was clearly visible just how desperate that battle was.

“Qingfeng!” The little guy shouted, afraid that something might have happened to him.

Zhi Ya, many rooms opened up, and many geniuses showed their faces. After seeing that it was him, they all revealed their strange expressions. This was clearly a very strong person; the savage child had arrived!

“Little bro!” Qingfeng appeared, and was clearly in good health. However, many people around him were wrapped in bandages with bodies full of injuries. Zhou Yu Hao in particular was wrapped up like a rice ball. He was grimacing in pain, and would occasionally cry out a few times.

The little guy immediately began to laugh. This guy was truly unfortunate. Why did he always have this wretched appearance whenever he appeared. The little guy himself had beaten him up a few times, and as soon as his injuries healed, he was once again beaten up to this state.

The little guy walked past these people, and his smile was immediately retracted. It was due to the fact that their injuries were very serious. Many people had broken bones and muscles. This kind of comparing notes and moves were too excessive.

Before, the little guy would often come here, and he had befriended many already. Now, looking at their pale complexions and bodies full of injuries, his little face immediately darkened.

“Is this still a friendly exchange of pointers? If their moves had been just a little more serious, these people would have been crippled!” The little guy said.

“Let’s go ask for help. Let senior Yu Feng, junior Xiao Tian and a few others return from training under those old freaks.” A few people said.

“That person is truly terrifying. He was only fourteen or fifteen, but his cultivation is already extremely powerful. His precious technique was even more astonishing. He was using the Peng bird’s techniques to suppress everyone.”

After the little guy heard them talk, he immediately began to move. He was also practicing the Peng species’ precious techniques. Now, he was transforming towards the Kun Peng’s techniques. Naturally, he wanted to meet that person.

“Too hateful. The words that he left with were that the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s geniuses weren’t anything special, and couldn’t withstand a single blow.”

Everyone was extremely furious. The genius camp would naturally have powerful individuals as well, but they had recently been selected by a few old freaks. As a result, there weren't many people remaining.

Of course, those youngsters from Zhulu Academy were also very terrifying. Just one person was able to sweep this place and astonish everyone.

He laughed coldly as he left. This kind of contempt and disdain was thoroughly stabbing everyone single genius here.

"Yi, junior Xiao Tian returned."

"Senior Wu Feng also came back!"

Everyone was overjoyed as they prepared for battle again.

"Let's still wait for Yu Feng and the others to return. After all, one person's moves were already this powerful. The other nine have not even displayed their power yet." Some of them were very cautious, and were ready to wait for the most powerful people from the genius camp to return before re-engaging in battle.

"Why wait? Let's go right now. I really can't wait anymore." The little guy said.

Some hesitated, but the majority of the people nodded right away. At this point, over half of the people here knew his secret identity. With this savage child here leading the way, they figured that all of their problems could be solved.

Chapter 182 – Emphatic Beating

The devilish brat shouted, and the group of people followed along. Their rally was strong, and the people from the genius camp all followed behind him as he charged towards Zhulu Academy's residence.

More than half of the group already knew the little guy's identity, and they knew how savage he was. As a result, even though they went to battle when those senior brothers and sisters did not return yet, they were fearless.

Regardless of whether it was the Void God Realm or the Hundred Shattering Mountains, his name was infamous and widespread. He was always being cursed at by powerful opponents, but in the end, he was still living happily and healthily.

"They are residing within the Fifth Spiritual Cliff. It's a precious land rich in spiritual essence. Our Heaven Mending Pavilion treat them so courteously, yet they actually acted so insensibly."

Someone led the way, and they proceeded towards the spiritual area that had purple energy rising in spirals from it. There was a small clear lake, an ancient stone cliff, and all types of auspicious birds perching. Even fragrance of medicinal herbs wafted through this area.

A group of silver-colored spiritual deer traveled past them. Their bodies carried multicolored light, and their horns in particular flickered with an incomparably brilliant silver splendor.

The little guy immediately halted his steps and wiped away a mouthful of saliva. "Young deer, what great medicine! This is a group of rarely seen spiritual deer. They are so plump!"

The group of people also stopped, and all of them began to develop creases on their foreheads. Didn't they come here to vent their anger? Why did they end up staring at a group of silver-colored spiritual beasts?

"Junior brother, these are not things you can touch. They are used by the elders to refine medicine." One of them reminded in a small voice.

"Who said I was going to eat them? Am I that kind of person? Would I do something like that?" The little guy spoke seriously. His face was full of righteousness, but his motion of wiping his saliva ruined the the mood.

The group of people began to giggle, and all of them laughed until they couldn't speak.

“Go, we are going to collect our debts from them!” The little guy covered up his embarrassment before once again rushing forward.

Naturally, these were sacred grounds, so normal people were not allowed to live here. Heaven Mending Pavilion had shown so much courtesy for Zhulu Academy that they even arranged for disciples to live here.

The group of people were dissatisfied as they charged in there shouting and roaring.

“People from Zhulu Academy, come out!”

There were halls ahead, a bridge with a running river underneath it, and also a patch of refined garden. The lake emitted spiritual energy that appeared quite extraordinary.

“So noisy, it's just a bunch of trash. How do they have the face to show anger after losing so badly?” A youth's voice echoed past. He was quite relentless and unsensible. Everyone from the genius camp felt his voice was extremely early piercing, and they all clenched their fists while gritting their teeth.

“Did you guys call your senior brothers and sisters? Let them all come together.” The youth's expression was icily arrogant as he appeared while seated on top of a vicious beast.

The ground lightly trembled. This vicious beast was quite ferocious with a length of four to five meters. Its form was sturdy with an appearance of a lion, its entire body was covered with dense scales, and its wide mouth was filled with extremely sinister-looking sharp teeth. There were also a pair of antlers on its hair that glittered with green and golden light as it circulated with symbols.

This was an Archaic Descendent, and it was not even mature yet. However, there was already a terrifying fluctuating wave that emitted from its entire body. It was extremely powerful!

Everyone breathed in a breath of cold air. This was a descendent that actually became his mount. This youth from Zhulu Academy clearly had an extremely powerful background.

“This is a Golden-Eyed Dragon Horn Lion!” Someone recognized it.

This mount wasn’t something an ordinary person could take on. It could even be said that the majority of the people here couldn’t even be its opponent, and wouldn’t be able to defend against the attacks of this fierce beast.

The Golden-Eyed Dragon Horn Lion’s two eyes shone splendidly like two golden lanterns as symbols and ominous lights interweaved around it. It was very terrifying, making people unwilling to meet it face to face.

“All of you come together. I won’t make a move. My mount alone is enough to trample all over you guys.” The youth’s words were indifferent as he disdainfully looked towards everyone.

Everyone immediately flared up. This person was truly holding them in contempt.

He appeared only fourteen to fifteen years old and wore a purple gown with a height of two meters. At that age, he was already considered very tall. He was sturdy and strong with a pair of expressive eyes. He was quite a heroic talent.

His gaze swept past those who were bandaged and broken boned and immediately sneered and shook his head. After yesterday’s battle, the genius camp’s lakeshore was dyed in blood. Many people were afflicted with heavy injuries, so he was incredibly confident in himself.

“You are too aggressive. I’ll battle you!” Wu Feng came forward. He was a person who returned from training under those old freaks in order to give a his juniors a boost.

“I already said that you guys can come together. Beating my lion is already an achievement!” The youth patted the lion’s back with his hands as he nonchalantly said, “Trample them flat!”

The Golden-Eyed Dragon Horn Lion roared and charged forth. The ground immediately began to shake. This enormous creature’s entire body shone as its green scales glittered. Its eyes even shot out two rays of golden light that appeared extremely malevolent.

Everyone was apprehensive. If they had to face this descendent, then they'd rather confront that youth directly since this vicious beast was even more terrifying.

Only the little guy was taking things lightly. He took large strides forward with rays of light flickering in his eyes. He smiled and said, "It looks so delicious!"

"What'd you say?" The youth who charged forth and raised an eyebrow after hearing those words. He immediately displayed his killing intent and urged the vicious beast to trample in the little guy's direction.

The Golden-Eyed Dragon Horned Lion roared loudly. Sand flew, rocks tumbled, and leaves drifted immediately. This lion's roar was truly powerful; it was very violent and vicious to the max.

However, facing this violent and enormous beast, the little guy's display was stupefying as he also began to roar. Sound waves surged and rubble rolled. Huge trees broke apart, and he completely muffled that lion roar.

Everyone was dumbstruck. Were they seeing things? Who was the Archaic Descend here? How come his roar suppressed that lion's roar?

The Golden-Eyed Dragon Horned Lion was infuriated and began to roar even louder. Next, it madly rushed over with the intent breaking that youth in front of it into pieces.

The little guy was happy and fearless. He took the initiative to charge straight forward. He quickly galloped as he stamped on the great earth.

Many people from the genius camp knew his identity, but they had not seen his true power. Now, they were all holding onto their sweat because that was a genuine Archaic Descendent. Although it was not mature yet, its flesh was still extremely powerful. This kind of confrontation of force made some people unable to bear watching the scene.

Hong!

A huge collision noise sounded. A large and small body knocked against each other, and a scene that toppled everyone's expectations occurred. The little guy continued charging forward, and that huge beast was knocked away flying as blood spouted out of its mouth.

As for the mounted youth, he was in a wretched situation. He immediately somersaulted and fell out.

“I could tell immediately that it was going to be delicious!” The little guy made a big fuss out of nothing, and ran forward as if nothing had happened. He was simply unhindered from the start as he started chasing that huge beast that had been knocked away flying.

Hong. His fist landed on top of that Golden Eyed Dragon Horn Lion’s body. That place instantly cracked as the bones inside its body exploded, and fresh blood violently surged.

Ao... The descended was alarmed and angry; at the same time, it was also incredibly terrified. Its two eyes shot out two golden rays of light toward that youth. Simultaneously, the horns on its head began to shine with dense symbols that seemed like a blazing divine flame as it suppressed forward.

Qiang

Even with all its power, everything was useless. The little guy's stroked his fingers, and the golden rays of light immediately broke down. Then with a roar, he even shattered all the symbols in the air.

His behavior was quite savage like an Archaic Dragon. His fists were heavy, destroying thousands of things as his terror overflowed into the heavens.

The little guy jumped up onto its head, and he prepared to steal its primitive symbol bone. The Golden Eyed Dragon Horn Lion was alarmed. Its entire body burned as it activated its precious technique, submerging the little guy within.

A bird cry sounded, and a Divine Peng spread its wings. Golden light surged as it struck downwards, tearing apart all other precious techniques. With a hack of its divine wings, that powerful descendent was chopped in half.

Everyone was overwhelmed with shock. How savage was this child? This was a magnificent and extremely powerful Archaic Descendent, but he was able to slaughter it in two to three moves.

This kind of battle strength, this kind of method sent a chill down everyone's spines. There was a huge gap here that was difficult to exceed.

"His opponent was already not at our level!" Some people lightly exclaimed.

With a kacha sound, the Golden Eyed Dragon Horn Lion's precious bone cracked. The horn on top of its head fell down as blood essence spilt out.

"Qingfeng, come and eat some deer horn blood." The little guy stood in front of the vicious beast while calling Qingfeng to come over.

"Ah..." Qingfeng was at his wit's end. His brother was too strong. How did he kill that powerful descendent in only a few moves? It seemed almost like a dream.

He was very obedient, and ran forward according to the little guy's commands. He collected all the blood in the horn with a jade jar. This blood was much more powerful than that of those silver deers they saw earlier.

"Drink it while it's warm, and see how effective it is." The little guy did not drink any as he gave it all to Qingfeng. He was cared a lot about Qingfeng.

“Everyone, come and help. I’ll treat everyone to lion meat. The flesh and blood of descendants are precious medicine. Don’t miss this.” The little guy called out to everyone.

“Ah...” The purple gowned youth, Tuoba Chuan roared loudly. His round eyes glared, and he was truly angered to the extreme. He was already quite tyrannical, and did not believe that there was another person who was more emphatic, able to eat his meat right in front of his face.

“I’m going to die from anger!” Tuoba Chuan roared loudly. He got up and threw himself forward. Golden symbols enveloped his body as a golden peng materialized and attacked ahead.

The little guy turned around. After he saw the Peng species’ technique, he carefully reacted, and did not make a move until they almost made contact. His fist curled up in bone symbols as splendid as a little sun, and smashed that Peng’s body.

Hong!

Golden storms violently whistled as that Peng wailed upon being instantly destroyed. It transformed into a golden shower of light that scattered between the heaven and earth.

Tuoba Chuan was astonished. How much strength was necessary to firmly defend against his precious technique? This power far surpassed his! His eyes showed his fear and his pupils quickly shrunk as he startledly said, “You’re that... Savage devilish brat!”

“Your eyes are dull.” The little guy said, then he loudly reprimanded, “You’re the devilish brat. Your entire family is a bunch of devilish brats!”

He charged forth as he attacked.

Tuoba Chuan was astonished. Eighteen barriers of light appeared ahead of him. He used all his strength in order to activate and defend with his precious artifact. Against that legendary savage child, he was only able to defend.

However, the disparity was too great. Those who opened up nine heavenly passages, as far as humans went, only existed in ancient texts. However, the little guy was alive and kicking. Those who met him could only lower their head before retreating.

Rumbling noises never stopped. The eighteen barriers of light were all shattered. The little guy charged close, and hoisted him up with one hand in order to shake him with all his strength. Precious artifacts, decorated medicinal powder jars, and bone books all fell onto the floor.

“清风快来，我送你好东西！”

“Qingfeng come. I’m going to gift you good things!”

A kacha sound echoed out. The little guy finally shook him until his bones broke, and threw him in front of the faces of the genius camp.

Peng

Everyone was blunt, and immediately took action. Some people kicked him into the air, then smashed down with their fists, and knocked him out.

No one took his life, but they weren't sincere about it either because he was too indifferent yesterday as he broke many people's bones. He had already surpassed the level of exchanging and comparing notes and broke into the realms of cruelty.

On the other side, the little guy brought Qingfeng and the silver gowned Xiao Tian to clean up that descendent. After peeling back its skin, they immediately lit a fire to start a barbeque.

His moves were too swift. While everyone vented out their anger, the sweet aroma already assailed their nostrils. The Golden Eyed Dragon Horn had been barbequed into an oily golden yellow. Everyone was stupefied.

This was a descendent, yet it was barbequed like this. Was it really going to get eaten?

"Junior brother, are we really... Going to eat it here?" Everyone salivated while being a little fearful and apprehensive as well.

"Why does this matter? When I was in the Hundred Shattering Mountains, I was having several of these per meal. Don't worry about. Everyone can come and eat together." The little guy cried out to everyone.

In the distance, Tuoba Chuan was badly injured to the point that his bones were broken. After seeing this, he immediately became angered to the point of passing out. He did not look at it again to avoid being more irritated.

The group of people all surrounded over. Soon after, they started to have a feast here. The sweet fragrance of meat assailed their nostrils. To these ordinary boys and girls who obeyed and listened to lectures and lessons, this gave them a feeling that they did something wrong. This felt too carefree.

"What are you people doing here?" A very pleasant voice echoed outwards from a white dressed girl.

Her pure white dress fluttered in the breeze. She had black hair and eyes, and possessed a beauty that was out of this world. She seemed as if she appeared out of a lotus flower with her snow white exquisite skin, and eyes glittered like constellations. An astonished expression hung on her face.

“Ah, it’s sister Youyu.” A group of geniuses quickly bowed their heads as they hurriedly swallowed that final bite of golden barbeque meat.

The little guy recognized this white dressed girl. While he was crashing through the great wastes alone, he once encountered her at the western border of Stone Country. She had even gifted him a talisman, which he gave to Qingfeng in the end.

Beside Xia Youyu was another girl. Her body shined with a golden glow as she wore a golden battle armor. Her physique was tall, and her bosom was ample. Although she wore armor, it was still difficult to conceal her impressive charm.

This was Zhulu Academy’s female war god who stood together with Xia Youyu. She was just as beautiful in her shining golden armor. There was an avant-garde elegance about her.

One was lucid, elegant and out of this world with a fluttering white dress that made her seem like a fairy that descended from the moon palace. The other in shining golden armor had a tall and slender physique that made her look like a goddess. Both of them were equally matched and very beautiful, making men have difficulties averting their gazes.

Behind them were a few young boys and girls. Looking at the group of Heaven Mending Pavilion disciples munching with their jaws, they were similarly stupefied.

“Why do I feel like that barbequed golden ferocious beast is junior Tuoba Chuan’s mount?”

“I also feel like it looks similar.”

These people were completely dumbstruck, and were in disbelief.

Chapter 183 – Three Fatties

Were they seeing things? The group of people's mouths were stifled. Barbequing a guest's mount and just eating it out in plain open; this was simply too savage.

The group of people from Zhulu Academy stared blankly. What had happened here? They were all stupefied.

"Junior brother!" A female disciple cried out in alarm as she ran forward. She helped up the bloody Tuoba Chuan, and everyone from Zhulu Academy surrounded him soon after.

"It hurts to death!" Tuoba Chuan woke up. He felt that more than ten bones in his body that had broke as pain stabbed his heart. When he saw the devilish brat with an oily mouth again with blinking eyes, he almost passed out again from anger.

"You..." He stared towards this side.

"You want to eat too? Xiao Tian, give him a piece." The little guy said.

This was simply too much. The silver gowned male gave a stare with one eye before turning his body around. He then silently at the golden meat in hands without a care for anything else.

"We need an explanation. Why did this happen? The Heaven Mending Pavilion's bullying is intolerable!" Zhulu Academy's disciples were unreconciled as one fiery tempered senior disciple angrily rebuked.

"The reasoning is simple. He arrogantly and bossily crashed into the genius camp and broke some of my seniors' bones and muscles. So, I beat him up." The little guy pulled on Xiao Tian's silver gown to wipe his mouth.

"Go away!" The silver gowned youth responded. He stared emptily for a long time, but did not make a move.

No one from Zhulu Academy looked well. This was deemphasizing the situation too much. You defeated him, so why didn't you mention anything about his ten or so broken bones? Furthermore, how do you explain the descendent that's being barbecued on the bonfire?

“Why did you eat the Golden-Eyed Dragon Horn Lion?” Zhulu Academy’s people asked loudly.

“Because it wanted to eat me; therefore, I ate it in the end instead.” The devilish brat’s response was simple and straightforward.

“You...” The group of people were unsatisfied. They wanted to come forward and fight him.

“Who’s scared of who? Let’s keep fighting!” The little guy stood up.

“Xia Youyu, your Heaven Mending Pavilion’s food everyday must be really bad. Why do these youths who block our way look like reincarnated ghosts who have been starved to death as they this descendent?” The female war god opened her mouth. Her entire body shone, and even her hair had been dyed in a dim golden splendor by the golden armor.

Xia Youyu was speechless towards this group of junior disciples who were too courageous. Her eyes swivelled as she said, “You guys are still young. It’s fine if you just settle these despotic matters with a laugh.?”

Could this matter be settled by a laugh? This was being too protective! In the distance, Tuoba Chuan and his group’s eyes were blazing. That was a magnificent Archaic descendant whose value surpassed entire cities, yet it was eaten just like that.

“Devilish brat, I truly did not make a mistake. You truly know how to torment people.” The female war god said this as she looked at the youth ahead of her. She was angry, but also wanted to smile.

This guy truly knew how to make trouble out of nothing. From the Void God Realm, he troubled his way to the Heaven Mending Pavilion, then he also made trouble in the Hundred Shattering Mountains before setting off a series of disturbances. He made people want to beat him up so badly.

Upon seeing how she was acting, Xia Youyu knew the female war god was a forgiving individual who was not actually angry and blaming. Xia Youyu immediately relaxed, and said with a smile, “You guys acted too excessively. No matter what, this is a guest’s house. If you really wanted to eat that mount, can’t you have eaten it somewhere else? Who told you guys to eat it here?”

“Hehe...” Everyone from the genius camp began to laugh.

The female war god’s entire body shined with hold light. She looked towards Tuoba Chuan and said, “I know you came from the Tuoba family who has had grievances with the Heaven Mending Pavilion, but you cannot act aggressively here. If you were going to compare notes here, how can you break someone else’s bones?”

Many people’s hearts trembled. Out of all the Tuoba families, his was the most famous. It was an ancient family with incredibly immense power that could tremble the great wastes.

During the ancient era, they even wanted to start an entire country. However, a huge event struck their foundations. Their Guardian Spirit perished after being beheaded by a divine vine.

The Tuoba clan stumbled, and could not establish a country in the end. After endless years of self-cultivation, they became powerful again. Today, they were a pinnacle power.

Everyone made a sudden realization. No one knew that this Tuaba Chuan fellow harbored so much hostility. This clan was formerly mortal enemies with the Heaven Mending Pavilion!

“Senior sisters, I’ll treat you to some barbeque meat. This is a very sweet type of medicine.” The little guy came forward and greeted Xia Youyu and the female war god.

The two were both speechless. This devilish brat truly knew how to take advantage of things. Before he was lectured, he even invited them to eat meat while acting with great familiarity.

The little guy’s actions were skillful as he used a silver knife to cut off a chunk of fine golden meat before presented it personally on a plate.

“This flavor is excellent.” Xia Youyu gently smiled. Her entire head of black hair shone. Her oval face had quick-witted eyes, and the rosy lips that contained sparkling white teeth bit into the precious meat. She could not help but compliment it.

The female war god heard him, and also nipped a piece of golden meat off. She then put it in between her red lips to sample it before saying, "Pretty good, there is very strong divine essence in there, and it tastes quite good."

Ah Pu.

Tuoba Chuan heard everything, and immediately spat out a mouthful of old blood.

"If both sisters really enjoy this. Then I'll give you some more," the little guy said.

"Don't be stingy. Give me half of it." The female war god said with no restraint.

The little guy immediately opened with his large round eyes and said, "I'm still not full yet!"

"What? You don't want to?" The female war god's golden armor on her body shined. Her beauty was astonishing, and even her figure were very refined with undulating curves. Moreover, her golden battle clothes matched her, giving her a very remote beauty.

"I've met my match. How come you want half right away? That's almost as much as me." The little guy quietly mumbled.

"What did you say?" The female war god stared at him.

"Nothing. I only feel that senior sister should lose some weight, so you should not eat that much," he quietly said.

Everyone was dumbstruck. With such a good figure, what was there to lose? She had an absolutely devilish body with plump chests and tender waistline, and her legs were also long and slender. It could simply be called perfect proportions.

The female war god stared at him. There had not been anyone who talked to her this way.

Xia Youyu lightly smiled while her white dress floated above the earth. She stood there, seeming like she would float with the wind. Her beauty couldn't be imitated, as if she was a fairy looking over the world.

"Senior sister, in fact, you should lose some weight as well," the little guy said.

Xia Youyu's smile immediately froze. This naughty kid truly needed a spanking.

“Okay, how would you make us lose weight. Are we really fat?”

These two carried an outstanding elegance, and were abnormally beautiful. Their figures stood delicate, refined, and lithe, able to move every man. The more stunning a female was, the more she couldn't bear being slandered like this.

“You're already fat like that, yet you have the nerves to ask me where you are fat.” The little guy muttered with a weak voice that sounded self-evident. His large eyes glanced at their plump bosoms, and their firm, round buttocks.

At this moment, the entire scene was quiet. No one talked, and no one even dared to display any anger as they all stared at him with their strange expressions.

Everyone felt that this devilish brat had truly angered the gods and deserved a beating!

Xia Youyu and the female war god had an otherworldly beauty that could bring down nations. This kind of beauty was extremely rare, perhaps seen once in a lifetime. Now, they were driven mad.

This was devilish brat who should die. Where were his shifty eyes looking at? His so called 'losing weight' was unexpectedly like that. Both of their eyebrows immediately straightened up as their beautiful eyes stared at each other before making their moves together.

The little guy then held his head and ran like a rat. They were truly unreasonable to the point that they did not even let others speak. Furthermore, he did not even say the entire thing.

“Senior sisters, you two are being unreasonable. Sincere advice that's tough to bear is beneficial for you! It's wrong to not let other people speak!”

Xia Youyu was normally sweet and gentle like a fairy, and the female war god's temper was also outstanding like a goddess. Now, they both violently chased him to beat him up.

“Is it like this? Huniu1's figure is much better than both of yours. You two are fat, yet you don't let anyone talk about it.” The little guy complained.

Xia Youyu and the female war god were driven mad. They felt provocative stare after provocative stare upon their plump bosoms as well as their firm yet round buttocks. This kid was truly lacking in moral sense.

“You truly do anger the Gods! You deserve a beating!”

“Devilish brat, you’re lacking in philosophy!”

The two almost activated their precious artifacts as they chased after him together. They were already so infuriated that their pure white faces had been flushed red a long time ago. This child truly knew how to invoke others’ hate.

“I’m telling you the truth. If you don’t believe it, ask Xiao Tian.” The little guy ran while loudly shouting, “Senior brother Xiao, do you think these two are fat?”

The silver gowned youth immediately became motionless. He slowly turned around with his back towards the little guy. Otherwise, he would have been beaten as well. He silently cursed because he did not want to be dragged into the water.

The little guy shouted, “Do you see? He can’t even bear to look at you two without making a comment. He turned his back towards you two because he did not want to take another look.”

The silver gowned youth immediately became angry after hearing that. He turned around and looked at Xia Youyu and the female war god. The result was two dong dong sounds echoing through the air as he was struck in the head twice.

“What are you looking at!?”

How could he be so unlucky? Xiao Tian’s painful tears almost flowed out. He was struck twice by those two girls with enormous strength.

“Qingfeng, do you think they are fat?” The little guy was unconvinced as he shouted again.

Qingfeng’s little face was flushed in red. He immediately covered his face with his hands in order to not answer nor look as he learned from the mistakes of the one before him.

“Stand still for me!” The female war god was normally very cool, but now she was humiliated and angry. As she chased, her golden armor shined and resounded.

Xia Youyu was similar. She had never lost control like this before, but now she was so angry that her entire body was itchy as her charming face became flushed with red.

The little guy was going to get beaten, so he had no choice but to activate his precious technique. His body shined, and a pair of golden wings appeared. It allowed his speed to improve by an entire level as he quickly distanced himself from them.

Everyone was staring blankly. Someone as powerful as the female war god was unable to catch him, and Xia Youyu who was as quick and agile as a fairy was also unable to catch him. This genuinely amazed everyone.

His speed was too fast. What kind of precious technique was that?

“Remarkable, he most likely comprehended the supremely powerful Golden Winged Peng’s divine abilities.” Xia Youyu displayed her amazed expression. Of course, she had heard of the recent news that a little kid was running around in the Sacred Sacred Pavilion every day. She even heard legends of that golden bone, but she did not imagine that he actually obtained it.

“It was actually the Golden Winged Peng’s precious technique. Don’t run anymore. Come and study with the disciples of Zhulu Academy.” The female war god said because their academy also had these divine techniques.

“I don’t believe it.” The little guy shook his head. Afterwards, he earnestly urged, “Senior sisters, losing weight right now is still not too late. Otherwise, you’ll be as fat as sister Huo Ling’er, shockingly fat.”

In the distance, a slim and graceful figure arrived. It was actually Huo Ling’er, wearing a scarlet dress. Although she was only fourteen or fifteen years old, she was tall and slender with curves undulating over her body. She was close to perfection.

“Little thief, what are you randomly talking about. I’m gonna fight you to the death!” Huo Ling’er was extremely humiliated and angry.

Some people informed her that Heaven Mending Pavilion’s disciples were being bullied by Zhulu Academy. She came back from those old freaks to lend her assistance. In the end, she happened to encounter this exact scene.

“Three fatties that I can’t provoke are gathered here. Why wouldn’t I hide?”
The little guy fled.

gathered in one place, and provoking me. I can just hide right?” The little guy escaped.

Who was provoking who in the end. All three of them were resentful.

Chapter 184 – Confrontation of Peng Techniques

The little guy took to his heels and ran. However, as long as he was within the Heaven Mending Pavilion, where could he run off to? Xia Youyu was the regional underground boss here, and so in the end she still caught him.

“Senior sisters, I’m wrong. You all are actually very beautiful, and not fat at all. Your jadelike forms are long and slender. Spare me.” While he was saying this, he stared at those two’s legs. They were indeed very slender and bewitching. They were vaguely visible through their dresses like suet jade. Then, he looked at those small waistlines which were indeed very full and unable to be grasped; they were soft and pure white like tender water snakes.

This kind of apology lacked sincerity.

In the end, the two ‘fatties’ still pounded and beat him. Then, they forced him to exchange and compare notes with people from Zhulu Academy!

On the other side, Huo Ling’er also want to give him a beating really badly. She was not very old yet, but she was actually labelled as a fatty. This almost made her crumble and suddenly leave.

“What benefit do I get from fighting you? If I win, will you guys pass on your Peng Techniques to me?” The little guy asked. He was being realistic, because the battles he had with the white tigers and other descendants and within the Hundred Shattering Mountains still had some residual effects on him.

Dong

Xia Youyu struck him and said, "Stop saying random things. This is called exchanging pointers, understand?"

"What's the point of that then? If I defeat them, there's nothing to eat, and there aren't any benefits either." The little guy couldn't raise his excitement and lacked energy.

"Are you certain that you can beat us?" Across from him, a girl was full of smiles. However, in between her appearance was a killing intent.

"I'm very confident..." The little guy answered at will. He felt this was natural and expected, then he added, "If I win, will there be any precious techniques for me?"

For Zhulu Academy, apart from the immobile Tuoba Chuan, everyone else also came forward. This devilish brat was too hateful. They really wanted to come up and give him a beating together.

"Since we're comparing notes, we naturally have to make an exchange. You are all proficient in Peng's techniques. We can investigate into what each other has learned later." For Xia Youyu, no matter how much she wanted to beat him up, she was still a bit partial; after all, they were all disciples from the Heaven Mending Pavilion. Then, she looked at the female war god to see her opinion on the matter.

"Don't cry if you lose." The female war god nodded in consent with a hint of smile on her face.

"Immature kid, let's go!" The female across charged over at an extremely fast speed as golden scales appeared over her body. Although this was one of the Peng's techniques, it seemed a bit different.

"Penges that grew scales?" The little guy carefully watched.

This girl was very strong. She was sixteen to seventeen years old, and was one of Zhulu's Academy's extraordinarily famous geniuses. Her Peng techniques have almost reached perfection. At this moment, she had practically transformed into a human shaped Pengas she shone in golden light.

She opened her mouth and quietly hissed. Countless golden scales transformed into sharp knife edges as they whizzed across the air with the intention of penetrating the enemy.

“Scaled Pengs, it was indeed a bit different.” The little guy was happy since this was a good reference.

Hong. He smashed forward with his fist. His fist curled up with bone symbols, and with his full force immersed within, it was full of robust energy as it directly erupted with dazzling light. It collided into the dense golden scales.

With a bo sound, a soft bubbling sound echoed through the air, and all the golden scales were destroyed in the explosion as they turned into an endless shower of light. It was difficult for them to resist the might of the little guy’s fist.

Everyone breathed in a breath of cold air, especially those people from Zhulu Academy. Apart from Tuoba Chuan, this was the first time they saw him make a move. Blocking a precious technique barehanded, how unyielding and dauntless was that?

“Junior brother, were you defeated by him like this?” Someone asked.

Tuoba Chuan’s entire face flushed red. It was indeed like so. His opponent did not even use any precious techniques as he struck this magnificent genius flying into the air, leaving him unable to even show his face.

After a weng long sound was emitted, the battlefield had some new changes. That girl spread out her arms, and an enormous pair of wings appeared behind her back. Then she furiously fanned out, creating a violent gale that sent the sand and rubble flying.

“Divine Peng Astral Wind!”

Many people were shocked as a golden whirlpool appeared. It advanced at a breakneck speed, slicing everything in its path. Huge boulders, old trees, and many other things were quickly transformed into fine powder.

The little guy was amazed, then he joyously said, “This can be combined with the Golden Jade Ripple Technique, and then turn into my Kun Peng’s precious technique.”

He shifted positions, and then opened his mouth to spurt out a patch of golden symbols, attacking at that whirlpool. With a hong long that sounded like two hurricanes encountering one another, all the space between the heaven and earth was going to be twisted into pieces.

The ground cracked as boulders and dust soared into the sky. A large amount of power was displayed here.

The little guy was too strong. He spouted out a mouthful of divine energy, and they turned into symbols containing this amount of power. This changed the expressions of everyone from Zhulu Academy.

With a chi sound, the little guy flew across the air as he threw himself towards that girl to capture her. However, what shocked him was that he actually charged into nothing. There was only a broken silhouette where she originally stood, with no signs of the actual body.

At this moment, golden feathers danced in the breeze from every direction, and there were even sharp scales hidden amongst them. Like raindrops, they landed and mystified the entire area.

The girl's body turned into over ten clones as she hid amongst these scaled feathers that attacked him together. Strangely, it was indiscernible which of these were the real body.

“Fantasy Peng Technique!”

Everyone from Zhulu Academy revealed their joy. That child was too savage and could not be matched in strength. The only way way to gain the upper hand was to bewilder him with divine techniques.

This little guy showed a strange expression. This was truly a strange occurrence. His opponent could actually split herself up into many images, giving people a tough time tracking down her real body. This was tough to deal with.

He quickly struck out and attacked ahead. He then destroyed seven or eight images in succession only to discover in the end that none of those were the real body.

“Devilish brat, do you still want to suppress us? This is not enough yet?!” The girl lightly scolded as golden feathers fluttered in the breeze from every direction. Her clones were everywhere, and they all attacked him together. The dense golden scales that were able to pierce through all kinds of boulders and old trees shot toward their opponent.

The little guy tried to evade, but he was trapped. His enemy was everywhere, so he did not know which one to attack.

Amongst the keng qiang noises, he smashed apart patches of golden scales. Then, his entire body shined to finally activate his own precious technique. A pair of wings appeared, and they fanned out with hong long sounds. This place immediately became chaotic as the golden clouds that filled the sky were smashed apart.

Everyone was shocked at this powerful display of might!

After that, a golden whirlpool emerged from the little guy's body. This was very strange, as if it covered him in a layer of armor in order to protect him completely.

From every direction, the golden feathers fluttered in the breeze. There were countless clones in the air as the girl launched her attack yet again in order to afflict some serious damages to that powerful youth.

However, the little guy was fearless this time. The golden whirlpools that swirled on top of his body actually swallowed those symbols and the essence of the technique in order to make them his own.

"What kind of precious technique is this?" Everyone was completely astonished.

"Golden Jade Ripple Technique!" Xia Youyu was amazed, then she frowned again. That protection technique was not like this because it was only capable of defense. However, now she was seeing that this technique able to refine the power of symbols from the opponent in order to make them his own.

"This practically seems out of the boundaries of the Golden Winged Peng's techniques. This almost seems like a technique from legends. The Kun Peng was able to spread its wings and refine the heaven and earth." The female war god muttered as she was not certain either.

Golden whirlpools swivelled all over his body. Not only did it defend against his opponent's precious techniques, he was also able to find out which direction the attack was the most intense during the refining process. This was because as the golden whirlpools swallowing everything, its senses were very keen. It was only due to this fact that he was able to capture that girl's true body.

The corner of his mouth held a hint of smile, and he spread the Kun Peng wings. Powerful astral winds swept and destroyed everything as he galloped past all of it like a streak of lightning. He possessed a terrifying power, and a speed that was fast to the degree of shocking everyone.

With a peng sound, he captured the girl and lifted her up with one hand. After being suppressed by those powerful golden symbols, she could not even budge an inch.

"Defeated like that?" Everyone sighed. They knew that the devilish brat was strong, but they did not think he was terrifying to this degree.

"Pass your Peng precious technique to me." The little guy thirsted for it.

"Hmph!" The girl coldly groaned before turning her head around.

"You have to do what you promised!" The little guy was a little bit worried. He wanted this really badly because he wished for the divine Peng techniques of Zhulu Academy. It could allow him to advance another step toward the perfection of his own Kun Peng's precious technique.

"Don't worry, we'll do as we promised. Although we gathered together the Peng's divine abilities at our Zhulu Academy, it's not our secret divine techniques. It's exchangeable." The female war god smiled because she knew that Heaven Mending Pavilion also had this kind of precious technique, except there were some differences.

Even if they let him comprehend it, it was unlikely for him to develop an even greater technique with it.

Of course, she did not realize that the little guy could actually comprehend their best features because his goal was to recreate the Kun Peng's precious technique. Therefore, these were very valuable to him.

After this secret talk echoed over and landed upon his ears, the little guy's eyes immediately brightened. These were great rewards.

“Is there anyone else who wants to fight me?” He was incomparably thirsty.

In the end, four youths came up together. They were all bathed in blazing divine splendor like devils who came out from magma. They were all exceptionally strong, and around seventeen to eighteen year old. They were all elite talents who were fostered with all of Zhulu Academy’s attention.

“We know you’re very strong. Us four will take you on together. Are you up to the challenge?”

They had a humble posture because this devilish brat was too savage. If the rumors of him daring to chase down the pure-blooded Zhu Jian and Hornless Dragon were true, then even thinking about it was scary.

“No problem, if I lose, I’ll teach you my precious technique.” The little guy happily responded.

“These are the four most powerful youth from Zhulu Academy,” the female war god said. Although she did not believe they could win, she felt that there was going to be quite a battle.

Since it was an exchange, and it was clearly stated that the great Peng’s precious techniques were going to be used, divine clouds naturally surged and the entire sky fluttered with divine golden feathers.

The four experts acted together as they activated their precious artifacts. They each used a damaged golden bone that they were compatible with as they charged ahead.

One of them had their arm transform into an incredibly sharp Peng claw. Golden light blazed splendidly, and with a hong long sound, it reached forward. The little guy was shocked because after dodging it, a huge boulder beside him weighing a hundred thousand jin was immediately smashed into smithereens.

“So strong!” Everyone was startled.

After another person had his body combined with the precious bone, and a weng noise sounded as a streak of golden lightning streaked across the air. His arm transformed into a divine wing that swept across like a heavenly knife, creating ear-splitting keng qiang noises.

All the symbols that the little guy activated had been shattered into pieces by the divine wing. He couldn't hold back from using his precious techniques any longer.

The third person made his move. After combining with his precious bone, an incredibly sharp divine sword that seemed to be able to cut through anything in its path appeared. Boundless golden sword energy drowned this entire area like a sea.

“Such a strong precious artifact!”

The fourth person held his damaged bone and fused with it. Peng feathers emerged, and then transformed into countless golden feathers that shot forth like divine arrows.

The fourth had a huge battle with the little guy. The four of them assembled together, and seemed like the reincarnation of a Peng. With their four damage bones, they created a killing formation that was incomparably terrifying.

“Zhulu Academy has come prepared, and actually brought a formation over to deal with the devilish brat,” Xia Youyu said.

“The four precious bones were only brought for the sake of practicing the formation. No one expected him to have also cultivated the Peng's precious techniques, and was powerful to this extent.” The female war god explained.

These were the bones of a supremely powerful descendent. It was absolutely terrifying. Dense symbols packed close together in order to obstruct the little guy's techniques. Therefore, this battle was very intense, and he was not able to break and pull them apart like old roots from the ground. This battle involved forcefully suppressing four powerful individuals.

Weng

The winds and thunder sounded, and divine wings appeared behind the little guy. With a fierce shake, it seemed as if the heavens and earth were going to collapse. He was pressured to using his most powerful precious technique, and the shock sent one of those people flying.

Everyone was shocked. How could his Peng precious techniques be this firm yet ferocious? It was simply unmatched. Not even a formation could hold him!

“Kill!”

The fourth individual shouted loudly. The four pieces of precious bones released their secret power. Dense symbols that increased in power filled the air. They resonated with other, uniting their precious techniques.

The little guy was fearless. The Kun Peng wings behind him shook, and the divine golden light split the earth around him. He seemed like a revered god as he bathed in a golden divine sea and swept across each direction. With a hong sound, he successfully made the four surrounding people spit out fresh blood and fly straight through the air.

Their expressions all changed. This was simply an enemy they could not defeat.

The little guy's body was covered with the Golden Jade Ripple Technique, and he quickly absorbed their symbols in order to refine its essence to supplement his own. Thus, he seemed even stronger now.

The female god was emotionally moved. She was finally aware that although the little guy utilized the Peng's technique, there was a huge endless ocean behind him, as if a fish was soaring into the skies.

“Kun Peng!” At this moment, she was finally convinced. Her heart could not help but tremble. This kid actually stepped onto this path, and despite being far from perfect, it was already this powerful. If he was actually able to fully recreate the Kun Peng's precious technique, how powerful would that be?

In the end, Zhulu Academy's four youths suffered a huge defeat. They were not his opponent.

The little guy was in high spirits because he obtained Zhulu Academy's Peng species precious techniques. He immediately sat cross-legged onto the ground to start his comprehension, and his body began to shine.

Everyone was stirred up. Behind him, a divine golden egg ebbed and flowed. A divine bird vaguely emerged before everyone's eyes, and its cry terrified everyone's souls.

"Wu, so nice. If I completely understand Zhulu Academy's precious technique before going back to comprehending that Kun Peng bone, I will obtain a world-shocking divine technique!"

The little guy was extremely happy. Up until now, he did not fully delve into that bone. He had just obtained it last night, so he only started comprehending it recently. Before that, he was constantly researching the Peng species' methods.

It could be seen that after learning Zhulu Academy's precious technique. His benefits from researching that bone would be even greater.

With a kacha noise, the earth trembled and the mountains shook. A huge earthquake seemed to have occurred beneath the Heaven Mending Pavilion, making everyone jump up in fright.

After a hong sound rang out, a spiritual mountain toppled and collapsed over into a dark abyss. This was not the only one, as seven to eight others also resulted in the same fate. This scene overwhelmed everyone.

"What happened?" Everyone was shocked.

Some strange had happened in the Heaven Mending Pavilion. The great earth actually split open, revealing streaks of huge and incredibly terrifying dark crevices that extended into every direction.

The collapse of those spiritual mountains were related to this. It was truly a bit scary, since it happened all too suddenly. No one knew what to do.

"What happened?!" Heaven Mending Pavilion's ancestral elders were shocked, so they all stood on their feet. Even those few elders in seclusion were frightened, and they all walked out from their cave dwellings.

The little guy jumped up and looked towards the source of those huge crevices. He felt that something far from reassuring had happened since it originated from the old vine's resting place.

“What happened? Is the Guardian Spirit going to die?” The little guy had an ominous premonition.

The old vine just gave him the secret precious technique of the Kun Peng's descendant last night, yet such a thing was happening now.

Chapter 185 – Guardian Spirit's Battle

Kacha!

The huge crevices extended as if the earth collapsed. The entire Heaven Mending Pavilion cracked into many pieces; this sight overwhelmed everyone!

Looking down from high up in the sky, one could see that the ground was filled with black crevices. It reached out like an intersecting spider web, and a huge black hole appeared in that area.

The little guy clenched his fists tightly. He quickly jumped up, and a pair of divine golden wings appeared behind his back. Although he did not soar high into the sky, both his legs were practically levitating off the ground as he quickly charged into the Guardian Spirit's resting grounds.

The Heaven Mending Pavilion was very chaotic, and eight or nine spiritual mountains sank into the abyss. Huge black crevices extended everywhere, causing ancient buildings to collapse and many spiritual mountains to crack apart.

At this moment, everyone's hearts were alarmed. They all vaguely had the feeling that this originated from where the old vine was resting. They were not aware of the strange changes that were happening there.

The little guy's speed was extremely fast. Every time the the tip of his foot landed on the ground, he would fly far away. The Peng wings created the sounds of thunder and gales. It was extremely astonishing as it even wrapped his entire body in a golden light.

Along the way, he saw a few collapsed ancient halls. Their walls were destroyed, and the buildings were in ruins. Debris was scattered everywhere, and under the swaying of the great earth, they were completely leveled and ruined.

This was sight that couldn't help but draw gasps of surprise. Not even the formations were able to protect those enormous palaces, and under this indescribable heavenly might, even the Heaven Mending Pavilion was turned into a scorched earth, becoming a thing of the past.

Fortunately, this was only a single region. There were many other palaces on other spiritual mountains that were still in a good state. They were still shining as a testament to the glory of this school.

“Great Guardian Spirit!”

Very quickly, the little guy crashed into this forbidden area. As he looked at that ancient courtyard, not only was he dumbstruck, he simply did not believe the sight in front of his eyes.

There was not an old vine there, but an enormous tree instead. It hid the skies and covered the earth as it emitted the energy of primal chaos. This sight was truly shocking.

He rubbed his eyes, and then carefully watched. The ancient tree covered in dark green leaves reached into the sky. They flickering multicolored light that condensed into a mist, making it seem like the world before it was created.

“It’s still the same creature – the Guardian Spirit!” He was a little dumbstruck

The gourd vine became thick, and its roots became a tree. It rose into the sky along with its enormous leaves. Crashing noises echoed through as light flowed brilliantly. Clouds and mists from primal chaos surged forth, appearing incredibly mystical.

“What is that?” The little guy was a bit apprehensive.

Multicolored light circulated around the gourd vine, and the vine had divided. Among them, one was like a shining green battle spear as it penetrated a hole through a huge creature. Fresh blood constantly dripped and trickled downwards.

That blood was very special. It emitted a divine splendor while flickering with rainbow rays of light as dense vapors evaporated from it. It was unspeakably mysterious and powerful.

Even though there was quite a distance, it was still intimidating to the point of making people tremble and worship it. It was unimaginably strong and incomparably terrifying.

If the rainbow blood drops were already this terrifying, it was very difficult to guess how strong this creature was.

The little guy quickly moved to get a different point of view. He wanted to see the true body of that enormous beast, and couldn't do so right now from all the green leaves blocking his vision.

Enormous pure white wings covered the sky as they emitted a precious splendor. It was dyed in a rainbow colored blood that appeared extremely terrifying. At first, the little guy thought that this was a devil bird, but underneath those wings, he discovered that he had been wrong. Beneath the cover of those wings were a pair of strong and powerful legs.

“Human-shaped creature!”

He rapidly changed directions and continued watching. Finally he could clearly see its true body.

This creature was over ten zhang tall, and its entire body was covered in a pure and holy splendor. He had a man's body with an enormous pair of completely white wings on his back. His face was quite heroic, and a vertical eye rested between his brows. As it opened and closed, deafening thunderous light flickered.

He did not die yet. He was still struggling as the vertical eye between his brows emitted the sounds of clapping thunder.

His full head of golden hair draped over. They seemed as if they were casted in gold as splendid rays of light shone with blazing radiance. Furthermore, there was even a pair of dragon horns between his hair. They were fully purple and covered in symbols as dense purple mists evaporated from it.

What kind of creature was this? It was truly too strong. Its stomach was pierced, and rainbow color blood was dripping from it, yet it had not died. Its vertical eye emitted a thunderous light that seemed like a rumbling and surging ocean as it struck towards the divine vine.

However, a green skinned gourd gently swayed on top of the vine while emitting divine sounds. The air was filled with the energy of primal chaos as it absorbed all of the thunderous light.

The little guy was shocked. What realm was this expert at? He went so far as to offend the Guardian Spirit.

This battle was already near its end. Although that enormous human figure was enveloped in a splendid divine light while emitting waves of trembling vibrations, it was still no match, and would eventually die.

The green skinned gourd gently swayed, and echoes spread out like a ripple. It struck against the thunderous light and cracked his vertical eye, causing blood to spurt from it.

“So strong!”

The little guy was alarmed. They seemed like gentle looking ripples, but they had the ability to instantly destroy that man-shaped creature’s eyes. Furthermore, the ripples continued to spread out towards his dragon horns.

The man-shaped creature violently struggled. His dragon horn was splendid as purple light evaporated from it, making it seem like it was burning. It emitted a dragon cry, and a large purple dragon materialized with the goal of twisting the vine apart.

The green-skinned gourd’s swaying became more intense. A light of primal chaos shot straight towards the dragon horn. Glittering rays of light busted out with kacha noises, and the pair of dragon horns exploded into dust.

At the same time, the dark green vine shook as it took out the tip that pierced his stomach. Then, it charged straight up towards that man-shaped creature’s head, concluding this battle.

The sky was filled with dense symbols as if all the deities were chanting. They had only disappeared after this battle had ended.

The little guy was stunned. He did not see all of the intense battle, and was only able to catch its conclusion. He thought that the start must have been very intense; otherwise, how could it split Heaven Mending Pavilion apart?

The sky was brilliant with multicolored light. The man-shaped creature burned into the most basic essence until its body gradually disappeared. Even its head had been refined as strands of divine light entered the gourd vine.

Those dripping rainbow colored blood was also similar absorbed by the stem of the Guardian Spirit in order to become its nourishment. Its dark green leaves swayed as it gradually shrunk into just a vine again.

Dust drifted from the sky as that ten zhang man-shaped creature became dust and completely disappeared into nothingness.

The old vine's roots shined as it extended into every direction. At the same time, the cracked earth started to seal, and those eight or nine collapsed spiritual mountains began to rise once again.

Even those collapsed palaces stood up again as they were restored into their original states. This scene was simply a miracle that tongue-tied and silenced everyone.

The little guy was petrified as his little mouth was completely agape. He stared with his large eyes toward the Guardian Spirit.

Was this truly a sickly old vine that was at death's door? He always believed that the gourd vine was peaceful and auspicious. He did not imagine that it had such a ruthless side to it as it instantly killed an unimaginable existence.

Moreover, how did the gourd vine just become that enormous, able to connect the heaven and earth? Could that have been its original form?

"I am going to die." Suddenly, the opened vine spoke. Its words had an unspeakable exhaustion to it.

"Senior, I feel that you can live for at least another thousand years." The devilish brat quietly said because it had just seen how incomparably powerful this old vine was. It was absolutely shocking.

"I appear strong, but my insides are deteriorating. It won't be long before I die." The old vine gently spoke to him and those high-leveled individuals from the Heaven Mending Pavilion.

The pavilion master and several ancestral elders had all arrived. All of them silently stood by its side. They were pained yet helpless. If the Guardian Spirit was dead, would Heaven Mending Pavilion still be able to survive for long?

"Are you guys evacuating?" The Guardian Spirit asked.

"It is still being carried out." The pavilion master responded respectfully with sadness.

“Hurry up, I don’t have much time.” Then it became silent.

“No matter what happens, I ask that master Guardian Spirit to leave behind a divine seed in order to be reborn one day. There will be a day when my Heaven Mending Pavilion will appear in this world, and its eternal glory will not be forgotten as you will rise again.” An ancestral elder spoke with sorrow.

“Are you talking about that?” The Guardian Spirit gently moved. On top of its body, the green gourd shined with light. The aura of primal chaos lingered around it with a very mysterious appearance.

“After hundreds of thousands of years, perhaps there will be a similar vine, but that won’t be me.” After the Guardian Spirit this, it became completely silent.

The pavilion master and several ancestral elders were in a lot of grief. Their tears dripped on the Guardian Spirit that had protected them from the ancient era until now. Heaven Mending Pavilion owed it all of their kindness, and it was finally going to pass away like this.

The Guardian spirit was very open-minded as it spoke about its death. It was calm and unperturbed, but this made everyone even more sad.

When the path to ascension is completed, the divine fires will be extinguished. After lasting through the ages, much will be left behind.

“If it weren’t for that ancient battle that left an illness upon your roots, master Guardian Spirit would certainly have lived for much longer.” The pavilion master clenched his fists tightly as he looked helplessly at the Guardian Spirit.

Tens of thousands of li away, a vicious birds covered the sky and hid the earth. Its shape was enormous to the point of being several thousands of li or perhaps even tens of thousand li long. Black mists surged around it as it pair of eyes as large as lakes shined in the dark sky like two bloody moons.

“The divine seed will be mine soon or later.” It spread its wings and charged into the heavens.

At another place, a figure covered in divine light said to himself, “Several hundred years ago, people said it was going to die, but a supreme expert was buried alive by it. Now, everyone said it had revived, but some did not believe it. In the end there was only another defeat.”

The figure faded away as he tread onto a golden passage before disappearing into the ends of the horizon.

At the same time, all kinds of unknown existences from different directions all left without hesitation.

After today, Heaven Mending Pavilion’s mood became somewhat strange. Many disciples were discussing with incomparable excitement. They felt that after their Guardian Spirit revived, it became even stronger. However, the ancestral elders were worried sick and full of anxiety. The expressions from the different levels of people were completely unlike.

The little guy got rid of everything else as he wholeheartedly devoted himself to cultivation. He was comprehending the methods in order to understand all the obscure mysteries of the world. He completely digested Zhulu Academy’s Peng techniques in order to perfect his own.

Afterwards, he took another month until he completely understood that Kun Peng bone thoroughly. He was familiar with all the variations of it!

He sat cross-legged in the pure land as a strange scene appeared behind him.

There was an immeasurably large ocean there that surged like the roaring sea. It appeared unimaginably majestic, and an egg that had interweaving black and gold patterns floated up and down upon the sea until it cracked.

Hong Long! Ocean waves struck the heavens and that divine egg hatched. A large fish with a length of several tens of thousands of li appeared from within as it stirred up the entire ocean.

A terrifying aura that shook the world was being released!

Finally, it was perfected. The divine egg hatched with its offspring, and a Kun Peng appeared in this world.

At this moment, every senior from the Heaven Mending Pavilion was shocked as they revealed their doubts. They all gazed towards the pure land, but no one dared to step inside and disturb what was happening within.

The large fish leapt up and turned into a Peng. It skyrocketed over ninety thousand li into the sky. Its terrifying might overflowed into the heavens as if it could refine everything and create an entire world!

This was the strange scene that appeared behind the little guy. It seemed like there was a real world that contained an endless ocean behind him. The Kun Peng spread its wings and flew deep into the heavens. The entire world could not contain it.

He succeeded. He had stepped onto this path, and reconstructed the divine abilities of one of the ten most powerful ancient creatures. Despite it not being perfect and that there was still a long way to long, it was already world shocking.

After all, he had already laid the seeds, and today they had sprouted. It only need constant nourishment to make it even more powerful. With the little guy's innate talents, it was possible that he could recreate this unparalleled precious technique.

Chapter 186 – Urgency

Hong!!

The Kun Peng dove down, descending from the nine heavens. It dove down head first into the vast ocean, turning once again into a large fish. As a Kun, it stirred up endless amounts of ocean waves that swallowed up the blue dome of heaven.

According to legend, just in the Kun state alone, it could already overturn seas and cover the skies. It could forge celestial bodies, create all things as it reigned undefeated under the heavens!

The Kun was slightly more peaceful, but it still retains the Peng's masculinity and tyranny. It could spread its wings and soar into the cosmos. The spreading of its wings would crack open the primal chaos, and neither the heavens nor the earth could contain in.

And when the Kun and Peng were fused together, it became ridiculously powerful. Its might was immeasurable; otherwise, how could it have ranked amongst the top ten within all the divine birds and vicious beasts?

After taking a step in this direction and cultivating the initial stages of the Kun Peng precious technique, his symbols immediately became many times stronger. His strength was also naturally strengthened by many times, not to mention his divine might.

The little guy sat with his legs crossed there, peacefully and silently. Meanwhile, the scene behind him was that of splitting earth and cracking earth. That Kun Peng was curled up in mist. It could fill in the four seas, approach the nine heavens; its might was incomparable.

Only after a while did he opened his eyes. The strange scene behind his back had dissipated into the void. The seas, nine heavens, and the Kun Peng disappeared into a volcano. One of the Heavenly Passages were used to nourish the Kun Peng, and a symbol flickered there.

Finally, the scene completely vanished.

The little guy stood up. His eyes were lively, and bright radiance surrounded him. He was full of vigor, and his spirit was peaceful. This time, his precious technique transformed and advanced another level, enabling him to gain even deeper insights into it.

During this month and a half, he repeatedly personified the Kun Peng. From the ocean leaping into the ninth heaven, he personally experienced its entire life. It was a unique experience.

This great divine ability surpassed the Suan Ni's precious technique without a doubt. Once a war broke out, the Kun Peng ability could definitely sweep away techniques of others who are at his level, bringing about an unrivalled power!

"My Kun Peng cultivation has advanced into a higher phase." He scratched his head, and was extremely happy. His pure large eyes were full of delight as he hoped that one day, it might truly become like that of the divine bird's; he would be able to soar through the void and shatter the universe.

During that month of bitter cultivation, he isolated himself within the pure land and did not see anyone. He did not feel lonely at all, but instead felt incomparably fulfilled as he constantly reaped benefits and gained insights.

When he walked out from the pure land, the first thing he did was find Qingfeng. Afterwards, he found Second Baldy who spent its days staring at the Heaven Mending Pavilion's spiritual beasts until its eyes emitted green lights. They got together and joyously ate a large meal.

In the little guy's world, if one could eat good things every day, then that was the blessed thing.

Hairy Ball also sneakily made its way over. Recently, it was a bit more obedient, because it stole another few stalks of spirit medicines from the Heaven Mending Pavilion, and out of fear of being exposed, it was constantly hiding within the little guy's residence.

Zhizhi! The small golden thing continuously shouted, because it drank too much Little Devil Wine. Its entire body was emitting precious light, and it began to do some drunk boxing. There were several times when it almost ran into the bonfire.

"Yi, not quite right." The little guy was fairly keen, and grabbed Hairy Ball up in one go. He carefully looked at it and noticed that the inside of its body was bright and resplendent. There were actually signs of symbols condensing.

He immediately became excited. One has to understand that this was a Zhuyan, and it was possible that this was a true Archaic vicious beast. The precious technique nurtured within its body was extremely shocking, and could be considered an unrivalled divine ability.

“My three heads six arms, my seventy two transformations! Come out quickly!”

The little guy forcefully shook the drunk Hairy Ball. This small golden thing was very furry. It was confused and disoriented as it hiccuped, making it appear extremely bewildered.

“This fellow really is terrifying after all. It shouldn’t be some kind of hidden supreme expert, right?” Second Baldy was suspicious as it stared endlessly at the fist sized golden Hairy Ball.

The little guys scratched his head.

Back then within the mountain depths when the four great creatures fought, other than the fiery divine sparrow, there seemed to be another indistinct golden creature that appeared.

Zhizhi

Hairy Ball shouted incessantly. It hugged a wine cup that was the same size as itself and still wanted to continue drinking. In the end, it almost fell inside.

“That bird is so powerful. The group of martial brothers all fell because of it, so violent.”

“It said that it was looking for the savage child. Could it really be little junior brother’s friend?”

The people from the genius camp appeared. They chatted while walking as they searched for the little guy.

“What? Did something happen?” The little guy was suspicious.

“Junior brother, a big black bird appeared outside the mountain gate won’t stop squawking. It said that it was your elder brother, and that it knew the big fatty — Fire Nation Princess. It wants the both of you to welcome it.” One of the senior brothers informed him.

They were making their rounds around the mountain gate, and to their surprise, a big black bird descended from the skies and blabbered towards them, speaking a ton of nonsense.

The black bird’s words were extremely sharp, provoking a group of disciples. They began to fight with it, and in the end they all fell. Only after seeing an elder did it hold back and state its reason for coming.

The little guy was shocked, and immediately guessed who arrived.

This was a distance of more than hundreds of thousands of li separated by the great wastelands. That fellow actually traversed it and found this entrance; it truly wasn’t simple.

Huo Ling’er received the same news, and she flipped her jade desk on the spot out of anger. She brought a group of people with her and hurried towards the mountain gate.

Big fatty? Only the heavens knew how that damn nickname got out. Only that small thief shouted that before, and no one else knew about this, even less so call her this. Why did even a bird dare to assault her verbally now?

Outside the mountain gate, a big black bird constantly acted cockily. It was shooting off its mouth to a group of disciples, talking about how awesome it was. It spoke of how it ate White Tiger, nibbled on the Great Peng, battled the Zhujian, and even how it wrestled with a humanoid pure-blooded vicious beast before.

In particular, it was still licking its face. It even managed to strike up a relationship with one of the elders, and in the end, they began to chat happily.

The little guy rushed over. Right in front of his eyes was that big crow, so he was incredibly astonished. He was able to see that it had been worn out by travel from its messy feathers. It had clearly flown for a considerable amount of time.

“Second Baldy. Why aren’t you paying your respects after seeing your big brother!”

The hairless bird immediately became angry. If they talked about seniority, it was old enough to be the big red bird’s ancestor. However, this rotten bird just started calling it this in the end, making its heart ache.

“Why isn’t the fatty here. This is boring. My concern for her was in vain. I brought over some of my local specialties, but she did not even welcome me in the end.” The big red bird was showing off, but it did not dare to provoke the little guy since it knew of his savagery.

Little to its knowledge, curvy and perfect devilish figure of a young girl had already brought a group of people to block its retreat path.

“Beat it up for me!”

A soft scoff echoed through, and Huo Ling’er’s eyes began to move about. Her pure white face seemed demonic as her curvy figure fluctuated. She was angered to the point of trembling, and many symbols flew out from her instantly like rain as they descended upon that big black bird.

“Ao...” The big red bird screamed. Its beak was too cheap, and it provoked its own retribution.

“Beat it up, and pull out all its feathers. Don’t leave any. When we get back, we’ll make a fan out of them, and all of you will get one from this descendent!” Huo Ling’er yelled out, ordering several seniors to attack simultaneously.

“Oh a descendent! Its materials will be valuable. Those are sought after things that can’t be found. Go get them quickly!” The group of people obeyed. All of them were excited as they charged forward with their shining green eyes.

One person could not beat a descendant, but it wasn’t a problem for a group of people. These disciples were likely beating a chicken until it was bloody. They wished that all of them could pull out ten of its feathers.

“Fuck...” The big red bird cursed in extreme regret. It truly should not have provoked that woman, and it ask the little guy for help.

“Save me. This beautiful fatty is going crazy!”

However, the little guy was quite unperturbed. He stroked his chin and found a green limestone to look at, paying absolutely no attention to what was happening.

“Fatty, do you remember? It was this savage child who called you this first...” The big red bird screamed. A group of people charged forward and suppressed it with symbols while madly pulling out its feathers.

“Shut up!” Huo Ling’er was furious. Her body was sleek and slender like a precious beauty. Her nimble jade body curved up and down. How could she be associated with a fatty? It was so aggravating and spiteful.

“I’m poisonous! All of my black feathers have poison on them that can poison the soul and bones of all gods. If you don’t believe me just take a look.” It fiercely shook and black smoke immediately filled the air.

“It’s really poisonous! This feather is losing its black color and dripping blood.” Some people cried out.

This was because after the feathers that were dyed in black were rubbed away, a blood-like scarlet gloss appeared.

“No worries. It’s actually red, and its feathers were only dyed in black.” Second Baldy appeared and appeared very disingenuous. It snuck its way through the crowd and kicked the big red bird straight into a large pool by the mountain gates.

The big red bird who fell into the water flapped its wings as it immediately turned into its original form. As a result, it attracted the red eyes of all the people here because its red feathers appeared even more luscious as they flowed with a precious light.

“Second baldy, I’m not done with you!” The big red bird screamed wretchedly. It was being drowned by a group of people as everyone from Heaven Mending Pavilion started pouncing on it. They had truly thrown all caution out the window.

The strange hairless bird explained, “Do you see current appearance? This is what happens once I am able to reveal my feathers. I am the same species as it, and each feather possess a supreme divinity. After being made into a fan...” It was calm and unperturbed as it spoke, but before it even finished, the people by the shore were already boiling with excitement as they pounced into the pond.

The big red bird grimaced and howled for a long time. Before long, all of its feathers had been plucked clean. Its entire body became bald, and it became a big baldy not just in name, but in reality as well. It started crying nonstop.

“Fatty, this is more or less fine.” The little guy told Huo Ling’er and started reconciling. However, he naturally triggered a battle.

Last time he called the fire nation princess a fatty, she was undermined by Xia Youyu and the female war god. Huo Ling’er had already held back a stomach full of anger, and almost erupted into fury.

However, this time she immediately exploded. She became extremely flustered and began to fight the devilish brat. However, her achievements left something to be desired as she was immediately knocked over by the devilish brat.

“Junior sister, still not good enough. You need a bit more until you can wrestle with me.” The little guy crouched down. Then he tapped her pure white forehead, and feel around her body to plunder her valuables.

“Little thief, I’m gonna fight you to the death!” Huo Ling’er’s eyes started spouting fire. Her exceptional appearance was filled with resentment. However, she could not struggle free as she was put on the ground while being robbed in all places.

“Everyone come up and suppress him!” The fire nation princess yelled.

Fortunately the devilish brat was strong enough, so he was not surrounded. Otherwise, his situation might have been the same as the red bird's, wretched and violated. However, in the end he still escaped without a trace.

The big red bird was very miserable. There wasn't a single hair over its entire body. It dejectedly escaped behind Second Baldy's back as it followed them into the Heaven Mending Pavilion.

"Junior brother, why are your hobbies so strange? How come you like raising these strange things, and got yourself another strange featherless bird?"

Along the way, several people greeted him as they stared at that bird whose head was almost dragging along the ground with great curiosity. They felt that the bird was very plump, and if stewed, it could feed them for several days.

"En, they're my intimate brothers. This is Big Baldy, and this is Second Baldy." The little guy was unperturbed as he introduced them with exception serenity.

"This is my clanmate and brother." Second Baldy was brazen and sinister. It was used to this a long time ago, so this did not bother it at all as it generously introduced.

The big red bird's head was almost going to descend straight underground. Its entire face was red, and it appeared extremely dejected. How could it be this unlucky to have actually lost its hair and become a baldy?

"How sad! I'm too pitiful. Second Baldy! I'm not done with you!" The big red bird screamed as its heart broke, and it was going to immediately wage battle with the strange hairless bird. These two were too similar.

There was no need to mention it, but it was very persistent. After separating at the Hundred Shattering Mountains, it had asked for the whereabouts along the route while traversing across the endless wastes in order to come to the Heaven Mending Pavilion. Everything was for the sake of having the little guy introduce it to the master of the divine feather that it could never take its mind off.

"Stop fighting. I'll teach you some precious techniques and methods that will allow your power to advance," the little guy said.

The Heaven Mending Pavilion was about to undergo a huge transformation. He taught the big red bird some symbols to advance its strength, and they were equivalent to the methods from the Zhulu Academy and some of his own Golden Winged Peng techniques. It allowed the big red bird to fly even faster.

After today, the big red bird underwent a hellish training. It was comprehending and cultivating in every method. Its brand new growing feathers contained a hint of gold amongst its original scarlet color.

It wasn't like Second Baldy whose body had some accidents. It had only had its feathers plucked away clean temporarily

In just half a month, it grew new feathers, and could fly even faster now.

Its fiery light contained a faint golden color, as it flew, it resembled a streak of lightning. This was completely unlike the dejected big red bird from before, and it started to become cocky again.

For the next few days, the little guy went straight into the Sacred Storage Pavilion. He fumbled through all kinds of sacred scriptures daily. Everyday, he continued his journey of reading all the books from start to finish.

He skimmed through different texts that covered all kinds of subjects. At first, it did not feel like he got much in return, but after days of reading, the little guy gradually became more spirited and lively. His flesh constantly became stronger, and reaped many benefits.

During the following three months, he read over half the books in the Heaven Mending Pavilion. Sometimes, he would even go to plead the Guardian Spirit, pointing to the soil beneath its roots, since that was where the Kun Peng bone was dug up.

Unfortunately, he did not obtain any of them. The vine acted as if it had entered a long silent slumber.

In the end, he wholeheartedly devoted himself to reading every book inside the Sacred Storage Pavilion, and obtain several small techniques.

Today, the guard of the Sacred Storage Pavilion, elder Liu had selected a few scriptures for him. All of them were covered in bristles of electricity as a thunderous light surged about them. Their symbols were incredibly complicated and mysterious.

The little guy was pleasantly surprised since this was one of Heaven Mending Pavilion's secret divine techniques that was related to lightning. Although it was badly damaged and unreadable in some parts, it was still priceless.

Coincidentally, the Suan Ni precious technique he learned was also related to thunder and lightning. The two were closely interconnected, and could mutually support and help out each other.

"Thanks uncle!" He was sincerely grateful.

Elder Liu's hair was a complete mess. After sitting all day in his rattan chair, he looked as if he had nothing to do but wake up. However, he was very kind toward the little guy as he was gradually admiring him more and more.

"My Heaven Mending Pavilion's precious techniques pay close attention to step by step progression. The more scriptures you read, the more thoroughly you'll understand everything. Therefore, your accomplishments in the future will be greater. The reason why I did not let you immediately study our secret precious technique was because you had not accumulated enough knowledge. You had made breakthroughs too quickly from earlier, so you needed to digest them through reading scriptures to solve your predicament." Elder Liu said.

The little guy was shocked. This old dude was most terrifying. He could actually see through his cultivation level just like the ghostly grandpa.

Clearly, this was an unimaginable expert! He guarded the Sacred Scripture Pavilion every single day, so how could he not know what bone book where in there? The reason why he didn't give them to the little guy earlier was because he didn't want him to be too anxious. It could become problematic if he became too impatient for quick results.

This was a supreme expert, and one could assume that other disciples also received his guidance when they came to pick out scriptures. He was able to see through everything and pick out the most suitable scripture for each individual.

"The strongest precious technique of our school... Is actually the Heaven Mending Technique. Sadly it was lost in the ancient era. That battle was too horrible. Various saints fought to achieve dominance, the gods went crazy, even our master Guardian Spirit almost perished."

Elder Liu sighed. The white hair on his head was dishevelled, making him appear even older as he brooded about that battle.

Most of all, the Heaven Mending Pavilion was facing a crisis at the moment. There would soon be something shocking that was about to happen, so he appeared even more lonely now.

From that day onwards, the little guy started to cultivate the lightning style precious technique. He poured all his effort, mind and body into it, bathing himself in lightning daily as electricity danced all around his body.

He immersed himself within the methods of lightning, neglected all his needs and forgetting everything else. He used lightning to cleanse and purify his physical body, slowly refining his muscles and bones. He even spouted lightning with every breath.

“You have come.”

This was a spiritual mountain. The bristles of electricity emitted by lightning interweaved the sky above, dancing and striking madly and violently, akin to a vast expanse of ocean. This was the place of cultivation of the lightning elder Mu Yan .

There was only one hall on the entirety of the mountain peak, and it was releasing an immortal aura amidst the lightning. The lightning was one of the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s secret precious techniques, so it was naturally very important.

In addition, this place was deemed a sacred land. Normally, no one would even be allowed to visit.

The little guy came here in the past before to plead for Hairy Ball in an attempt to save him. This was his second time ascending the mountain to request an audience with the lightning elder. This time, he was asking for guidance about the secret precious technique.

“I humbly request for guidance.” The little guy said.

The lightning elder appeared mighty and powerful. His hair were as solid as iron needles, and when his eyelids opened, exceedingly terrifying lightning flickered. Even as he was speaking, electricity gushed out of his mouth and nose, bringing about a low rumble. This created a very frightening scene.

He made an effort to smile kindly as he said, “Wonderful, there will be a day where you will shine with extraordinary brightness, and your reputation spreading across the vast land. Perhaps you can even leave the great wastes to contend for more power.”

Although he looked very fierce, he treated the little guy with incomparable kindness. He carefully gave pointers, teaching all of what he understood without any hints of selfishness, allowing for the brat to advance immensely in his knowledge on lightning.

Chapter 187 – Lightning Tribulation

It was a period of harvest, as well as days of fulfillment. The little guy cultivated every day, and he was in high spirits as he enjoyed every single day.

Other than this, he would meet up with his various schoolmates to eat a large meal together. He would then tell Hairy Ball to go steal some jars of wine from the elders to enjoy; he was extremely content.

This was a joyous time, and no matter how many years pass, he would still never forget these years. They were forever embedded within his heart.

Many years later, even though many of these people will have long disappeared from this world, he would still be able to clearly recall their voices and smiles.

“You’ve lost, senior brothers, drink up.”

This was a night full of laughter. The group of people drank until they swayed back and forth. Even a few senior sisters were drinking. Their faces were flushed red, and were more delicate than flowers.

From the distance, Elder Xiong Fei’s voice echoed. “Damn it! Who stole my medicinal wine?! You better not let me find you!”

At the same time, that voice was accompanied by Elder Zhuo Yun’s curses. He was in an even more miserable state because only a few jars were left in his cellar; the rest were all stolen.

Towards this, the young girls and boys all laughed. Their small blushing faces were thrown into their drinking. They were all in joyous and incomparably happy moods.

“Sigh, we are about to go on different paths. We won’t know when we’ll meet again, so little juniors, you all must take care of yourselves.”

“Senior brothers and sisters, take care of yourselves as well!”

This wasn’t the first time he had to say his farewells. During this month, a few of the important disciples within the Heaven Mending Pavilion were sent elsewhere.

Departures were always emotional. Even though they were drunk and carefree; when the moment came, there was still sadness and full of unwillingness. After all, they have all lived here together for many years.

“Sooner or later, we will still come back!”

A group of senior sisters and brothers left, leaving behind the Heaven Mending Pavilion they knew so well for an unfamiliar land in hopes of avoiding the possible impending disaster.

The little guy also did not know how many groups of people he had sent off already. The majority of the genius camp was empty, and the disciples of the old monsters were even more scarce. There were only a few people left.

“Little junior brother, when are you leaving?”

“I will stay here and cultivate lightning techniques and leave after I get some success in it,” replied the little guy. He wanted Qingfeng to leave first, but Qingfeng was unwilling and wanted to wait until they could leave together.

Following that, he once again began to go into secluded training.

Honglong

The sounds of thunder were shocking, and lightning interweaved above a spiritual mountain. They cascaded down one after another like a waterfall, striking down on the symbols protecting the little guy. They blasted on his body, causing blood to flow from his mouth and blowing his body under a mountain cliff.

With a peng sound, even his powerful body couldn't handle it. He was in sharp pain, and he felt as if his bones were broken. His fall created a human shaped ditch in the cliff.

"Senior, not so hard ah." He grimaced in pain.

"When studying the lightning dao, one must diligently learn by using one's own bodies to gain experience. Without personally experiencing the nature of lightning, how would you understand its profound meanings and mysteries?"

The ancestral elder Mu Yan's hair were like steel needles. He was extremely bold and powerful without the slightest hint of being lenient. His palm shone, and another streak of erupting lightning flew out, sending the little guy flying.

Meanwhile, the ground was even more smashed apart. Ten thousand jin of boulders were turned into fine powder.

The little guy howled miserably. This was truly hellish training. Previously, he was only comprehending the essence of lightning technique symbols. Now, it was the real thing, and he was roughened up miserably during training.

"I will do my best to learn!" The little guy endured and resisted the lightning ancestor. His entire body lit up and golden symbols flickered. A Suan Ni form appeared, roaring before rushing forward.

"There is improvement, but it is still not enough. You have not yet reached your limit!" The old ancestor Mu Yan spoke. A river of lightning poured out and rushed over just from him opening his mouth.

With a hong sound, the Suan Ni was split open, shattering soon after. The golden lightning radiance danced about, razing this mountain forest to the ground without leaving anything behind.

“Lightning represents explosiveness and destruction. It is one of the most powerful offensive precious techniques. However, it still possesses vitality and can nurture new life. Right now, you only understand its destructive aspect.”

Mu Yan’s body was immersed in lightning. As he spoke, his aura became increasingly bold and powerful. It was almost as if it really carried a type of exuberant life force. Following that, lightning once again hacked its way over.

“I’m constantly being hacked at, so of course I would only know about the destructive parts of it.” The little guy wailed miserably while doing everything he could to defend. His small pair of arms were even turned golden as lightning hacked out in front of him streak after streak.

However, the disparity in their cultivation realms were too great. One was a member of the numbered experts within the Heaven Mending Pavilion and known as an ancestral elder. The other was merely a child, so how could the little guy be his opponent?

As a result, he was sent flying again by a streak of lightning that made his entire body emit black smoke. His hair stood straight up after being fried as the scent of flesh wafted out of his body.

“So fragrant!” In the distance. Second Baldy was joyful in the little guy’s misery. At the same time, he licked his lips with the intention of taking a bite.

“Indeed very sweet. I really want a bite.” The big red bird also spoke like that. This was one of the few occasion when their thoughts were similar.

Hong!

The little guy ran right over while handling lightning like a golden thunder god. He successfully released 18 streaks of lightning which all descended upon their bodies.

Ao...

The two birds cried miserably. Their feathers have been fried and their bodies were scorched back as they were sent flying across the air. Their bodies began to emit white smoke, and they started twitching.

“This hurts like hell!”

A rock tumbled about beside them this was precisely the divine striking stone. Although it was subjected to the lightning attack, it clearly was not in that much pain. This angered those two birds so much that they wanted to bite it.

Ao...

In the distance, the little guy started to scream wretchedly once again. This was the most miserable state that he had been in since he started his cultivation. Even ghostly grandpa wasn't this tyrannical when he was tidying him up. Right now, he was being violently bombed and ferociously smashed as many rays of electricity landed on his body.

An ordinary person would have been struck through and completely shattered by the lightning a long time ago. Even he was in incomparable pain as his entire body emitted a burnt smell, and it seemed like he was going to be cooked well-done soon.

This was a hellish training method that never ended. There had never been a moment that he was this impatient in trying to end the training. This was truly too painful.

"Your natural talents are very good. However, you have only tasted victory on your journey, and lack the humility of defeat. That's not good." Ancestral elder Mu Ya said.

The little guy. "..."

He genuinely did not know what to say in this situation. In the end, he could not help but yell, "I'm here to study thunder techniques, not to lose. I have to be above everyone else my entire life, and live without rivals from start to finish!"

"Very good, you have enough conviction. You have the tenacious nature to becoming a supreme expert. Here's another strike."

With a hong sound, over ten layers of electricity rolled over the ground like waves. The little guy let out a miserable shrieks that sounded like the wail of ghosts and howls of wolves. His entire body was in acute pain, and as soon as he opened his mouth, thunderous light began to surge up from his stomach.

This kind of torment, this kind of pain felt like he was being broken. This was truly too painful.

Just like this, he was hacked from dusk until dawn, and only then did lightning ancestor Mu Yan let him go. Mu Yan warned him that he could not be lazy, and that he had to go to the Sacred Storage Pavilion to flip through some ancient books.

The little guy was dismal, miserable, and burnt black all over. Every strand of hair had been fried until they were erect. Only his eyes were still bright; everywhere else was like coal. He was almost unrecognizable.

The big red bird and second baldy greeted him. They were instantly blasted flying by that darkened face because it was clear that these two were taking joy in his misery after seeing him in that state.

“Ai yo, Isn’t this our heaven warping martial god whose names will be renowned underneath the heavens, devilish brat?” Huo Ling’er walked over with her magnificent lithe and curvaceous figure. She had clearly heard the rumors that the little guy had been fixed up today as she came over just to watch this.

“Don’t provoke me!” As soon as the little guy opened his mouth, black smoke began to emit from his mouth. Even his gait was shaky since he was truly tormented to such a miserable state.

“Hahaha, why am I so happy? What happened, were you baked by someone? Have you had too many fillings of barbequed descendents every day and have met your retribution today?” Huo Ling’er’s skin was snow white, and her hair was jet black. There was a spiritual nature to her eyes as her pearly teeth lit up between her rosy lips. As she laughed, she swayed back and forth until her snow white neck, plump bosom, pretty waist and slender legs turned into captivating curves.

“Big fatty!” The little guy stared at her.

The laughter came to an immediate halt. Huo Ling’er hated those words the most. She was so flustered that she said, “Everyone come and tidy him up together!”

This time, she came prepared. She got into contact with a group of junior sisters to fiercely lecture and beat him when the devilish brat had sustained an injury.

In a split second, symbols scattered, and multicolored light glittered as they submerged the little guy within. The group of female disciples started to smile mischievously as they helped Huo Ling'er lecture him.

The big red bird and second baldy were extremely unbrotherly as they instantly scampered away. They did not take any actions at all, and disappeared in the blink of an eye.

Hou...

A Suan Ni that was particularly powerful and majestic howled. Its entire body blazed with a golden sheen as it broke all of the symbols. Then, it opened its large mouth and ferociously spouted out thunder towards every direction.

Suddenly, cries began to echo through the air. Everyone was shocked that the heavily injured little guy was even scarier than normal. He was incredibly tough as the thick lightning immediately sent many female disciples rolling across the floor.

If this was a true fight to the death, they would have all met destruction.

The reality was that after the devilish brat had been beaten up for an entire day, his body was full of lightning that the lightning elder Mu Yan put inside him, and they were being released by him at this moment. It just so happened that as this lightning struck, everything had been released.

Huo Ling'er wanted to run, but was overtaken by the devilish brat and instantly knocked onto the ground as he started his unbridled robbery.

Up until the moment the savage child had left, Huo Ling'er was still shrieking miserably. She was extremely angry that she suffered losses every single time, making her very depressed.

"Junior sister, change into another dress quickly." A senior sister came and quietly reminded her. Everyone else's expressions were strange as well.

"What happened?" Hou Ling'er was suspicious.

Suddenly, she turned her head and immediately let out a shriek as she gnashed her teeth in anger.

Today, she wore a pure white dress that danced in the winds above the earth.

It was otherworldly beautiful like a fairy riding the winds.

However, when she straightened herself, her rounded buttocks had a streak of very neat little dark claws imprinted onto them.

“That wretched devilish brat!” She was incomparably humiliated.

When that little thief knocked her over, he patted her everywhere, and this spot was the clearest. The black handprints were very prominent; at this moment, she felt a rude scorching pain.

Huo Ling’er was frantic, but she... could not beat the devilish brat. Every time that she wanted to tidy him up, she was knocked over. That guy was truly shameless.

“Big fatty, you’re still not my opponent if you want to fight me.” In the distance, the little guy muttered to himself as he hobbled into the Sacred Storage Pavilion.

He was miserably tidied up by the lightning ancestor, and he was now in deep pain all over. Even though walking was strenuous for him, he did not slack off. He still listened to the advice and came to the Sacred Storage Pavilion to read.

It was clear that this place was much more spacious than before. Ninety percent of the bones books were carried away to somewhere else.

“Go read them quickly. After several months, you have pretty much read all the scriptures in the Sacred Storage Pavilion. There are only a few left.” Elder Liu said with a kind smile.

“Thank you uncle.” The little guy was emotional. Clearly, elder Liu left behind the scriptures that he had not yet read, and had others carry away the books that he had read.

“Don’t thank me. I don’t have the time to dilly dally over you. It’s just that when they came to take the books away, I tried to get them to take away the ones that you have read as much as I can. However, several techniques had been taken away. The most precious things cannot be left until last. If you have the chance in the future, you can learn it then. Also, I feel like the thunder technique you’re training in is enough; it is more powerful than those other techniques.

The little guy grimaced in pain. It was tough for him to sit down, so he stood up as he read and flipped through the bone books.

“How come you look so miserable?” Elder Liu was all smiles. He was very kind, completely different from the lightning ancestor.

“Ai, I’ve been dealt with too severely. Ever since I was born, I have not suffered a defeat, but I was almost beaten to death today.” The little guy sighed as he creased his little black face.

Elder Liu could not help but smile and said, “He did it for your benefit, allowing you to understand the aura of life within electricity. It isn’t only for destructions, and in order to take your lightning techniques to a higher level, you must thoroughly understand of its profound mysteries. Don’t worry, even though Mu Yan’s nature is unyielding and his temperament fiery like lightning, tidying you up like this will definitely bring you endless benefits.”

During the following month, the little guy screamed and howled in grief every single day. He even attracted the attention of many Heaven Mending Pavilion disciples. The process of tidying up the savage child was very appealing to everyone else; it was even more exciting that watching beauties. Little by little, this started to become a point of attraction.

The little guy was almost as gloomy as he could be. Why was he always being beaten up? If he could beat Mu Yan, he would even go up and bite him a few times.

Of course, during the process of getting beaten up, his understanding of lightning had advanced by leaps and bounds. Furthermore, he finally got into touch with the mysteries of life contained within lightning.

However, it was very faint and unclear. If he carefully tried to feel it, he would only be able to vaguely experience it.

“What? You felt that strand of life?” Ancestral elder Mu Yan was shocked after hearing it.

“What happened?” The little guy was suspicious after being beaten up by this old man every single day. Didn’t he mention that you had to comprehend this slim trace of life? How come he became so shocked all of a sudden?

Very quickly, the guard of the Sacred Storage Pavilion was also alarmed and quickly rushed over. His voice trembled and said, "Can you really capture the strand of life within lightning? This is miraculous. Truly a heaven warping talent!"

"Why does that matter? Didn't you tell me to make an effort to feel it? After being hacked by thunder everyday, I have to think of some way to save my life. It seems that I touched upon that aura slightly." The little guy said

"In the future, there will be hope for our secret precious technique," Elder Liu said as he affectionately rubbed the little guy's head

Lightning elder Mu Yan's face also turned red as he continuously nodded.

The little guy quickly opened his eyes wide as he roared towards lightning elder and said, "Could it be that you haven't experienced it yourself yet? Did you really beat me all day just for me to experience it myself?"

The devilish was almost angry to the max. This was truly being too much of a bully.

"Your talents are better than mine. It's suitable for it to be deemed as heaven defying." Lightning ancestor's face was thoroughly red.

"You're too hateful!" The little guy jumped and stomped with thoughts of rebellion.

However, with a kacha sound, a patch of thunderous light descended upon and submerged him. He was shocked to the point of crying miserably as he instantly spouted out lightning from his nose and mouth, unable to shout again.

"A heavenly talent must be cherished. For another person, it's impossible for him or her to experience the life within the destructive force of lightning throughout their entire life. You have now planted a seed. In the future, you will undoubtedly have huge success within the dao of lightning. You can become a supreme expert!" Elder Liu said.

"After a few days, we'll wait for a thunderstorm and take you to steal the divine liquid of heavenly essence. It will be greatly beneficial for you." Lightning ancestor said.

Since the little guy could vaguely feel it, Mu Yan felt he could attempt it. In the past, he spent countless months and years, and suffered heavy injuries in order to seize only one drop which he sacrificed to the old vine.

Now it was different. The devilish brat had genuinely reached a checkpoint. Perhaps he could steal another drop within the thunderstorm.

Elder Liu heard and immediately revealed a solemn expression. He knew that lightning ancestor was going to risk his life. How could the divine liquid be that simple to obtain? Perhaps he was going to lose his mortal form because of this.

“You have to remember Mu Yan’s kindness.” Elder Liu gently sighed, because these actions could easily make him lose his life. Lightning elder Mu Yan’s intentions were to try his best to make this child succeed.

The little guy nodded. He felt the seriousness of the situation, and did not dare to say anything

Chapter 188 – Divine Liquid

The rainy day arrived. Originally, it was just a dimming of the skies until a light drizzle pattered down.

Not long after, the dark clouds rushed forth until they converged into a large black mass, hovering in the air. The rain poured down with greater intensity, creating small rivers on the earth.

The sky immediately darkened, as if night instantly descended. One couldn't see their own fingers if they reached out their hands. In reality, it should have still been daytime.

The world was pitch-black, and rain poured down densely.

Honglong!

The sky shook, and golden snakes filled the atmosphere, lighting up the pitch-black heavens. They scattered down their radiance as heavy rain battered down; this world was being flooded by water.

It was the rainy season, and so the abrupt appearance of thunderstorms was not too unusual. However, when it was accompanied by such terrifying lightning, it was quite shocking. Within the great wastelands, all sorts of vicious birds and fierce beasts went into seclusion in fear of meeting disaster.

This was because if some intelligent creatures became too heaven defying, they could bring about lightning on themselves that destroyed everything. Examples of this included the thunderbolt tree and ancient witch; the instances of this wasn't few.

Two figures stood within the curtain of rain ten li outside of the Heaven Mending Pavilion, one big and small. When the storm descended, they put on their rain jackets as they gazed upwards. These two were precisely Mu Yan and the little guy. They were waiting for an opportunity. If they were to go in when the powerful lightning struck, their flesh would be turned into ashes and lose everything. They had to wait until the storm subsided a bit.

Furthermore, liquid thunder could only be created during the twilight moments of the final lightning strikes.

This was genuine thunder and lightning from the nine heavens. They represented the transcendent might of heaven and earth, and was extremely difficult to resist. Compared to electricity used by living beings, it was several folds more powerful

Finally, the rain began to subside and the thunderclouds rushed forth. Those blazing lightning bolts were no longer that ferocious, and they could finally look for liquid thunder.

“This is the moment!” Lightning ancestor Mu Yan said.

He stepped on a precious artifact and dragged the little guy with him as they rushed into the skies towards that rolling black cloud. They were searching for the secret contained within thunder and lightning to track down this divine liquid.

The sky was dark, and the electricity within the black clouds were flickering. Although they were not as violent as before, they were still very terrifying. They were especially frightening when they fell beside them.

The sudden thunderous light made people unable to open their eyes. As they watched from this distance, it made their heads numb and all the hairs on their bodies stand straight up.

The little guy screamed on the spot, “I’ve been delivered here to be struck by lightning. Why am I so unlucky!”

“Stop saying rubbish. Put your efforts into finding the single strand of life contained within all this destruction.” Lightning ancestor reprimanded.

The little guy was pitiful. He opened his eyes to gaze at all this terrifying thunder and lightning. His little heart immediately started beating crazily because he was truly too nervous. If he made a single mistake, his body and soul was going to be destroyed.

After the thunderstorm, this black cloud indeed contained the indescribable aura of life that was within this thundercloud. As soon as it was physically touched, it would invoke a destructive force.

“Carefully perceive it. Do not make a mistake.” Mu Yan said.

From destruction emerges new life, and from the thunderstorm comes development. A newborn qi trickle made the little guy widen his eyes. He could finally sense it! If he did not reach this realm, he would not have been able to comprehend this type of profound mystery. However, even though he could sense it, he couldn't seize it.

"It's there!" He pointed his fingers ahead of him.

Hong, a streak of incredibly thick thunder immediately submerged these two.

"Ah..." The little guy wretchedly screamed.

Even the lightning ancestor's body swayed heavily as blood dripped out of his mouth. He withstood the majority of the lightning strike and suffered heavy injuries when he stood in front of the little guy.

"I got it. You can just leave for now," Mu Yan said.

Even though they suffered injuries, everything was progressing smoothly. They were able to sense that strand of life as soon as they went up, so it went much better than when the lightning ancestor tried to feel it out by risking his own life.

Previously, he spent countless amounts of time to obtain only one drop of liquid thunder. The cost of that was unimaginable.

Comparatively, today went by too smoothly.

He threw the little guy down and let him descend at his own pace. Then lightning ancestor turned and rushed into clouds, attracting the striking lightning.

"Senior, be careful!" The little guy descended using his golden dragon shears to support himself. He then warned in a loud voice after he was quite a distance away.

"You go back!" Mu Yan shouted. His hair and beard spread out as he charged into the thunder. He instantly encountered a heavy strike, and his entire body began to blaze with an electrical light.

"So terrifying!"

The little guy's heart shook and his body jumped. The lightning ancestor's carefully prepared battle armor instantly broke into pieces and turned into dust. The might of the world was indeed very terrifying.

Lightning elder's entire body shone as he stepped into the thunder. His body shook incessantly on the spot when he was struck. However, after many years of cultivating in the laws of thunder, his comprehension was deep, so he did not fiercely resist it. He used his own thunder techniques to redirect the electricity elsewhere.

However, this thunder from the nine heavens had intelligence. It fiercely hacked in an instant like a surging ocean wave, making his body tremble non-stop as he tumbled outwards.

Mu Yan's expression changed as he was once again put into this life and death trial. Going into thunder and lightning was equivalent to stepping into the abyss of hell. This was not a confrontation between fellow cultivators, but rather encountering a true heavenly might!

Hong!

Lightning descended and hacked him until his mouth began to spout fresh blood and his body burnt black. Even though he handled thunder and lightning on a daily basis, being a master of these precious techniques was not enough. He was still unable to bear the true force of heaven.

The thunder was like a waterfall as it torrented down from above, submerging Mu Yan within. His body trembled, and his mouth spouted blood. The precious armor he wore on his body had been turned into ashes long ago, so he had to bear this destructive pain.

"Senior!"

The little guy was fearful. This was too difficult, and any move could cause a horrible death and conclude his act.

Mu Yan was persistent. He activated his precious artifact and charged forward, shouting as symbols interweaved about him. He wanted to refine this sea of thunder to capture that single strand of life to extract this liquid thunder.

Ka!

Lightning ancestor was once again struck flying. His body was ragged as patches of burn marks appeared all over his body. He was constantly coughing as thunderous light was spouting from his seven apertures.

The little guy could no longer witness this while under the clouds. Within the thunder, Mu Yan was charging forward step by step and constantly suffering injuries. That was an area of destruction; no matter how powerful a being was, in the face of heavenly might, they seemed insignificant and powerless! He forced himself through the adversity and got up after falling down once again. He activated his precious artifact and constantly advanced in order to refine a single strand of life here.

“That is... such a powerful life force!”

Cracks appeared over the lightning ancestor’s body. He was burnt black from top to bottom, but his eyes were blossoming with a blazing radiance. He saw a pond that contained a mist circulating about it.

“An exuberant life force... transformed into a divine pond. This can give birth to liquid thunder!”

His heart trembled. He had never seen this kind of pond before. There were only records of these in ancient books. The last time he obtained a drop of divine liquid was the result of many years of refining.

“Ah...” Mu Yan shouted loudly. His shoulders were pierced, and his bones were almost exposed. His fresh red blood trickled out, then immediately turned black.

This was a trial that was hellish towards men. Every step forward needed a steep price. This was anxiety inducing and unbearable to watch.

Hong

Lightning and thunder rolled, and that misty pond turned fuzzy. Its insides flickered with multicolored light as strands after strands of life force filled the air. This was the most dangerous spot inside the thunder.

Mu Yan suffered heavy injuries, and experienced countless trials. His body was all worn out, but he continued to advance. His entire body was on the verge of falling apart and perishing.

The little guy was overwhelmed as he gripped his fists tightly. The abyss of thunder was too terrifying, and it still was not the part where it was the most violent yet. They had selected a special opportunity to enter it, but it was still like this.

The scary thing was the thunder was condensing and the lightning was interweaving; its power gradually increased.

These moments felt like days and years; it felt so endlessly long since this concerned the life and death of a person. Finally, Mu Yan walked in front of it and seized a strand of life.

His flesh started splitting apart at this moment as his bloodstained body fell down after suffering unimaginable injuries.

The little guy speedily rushed forward and caught him as he was falling towards earth. A fierce stream of electricity hacked from behind and struck him as well. His entire body was filled with bristles of electricity, and he was experiencing such intense pain that he was on the verge of breaking apart.

One must know that this was the residual thunder that was already weakened.

“Quickly, help me refine this liquid thunder!” Mu Yan shouted.

The symbols within him dimmed, and his essence energy was practically depleted; he was staying conscious on but one breath. On his palms was a lump of purple mist that was going to scatter away at any time.

The little guy quickly made his move. He took out his Suan Ni mirror and released a thunder that fixed the purple gas in place. Then he refined it using all his energy.

At the same time, he took out two stalks of spirit medicine for Mu Yan to take in order to recover his energy.

Finally, after a Weng Long sound, Mu Yan fiercely resisted the pain and restored some of his essence energy. He started to carefully refine and condense the purple gas. Thunderous light rumbled until it turned into a drop of liquid.

“Success!” He was extremely happy. He collected it within a jade jar, and the jar immediately began to circulate with a purple mist, becoming transparent.

One could feel that there was a powerful life force fluctuating there. Despite being just a small drop of liquid, its life force and aura was incomparably shocking.

They descended onto the ground, and Mu Yan immediately fell there. He did not have even a little bit of energy left. His injuries were too heavy, and many of his bones were exposed and burnt black.

“Senior, you’re fine right?” The little guy was worried.

“No harm, keep this jar of divine liquid well. Although it’s only one drop, its value is priceless. This will allow you to become more intimate with thunder and lightning, so its benefits towards cultivation is great.” Mu Yan said.

In reality, apart from containing a life force, liquid thunder also contained an incomparable amount of spiritual energy that was most suited for comprehending the dao and making breakthroughs. It was genuinely a priceless treasure.

How many people could obtain it? No matter who it was, he or she did not dare to venture within thunder to look for it.

“Senior, your injuries are too heavy, take this liquid thunder quick. Otherwise your life will be in danger.” The little guy pushed away the divine liquid.

“Don’t worry, I can’t die. After eating those two stalks of precious medicine, there’s not much wrong with me anymore. I hope that this liquid thunder will build your foundations for the thunder dao. It can’t be wasted.”

No matter how he persuaded, Mu Yan would not use it. He stuffed the jar into the little guy’s hands, and made him immediately refine it to comprehend the mysteries of thunder.

The little guy had no other options but to receive it. He took out some little devil wine for Mu Yan to drink. This was brewed from over ten types of spirit medicine; it had divine effects, and could heal injuries.

Lightning ancestor laughed. With this stuff here, he could naturally recover. This had supreme healing effects.

The little guy sat down cross-leggedly to take this drop of divine liquid. Instantly, he was submerged by an astonishing life force, and thunder dao laws appeared as symbols flickered.

“Hou....”

An incredibly majestic golden Suan Ni stood up behind him and roared. A layer of purple mist shrouded this vicious beast, and all the scales on its body began to resonate, beginning to suddenly transform.

In the end, this golden Suan Ni was dyed in a layer of purple, and symbols adorned its body.

The little guy's aura strengthened several folds. Thunder laws interweaved as an ancient symbol formed, evolving into a most terrifying and powerful form of thunder and lightning.

He sat there cross-legged for a day and night until he finally opened his eyes. Suddenly, thunderous light shot out of his body.

Behind him was a Suan Ni wearing purple stripes as it roared towards the heavens. It was incredibly huge, and many folds more powerful than it had previously been. As it opened its mouth to roar, a rumbling noise sounded, and a streak of lightning flew out, connecting the heaven and earth.

“I can only pass on these thunder laws to you. The rest will rely on your own cultivation.” Mu Yan sighed.

The little guy's cultivation here had come to an end. His Suan Ni's precious technique had transformed and became several times more powerful than before. This became one of his trump cards; its power was extreme strong and tough, containing the aura of destruction.

A volcano appeared in front and sucked the Suan Ni inside. The vicious beast turned into a symbol as it undulated within the nourishing magma.

Chapter 189 – Doomsday

With the formation of the lightning dao precious technique, the little guy seemed to have a new type of force about him. The tyranny of lightning represented a supreme power, and as it accumulated within his body, it raised a type of unique aura.

Of course, this was only one of his precious techniques, and did not affect his true temperament. The only thing different about him was that his glistening eyes contained more determination.

His head of black hair scattered about. He now cultivated two great precious techniques that had evolved from two of his original divine abilities in order to become more formidable and robust.

The Little Devil Wine's effects were extremely great, creating strand after strand of multicolored light that flew about Mu Yan's body. His bones created pipa sounds, and his flesh moved about rhythmically. He was currently growing new bones and reforming his body.

Originally, he was on the verge of death, but now he was being pulled back. The Little Devil Wine that was slowly refined out of ten different types of spiritual medicines had tyrannical and violent medicinal effects, accelerating the connection of tendons and recovery of bones.

After a full day and night of carefully circulating symbols while seated, Mu Yan finally recovered. There were no longer any major hindrances to his body; being able to live this time could be considered another miracle.

"Truly formidable. To be fortunate enough to drink the legendary Little Devil Wine, it truly makes this old one feel pleased." Mu Yan laughed heartily.

The little guy was moved. Even though the lightning ancestor's temperament was fiery and his attitude was harsh as he made the little guy endure such hellish training for the past month, he was still truly a good person. He almost threw away his life for the little guy.

"Very good." When they returned to the Heaven Mending Pavilion, Elder Liu also nodded and revealed a joyous expression.

“What kind of place is the Archaic Sacred Courtyard?! Is it some place I can enter?” The little guy asked.

The two elders both sighed and shook their heads.

“That place is actually a small domain. It had existed from the ancient era until now, and only opens once every hundred years. Insights and imprints passed down by saints exist within that place.”

“It is different from the Hundred Shattering Mountains. The Sacred Courtyard only opens up for few select individuals.”

The two were extremely regretful. If not for Shi Yi being a heaven warping genius, surpassing their expectations and directly forcing his way in, they would have done anything to get the little guy in there.

It had already closed, and regardless of what they did, it was too late.

As for when it decided to open, it did not have a set time. Even if the Heaven Mending Pavilion no longer existed, that Ancient Sacred Courtyard would have still remained unaffected. It would only show itself in front of the people when the time comes.

“Perhaps there might be some knowledge left behind by ancestors there, and you have a chance at obtaining an immense opportunity. However, everything has an equal trade off. Your path of cultivation will be smoother, but cultivation is ultimately about tempering your body and self. If you go through this route, you will lose the process.”

“How about this. I’ll just make my way across this mortal path and walk forward step by step.” The little guy nodded his head.

During the following days, the little guy studied the precious techniques and flipped through the bone books. Every day, he would chant the sutras, and after consolidating everything he had gained in the past half year, his body became increasingly stronger.

“Why did this guy have a change of heart? If it were the past, he wouldn’t have been able to sit still and would have created a huge mess already.” The big red bird was muttering.

“He spends the entire day chanting sutras, and as soon as he sits down, he won’t get up until the day is over. He really is like a buddhist on the path of ascension.” Second baldy sighed as he spoke.

Chila

A streak of lightning flew over. The two individuals' bodies lit up before emitting black smoke. They fell onto the ground and began to twitch.

"Why is that fellow's ears so sharp? It seems like he can hear us no matter how far away we are." The two were furious.

The little guy's lightning technique was released. Its power had risen sharply, and was now worthy of being considered a top level precious technique. If he was confronting anyone seriously, he would naturally become even more terrifying.

"Little junior brother, something is going on." At this moment, some people came searching for him.

"What happened?" The little guy widened his eyes and stood up.

"These days, there have been several figures wandering around outside our mountain gate. We caught one of them, and it was actually someone from the Kun Clan that rushed over for you!" A senior brother informed.

The little guy frowned. The Four Great Clans Li, Yuan, Kun, and Meng had a conflict with the little guy within the Void God Realm. Therefore, they wanted to kill him in the Hundred Shattering Mountains and get their revenge on him, but in the end they were wiped clean instead.

Now, another one of them appeared; these were truly souls of deceased that refused to disperse.

"Nothing to worry about. Do not fear, junior disciple. Our Heaven Mending Pavilion is always united. If junior brother has any issues, we will all make our moves as well. If the situation gets out of hand, the elders within our school won't just watch from the side with folded arms." A group of senior brothers walked over.

"Thank you seniors." The little guy was thankful.

"What are you all waiting for? Go and slaughter your way out! Let them see how powerful our Heaven Mending Pavilion is!" The Big Red Bird yelled out fiercely, forgetting that it wasn't even a disciple of the Heaven Mending Pavilion.

“Let’s find out some information first and see just what kind of people came,” the little guy said. He told the Big Red Bird to look around. This guy was born to be a thief, and by using its extreme speed, it was most suited for scouting out information.

Soon after, the Big Red Bird was like a supernatural being that appeared and vanished. It brought over the news that there were quite a few people outside the mountain gate. The situation was precarious, as there were people from all different schools here.

The little guy frowned, because the situation wasn’t looking so good. They clearly came with the Heaven Mending Pavilion as their target, and all of them were trying to pry out information.

“The Li, Yuan, Kun, and Meng four clans have all come. They came here because of you. They are gnashing their teeth in anger, and have already received the news that you exterminated all of their people within the Hundred Shattering Mountains,” the big red bird said.

“Inform the elders first, then we’ll take action.” One of the brothers spoke.

A total of ten people came from the four great clans, so the Heaven Mending Pavilion disciples were enough to deal with them. However, they contacted the seniors just in case.

“I’ll go look for them.” Wufeng’s voice sounded. The genius camp still had a small amount of people. Most of them were ordinary disciples, but there were a few of the old monsters’ disciples who had not yet left.

Not much time passed before roughly a hundred troops were dragged out. Among them, there was no lack of senior brothers and sisters that were more than twenty years old. All of them were at least ten years old and were extremely powerful.

The little guy was shocked; the Heaven Mending Pavilion truly moved as one! They simply called out once, yet there were immediately this many people. If the disciples did not leave, just how many thousands of people would have come?

“Thank you senior brothers and sisters.” He expressed his gratitude.

“Savage little brother, don’t mention it. We cannot let any of our disciples from the Heaven Mending Pavilion be bullied. We will change the minds of anyone who dared to act errantly in front of our gates.”

“That’s right. Even if it had been any other disciples, we would have acted this way as well.”

The little guy looked at those twenty years old or so senior brothers and sisters as well as those who were similar ages or a bit older than him. He instantly understood the meaning of a school, and gained a sense of belonging.

Although he did not feel any fear, he still felt the warmth of being protected by all the senior brothers and sisters and experienced the harmonious and candid nature of a school.

“Go, give them a lesson. Since they dare to act atrociously at our Heaven Mending Pavilion and bully our junior brother, go sweep them away!”

A vast amount of people rushed towards the gates with the moxie of tigers and wolves. Symbols filled the heavens as they instantly swamped the four clans with their attacks.

It was similarly beautifully outside the mountain gates with its pleasant scenery. There were some medicinal fields belonging to the school there, and there were normally taken care of by some people but had been somewhat neglected lately.

The people from the four great clans were stupefied. So many people had rushed forth, scaring them instantly. Then, they quickly counterattacked before retreating.

In the end, this was the Heaven Mending Pavilion. If they truly wanted to make a huge ruckus, they would have to bear with the consequences. They only came here to wait for an opportunity. It would have been great to eliminate that devilish brat, but it was not the end of the world if they weren’t able to do so.

Their primary goal was to investigate the real situation inside the Heaven Mending Pavilion because of the sudden restlessness in the rest of the world. Word got out that this ancient pure land might be going under a huge change, and many huge clans were trying to take advantage of the situation.

The secrets held by an ancient pure land were deep. If they were truly defeated, the leftover things would allow many clans to abruptly rise to the top. This invoked the greed out of many sects.

Honglong

A streak of lightning hacked forth from the little guy that instantly landed on over ten people in front of him, turning them into coal.

“Little kid, you actually dare to come out!” Some people were furious. A middle-aged man was anxious, because his child was among the people who had just died. He immediately turned around with killing intent.

Clearly this was an expert, and with his cultivation realm, he would be able to suppress many youths.

“No matter who it is, if you come to our Heaven Mending Pavilion to act so atrociously, we will kill you all!” A senior brother around 26 years old spoke from the rear. He jumped to the sky and threw down a blazing symbol that covered the entire area where the middle-aged man was.

With a hong sound, the precious techniques collided. That thirty year old or so middle-aged man was actually no match. He spouted out a large mouthful of blood and flew straight out. Then, he exploded in midair before transforming into a lump of ash.

“It’s senior brother Lin Mu. He has not left yet and stayed within the school!” Many people were astonished, then exulted.

He was a powerful genius who had entered the school over ten years ago. He had extreme prestige, and were liked amongst all his junior brothers and sisters.

“Little demon, you’re too excessive. Heaven Mending Pavilion is gradually rotting and will soon fall to pieces, yet you still dare to be so insolent. Hand over your life!”

The silhouettes of people flew. Three elders showed up in succession and attacked. One of them wanted to capture the little guy, another was suppressing and attacking senior brother Lin Mu, and the last one was killing the core disciples of the school.

They were all extremely terrifying experts whose methods were excellent. They charged into the group of people, and suddenly exploded forth in a truly terrifying fashion.

“No matter how much Heaven Mending Pavilion is declining, we still won’t tolerate your insolence!” At this precise moment, a few figures appeared as they streaked across the sky to attack ahead.

These were precisely the elders of the school. The group of youth were not reckless. Before they had came out, they had already reported this to the school as preparation.

Hong Long

In only a few encounters, the entire sky was filled with symbols. Then, blood blossomed and splashed outwards as the elders from the four great clans were killed. They were absolutely not a match for the elders of the Heaven Mending Pavilion.

“Kill!”

Over a hundred disciples charged forward like a torrential flood. They trapped the people and horses of the four clans, and started to suppress them.

In the end, lightning elder, Mu Yan, had personally showed up to personally carry out the extermination. He released a clasp of thunder and over ten rays of lightning shot forth that completely submerged the mountain and earth. Even the experts of the four clans who had started escaping a while ago were exploded into ashes.

“Those who dare to offend Heaven Mending Pavilion will not be spared!” He floated in mid air, and thunder and lightning interweaved around him as his shouts shook every direction.

Secretly, many powerful people were shocked, and they all took a step backwards; they did not dare to approach. Even though Heaven Mending Pavilion did not have its former glory, they were still a school that should not be provoked by ordinary people.

The little guy’s mind was nice and warm. He felt very excited, because this was the warmth provided by a school. Everyone had united together, giving him more of a feeling of belonging.

“There wasn’t even an opportunity for me to show off.” The big red bird was upset as it was not able to steal a single precious artifact.

his battle ended quickly. It was like breaking rotten wood and pulling apart rotten weeds. As soon it as started, it quickly ended.

Day after day passed by, and there were fewer and fewer disciples inside the school. Geniuses such as Xiao Tian, Yan Xin and others like them in particular were finally sent off.

Ordinary disciples from this generation alone numbered 3000; there were truly too many of them. Finally, the school decided to return to each of their respective tribes. Those who truly did not want to leave could remain, but they were transferred elsewhere.

Departures were destined to be sad. If they separated now, they might not see each other again for the rest of their lives.

The little guy had sent off group after group of senior brothers and sisters. Every person who had left pinched his little cheeks, telling him to cultivate with everything he had. In the future he would stand between the heaven and earth, surpassing all Guardian Spirits.

When that moment comes, even if Heaven Mending Pavilion did not have that divine gourd anymore, they would still not fear the outside world.

“Being so savage when you’re this young, we have our eyes on you. Work hard!”

One face after another, familiar and strange individuals all had very high hopes for him. They were still very optimistic and hopeful even during these moments as impending catastrophes were about to hit their school.

The little guy and Qingfeng had been sent off as well because the truly couldn’t procrastinate any longer. The Guardian Spirit’s state was far from reassuring. Some of its leaves started to wither; it truly couldn’t persevere any longer.

However, just when they were about to leave, Mu Yan and elder Liu frowned. At the last moment, they received some worrying news, and did not let this group of people leave.

Two days later, a terrifying news spread out. Heaven Mending Pavilion’s pavilion master immediately spat out a mouthful of fresh blood. He could not help but let out a sorrowful howl.

Mu Yan’s entire body was covered in electricity. He flipped over a spiritual mountain as he roared into the sky like a crazy and angry lion.

Even elder Liu who seemed like he was never awake was also furious as an oppressive ray of light shot out of his eyes. He was so angry that he spat of a mouthful of blood.

All the high levelled individuals from Heaven Mending Pavilion was trembling. Everyone went crazy. They could not tolerate this, and their blood and energy boiled.

There were news that out of the seven strongholds that Heaven Mending Pavilion had established years ago, three of them were taken out. There were disastrous damages to the number of disciples and experts there as they were practically eliminated.

This was a careful operation that had been prepared several hundreds of years ago, and everything was in secret. Those who were sent to the seven strongholds were the true elites from their schools.

This kind of loss was too huge. There was no way to bear this.

“Is the heavens trying to make my Heaven Mending Pavilion disappear?” Some elders sorrowfully cried as tears fell out of their eyes.

When the little guy hear the news, he was astonished before becoming extremely sad. Not long ago, he just saw many senior brothers and sisters off. He never could have thought that they would forever be separated in the blink of an eye.

He still remembered when they stole the elders’ wine and got drunk together. When they were drunk, everyone was noisy and bustling as they talked about rebuilding the pure land in the future. Not a long time had passed since this at all, yet they were now already separated forever.

There were many senior brothers and sisters that he did not know. Those who helped him battle the people from the four clans made him feel warm. They had all hoped that the Heaven Mending Pavilion would become stronger again because this place was a place like home.

He never could have imagined that after such a short time, he would already never be able to see these people ever again.

He touched his own little face and could practically still feel his senior brothers and sisters’ pinching sensations, encouragements and hopes. However, they were quickly separated like the sun and the moon.

Three out of the seven strongholds had been eliminated. Almost half of the people who were transferred from the Heaven Mending Pavilion had died. Furthermore, those remaining four pure lands were not exactly safe.

Now, those remaining people from the school could no longer continue their journey forward.

The entire Heaven Mending Pavilion was submerged with grief.

“As long as a spark remains, it could become the start of a prairie fire in the future.” In the depth of the pure land, a sigh echoed out from the Guardian Spirit’s resting grounds.

The divine vine recovered. Its entirely green glow reached the heavens. Its words were calm without any happiness, anger, sorrow or joy. The voice practically carried no emotion as it said, “I have decided to leave behind a divine seed. In the future it will protect the new Heaven Mending Pavilion.”

“Master Guardian Spirit!” Everyone was mournful. At this point, they had no way changing the past. The Guardian Spirit’s life had reached the end; a miraculous revival was impossible.

“Master Guardian Spirit, please point us to our road ahead!” Many people grieved.

“Kill your way ahead. As long as one person remains, Heaven Mending Pavilion will not die. There will eventually be a day of revival.” The Guardian Spirit said. It had survived from the ancient era until now and experienced too many things. For the sake of protecting the pure land, it had to pay an extremely heavy price.

Now, it rose from the ground. Green clouds rushed into the heavens as strands after strands of orderly divine chains interweaved and filled the sky. It began to speak. “The battle has started. My enemies are coming.”

Terrifying auras surged in the distance. There were divine halos shrouding the skies as supreme experts looked disdainfully towards the world. Many golden passages stretched towards this direction from over tens of thousands of li away, and it seemed as if the heavens were descending.

In addition, endless people surrounded the Heaven Mending Pavilion from all directions. There were all sorts of creatures in addition to humans that wanted to divide up this place.

“Go, let’s kill our way ahead. As long as one of us survives, Heaven Mending Pavilion will not die!” The elders from the school shouted loudly as hot tears welled up between their cloudy old eyes.

Chapter 190

“Follow me. All of you must live.” One of the elders warned repeatedly. Following that, he roared loudly and began to open up a route as he killed his way out.

There were numerous people outside Heaven Mending Pavilion. In addition to humans, there were many other types of creatures. They were all waiting for an opportunity because once a great holy pure land such as this collapsed, the divines treasures left behind would definitely be amazing.

Additionally, there were still huge opportunities they were looking forward to. There hadn't been a chance like this for eons. For this reason, many clans had brought their younger generations over.

“Some of the aristocratic children are currently within that pure land, and they definitely hold a major advantage”

“Even the human emperor's heart shook with greed and began to scheme for the benefit of his daughter. It seems that this can't be fake!”

Outside the heaven Mending Pavilion, countless creatures had appeared and surrounded the area. They already began to move, preparing to rush in and kill everyone.

Hong!

The battle immediately erupted, and symbols interweaved. The body of the elder that charged out from the Heaven Mending Pavilion first was quickly turned bloody. He suffered heavy injuries because there were too many people who came Behind him, the group of disciples' faces changed. This route was no longer an option because it was completely blocked.

“Kill! We will break through them there!”

Ten or so elders were opening up a path from another direction. All of them were bathed in blood as they activated their precious artifacts. They forced open a bloody path and carried a group of disciples out of the siege.

“No one is allowed to leave!” From the distance, an elder roared loudly. He descended from the air while stepping on a piece of ancient beast skin. The golden divine sword in his hands hacked down as he descended.

Hong!

The mountains collapsed and the great rivers’ routes were skewed. No one knew how tyrannical that sword was, but it sliced apart the great land and created a black slit in the great earth. The corpses of many disciples were buried within, and several elders also lost their lives.

“Tuoba family, you all came after all!”

Within the Heaven Mending Pavilion, a lion roar rang out. The lightning ancestor’s hair were all spread out like iron needles. Electric radiance curled up around his entire body while he wielded a divine hammer. He stepped on a divine feather and quickly charged.

With a honglong sound, the purple-colored divine hammer lit up and hacked out a thick streak of lightning, forcing that individual back. After that, the lightning ancestor rushed up violently.

The Tuoba family almost founded an ancient country during the Archaic era; however, their clan’s guardian spirit was struck down by the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s divine vine. This one stumble made it unable to rise again. Thus, they had a great resentment for this pure land.

“The Heaven Mending Pavilion’s destruction is imminent. Even God can’t save you if he comes now!” The elder with the golden divine sword from the Tuoba family was the one that spoke.

“Whoever wants to mess with my Heaven Mending Pavilion must pay the price in blood! I will kill you first!” The lightning ancestor Mu Yan roared loudly. His entire body was surrounded by electricity as he rushed forward murderously.

Honglong

In the sky, dark clouds gathered densely. A great rain poured down, making people overwhelmed with shock. He actually summoned the natural lightning directly within the heavens and earth!

“Not good!” The old ancestor from the Tuoba family was horrified. He never could have imagined that there just so happened to be two clouds drifting over like this, making it extremely unfavorable for him. For those that cultivated lightning, as long as dark clouds were summoned, it would exponentially increase their strength.

As expected, the two dark clouds collided. With a honglong sound, the thick lightning hacked down with a mountainous might down on the great earth.

Ah...

The Tuoba family’s ancestor cried out with fury. He did everything he could to avoid it, but no matter how quick he was, could he be faster than the speed of lightning? As soon as he saw it come, he was already blasted flying. His entire body was charred black, and he coughed out blood as he quickly escaped into the distance.

“Kill! Children, siege together with me. Even if I lose this old life, I will still deliver you all to safety!” The lightning ancestor Mu Yan roared.

The battle unfolded and this was only in one of the directions. There people everywhere around the Heaven Mending Pavilion, and all the elders were trying to lead the disciples out.

The great catastrophe arrived, and if they did not fight with everything they had, they wouldn’t even have the slightest chance of living.

Within the depths of the Heaven Mending Pavilion, the few elders did everything they could. However, it was all futile. The golden void passage created by the guardian spirit was destroyed, and it was clear that this was the result of supreme experts making their move.

At this moment, the battle on the ground was still a battle of manpower, but the battle in the sky was definitely much more terrifying. It made people fear for their lives, because it was difficult for them to understand just what type of level their fight was at.

The divine vine charged into the heavens as it pierced above the clouds to stand against those few supreme experts. Its entire body was bright green as dazzling light exploded forth. Orderly symbols emerged one by one as they fluttered around it.

“You have truly lived a long time. An ancient god who became famous during one battle, yet you still live in this world today. However, every glory much eventually reach a predestined end.” A man shaped creature said while standing on a golden passage of light.

Heaven Mending Pavilion’s Guardian Spirit was indifferent because there really wasn’t much it could say to that. So, it did not speak at all.

“I came here for nothing else but the divine seed. Since you’re going to die anyway, why not just leave it with me? If you do so, I will make every effort in protecting the Heaven Mending Pavilion.” An enormous vicious bird covered the sky and the earth as it surged with torrential black mists. Its two eyes were like two bloody moons that appeared particularly terrifying in all this darkness.

“Heaven Swallowing Sparrow, do you have a hint of reputation? You were a descendent, and your teacher kindly transformed you into a pure-blooded creature. What did you do? When your teacher, the easter swan, was on the verge of dying because of old blood, you swallowed it!”

Some people from the distance sneered. When these words were spoken, this devil bird immediately became furious. Black mists surged and filled the cracks between mountains and rivers.

“You’re pretty much at your limit. You might as well just straightforwardly hand over the divine seed to me. You should know of my identity. I came from the Southern Meteor Divine Mountain. I will not go back on my words. I will assist Heaven Mending Pavilion to the best of my abilities.” On the several tens of thousands of li long golden passage, that man-shaped creature whose entire body was doused in a precious splendor gently said.

Whether it was in the sky or on the earth, everyone breathed in a breath of cold air. What kind of place was the Southern Meteor Divine Mountain? It was rumored that it might be a resting place for deities!

The old vine still had not spoken. From the distant past until now, it had seen it all. It had even fought with deities and splashed their bloods into the heavens. It was not willing to give anyone its trust now.

“Is coming from a divine mountain that amazing?” An enormous vicious beast appeared from the north. It was also wrapped in mist, and its pair of green eyes burned like radiant torches.

It was releasing a killing intent that overflowed into the heavens, and its body was incredibly huge; even the clouds in the sky was smaller than its palms. If not for the mists that lingered around it, the clouds alone simply could not conceal its body.

“Qiong Ji, although you’re a descendent, you always know how to amaze people. You’ve obtained the fortunes of heaven and earth, and now you stand amongst the supreme experts. But what did you do? You were once the Guardian Spirit of an ancient country, but once you absorbed all of their faith, you would not protect them anymore. You even went so far as to swallow every person in the nation. You are truly atrocious!”

The voice from the dark echoed forth once again regarding the past of the Qiong Ji in the clouds.

Weng, the world trembled. A large claw covered the skies as it slapped forward. It hid the skies and covered the earth, submerging everything in its path. The Qiong Ji made its move.

This overwhelmed everyone. The power in the claw was too great. It was covered in symbols, and could completely break apart an entire mountain range. This was the devilish power of the Qiong Ji; fortunately, it was in the skies and far from the ground!

Streaks of multicolored light numbered in the tens of thousands, creating a multitude of auspicious colors. A godly silhouette sat cross-legged in mid air and illuminated everything with its divine splendor. A divine halo emerged behind its head as it sat there like a buddha, blocking the path of that huge claw.

The little guy who was inside the Heaven Mending Pavilion saw and heard this entire scene; his heart trembled.

He did not know anything about those two man-shaped creatures, and did not know where they originated from. However, this was not the first time he had seen that Devil Bird and Vicious Beast.

Originally, at the depth of the mountain ranges where Stone Village was, a treasure was born into this world. Four great creatures had a decisive battle over it, and destruction spread over hundreds of thousands of li. After the event, Willow Deity vaguely said that the Devil Bird was a Heaven Swallowing Sparrow and the Vicious Beast was a Qiong Ji.

“Expert from Mount Yi, you once swallowed the saint of the Little Western Skies. However, he broke out of your body and made you surrender.”

“You were the Guardian Spirit there. Even though endless years had passed and you had returned to the divine mountains, don’t think I forgot where you came from.” The Qiong Ji shouted.

Everyone was shocked. The Guardian Spirit from the Little Western Skies was still alive?

The Little Western Skies was extremely powerful. It was also considered an ancient country, an absolutely terrifying force that possessed astonishing and terrifying power. Their Guardian Spirit was for sure a very old existence.

He actually came from the ancient divine mountain – Mount Yi!

Mount Yi was the name of an amazing ancient divine mountain that humans knew of. There could actually be genuine Golden Winged Pengs and other creatures that lived there.

The man-shaped creature that sat in midair had a divine halo behind his head. His entire body was doused in divine splendor, appearing very solemn and dignified. As it blocked the Qiong Ji’s large claw, it appeared very divine and powerful.

“If I give my divine seed away, will you people leave?” The old vine finally spoke. It was still that calm, without any joy or worry. It was not going to be sad from its own death.

“Only if you give the divine seed to me; otherwise, I will still fight them to the death. This land will have a tough time avoiding destruction.” The man-shaped creature from the Southern Meteor Divine Mountain spoke atop the golden passage of light that was tens of thousands of li long.

Mount Yi’s creature also spoke, “Old vine, don’t think anymore. You should know that many people have been awaiting your death. Why did I send my son and daughter into the Heaven Mending Pavilion? It was to baptize you.”

“Although it sounds very plain and simple, it’s the truth. Heaven Mending Pavilion should also know; otherwise, they would not send them away.”

The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow’s figure was enormous. Its length was perhaps tens of thousands of li long. It covered the entire entire sky and blocked off the sun, covering the entire land in pitch darkness. It sneered and said, “For the last hundreds of years, you pretended that you could not endure anymore in order to set a trap to kill supreme experts. You couldn’t be setting up your old tricks today right? It’s useless.”

The divine vine sighed. It had once pretended to be weak in order to kill its foes. How could it have that much power today? Even the same strategy wouldn’t work anymore.

“Then let’s fight!” It shouted in an instant. The gourd vine shone, and that green skinned gourd emitted waves of ripples that seemed like the creation of the world. Even the aura of primal chaos was surging outwards.

Hong

The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow beared the brunt the force and immediately let out a long hiss. Its feathers fluttered in the breeze as its blood immediately splashed out. It was clear how powerful that divine seed was. It was the essence of that old vine’s existence.

Weng. The Qiong Ji also made its move. It stretched its large claw forward in order to tear that old vine apart and steal the supreme treasure.

A great battle broke out. Fortunately, it was in the sky; otherwise, the earth would have been wiped clean just like how the tens of thousands of li around Stone Village ended up, with every inch broken and covered in blood.

Even so, the skies were still extremely terrifying. The people below did not dare to fly and no one dared to fight in the air. They all descended onto the ground.

Chi chi sounds constantly fell upon people’s ears. Divine feathers flew outwards as the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow hacked forward. Over ten of its thickest feathers curled up in orderly symbols like immortal swords.

The Guardian Spirit's entire body shined. All of its leaves made hualala sounds like green waves rolling downwards. They erased all the symbols, then burned and exploded those ten divine feathers.

Dong

On top of that green vine, the green-skinned gourd swayed. It collided together with the large hands that stretched forward and emitted hundreds of thousands of meter long streaks of lightning. The expert from Mount Yi retreated as its hands ruptured and fresh blood spilt from them.

"A celestial battle!" The old vine charged upwards into the depths of the sky. Disappearing in the blink of an eye.

Qiong Ji and the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow chased and attacked as they followed closely behind. They soared into the nine heavens with symbols that looked like rivers of stars engulfing them. The symbols were like vast oceans as they ascended.

Clearly, the battle in the nine heavens reached an incredibly intense degree and was extremely terrifying. The old vine started summoning meteorites from space as if it wanted to destroy the world in order to attack those supreme experts.

In an instant, thunderous clouds violently surged in the nine heavens. Meteors started shining as symbols interweaved like dense rivers of incredibly splendid stars. Blood started splashing everywhere.

However, no matter how strong it was, it was useless. Its body was dried up and its leaves were turning yellow; its life was nearing its end.

"Kill!"

On the ground, everyone from the Heaven Mending Pavilion started to break out of the siege. They formed ten groups and charged into every direction.

This was an incredibly desperate and bloody battle. Amongst the interweaving symbols, bones and limbs constantly flew outwards. In a time like this, life seemed incredibly frail.

"Elder!" All the disciples from Heaven Mending Pavilion roared in sadness.

Ahead of them were several elders who lead the breakout. For the sake of protecting them, they used their own bodies to block the enemies. Symbols drowned them, and they fell one after another. This path was impassable; several extremely terrifying experts oversaw the obstruction of this route.

“Go that way!”

A powerful ancestral elder of Heaven Mending Pavilion flew over. He defended all of the disciples and protected them from harm. His entire was burning as he blocked those attacking symbols. This allowed the other disciples to quickly retreat and escape from another route.

Pu

He spat out a large mouthful of blood. Half of his body had cracked due to the tyrannical strength of the symbol. He immediately suffered a heavy injury.

“Eastern tomb beast mountain residents, you all actually came!” Divine rays of light shone within the one who protected the Sacred Storage Pavilion, elder Liu. Like an angry lion who just woke up, he rushed over to protect assistance. His palm thrust forward, and caused a white tiger to retreat a few steps. He started an intense fight with it.

The white tiger leader attacked. Its terrifying innate golden aura surged into the heavens. A tiger roar echoed between the heaven and earth. It trembled the tens of thousands of mountains and valleys, shocking the world.

However, elder Liu was also extremely strong. His entire body shined, and as soon as they came into contact, he ripped off a lump of tiger skin that was dripping fresh blood. He was completely different from his normal appearance of always being half awake. Right now, he seemed like a revered war god.

Every single direction was like this; incredibly desperate battles erupted everywhere.

Apart from there, there were even a group of people who did not direct participate in this bloody battle; however, they were even stronger. They protected their younger disciples and charged all the way inside the depths of the Heaven Mending Pavilion, close to the place where the Guardian Spirit rested.

“That moment is almost here!” They faced the skies with expectations.

Chapter 191 – Deity's Rain

The heavens were shaken as war cries rang out from both inside and outside the Heaven Mending Pavilion. All types of creatures were attacking to take advantage this opportunity. Regardless of whether it was the Sacred Storage Pavilion or the spiritual medicine fields, they were now all battlefields dyed in blood.

“The Sacred Storage Pavilion is empty. The scriptures have all been carried away! Hunt all of their upper level figures down. Some of them must have secret texts on them!” A large silver-colored crocodile bellowed.

Its body was about ten zhang in length. Shiny silver scales brilliantly and magnificently covered its body. As it swung its body, its sharp claws tore apart the great earth and giant boulders were sent flying. It was like an unrivalled devil king.

The Heaven Mending Pavilion disciples were blocked off, so they used all their strength to charge together. Since the opposing party already took action, they were definitely the enemy. The only way to keep the pure land safe was by exterminating all the enemies.

After the walls collapsed, everyone pushed their way in. There were all types of great races and countless creatures. They all came to divide up the Heaven Mending Pavilion's divine treasury and loot this place completely clean.

Of course, there were old enemies here as well, such as the Tuoba family that had had grudges with the Heaven Mending Pavilion since the ancient era. There were also the Western Tomb Beast Mountain and others who were even more terrifying. Their actions were ruthless as symbols covered the air and oppressed downwards.

“Such intolerable bullying!” The lightning elder Mu Yan's eyes were even starting to turn red. He already took care of one of his old enemies, but he himself was also dripping with blood. He once again charged murderously into the group of enemies.

Hong!

A thick streak of lightning flew out. It was extremely concentrated, and as it struck into the group of people, it created a honglong sound. Those malevolent creatures from different races immediately released miserable cries. Ten experts immediately turned into charcoal.

It was only a single strike, yet this area was completely cleared up. All of the creatures here fell. Their bodies were turned pitch-black, their bones were broken, and their tendons were torn apart; even their flesh was converted into a paste.

“The old fellow is truly strong. Go up together and kill him!” Someone shouted.

With a weng sound, Mu Yan flew over horizontally. A streak of lightning hacked down, and that person immediately exploded. His bones shattered and his body turned into a bloody rain.

Ferocious and tyrannical; Mu Yang was incomparably powerful. He weaved in all directions as he killed while being surrounded by his enemies. He also rescued the trapped disciples, allowing them to escape.

Hou...

From the side, a giant silver crocodile pounced over. Its claws were incomparably sharp as it swiped out an expanse of multicolored light. It smashed open a mountain as it attacked towards Mu Yan's backside.

Peng

Mu Yang turned around and met it head on with a palm. Lightning interweaved, and the large silver crocodile's body violently shook. However, its scales were extremely powerful precious artifacts, so it was able to block off a large portion of the electricity as it forcefully pressed down. Next, it released a streak of divine light constructed of symbols from its mouth with killing intent.

At the same time, two individuals charged over from the side. They were all old characters from great schools, and it would be difficult to see them outside normally. Now, there were actually two that appeared, and they attacked Mu Yan together.

"You mass of never ending worms! All of you can go die!"

The lightning elder erupted into rage, and his temper flared. Normally, he was incomparably bold and powerful and looked down on these types of cultivators. He spared no effort in his attacks and engaged in a great battle with them.

A string of sparkling purple spheroids that looked like translucent purple agates appeared and covered the sky. It was so bright that it made it difficult for one to open their eyes.

At first, no one felt anything, however they quickly became terrified. This was because those two ancestors' faces were completely white as they retreated as fast as they could. One of them began to spurt out a large mouthful of blood, so he ignited essence energy in order to quickly increase his escape speed.

The string of purple spheroids burst into a supremely powerful thunderstorm. The big silver crocodile's flesh exploded on the spot, and the precious artifact scales became useless.

Meanwhile in the distance, the two ancestors also suffered from this enormous attack. They both cried out miserably as their flesh became lacerated. A scorched black color appeared on their bodies as they barely avoided this disaster after great difficulty.

The big silver crocodile was furious. It was the head of a school, so its methods were excellent. It was the most powerful expert within its race, yet it actually suffered such a loss here.

Its body soared up, and a silver radiance began to burn around its body like an incomparably bright and dazzling deity . Its symbols were like an ocean as they flooded forward, exhausting everything to suppress and kill Mu Yan.

“Ten Stars Piercing the Sun!”

The lightning ancestor’s treasure was similarly dignified. Following his shout, ten shining purple spheres flew out, forming a string. It ignited a sphere that was like a giant sun, and it dropped onto the big crocodile’s body.

Hong!

This place was immediately lit. Nothing was visible anymore. This was Mu Yan’s thunder technique; purple spheres of lightning collided against each other and erupting with an unmatched power.

The sky-covering expanse of symbols created by the big silver crocodile was immediately dispersed. Its entire body was bloody, and as it shouted miserably, all of its crocodile skin came off.

From this, one could also see that it was extremely powerful and terrifying. Such a powerful and severe lightning dao technique was not enough to completely destroy it.

A human figure rushed past. The lightning ancestor Mu Yan once again took action. With the lightning divine hammer in hand, he smashed down on the large silver crocodile’s body, making it crack apart as lightning radiance danced about.

Following a pu sound, a rain of blood splashed out. Mu Yan put away his precious artifact and personally tore apart the silver crocodile. Its body was ripped into two pieces, and fresh blood gushed out. The two halves fell onto the great earth.

This battle made everyone tremble. Many creatures were terrified, because even though the Heaven Mending Pavilion was no longer as glorious as in the past, it still had no lack of experts.

The result of this battle made everyone scared and upset. In just a split second, this area was completely cleared up. All the powerful individuals from various clans fled, escaping from the bloodied devil deity-like lightning ancestor Mu Yan.

On another front, elder Liu was also completely furious. He was battling with a white tiger, and his entire body was shining. Golden symbols emerged and a pair of wings unfolded, splitting the heaven and earth. With a slight tremble, a thunderous weather began to rumble.

“Golden Peng wings!” The white tiger was shocked. It felt a chill in its stomach as blood began to gush outwards. It was practically split in half by the golden wings.

“Kill!”

With a roar, it drew out over ten silver battle spears that were refined from tiger teeth. These were terrifying precious artifacts that could turn into over ten whips as they thrust forward.

With a weng sound, elder Liu shifted to the side with extreme speed. His pair of golden wings spread out and interweaving symbols filled the sky. After a kacha sound, the ten or so precious artifacts were all chopped in half.

“Walking the path to becoming a saint with your own strength. You have to rely mostly on your own precious techniques.” The white tiger was astonished. Its opponent did not have a precious artifact, but he was even more terrifying.

Elder Liu’s body was declining, and it looked like his essence energy was even drying up. However, his physical body was actually this powerful, and while combined with a precious technique, he was a stronghold that was almost impossible to overcome.

The White Tiger roared loudly. The sound waves were like an ocean, and symbols rushed about in disorder, submerging everything in front of it. At the same time, it charged forward with killing intent, its innate golden aura filling the air as it laid out a killing formation.

However, what shocked it was that with a shake of elder Liu’s wings, a golden rain of light scattered outwards, disturbing the array of the symbols. With a stamp of his feet, he shook the great earth. The golden symbols flickered, quickly making the formation lose its effectiveness.

Kill!

Elder Liu rushed forward, and his entire being became a golden color, including his fingers. He was like a humanoid great Golden Peng, and as he rushed over to fight viciously with the White Tiger, he turned into a circle of light.

In just a brief moment, they exchanged over ten attacks. Following that, they quickly separated.

Pu

The White Tiger coughed out blood and roared towards the skies. In the end, it still helplessly fell because its forehead had cracked open before ultimately shattering.

Although Mu Yan and elder Liu were strong and capable of prevailing over a number of experts. The countless number of enemies still seemed to overpower them. There were simply too many people who came.

They quickly executed their murdering spree as they helped the trapped disciples. Their bodies became completely bloody, and they suffered some injuries due to meeting a few powerful enemies during this period of time

Suddenly, huge expanses of light drizzled from the nine heavens. They were numerous, incredibly splendid and beautiful.

“It’s come. A true opportunity is here!”

Many people were cheering for joy. They raised their heads and looked towards the sky. They opened their arms to welcome the raining light.

This was true especially at the Guardian Spirit’s resting grounds where its ancient courtyards were filled with people. There were even many battles that had occurred here because they were fighting for the best positions.

If one carefully examined, he or she could see that the younger generations of aristocrats were scattered all over the genius camp. They were originally disciples of the Heaven Mending Pavilion; however, they were now being protected by their clansmen. They had killed their way over here in order to receive a baptism.

A long time ago, many great powers had doubts that the Guardian Spirit of Heaven Mending Pavilion would not have long to live. Many clans were laying out plans in order to capture this huge opportunity.

“Kill ah...”

It was clear that the troops that charged over from outside had lost their decisive opportunity. They couldn’t get close to this area, and was quickly locked down.

The clash of opposing forces naturally resulted in action. The creatures from various clans all took action, and this place became a chaotic battlefield.

The aristocratic children that had lead their people here weren't all stuck in this situation. They had already seized the opportunity to collect some of the soil that the Guardian Spirit took root in. Scattered everywhere, they borrowed its power to collect the rain of light in the sky.

"The divine vine is perishing and this is its divine essence. It absorbed this from the great earth, so it will eventually return into the endless great wastes. This is an enormous opportunity."

The people all shouted as their eyes turned red with greed.

A plant Guardian Spirit's cultivation path was not simple. In order to rise up, many of their experts made huge vows during their initial phases of cultivation. Receiving, and then returning to the great earth that had nourished them. When they finally perish, they will return as divine rain.

It was clear that the old vine could not handle it anymore as its body was declining. Some leaves fell from the sky, and they seemed incredibly yellow without a hint of green. They were completely lifeless.

It took some heavy injuries up in the nine heavens, and started to scatter its essence. It was going to die at a moment's notice.

"Great Guardian Spirit!"

Everyone from the Heaven Mending Pavilion cried out loudly. The old vine that protected them for countless years was going to fall in battle like this. They were all filled with grief.

"Go!"

An overcast shout was transmitted from the ninth heaven, and a huge golden crack appeared. This was the seventh time it constructed a passageway that allowed everyone to leave.

In the end, divine light was boundless as it was once again broken. This time, it failed again.

"Great Guardian Spirit, you don't need to worry about us anymore. We will break out on our own. Moreover, a portion of disciples from our school has already escaped through the help of your passageway. Sooner or later, there will be a day when they will make their appearances again and reconstruct the Heaven Mending Pavilion!”

The Heaven Mending Pavilion established a total of seven strongholds. Even though three of them were destroyed, there were still four that were not touched. Their hopes and wishes lied there.

“Do you all really think the remaining strongholds can exist forever? I have already been informed about them a long time ago, so there is no point in holding onto hope!” There was someone who coldly and indifferent spoke.

When these words were spoken, it made the remaining Heaven Mending Pavilion members’ hearts tremble. They all shuddered and seethed in anger. They felt a wave of sorrow and despair.

“I feel it, a wave of thriving life force. This is a tremendous opportunity, and my physical body is being baptized!”

Someone cried out, and his hands grasped the soil the Guardian Spirit took root in while receiving the rain of light from the sky. After it scattered down on his body, he felt comfortably warm and incomparably peaceful.

“Kill ah...”

Both the inside and outside of the Heaven Mending Pavilion was in chaos. Everyone frantically rushed in to seize the light rain and receive its baptism.

Raindrops scattered down. It was incomparably sacred, sparkling, and translucent. They were like petals as they fluttered about, as if they were polluted with the divine creature’s aura. This was an area of great opportunity.

The shouts of slaughter rang out incessantly. Every creature was fighting with everything they had to seize the most advantage positions.

Experts from every clan was struggling and killing. It was mostly for the clan’s younger generation because this shower of light was most beneficial for younger people. Although old experts could also receive some benefits, they were not as evident.

Hong

A huge noise echoed outwards from midair as a blazing ball of light exploded. An endless shower of light fell down that was even more concentrated.

The Guardian Spirit let out a sigh and said, "Goodbye, I cannot protect you any longer."

Its life was on the verge of reaching its ending. It was going to return to the earth and become soil.

"Great Guardian Spirit!"

Everyone from Heaven Mending Pavilion was grieving. Even the pavilion master who was currently in a blood-soaked battle had tears falling out of his eyes. He could not help but bawl out; was this show on the verge of a conclusion?

Because the old vine had made a promise, it had never left from the ancient era until now. It had protected the Heaven Mending Pavilion since then and had fought bloody battles with many divine creatures and saints. After countless years, it had paid too much.

From start to finish, it had experienced countless ages. It always guarded this pure land, and sheltered them from one huge battle after another. From the ancient era until now, it had never abandoned them.

For this reason, the old vine had suffered a few major injuries. Otherwise, it would have lived longer than it would have now.

The sound of sadness was all over Heaven Mending Pavilion. Everyone was grieving because the old vine had given them so much, and it was finally going to pass away. Moreover, it fought until the very last moment.

"Haha... The destruction of Heaven Mending Pavilion is at hand. Everyone who is bathing in the shower made by this divine creature, just cheer and go crazy. Let us commence our killing spree and exterminate this pure land!" An old monster from the Tuoba clan let his hair loose and began to laugh loudly. His body was covered in blood, but it was not his own. He had kill many elders from Heaven Mending Pavilion, as he was one of the most powerful experts from his clan.

“Exterminate all of them if possible in order to avoid misfortunes in the future!” People from the Western Tomb Beast Mountain answered.

Even under these circumstances, the people from Heaven Mending Pavilion could not avoid being blocked and killed. Tuoba family and the Western Tomb Beast Mountain did not want to let them go in fear of disasters in the future.

Everyone’s eyes from the Heaven Mending Pavilion had turned red. These people were bathing in the shower of light from their Guardian Spirit and was receiving a baptism, then they were going to commence a large murder spree here. These people were truly unbridled, despicable, and intolerable bullies.

“Group of bastards, bullying my Heaven Mending Pavilion like no one is there, Flame Rhino tribe is here to help!” A loud roar was transmitted from the distance. A powerful expert that lead a large group of people appeared. They flickered with symbols, and were all powerful individuals.

“After taking advantage of my Heaven Mending Pavilion so excessively, you all will inevitably pay the equal price in blood. Marquis Lingwei is here, and I will protect my pure land!” Another loud roar was emitted, shaking the space there. It was clear that the person leading these large troops was an extremely terrifying character.

The people were shocked. This was a noble, someone who used to cultivate within the Heaven Mending Pavilion that came back to provide assistance. He was an extremely outstanding figure back then within this pure land, and currently even carried the title of a marquis.

“Divergent Mountain Clan lord has arrived to protect our pure land!” Someone cried out.

“Scarlet Sun Tribe has arrived to lend our aid!”

“Marquis Lingtian has arrived as well. To violate my pure land, none will escape death!”

“Stone Country’s war king has arrived, and will fight with those who violate the pure land!”

Screaming sounds rose and fell from all directions. Powerful experts appeared one after another. That Marquis Lingtian shook the great wastelands, and his fame was equal to that of an incredibly powerful expert. As for that war king, his military fame was even more outstanding. Outside of the emperor, he truly did not have that many opponents.

These were all experts that have exited the Heaven Mending Pavilion. They have all cultivated here in the past, and after so many years, their names have shaken the land. Some were now lords, and others were bestowed the title of Marquis.

Now, many of them have returned. As soon as they received news that their school was facing troubles, regardless of the difficulties, they traversed the great wastelands to provide their assistance.

Their reputations had spread in all directions, and even though some of them only possessed ordinary strength, their presence here signified their intentions. It made many of the Heaven Mending Pavilion's people's eyes brim with tears of excitement.

“Kill, slaughter these brutes clean!”

“Those who violate my Heaven Mending Pavilion will be killed without mercy!”

Everywhere in the pure land, people's blood began to boil. Their eyes were filled with hot tiers, and they all raised their weapons in preparation to fight to the death.

The various great races that invaded were all shocked. They felt a wave of coldness down their bodies. The Heaven Mending Pavilion has passed down their tradition for an extremely long time. Their disciples were numerous, and there were many that shook an entire region. Their connections were truly deep!

Chapter 192 – United As One

“Did you really treat my Heaven Mending Pavilion like this because you thought there was no one here? We have all returned. We will definitely fight you all to the death and wipe this place clean of intruders!”

The people who returned hollered, all of them activating precious artifacts one after another as they killed their way over. There were human figures in every direction, and all of them commanded a large group of experts as they assisted the pure land.

Originally, the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s morale was downcast from top to bottom. Now that they saw the return of their school’s people, there wasn’t a single one whose blood wasn’t boiling. They fiercely rushed towards the enemy to fight with their enemies.

A great battle unfolded. The deity’s rain scattered down from the sky like layers of crystalline petals. They were extremely beautiful; however, the ground reeked of blood.

“With me, Marquis Lingtian here, who dares to invade my masters’ school?!”

An extremely valiant figure wearing silver armor lept over. Destruction was left wherever he went. Once he revealed his symbols, the enemies in front would immediately be blasted apart and turned into a bloody mist.

“Marquis Lingtian, you aren’t being a proper leader for your clan. You ran all the way here to mess around. Be careful, or else you might just throw in your life as well!” An Archaic descendant roared. This was a black crow that was as dark as ink. It was ten meters long, and its voice was ominous as it overflowed with dark light.

It was an adult expert within the bird race. It massacred everything it could around here. It was bold, powerful and unrivalled. Just now, it cleared open an area and lead a group of crows here to baptise themselves in the deity’s rain.

“So noisy. Such a small crow dares to call itself a king and go crazy here. Kill!” Marquis Lingtian shouted. A huge bow appeared in his hands, and he began to draw back a large arrow. He pulled back the bowstring and released it with a chi sound.

The arrow's feathers were like a rainbow, as the arrow shot out like a silver torch. It sparkled with brilliant radiance and pierced through the heavens before rushing towards that giant crow. The arrow itself could alter its directions, locking itself onto the crow as it moved.

That crow let out a long cry. It spat out dark colored flames that turned into symbols, burning that arrow.

However, the arrow was splendid, and silver symbols shone around it. It pierced through the dark flames like a hot knife through butter. With a soft pu sound, the silver arrow shot through the crows's body and exploded. Its body cracked apart and blood sprinkled everywhere.

With the power of this one strong and ferocious arrow, he instantly killed an Archaic Descendent. Marquis Lingtian's might and awe made others tremble. In just the blink of an eye, this entire area cleared up, and no one dared to block them anymore.

"With Divergent Mountain's lord here, all those that invade my pure land will be killed without mercy!" An elder was like a furious lion as he soared over. His palm propped up a precious mark; with a wave towards the wind, it quickly enlarged and flew out until it became even larger than a mountain peak.

He quickly pressed downwards ferociously and forcefully. The great earth began to collapse inch after inch. The creatures below all became alarmed. They couldn't defend against it at all, and were pressed into meat paste by the large symbol.

"Kill!"

The murderous shouts shook the skies. No one knew just how many Heaven Mending Pavilion supporters came from every direction. Their bodies were all bloody as they killed their way over from the distance.

There were traces of enemies everywhere within these mountains and rivers. The flames of war were scattered throughout, and everyone's eyes were red with killing intent.

Regardless of whether it were the experts that shook an entire region or ordinary experts, by appearing in the pure land, they all carried a type of imposing aura. Otherwise, they wouldn't have come here to provide assistance.

This pure land flared up. There were sounds of murdering and battles in every direction.

Everyone from Heaven Mending Pavilion was incredibly excited. Warm tears tumbled from within their eyes. Regardless of whether it was 100 years ago or even from the past ten years, with all of these disciples here, it induced a crying feeling from everyone here.

Even lightning ancestor Mu Yan, elder Liu and others had tears in their eyes. Their battle power was more than enough now. They were killing their way through every direction, specifically targeting those ancestral level monsters.

"Heaven Mending Pavilion is done. Your Guardian Spirit is on the verge of death. What else could it have up its sleeves? With all these great powers acting together, this land was destined to be burned to the ground. All of us together will speed up the destruction of this land."

An old monster spoke. This was a genuine ancestral level character who rarely had a worthy opponent. It held great animosity towards Heaven Mending Pavilion. These kinds of people were seldomly seen in public.

"Are we done just because you say we're done?!"

A dazzling sun that made everyone unable to open their eyes rose up. That all came from one person, and he was shining and illuminating this entire area over the pure land. He appeared exceptionally terrifying.

"It's the War King!"

Everyone's expressions changed. This man possessed an indomitable figure. The War King's prestige was renowned far and wide, and it was all carved out through his own killing feats. Back then, he went to the Heaven Mending Pavilion to cultivate, and he had returned today.

It had to be mentioned that he was truly powerful. When he lifted his hand, symbols glittered like an ocean wave pressing forward. He immediately caused that old monster to tremble and split out blood.

"Kill!" That old monster opened his mouth and spat out a sword that was less than one chi long. It was vibrant and flowing as it transformed into a whip that hacked over.

This sword was refined from an unknown ancient beast's teeth. Its entirety was was crisp green and seemingly unbreakable. From the moment that this old monster was born, it had always used this sword. It was able to sweep everything away, and even a mountain could be easily sliced open.

Dang!

However, at this moment, the war king directly shook his finger. He firmly met the sword head on, confronting it without a hint of fear.

The dark green precious artifact shook and symbols radiated; it almost dropped from the sky.

"Kill!" The old monster spat out an area of essence energy. It entered the green jade sword, allowing its radiance to become even more magnificent, as if a divine river flowed through it.

Dang dang dang...

With a flick of the war god's finger, ten fingers continuously struck down on this precious artifact while utilizing the powerful divine force of symbols. It shook this entire area, and a mountain nearby even collapsed from the sound waves.

Kacha

In the end, the dark green divine sword actually cracked apart by the repeated strikes from the war god's fingers. A terrifying precious artifact was destroyed.

The old monster released a loud roar and was thoroughly mad. This was the weapon that he refined his whole life, and never would he have thought that today was the day it would be destroyed. It made his eyes red with fury as he spat out blood.

"This old man is going to fight with you to the death!"

"Then you should just die!" The war king coldly shouted. He shone like a sun and killed his way forward.

Hong

Divine force shocked the world. The war king threw out his fist, creating a sea of symbols that completely scattered the old monster's precious technique. Afterwards, he was sent flying outwards before exploding in midair.

He possessed an absolute and unmatched strength. This was a man that had no qualms about fighting the human emperor for his title. His brilliant prowess were completely earned from his countless battles.

"Senior brother, after being separated for so many years, we meet again!" The war god began to laugh heartily. After killing into the depths of the pure land, he met the Heaven Mending Pavilion's Master.

As soon as the words 'senior brother' were heard, these two individuals immediately sighed.

The Heaven Mending Pavilion Master's memories surged. War king only cultivated here for ten years before leaving because he attached more importance to Stone Country. However, no one expected him to come back today to save this pure land; it could be said that he truly valued relationships and values.

"Today, no matter how many people you have, it's all useless. The divine vine is about to die, so what can you all rely on? You all are destined to be destroyed!"

A silver Flood Dragon spoke. It brandished its enormous body and rushed forward. This was a descendant that held huge animosity for the Heaven Mending Pavilion. It was extremely terrifying, and was a large source of the slaughter here.

What it said still made some sense. Even if people came to assist the Heaven Mending Pavilion, it was still difficult to change the situation. After all, there were too many enemies here, so even if they combined all of their strength, at the crucial point, it would all be ended by the supreme beings in the nine heavens.

Weng

The Heaven Mending Pavilion did not say anything and just raised his hand. It turned into a lump of light that flew over and pressed down on that silver Flood Dragon. With a raise of his hand, lightning interweaved, charring its body black and splitting its scales on the spot.

The creatures in the vicinity were all shocked. This was a Flood Dragon king, and was definitely not some ordinary Archaic descendant. However, it was actually severely wounded as soon as it went up even though it had such a fierce and unrivalled appearance just now. This left a deep impression on everyone here.

When the war god saw this, he rushed into the distance and continued to fight fiercely.

The silver snake was absolutely furious. It spat out an expanse of divine light to suppress the Heaven Mending Pavilion master. Meanwhile, it soared into the air and depended on its powerful body to tear at its opponent.

With a weng sound, an area of multicolored light surged from behind the Heaven Mending Pavilion master. A pair of golden divine wings appeared, producing waves of astral winds and thunder-like booming sounds.

This was the divine Peng technique, and it was full of an extremely terrifying variation. At this moment, the pure land's core teacher's body directly enlarged, turning into a large golden bird.

"What?! So terrifying, he has already reached spirituality, and turn himself into the shape of a divine bird!" Many people cried out in surprise.

The cultivation of precious techniques were many and varied. One of the more bitter routes was to genuinely embody oneself as another creature. Even though the conditions were harsh, its power was great, and could sometimes repair damaged precious techniques.

With a peng sound, the large peng flapped its wings and swooped down. A pair of giant golden claws snatched up the silver Flood Dragon and fiercely tore at it. Blood splashed out, emitting countless light.

The silver Flood Dragon began to develop dread. The Flood Dragon Race naturally feared the Peng race because they could suppress it. According to legend, the great Peng would swallow creatures like the Flood Dragon everyday and use them as food.

Pu

The silver Flood Dragon struggled, but it was difficult for it to escape its destruction. It was ripped apart alive, dying on the spot.

All the creatures' expressions here changed. As soon as the Heaven Mending Pavilion Master was freed from rescuing and assisting all the disciples, he indeed became terrifying to the extreme.

He began to search specifically for powerful Flood Dragon experts. This was a terrifying intimidation towards everyone.

The Heaven Mending Pavilion was united as one. They currently had an unprecedented unity. Even though there were heavy casualties, they still did not lack the power to fight this war.

"Do you think this will work?" From the distance, golden light shone brilliantly. An unfathomably great enemy appeared. Even though it was in a humanoid form, golden fur covered its entire body. It was obvious that it wasn't a human, and its terrifying aura overflowed into the heavens.

"Golden Beast!" Everyone was shocked. This was a creature that came from the Archaic Sacred Mountain and known to be a divine servant!

With the appearance of this creature, everything could already be inferred. The supreme experts that fought in the sky already decided Heaven Mending Pavilion's conclusion.

"Hehe, haha..." Laughter echoed down from the nine heavens. The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow spread its wings and attacked upwards because it had sensed that the Guardian Spirit's energy had been exhausted. After all, it had withered a long time ago and had difficulties a tough time supporting itself.

"The divine seed is mine. You cannot defend this pure land any longer!" The Qiong Qi was also incredibly indifferent. Its dark green eyes were emitting a cold light, and its killing intent spread everywhere.

Hong

Large patches of light rain exploded in the sky. The divine vine dimmed, appearing all sickly high on top of the sky. It did not have a speck of green to it at all, and all of its leaves had withered. Its enclosing vines also looked the same.

The only thing that still had any essence energy left was that green gourd. It still had plenty of life force left.

Pu

A rain of blood splashed through the air. During the final battle of this old vine, it injured the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow. It cut down its feathers, and made its blood splash out.

Chi

The green gourd swayed. A primitive sword aura shot towards the human shaped figure from Mount Yi. It injured him and made his golden blood splash high into the air.

“Hou...” At the same time, the Qiong Qi was furious because it was pierced by one of the old vines. It spat out large mouthfuls of blood and its skull was almost split apart.

The old vine was on the verge of death. Countless droplets of light sprinkled onto the great earth.

“Farewell!” It spat out these two words, and no longer had even an ounce of fighting strength.

“Great Guardian Spirit!” Within the pure land, many people cried out with sorrow.

“Struggling at death’s door until today, you should have died a long time ago!” The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow’s voice was extremely callous, and its bloody pupils were incomparably cold. Its killing intent was like an ocean tide, and with a kacha sound, it snapped apart a withered yellow vine.

“Your body is already dried up. What other tricks can you use to fight? Today, you won’t even be able to completely turn into light rain. I am going to grind you up into powder and refine you into a pill before devouring you completely!” The Qiong qi also bellowed cruelly.

The old vine was very calm. Even though it was on the verge of death, it still gazed calmly downwards towards that ancient yard that had been ruined in wars. It was born there, but today, it was the place where everything would come to an end.

“Lord Guardian Spirit!” Everyone from Heaven Mending Pavilion yelled. They could hardly accept this result. They were very angry, and could not help but tear up.

The little guy clamored and yelled. This was the first time that he had felt a sense of belonging, but it was broken by this ruthless and cruel reality. He held onto the broken sword in one hand and the little pagoda in the other. Then he charged, wishing that he could soar into the nine heavens and participate in that great battle.

Suddenly, the broken sword shined, and that dishevelled haired elder appeared. An ancient sword was stuck into his head, dripping with black blood.

The ghostly grandpa appeared. This time, not only could the little guy see him. Everyone else could see him as well.

He took the broken sword from the little guy's hands and gently stroked it with his hand. He appeared rather perplexed, but soon after seemed to have woken up. Following that, he erupted into fury and rushed into the heavens.

Pu

Everyone was mind-blown. This long haired elder held the broken sword in his hand and directly sliced off the claw of the Heaven Swallowing Swallow that tore apart the vine, causing blood to gush out.

No one thought that he was actually this powerful and terrifying. Moreover, it was all so abrupt; he suddenly appeared high up in the sky.

Light rain scattered down. The divine vine was on the verge of disappearing, and its entire body was burning. It turned into a beautiful deity rain.

“You completed your promise to me and protected the pure land until you turned old and died in battle.” An elder with dishevelled hair and empty eyes spoke towards the Guardian Spirit.

“Who are you?” The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow erupted in anger as it reconnected its broken claw. Its entire body emitted light as it swooped down.

Hou... The completely ash gray haired elder roared towards the sky. He was like a demonic deity, and as he rushed up, even the winds and clouds began to revolve.

The Heaven Devouring Sparrow was shocked and evaded with extreme speed. That wave of killing intent was too powerful!”

“You planted me, and gave me my life...” The Guardian Spirit softly muttered as it gazed towards the elder who had an ancient sword pierced through his skull. It became indistinct within the rain of light, gradually disappearing.

Chapter 193 – The First Ancestor

“Lord Guardian Spirit!” Everyone started shouting loudly as they all grieved greatly. The Guardian Spirit that had guarded their school had reached the end of its life just like that. It was already at the point of dying due to old age, yet it still died in battle.

Inside the pure land, everybody from the school was sad. This result was extremely difficult for them to accept. The Guardian Spirit had simply done too much for them. It neutralized all threats and fought in ancient wars until now; however, its divine flames were put out today in this tragic ending.

While everyone from Heaven Mending Pavilion greatly lamented, all the other creatures and supreme experts’ hearts were trembling. They were filled with doubts and questions as they shivered inwardly.

What were the origins of that grey haired elder? Was Heaven Mending Pavilion’s Guardian Spirit really planted by him? This was simply too scary and made everyone tremble.

This reality felt so unreal that it made everyone’s scalps numb. Even the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow, Qiong Qi, and the man shaped creature from Mount Yi were apprehensive; even they felt like they had encountered a huge problem.

“Living a long time does not represent true power. This doesn’t mean anything!” The Qiong Qi roared quietly as it took precautionary measures.

“Hou...”

The grey haired old man loudly roared. Like a devil, One of his hands formed into a fist while the other grasped that broken sword. As he gazed at the rain of light in the sky and looked at the burning divine vine, his empty eyes displayed a great sadness.

“Old man, you actually dare to mount a sneak attack on me! Fight me again!” The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow called out with extremely anger. Just then, one of its claws had been cut off; although it had already been reconnected, this was still an extraordinary shame and humiliation.

It opened its mouth and began to suck inwardly. An enormous black hole appeared out of nowhere to suck the ghostly grandpa inside. It bore the title 'heaven swallowing', so this was naturally its supreme precious technique.

The dishevelled-haired old man's empty eyes were still like before, but the hand gripping the sword was already trembling. He suddenly and silently yelled out as his full head of grey hair began to dance in the wind.

"Kill!"

The grey-haired old man shouted loudly. His heart was sad that the Guardian Spirit had turned into divine rain, and it was impossible for it to continue existing. This filled him with with hate and murderous intent, and these feeling were completely infused into his sword strike.

A loud rumble echoed through the air, and that black hole was sliced apart. The grey-haired old man crashed into it like a devil. His broken sword became a rainbow as the black rust on top of it was shed off, revealing an endless amount of divine splendor.

The two fiercely battled, and their symbols crossed each other as they collided with their strongest attacks. Endless amounts of unfathomable splendor spread outwards as the mist within the black hole dispersed.

Pu

Fresh blood splashed outwards. The ghostly grandpa's empty eyes contained a terrifying killing intent. He carried a streak of blood with him as he appeared again. The broken sword shined like a sun as the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow in the sky cried furiously. Its beak had been sliced off, and fresh blood was currently sprinkling out of it.

One must understand that it was enormous beyond comparison! No one knew just how long it was, and even though it was just the beat being sliced off, it was still shockingly huge. After crashing into the great earth, it caused landslides and earthquakes.

Everyone was overwhelmed; this ghostly grandpa was too strong. After this fierce clash, he inflicted an injury on the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow.

The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow flew into the sky and cried angrily towards the heavens as it spiraled about. Every part of its body was in pain, and it was truly difficult to tolerate. Its beak was the sturdiest part of its body, yet it had been sliced off. How could it endure this?

One must know that it was reputed to be the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow. Some of its precious techniques were closely tied to its beak. Since this part had been cut off, it was now in great discomfort.

Weng

Its symbols flickered. The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow called back its beak and began to recover its injuries. After evolving into a pure blooded creature, its life force was as vast as the ocean, making it extremely tough to kill. This was also one of the reasons why it was so heaven defying.

The Southern Meteorite mountain's human-shaped creature, Qiong Qi and the man-shaped creature from Mount Yi were all shocked. This old man's power greatly exceeded their expectations. He was simply too terrifying, and there was destined to be a fierce battle here.

"I'm leaving now." These final three words echoed through the air. Its withered vine and its yellow leaves finally burned to dust, fluttering into the air.

At the same time, there were large patches of light rain that drizzled down on the great earth. They sprinkled down into a pond, and within the soil a green bud was visibly sprouting with great vitality.

It had died of old age here and returned to the great earth. It was born within that ancient courtyard, so it returned to that ancient courtyard.

An endless rain of light danced about. Many people opened their arms as they welcomed the baptism. This was the deity's rain, and it was difficult to encounter something like in one's lifetime.

"Great Guardian Spirit!"

Everyone from the Heaven Mending Pavilion clenched their fists as their voices resonated here. They were filled with grief, but there was nothing they could do to change this result.

"Senior!" The little guy muttered. After seeing it die like this, his heart was very uncomfortable as he reminisced back to the times he comprehended and cultivated in the dao under that old vine.

On top of the sky, there was a green gourd radiating. It was dispersing strand after strand of primitive chaotic aura, and as it suspended there, the rain of light wrapped itself around it. This was the divine seed, and was the only thing left behind by the Guardian Spirit.

The Qiong Qi was the first to reach out and grab it. The reason that they all came was purely for obtaining this divine seed. Now that it was ownerless and lying right in front of their eyes, how could they sit still?

The Qiong Qi's body was a bloody red color, and its appearance was like a tiger combined with an ox. Its mouth was full of fierce looking tiger-like teeth, and the horns above its eyes and on top of its head were like an ox's, giving it an extremely vicious appearance.

Sharp spiky hair grew all of its body. Each of them were sharp and blood colored, as if they had previously been dyed in fresh blood and dried up. Its baleful aura was extremely oppressive.

Additionally, it even had a pair of terrifying bright red devil-like wings that could split apart the heaven and earth. Its pair of green eyes were like those of demons', and whenever its gaze was casted out, it would make one's soul become unstable.

"That Guardian Spirit should have died a while ago. It struggled at death's door all this time, yet it still couldn't protect this ancient school in the end. The divine seed belongs to me!"

It was extremely fast. With a flap of its wings, thunder and lightning appeared abruptly. Everyone became intimidated as its bright and resplendent symbols submerged the heaven and earth. It carried a bloody light that locked everyone else out.

"Get lost!"

When the grey-haired old man shouted these words, the hand that held the sword instantly hacked apart those symbols. Moreover, keng qiang symbols rang out, and the Qiong Qi's precious artifact sharp hairs immediately exploded. Countless scarlet divine needles flew into the air, almost injuring the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow and other creatures there.

The two struggled fiercely and collided in a terrifying battle. Then, with a pu sound, the Qiong Qi wretchedly screamed as its fresh blood spouted forth. A claw that was as large as a mountain range was sliced off, and it began to fall towards the great earth.

Everyone was overwhelmed, and even the expressions of those supreme experts in the air had changed. This grey haired old man's display of power was too terrifying, frightening them. He had injured the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow and cut off one of the Qiong Qi's claws; this was just too shocking.

Peng

Ghostly Grandpa instantly embraced the green gourd by his chest. With endless sadness on his face, he said, "Goodbye, we won't ever meet again, but you have done very well. I am ashamed of myself. It's my Heaven Mending Pavilion, yet I had to ask you to protect it."

After speaking these words, everyone's heart shuddered. Who was he, and how could he say such things?

Especially the disciples of Heaven Mending Pavilion. They were even more stunned. The implications behind this old man's words accelerated their heartbeat. They were simply in disbelief. Was this man their ancestor?

"Who are you?!" The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow loudly shouted.

The Qiong Qi also opened his hellish green eyes wide. His killing intent filled the air as he asked, "Who are you?"

Even though they already had their own assumptions, they still wanted to confirm it. This was too terrifying, because this old man's identity and status was frightening.

"Who am I?" The grey haired old man said this to himself. His eyes contained somewhat of a bewildered look before he fiercely them opened wide Two rays of divine light shot outwards, instantly scattering the clouds in the sky as he said, "I am an abandoned disciple, the founder of the Heaven Mending Pavilion!"

"What?!" Everyone who heard these words were shocked. Their bodies trembled. This old man was the ancestor who established the Heaven Mending pavilion?

"You are really my... Our school's ancestor?" Heaven Mending Pavilion's Pavilion Master, Mu Yan, elder Liu, and others' voices were trembling. This truly shocked everyone, and no one could believe this at all.

However, all the other creatures were overcome with a wave of dread. How terrifying of a character was this? He had personally established this pure land, yet he was still in this world? This reality simply seemed like a dream!!

Many creatures were scared to death. They attacked this land with the intentions of capturing a great opportunity, but was this really luck or misfortune in the end?

Up in the nine heavens, the man-shaped creature from Mount Yi, the creature from Southern Meteorite Mountain, and the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow were in shock, but became relieved soon after. No wonder this old man was so powerful. He was actually one of the first ancestors that established the Heaven Mending Pavilion. He was an extremely influential person during the ancient times, so it wasn't unusual for him to have this type of cultivation level.

Everyone on the ground who was from Heaven Mending Pavilion became incredibly excited. Was their first ancestor still alive? The so called ancient apparition was actually him! Everyone loudly roared and couldn't help but let out long hollers as their tears tumbled down.

"Ancestor, exterminate them all! Take revenge for Great Guardian Spirit!"

"Don't let them go! You have to kill them all!"

Everyone cried and yelled out.

The little guy stood amongst the crowd. He was very shocked as well. The ghostly grandpa was actually the ancestor of the Heaven Mending Pavilion? His little face turned a bit green. At the time, he was always followed by that old man, and could see him if he woke up in the middle of the night. He had also treated him as a coatrack once upon a time; when he took off his little clothes, he threw them all on top of that old man's body.

"He was an abandoned disciple. What kind of school abandoned him?" Second Baldy muttered. A feeling of coldness appeared in the depths of its heart as it felt waves of fear.

"This... Is too astonishing. Even the first ancestor of the Heaven Mending Pavilion appeared?!" The big red bird was shocked into shivering.

At this moment, a divine halo appeared behind the head of the man-shaped creature from Mount Yi. Symbols intersected all over his body as if he was facing a great enemy. He was the Guardian Spirit of the Little Western Paradise once upon a time. He knew a little bit of the secrets from the ancient times, and he knew how scary these first ancestors were.

Even the man-shaped creature from the Southern Meteorite Mountain began to concentrate. A huge golden whip appeared beneath his feet and a golden precious artifact that looked like a golden banner made out of bones appeared in his hands.

As for the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow and Qiong Qi, there was even less that needed to be said. They revealed vicious glints in their eyes, and their blood boiled for war. Symbols ignited, increasing their essence energies to their extreme limits.

The grey hair old man's condition was very unstable. He was awake for one moment and drowsy in the next. He fiercely shook his head before widening his eyes, taking advantage of the time that he was wide awake to suddenly throw the divine gourd seed away.

Weng

A golden ripple that looked like a passageway appeared in midair as it took the gourd into the ends of the horizon.

“Wherever you take root is where the Heaven Mending Pavilion will be reborn. Even if the school is destroyed, the legacy will never die!” The grey haired old man said. Although his voice was quiet, it still resounded through the heavens.

Everyone from Heaven Mending Pavilion was greatly touched as they hollered loudly together. They repeated these words as if they had seen a glimpse of hope for the future.

“Old man you...” The man-shaped creature from the Southern Meteorite Mountain was enraged. Was he actually going to miss the opportunity to get the divine seed?

The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow spread its wings with the intention of following it.

The Qiong Qi and the creature from Mount Yi also rushed out in order chase that green gourd as well.

The grey haired old man’s eyes were empty as he flipped the broken sword in his hand. He slashed an indescribable symbol that actually sealed the entire heaven. He blocked out every direction with a barrier and made them unable to leave.

“Chop this old ghost’s head off!”

The most terrifying battle exploded. The four great creatures acted together. They all attacked the first ancestor of the Heaven Mending with murderous intent.

“Go, rebuild the Heaven Mending Pavilion in the future.” The grey haired old man yelled out towards everyone below. His voice was lonely and exhausted, but it still contained hope. There were simply too many emotions mixed within.

“Don’t let any of them go. Chop off all their heads!” The Qiong Qi and the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow also shouted.

“Go, we are leaving!” The Heaven Mending Pavilion Master shouted and broke through the siege along with everyone else. He knew that the first ancestor's conditions were amiss, since he was sometimes awake and sometimes sleepy. There might be some big problems with him, so they could not stay here.

The great battle in the sky was incredibly fierce. A rain of blood splashed down; a piece of flesh was torn off of the grey-haired old man's shoulders, making him go completely mad. Even though his eyes were empty, his killing intent flourished to an extreme.

Pu

He waved the broken sword and sliced off the arm of the man-shaped creature from Mount Yi. It fell through the barrier and dropped onto the ground.

“Kill!”

The old man was dyed in blood as he struck out once again. His sword became even fiercer now. Like a demonic light illuminating from the outside world, he was cutting and slicing them like dried wood and withered weeds.

Pupu sounds rang out in succession. The Qiong Qi was furious. One of its arms was cut off, dropping onto the ground. Following that, the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow angrily cried out as half its wing was cut clean through. The expert from the Southern Meteorite Mountain felt a chill in his calves as everything below was cut off. Fresh blood gushed outwards as it fell.

The ferocity of this old man was a little bit horrifying. After suffering an injury, he successively inflicted heavy damages on all of them. With his single broken sword, he was able to sweep away everything in front of him.

“The flesh of a pure blooded creature. I want a bite!” The little guy said on the ground. He hated those creatures in the sky with an extreme passion, but their flesh and blood were precious medicine, and that was extremely enticing to him.

Everyone from Heaven Mending Pavilion was trying to break out of the enclosure, creating a great retreat. The little guy really wanted to rush over and carry away one of those legs. However, that was only a thought, because he didn’t dare to actually do it.

Suddenly, the pure white jade-like small pagoda began to shine. With a chilu sound, it flickered and retrieved that Mount Yi creature’s arm. Then with another flicker, it swallowed that Qiong Qi’s claw, the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow’s wing, and the calf from the Southern Meteorite Divine Mountain creature.

The little guy’s eyes turned round. He looked left and right and discovered that no one around him noticed. His little heart began to beat wildly as he immediately scrambled. He did not dare get close to that area because he was afraid of those creatures in the sky going crazy.

With a chi sound and a flicker of pure white light radiance, the little pagoda returned. It actually looked as if it had ate an entire person. The pagoda's body was bulging as it remained silent and motionless.

All of this happened within a split second. The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow, Qiong Qi and the others began to summon their broken limbs; however to their surprise, they couldn't sense them anymore. Their expressions all changed, and they began to go crazy.

They were able to reconnect their bodies, so they weren't afraid of them being chopped off. They could not imagine that in the blink of an eye, their lost limbs had disappeared without a trace.

"Who?" The four creatures became furious. It was simply too weird that they actually lost their arm, leg, wing and claws. How could they endure it?!

They felt that there must have been a supreme expert laying in waiting to steal these things, causing them to immediately go into a fit of rage.

The grey haired old man started his attack. The broken sword in his hand was unrivalled as it dazzled and resounded.

However at this exact moment, the ancient sword stuck into his forehead trembled and emitted a hazy light. His body immediately staggered as strands of black blood gushed from his forehead.

"Leave!"

Heaven Mending Pavilion's Pavilion Master, Mu Yan, elder Liu and the others were like lightning. When they saw this, they finally realized why even though the first ancestor was so strong, he wanted them to escape right away. It was all because his consciousness was problematic, and that ancient sword stuck into his forehead was the root of this problem.

Who did this in the past? To have actually stuck a sword through the first ancestor's skull, it was simple too terrifying. Even thinking about it made people tremble.

"Ah..."

Heaven Mending Pavilion's first ancestor became furious. His full head of grey hair danced wildly. The ancient sword stuck into his head was pulled outwards inch by inch. As the sword resounded, black blood continuously gushed outwards.

“Kill!” Upon seeing this, the four creatures charged forward together.

“Hou!”

The old man roared loudly like a devil. Hong long. The broken sword in his hand started shining even more exuberantly. It was like a sun, and he combined himself with his weapon in order to fend off this ancient sword.

“Kill!”

With a loud shout, a trace of splendor actually appeared in his empty eyes. He attacked the four creatures as his broken sword blazed and slashed in every direction.

In an instant, feathers fluttered wildly, claws were split apart, and fresh blood splashed everywhere.

PW Chapter 194 – Breaking Out

In the sky, black feathers fluttered about, beast claws split apart, and blood rained down. It was extremely shocking.

The battle was extremely intense. The grey haired old man went crazy, but the four supreme experts were also fighting for their lives. Multicolored light danced as propitious light lingered and killing intent surged. This battle had reached its climax.

Pu

The grey haired old man was like an ancient deity who simply couldn't be stopped. He shaved off the tip of the Southern Meteorite Divine Mountain man-shaped creature's shoulder and almost hacked his shoulder in two.

That broken sword shined brighter than the sun, moon and stars, and it seemed almost as if all of its rust had fallen off. It was as if it could reflect a person's very soul, and the old man was slowly being awakened. He emitted an immortal aura as he attacked in every direction.

Symbols interweaved. They were like a waterfall of stars that draped from the heavens all the way to the ground. The broken sword was as bright as a sun as it hacked over, and with a kengqiang sound, one of the Qiong Qi's horns was cut off, making it shout loudly nonstop.

Beast roars trembled the skies as fresh blood sprinkled everywhere. The old man was one with the broken sword, promoting his strength to an unrivalled realm. He carried an unparalleled and supreme aura, and his might was simply unstoppable.

"Kill!"

The four supreme experts shouted together. They were all blood ridden as they used all of their power to kill him.

"This old thing is truly troublesome, but let's see just how long your rampage will last!" The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow shouted.

They had already noticed that the old man's body had problems. That ancient sword stuck in his skull made his conditions unstable, because he was continuously bleeding black blood from there.

The old man shouted, and both of his eyes were empty. His killing intent became even fiercer now as the threat of his sword aura became even more pervasive. Black symbols flickered before turning into a divine chain that tangled the skies.

They appeared extremely strange as they made hualala sounds. The divine chains seemed like they were made out of gold, yet they flickered with black light. They covered the empty skies and sealed off the experts' retreat paths.

Furthermore, the black divine chains spread outwards with the intent of locking them all up. They flickered brilliantly with their terrifying auras, gradually filling the air with a layer of mist that enveloped the nine heavens.

“Kill!”

Upon seeing this, the four supreme experts began to do their utmost to survive. This old man was too terrifying and worthy of being a first ancestor. He was actually stronger than the four of them combined.

When the enormous wings that was thousands of li long streaked across the sky, it collapsed all the mountains around it. When the enormous Qiong Qi roared, the nine heavens trembled.

The man-shaped creature from the Southern Meteorite Divine Mountain emitted light as he held the golden bone banner in his hands. He shook it within the vast and endless skies, and the stars around it seemed to have started trembling as well.

The expert from Mount Yi was also emitting precious splendor. The divine halo behind his head enlarged like a sun as it forced its way into the sky, emitting rays of golden light.

The four experts weaved and attacked from all directions with the desires to cut loose the black chains. They revolved around the old man and wished to kill him in the air.

However, the old man's power exceeded their imaginations. He possessed endless hidden powers, and became more ferocious as he fought. The broken sword in his hand glittered as he slashed horizontally and hacked vertically. After a pu sound, the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow's other wing had been hacked off. Its blood splashed so high into the sky that the nine heavens had been dyed red.

Chi

The sword's aura was like a rainbow as it pierced the Qiong Qi's stomach. A large bloody hole appeared inside him, and his front and back was sparkling clean.

At the same time, the two man-shaped creatures both suffered injuries. The divine halo behind the expert of Mount Yi was sliced opened. Even the back of his head had been sliced off, which made him shout out with fear.

As for the Southern Meteorite Divine Mountain's expert, he also suffered an injury. The golden bone banner within his hand had a chunk of it sliced off, and many of his fingers had been hacked off along with it. They continuously dripped out blood, making him retreat rapidly.

"The ancestor's divine arts!"

"Take revenge for the great Guardian Spirit!"

Everyone from Heaven Mending Pavilion who was on the ground became stirred up. Their hearts were incredibly excited, because they wished that the grey haired old man would behead all four of those supreme experts.

Disciples from tens to hundreds of years ago had returned, and there might have even been older people who came to help. They helped the trapped disciples of the pure land out. However, upon seeing this scene, many people from the Heaven Mending Pavilion wanted to go back and kill them all.

"Don't be impetuous. Safely leaving is good enough. We achieved this through Marquis Lingtian, Divergent Mountain's lord, War King and others' help. We have to live for their expectations." Heaven Mending Pavilion's Pavilion Master dissuaded them and did not allow anyone to charge back.

He gazed into the blue dome of heaven. His heart was unsettled because the grey haired old man's circumstances were dire. That ancient sword was trembling, which created cracks in front of his skull, dying his hair in the black blood.

Sure enough after a fierce battle that inflicted heavy injuries onto the four experts, the grey haired old man staggered. Although he was yelling, he was still unable to pull out that ancient sword in the end.

In his resounding cries, that sword was vibrating strongly and slowly inserted back into his skull. It made him spit out black blood from his mouth, and the cracks in his skull become even larger as his body swayed.

“We’re leaving!” The Heaven Mending Pavilion’s Pavilion Master shouted loudly.

His heart was bleeding as he saw his pure land defeated and occupied by many other creatures to baptize themselves. He was very uncomfortable, but there was no solutions. Their Guardian Spirit had fallen, and the first ancestor who he thought had originally passed away suddenly appeared today, but in a serious condition. Given enough time, the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow, Qiong Qi and the others would most likely struggle free and unleash their might.

“Stop them. Don’t let them go!”

Someone shouted, and many people also turned their attention towards the sky. After seeing the gray-haired old man in such a bad state, the fear in their hearts gradually disappeared.

“Heaven Mending Pavilion’s first ancestor already died during the ancient era. This is only his rotten corpse. Don’t be scared!”

“Kill....”

In the blink of an eye, the yelling murderous shouts shook the skies. Everyone had once again began their assault to surround the entire Heaven Mending Pavilion.

“Don’t zealously stay and fight. Let’s split up and go!” Heaven Mending Pavilion’s Pavilion Master commanded his school to separate and break the siege through different directions.

The fortunate thing was, they had already escaped the larger encirclement, so their situation was now much better than before.

“Senior brother, take care. I’m going to leave with a bunch of disciples!” Some people came over and said their farewells.

“Good, we will act separately. No matter who survives in the end, we will certainly rebuild the Heaven Mending Pavilion!”

A few people came and said farewell to the Pavilion Master, and then each of them brought a group of people to kill their way out through different directions.

Mu Yan, elder Liu and several other elders also acted the same way. They commenced their large murdering sprees in order to carve out a path made of blood.

“Hou...”

“You all won’t be able to leave.” Golden rays of light flickered in the distance as a terrifying creature from an ancient divine mountain appeared. This was the golden beast, and it obstructed one of the paths.

“Tuoba family’s clan head is here. None of you should think about escaping!”

A few elders loudly shouted from another direction. As their eyes opened and shut, divine rays of lightning shot out. They lead a group of dark clothed people to obstruct another direction.

“Western Tomb Beast Mountain’s Flying Python King is here. I’ll see if you dare to escape!” An enormous flying python appeared from another direction. Its entire body was flickering with multicolored light as it extended there like a mountain range.

Many directions had terrifying experts obstructing the path. The situation was not as simple as they had imagined; it was still dire.

“Just a bunch of bouncing clowns, and you dare to block my way?!” The War King was quite mighty. He attacked towards a group of experts and lead many people outside the blockage.

“Kill...”

Lightning ancestor Mu Yan released his thunder spheres from another place. Experts instantly flew outwards and exploding in the air, turning into dust.

This was a terrifying battle between the Heaven Mending Pavilion and experts from every direction. After breaking out of the siege, they only discovered more creatures lying in wait. They could only continue their bloody battle in order to advance.

“Kill!”

“Don’t allow them to leave!”

Battles broke out in every direction, and this place erupted in slaughter. Everyone with animosity towards the Heaven Mending Pavilion took action. One of the most terrifying ancient divine mountains, Mount Yi, had displayed their desire for revenge and sent out their golden beast. This was a catastrophic outcome.

This land was filled with random battles. Murderous shouts shook the sky, and the great earth was dyed bloody red.

The little guy followed and charged. He was fully fighting to the point of becoming delirious. He did not know elder he was fleeing with, but he was killing until his entire body became bloody as he weaved about amongst the group of people.

Right now, he did not know which direction was which anymore. He was only following his seniors as he fled while battling along the way.

Pu

Six or seven elders were protecting this group of people, and they were at the vanguard of this battle. However, they had been slashed by the claws of that ancient beast. It was an incredibly sinister creature whose terror overflowed into the heavens.

“Elders!” Everyone cried out with grief.

“Bastard!” An angry shout rang out from afar. Heaven Mending Pavilion’s Pavilion Master, Tao Ye and a few others also came in this direction. They cooperated to activate Heaven Mending Pavilion’s supreme artifact: the glistening yellow gourd.

With a hong sound, the gourd enlarged as the aura of primal chaos surged forth and suppressed everything beneath. It shook the ancient beast until it exploded into a patch of bloody mist.

Everyone was suddenly shocked, and stepped aside because they were all horrified.

“Damn it. You dare to kill my son!” A golden beast appeared. It had the figure of a human, and a full body of gold hair. It was reputed as a divine servant that served ancient divine beasts. Its techniques were excellent and its terror overflowed into the heavens.

Weng

The glistening yellow gourd shined after being activated once again. With a hong sound, the golden beast was shaken and flew across the air as it spat out mouthfuls of blood.

“How powerful! It’s worth of being a supreme artifact!” The golden beast was startled.

This gourd had a powerful origin. It was grown by the Guardian Spirit, except it had not matured yet. In the ancient time, the world was in upheaval, and the divine vine participated in wretched battles to protect this pure land. During one of the battles, it had suffered an unimaginable injury that practically killed it. That even was the root of the reason why it suffered from an incurable condition, and could not have lasted until today.

Back then, it had once bloomed, and gave fruit to a gourd. Unfortunately, before it had fully matured, it fell off due to the aforementioned injuries.

It had an extremely short period of growth, and even its primal energy was exhausted. As a result, the detachment of this gourd signified that it would scatter into light rain, because it was still far from maturity.

However, Heaven Mending Pavilion tried every method possible and utilized many spiritual objects to refine this gourd, and in the end, they were finally able to preserve it.

Theoretically, this gourd shouldn’t possess much strength since it had already fallen off. However, after being refined hundreds of times, it became one of the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s supreme treasures.

A severe battle that far surpassed everyone’s imaginations erupted here.

The little guy followed the group and advanced into the distance. The battlegrounds here split into four parts, and he did not have the strength to intervene. Escape was the best option.

“Kill...”

Along with murderous shouts, everyone charged through together. Gradually, they divided up into many groups and escaped into the distance.

“Big fatty!”

Suddenly, the little guy was startled. He saw Huo Ling’er standing in a faraway mountain peak, and there was a shining war chariot stopped beside her.

“Father emperor, please save my senior brothers and sisters.” She pleaded.

“Fine, you have baptized here successfully, and you have entered the Heaven Mending Pavilion after all. I owe them a favor. I’ll save the people over here.”

An imposing voice echoed from the chariot.

Hong!

In the next moment, the ancient war chariot shone like a sun, and there were endless dense symbols illuminating the heaven and earth around it. Terrifying aura flooded over like an ocean.

The Tuoba family who had been chasing and killing up to this point were all astonished.

Heaven Mending Pavilion’s leaders in this direction were all covered in blood. After fighting madly until now, their bodies were on the verge of collapsing. If this continued, they would perish.

At this precise moment, that war chariot’s shine enveloped the land and stopped this battle. That mighty and dignified voice said, “Tuoba family, please back off.”

“Fire nation’s emperor. You shouldn’t meddle in this affair!” One of Tuoba family’s elders shouted loudly.

“This matter, I have to take care of!” Only these words came out of the war chariot.

“You...”

Tuoba family’s people were startled and angry, but they were fearful as well.

With a weng sound, the war chariot shone and golden symbols formed a barrier of light that instantly enveloped everyone from Heaven Mending Pavilion. They had disappeared from their original spots, and were sent ten li away.

“You...” Tuoba family’s younger generation wanted to stop him.

However, the elders there hastily stopped them. They were scared of offending the emperor and provoking a huge disaster.

They turned around and left, but they wanted to take a detour in order to continue their pursuit.

However, the emperor raised his hand and a blazing light flew out of the chariot. It cut straight across their path, sealing them within.

“You’re being too oppressive. There will be a day...” An elder from the Tuoba family clenched his teeth.

A streak of divine light flew over and enveloped him. Tuoba family’s elder was shocked upon seeing. He exhausted all of his strength as he waved out a huge symbol in order to defend his grandson against that streak of light.

Pu

This elder's arm was exploded into a bloody mist. The emperor's might could not be stopped! His grandson was turned into a pile of blood because he simply could not withstand it.

"We're leaving!" Upon seeing the situation, the Tuoba family elder no longer spoke. He rapidly left with his people and did not dare pursue any longer.

That ancient war chariot was shining as it carried Huo Ling'er through the sky. Symbols interweaved, as if thunder and lightning were flickering. Simply no one dared to obstruct them as they disappeared into the ends of the horizon in the blink of an eye.

The several hundred disciples from Heaven Mending had successfully broke through the siege from this direction. Everything was due to the help of the emperor.

From the distance, the little guy was dumbstruck. Following that, he beat his chest and stomped his feet. The big fatty's father was over there, and if he knew sooner, he would have broke through from that direction.

In the end, he was a step too late. There was an endless rank of enemies behind him, and an emptiness in front.

"I'm escaping!"

He once again charged into the group of people as he started charging through in order to look for another group of Heaven Mending Pavilion's people.

This was a chaotic battle, but it was also a large killing and plundering opportunity that was seldomly seen in many years. The little guy had already fled with them and was far away from the Heaven Mending Pavilion; however, they were still being closely pursued from the behind. There was no way to break away from the endless chasing enemies.

There was a group of vicious birds chasing and killing from the sky, and endless humans and enormous beast pursuing them from the ground. This was a miserable battle.

He did not know whether or not the others had broken out of their siege, but their group were in an increasing amounts of danger. At first, lightning ancestor Mu Yan was leading the charge, but soon after, no one knew when, but the large group of people had already been separated into over ten smaller groups.

Along the way, there weren't just people looking to kill them. There were also people trying to help them such as nobles who once enrolled their younger generations into the Heaven Mending Pavilion in order to be baptized here. They owed a large favor to the Heaven Mending Pavilion.

A group of people saved them and helped them leave the battlefield.

However, the little guy was quite unlucky. He hadn't encountered help once. Along the way, he had seen a few openings, but he could only stare blankly at those opportunities that had just brushed past him.

"Devilish brat, where are you going to run!" Loud roars echoed from behind him. There were actually people who were watching him closely, chasing him through many groups of people in order to kill him.

"It's people from the four great clans!" His heart trembled as he speedily escaped and said, "Big red, stop pretending, let's go!"

Beside him, apart from Qingfeng, there were two strange beasts whose fur was shining with incredible ferocity. They were actually the big red bird and Second Baldy. They had been wearing beast skins as they madly ran along the way in fear of being seen by those groups of vicious birds in the sky.

It was because those who flew in the sky were even more terrifying than those who were on the ground. There was a group of extremely difficult to deal with experts sweeping across the sky, and their precise goal was to stop them from quickly escaping.

It was another great pursuit. The little guy and the others jumped on the big red bird's back. He told it to fly close to the ground and escape for their lives.

After an a hour, they had temporarily broken away from the pursuiters, but the big red bird was almost ripped apart. A group of vicious birds chased them, and they were even more savage than the four great clans.

Fortunately, it was extremely fast, and it far surpassed those individuals.

“Not good, I have to rest; otherwise, I’ll be useless.” The big red bird landed on the ground to quickly heal its injuries.

This was a place that was far from the battlefield, and they haven’t been able to see any of the great battle for a long time already. Over half a day’s time had passed by, and they did not know how that grey haired old man was doing.

Suddenly, a streak of black light appeared. Then with a resounding noise, a broken sword fell to the ground.

Chapter 195 – The Great Calamity Ends

Keng qiang, sparks splashed in every direction. The broke sword pierced into a limestone and trembled slightly, emitting metallic noises.

The little guy looked widened his eyes and gazed high into the sky and did not see anyone. There was no one from the Four Great clans here, and there were no signs of the grey-haired man either. One a few vicious birds were birds streaked across the empty sky once in awhile.

With a qiang sound, he pulled out the broken sword. He then looked around like a thief before carrying the Big Red Bird that was still healing on his shoulders and leading Qingfeng as well as Second Baldy out of here.

This was a supreme treasure! Even though it was broken, it could still slice open the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow and hack through a Qiong Qi. Now that he got it back after seeing what it was capable of, he naturally began to treasure it more and take care of it better to avoid the eyes of any greedy onlookers.

Only after running another 10 li did he finally drop the big red bird. It fell down and began to shout miserably, complaining about the pain.

The little guy was elated and began to reevaluate the broken sword. It was pitch black without any luster and there wasn't the slightest hint of divine force, but he knew that this was actually a supreme precious artifact.

"The rust is gone, but are there more bloodstains now?" He scratched his head. Dark red colored blood traces replaced the previously rusty stains.

What happened to the ghostly grandpa? He was a little bit worried. After seeing this broken sword, he gently let out a sigh as he put it behind his back.

He did not have the time to think too much about that, because his biggest goal currently was to escape this place alive. Chaotic battles were taking place everywhere today, and there were war cries sounding from every direction. There was fighting happening everywhere, and one could die if they took a simple misstep.

This region seemed rather calm, but the little guy did not decide to make his getaway immediately. This was because he didn't want to peek his head out too early. Every time he thought he broke away, terrifying figures would always appear and block his way.

In the end, he was still within the battlefield.

His best option was to blend in with the crowd and not be the first one to be killed. If he could muddle himself within the enemies, that would be even better.

“Big brother, can we escape?” There were a few bloodstains on Qingfeng’s little face. Along the way, he had seen many deaths and even took action a few times himself to kill a few of the heavily injured vicious beasts.

He was very careful, because the shouts of battle were still faintly ringing from the distance. The battlefield was expanding, and they had never truly separated themselves from it.

Aohou

A muffled roar echoed through. The mountain ranges shook, and the leaves within the forest began to flutter about in disorder. An enormous black tiger that was as large as a mountain fled from the battlefield with a body completely covered in blood.

“It’s that guy!”

The little guy was surprised. This was the terrifying black tiger that he saw guarding the Black Demon Lotus during the second round of Heaven Mending Pavilion’s disciple trials.

This black tiger was more difficult to deal with than ordinary descendents; however, its entire body was bloody after suffering some heavy injuries. White bones were exposed from the tip of its shoulders as it carried over ten Heaven Mending Pavilion disciples on its back.

It ran wildly as it charged into the distance. It seemed like it had paid a heavy price to break out of the siege.

The little guy wanted to call it, but as soon as he stood up, all the hairs on the black tiger’s body were erect. It stood up on its hind legs like a man, and a disciple from the Heaven Mending Pavilion almost fell off.

Chi

A streak of scarlet light charged over from the within the dark abyss. This was a scarlet flood dragon over a hundred zhang in length. Its aura was no weaker than the black tiger's. This was obviously a powerful Archaic Descendent.

Peng

The black tiger reached out with a symbol covered claw. Black light surged violently as it smashed forward like an ocean. However, the scarlet flood dragon fiercely defended by exterminating the symbols with a sweep of its tail.

A hong long sound rang out, and the mountain peaks nearby all collapsed. Roughly ten giant boulders weighing over ten thousand jin rolled about. The two powerful creatures collided and fought furiously.

However at this moment, a golden lion appeared from a forest that was even farther away. Its two eyes were shining like golden lanterns, and its body was as tall as a mountain. It topped a mountain with a single swipe of its palm, and nothing was capable of blocking tis way.

The little guy became fearful. Fortunately, he did not rush out early. It was better to leave amidst the chaos after all; otherwise, these two descendants alone were able to kill a large batch of experts.

The black tiger's eyes became cold, because it knew that it encountered a major inconvenience. With the appearance of these two extremely powerful descendants, it would most likely die if it fought here.

This was true especially for that lion. It was completely golden and seemed like a terrifying king that overlooked the world. As it arrogantly walked over, it appeared even more menacing.

The ten disciples on its back were all fearful. They had encountered many disasters today, and the amount of experts were too many. Creatures from every race came, and it evoked a great disaster upon them.

The black tiger roared and collided with the scarlet flood dragon. They both inflicted injuries upon each other before retreating for a bit.

The golden lion who was not so far away also made its move. Its claw slapped over, and golden rays of light submerged the land as if a comet was streaking across the sky. Its supreme aura filled the air.

In the distance, the little guy inhaled a breath of cold air. This was lion was simply too strong, and was completely not the black tiger's opponent. This was an emperor level descendant, and there was no way it could be defeated unless the ancestral elders from the pure land rushed over.

Sure enough, the black tiger also discovered its terror and quickly made its retreat. However, it was still swept over by the golden multicolored light. Its entire flesh became indistinct as it suffered a heavy injury.

It flew straight across the air. With a hong sound, its huge body crushed a mountain peak. Over ten disciples on its back immediately suffered some heavy injuries, and eight or nine of them died tragically, their flesh becoming indistinguishable.

The black tiger released a long hiss and jumped up. It immediately turned its head and ran. That was a lion king, and its cultivation far surpassed its own, so it was far from being its opponent.

“You want to leave? It’s not that easy! I am the golden lion king from the Western Tomb Beast Mountain. I came here for the destruction of the Heaven Mending Pavilion!”

The golden lion spoke coldly. Its height reached into the skies, and its body alone was taller than mountains. Its entire body was golden, and with a slap of its palm, the mountain blocking its way was completely smashed.

It also jumped up and followed the black tiger. Golden light surged and filled the entire sky. The enormous king’s body intimidated everyone as its terror overflowed into the heavens.

The little guy sighed. The black tiger was most likely out of luck. This golden lion was too powerful, as it was one of the Western Tomb Beast Mountain’s leaders. The only reason that it guarded this place was to catch the ‘fish that escaped the net’.

From the looks of it, the disciples that escaped earlier might have not have broke free completely. Ahead of them were still endless dangers.

Aoo...

From the distance, the roar of a lion shook the skies. Blood sprouted into the skies, and shouts echoed through the air. An ancestral elder from the Heaven Mending Pavilion was hurrying over with a group of disciples.

“Die bastard!”

The ancestral elder started to fight with the golden tiger. The mountain ranges collapsed, the ancient trees were obliterated, and rubble flew into the clouds.

The little guy clenched his fist. The destruction of the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s pure land this time had killed many people. Disciples like him were absolutely helpless; after all, they were still so young and had no way of challenging those old monsters.

Even though he had the broken sword in his hand, he was still too weak. His cultivation was not high enough, so he could not use it to its full potential. He could not deal with those true nobles at all.

“Go!”

Together with Qingfeng, Second Baldy, and the others, they once again went on their road. Again, they did not forcefully charge through everything. They stealthily advanced through the forest while waiting for an opportunity.

After going deep into an area for over ten li, murderous shouts reached his ears. One of his senior brothers from the Heaven Mending Pavilion shouted with sorrow, “Elder!”

The little guy saw what was going on through the forest leaves. The bodies of two elders were ignited; after exhausting all their essence energy, they rushed into the group of enemies before self-destructing.

“All of you, quickly leave!”

The two shouted loudly before completely exploding within the enemy’s ranks. A shower of light battered them, and many foes were heavily injured.

The group of disciples from the Heaven Mending Pavilion were in sorrow. They tearfully escaped into the distance.

“Ah...” The little guy couldn’t help but quietly roar.

The heavily injured enemies were delayed for a while, but they began to chase after the group of Heaven Mending Pavilion disciples again soon after. The little guy couldn’t endure it any longer.

He collected Qingfeng and Second Baldy into the Heaven and Earth pouch.

With the broken sword in hand, the little guy activated it with all his might.

With a weng sound, the broken sword shined with the brilliance of a sun. He used his utmost strength as he swung forward.

Pu

The mountains and creeks were cracked, and several peaks were destroyed. Enormous sword energy sliced out in front of him and several people instantly exploded into a bloody pulp. However, the people in the back quickly dodged and avoided death.

This was a group of experts whose cultivation realms were higher than his. There were humans among them, but there were also creatures from other clans too. They all gazed towards him, and stared at the broken sword in his hand before attacking together.

The little guy encountered an extremely great danger, and so he didn't fight zealously any longer. He quickly turned around before fleeing into the mountains and forests behind him.

"You won't be able to leave!" A vicious bird flapped its wings and charged over with all its might.

Qiang

The little guy activated the Kun Peng's precious technique, and a pair of divine wings appeared behind him. Instantly, wind and thunder erupted as mighty astral winds and golden rays of energy surged. He stamped on the ground, and his speed instantly improved tremendously. He submerged into the great wastes using the mountains and forests as his cover.

This was a huge crisis. Even though he possessed the Kun Peng's precious techniques, there were still messy battles happening all over the place. Experts were everywhere around here, so the danger level was still at its maximum.

The little guy escaped while being covered in blood. He wasted over two hours before finally losing his enemy. There were quite a few heavy injuries on his body; fortunately, his body was terrifying. He swallowed a stalk of spiritual medicine, and the wounds on his bones were quickly healed.

"So dangerous, but I have to escape alive."

He was searching for Mu Yan, marquis Lingtian, elder Liu and the others. The only way for him to completely break out of here was probably to meet up with them. However, with the fierce battles going on, everyone had been scattered. In addition, those individuals were definitely being targeted, so it was quite likely that they weren't even alive any longer.

"There's no choice. I can only return to that fierce and terrifying battlefield. I have to fight with everything on the line in the face of danger."

The little guy turned around and charged into the intense battlefield. Naturally, as soon as he approached, he encountered a terrifying calamity. There were vicious beasts who were closely watching him.

The little guy fought ferociously and bathed in blood. He found an opportunity to use Hairy Ball's precious technique to conceal his appearance. Taking his Heaven Mending Pavilion uniform, he snuck amongst the ranks of the Tuoba clan.

He wanted to take advantage of the crisis to break free, so he charged straight in.

However soon after, sword energy that reached into the skies hacked over and almost smashed him apart. It was people from the four clans, and he did not know how they were actually able to recognize him.

“Devilish brat, bring your life here!”

How was he exposed? The little guy was astonished as his hair suddenly became erect. This was like almost walking into their trap.

Fortunately, there weren't any kings in this area. He immediately unsheathed his broken sword to engage in bloody combat. Then, he quickly fled into the great wastes yet again in order to escape from this battlefield.

“What happened?” He opened the Heaven and Earth pouch. He asked Qingfeng, big red bird and them about possible ways to deal with the situation.

Second Baldy said, “The four clans absolutely despise you. They were chasing you right from the start. Even though you were able to break away from them, they definitely used some orchids or fragrant flowers to mark your body. Its smell probably won't scatter for days, and they used that to follow you.”

The little guy's expression changed upon hearing this.

Fortunately, the mountain ranges were vast enough, and there were many people who were currently fighting. Finding one person was very tough. If it wasn't because he personally returned, they might not have discovered him at all.

Currently, the little guy was escaping with all might as he rushed into the distance using the dense forests as cover. Several time, he thought that he completely escaped the battlefield only to discover that there were still experts guarding up ahead. This made him unable to rashly move again.

“Live, I have to escape alive. I have to avenge my senior brothers and sister!” The little guy clenched his teeth.

Along the way, he had seen too many bodies. There were enemies, but also people from the Heaven Mending Pavilion. The entire road was bloodstained.

“Yu Feng, you actually dare to be so ruthless and act against your own school?” Furious roars echoed from ahead.

After the little guy heard this, he was instantly shocked and quickly charged over.

An elder was completely furious. Behind him was a group of disciples who were loudly berating everyone ahead.

A white clothed youth coldly said, "Elder, I know that the school hadn't carried away all of its scriptures, and they were scattered amongst several elders. I really need them, can you give them to me please."

Behind him was a group of experts who were all from the Rain Clan.

"You immature bat. Many nobles sent their sons and daughters into my Heaven Mending Pavilion. Although their goals were to receive a baptism, in the face of the great disaster today, they all helped in order to return the favor. However, you dare to hit us while we're down?!" That elder furiously roared.

"I don't want to become hostile either. I really need one of the precious technique in particular!" Yu Feng coldly said. Although he was quite young, his heart was cold.

"Yu Feng, we put you in the genius camp, regarded you with high importance and passed on some secret symbols to you. However, you bite the hand that feed you. Are you still human? Your rain clan is too despicable!" Several disciples angrily shouted.

"Kill!"

From behind him, several experts from the Rain Clan stepped out and rushed out murderously. They had heard that this elder was carrying a precious technique on him that had a strong affinity for the essence of water, and so it was extremely important for the Rain Clan.

The little guy was furious. After he entered the Heaven Mending Pavilion, he met this Yu Feng very early on. It was reputed that he could use the lightning and thunder of the nine heavens, and was an extremely gifted person in the genius camp. Afterwards, he was selected by an old monster and had high hopes placed upon him. However, he actually acted like this in such a pivotal moment.

"Die, you ingrate!" That elder was furious.

A fierce battle exploded. The little guy appeared and rose up in revenge. A streak of divine light swept ahead. With a pu sound, several experts from the Rain Clan were chopped in half, and a rain of blood flew into the air.

At the same time, the Kun Peng wings behind him spread, and thunder and wind instantly erupted. He rushed forward and made several strong moves in succession. Sword energy was everywhere; but unfortunately, there were many experts in the Rain Clan who continuously backed off to avoid his killing blow.

“Kill him!”

Everyone from the Rain Clan was furious. There was actually a youth hidden in secret who actually dared to offend their might. How could they let him go?

“It’s him! It’s the devilish brat!”

“What? Quickly chase him and chop his head off!”

After everyone from the Rain Clan knew who he was, they all went crazy and charged forward to kill him.

The little guy purposely showed his true face in order to make them chase him. Sure enough, this made all of them go crazy. The devilish brat had killed all of their geniuses and restricted individuals in the Hundred Shattering Mountains, making them hate him to the bones.

This was a huge chase and kill mission, and the little guy was only able to escape after an hour. His entire body was covered in patches of blood.

He had seen too many life and death battles, and the little guy was truly tired of it. When he charged into another small battlefield, his eyes felt a bit sore.

Elder Xiong Fei and Zhuo Yun hated him a lot once upon a time, because he made so much trouble during the entrance trials. These two always wanted to spank his buttocks.

Right now, for the sake of the disciples, these two had already given up on their own lives. They blocked up the enemies’ path and had become blood-ridden in the process in order to let their disciples escape from this place.

When the little guy saw them, the two individuals were already lying in a pool of blood. They were being tore at by an enormous beast and were on the verge of death.

“Elder!” A group of people shouted loudly. Ordinarily, these two weren’t so welcoming. However, at crucial moments, they were still protective, and did not escape with their own lives.

Everyone was crying loudly. The group of disciples were incredibly sad.

“You guys leave quickly. I’ll stop them for a bit!” A 25 or 26 year old youth stood up in order to cut them off.

“Senior brother Lin Mu, leave quickly. You’re not their opponent!” A group of people anxiously advised.

“Stop with the nonsense. After the elders die, I’m the oldest. If I tell you to leave, then you leave as soon as possible.” Lin Mu shouted.

“Senior brother!” The group of people choked up with emotions.

Lin Mu had been in the school for over ten years, and he was an extremely powerful genius. When the little guy was meeting with the four great clans outside the mountain gates last time, he once made great contributions.

“Not a single one can leave!” The enormous beast roared.

“Why aren’t you leaving yet!” Lin Mu shouted before turning around and facing ahead.

The little guy’s eyes were sour, but he still made his move without any hesitation. Although this action was quite dangerous and he had already been in several dangerous situations, he still could not hold himself back.

The broken sword shined and the sword energy became incredibly thick as it almost withdrew all the essence energy from his body. With a pu sound, it struck towards the enemy and beheaded that enormous beast.

“Ao...” The group of beasts from the Western Tomb Beast Mountains were furious, and they all gazed over. Then, their vicious auras overflowed into the heavens as they attacked him.

“Quickly! Run!” The little guy shouted towards everyone.

That group of disciples shed tears. They turned around for a final look before charging into the distance.

Lin Mu did not leave. He heartily laughed and said, “Junior brother, I didn’t think that I would be fighting with you side by side in my last moments!”

“Senior brother, you run away too!” The little guy waved his broken sword and said.

“No need, I have already activated the Heavenly Blood Ignition Technique. I only have a day to live now, so it’s better over to die in a fierce battle.” Lin Mu said with ease.

He was not sad nor angry. In fact, he was completely calm as if he was talking about something that was completely unrelated to him.

The Heavenly Blood Ignition Technique could force all the potential out of people’s bodies for one day. Their fighting power would increase several fold, perhaps maybe up to tenfold until their essence energy had been exhausted. Afterwards, they will die.

“Let me massacre them all. Junior brother, you look for an opportunity to escape. You have to keep your life intact!” Lin Mu told him.

The little guy clenched his fists. His eyes were thoroughly red. Lin Mu was an extremely strong genius. He had a great prestige amongst many fellow disciples. Furthermore, he was regarded highly by the school’s seniors. He did not leave when he had the chance to; instead, he remained to aid in the matters regarding everyone’s escape.

Now, he was actually going to die; furthermore, he was going to die in such a solemn and emotional battle.

“Junior brother, just go!”

In the end, Lin Mu shouted loudly. He had activated the Heavenly Blood Ignition Technique a long time again, and his blood had pretty much been completely burnt. His entire body was shining with a dazzling light as he charged into the group of enemies.

The little guy clamored and shouted. His eyes were completely red as he continuously waved his sword around. Tears flowed down from his eyes nonstop until he finally escaped from this place.

This huge calamity lasted for a day and night until it finally began to slowly end. The little guy successfully escaped from the blood-ridden pure land with endless sadness and sorrow.

The morning clouds sprinkled their splendor as the sun rose into the sky. He motionlessly laid on top of a mountain. An unknown amount of time passed before he finally stood up and gazed towards that battle-scarred land.

The little guy's eyes were very red as he looked with determination. A long time had passed before he wiped his tears away. He turned around without any hesitation.

Chapter 196 – Fallen Phoenix Ridge

Mists floated about the mountains. Under the illumination of the morning clouds, five or six different colors emitted their misty brilliance.

The morning dew rolled off the blades of grass, each droplet sparkling with the light of day. The grass were fresh and clean, and the sun was currently giving off its warmth. The little guy went on his way, leaving behind the war-scarred land behind him as he walked towards the distance.

In the end, he adjusted his state of mind and began to quickly run. He welcomed the morning clouds and sped along like a gust of wind. As the little guy crossed the great earth, he was as brilliant as a shooting star, completely separating himself from that land of grievance.

The Heaven Mending Pavilion was destroyed. It was struck by a huge calamity, and every single area was disturbed. This was an event that was both far-reaching and long-lasting; the entire great wastes were shaken.

Was everything going to fall into chaos? Everyone was quaking in fear. That was a magnificent Archaic pure land! Its tradition had been passed down for countless generations, yet it was actually destroyed in a single evening.

“What a terrifying battle! Destroyed just like that... Is this an omen for the upheaval of this world? Perhaps that day isn’t too far off!”

Regardless of whether it was humans or other creatures, all of the ancient powers felt deeply restless. After just a single battle, the Heaven Mending Pavilion was turned into ruins.

It was known as a pure land, and from the ancient era until now, not even deities were able to turn this place into a wasteland. It was able to preserve itself even through the era when terrifying saints battled for supremacy. In the end, the school was turned into scattered ashes and dispersed smoke, disappearing from this world.

Many people had a rather bad premonition. There was a type of fretfulness within the great wastelands, as well as a type of brutality. It was likely that this place would not calm down again, and that this was a prologue to true turmoil.

“It truly difficult to imagine... A school so ancient and great like the Heaven Mending Pavilion could even be destroyed. Sure enough, even glorious traditions can decay, leading towards its end!”

“It’s hard to imagine that an ancient large school such as Heaven Mending Pavilion could be destroyed. Looks like its glory had indeed declined until it had reached its end today.”

“The Tuoba Clan, Western Tomb Beast Mountain as well as many other ancient families were all apart of this. With such a large force gathered together, who could defend against something like that? Even if you didn’t want to be destroyed, you would still have no choice.”

“The most important thing was that even the Archaic divine mountains were involved in this affair. Places like Mount Yi and Southern Meteorite Mountains even sent their experts to descend here. Their attitude decided everything!”

Within the great wastes, everyone was discussing what had happened one after another.

The destruction of the Heaven Mending Pavilion influenced too many things. Meanwhile, the actions of the Archaic beast mountain also made others began to reconsider many things. They dispatched a Golden Beast to unleash a huge massacre; this type of situation was too terrifying, as it created a huge calamity.

“The divine seed is simply world-shocking. It’s a supreme treasure that the old vine nurtured from the Archaic era until now. Accumulated within are symbols of the dao, and after endless years of refinement, it reached the point where it can even make deities’ eyes red with greed.”

If there wasn’t a divine seed, perhaps the supreme experts would not have made a move.

However, the obliteration of the Heaven Mending Pavilion was unavoidable. After all, the old vine had lived from the ancient era until now. It was already at a point where it couldn’t support itself any longer and was on the verge of dying. If those powerful enemies didn’t make their moves now, when would they?

This was a crisis that engulfed every region. After this topic was brought to the table, everyone’s expressions would change. This type of conclusion was extremely terrifying.

When anyone talked about it, their expressions would change. This kind of ending and conclusion was a terrifying afterthought.

The divine land was exterminated just like that, far surpassing many people's expectations.

News began to proliferate like great waves, making this entire region tremble. There wasn't a single person who wasn't affected, Great shockwaves spread across the entire great wastes until there wasn't a single person who wasn't frightened. There were discussions regarding this everywhere.

"Heaven Mending Pavilion encountered a huge calamity. How many of their people could still have survived today? You have to realize that's an alliance between many school and clans. Even a king might not make out with his life after being surrounded by them."

"I heard that only a few small fry were able to escape the net. The rest were probably completely killed off."

Some sighed, others took joy in this disaster. The opinions of the creatures in this world differed quite greatly.

During this battle, the pure land's leader, Mu Yan, elder Liu and the other upper level figures from the Heaven Mending Pavilion were specifically targeted during their encirclement. They feared that these individuals had some great technique that could transport out the disciples.

If any individuals of this caliber left, it would inevitably bring great misfortune.

According to the people's conjectures, the upper level figures of the Heaven Mending Pavilion were all eliminated. Apart from the War King, Marquis Lingtian and some others who left with the Stone Country Emperor, there were practically no other individuals of great importance that were able to leave.

"Too cruel... After an ancient ancestor was killed, the hundred disciples he was protecting with his great ability instantly exploded into pieces."

During the Heaven Mending Pavilion's great retreat, the upper level figures were being focused, so they encountered the most terrifying attacks. As a result, choosing to stay by their sides was not the best decision the disciples could have made, and the chances of surviving was greater if they had split up.

Apart from the upper level figures, there were a few carefully nurtured geniuses within the Heaven Mending Pavilion that were also targeted. They were also the focus of the elimination, and so all of them died in a similar fashion.

Linmu, Wufeng and the others were all killed in battle. Their blood died this calamity-ridden land.

“The Heaven Mending Pavilion is finished. The elders level figures have practically been wiped out, and the number of disciples are practically zero. The great pure land has turned into ruins. Only a few ordinary disciples escaped from the disorder out of luck, and none of them were significant”

“Wu, what about that devilish brat? His natural talents seems rather terrifying... Is he still alive?”

“It will be difficult for him to escape death. The Four Great Clans are always pursuing him and are focused on dealing with him. It is difficult for someone targetted like this to survive.”

“The disciples that followed him are most likely going to be killed off as well...”

The outside world had a difficult time calming down. These news shook the great wastes, and this was still a hot topic even after many days had passed.

Within the mountain region, Qingfeng’s eyes were extremely red as he continuously shed tears. The Heaven Mending Pavilion was turned into scorched earth. Too many people had died, and there was no information on how many were able to truly escape.

“Wuwu... I won’t be able to see those senior brothers and sisters every again. We were drinking together just a while ago...” He weeped.

“Wuwu... I can’t see those senior brothers or sisters ever again. We were just drinking together a while ago.” He weeped.

The little guy also clenched his fists as he sat there without uttering a single word.

He still remembered the times when they enjoyed delicious stolen wine from the Heaven Mending Pavilion, as well as the time they united to deal with the Four Great Clans outside the mountain gates.

Many of these senior brothers and sisters had pinched his little face before as they looked after and protected him. They urged him to cultivate with all his efforts so that his prestige would suppress all directions and protect the pure land.

However, all was lost in the blink of an eye. He would never see many of those people ever again, such as that senior brother Lin Mu who ignited his own life force to cut off their enemies, dying on the battlefield.

There were also brother Wufeng and many other less well known senior brothers and sisters who turned around at the most crucial moments to help their junior brothers and sisters escape.

The pure land previously filled with cheers and laughter was now enveloped in a shroud of death. Everything was scorched black, and broken walls littered the ground. This place became the graveyards for many of their senior brothers and sisters.

“No one can come back to life after death. Save your grieving.” Second baldy sighed as it spoke. It had forgotten just how many splendid and ancient schools had been buried throughout the years. There was no lack of ancient countries among them.

“I need to cultivate earnestly in order to avenge my master, elders, and seniors!” Qingfeng clenched his fists. His small face was extremely emotional as he wiped away the last of his tears.

Rising winds and scudding clouds brewed in the outside world as all types of rumors were being spread around.

“Eat some, the spiritual hound’s meat is very fragrant!” The little guy said.

The prey was being barbecued on top of the bonfire until it was golden. The meat was very tender, and a wave of fragrance would gush out after a piece was torn off and eaten. It was exceptional at stirring up one’s appetite.

“I’ll eat. I’ll eat a lot!” Qingfeng bit down with all his strength.

This was a spiritual hound that the Four Great Clans released to catch the little guy. Along the way, they encountered several difficulties, almost allowing the Four Great Clans to catch up.

Fortunately, the hidden orchid fragrance on the little guy's body had already weakened greatly and no longer left trail.

Hairy Ball was constantly screeching, and his mouth was full of flowing oil.

Half a month passed by in the blink of an eye. After all, they were still children, so the sadness and sorrow within their hearts had already been diluted quite a bit. If they did not purposely think about it, then they wouldn't become completely depressed.

The little guy advanced with his party through the great wastes. They wandered the world while refining themselves without rushing anywhere in particular. However, they had a goal in mind, and that was to return to Stone Village.

After a month had passed, the haze previously covering their hearts faded away. After shedding it away, their faces once again revealed the pure smiles children possess.

"Where are we now? How far are we from Stone Village?" Qingfeng asked.

"We are currently within the borders of Stone Country. There is still another three to four hundred thousand li before we reach Stone Country's western border. If we travel another three hundred thousand li from there, we'll reach Stone Village," the little guy said.

While within Stone Country, they unavoidably thought about the Rain Clan. Yu Feng and the other experts were simply too despicable. He enrolled within the Heaven Mending Pavilion to cultivate, yet there wasn't an ounce of gratefulness from him. He even hit them while they were down, killing many disciples within the pure land. It truly filled people with a wave of incomparably dense anger and fury.

"Sigh, this is a huge noble clan. We can't do anything to them right now, otherwise we will truly be digging our own graves." The little guy sighed.

His animosity with this clan was extremely deep. It did not just stem from the destruction of the Heaven Mending Pavilion, but from everything else he experienced as well. The reason he lost his Supreme Being Bone was all due to the actions of a woman from that clan.

Qingfeng nodded. Even someone as pure as him had the urge to murder and wipe out the Rain Clan. Many of the senior brothers and sisters did not die at the main enemies' hands, but rather by the Rain Clan's people.

This was a debt of blood, one that had to be paid back eventually.

Furthermore, that year when he was at the second ancestral land in the western border, it was precisely the Rain Clan that bribed the servants to act discourteous towards Qingfeng. They crippled his foot, and his body was nearly ruined.

"Even though you can't provoke such a huge power right now, you can still collect some interest..." Second Baldy said in an unhurried manner.

"A stomach full of evil tricks! However, I like it!" The big red bird excitedly said. It slapped Second Baldy on the back of its head, almost making it jump up in anger.

"That's right. We can collect some interest when we cross paths." The little guy nodded in a serious manner.

Second Baldy, the little guy, big red bird, and Qingfeng began to discuss. Afterwards, they began to gather anything relation to the Rain clan to carefully research their territories.

Attacking the Rain Clan was unrealistic since none of them had that much power. They could only do such a thing if they had the power of kings and nobles.

Their plan was rather practical. It was simply to loot every single territory that the Rain Clan occupied; this goal was quite simple.

"This is it – Fallen Phoenix Ridge. It's perfectly situated on our way back to the western border. We'll conveniently pay them a visit along the way!"

That was an one of the Rain Clan's most important territories. It was abundant in natural resources like black gold ore and spiritual medicine fields. There was even an auspicious beast ridge that was inhabited by many precious creatures.

They did not want to cross the line either. They were only going to rob one area before they left to avoid being caught up in a dangerous situation.

According to legends, Fallen Phoenix Ridge was the resting grounds of a genuine phoenix during the Archaic Era. In the end, it passed away here, allowing the spiritual essence here to flourish. It was a precious land even now.

It was situated two hundred thousand li from Stone Country's border, and was a very rare and precious territory.

"There are great experts guarding it, so it's going to be tough to steal anything. Everything is up to you, Hairy Ball." The little guy said. He gave hairy ball a large beast pouch and said, "We don't ask anything else from you other than to fill this bag up."

The golden Hairy Ball showed its dissatisfaction by screeching nonstop. This beast skin pouch was too big! If this was going to be filled to the brim with spiritual medicine, just how many stalks would that be?

The Fallen Phoenix Ridge occupy a vast piece of land. It was originally covered densely in old trees, and was an ideal place for growing spiritual medicine. This was because after the Archaic divine phoenix perished, its blood dyed this entire place red, giving the soil here a unique spirituality.

Not to mention the spiritual stalks that were moved here, even the number of ancient medicines that grew here originally weren't few. For the sake of capturing this territory, the Rain Clan fought with many great clans and paid a great price. In the end, they were able to claim this area.

"Sigh, this isn't going to be easy... There are too many forces guarding this place." The little guy's head ached. There were too many powerful individuals guarding this place, and a single slip up would alert the experts guarding this place.

It was quite possible that relying on Hairy Ball was their only choice. It behaved like a keep and perceptive little thief, and since it was even able to steal the egg of a Rainbow Peacock, infiltrating this spiritual medicine garden shouldn't be a problem.

Hairy Ball did not start immediately. It wandered about the perimeter of Fallen Phoenix Ridge and carefully pondered for several days while blinking its large eyes.

The little guy was like this as well as he carefully searched for a weak point. He wanted to make sure that this operation was absolutely safe, because they were only here to collect some interest. If they had to pay a huge price, then the gains would not make up for the losses.

“Is something strange going on within the Fallen Phoenix Ridge? Why are they moving people so often, almost as if they are getting ready to face some great enemy?” The little guy was astonished.

After several days of observation, he decided that there was definitely something fishy about this place. The defenses of the regions surrounding this place seemed to be falling apart, and there seemed to be some type of major event occurring inside.

“Go now and take advantage of the current situation. There might be something happening within this spiritual land,” said the little guy. He warned Hairy ball repeatedly to be careful, and even gave it the broken sword. He told it to utilize its symbols if it was accidentally trapped by enemies.

With a chiu sound, Hairy Ball turned into a streak of golden light as it entered Fallen Phoenix Ridge furtively. Its entire body was golden and was only the size of a fist. After scuttling into a bush, anyone would have a hard time discovering its existence.

“Over there! Chase!”

“Quickly, don’t let it escape!”

Shouts echoed out from within the Fallen Phoenix Ridge. The little guy and Qingfeng’s faces immediately paled. Could it be that Hairy Ball was discovered as soon as it entered? This was definitely not good. Its life could be in danger, and the losses would have definitely outweighed the gains.

The little guy was incredibly regretful and immediately thought that his actions were too reckless. If something bad happened to Hairy Ball, he would definitely feel incomparably guilty and be full of self blame.

“There’s nowhere to run. This time, we must catch it! As long as it’s within Fallen Phoenix Ridge, it will have a difficult time escaping!”

“It has been two months since it first appeared, and its tracks has repeated shown up here. I refuse to believe that we can’t catch it!”

After hearing the yelling going on within Fallen Phoenix Ridge, the little guy’s group were stumped for words. It seemed like they weren’t talking about Hairy Ball at all. Could it be there were other creatures that broke in?

“We have to catch it. We won’t be able to see even a single one of these creatures for many many years. They are more valuable than ten stalks of precious medicine combined, simply a priceless treasure! I have already reported this to the higher-ups in the clan. We definitely have to capture it!”

All kinds of shouts echoed out from within Fallen Phoenix Ridge. All the experts were moving about as they looked everywhere for this thing.

“It seems like some pretty formidable creature appeared. What could it possibly be? From the way they are talking about it, it seems like some holy medicine took gained intelligence. Rain Clan’s guards all seem stirred up, as if they were about to go mad.” The big red bird muttered.

Fallen Phoenix Ridge was in a great state of disorder. All of their experts were on the move to capture this divine creature. They were so noisy that everything was in chaos; nothing was peaceful here.

The little guy, Second Baldy and the others all had complicated feelings. They really wanted to break in and look around to see exactly what kind of creature it was that made the Rain Clan this excited.

“Don’t let it escape! The Rain King gave out the order that we had to capture it and offer it up regardless of what methods we have to use. He has great use for it!” An elder shouted.

“This kind of creature is rarely seen in this world. One might not even appear after hundreds of years. Currently, there is only one being raised within the imperial household.”

After these words were spoken, the little guy had an even harder time sitting still. His large eyes shone and he became extremely impatient. He really wanted to sneak in to steal it.

Half a day later, a sound was heard from an underbrush in the distance. Hairy Ball appeared, and its small stomach was as round as a ball. It couldn't even walk properly anymore, and was just rolling its way out.

Chapter 197 – Octadic Treasure Chicken

The beast skin pouch they gave Hairy Ball was tossed aside a long time ago and was practically useless. It was tugging on a vine with eleven stalks of sparkling spiritual medicine as it returned, hiccuping along the way.

“Are you some God? You went in there once and directly came out with eleven stalks of spiritual medicine?” The big red bird was shocked until its eyes almost popped out. This was simply too ridiculous.

One has to understand that a single spiritual mountain was only able to grow one stalk of spiritual medicine. How many spiritual mountains did it climb?! It was likely that only an area dyed in the blood of a phoenix like this was able to have so many spiritual mountains.

The little guy curled his lips, and his heart was about to trickle out blood. Hairy Ball must have wreaked enough havoc in there. What it brought out was clearly the smaller portion, as the larger portion had already entered its stomach.

“Shameful wasting...” He muttered.

Golden multicolored light dazzled around Hairy Ball’s body. It was perfectly content, and every time it hiccuped, there would always be multicolored light shooting out. Only the heavens knew just how many stalks of spiritual medicines were harmed.

As a result, anyone could make the guess that it was quite possible that everything within the Fallen Phoenix Ridge might have been done in by Hairy Ball.

“Hairy Ball, what kind of things are in there exactly?” Qingfeng asked out of curiosity.

As soon as this topic was brought up, Hairy Ball immediately became extremely excited. A pair of small claws began to gesture about. Its large eyes were widened until they became round, and it really wanted to get the little guy and the others to surround and capture that fellow inside.

“Being such a rare spiritual thing, what exactly is it?” The little guy was able to grasp Hairy Ball’s meaning, but he didn’t quite know what to call that thing.

“What do we have to do to catch it?” Qingfeng asked.

Hairy Ball made some more gestures. It was implying that the creature could easily escape into thin air by burrow down into the earth. Hairy Ball almost caught it before, but it fled in the end.

“I have a premonition that we might have encountered an extremely amazing thing. However, how can we obtain it?” Second Baldy’s heart was also moved.

That spiritual object did not seem to possess any type of fighting strength, but it had the ability to pierce through earth and stone. It left no tracks in the earth, and was extremely difficult to capture.

Otherwise, with so many Rain Clan experts moving out, why would they fail again and again?

“Let me test the waters. I guarantee that it’ll be easy to obtain.” Within the little guy’s hair, there was an inch wide stone. It was transparent and brilliant, and there was a faint golden luster about it; this was precisely that divine striking stone.

When the little guy heard this, he became extremely excited. He felt that it was qualified for this task.

Since the ancient times, only a few of these divine stones have appeared. Equipped with divine might, they could hit anything. One strike meant one accurate hit. This was something that even the ancient saints greatly desired, as it could be refined into a supreme treasure.

“Good! I’ll leave it to you then. While everything is still in disorder, slip in together with Hairy Ball. After striking it, bring it back!”

The Fallen Phoenix Ridge was in complete chaos. Countless experts were chasing and searching for that spiritual object, and it got to a point where they were practically digging up mountains. They wanted to uncover this creature that understood the ways of moving through the earth.

The mischievous stone was made up of stone, so it naturally knew the methods of moving through the earth and seizing the luck between the heaven and earth. Together with Hairy Ball, they moved stealthily to quietly capture it.

Not long after, the sound of berating could be heard within the spiritual land. Many people were shouting and crying out loudly.

“What kind of thing is that? How did it appear so suddenly?! It struck the spiritual object!”

“Quick, block them off! A golden rat climbed out from over there and it dragged away the rare creature!”

“It’s not a mouse, it’s a spherical small monkey. Yi, how can that stone be able to run as well? Aiyou, damn it, it hurts like hell! How come it can fly as well? It smashed my bones!”

The Fallen Phoenix Ridge was in great disorder. Immediately following that, the group of people were alarmed, because the supreme treasure spiritual object was seized away. This was something that the Rain King ordered to be caught and offered up, so how could they afford to lose it?

Hairy ball and the divine striking stone rolled the entire way while dragging with them the knocked out creature. They were in a sorry state as they fled. Occasionally, they would have to use the broken sword to hack apart some symbol formations they encountered as they quickly fled.

One was a natural born thief, and the other understood how to move through the earth. This gigantic mountain ridge simply could not obstruct them. They sped along the entire way, and their escape was in sight.

“This spiritual earth really is good stuff!” The divine striking stone cried out with aoao sounds as it ate with large gulps.

The red soil was visibly flying about like a mountain torrent towards it, and it seemed as if the divine striking stone was going to get buried.

Hairy Ball didn’t care anymore. Sand filled the skies, even making its fur dim. It was covered in mud and ashes, and as it hacked apart the formation in front of it, it dragged that creature and ran, leaving that mischievous stone there.

“Hairy Ball returned! Was it able to bring back that heaven defying thing?” Qingfeng widened his eyes.

Far away, a golden light flashed, and Hairy Ball rolled out from an underbrush.

With its nose wrinkled, it continuously coughed and spat out dust. It was extremely discontent. It used one of its small obese claws to drag a fainted creature.

The big red bird and Second Baldy rushed over. These two fellows pushed and shoved to be the first to divide up this rare creature.

“This is the extremely rare creature that the Rain Clan speaks of? The creature that even the imperial palace only has one of and is rarely seen even once every hundreds of years?” The little guy was a bit stunned.

Qingfeng was also struck dumb. He stared at that extremely fat creature and felt a rather confused. He gave Hairy Ball a look; this can't be a mistake right?

“Sigh, is this a relative of yours?” Second Baldy bumped the big red bird and asked quietly.

The big red bird became furious. A palm slammed down on Second Baldy's head as it said, “It clearly looks like you. Are you sure it's not your brother?”

The big red bird was extremely angry. It used gestures to tell them that this was the rare treasure. Inside its body was powerful spiritual essence, and it grinded its small snow white fangs in preparation of digging in.

The little guy believed in its spiritual instincts. This fellow was extremely sensitive toward spiritual medicine divine objects, but the creature at their feet was simply too unlike what they expected. He picked it up and turned it around; wasn't this just a free-range chicken? It was merely a bit larger than a pheasant.

This brown chicken was only half a meter tall, very fat and round. Its feathers were a yellow brown color, and if you were to throw it into a pile of dirt, most likely no one would be able to notice it. This was the so called extremely rare treasure? He scratched his head.

“Heavens, where did all the spiritual medicine go? They were all ruined by someone!”

Right at this time, a miserable shriek rang out from within the Fallen Phoenix Ridge. The voice sounded extremely urgent, as if there was a murder. Chaos immediately ensued.

“Someone invaded the spiritual medicine field! Damn it! All of the medicine have been stolen! Find whoever did this!”

“Who else could it be? It’s obviously that strange creature that appeared just now. Don’t let it get away! Not only did it destroy our spiritual medicine field, it even stole our rare spiritual creature!”

Within the Fallen Phoenix Ridge, everyone from the Rain Clan were exasperated. This was simply a disaster, and they were so infuriated to the point that the rage reached their hearts. They were close to vomiting blood, because all of their hard work was about to go south.

Wu...

A huge storm was brewing. All of the precious blood colored soil began to fly into the air before centralizing in one direction. It was as if a vortex appeared.

“What is it now?! Are they trying to eradicate this place? Stealing the spiritual medicine is already said and then, but they are going to destroy everything too?!” Everyone from the Rain Clan became alarmed. Even though much of the essence energy from the phoenix blood in the soil had already dissipated over the years, it was still an incredibly precious place to grow medicine.

“We have to leave quickly! The Rain Clansmen are definitely going mad!” The little guy shouted. He couldn’t do anything about the divine striking stone. He picked up that chicken and scampered off frantically.

The group followed behind him, and they all disappeared without a trace.

“Wait for me!” From behind, a wisp of scarlet smoke soared high up into the air. The divine striking stone was jutting its buttocks as it chased after them. After overturning that entire place and swallowing the scarlet earth’s essence, it began to run this way.

“Go!”

They were grouped up together and all of them climbed onto the big red bird’s back. It flapped its wings, and they disappeared like a wisp of smoke into the mountains and ravines.

The Rain Clansmen went crazy! Their spiritual medicines were stolen, and the rare creature was seized from them. Even this entire treasure land was destroyed! Their hearts were leaking blood, and one could imagine how furious the higher ups were going to get after receiving news of this.

The eyes of these people were completely red. They chased murderously through the mountains and forests while searching everywhere.

However, they weren't even able to find a trace, because the big red bird was too fast. After cultivating the divine peng's precious technique, its scarlet wings carried a tint of gold, giving it extreme speed.

Two hours later, they dropped down on to the ground. They were already far away from that region and were currently in a hilly area.

"This chicken woke up." Qingfeng spoke quietly.

The little guy had it in his hands from start to finish. He was scared that it would escape, because according to Hairy Ball's gestures, this fellow could escape into the ground. Once it touched the ground, it would be able to disappear.

"Don't worry. With me here, it has nowhere to run. I'll just smash it directly." The divine striking stone spoke with conviction. It was extremely self-confident.

This chicken didn't have much courage, and was extremely nervous. A pair of small eyes moved around, revealing its fear.

"Isn't this just a chicken? Why is it some rare thing?" The little guy was puzzled. He could not tell what was special about it.

The chicken lifted its head at once, approving of this. It was implying that it was better to quickly release it, since it did not have any uses.

The little guy immediately became happy. A chicken can't understand human speech. This fellow had intelligence, so it seemed like it truly wasn't an ordinary creature. Scaring it a bit, he said, "Since you're only ordinary, I'll simmer some chicken soup. It's better to just cook you."

Immediately, this chicken began to violently struggle and gurgle. It was truly frightened.

'I remember, this is most likely... An Octadic Treasure Chicken!' Second Baldy suddenly spoke, and then it revealed an incomparably excited expression. It immediately swallowed down some saliva.

“What is an Octadic Treasure Chicken? Why does it sound so familiar?” The little guy scratched his head.

“Archaic Octadic Treasures... Even the deities would drool at the delicacy of the eight treasures. This is one of them.” Second Baldy’s eyes revealed a green glint as it directly pounced over. It truly wanted to swallow it in one gulp.

The big red bird gave it a slap on its head with a pa sound. “This big brother hasn’t eaten yet, so the younger brother has to wait on the side first.”

The little guy immediately remembered and understood its priceless value.

The Octadic Treasure Chicken was known as a divine treasure delicacy, able to make even deities drool. The meat’s quality was rarely seen under the heavens, and during the ancient feasts, there was indeed such a dish.

Apart from this, there was spirit blood in its body, and that was a nourishing medicine. It far surpasses most spiritual medicines, and its medicinal effects only fell short of holy medicines. It was truly a spiritual object.

In addition, it would lay an egg every half month. The egg carried an extremely powerful medicinal nature that was comparable to spiritual medicines. Even though deities might not think much of them, to normal creatures, its value was too great.

“It’s a spiritual medicine laying hen?” The big red bird cried out strangely.

After the little guy found out about its origins, his eyes immediately became round. This was truly something that not even a mountain of silver or gold could be exchanged for...

After he saw Hairy Ball’s small white fangs and Second Baldy pushing closer, and immediately gave them each a slap. They were all pushed aside as he stared and said, “Don’t even think about it. Whoever eats the Octadic Treasure Chicken, I’ll eat that individual!”

“This is an Archaic Octadic Treasure, a delicacy that even a deity would like to consume. Don’t you want to try it? Even a bit of spirit blood is good too!”

Second Baldy said.

“No way. I need need to bring it back to Stone Village and raise it, allowing it to lay eggs for the villagers!” The little guy resisted the enticement. Even though he really wanted to eat it, he was still scared of harming the Octadic Treasure Chicken’s vitality, so he did everything he could to hold himself back.

Even within Archaic era, there weren’t that many Octadic Treasure Chickens, or else it wouldn’t be one of the eight rare treasures. As for their population now, it was easy to imagine. It was difficult for one to appear even after hundreds of years.

Currently, only the Stone Country imperial palace was raising one.

“Is this a hen?” The little guy thought of an important question.

“Yes, that’s right.” The big red bird nodded.

“That’s good. In the future, we’ll raise it in Stone Village and get an egg comparable to spiritual medicine every half a month. It truly is too great!” The little guy was extremely happy.

Qingfeng was also extremely happy. Like this, the children in Stone Village, as well as the adults and Grandpa Chief would be able to enjoy spiritual medicines frequently.

The Octadic Treasure Chicken took the opportunity to try and escape, but in the end, it was trapped by the little guy’s hand. At this time, its magical powers were shown. An earthen yellow gas circulated around its body, allowing it to travel through the earth. It almost made its way in.

“Too great, it truly is an Octadic Treasure Chicken! There shouldn’t be any mistake. This is more valuable than digging up a hundred spiritual medicines. Truly a rare divine object!”

While the little guy, Qingfeng and the others were cheering, everyone within the Fallen Phoenix Ridge were about to go crazy. At the same time, they felt dread within their hearts. With the loss of such a rare spiritual creature, the Rain King might just decided to kill them all.

“Let’s go. We’ll return to Stone Village, and in the future find a few special spiritual bugs, pythons and others for it. It might be able to cut down on the time it takes for it to give birth, and we might be able to eat spiritual eggs every day.

After the little guy's group obtained this rare creature, they no longer dared to tarry any longer. They moved quickly, and wanted to immediately return to Stone Village, because they were scared of something unfavorable happening here.

Several days later, news was sent back to Stone Country's emperor. Within one of the ancient palace halls in the Rain Clan mansion, a cold shout rang out: "Useless!"

With just this one word, it made the entire clan shake with dread. It created a huge shockwave that made everyone tremble with fear.

After everyone within the Rain Clan received news of this, they all became furious. Fallen Phoenix Ridge was destroyed, almost all the spiritual medicines were lost, and the scarlet earth even lost its divinity. However, what made people faint was that they actually missed out on an Octadic Treasure Chicken! Even the magnificent imperial family only had a single one!

"The Rain King needs the Octadic Treasure Chicken's unique ancient blood. You bunch of waste material actually let it escape!"

Soon after, news were transmitted out. It even shocked the emperor, and everyone was astonished. A second Octadic Treasure Chicken actually appeared, making people amazed.

This created a huge sensation, but the little guy's group was completely unaffected by this.

They sat on the big red bird's back and traveled westward the entire way. In the end, they arrived at Stone Country's border and entered the boundless three hundred thousand li great wastes.

There were many ferocious beasts within the mountains, and there were even more terrifying vicious birds spiraling in the air. However, the big red bird was not someone easy to deal with. At the same time, it was also an Archaic descendant, and even though it was still young, its ability to preserve its life was extremely great.

Along the way, they were startled many times, but they weren't in any dangerous situations. They crossed the endless large mountains, and even though they were being chased after by descendants several times, in the end they were able to break away.

"Wa, this is the Moon River! In the future, we need to come here often to refine our bodies. My cultivation involving the fire dao needs precisely this type of refinement." The big red bird sighed.

Within the great wastes, there was a great black river rolling in waves. It was unknown as to just how many tens of thousands of li it stretched as it cut across the endless mountain ranges.

Back then when Hairy Ball stole the Rainbow Peacock's divine eggs, the little guy and the unicorn were forced into this river to flee for their lives.

"Let's hurry back to Stone Village."

They hurried along their way and traversed through many mountain ranges. They experienced many battles, and were now finally about to reach their destination.

"Finally returned!" The little guy was emotionally moved. He was already extremely familiar with the mountains and rivers in front of him. He once carried boulders that were tens of thousands of jin in weight for training within this region.

"We've returned!" Qingfeng was shouting and screaming. He was so happy that tears were flowing from his eyes.

Chapter 198 – Return to Stone Village

At this moment, the little guy was already feeling nervous and excited, and there was even a bit of fear. He was homesick, and didn't know how Stone Village was doing recently.

He left with Qingfeng when he was eight and a half years old. His training and travels exhausted roughly eight to nine months of time, and after joining the Heaven Mending Pavilion, time quickly passed by. As a result, he had already left for two years.

It all seemed like yesterday when he looted the bird nest and were chased after by Aunt Green Scaled Eagle with Ermeng and Pihou's group. There were also the times they hunted together, picked old medicines, caught young vicious beasts, and many more. There were too many joyous events to reminisce about.

Little Qingfeng also began to shed tears, laughing while crying at the same time. Even though he only lived here for one or two years, those years were filled with happiness.

"It's just some mountain village, why are you guys getting so emotional. When I return to the old nest, it always feels dull." The big red bird muttered.

Dong

At this moment, the little guy and Qingfeng both smacked its head. Second Baldy took advantage of the moment and also joined in.

The big red bird was resentful and took to the skies. It moved quickly, and the scenery on the ground retreated rapidly. They finally arrived at the beautiful and peaceful treasure ground.

While they were still far away, the little guy already told it to descent. He wanted to walk step by step there. It was hazy and vague, but a village slowly became discernable.

“An extreme battle happened here! You guys can see that this giant boulder was even split apart!” The big red bird said.

“Precious artifact has been used here, moreover, it’s an extremely terrifying precious artifact. This was originally a mountain, yet half of it was directly swept through!” Second Baldy was also shocked.

At this moment, the little guy’s heart immediately froze. His mind was trembling and his fists were clenched; he was incomparably terrified.

After leaving for about two years, what happened to Stone Village?

Qingfeng was about to cry as well. They finally returned to the village, so they were praying that nothing bad happened to the village. Their emotions were all over the place as they returned to the village, and they truly were extremely scared of seeing something wrong.

It was very quiet ahead. There was no sound.

The little guy was in fear. Even though they were still separated by many li and weren’t in the surroundings of Stone Village yet, there were traces of a showdown taking place here. Someone used a terrifying precious artifact here that far exceeded the power of his dragon shears.

There were a few stone mountains here originally, yet they were all rubble and dust now. They no longer existed!

“Nothing happened! It’s definitely peaceful!” The little guy spoke quietly as he quickly rushed forward. His heart was jumping with thumping sounds, and he was nervous and scared to the extreme.

Qingfeng followed behind him, and his tears were about to spill out.

When Hairy Ball reached this point, it was also familiar with the surroundings. After turning into a streak of light, it streaked across the grass and went straight for that place.

After running several li, they finally drew near. The little guy abruptly stopped. He couldn't bear it anymore, and tears slid down his face.

A moment later, Qingfeng and the rest of them caught up. They stood by his side, and were able to see the village in the distance.

"Stone Village is safe!" The little guy covertly wiped his tears away. Even through all the intense battles of life and death he had outside as well as all the times he escaped for his life, he was never scared. Just now, however, he was frightened and fearful beyond comparison.

Only when he was able to see it in front of him did he completely relax. He was so moved that his eyes brimmed with tears of excitement, and all of the worry within his heart disappeared.

It was visible that there were people moving in the village. Each and every figure were very familiar as those were the people closest to him. The houses were the same as before, and there were no significant changes to the village.

An ancient tree was rooted within the village, and its thick branches were scorched black. It had previously been struck by lightning, but currently, there were areas where the old bark fell off that carried vitality.

On that lightning-struck wood, there were now dozens of lush green branches that were emitting a gentle light. It seemed akin to the divine chains from the world's creation that survived from the ancient years. They were mysterious yet peaceful, and as they naturally hung down, they were full of exuberant life force.

With the Willow Deity here, as long as it was peacefully at rest, nothing would happen to Stone Village. Just now, he was concerned, but the group's inner torments had all been self inflicted.

They were too tired, and their minds were exhausted.

They finally returned home. The little guy and Qingfeng were both smiling from happiness, but their eyes clearly had tears. After experiencing such a great calamity, they were able to return to the sides of their close ones. Their worries all disappeared, and they were filled with happiness.

At this moment, Second Baldy's eyes stared blankly. It stared at the willow tree and began to develop a sense of intimidation in its gut. It was extremely terrified.

"Second Baldy, what are you shaking for? You're truly making me embarrassed." The big red gave it a slap.

"别乱语，前面有一尊大个的，通天动地，耸入九天上，浩瀚无尽头，快吓死爷了！"二秃子发毛，简直快吓尿了。

"Don't speak nonsense, there is a great figure up ahead. It possesses a world trembling might, and towers from the nine heavens. It has inexhaustible power, almost scaring this grandpa to death!" Second Baldy was ranting and raving. It was scared out of its wits.

"What rubbish are you saying?" The big red bird was puzzled.

"I'm talking about that tree! Do you see it? That's a divine being!" Second Baldy's voice was trembling, and it simply couldn't believe what it was seeing. After coming here, this kind of ancient tree actually appeared.

It was shaking uncontrollably. Grabbing the little guy, it said, "Devilish brat... What is going on? Why didn't you tell me, it... What kind of origins does it have? I'm about to die from fear."

Second Baldy wasn't an ordinary creature. In the past, it rebuked the heaven and earth and shook the world with its power. Its spiritual awareness was keen to a horrifying degree, yet it couldn't see through the willow tree's history. However, it felt that the tree could burst into the heavens and tower above the nine heavens, making its soul even tremble.

At this moment, the big red bird also felt that something was not right. It carefully felt about. Even though that ancient tree was auspicious and peaceful, it was full of soft light. It made the big red bird feel reverence, and it no longer dared to act so unbridled here.

"Exactly what kind of background does it have?"

“That is our village’s guardian spirit. It protects our stone village, ensuring peace. We give it our sacrifices and respects here,” the little guy said.

“What?! A small village’s guardian spirit?” Second Baldy’s eyes almost popped out. It became even more terrified.

What kind of village deserved the protection of such a great deity? To become the guardian spirit of this land, wasn’t that a bit too terrifying?

Second Baldy looked in front of him, then looked at the little guy. It felt more and more confused before it finally calmed down. “This makes sense. Only this type of incomprehensible place would produce a savage child that could chase after a Zhujian and Horned Dragon.”

“What kind of garbage are you speaking.” The little guy was happy as he glanced over at it. He knew that Second Baldy and the big red bird were scared stiff.

Right at this moment, a bird sound rang out. Purple light flickered within the village, and a six to seven meter long bird quickly flew over before descending.

“Little brother, you came back.” The purple-colored bird spoke. The scales over its body were completely purple, and they were incomparably brilliant. It seemed as if mists were rising, making it appear extremely mysterious.

Soon after, a large faint golden-colored bird appeared. There was another green bird that also flew over as well, and they were all flickering with a holy light. They were extremely happy and intimate as they gathered around in front of the little guy and Qingfeng.

“Ya, Ziyun, Dapeng, Little Green, you guys... You guys mature so fast and can even transmit speech now! You all are only few years old!” The little guy was extremely shocked.

“Yi, something’s not right. You guys are extremely strong and aren’t weaker than Archaic descendants. Are your bloodlines really this powerful?”

“Truly. Ziyun, Dapeng, Little Green, you guys are more powerful.” Qingfeng also widened his eyes.

“Mom told us to sleep at the Willow Deity’s base and worship it every day. As a result, after two years, our bloodlines seemed to have become increasingly purer.” Ziyun said.

“Aunt Green Scaled Eagle truly is smart!” The little guy sighed. He then asked about its whereabouts.

“Mother also became extremely powerful, as she continuously perched by the willow deity as well. However, recently she went to the depths of the great wastelands to undergo bitter cultivation,” said Little Green.

“My god! What kind of existence is this? I want to worship as well!” The big red bird jolted his buttocks as he ran towards the village entrance.

Second Baldy seemed as if it saw a ghost. It was truly scared bad, and its legs were giving out.

“Little guy, Qing Feng!”

At this moment, the villagers saw them. Quite a number of people immediately rushed out.

“Ah, this isn’t a dream! The little guy returned, and there’s Qingfeng as well!” One of them shouted extremely loudly. It rang through the village, and everyone became emotionally stirred.

With a hu la sound, Dazhuang, Ermeng, Pihou and the group of youth leapt over their houses to directly exit Stone Village.

Behind them were a group of elders, and there were also many women and children as well. They all ran out, all of them incomparably excited.

“We returned!” The little guy and Qingfeng both shouted loudly. They ran towards the village entrance, and the hundred meters separating them was gone in an instant.

“Little brat, you left us for two years! We were worried to death, and only now did you finally return!” The childhood companions rushed over, and the two of them were buried.

“Stinky brat, do you know how worried we were? We thought that something might have happened to you in the great wastes. We didn’t receive any news even after so long.”

Everyone stopped what they were doing and rushed up. In the end, the little guy and Qingfeng were almost buried into the ground.

They were all incomparably moved, and their eyes carried joyous tears. They grew up together since childhood, but these people never left the great wastes. Their feelings for each other were the most sincere and simplest of emotions.

“My bones are about to get crushed, let me get up...” The little guy cried out.

“Who are you trying to fool? When you were just a few years old, you already could run up a mountain while carrying a ten thousand jin boulder. Right now, you are saying that you are going to get crushed by just our group of twenty to thirty people?”

The group of people were full of laughter. Their eyes were moist, and they use all their strength to pressure him and Qingfeng. Only after a long time did they leave.

As soon as they stood up, Pihou, Er Meng and the others immediately came up to hug their arms and necks. They were extremely intimate.

“Little brat, you really are daring. You leave for two years and didn’t send back any news. We were truly scared that you guys would never appear again.”

Shi Linghu and the other group of men made their way into the crowd. Each and every one of them were moved emotionally, and they immediately gave them poundings on their chests with their huge fists, creating peng peng sounds.

What they said was the truth. The great wastes were too terrifying, and after leaving for two years without returning, the chances of them ending up in the stomach of a vicious beast was extremely high.

“You babies grew taller! Even though you are still delicate, your bodies have grown sturdier.” Shi Feijiao patted their shoulders, and his eyes carried tears.

“Uncle Hu, Uncle Jiao, we are all very well. We learned many skills, and always wanted to return. We’ve always missed you guys.” The little guy’s feeling were sincere as he spoke “Uncle, I missed you guys too.” Qingfeng began to cry.

They left for two years already. They experience so much outside, especially the great calamity recently. Their minds were exhausted, so after returning home and seeing so many brothers and elders, they immediately found people to rely on.

“Qingfeng don’t cry, don’t cry. Everything’s good now that you came home. Everyone was always thinking about you two brats, and we talked about you two every day.” The group of elders didn’t know how to comfort people. Hands were everywhere as they tried to help wipe away the tears.

“Qingfeng don’t cry! This time we have reunited!” Dazhuang, Huzi, and the snotty kid walked up.

“You two little babies are too rude. How could you just leave for two years? We were worried to death.” A group of women ran over. These aunties were extremely strong, directly pushing Ermeng and the rest of the strong young males to the side.

“Qingfeng is much thinner now, but has grown taller by quite a bit.”

“The little guy is still so pretty. Now that he is ten years old, we should call him by his real name.”

“These two children have both grown taller, becoming sturdier and stronger. They can get married now.”

The group of large aunties’ saliva flew everywhere. They pulled the two children towards them and bombed them with seemingly never ending gossip.

At this time, Huniu¹, Uncle Feijiao’s daughter also hurried over. She was incomparably excited and gathered around as well. She grabbed the little guy and Qingfeng’s sleeves and began to chatter continuously. She asked about all types of things, and was extremely lively.

The little guy said that Huniu and the rest of them got fatter, and was then chased and beaten by these girls. Only after he covered his head and ran like a rat did he finally break free from the terrifying aunts.

“Grandpa Chief!”

After breaking into the village, the little guy almost collided with a group of elders. He quickly stopped himself and gave proper courtesy. His eyes reddened, because it was clear that these elders grew more white hair and were aging more and more.

Only village Chief Shi Yunfeng seemed relatively better. He grew a bit more white hair, because two years truly wasn't a short period of time.

"Good, good, good! It's good that you returned!" The group of elders were all very moved. All of them, especially the Clan Elder that held the little guy's hand, had moist eyes. Their tears trickled down even though they were trying to hold them back.

He was the one that raised the little guy. Ever since the little guy was young, he was the one that took care of his needs. The clan chief was an unmarried man, and he had long thought of the little guy as his own son.

"Come quickly and pay your respects to the willow deity." The elders said.

The little guy wiped away his emotional and joyous tears and turned to face the willow tree that was full of vitality. He was serious and sincere and he said, "Willow deity, thank you!"

A light breeze blew over, and roughly ten sparkling branches swayed. It was as if the heavens and earth were splitting apart, and the aura of primal chaos was dense. Divine splendor scattered down, and it replied, "You should have your reunion with the villagers first."

"Okay!" The little guy nodded.

The big red bird was on the side, and was immediately scared until it began to tremble.

Right at this moment, the miserable cry of Second Baldy rang out from the distance. It was heart tearing and lung splitting, as it was filled with incomparable dread.

The group of large aunts were truly valiant, especially Huniu's mother — Hu Shen. A thick arm reached out and grabbed Second Baldy by the neck. "These two kids are truly acting like outsiders. If they return, then they return. Why did they feel like they have to bring back prey? They were even so diligent as to pluck it clean. However, this is still a good thing. This bird is quite plump, so we can make soup out of it."

She grabbed Second Baldy and started walking towards the village. The group of aunts nodded as they assessed this bird. They grouped up together and were extremely lively.

Second Baldy almost urinated out of fear. This group of women were too intrepid! Without asking to clear up any misunderstandings, they directly decided to stew it.

It finally understood how the devilish brat was raised. After being cared for by this group of large aunts, how could you not be savage?

Second Baldy always had problems with his body. His fighting strength was sealed, and this group of females' strength were just too great. They almost strangled it to death. It opened its throat and shouted for the little guy to save its life.

“Save me! This is murder!”

“Yi, this bird can even speak, what species is it? It's flesh is definitely precious medicine. The little guy truly brought back something precious. Don't waste it, let's stew it together with the old medicine to make it taste better.”

The group of large women discussed among themselves. Second Baldy was so terrified that goosebumps appeared all over its body.

Chapter 199 – Happy

“Aunt, before you cook it, make sure to stuff its body with several old stalks of old ginseng and herbs. That way, it’ll turn out better.” The little guy generously gave his suggestion.

When Aunt Hu heard this, she immediately gave out instructions. “Snotty baby, hurry up. Go and dig up a few stalks of old medicine from the back of the village. In a bit, we’ll stuff this fat bird’s stomach up and cook the whole thing.”

Second Baldy cried out, making the group of aunts extremely shocked. They carried it by its neck, grabbed its neck and pulled at its wings as they carefully looked at it.

Second Baldy cried out miserably. He saw that the water inside the black iron-cooking was about to boil. It was so scared that it lost strength in its legs; it was afraid of being thrown in and getting cooked.

“The flesh is sturdy, and you can tell with a glance that it’s precious medicine.” Aunt Bao was currently sharpening a knife. Kaka sounds rang out, and sparks flew off the whetstone. After seeing this, Second Baldy began to feel cold all over, and it began to desperately struggle for its life.

“There’s also a big red bird here. It was also brought back by the two kids.” The group of aunts then stared at the big red bird with the bright and beautiful wings.

The big red bird withdrew its neck and widened its legs. It immediately scampered off. This group of women were too doughty, daring to eat anything.

Unfortunately, there was still that divine tree at the village entrance, making it unable to behave atrociously.

Only Qingfeng was kindhearted. After hearing Second Baldy’s miserable cry, he quickly ran over and said, “Aunties, you can’t eat them.”

“What kind of people are these?” After the big red bird and Second Baldy entered the village, they both developed lingering fears. They were a bit scared and upset.

They left for two years. When the little guy and Qingfeng saw the familiar village, they felt extremely warm. Being surrounded by the large group of villagers, they felt as if there were endless things to talk about.

“Uncle Linhu, Uncle Feijian have you guys broken through?” The little guy was amazed. During the time he left, these two already broke through and entered the Blood Transformation stage. Moreover, they now opened heavenly passages.

“Haha...” The two individuals both laughed.

They first ate the Suan Ni flesh, and then they ate a strange Guardian Spirit — Golden Pangolin. The problem of cultivating late was solved, and they could now climb the cultivation ranks.

“Brother Dazhuang, Ermeng, and Pihou’s group have also entered the Blood Transformation stage!”

Within the genius camp, this naturally wouldn’t mean much, but in a small village, this was already amazing. It was extremely difficult for these childhood companions to step into the road of cultivation.

One has to understand that even a comparatively larger tribe wouldn’t produce many cultivators, and this as only a single village.

The group of youth all laughed. They laid down a really good foundation with the clan chief’s bone tests. Moreover, they’ve been refined within the cauldrons since they were young, and even swallowed the flesh of Suan Ni and blood of a guardian spirit. As a result, their established an extremely good cultivation base.

Other than this, there were Dragon Tassel Fish within the large lake, and there were small Luans ashore. They were all body enriching and energy promoting rare creatures. Towards the people from Stone Village, this was definitely a type of great gift.

You have to understand that even within clans with greater populations, ordinary people would never be able to eat these types of spiritual creatures.

Within Stone Village, regardless of whether it were the robust men or the children, their strength all increased by a large amount during these two years. Their cultivation also naturally increased smoothly by quite a bit.

The village was bustling with noise, and the group of people were all grouped together. They had endless things to talk about, and loud laughter would ring out from time to time.

Right at this moment, a small child walked over unstably. The child seemed only about a year old, and only learned how to walk recently.

“Uncle, uncle, little uncles.” His words were inarticulate and was a bit confused as he shouted towards the little guy and Qingfeng.

“Ah, this is?” Qingfeng was astonished.

The little guy was also puzzled. He was only a child as well, and a few years ago he was just like this. How did he become an uncle in the blink of an eye? Whose child was this?

“Sister bao, this is your child?” The little guy was shocked.

“Yes.” A young lady roughly around sixteen to seventeen had a smile on her face. She was not bashful at all, and happily began to tease this small fellow, telling him to say uncle.

“Why do I feel like he looks like...” The little guy was suspicious and turned around towards his companions from his former days, looking at them one after another.

“Hehe...” The group of people immediately laughed.

Among them, one of them was extremely embarrassed. He was clearly feeling awkward.

“Brother Dazhuang!” The little guy was extremely shocked. During these past two years, his childhood playmate not only got married, but even had a child as well. This was a bit too fast.

“Daddy...” The barely one year old little fellow shook his butt and began to waddle towards Dazhuang. He reached out a pair of small hands, indicating that it wanted to be carried.

“Brother Dazhuang, you are so fast!” The little guy sighed in admiration. And then he reached out his hands to take the little child from Dazhuang’s hands, saying, “Let uncle carry you.”

He himself was only a child, yet in the end, he discovered that Stone Village had another child. This was a completely new feeling for him. He continuously played with the little fellow.

Shi Dazhuang felt extremely embarrassed, acting completely different from his ordinarily outspoken and straightforward attitude. He looked over towards Ermeng, Pihou and the others, saying, “What are you laughing about? Didn’t you guys all get married as well?”

“Ah?” Qingfeng was shocked. They only left for two years, but the changes that happened were truly great. Many of their companions have all married.

Ermeng and Pihou both became bashful. However, sister Bao and the others were completely calm as they stood there, criticizing how they were like big girls.

After thinking about it for a bit, the little guy became relieved. Dazhuang, Ermeng, and Pihou were older than him by about five or six years. Currently, they were around sixteen years old. It was normal for the villagers to marry early, and having a child was perfectly normal.

“Uncle, what is there outside?” The one year old child asked as he wriggled his small body.

“The world outside is extremely vast, and there are all types of ferocious beasts. There are grand structures and ancient countries. When you are a bit older, uncle will bring you to take a look.” The little guy smiled as he spoke.

Following that, he took out a stalk of spiritual medicine from the heaven and earth pouch. The fragrance immediately assailed the nostrils. This was a stalk of snow jade ginseng. Its aroma was rich, and it was scattering out multicolored light. It was extremely miraculous.

“This is mine and Qingfeng’s meeting gift for you. We can’t be called uncles for nothing!” The little guy laughed as he spoke, putting it in his small hands.

“Ah...” The group of people all cried out in alarm, because they naturally knew what it was. This was a rarely seen spiritual medicine, and it was extremely beneficial towards cultivation. It could allow one to break through and ascend another cultivation level.

This was especially true for everyone within Stone Village. There were youth at the Blood Transformation stage, and the robust men were at the Heavenly Passage realm. After eating this kind of spiritual medicine, it could definitely allow them to rapidly break through.

“It’s too precious, we can’t accept it.” Sister Bao and Dazhuang immediately refused it, not allowing this child to accept it.

“Brother Dazhuang, you guys should just accept it. Little brother still has more.” Qingfeng persuaded.

“I didn’t say I was giving this to you guys. I’m giving it to my little nephew. Save it, and use it for the foundation of his cultivation. Later on, I’ll personally help him absorb it into his body.” The little guy directly squeezed the little child’s small hands.

Soon after, he looked towards Ermeng, Pihou and the others. “You guys have children too right? Bring them here, I will give them gifts as well.”

These fellows all found this problematic. Normally, they were extremely lively, but as soon as this subject was brought up, they immediately became shy. They simultaneously shook their heads, meaning that they didn’t have children yet.

“Little guy, you gave little nephew such a rare gift. Did you forget about the rest of us?” The snotty kid moved closer. His age was similar to the little guy’s. He was extremely daring as he laughed.

“I have gifts for everyone. This time, I came back with many good things. I promise that you guys will be satisfied.” The little guy laughed as he spoke.

When the group of youth heard this, they immediately cheered. All of them waited anxiously, because you have to know that they were all extremely envious after seeing that spiritual medicine. If they had it, they would immediately break through, and their strength would rise rapidly.

Even Shi Linhu, Shi Feijiao and the other robust men were widening their eyes.

“Child, you might have obtained some opportunities outside, but you can’t squander it like this. You need to cultivate as well.” An elder spoke.

“Right, you are one of us, so you don’t need to act like this.” The villagers were extremely down to earth. All of them nodded, and the older generation in particular advised him not to waste anything.

“Grandpas and uncles, you all don’t need to worry. I received many good things, and how could sharing them with you all be wasteful? You all are my loved ones, moreover, I still have a lot.” The little guy happily laughed as he said this to the villagers.

Following that, he began to look around the village for a suitable place to grow spiritual medicine and improve the density of the spiritual essence here.

When the little guy opened the heaven and earth pouch, a pile of brilliant and flickering spiritual medicines were revealed. It almost made the villagers suffocate. They released shouts of alarm, and the people simply couldn’t believe what they were seeing.

“Grandpa Chief, uncle, now you guys can relax, right? I have quite a few spiritual medicines here. If I successfully plant them, it could completely change the richness of spiritual essence here.” The little guy smiled as he spoke.

Everyone was struck dumb. With such a huge pile of spiritual medicine, just the excellent and undamaged ones amounted to thirty to forty. This was too shocking! They were flowing with light and color as their fragrance wafted through the air.

“Is this all real? I’m not dreaming?” An elder began to tremble. He gently caressed the spiritual medicine, and felt his entire body becoming peaceful. This was due to the fragrance of the medicines entering his body.

This place became brilliant, and every single spiritual medicine was shining. A rain of light scattered down, and the strong fragrance was everywhere. It made this place shine with brilliant colors, enveloping everything in divine multicolored light.

At this moment, everyone felt as if they could breathe without worry. While they were bathed in the rain of light, even their pores opened. Divine clear essence was everywhere, and their bodies were about to float.

“Too great! Even if we don’t eat the spiritual medicines, under the cultivation of such rich spiritual essence everyday, our cultivation levels will quickly improve.”

“Child, you were able to bring back so many spiritual medicines, but can you successfully plant them? I heard that each spiritual mountain can only raise a single spiritual medicine.” The clan elders were moved emotionally, and even their voices were trembling.

“It shouldn’t be a problem. I brought back divine earth, and it could nurture spiritual medicine and allow them to mature here. This place will then seize the luck between the heaven and earth and slowly form a cycle.” The little guy laughed as he spoke.

If it was outside, then he definitely wouldn’t leak out all this information and definitely be prudent and careful. Within the village, he naturally wouldn’t hold anything back. He returned with many rare spiritual objects for the sake of sharing with the villagers, and he also wanted to change this place into a pure land.

The little guy received help from Ermeng, Pihou and the others. They carefully chose different spots and dug up holes one after another, evenly distributing them within the village.

The little guy took out a huge beast pouch from within his heaven and earth pouch, and as soon as it was opened, golden light rushed into the skies. Propitious vapors surged, as if golden waves were pouring out.

“Ya, what is this?” The villagers were all startled.

“This is silt from the Immortal Spring. It possesses the divinity of immortality, and if each stalk of spiritual medicine is planted in a small handful of this, it should be enough to raise them.”

“Child, what kind of places did you visit to be able to acquire even these types of things?” Chief Shi Yunfeng was shocked. There was even less of a need to describe the reactions of the others.

“Grandpa Chief, uncles, brother Dazhuang, I still have many treasures here that are even more precious. Later on, I’ll give them to you, and it’ll definitely make you guys extremely happy,” the little guy said.

Everyone revealed shocked expressions, but began to cheer soon after. They were incomparably happy, because just this alone already shocked them.

The little guy laughed happily. The village was very warm, and since he grew up here, he was filled with affection. Every single villager was sincere and honest, and they were all dear to him. He was willing to share everything, and he brought all of the spiritual medicine and prey back, because this was his home where he felt a sense of belonging.

Seeing his clansman happy and joyous filled him with smiles as well.

Stone Village's people moved together, placing the golden silt within the holes they dug up. Then, they planted the spiritual medicines within before putting back the topsoil to avoid golden light leaking.

"Ya, it seems like we successfully planted everything. These spiritual medicine are starting to emit even more splendor." Many people were amazed, revealing happy expressions.

A total of thirty nine undamaged stalks of spiritual medicines were suitable for growing. They took root within Stone Village and overflowed with color. They were incomparably brilliant and emitted a sweet fragrance. After absorbing the essence of the sun and moon, their leaves became transparent, and propitious vapors curled up about them.

"After a long time, this place of ours will become a holy ground!" The group of elders were shaken and extremely moved.

The group of youth were extremely happy as they ran within the village and inhaled the fragrance. Multicolored light flowed about, and everyone was in high spirits, excited to the extreme.

"This child really grew up. He actually brought back so much good fortune for our village." A group of valiant aunts were smiling as they were unable to conceal their happiness.

"It seems like the number of opportunities you've received aren't few." Right at that moment, the ancient tree at the village entrance gently swayed. Its branches were transparent and sparkling, and as they swayed with the wind, it spoke these words.

"Willow Deity, I also have presents for you. There are several that are extremely rare, and you might find uses out of them. They are all rare and precious treasures,” said the little guy.

Chapter 200 – The Land where His Heart Lies

The branches of the willow tree were charred black. It contrasted brightly with the dozens of lush green soft shoots that swayed in the wind. It was bursting with vitality and life, a scene tranquil and sacred.

The little guy opened the heaven and earth pouch and immediately lifted out six beast skin sacks. They were all gigantic, and radiant light illuminated the area after the sacks were opened. It appeared as if a vast patch of light appeared in this place, rumbling and echoing.

The sight seen at the divine spring deep inside the Hundred Grass Land came to life again. Golden waves submerged the area. There was clearly no water, yet the crashing sounds of waves and brilliance emitted by the divine spring still appeared.

The villagers cried out in surprise. This was too shocking for them. It was only one sack just now, yet a whole pile appeared simultaneously, becoming golden waves that enveloped even the high sky.

“Willow God, this is what I brought out from the Hundred Shattering Mountains as a present to you. I think it might be of some use to you.” The little guy said.

Needless to say more, these were definitely considered to be divine earth to plants. A handful of golden sand was enough to provide for a stalk of spiritual medicine. You could imagine how shocking such a huge pile of this was.

“Ao...” Between Xiaobudian’s hair, a small stone howled out like a beast. It then slipped off and pounced towards that mountain of golden sand, shouting out, “Mine!”

Peng

The little guy reacted in the blink of an eye and grabbed ahold of it, saying, “You ate half of it at the Hundred Grass Land. This is my gift to Willow Deity, you are prohibited from snatching it.”

The divine striking stone struggled free, rolling on the ground before bawling loudly, “I just want to eat it, I still want to eat it, you emptied the entire divine spring!”

Everyone was dumbstruck, a stone that was able to talk?

“Hundred Shattering Mountain, Immortal Divine Spring, there really is divine immortality here. However, this silt is not of great use to me,” the willow deity said.

“What? You don’t even want this? Then it’s all mine!” The divine striking moved forward, but it did not dare to rush in indiscriminately. It merely climbed up and faced the ancient tree. It was respectful inwardly, and could not help but tremble.

“Willow Deity, do you really not need any?” The little guy was at a loss. He picked up the divine striking stone and directly threw him into the heaven and earth pouch.

“A small amount is enough. I will take a look at the divinity of the immortal spring.” The Willow Deity spoke and stretched out a branch. It extended into the golden silt, and the golden divine multicolored light entered the willow branches. Soon after, the small of pile of the silt quickly lost its luster, and the tender branch retreated.

The little guy was amazed. The Willow Deity recovered greatly, and the branches grew in number and size. It no longer needed the divine earth’s nourishment.

“Willow Deity, I still have five drops of immortal spring here. Do you need it?” He felt that if he did not give the willow tree a real gift, he wouldn’t feel good inside. After all, it gave him many things and put great care into giving him guidance. It educated him on the limits of breaking through, and used up a great amount of energy to bring him into the Void God Realm.

He took out a small jade container, and within it were five small snakes. They were made of golden fluid, and they were currently making jerking motions, full of spirituality.

The villagers were shocked. Just how many heaven defying things did this child get? It was obvious that divine liquid that took form was a world-shockingly rare thing.

“One drop is enough for me. With this, it’ll be easier to break down the divinity of the immortal spring.” The willow deity was tranquil as it spoke, and did not make any great movements.

A drop of golden fluid flew out, and the small snake turned into a golden mist. Multicolored light was resplendent as auspicious light surged. They all entered a tender branch, turning a batch of leaves golden.

“So miraculous!” Everyone was fearful.

“Very good, this Immortal Spring’s immortal characteristics are formidable.” The Willow Deity sighed and said.

The little guy knew that the Willow Deity truly became a lot more powerful. It was now far superior to before, because if it was still weak, any type of spiritual objects would be useful for it. Currently, it did not need much anymore, and could depend on itself to seize the luck between the heaven and earth.

“Willow Deity, I still have another divine treasure.”

This time, the little guy took out the jade artifact that held the True Supreme Water. He was extremely careful when opening the heaven and earth pouch, fearing that it would escape.

The True Supreme Water emitted light and continuously rushed about. It wanted to fly away, and if not for the heaven and earth pouch emitting strands of light that held it in place, it truly would have escaped.

“This is True Supreme Water. When divine medicine is being created, or when supreme treasures are being refined, its use becomes extremely great. It could be used as a primer for creation, and its value is astonishing,” the Willow Deity said.

After hearing its explanation, one could truly see the value of the True Supreme Water.

“What? This is True Supreme Water?” Village Chief Shi Yunfeng was shocked.

“Grandpa Chief, I brought back several jin of it. There is enough for us to use, and I’ll give it to you in a bit,” the little guy said.

“This... can be measured in jin?” Shi Yunfeng became a bit stupid. When making medicine, only a small amount was needed to make it an even higher quality precious medicine.

After the villagers asked the village chief and were informed about how rare this water was, they all became stupefied.

“Willow Deity, this can be eaten. I ate many jin already.” The little guy spoke as he gave it to the Willow Deity.

“This can be eaten?” The clan chief was shocked.

“You ate it?” Even the Willow Deity was astonished. It seemed rather fascinated.

“En, I ate it. The taste isn’t great, and it isn’t easy to digest. However, it’s divine characteristics are powerful.” The little guy nodded.

“Weirdo!” Second Baldy muttered from the back. Even being able to digest the True Supreme Water, was this youngster still a person? It was too savage.

“Very good. It seems like your improvements are quite significant. During this short period of time, your condition has stabilized. You can prepare to receive your baptism.” The Willow Deity said.

“Okay!” The little guy raised his spirits. He never forgot that the Willow Deity told him that he must come back before he turned twelve.

Regardless of whether it was when he was five or now when he is ten, the effects of these baptisms were extremely great and were of great importance.

The Willow Deity did not accept the True Supreme Water, but instead told him to hold on to it. Following that, it stated that it needed to comprehend the immortal profoundness of the Immortal Spring before entering a state of silence.

“Stinky brat, did you raid clean the nest of a deity or something? How could each item you pull out be more heaven defying than the last?!”

Pihou, Huzi, snotty kid and the others all threw themselves over. The pushed him down here, making him talk about his two years of experience because these things were too shocking.

“Grandpa Chief, this is from the immortal spring. These two drops are for you.”

After the little guy struggled free, he stood up and divided the remaining four drops of golden fluid into half. He gave them to Shi Yunfeng and the other elders, and since they were growing in years, these two drops could allow them to increase their lifespan.

“We’ve all aged naturally, and so we won’t have any regrets from peacefully passing on. We cannot waste this type of thing.” The elders all shook their heads, feeling that it would be truly a meaningless waste if they used it.

However, the little guy firmly refused to take them back and resolutely gave it out.

“We’ll leave it for the village’s children,” the clan chief said.

Propitious vapors within Stone Village curled about. Every single stalk of spiritual medicine was taking in and sending out the essence of the sun and moon, releasing sparkling and translucent specks. It made the spiritual essence here extremely rich, turning this place into an area of precious earth.

The little guy narrated the events that happened during these two years to the villages, and the group of people listening all felt enthralled. They felt shaken to the core; this was only a child, yet he experienced so much during these two years.

“Sigh, what happened to the Heaven Mending Pavilion was unfortunate. Such an ancient great school was destroyed with just a word. As expected, even the most glorious traditions can come to an end one day. The moon fades away after it becomes full, and the sun is ever shifting in the sky. After a peak, there must be a decline. This rule will never change.” The village chief sighed as he spoke.

Qingfeng’s eyes reddened. That battle did not end too long ago, and he would often see those senior brothers and sisters in his dreams. However, all of them had been murdered, so it was impossible to meet them again.

That short period of warmth and happiness became a part of the past just like this. They would remain forever as a part of their memories.

“What’s so different about our Stone Village? We declined from our former magnificence as well. Originally, we were the Stone Country’s number one clan, but now what do we have left over? Even our road of cultivation has been broken.” An elder sighed.

The little guy seemed to have thought of something and said, “Grandpa Chief, on our way back, we saw some stone mountains that had collapsed, and roughly half of them were swept through. Could it be that some enemies came to invade?”

When this matter was brought up, every else’s expressions changed. Shi Linghu said, “A year ago, those bandits appeared again. Their leader brought an extremely powerful precious artifact, but in the end they were completely wiped out by the willow deity.”

The little guy nodded. His heart immediately felt grateful that the Willow Deity was here. Otherwise, the villagers would have inevitably ended up in a perilous situation.

“They came for the supreme divine storehouses. After all these years, they still did not give up, and seemed to have made some progress while they constantly planned in secret,” the clan chief said.

“Forget it, let’s not talk about these things. With the Willow Deity here, they won’t be able to do anything. Moreover, not a single one of them were able to leave, so no one should know about this location.” Shi Feijiao said.

The scarlet sun descended behind the mountains, and the sunset glow died the horizons in red, scattering down into the village. All of the stone houses were covered in a layer of divine luster as if they were ancient temples, giving them a type of otherworldly beauty.

In the distance, hoofs trampled on the ground and pure white divine radiance flickered. A group of silver unicorns dashed over, and a few of them had village boys sitting on them as they cried out.

This was the hunting party, and they had returned.

During these two years, the unicorns completely accepted the villagers, becoming their companions and no longer rejecting them.

“Ya, little guy!” The hunting party’s members were all rather young. They rushed over and immediately hugged him enthusiastically.

Within the unicorns, there was one that was particularly large, and it was like a heavenly dragon as it galloped. It turned into a silver blaze as it surrounded the little guy, and it was clearly extremely happy.

“Little white, you became a true vicious beast. Your symbols have formed, moreover you are extremely powerful now! You have walked on the path of evolution!” The little guy was happy.

“Unicorns have an Archaic Heavenly Horse blood lineage. If it can continuously evolve and once again display its ancestors’ might, then it would be able to tread on the sun and moon. At that time, it would become a supreme mount among mounts,” Second Baldy said.

The sun dropped below the mountains, and a bonfire rose up. All of the villagers were gathered at the lakeside as they enjoyed the great feast.

“Aunt, this is the precious flesh medicine I brought. In the future, don’t think about that naked bird anymore, it won’t taste good.” The little guy took out descendants, and they were like a small mountain. These meat all radiated multicolored light.

“Heavens, these are all Archaic descendants. Stinky brat, you truly are capable now. After gaining new abilities you can even hunt down these things?” Without mentioning the children, even Shi Linghu and the robust men were dumbstruck.

The people were shaken, but they were happy. These were Archaic descendants! They were truly great medicine, and as long as they ate a few, their people would definitely have hope of breaking through.

The most important thing was that there were thirty to forty of them. If they told this to others, who would believe them? It was simply like a story out of a fantasy, and was absolutely too shocking.

“Didn’t I say that I was going to give everyone presents...” The little guy scratched his head.

“Haha... This truly is the greatest present. It could allow us to break through, and it can satisfy our hunger. These are all delicacies!” The villagers were all extremely happy.

Just how many days would this pile of prey last them?! They were all Archaic descendants. Their medicinal qualities were great, and they definitely wouldn’t be as easy to digest as their ordinary meat.

There were thirty to forty prey, and the majority were killed within the Hundred Shattering Mountains. It included the various creatures that targeted the little guy, and there were also a portion that were obtained during the Heaven Mending Pavilion incident.

This was naturally a feast that the little guy personally selected the dishes for. The giant Golden-Winged Peng was the main dish, and after it was stewed with Lion’s Mane mushrooms, it was simply a combination of delicacy and great medicine.

Golden multicolored light was being emitted constantly from the black cauldron, and it was incomparably splendid.

Even though there were many villagers, they weren’t as voracious as the big red bird and the rest. As a result, only a large chunk of the Golden Winged Peng’s flesh was chopped off, and there was a sufficient amount left over. Even if the villagers tried to eat more, they wouldn’t be able to refine the essence energy.

“This is just like a fairy tale. We are actually able to eat the meat of a Golden Winged Peng...”

Other than this, they naturally couldn’t miss out on bone soup made from the Archaic descendant White Tiger. These were all extremely rare dishes.

As for the remaining Archaic descendants, that was up to the villagers to decide. They were casually roasted on top of a bonfire and cooked until they had an oily golden shine. The meat fragrance assailed their nostrils.

Various berries picked by the villagers were also laid out. In front of the bonfire, they emitted a sweet scent. There were bright red ones, golden ones...

They were alluring to the extreme.

“Grandpa Chief, uncles, I brought back even greater divine wine. For today, don’t drink those other drinks.” The little guy said towards Shi Feijiao and the others.

He took out an ancient tree, and its trunk was extremely thick. He opened the tree hole and scooped out some wine from inside. The fragrance was rich, and the others already began to feel intoxicated after smelling it from the distance.

“Heavens, this... Could this be the legendary Little Devil Wine?!” The group of elders’ eyes immediately stood straight.

Even though they weren’t cultivation saints, ordinary people like them still heard about the Little Devil Wine. It was because its fame was too great, as it was brewed out of all types of spiritual medicines. It contained countless precious medicines, and was the most precious fine wine.

“Uncles, don’t drink too much. Each time, just drink a small mouthful, or else you’ll immediately get knocked out.” Based on the little guy’s assumptions, even the villagers that had had the strongest capacity for liquor would collapse after two cups.

“Hurry! Stinky brat, hurry up and pour the wine, I can’t wait any longer!” A group of robust males shouted. Even Pihou, the snotty kid and the others gathered around.

In the end, Ermeng’s father didn’t believe what the little guy said and directly downed a cup. He collapsed on the spot like a pile of mud and began to snore. His entire body emitted light, and it was clear that he was in a deep slumber.

It was obvious that the benefits he received were great. The divine wine was altering his body, and every inch of his flesh was shining. However, he couldn’t enjoy the greatness of the wine. When everyone saw this, none of them dared to boast any longer. All of them began to enjoy it one sip at a time.

The moon was bright, and the great lake was clear as the gleaming reflection of the waves were revealed under the moonlight. The Golden Winged Peng being stew by the lakeside surged with multicolored light. There were all types of various descendants that were roasted until they were glossy and golden. This place was filled with cheers and laughter. The fragrance of meat and divine wine mixed together, intoxicating the people there.

Very quickly, there were people breaking through. They quickly sat at a side to meditate and adjust their body.

In reality, it was almost as if they were all emitting light. The Archaic descendant's flesh medicines' medicinal qualities were great. Together with a small amount of little devil wine, they would spew out multicolored light as soon as they opened their mouth to speak.

"Snot baby, Huzi, Ermeng and the others, don't lose yourself in drinking and forget about breaking through. I still have a few precious things here. Be careful or else you might lose your share later on."

This very moment, the little guy acted pure and simple, not at all savage. He looked at everyone here happily; in this place he need not be on his guard and wary. His violent and two-faced manner when he was in the outside world vanished completely.

"Why do I feel that only here, he acts like a child." Second Baldy whispered from far.

After returning to Stone Village, the little guy once again transformed back into that well-behaved simple child. Laughing thoughtlessly along with a group of companions was something really plain and normal.

"It seems like this place is very important to him, or he wouldn't bring so many precious medicines and items back. I really wonder what would happen to him if a day comes when this village no longer exists." The big red bird drunkenly spoke.

Chapter 201

The moonlight was gentle as its hazy yet bright light scattered down. Talking and laughter filled the lakeside, and this as something that they did not experience for two years. The little guy and Qingfeng were incomparably happy and lively here.

“Grandpa Chief, your sickness should be curable now!” The little guy ran over, and his smile was extremely pure. He was happy, because the Little Devil Wine he brought back could cure the village chief’s injury.

If not for the fact that he found the Immortal Spring, Little Devil wine and other heaven defying things, he definitely would have pleaded for the Willow Deity’s help.

The Willow Deity’s goals were probably set rather far, and might even be outside the nine heavens. Even though it was protecting Stone Village right now, that did not mean that it was concerned with the natural lifespans of the villagers. In its eyes, this was not something unusual.

“I feel like there is a lump of fire burning within me. The condition of the mysterious injury I got back then in the divine storehouse seems to have improved, and that disease is on the verge of disappearing.” The clan chief was extremely emotionally moved.

So many years had passed, and he had long given up on looking for a cure. He never would have thought that this child would actually bring back this type of divine wine, giving him hope.

“Grandpa Chief, drink a few more cups. You don’t need to fear becoming drunk, because I’ll help you dissolve the medicinal properties.” The little guy said. Curing the clan chief’s illness was always one of his most heartfelt desires.

“Okay!” Shi Yunfeng laughed heartily and began to drink with delight. He celebrated with the people around him, enjoying the night to its fullest.

Multicolored light surged, rising from his pores. A layer of mysterious brilliance covered his body. The little guy quickly took action, striking the clan chief’s body according to the ancient methods written in the True Primordial Record. It broke apart the medicinal effects, helping the village chief cure the strange disease.

The villagers were all shocked. They all looked in this direction and carefully observed, because all of them wanted the chief to become well.

The divine wine was extremely effective. The old clan chief drank another cup, and his entire body seemed have ignited into flames. It was dazzling as the light blazed, submerging his body.

Pipa sounds were emitted. The little guy continuously slapped his body, and there were all types of symbols at work here. The markings entered the old clan chief's body, and that was Shi Yunfeng's opportunity to strengthen his body.

Chi

Finally, a dusty haze surged, gushing out from the old village chief's mouth. It made chichi sounds in the air before slowly disappearing; his old illness was eradicated.

The divine wine's characteristics took effect. An incomparably dazzling rain of light scattered down, surrounding him. His scars were healed, and his flesh became nourished. It allowed his weak condition to quickly strengthen.

"I... have truly been cured!" The old clan elder stood up and felt as if his age lessened by twenty years. His body was brimming with energy, and his flesh was shining. Symbols flickered, and divine light surged, immediately seizing the luck between the heaven and earth.

Shi Yunfeng who was normally calm and unperturbed suddenly had water in his eyes. Back then, among his dozen or so brothers, he was the only one to survive. However, his body was riddled with a demonic illness, and only today did he finally break free.

The villagers exulted and rushed over together.

At the lakeside, the atmosphere became even more enthusiastic. Not long after, another dozen people collapsed from drinking too much. This was because they were too happy, and so they began to drink slightly more.

Qiang, qiang....

Streaks of multicolored light flew across the night sky, creating kengqiang sounds. Precious artifacts flew out one after another, inserting themselves into the grass.

“Ah, so many precious treasures!” Pi Hou, the snotty baby and others’ eyes immediately stood up straight.

Even Shi Linhu, Shi Feijiao and the others stood up, all of them rather stunned. Their cultivation periods were profound, and they naturally knew what was what. These precious artifacts were all unordinary.

“Are you really giving it to us?” Ermeng was originally going to collapsed from intoxication, but now his eyes were completely round. He immediately becoming clear-headed.

“Didn’t I say that I was going to give you guys a gift? Of course I’m not joking.” The little guy laughed happily, and he seemed completely pure.

Everyone was both shocked and happy. At the same time, they were shaken.

“This scarlet sword belonged to a Feiyi, and it was refined from a blood-colored tooth. It is incomparably sharp, containing powerful symbols. As for this beast horn, as soon as it’s blown, the wuwu sounds it creates will shatter a person’s body, and it is something that I obtained from a child of the Stone Country’s Martial Imperial Family. This piece of beast skin...”

The little guy introduced them one by one, informing them about the formidable power, the unique characteristics, as well as his own experiences with them. There were a more than ten of them, and all of them were his spoils of war.

The moonlight scattered down like water. The group of youth and adults fondled them admiringly. They were obsessed with the items as they gently caress each and every precious artifact, cherishing them greatly.

Stone Village had two ancestral devices. They were extremely powerful, but unless a great disaster happened, they would not use them. Those were passed down by their ancestors.

Now, the little guy immediately brought back more than ten. They were all unordinary, and so they naturally made them excited and joyous beyond belief. This was true for Dazhuang, Pihou and the others in particular, because they could finally touch a precious artifact.

The villagers were all drunk. The little guy gave these precious artifacts to them, and when he turned around to look at the village, he could see that the spiritual essence here was dense and that the planted medicines were all unaffected. Their growth were all good.

“Qingfeng, let’s plant the immortal peach tree.” He called out to Qingfeng.

After entering the Hundred Shattering Mountains, he received this great harvest, and it was the divine medicine he dug up. After seeing that the spiritual stalks they planted were fine and growing well, he became completely reassured. He decided to plant the peach tree here as well.

“Ya, what is this?” The villagers were all alarmed.

“This is a silver peach tree. In the future, it might evolve into a true divine medicine. It is about to succeed.” The little guy explained and talked about its origins.

The precious tree radiated light. Even though it was only the thickness of a wrist and was half a person in height, it was extremely upright and strong. Regardless of whether it were the branches or leaves, they were all silver, and it was as if a silver flame was burning.

There were two silver peaches on the tree, and a faint golden colored decorated its surface. They appeared exceptionally bright and resplendent, as if they were sculpted from the most delicate divine jade. In addition, they possessed a rich fragrance that far surpassed spiritual medicines.

“Plant it at the center of the village!”

They dug up a large hole. This time, they dumped in an entire beast skin pouch full of golden silk for the sake of nurturing this sacred silver tree.

“It really is about to mature. Even though it isn’t a divine medicine yet, it still far surpasses those spiritual medicines.”

Dazhuang, the snotty nosed baby, Pihou and the others were truly drunk. They surrounded the silver tree and began to jump and shout, appearing extremely happy and excited.

Even Shi Linhu, Shi Feijiao and the others were extremely excited. It was just one thing after another today, and even if Stone Village didn't want to grow more powerful in the future, it would still be difficult. With these spiritual medicines here, it completely turned this place into a pure land.

It was deep into the night, and people began to scatter off and return to the rich smelling village. There was another group that were directly knocked out by the ladeside.

Early the next morning, the little guy was woken up by the loud movements happening everywhere. He rubbed his eyes and quickly rushed towards the clan chief's courtyard. Qingfeng followed closely behind.

"Child, yesterday among the descendants, there was still one that was alive. It was a chicken, but it actually turning into essence and bore into the ground. No matter what we do, we can't catch it."

Hushen and a group of people were trying to catch the chicken, and they were so tired they were gasping for breath.

When the little guy heard this, his heart immediately jumped. Yesterday, he was too drunk and was too careless. He even took out the Octadic Treasure Chicken from the heaven and earth pouch.

"That chicken fled?" Second Baldy and the others were startled. They all began to run, and even Hairy Ball jumped over. It bared its fangs, showing its dissatisfaction.

"It didn't, it's still inside the village. However, if we leave a chicken running around, it won't be good for the village. It's better if we catch it and stew it." Hushen said.

"Don't, it absolutely must not be harmed." The little guy quickly blocked off this group of the group of large aunts. He was really scared that they would get it in their hands, and by that time, he wouldn't even be able to cry even if he wanted to.

"Where is that chicken? We brought over the precious artifacts, so it can't run anymore." Shi Linhu and the other robust males all moved out, and there were many people involved in this affair.

“Don’t move recklessly!” The little guy quickly stopped them.

Following that, Second Baldy’s saliva began to spurt out as he quickly began to explain what the Octadic Treasure Chicken was. After hearing about it, the people began to stare blankly one after another.

“What?! The egg it lays is comparable to a spiritual medicine? And after half a month, we can get one?”

Everyone was shocked.

“That’s why you can’t hurt it. I brought it back in preparation of raising it. Even the great Stone Country’s imperial family only has one,” the little guy said.

What was the most worrying was that this chicken might have fled. After all, it could escape through the ground, and there was nothing they could do about it.

“It didn’t escape, it’s over there!” Qingfeng’s small voice sounded as he pointed towards a direction.

The little guy turned around and noticed that the fellow was currently lying at the base of the Willow Deity. It was incomparably content, and had a face of infatuation.

Even when it saw the little guy, it didn’t get up. It had a look of laziness as it lied there without moving.

The reason was because it knew that the little guy was aware of its origins and wouldn’t hurt it. It was not as dangerous as that group of valiant women, because if the chicken was caught by them, it most likely would have been cooked.

“You aren’t escaping?” The big red bird was surprised.

The chicken had a look of disdain and shot it a glance. It was as if it had a higher status than the big red bird, and then it became extremely sincere as it worshipped the Willow Deity.

The big red bird was absolutely furious. No matter how you looked at it, it was an expert, yet it was actually looked down upon by a chicken. It immediately threw itself over. However, after it raised its head to look at that sparkling willow tree, it withered, no longer daring to act impudent here.

“Don’t be upset. Their race has shook the lands since the Archaic era, and its family background might not necessarily be lower than yours,” Second Baldy said.

The big red bird was extremely angry, and almost slapped Second Baldy.

Just like this, the little guy and Qingfeng returned and lived for a while. Every day, they would cultivate, and then they would hunt and pick medicines with the villagers. Their days were extremely cheerful.

Gachi, gachi...

“Little bro, what are you chewing on?” Qingfeng was curious. Recently, he always saw the little guy grinding his teeth on something.

“This pagoda, this hateful pagoda took my pure-blooded precious medicine. It’s not giving it back to me.” The little guy was upset, because he had spent these days researching the small pagoda. He used all his strength to shake it, but the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow’s wing, Qiong Qi’s claw and other pieces disappeared without a trace.

The small pagoda was only an inch tall, and it was transparent. It flickered with light and possessed exceptionally beauty. During the great battle, it received great benefits, swallowing the pieces of precious flesh medicine that were sliced off by the ghostly grandpa.

“Hairy Ball, come and give it a try!” He was at wits end. The little guy beckoned for Hairy Ball, because he wanted to see if it could change anything.

Hairy Ball turned into a streak of Golden Light and scuttled over. It was extremely sensitive and immediately noticed that the small pagoda was not ordinary. It immediately began to gnaw on it after it got its hands on it.

Kengchi kengchi...

In the end, the golden thing chewed for a long time without any results. It directly threw it down and bared its fangs. Its eyes were glistening with tears as it soundlessly pointed at the little guy, accusing him.

Meanwhile, its other small claw was holding its mouth, rubbing its mouthful of snow white teeth. It was feeling an unbearable pain.

“There’s nothing we can do. Both of us failed to do anything to it. Stupid pagoda, it didn’t show any response at all. It really took my pure-blooded precious medicine!” The little guy howled in grief, and he felt as if his heart was leaking blood.

Second Baldy and the big red bird were both waiting impatiently. There was flesh from pure-blooded creatures there, so both of them were hopeful.

As a result, nothing the little guy did worked. The little pagoda did not show any response, and the stuff inside did not come out.

“It shouldn’t have been digested by it right? You gnawed on it these past few days, and I’ve constantly seen bits of powder fall off. I just feel as if something’s not right,” Second Baldy said.

The little guy immediately cried out miserably, using all of his strength to pound the small pagoda. “Return my pure-blooded precious medicine to me!”

In the end, there was no way. The little guy bothered the Willow Deity to see if it had a way. The reason was because the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow, Qiong Qi, Southern Meteor Divine Mountain and Mount Yi’s creatures were extremely world shocking. Their blood essence could definitely be used for his ten year old baptism.

“This pagoda appeared again...” The Willow Deity carefully stared at the small pagoda. After looking at it for a long time, it surprisingly spoke out these words.

“Willow Deity, does it truly have an extraordinary origins?” The little guy asked.

“It appeared during the archaic era, and appeared in the ancient era as well. It possesses an unrivalled divine might. Currently, it is sparkling and and translucent, and since it was so small, it’s almost unrecognizable.” The Willow Deity was serious as it spoke.

Chapter 202 – Pure Blood

The little guy's eyes became round, and his mouth was wide open. "This tiny pagoda isn't even an inch tall but actually possess such an amazing background? That's too shocking!"

Following that, he thought of an important question. Exactly what era was the Willow Deity from? Could it be that it personally witnessed the things it spoke of?

If this was true, then this thunder-stricken lightning would truly be terrifying beyond belief.

"Willow Deity, did you personally witness this in the past?" The devilish brat carefully phrased his words, but how could his intentions not be noticed by the Willow Deity.

The charred black tree was quiet. Ten or so green and lush branches danced in the wind. It was peaceful and without movement as it replied, "It was something I heard."

The devilish brat's large eyes moved around. The opposing party's response was a bit too ordinary, almost as if it wasn't willing to say too much. It made him rather suspicious.

"What kind of thing was this small pagoda originally? Why does it have such a past?" He asked, because he wanted to know more.

"Those years are too far in the past, and they are difficult to trace back to. Knowing too much won't help you much, and might even put you in danger. You just need to know that it is a formidable item. It is a precious artifact that possesses a truly unrivalled divine might." The Willow Deity replied.

It was extremely serious, and its words carried a hint of prestige. It warned him with a serious tone that there were certain things that were not good to dig too deep into. Otherwise, it might lead to a life-endangering calamity.

The little guy was in a difficult situation. He truly didn't find this small pagoda dangerous at all. Was this sparkling and translucent small pagoda really going to take his life to silence him?

“It lost a large portion of its body. The pagoda is several layers smaller than before.” Right at this time, the Willow Deity once again spoke, saying, “It’s form is a bit different.”

When this little guy heard this, he was immediately shocked. He placed the small pagoda in the center of his palm and carefully looked it over. There were only four layers, and it was extremely beautiful and bright. He didn’t notice any imperfections, and it did not occur to him at all before that it could have been damaged.

No wonder even the Willow Deity didn’t recognize the small pagoda when he returned to Stone Village. Its form actually changed.

Soon after, the little guy recalled what happened within the Hundred Shattering Mountains. The small pagoda once used phoenix fire to refine itself, trying to restore its body and improve its condition.

Second Baldy and the big red bird’s saliva were spilling everywhere as they stared at that small pagoda. If it wasn’t because of how savage that devilish brat was, they really would have stole it.

Hairy ball was like a thief as it jumped onto the little guy’s shoulder and slid down into his wrist. It once again hugged the small pagoda, but this time it did not bite it, because it had done so not long ago only to hurt its teeth.

Qingfeng was extremely happy and felt glad for his small big brother. With this kind of supreme treasure in his hands, if he was able to use it in the future, he would be able to defeat anything before him.

In the end, they once again returned to their original question: the little guy asking for the Willow Deity’s help. He wanted the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow’s wing and the Qiong Qi’s claw, but they had all been devoured by the small pagoda. It seemed as if it wouldn’t release it no matter what, making him extremely unreconciled.

“It might be too difficult to do so. It has absorbed the essence and used it to refine itself. In the end, we might only be able to extract a small amount,” the Willow Deity said.

The little guy was discontent. He once again began to chew on the small pagoda to vent his anger. Those were pure blooded creatures' blood essence and precious bones! The inherent value contained in them were too high, and any small portion released into the world would instill great waves.

Second Baldy and the big red bird were tensed up. They really wanted to try the taste of a pure-blooded creature, but they also knew that the chances of that happening wasn't high.

Rustling sounds rang out, and some white powder fell down. They looked like snowflakes, and this sight made the little guy cry out miserably. It was obvious that the small pagoda was digesting the bone essence and was spitting out a portion of the leftovers.

"These are the bone fragments of pure-blooded creatures, and can be used as medicinal primer. It is priceless." Second Baldy spoke. This time, the amount of powder was great, making its eyes light up as it quickly used something to catch it.

A willow branch reached out and wrapped itself around the jade-like small pagoda. It gently swayed, and an array of symbols spread out. In addition, a strange and mysterious sound was emitted.

With a putong sound, two pieces of flesh fell out. They were extremely huge, and were several thousand jin in weight. Essence energy surged, and it was as if two divine depositories appeared.

Second Baldy and the big red bird's eyes immediately reddened, and they really wanted to jump over. The little guy was also stupefied. There was clearly a mountain sized wing and claw before, yet why was there so little left over?

The Heaven Swallowing Sparrow' flesh began to flicker with dark light, and the Qiong Qi's flesh burst with scarlet multicolored light. They were both extremely shocking, and there was a fluctuation being emitted from them that made people feel intimidated.

"Fetch two jade containers. I will help you refine them." The Willow Deity spoke.

The little guy snapped back to reality and quickly took out two sparkling jade containers. They were both sculpted out of the highest quality jade, and could be used to store precious medicines as well as other valuables.

Two willow branches were lowered. They stabbed themselves into the pieces, releasing dazzling multicolored light from the green and lush branches. They were filled with auspicious and peaceful energy as they emitted waves of sound.

These two tender branches interweaved, appearing mysterious and unordinary. In just a split second, the pure-blooded creatures' flesh were practically completely refined, turning into the most foundational essence.

The flesh lost their luster, and became like dried up fossils. However, there was a single drop of black jade-like liquid rolling. This was the concentrated form of the Heaven Swallowing Sparrow's blood essence. On another branch, a drop of scarlet liquid was flickering. It was like a blood diamond, and was extremely brilliant.

Several thousand jin of flesh quickly lost their luster. Even though there was still a large amount of divinity and primal force contained within them, the Willow Deity did not continue refining them.

Su su

A willow branch wrapped itself around the small pagoda. It continued to sway, and in the end, there were two pieces of several thousand jin flesh that fell. They were the Southern Meteorite Divine Mountain and Mount Yi creatures' flesh.

It was clear that they weren't originally humanoid creatures. From the pieces of flesh that remained they could see what the original bodies were like.

The Willow Deity used the same method. It extended two emerald-green branches that entered the two pieces of powerful flesh. The refinement began, and the divine liquid was extracted.

The little guy quickly lifted up the two jade containers, waiting in expectation.

The willow branch was brilliant and carried an endless amount of diving might. It could even refine the flesh of pure-blooded creatures. It seemed like in just a split second, a golden drop of liquid appeared on the tender branch. The dazzling drop rolled down the branch. On the other branch, a drop of pure white liquid appeared. Waves of radiance rippled outwards from it.

The two drops of liquid emitted magnificent multicolored light. Their divine characteristics undulated greatly, and it was as if they penetrated through space itself. They flew out, shocking everyone.

The liquids dropped into the containers, leaving behind a precious hazy splendor.

The little guy was joyous. He was incomparably happy as he looked at these four small jade containers. This was concentrated pure-blood. It's divine characteristics were terrifying, and from time to time lightning would be emitted too. It was a shocking sight.

The big red bird and Second Baldy were completely stupefied. Even Hairy Ball's eyes were round as it carefully observed.

Even though there were only four small drops, they were countless times more valuable than a pile of precious medicine. This refined divine liquid was a type of concentrated essence.

Ten Archaic descendants weren't even comparable to the four small divine liquid drops in the small containers. If these were out in the open market, it would definitely create chaos.

Second Baldy and the big red bird watched keenly, but they knew that these drops had nothing to do with them. They had already heard the Willow Deity say that they were going to be used for the devilish brat's baptism, and so these were merely the preparations for that event.

Second Baldy swallowed its saliva asked while looking at the several jin of lusterless flesh, "Do you still need this flesh?"

"I do not need it anymore." The Willow Deity spoke.

Without waiting for the little guy to say anything, the big red bird and Second Baldy both got up and pounced. They moved as soon as the Willow Deity spoke, disappearing like a wisp of smoke.

"Where are you guys going? Go look for Hushen so we can make a large feast for everyone." The little guy shouted from behind.

With a sou sound, Hairy Ball chased after them. It directly jumped on top of the meat mountain, waiting for the barbecue.

"Will the Willow Deity help Qingfeng carry out a baptism too?" The little guy asked.

"Let's allow him to refine his body first." The Willow Deity replied, but did not actually refuse.

In the following days, the little guy spent all his time refining his body and cultivating his symbols. He wanted to adjust his body to its peak condition. The Willow Deity had already said that he could carry out the baptism soon.

Honglonglong

The field began to shake. The little guy began to run while carrying a hundred thousand jin boulder. The scene was a bit terrifying; the ground was being cracked and the crevices extended outwards.

In the end, his feet directly caved into the ground.

“Weirdo!”

The big red bird was a bit scared after seeing this. Was this still the strength of a human? This was just a child, yet he was carrying a mountain while running. This was absolutely terrifying.

The little guy emerged from the ground. He ran far away and carried back countless giant boulders, placing them on the plains to replace the earth there. Then, he once again began to carry hundred thousand jin boulders to train his strength, but in the end it didn't help him at all.

When he ran, the rocky ground would all develop cracks and split open. It couldn't support his terrifying strength.

He left this place and entered the primitive mountains to cultivate. He directly leapt from one mountaintop to the next. Smoke and dust soared into the air, and each time it was as if a giant was displaying its might. The mountain peaks were split open by his two legs.

When Stone Village's hunting party saw this sight, they all became dumbstruck. Why did this child seem like he was becoming more and more scary? No wonder he could bring back so many heaven defying things.

Qingfeng was also constantly tempering his own body. When he saw the little guy, he was speechless. When he found him later, he said, “Little big brother, you can enter the Void God Realm again. Two years have passed already.”

When the little guy heard this, he nodded. His heart was ignited, because he always wanted to enter again.

“What? Void God Realm?! I want to go too!” After they returned to the village, Ermeng, Pihou, snot baby and a large group of people were stirred up after hearing the little guy ask the Willow Deity for this favor. They all began to clamor about.

They never exited the primitive mountain ranges, and would at most see a few villages within the great mountains. They truly longed for the opportunity to encounter the outside world.

“Let me take a look first, and then we can go together and stir up more trouble,” the little guy said. He wanted to discretely take a look at the situation.

The Willow Deity was not opposed to this. It had always wanted the little guy to sharpen himself there, but unfortunately, last time he was too crazy. He only entered for a single day, yet he completely threw everything into disorder. Even the Void God Realm couldn't handle him anymore and expelled him.

“Child, go and take a careful look at the situation. Later on, uncle will go with you as well.” Shi Linghu and the other group of robust men also looked forward to this event.

The little guy immediately got a headache. He nodded soon after.

No one knew just how strong the Willow Deity was currently, but ten of its green and lush branches suddenly rose. They directly pierced into the heavens, and symbols began to densely occupy this area, creating a door.

The little guy sat under the scorched black tree trunk. He didn't feel as if his essence energy was being separated from his flesh, but rather as if his entire body completely disappeared from his original position as he stepped through that gate. Multicolored light was flickering, and the sound of thunder roared within that gate.

“Ao...” The devilish brat immediately began to shout. He felt extremely emotional inside.

The primal chaos' mist was hazy. The little guy quickly ran forward, directly charging through the vast ruins. He entered from a different place than the ancient country's people.

He needed to pass through these ruins filled that were filled with debris and ancient remnants in order to enter the true starting ground. Only then would he have access to the various great heavenly paradises.

“Void God Realm, I’ve returned!” The devilish brat shouted out loud. He felt excited, and he was extremely stirred up.

Chapter 203

Broken pillars and destroyed walls littered the area. Rubble and debris covered the ground, telling a story of sorrow and joy, of the end of a glorious age. Was this a world where deities became deities, or was it hiding something else?

Collapsed divine mountains appeared one after another. The mist of primal chaos curled up, boundless and without limit. The little guy hurried along, his black hair fluttering behind him. He was as fast as lightning, his speed extremely quick.

Finally he reached the end. He stepped on top of the golden passageway. Multicolored light flickered, and he disappeared from his original position and arrived at the starting ground.

“Who is this? Why are you squatting on the passageway? Do you really think you are the devilish brat, and want to pry out two pieces of symbol bone?”

“Do you have nothing better to do? You can learn from anyone, yet you try to copy that fellow!”

After coming to the starting ground, he immediately began to squat down on the large limestones to carefully observe. There were several precious bones imbedded within, and he felt as if they were even more brilliant and splendid than before.

Of course he wouldn't dig them up again. He had already been expelled once before, so he definitely didn't want to be permanently expelled from this place. He was just reminiscing a bit, thinking about past things.

He was currently squatting while in deep thought as he tapped the large limestone. His strange posture naturally drew the attention of the people nearby. People began to point at him as they chattered.

The little guy did not reveal his true appearance, and wanted to understand the circumstances first.

“Hello? Youngster, don't truly think of yourself as that devilish brat.”

“With the way you are acting, you are basically asking to be beaten up...”

When the little guy heard this, he was at a loss. He stood up and looked around him. The starting ground did not have many changes, and was the same as before.

“Did the devilish brat come?” He asked the question even though he already knew the answer.

“How would he come? He died at the Heaven Mending Pavilion. This is the result of being too lively, throwing away his small life as a result,” someone said.

“Not necessarily. It’s not like his corpse was found, so how could you guys be so sure that he died?” Someone argued.

“Yeah, right. He’s undoubtedly dead. Think about it, with his nature, if he was still alive, why isn’t he already here in the Void God Realm? Two years and one month has already passed, so his restriction has already ended.”

At the starting ground, people came and left. It was extremely bustling, and when the matters regarding the devilish brat were brought up, many people became interested. Quite a few people began to discuss amongst themselves.

Someone sneered. “With only himself to rely on, do you really think that he can escape from the Heaven Mending Pavilion? He was turned to ashes a long time ago. Rumor has it that even their old ancestors were killed off. Even though his natural talents are terrifying, he’s only a small child. It would be extremely hard for him to survive.

“Aiyou, aren’t you from the four great clans? I recognize you within the ‘human mountain’ that the devilish brat created two years ago. Why are you still in the starting ground? Why didn’t you leave yet? With your cultivation, shouldn’t you be able to enter the higher levels of heavenly paradise?” Someone mocked.

“Did you not hear? Regardless of whether it is the four great clans or the great powers that have hostility towards the Heaven Mending Pavilion, they all came to the starting ground today to await news.”

“Rumor has it that there were a few that escaped the Heaven Mending Pavilion encirclement, making the large clans rather uncomfortable. As a result, they spread out their people and searched everywhere.”

The little guy was astonished. The Void God Realm wasn't peaceful either, and was more complicated than what he thought. Even though the battle at the Heaven Mending Pavilion had already concluded, the aftereffects had not yet disappeared. The waves created did not calm down.

When he thought of that battle, he immediately clenched his fists tightly and felt extremely uncomfortable inside. So many of his senior brothers and sisters died in battle, and their blood died the pure land red. As for the elders, practically none of them were able to survive. For the sake of escorting the disciples out, they gave up their lives one after another to resist the great enemy.

The little guy squeezed through the crowd and walked towards the distance. He silently thought about everything alone, and only after a long time did he calm down.

He once again changed his appearance, using Hairy Ball's precious technique to adjust his height. He now seemed like a bamboo pole, and was quite different from before. After that, he cleared his throat and said, "The devilish brat didn't die, I just heard someone say that they met him."

He was just trying to see what the reaction would be, but in the end a group of people rushed over. They all carried murderous intent as they shouted at the same time.

"Where is he? Who saw him?"

"Tell me! Where is that savage youth, and when did he appear?"

Their voices sounded urgent, and all types of symbols moved about their bodies. It was clear that they were unsatisfied and about to forcefully take action.

The little guy could feel several different types of bone texts instantly. There were people from the four great clans, and there were also individuals with a hazy mist surrounding their bodies. It was likely that these were the Rain Clan's people.

Other than these people, there were still men from other powers. They all gathered here as well, and it was obvious that there were people from the Tuoba clan and others.

Back then, various schools joined together to destroy the Heaven Mending Pavilion. It was not just Tuoba Family, Rain Clan, Western Tomb Beast Mountain, and Four Great Clans; there were still a few other extremely formidable powers.

A strange glint flashed within the little guy's eyes as he laughed coldly inside. These people were truly souls of the dead that had not yet dispersed. He ended up encountering them even within the Void God Realm, and they were looking for him even here, trying to eliminate any remaining roots.

It seems like there are quite a few people who felt that he was still alive. As a result, they spread out their search everywhere, hoping to find some clues. After all, the natural talents he displayed were too terrifying. Even some of the large ancient powers feared his survival, as that might lead to great trouble.

"Quickly, speak! Where did you obtain that information? Who was the one that spread the rumor?!" The tone of these people were not good. They immediately used threats, their voice carrying cold killing intent.

In addition, even more people began to gather. They were all full of killing intent and bad will, and the only thing on their minds was finding out the devilish brat's whereabouts.

The little guy directly stated that this was something he heard, and not something that was definitely true.

"Less useless words, hurry up and tell us!" Someone from the four great families shouted.

"Don't mess around, or else you might lose your life!" The Rain Clansmen were even more direct.

"It was two old men. One had a bird on his shoulder, and the other one seemed rather devious and lowly. They were the ones quietly discussing these things," the little guy said.

"What? Bird grandpa and coin elder?!"

"Go, look for those two old things quickly. They are always at the starting ground, and never went to any of the higher heavenly paradises!"

This group of people directly rushed out like a gale of wind. Even though a small group rushed towards the little guy to capture him as well, he took advantage of the crowd to quickly disappear.

Back then, because these two individuals sold out all types of real and fake information regarding the little guy, they became rather infamous. As a result, many people knew who they were.

The little guy was a bit amazed. Two years had already passed, yet these two old things still haven't left? This was truly a bit queer.

Coin elder was the type of person where one could tell with a glance was rather lowly and shady. He was currently going for a stroll when he was suddenly surrounded by a group of people, almost receiving a beating.

Bird grandpa was not far away, and upon seeing this, he immediately made himself scarce. In the end, before he could even take more than ten steps, he was stopped. He had a similar group of fiends targeting him.

"Youngsters, don't act recklessly. This old one's identity isn't normal! If you all act rudely towards me, then your clan instructors will blame all of you." Coin elder had the appearance of someone great from the outside world.

The group of people all rolled their eyes and looked at him with disdain. They all sneered. Was this old thing not scared of getting beat up after putting up so much bullshit? If not for the fact that they wanted information from him, they would have cleaned him up already.

"Everyone, don't act impetuously. If you have something to say, then say it." Bird grandpa was also gesturing with his hands, not allowing the people to get closer.

"Less nonsense, you two swindled so many people back then. Right now, we have things to ask you two. You guys better not lie." Someone spoke in an extremely fierce manner.

"Speak, where did you two discover the devilish brat?" The Rain Clansmen interrogated in a domineering manner.

"Devilish brat?" Coin elder's high and mighty look immediately changed. In the blink of an eye, his two eyes began to spin around before he quickly reacted, saying, “If you want information, you need to first take out a hundred coins.”

Furthermore, he quickly added, “It’s a hundred coins per person. I won’t publicly announce it. Whoever wants to pay, come up and make the deal quickly.”

The little guy was absolutely dumbstruck as he watched from the side. This old fellow was truly lowly! He was clearly being surrounded by a crowd and he knew absolutely nothing, yet he still dared to peddle out fake information. He was truly an old shameful person...

“You old cheat, how many coins did you cheat us during the last two years? You still want to swindle us?” Someone immediately became furious.

“The information is reliable. If you guys don’t believe me, then there will naturally be people within the darkness that will sell it for a higher price. Don’t start regretting later.” Coin elder spoke unyieldingly.

“I’m going to skin you alive!” Someone was going to take action.

However, that individual was stopped. The people turned around and looked at the bird grandpa that seemed a bit more simple and honest. “Old fellow, what about you?”

“One piece of information for two hundred coins.” Bird grandpa responded calmly.

“Motherfucker! You crazy old thing. After asking you for information, you also want to charge us? In addition, it is also double the price!” Everyone became furious.

“The information I’m selling is real. That fellow’s information is fake, so mine is naturally more expensive!” Bird Grandpa also spoke in a composed manner.

Coin elder was discontent as he said, “You old thing, you dare slander me. If we are going on the bases that whoever’s price is higher is offering the truth, then I’ve decided that I’m going to sell my information for three hundred coins.”

“Pei! You even dare to pass off fake information as real. You are only a cheat, I treat everyone fairly.” Bird grandpa gave him a look of disdain.

“Nonsense, you are the old swindler!”

The two individuals began to argue with each other. They puffed their beards as they stared and picked at each other.

Everyone became stupefied. When they caught these two to interrogate them, not only did these two end up raising the prices, they even began to fight and argue with each other. It simply made people go mad.

“Enough, are you guys finished? Hurry up and tell us where that devilish child is. Where did he hide his body?” Tuoba Clan’s people showed up. They were extremely domineering and were absolutely fed up with them.

“Bring the coins over. Even if there’s one missing, we won’t tell you!” The two old fellows shouted in unison.

The little guy was speechless. These two old fellows didn’t forget to cheat others even in this type of situation. They truly weren’t people of good character.

“Truly acting recklessly!” There was someone who burst with fury and couldn’t take it anymore. The individual forced himself forward and directly took action.

Peng

However, even though he came fast, he left fast as well. He wanted to teach bird grandpa a lesson, but in the end he was sent flying by the bird on his shoulder. The individual crashed into a mountain far away and spat out a mouthful of blood.

Everyone was shocked and couldn’t help but take a step back. This was definitely an expert! In addition, it was a bit excessively powerful.

At this moment, every single person’s faces change. They no longer dared to act blindly without thinking. They suddenly understood why these two fellows were able to do as they pleased until now without anyone acting against them. It turns out that they were a quite difficult to deal with.

Behind the crowd, the little guy had a strange expression on his face. These two fellows weren’t ordinary after all. Afterwards, he began to laugh. Maybe he could pull these two fellows in and do business with them.

The reason for the devilish brat’s return this time was not purely for the training of his body. He wanted to create a gargantuan disturbance and pay back his debt of blood to his enemies. He was going to deal with the ancient schools that destroyed the Heaven Mending Pavilion.

With his natural disposition, he naturally wouldn't immediately fight with these great enemies directly.

Just now, he had already tested the waters and calculated everything. He was going to sell out information about his own appearance, making the large school pay an enormous cost in coins and precious bones.

He hoped that the other party would be 'enthusiastic' and use these gifts to 'welcome' his appearances.

Originally, he wanted to do all of this solo. He was going to change his appearance each time and sell out information to the various large schools.

Now that he encountered these two old fellows, he felt that he had to let go of his previous plan. After all, his relationship with these two was still not too bad, and these two old fellows' shamefulness was not simple. They seemed to be able to keep things under control, and the most important this was that these two were 'habitual criminals'. Towards extortions and swindling, they could be considered experts, as they were simply too proficient at dealing with them.

The little guy didn't waste any time and quickly transmitted his voice. In secret, he told the two individuals a few things, quickly and simply communicating with them.

In the end, the two individuals became immediately stirred up. Their eyes brightened and began to emit green light. They cleared their throats, shaking the entire starting ground. The surrounding people were so frightened they couldn't help but take a few steps. They feared that the situation might turn back if these two old individuals went crazy.

"I've decided, state your prices. You can only use precious bones or Archaic descendant precious blood to exchange. In addition, they must be from a sufficiently valuable species. Otherwise, don't think about doing business with us."

"Let's say it like this. We know where the devilish child's body is, and we also know that he is training himself within the Void God Realm. It is definitely real news. If it is fake, we are willing to use our own lives as compensation!”

“In addition, we have to add that you small fry shouldn’t come and be an eyesore. It is better if your clan race’s masters come directly and exchange with rare treasures. Otherwise, we have nothing to say!”

When one of these fellows said something, the other added something as well, continuously complementing each other. They declared a sky-high price, and their conditions were harsh as well. However, they vowed that their information was definitely real, using their own heads as vouchers.

Soon after, the starting ground began to boil with action. The devilish brat didn’t die, and was about to appear again?

In addition, news quickly travelled to the higher level heavenly paradises, triggering a huge tempest.

When they were completely finished with their cocky speeches and their mouths dry and tongues parched, the two old fellows squinted their eyes and gave each other a glance. They began to quietly mutter when no one was around them.

“This devilish brat’s heart is truly dark! He suddenly emerged and wanted to make people exchange for the information with precious treasures. Truly too shameful...”

“The youngster’s skin is too thick, and his heart is truly dark. He’s clearly jumping out on his own to get vengeance, but he’s making it look as if others are begging him to. What a cheat!”

“Are you guys talking about yourselves? I feel like the descriptions are rather appropriate!” The devilish brat darkened his face and argued pointlessly.

Chapter 204 – Receiving a Great Gift

“That child didn’t die within the Heaven Mending Pavilion? Various powers joined arms to surround that area, and there were numerous experts there! Even after such a bitter war, he was still able to escape harm?!”

News spread, and they quickly proliferated from the starting grounds to the higher heavenly paradises. It triggered a huge wave of commotion.

At this very moment, the starting ground was bustling with noise.

Everyone was in discussion. Some people believed, and some people coldly laughed, unconvinced.

Regardless of whether it was the four great clans, Rain Clan, Tuoba Family, or the ancient families, they all had people rush over to seek confirmation. The more they heard, the more restraining fear they felt towards that savage child.

“If his natural talents really are as terrifying as the rumors say, then he won’t just be the ruler of this desolate region when he grows up. He’ll definitely show disdain towards even supreme experts. He absolutely must not be allowed to grow up.”

“Do you not know who those two old things are? They are two frauds, and have tricked so many people already!” There were also people who felt that this was not that big of a deal.

At the starting ground, all sorts of things were being discussed. However, not everyone believed the rumors.

“Wei, what are you youngsters saying? This old one treats everyone fairly with absolute honesty, a paragon of virtue!” Coin grandpa retorted, seeming like an honorable person.

Bird grandpa sat on the other side, appearing rather calm and easygoing. He did not say much, but the bird on his shoulder casted a sidelong look as if it held everyone in disdain.

These two old fellows swindled others quite a bit, and those who did not know of them were fooled after seeing their relatively older ages. However, there were many people who were familiar with them at the starting ground, so quite a few people were looking at them superciliously.

“Old things, if you two dare to cheat us in this serious matter and we find out that these are empty words, it will be difficult for you two to escape death!”

Finally, there were experts that rushed over. Their faces were cold as they spoke with powerful tones. The look in their eyes were like torches as they stared at the two individuals and threatened with this warning.

“If you believe then you believe, if not then that’s up to you. I don’t want to lower myself to your level, so it’s best if you get your clan lords to personally come. I promise that they will be satisfied.” Coin elder said.

“Who do you think you are? If you were just being swindlers here, then that is that. However, you actually want to deceive true ancient families! Be careful or you may lose your heads!” Two people walked up with their hands behind their backs. Their eyes were fierce as they spoke imposingly.

“You’re trying to pick a fight with us? What kind of person hasn’t this old one met yet? If you aren’t satisfied, then come at me!” Coin elder seemed to have erupted in anger. He carried the appearance of a powerful individual and was more feisty than a younger man.

The people who came sneered, and with a wave, a group surrounded the two. Symbols flickered, and with a weng sound, precious techniques were brought out, enveloping this land.

“You better speak, or else you will have to take responsibility for the results!”

It was clear that they came from a large powerful, and naturally did not want to purchase the information. They directly used forceful methods to try and suppress these two old men, coercing them to speak.

“Using strength to approach this old man? Your actions are affecting my business...” Coin elder appeared extremely discontent and clamoured, “Ruining my livelihood is akin to taking my life. I’ll fight you guys to the death!”

He roared loudly and threw bird grandpa who was next to him outwards. In that split second, there was absolute chaos. Bird grandpa was furious and no longer acted calm and collected.

The group of people's precious techniques smashed over on the spot. All types of symbols flickered, making this area extremely brilliant. Bird grandpa turned around and didn't face everyone, facing coin elder instead. However, that bird on his shoulder instead soared into the air and faced the enemies.

Hong

A streak of fiery light dropped down from the sky, as if a sea of primal chaos descended. The bird was extremely terrifying, immediately turning this pace into a lake of raging flames.

The group of people cried out miserably as they directly turned into human torches. They began to roll on the ground one after another before backing up and fleeing. Even though their lives were not in danger, their bodies were practically half roasted.

The one that led those people looked even more like processed coal. He didn't carry the slightest bit of arrogance anymore as he trembled from the pain. Only by relying on the support of others could he even stand.

The most intolerable thing was that the two old men ran off to the side and began fighting with each other. The two didn't pay any attention to their group, and all of this was done by a single bird.

Did heavenly logic even apply to these old bastards? The group of people were in grief and indignation, and even though they wanted to cry, no tears came out. In just a split second, those two old fellows that were fighting immediately became equivalent to fiends in their eyes.

After witnessing this fight, everyone gave up on their plans of using force. These two old fellows truly weren't worth provoking. Their strength were deep and immeasurable, and most importantly, they were lacking in moral sense.

However, because of the current situation, their words seemed a bit more truthful. Quite a few people began to feel like maybe these two truly did know the devilish brat's whereabouts.

"This old man is putting his head on the line, so the information is definitely true. That little bastard is hiding within his little nest, and I can get him out. However, this is on the premise that the information is exchanged for symbol bones and precious blood!"

The two old fellows made solemn vows as they pledged towards the sky.

"It seems like it really is real! I have never seen these two act so serious. They aren't cheating us this time, right? Otherwise, the commotion they stirred up is a bit too great."

Many people were moved, and began to get the feeling that their information was most likely real.

This time, even more people came. The starting ground had a stream of people moving about, and many great powers sent out their experts to find out what really was going on.

Of course, not everyone here bore hostility. Many of them just followed where the crowds were, because the baby that angered both 'the heavens and the people' alike was too unique. Now that his period of exile was over, no one knew just what kind of crazy storm he would stir up.

"The return of the devilish brat to the Void God Realm is truly something to look forward to!"

"Hehe, haha... I truly want to see what kind of performance he will give us now that two years have passed. I hope the four great clans, Tuoba Family and the others wage war within, and it'll be even better if the Western Tomb Beast Mountain's archaic descendants hurried over as well.

"If archaic divine mountains like Mount Yi and Southern Meteor also dispatched their pure-blooded creatures, once they travel from the divine lands through the mountains and rivers of the great wastes, it would be even more amazing."

News traveled outwards at an inconceivable speed, quickly reaching the higher heavenly paradises. It attracted the attention of countless people.

It was easy to see that after two years, the starting ground once again became the gathering place for a storm. It triggered a shocking wave of sensation.

"Is what you guys said true? The two old fellows truly have guts, actually daring to brazenly sell this kind of information. They must have some kind of power backing them."

"First, these two are quite strong, and aren't easily pushed around. Second, it's quite likely that they truly know the whereabouts of that child."

The Rain Clan's people discussed among themselves. Their hatred towards the devilish brat was bone deep. Within the Hundred Shattering Mountains, they lost so much, and now they even let him escape during the Heaven Mending Pavilion war. There wasn't a single moment where they didn't want to kill him.

"Won't we find out if we just take a look? So what if we bring a jar of descendant blood? It's not like we have to make the deal. We can just wait until the people around us start discussing the result.

The Rain Clan's people decided to join in on the action. In addition, several of their important figures were the ones that went.

The Tuoba Family was an ancient family that had existed since a long time ago. They experienced prosperity, decline, hiding, and revival. Currently, they were extremely powerful, and there were also some people discussing this in their clan.

"I will personally go and see what is going on. It is just a child, so there is no need for us to involve everyone. However, we can't allow him to truly mature!"

A few of the clan's youth began to speak. Their statuses were high, and all of them were powerful candidates qualified to be their clan's successors.

As for the four great clans, then were even more furious. They were all incomparably resentful, because that devilish child had been a thorn in their sides all the way until now. He showed them defeat and humiliation again and again, making their hatred towards him difficult to dissolve.

Their bodies were piled up within the starting ground into a human mountain, becoming the target of others' ridicule. Within the Hundred Shattering Mountains, their clan's restricted individuals all fell, and their outstanding youth were all killed. It was truly a great hatred.

The news spread, and it was not limited to the Void God Realm. It reached the ancient countries within the real world, and quite a few people were shocked.

A massive storm converged, and more and more people began to pay attention to this matter. The clamoring within the Void God Realm made it so that the place could no longer calm down.

In the end, experts from powerful races arrived one after another, walking out from the golden passageways. Only a short period of time would pass before another great clan would appear, creating a huge sensation.

More and more people began to hide their identities, not wanting others to recognize where they came from. After all, there were some things that had to be done that weren't all that glamorous.

The starting ground was packed with people, making this a huge deal. Many people wanted to see some chaos and came here to join in on the fun.

People rushed over from the various heavenly paradises within the Void God Realm. This place was like a jungle as new faces showed up one after another, shoving and bumping into each other.

"Yi, Scarlet Cloud's prince is here!" Someone immediately became shocked.

Scarlet Cloud's prince was extremely well known within the higher level heavenly paradises. He was a formidable young expert!

He was from the four great clans, and his scarlet fan was lost here two years ago. Back then, his younger brother carried it to kill the little guy and take his treasures. After angering the little guy, he was forcefully suppressed, leading to the calamity that the four great clans eventually faced.

"Things are going to get lively from here!" Everyone was in expectation as they revealed excited expressions.

"Yi, those are the great princes of the Tuoba clan. They really came here undisguised!"

Several people walked over, their ages all around twenty. Their auras were unordinary, and their expressions were stern as they walked silently. These were the ancient families' elites.

Soon after, coin elder and bird grandpa were surrounded by people. A group of individuals who had high statuses appeared, and they were all unordinary.

However, the surrounding people could not walk forward, because they were blocked by a few experts. They cleared up a large area there, and the mood immediately became tensed up.

It was clear that there were experts that hurried over from every clan. In addition, none of their statuses were low, and as they faced the two old fellows, they wanted to get to the conclusion of this.

“There’s nothing to discuss here. This old man has already said everything that should be said. Use archaic descendant blood or precious primitive symbol bones to exchange!”

“You truly want to exchange for precious blood? A middle aged male asked expressionlessly. Cold light flickered within his eyes.

“Correct!”

“Fine! As long as the information is real, we are willing to pay!” The middle aged man laughed coldly. Killing intent pervaded the air as he placed a jade jar on top of the stone table. Purple light flickered within.

The jar was filled with purple blood, its reflection even making the jade container transparent. Purple multicolored light surged, as if it possessed life. A dense purple mist curled up around it.

“It truly is precious blood. It is extremely rare and simply too precious.” The people were shocked.

Within the darkness, the little guy was extremely happy as he clenched his small fist.

Coin elder and bird grandpa were both calm and collected. This time, they didn’t act out of greed, and they didn’t even bat their eyelashes. They sat there steadily without moving.

“Speak, tell us the circumstances.” The middle aged man spoke. He was someone from the four great clans.

“I will tell you alone. Is anyone else going to bring precious blood to exchange?” Coin elder calmly spoke.

“Are you messing with me?!” The middle aged male was furious.

“No I am not. So many of you came, and each great power brought a jar of precious blood. Place all of them on the table, then I’ll tell all of you.” Bird grandpa spoke.

When everyone heard this, they all sucked in a breath of cold air. This was simply too much greed! It was just a bit of information, yet they wanted so many jars of precious blood. Was there even any other profession that could make more at once?

You have to understand that a jar of archaic descendant precious blood was already priceless. It was enough to make people risk their lives, yet these two actually wanted numerous jars.

“Those who want the information, walk up. If not, back up.” Coin elder spoke, and then added, “There must be at least fifteen jars of archaic descendant precious blood on the table, or else we won’t speak.”

He spoke extremely boldly. A jar of precious blood was enough to carry out several baptisms, and when used appropriately, it could prove to be extremely vital and affect their entire life.

“So many people came. If you all were sincere, one person a jar would truly create a small mountain,” Bird Grandpa said.

Even though he was exaggerating, there was still a bit of truth in that statement. There were experts from all the various powers here. If a jar was offered up by every clan, then it would be similarly impressive.

The people here all sneered, feeling as if these two truly messed around too much. If this continued, things could turn out bad for them. If they didn’t have real news, then they would inevitably bring popular indignation on themselves and get attacked from all directions.

“Old ones, be careful not to create self-immolation.” A young person spoke and then took out a jade container, placing it on the table. Blue light flickered, and the liquid inside was translucent as it flowed with brilliance.

“Count me in as well.” The Scarlet Cloud prince calmly spoke. He took out a jar and placed it on the stone table. It contained scarlet liquid that shot streak after streak of scarlet multicolored light.

A haze curled up around it, and mist was scattering about. An elder walked up and placed a jar on top of the stone table. Golden liquid shone from within, the descendant blood within it shocking everyone.

“Rain Clan’s people?” The little guy’s heart jumped as he made this judgment from the individual's aura. For the sake of dealing with this clan, he studied the bone text and became extremely familiar with their auras.

"Is there any more?" Coin elder spoke. During this entire process, he carefully inspected everything to make sure that he wasn't being cheated.

"There are times where it's better to just take a life. Forget about ordinary people, understand that there are ways where even a supreme pure-blooded archaic beast can be killed here!"

Someone else threatened before placing a jar of precious blood onto the stone table.

This made the little guy shiver a bit inwardly. They were truly concealing their urge to murder here! There will most likely be a huge battle. These people weren't easy to provoke, and they were all prepared inwardly; otherwise, how could they say these words?

However, he wasn't scared at all, because he had enough hidden trump cards that could suppress all the various experts.

In the end, the various ancient powers all expressed their intentions before offering up a jar of precious blood each.

The little guy's eyes turned red. It was obvious that these people's hands were bloodied from the Heaven Mending Pavillion war. They were going to move out again today to get rid of him.

"Senior brothers, sisters, and elders, I will first get back a bit of interest!" The little guy clenched his fists.

In the end, there were fifteen jade containers piled up together on top of the stone table. They flickered with brilliant multicolored light and were incomparably splendid. The liquids were all transparent and sparkling as divine splendor curled up around them.

With a aolao sound, the little guy directly pounced over. He broke through the limit and seemed to possess unrivalled power. He directly soared up before dropping down from the sky.

Following that, he made a sweep and directly snatched the tableful of precious blood into his bosom. He shouted noisily, “Mine, mine, all mine!”

Chapter 205 – Unleash Slaughter

The little guy's movements were swift. A beast pouch was opened, and the pile of sparkling and translucent jars were collected in one motion. It was quickly moved to his back, his speed making people stare blankly.

“You dare!”

One of them erupted into fury. With a raise of his hand, an expanse of heavenly sand appeared. It quickly formed stars and rumbled as they moved. Large heavenly bodies appeared one after another, surrounding this area.

Everyone became overwhelmed with shock; just how powerful of a figure was this? He brought such a precious artifact with him and directly laid down a formation, immediately trapping his opponent.

The little guy was shocked, and he felt a tremendous pressure. However, he was happy and without fear. Multicolored light emerged from his entire body, and a pair of Kun Peng wings appeared on his back. They immediately trembled before erupting with a flourishing light.

Hong!

The divine wings shook, and a great star was smashed apart. He once again charged forward and moved his wings. The surroundings area rang out with rumbling sounds of destruction, and the great stars that were circulating about were blasted apart.

Everyone was shocked. What kind of formidable precious technique was this? It directly destroyed a powerful precious artifact with such ease!

At the same time, various symbols dropped down as densely as raindrops. They were extremely dazzling, and it was as if the words of a divine incantation were materializing in the sky.

With a chi sound, the little guy left behind an afterimage. He was not hit, and with a flap of the Kun Peng wings behind his back, it allowed him to travel without touching the ground. A single movement would shift him a hundred zhang out, making him simply too fast as he escaped their encirclement.

“Devilish child!”

When he stopped, many people were alarmed. They all recognized him and revealed shocked expressions. They didn't think that he would truly come to the Void God Realm and prove the rumors true.

"He's still alive and trying to steal from the tiger's den! He truly came to this place!"

The starting ground immediately erupted into commotion. Many people came to this famous location purely for the sake of seeing the youth that once angered humans and Gods alike. They were now able to see his true self.

"After the Heaven Mending Pavilion war, skeletons covered the ground and blood died the pure land red. Not many were able to survive, yet he was actually completely unaffected!"

Everyone discussed passionately, filling this area with chatter.

This result went against everyone's expectations. At the crucial moment, he personally jumped over and seized the entire pile of precious blood.

"Quick, transmit news outwards that the devilish brat appeared! He revealed himself within the Void God Realm, and is going to fight a great war against the great powers!"

"Send a report to the clan lord! A huge event will unfold here, and a decision must be quickly made!"

"We must report to the princess. She loves this type of activity the most, and if she misses this, she'll definitely start blaming people."

Movements immediately happened in all directions. The information was spread out in the quickest way possible, and not only was the Void God Realm shaken, even the great powers and ancient countries in the outside world became aware of this.

The number of people entering the Void God Realm shot up. The people that came later suffered, because there was an extremely large number of people rushing towards the starting ground.

"So? Didn't I say that the information was true? You all didn't want to believe it." Coin elder stood up and then suddenly shouted, "Return my precious blood!"

Bird Grandpa stood up and rushed towards everyone saying, "To honor the agreement, you all had to exchange with precious blood or symbol bones. However, now, they aren't in our hands."

Who still paid attention to these two's cocky words? Their eyes were all red from anger after seeing the little guy. Groups like the Rain Clan and four great clans charged murderously together.

In reality, the devilish child's eyes were more red than theirs. If not for the pile of magnificent archaic species' precious blood, he wouldn't have held himself back for so long.

"Much thanks to you all for this great gift. After welcoming me so enthusiastically, I think this will be enough for several baptisms. These are truly precious."

After hearing the devilish brat's words, the group of people immediately clenched their teeth. All of them had the urge to vomit blood. They would rather throw away the precious blood than give it to him.

"Kill!"

They charged up, all of the experts from various clans moving simultaneously.

They brought over the precious blood, but they weren't actually going to carry out the transaction. It was all a front, after all, was there anyone that dared to lust after their items? However, the target personally came and directly stole them, catching them completely unprepared.

Everyone felt that this savage child was too daring. He was fully aware that a group of people would go after him with ample preparations, yet he still showed his face; he was a bit too bold.

Chi chi sounds penetrated through the air. Streak after streak of sparkling threads interweaved, forming a heavenly curtain that enveloped the starting ground skies. It was a sparkling and translucent net that was extremely gorgeous.

"Divine Flame Silkworm!"

Everyone cried out in surprise and saw that it belonged to one of Tuoba family's princes. In his hands was a inch long scarlet silkworm, and it was something that he spat out.

"A well known creature among archaic descendants! I didn't expect to be able to see this type of creature!" Many people widened their eyes as they looked towards that direction.

The Divine Flame Silkworm's entire body was a gem-like scarlet red that was almost transparent. It carried a bright red luster, and a flame was curling about its body. It seemed harmless, but it was actually a vicious creature that would kill without a second thought.

The silk that it spat out was incomparably tough and durable, and even precious artifacts would find it difficult to break through. It curled up in flames, and could burn a person into ashes in an instant; it was extremely terrifying.

The transparent divine flame silk spread out like a web as it descended, surrounding the little guy. It was about to capture him alive.

"Let's see how you will escape!" Tuoba family's fourth prince sneered. This wasn't simply the precious artifact of the Divine Flame Silkworm, as it also underwent the clan's refining. There were many mysterious symbols added, making it difficult to break.

Hong!

The little guy shifted horizontally. His body emitted light, and an ear-splitting sound was emitted. He withstood a large amount of symbols and avoided this large net.

"The net is inescapable! It can cover the heaven and earth. You won't be able get away!" The fourth prince from Tuoba family shouted.

The divine flame silkworm within his bosom released a vicious look. Scarlet light surged and an even greater mass of silk was released from its mouth, completely sealing up the area in front of it.

Even the others halted their steps, no longer daring to move forward. They stopped their attacks in fear of getting caught up in it. The dense and brilliant great web ignited with a great blaze, the heaven overflowing flames terrifying everyone.

The little guy stopped and calmly waited for the web to fall. Then, he suddenly he reached out and caught the silk thread. A golden vortex appeared in front of his body and continuously revolved.

“Restrain!”

Tuoba clan’s fourth prince shouted, his eyes filled with a frantic radiance. He never thought that his opponent would be so brazen as to commit suicide. Could it be that he was actually going to destroy the divine flame silk?!

Fiery light radiated, and the brilliant scarlet red silk tightened. It wanted to bind the little guy and cut him up into ashes.

At this moment, however, the golden symbols around his body became increasingly dazzling. Those vortices rotated, swallowing essence energy from all directions, completely devouring the flames.

“This...” Everyone was startled. Wasn’t this a secret passed down within the Peng race? Based on their understanding, this was likely the Kun Peng’s precious technique.

“It’s the Golden Spiral Ripple Technique! It’s the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s precious technique, but the one he’s using seems to be more terrifying! It contains the secrets of the Kun Peng!” An elder was terrified, and his expression changed greatly.

Weng

The golden vortex refined the flames, swallowing those endless symbols and resisting the fiery silk's attacks. Meanwhile, the little guy's two hands fiercely pulled, and with a kacha sound, the sound of breaking rang out.

"Heavens, what am I watching? He tore apart the fiery silk! Just how terrifying is his divine strength? With a body like his, he could definitely lift mountains and move seas!"

Everyone was overwhelmed with shock. Many people cried out in surprise.

The devilish brat's performance was too shocking. He destroyed an utmost powerful precious artifact with his bare hands. One has to understand that the silk was extremely tough and durable, completely unlike other weapons.

With a xiu sound, the devilish brat turned into a golden light as he rushed over murderously towards Tuoba family's fourth prince. When the people saw this, they all rushed in to stop him.

The reason behind this was that they all knew that the devilish brat was unrivalled in bravery within the starting ground. He was definitely not someone that a single person could deal with, so they all tried to stop him.

With a honglong sound, a vast body of water appeared behind the little guy's back. An overbearing wave roared like thunder, the billows seeming to submerge the heavens itself. It was constructed out of symbols and its power directly sent a group of people flying.

The most terrifying part was that a great black fish appeared within the sea of water. Its size made people tremble, as it was vast and obscure. With a fierce sway of its tail, the black symbols flickered before landing on everyone's bodies.

Ah...

Many people cried out miserably, and the ones with relatively weaker cultivations were immediately scattered into pieces. The more powerful individuals quickly avoided it, but even after doing so they still spat out fresh blood before staggering backwards.

"Kun Peng, the legendary giant bird of the sea! It's a divine Kun!" The people were overwhelmed with shock. This type of precious technique actually appeared, shocking people to the extreme.

With a peng sound, the little guy dropped down from the sky after sending a large group of people flying. The ocean waves rolled over and over, imprisoning the Tuoba family's fourth prince. With a single step, he caused the people to rolled about on the ground. He caught that divine silkworm.

"You..." Tuoba's fourth prince was scared and furious. However, the little guy didn't even wait for a reaction before stepping down. He directly splattered apart, dieing here.

The fine hairs on everyone's bodies stood up. How powerful was this strength? He could directly trample one of Tuoba's princes to death!

Dying within the Void God Realm would inflict a serious injury in the real world as well. Their strength would suffer a huge blow, and their essence energy would be affected as well. At the very least, they would need several months of self-cultivation before fully recovering.

The effects of these injuries were great, and can cause problems in an individual's essence energy. The unluckiest ones might even lose their spirituality, creating huge problems for their cultivation in the future.

The little guy picked up the divine silkworm and carefully looked at it.

The Divine Flame Silkworm silkworm revealed an ominous look. Symbols interweaved all about its body as if they embers were lighting up. They were extremely hot as they tried to burn the little guy to death. At the same time, the silk it spat out was even more terrifying; it wanted to wrap him up and refine him.

The little guy could tell immediately that this type of descendant was untameable. His hand exerted force and directly pinched it to death. Then, he placed its corpse into a bag, because it was precious flesh medicine.

Everyone became dumbstruck. This was too savage! That was a rarely seen powerful descendant! He actually squeezed it to death! What an abnormal person!

The group of people were all in fear. Was there really no one who could control this youth? The group of people took out their precious artifacts and rushed forward. They even activated formations to kill him in their traps.

“It’s you...” Suddenly, the little guy became angry after feeling a familiar aura. He sent a person flying with ease and charged into the mist with thunder-like power.

Suddenly, he lifted up a person with a peng sound. His eyes began to shoot flames.

The individual was a white-clad youth roughly fourteen to fifteen years old. Symbols circulated about him, and a hazy mist curled about. It was the Rain Clan’s genius — Yu Feng.

“You thankless wretch, bringing your clansmen to the Heaven Mending Pavilion to kill everyone. You bite the hand that feeds you! Today, I will hack you apart!”

The little guy was furious. He tore off one of his arms and threw it away. He did not immediately kill him, but instead started to violently strike down.

Yu Feng screamed miserably, and the sounds he made were no longer like that of a human’s.

The Rain Clan’s people were all angry as they charged up together.

As a result, a streak of lightning appeared. Magnificent lightning blazed about the little guy’s body as rage consumed him. Behind him, a vast body of water surged, and a huge black fish rose.

With a hong sound, the Kun Peng precious technique merged with the lightning and crushed down on every direction. This was simply an unrivalled power that swept through everything. The Rain Clansmen cried out miserably, and they were all blasted apart.

People were sent flying in all directions. They would explode and turn into a bloody mist.

This type of divine might and oppressiveness shocked everyone. They simply couldn’t believe that this devilish child slaughtered a group of experts!

“Yu Feng, Rain Clan, you all are a group of scum!”

The devilish child went mad. The Kun Peng behind him appeared, emitting the sounds of wind and lightning. It erupted with golden light, and whenever it smashed into people, there would immediately be flesh exploding. Bloody mist filled the air.

He unleashed a massacre, killing the people from more than a dozen clans. They were all great powers of this world, but in the end these experts weren't a match for him. They were all slaughtered until they shouted miserably. They all howled endlessly in anguish.

This area became chaotic. The little guy went crazy after thinking about the bloody tragedy that happened within the Heaven Mending Pavilion and unleashed a massacre.

Chapter 206 – Invincible

This was not merely a few people, but rather a group of experts. They all came from different great powers, and even though they were grouped up in an unspoken alliance, they were still slaughtered in a chaotic manner.

The little guy didn't waste a single extra ounce of strength. His movements were quick and fierce as he leapt like a rabbit and swooped down like a falcon. An absolute massacre unfolded, and blood would blossom from time to time. He killed everyone in a clean and efficient manner.

Each time the Kun Peng wings flapped, there would inevitably be people smashed apart, crushed by the powerful symbols. Meanwhile, the lightning radiance about his body interweaved, engulfing in all directions. As a result, many people were turned into processed coal before falling down

"How can we permit such vicious actions? Lay out the formation!" The Rain Clansmen shouted. They couldn't tolerate his vicious actions, because they lost twenty to thirty of their men just now in a split second.

More than ten pieces of beast bones appeared and released multicolored light. They began to spread out, arranging themselves in all directions before fixing themselves in the air. As a result, a hazy radiance began to envelope this region.

Under normal circumstances, a few pieces of powerful precious bones were already enough to lay down a formation, yet the Rain Clan used more than ten pieces. This was one of the most complex killing formations they possessed, and they were employing it to deal with the little guy.

Ash colored flood dragons rose from all directions. They opened their mouths and spat out divine radiance, scattering down a rain of light.

Chichi sounds fell incessantly onto people's ears. The rain of light looked like streaks of electricity as it covered the sky with divine swords. The scene was extremely terrifying.

Every single one of the symbol bones represented an archaic descendant. They were all the bones of flood dragons, and after gathering together, they became incomparably powerful, displaying an unrivalled type of suppression.

Everyone was overwhelmed with shock. This should be the flood dragon suppression formula! More than ten pieces of vicious beast bones had been previously refined to merge together into a great formation. Even if it a legendary pure-blooded vicious beast appeared, they would most-likely still be suppressed.

This place was engulfed in wind and lightning. Ash colored flood dragons soared, and a hazy mist moved about as the dozen or more flood dragons collided together. They formed a great formation that locked up the heaven and earth.

Everyone was startled. How was this type of murderous technique supposed to be defeated? With the strength of over ten descendants, this was a powerful method that could kill even individuals with extremely great cultivation realms.

The little guy did indeed feel the pressure, and even his body began to feel rather sore. The dozen or more vicious flood dragons began to smash about as they twisted their bodies one after another. Soon after, a rain of light scattered down and shot towards his body.

Hong!

The devilish brat erupted into movement. What kind of person was he? He truly broke through the cultivation limit, and under the power suppression of the starting ground, who could defeat him at the blood transformation stage? He was simply unparalleled.

His body fiercely shook. Symbols erupted, directly blasting apart the several flood dragons surrounding his body. He used his unrivalled physical strength to tear apart these descendants with his bare hands.

In the blink of an eye, fresh blood was scattered everywhere. The broken corpses of flood dragons fell, and the little guy was like a demon king as he unleashed chaos within the formation. He swept everything before him, and whenever he soared up, an ash-colored flood dragon would be torn apart with a movement from his hands; the scene was incredibly bloody.

Everyone was shaken. Just how powerful was his fighting strength? He could kill descendants with his bare hands! Could it be that he was a pure-blooded creature himself?

As for the devilish brat, there were too many rumors, but how many people actually personally saw him in action? Those within the Hundred Shattering Mountains should be familiar with him, but those restricted individuals had all been killed by him!

Each time the little guy killed a flood dragon, a crack would appear on the primitive bones. As the battle became increasingly fierce, the Rain Clanmen's faces become increasingly ashen as well. He was a bit too terrifying.

"He is definitely comparable to Yi'er back then. If the two were of the same age, it would be a battle between giants. Without the power of the dual pupils suppressing him, it would be difficult for such a battle to reach a quick conclusion."

"Yi'er not only has his dual pupils. He still has other unrivalled methods, so that might not necessarily be the case."

In the blink of an eye, the Rain Clan's important characters quickly made a comparison between the two. The little guy's power exceeded their expectations, making these clansmen a bit scared and upset.

Hong

In the end, the little guy's two hands moved, and a purple Suan Ni roared. It was larger than a mountain, and as it rushed out, lightning interweaved. It swallowed all of the ash-colored flood dragons in one gulp.

Kacha

The dozen or so symbolled bones immediately cracked apart. The powerful precious artifacts were destroyed and ruined here.

“What?!”

Not only were the Rain Clansmen trembling, even the others felt their hairs standing up. This was a bit too unrivalled and powerful!

Peng

The little guy soared and rushed forward. He quickly took action, and the purple Suan Ni that still had a hint of gold charged forward. Lightning radiance flickered about the mountain sized Suan Ni as it threw itself at the Rain Clansmen.

“Ah...”

“No!”

Those people cried out miserably. With the Suan Ni precious technique released, there was nothing they could do. After undergoing a transformation, the technique far surpassed what it was like back then.

Burnt bodies appeared one after another on the ground. There wasn't a single one that survived after being pounced on, all of them directly dying.

Within the ancient country in the real world, more than ten people cried out inside the Rain Clan. They all spat out large mouthfuls of blood, and there were even some whose foreheads began to crack and continuously leak out blood. As a result, their minds received an extremely terrifying injury.

The Rain Clan residence was greatly shaken. The clan's experts unexpectedly suffered injuries at the same time, terrifying many people. This was the result of being killed within the Void God Realm, and such a result might leave behind repercussions.

Within the starting ground, the little guy had unleashed a bloody slaughter in all directions. In the end, the Rain Clansmen all fell with only Yu Feng remaining. He was lifted up by the little guy and then cut open.

This time, it was not just a single arm, but rather his entire body directly being torn in half. The blood was a deep red as it splashed high into the air. When paired with that child's young and tender face, it made people's hearts tremble.

Wasn't this simply the cost for attacking the Heaven Mending Pavilion? If this child were to grow up, with his natural talents, it was quite likely that another world-shockingly great power would rise up from the ruins.

This was what was on the minds of many, making their hearts trembled. Rumor had it that he was on par with pure-blooded beasts. Could it be that this was true?!

“Kill!”

Someone shouted out loud, and a scarlet divine needle shot out. Multicolored danced about with dazzling brilliance.

“What?! Soul Shattering needle!”

Many people cried out in shock, their expressions changing. This was truly severe! Within the mortal world, there were none who didn’t fear this, because the needle’s origins were too powerful.

The little guy quickly evaded and did not meet it head on. He dodged to the side, and as the scarlet radiance danced about, it was as if the needle came from a poisonous scorpion straight from hell. The bright redness was a bit terrifying.

“Soul Shattering Needles are demonic artifacts refined within the Void God Realm. If one is struck by it, then not only would they be exterminated here, their souls in the real world would also shatter, causing them to die.” Bird Grandpa spoke softly.

Many people entered the Void God Realm to train their minds, because the results of their training here carried on to the outside world.

There were many heavenly paradises within the Void God Realm, and the higher regions were mostly occupied by the great clans. The natural resources were abundant, and there were many precious materials that were suited for cultivation there.

Within the heavenly paradises, there were symbols and descendants that originated here. The ten or so jars of precious blood they brought here today were obtained within this world.

The Divine Flame Silkworm that Tuoba family’s fourth prince possessed was also caught like this. It was originally an inhabitant of the heavenly paradise, only that it was later tamed by one of the clan elders and have a part of its interior symbols refined.

Soul Shattering Needles were extremely famous within this world, and rumor has it that these were refined from special materials that contained a portion of this world's laws. As a result, it was exceedingly terrifying, and once struck by it, one would undoubtedly die here, and their real body would have trouble escaping this disaster as well.

However, these treasures were exceedingly rare. After so many years, there truly hasn't been many rumors of people discovering them. These had all been accumulated from the past, and were almost never seen nowadays.

It could kill the void body and destroy the real body at the same time. As a result, it was known as a demonic artifact!

"Tuoba Clan is worthy of being called an ancient family! They can even take out this type of item!" Someone cried out in shock. The individual couldn't help but take steps backwards.

The little guy retreated. He did not recklessly face it head on, but rather carefully observed the situation.

Scarlet multicolored light flickered, and that divine needle flew over again with terrifying wuwu sounds. It pierced through everything in its way, and when the little guy threw out a ten thousand jin boulder out, it was directly penetrated by the divine needles.

"So powerful!"

He truly became apprehensive; this was a demonic artifact after all! If he wasn't careful, he truly would pay a bitter price, as this endangered his life.

"Tuoba family, thank you for your great gift! In the future, I will definitely return it to you!" The little guy shouted.

His two hands made some movements, causing purple lightning to dance about. They formed a cauldron that was rather simple looking. This was creation through lightning, which shocked the onlookers.

His actions were simply too shocking!

Lightning represented destruction, and those who successfully pried into its sliver of life force would then be able to create through the lightning dao. Even though he wasn't at that level yet, what he was doing now was enough to shock everyone.

The little guy's hands moved about, forming a cauldron. Lightning flickered about, massing together to form lightning from the ninth heaven. Then, with a fierce vibration, the scarlet Soul Shattering Needles were collected by him.

A weng sound rang out, and a divine ring appeared behind the back of his head that emitted purple qi. The little guy sat down and faced the purple cauldron; he began his refining.

“You want to steal these enchanted needles? Keep dreaming!”

Tuoba clanmen shouted angrily and moved out together. They activated their symbols to try and reclaim the precious technique.

In addition, the other great powers' people no longer spent time dreading what was happening and quickly took action. How could they allow him to just sit there without attacking him? This was an opportunity!

However, a humongous black fish emerged from the boundless sea behind the little guy and swayed its tail. A tremendous black wave was created, immediately sending all of them flying.

“Quickly, recollect them!” Everyone cried out.

Tuoba Clan's people began to feel anxious because they were starting to lose their connection with the Soul Shattering Needles. The precious artifacts were seized from them and quickly refined. They were now on the verge of receiving a new owner.

Everything was finished. That purple lightning turned into a small cauldron, and all twelve scarlet divine needles glowed brilliantly as they became motionless.

“Sacrifice!”

The little guy shouted, and the space between his eyebrows lit up. Symbols dropped down and wrapped itself around the demonic artifacts; he was about to gain control over them.

“Flee!”

Many people's expressions changed. At this moment, they became incomparably fearful. It was because the owner of the Soul Shattering Needles have changed, implying that the devilish child could now truly kill them. Regardless of whether it was the void body or their real body, they would both die.

“Dealing with you bunch won’t even require the usage of these!” The little guy got up and looked at them with disdain.

He already understood the strangeness of the demonic artifact. Upon usage, it could kill the individual’s body in the real world. How could he use it on these people’s bodies? This was a truly great murder weapon, and could be used to make any expert within the Void God Realm cower in fear.

Upon penetrating and killing someone, it would immediately explode, making it unable to be used twice. He had already decided that unless they were upper level figures, he would not hastily used this as it would be too wasteful.

Chapter 207 – Archaic Divine Book

Some people who fought even had thoughts of suicide. Needless to say, during this battle, all of them became fodder for enhancing the devilish child's fame.

During this battle, they all began to feel grief. There were more than ten great powers there! After all of their experts moved together, they were slaughtered by the devilish brat alone. That demonic land was dyed red with blood."

The worst part was that this all happened under the gaze of everyone. Even if they wanted to hide what happened, they couldn't because everyone saw what happened. This was simply too shameful! How could they endure something like this?

Inside the Void God Realm, the starting ground immediately began to erupt with commotion after a brief moment of silence.

The people here were pushing and bumping into each other, and they were composed of experts from all different ancient countries and great powers. They were originally attracted to this place because of its reputation and wanted to see what the devilish brat was truly like.

It was quite obvious that what they saw today far surpassed their expectations. Their trip truly wasn't made in vain, and they were able to gain quite a bit from coming here. They were able to see a battle that was fierce and bloody to such an extent.

The devilish brat felt no qualms about being someone who angered people and God alike. He eliminated all of his opponents in one battle without letting a single person go. His shocking attitude and efficiency deeply shocked everyone, overwhelming them with conflicting emotions.

The news spread out like a huge wave, engulfing every region. Not only were the heavenly paradises within the Void God Realm shaken, even the various great sects in the real world were shocked greatly. Many people were left dumbstruck.

"What kind of thing is this?" The little guy was puzzled. Multicolored light scattered down, surrounding this object. A circle of light began to suspend itself in front of his body like a lantern.

He reached out his hand to touch it, and a light bo sound rang out. That lump of light broke apart, and a piece of metal appeared. It was extremely irregular, seeming like some kind of fragment.

“What kind of lousy thing is this?” The devilish brat immediately became unsatisfied. After killing all those enemies and wiping them clean, he only received this kind of broken thing?

Everyone became speechless. This child truly did not know when to stop. After the Void God Realm personally gave him a precious object, he was still being picky. He was truly a small miser.

Many people were watching from the sidelines. They wanted to know what kind of object he received. After all, there was actually a record that was established! It created a reaction from the laws of this world, dropping down a precious object.

“It seems like the broken corner of a plate. What kind of use would such a thing have?” The devilish brat scratched his head, and his face had a puzzled look. It was an expression that was completely different from the demonic aura he had when he slaughtered in all directions.

He didn’t want to miss out on a precious object, and so he carefully looked it over. In the end, other than a few weird streaks, there wasn’t anything. He was unwilling to give up, but after circulating his symbols, the bronze piece still remained unreactive.

Finally the little guy began to chew on the metal piece with a vibrating kengchi sound. Qiang qiang sounds rang out as he used all of his strength to grind on it with his teeth. However, it didn’t suffer any damages from being chewed on, because it was extremely sturdy.

“I can even eat archaic descendants, yet I can’t do anything to a broken piece of copper.” He squinted his large eyes, and they became like crescent moons. He felt that this thing wasn’t ordinary.

“Let me help you appraise it a bit.” Right at that time, coin elder spoke. He took a huge step and ran over quickly. When he stopped, his face was calm, as if he was a great person in the outside world.

“I won’t give it to you!” The little guy immediately put on his guard and threw it into his bosom. This was an old cheat, and if he were to hand it over, then that was the same as saying that he no longer wanted it back.

“What are you trying to imply? Why are you acting like you are protecting yourself from a thief?” Coin elder was unsatisfied as he raised his beard.

“How about you give it to me? This old one will pass on to you a world shocking precious technique, so let’s exchange!” Bird grandpa also came over. Even though he seemed calm, the little guy could still tell that the old fellow was not undisturbed inwardly at all.

“Yi, those two old things are veterans at this. Since they are so eagerly attentive, it must be some supreme treasure!” The people muttered and looked forward. Everyone wanted to know what it was.

The little guy backed up and watched them vigilantly. Then, he turned around toward the stone tablet to see if he could get some information from it.

The stone tablet flickered. It was brilliant and sparkling, and there were a few words on it that recorded down his record.

“Little war saint”

The beginning were just these three characters, and the main idea of the words below explained how he defeated a large amount of experts in the shortest amount of time. After taking in the precious artifacts, formations and experts he destroyed, it was decided that he was able to establish a new record.

Quite a few people made their way over and saw this short statement. They immediately became inwardly fearful.

This time, there were many powers that made their moves, all of them sending out their experts to probe the situation. At the very least, there were more than ten great powers that brought precious blood, and those that took action during the battle surpassed twenty.

There were at least twenty to thirty people that made their moves from each sect, and in the end they were completely wiped out.

The formations, precious artifacts and other things combined together were enough to kill an archaic vicious beast descendant. They were fighting with power that was at the extreme peak of the blood transformation realm.

However, not only did the little guy not die, he even tore them apart like rotten weeds. In such a short period of time, he killed all of those outstanding individuals. Not a single person was able to leave, and all of them were exterminated!

“Archaic bronze artifact, occupying one tenth.”

It was the very last sentence that clearly explained what the reward was. However, it only made the little guy even more confused. What was this used for?

However, when the people who rushed over heard this sentence, their expressions immediately changed. Some of them really wanted to kill him and seize it.

A few of the older individuals cried out in alarm. Their facial expressions were revealed looks of wonder.

“How could that be? It’s actually that kind of object! Could it be that his strength is so heaven defying that he would actually be bestowed such a legendary divine object?!”

“This is truly too shocking! After so many years, this type of object appeared again!”

The group of elders’ faces and necks reddened. They did everything they could to cram their way in. They truly wanted take that metal piece from the little guy’s bosom for themselves.

The little guy was suspicious. He knew that he might have received a great treasure, so he quickly backed up to increase the distance from everyone. After seeing coin elder and bird grandpa silently walk closer, his small face began to darken even more.

“I’m warning you guys! Everyone who dares to get within ten meters of me will be eaten!” The devilish brat threatened with his eyes widened. He revealed his small snow white teeth.

The group of people's bodies shook, stopping their movements soon after. This was simply a death threat. Just now, the little guy had been immersed in the blood of over a hundred experts' blood as he went crazy and killed so many people. Who dared to bring disaster on themselves at this point?

"What exactly is this thing?" The little guy asked.

Even though there were many people who enviously wanted it for themselves and didn't want to tell him, there were still a few people that sighed inwardly. They knew that they couldn't seize it, because the devilish brat was unrivalled here. Someone said, "It's a fragment of the archaic divine book."

"Why aren't there any words on it?" The little guy took out the copper piece and continued to look at it.

"That's only a tenth of it. If it was completely pieced together, it could open up a divine storehouse. Inside, there will definitely be some world-shocking precious technique." Someone said.

'What?!' The devilish brat's eyes immediately became round. There were also these types of things within the Void God Realm? He became incomparably excited.

In the past, there were people that obtained it. When completed, the bronze fragments would enable one to obtain an unrivalled precious technique from the archaic era. It was something that even pure-blooded vicious beasts and divine birds coveted.

After someone spoke out, this place immediately broke out into commotion.

Many people were like the devilish brat and didn't know at first. Now, they immediately became stirred up. That was definitely an amazing ability created from a supreme primitive symbol.

"How can I obtain the other fragments?" The little guy longed for it.

"Difficult, too difficult. The only way is if you continuously break records, and those all must be the most difficult and impossible to accomplish records. Only then will you have a chance of obtaining more."

"Then that's fine. I've already killed enough in the starting ground. I'll go to those heavenly paradises, since I'll definitely have some chance to break records there." The little guy began to smile radiantly.

Meanwhile, the group of people's faces changed. This was an offspring of disaster! After tossing the starting ground from side to side, he then wanted to advance into an even higher region to inevitably cause even more heaven overflowing waves.

There were quite a few people whose heads and hearts began to throb. They seemed rather stifled as they turned around to leave and report these things.

The higher heavenly paradises were important places that the great clans and ancient families occupied. None of those regions were lacking, and their values were immeasurable.

It seemed like this devilish brat was preparing to ransack those areas, marching straight into those pure lands to cause chaos. If he was still invincible in those regions, then it would truly be a disaster.

It was scary to just think about these situations!

"What?! He obtained a piece of the archaic divine book?!" Within the Rain Clan, when a group of people heard this, they were immediately angry beyond belief.

The devilish brat killed all of them. This was a record that was accomplished over their dead bodies, and he even obtained such a heavenly defying object. One can imagine how much this messed with their minds.

Even the elders were angry to the point of shaking. They stopped themselves from spitting out blood with great difficulty, otherwise, their wounds would have become even worse.

"Back then, Yi'er also received a mysterious divine object. However, he didn't announce what it was, and to my understanding, its value shouldn't be any less than that of the archaic divine book."

Within the Rain Clan, no one could suppress their fury. They all felt that this was an absolute disaster and that they had to get rid of the devilish brat as soon as possible. The only comforting factor was that Shi Yi was also amazing.

Tuoba Clan was an ancient family that was now incomparably splendid. After they heard the news, a bunch of people became speechless, and only after a long time did someone open their mouth.

“That brat is too strong. He’s ridiculously powerful, and if he is allowed to grow up, there won’t be anyone that can keep him in check!”

“He’s only unequalled within the starting ground. That only signifies that his luck in the blood transformation realm is extremely great and can fight with an archaic vicious beast descendant. However, once he leaves that place, he might not necessarily continue to be so heaven defying.

“I don’t think so as well. Would he still be so unrivalled within the heavenly passage realm? When he leaves the starting ground, we absolutely have to kill him!”

The same discussions were happening within the four great families. Everyone’s faces were darkened.

“That brat is truly terrifying. We can’t really deal with him at the blood transformation realm, but once he enters the higher domains, let’s see whether or not he’ll still perform. We definitely need to find a way to kill him, making his void body and real body both die.”

News broke out. The devilish brat fought and exterminated the experts of various clans. Over a hundred people fell, creating a scene of massacre. He even established a terrifying record, and a archaic divine book dropped down from the sky in acknowledgment of his strength. It contained the ability to bestow a precious technique, making many people tremble.

Regardless of whether it was the Void God Realm or the great ancient countries of the real world, a violent commotion was stirred up, creating huge waves.

Some were envious, others hateful. These types of feelings were too common, and even though it was only a small bronze piece of the book, it still made people feel endless desire. If they obtained it, they would definitely gain a great world-changing ability!

If this type of precious book were to fall into the imperial palace’s hands, then even the human emperor would be moved.

Many great powers and influential families were in an uproar as they discussed these events.

“Go, let’s go as a group and kill that devilish brat. We are going to seize that precious text.”

“Stop dreaming. Those various powers were killed until they were completely smashed. With people like you, even if ten thousand went, it still won’t be enough.”

“Sigh!”

People were discussing this topic, and a huge commotion was taking place. However, there were also many people who clearly recognized that it was only the beginning of this crisis. With the devilish child’s temperament, he would definitely leave the starting ground. At this point, no one knew if these various powers would seize this opportunity for themselves or if they were going to kill him together.

Regardless, an even greater disturbance is brewing, and it is all about to happen soon!

Chapter 208 – Without Worries

“Archaic divine birds and vicious beasts were born with strong bodies. They are destined to be deities from birth, and their futures are great. However, humans are different. They start out frail and weak, and only after bitter cultivation would one out of millions and millions become a deity.”

There were elders discussing amongst themselves within a few of the ancient families. With the appearance of a piece of the bronze divine book, people like them were immediately moved.

“The route of a human’s cultivation is extremely unstable with countless untold dangers and difficulties. They can only push through with perseverance and willpower, and only then would they be able to establish their own divine road. They would then be able to jump out from the mass of common people and separate themselves among millions and millions.”

A clan’s great master was thinking as he muttered out loud.

“Historically, there were those who started out gloriously on a smooth path only to later on show decline.”

When the younger generation heard this, they all began to develop confidence.

“He is like an archaic vicious beast, already so terrifying at such a young age. Don’t tell me that he will always advance so boldly! A person’s potential has limits. Even if he is unrivalled within the Blood Transformation level, once he enters the heavenly passage realm, he might not necessarily be so amazing. It is likely that he will gradually become weaker.”

In reality, not only the Rain Clan, Tuoba family and the others began plotting. Even those that originally did not carry any hatred towards the little guy started to become interested.

They were a generation of heaven warping talents that showed extraordinary promise. There were a few people whose faces were expressionless as they looked into the distance. It was as if their gaze could pierce through the endless space ahead, revealing their desire to fight that savage child.

“Enter the heavenly paradise, and there will definitely be a battle!” They thirsted for an opponent, wanting to fight a battle with the peak of their abilities.

Within the starting ground, the little guy was exceedingly happy and didn’t seem like a mass murderer at all. His long eyelashes gently swayed, and his large eyes blinked. His smile was extremely brilliant and his small canines were revealed.

“This is too great! I like precious techniques the most! This is but a would-changing divine ability! Records, precious bronze books, mine, mine, all mine!” He shouted.

Currently, his sincere eyes that contained a bit of savagery were like black gemstones. He began to laugh until they curved into crescents, making the group of onlookers speechless.

“Youngster, don’t you owe us a something?” Coin elder’s facial expression was not that great.

Bird grandpa also hurried over, seeming rather anxious. When he looked at the devilish brat, for the first time, he suddenly felt the urge to rob him. The enticement of the precious book was too great, and even pure-blooded creatures would be moved.

“When have I owed you guys anything?” The devilish backed up, his face carrying a confused expression.

Coin elder’s face immediately darkened. After realizing that it was impossible for them to obtain the precious bronze book, could it be they had to give up on those jars of precious blood as well? This little fellow seems like he wouldn’t acknowledge a debt even if he was about to die.

“Don’t tell me that you forgot about it?!” Bird grandpa asked in a small voice.

“Oh, I remember. The three of us cooperated on something, and so we have to divide up the profits. Of course you guys have your portion.” The little guy spoke.

He took out a few jars of precious blood happily and handed them over to those two. The brilliant jade jars emitted light, and the fluid inside circulated. There were a dense mist of light circulating about in an elegant manner.

Everyone became fearful, because this was archaic descendant blood. A single jar's value was priceless, enough to make even the higher ups within powerful clans jealous.

"Yi, have you all heard clearly? The devilish brat just said that those three worked together. Could it be that these three swindled those powers together?" Someone began to speak in a soft voice.

"I feel like there's a possibility! Look, that is the precious blood of archaic descendants. A single jar being enough to create a huge bloody battle. The savage child actually gave out several jars just like that... Isn't his generosity a bit too excessive?"

The people discussed in a soft voice. They had strange expressions as they looked at those three.

Coin elder and bird grandpa immediately began to stare blankly. This rotten child was truly lacking in moral sense! By handing this precious blood to them under such circumstances, wouldn't that simply lead to their destruction?

Were they supposed to accept it or not? If they accept it, then those ancient great powers would also become furious at them, lumping the two together with the devilish child as colluders.

"Brat, you can eat random things, but you can't say random things. Don't frame us!" The two old men stared fiercely at him, ready to argue nonstop.

"Do you guys want it or not? Give me a clear reply." The devilish child had an innocent look on his face as he asked.

"Little bastard, you are something!" Coin elder spoke quietly.

"Of course we want!" Bird grandpa also transmitted his words mentally, not daring to let other hear.

"If you want it, then I'll give it to you. If not, then don't bother me about this later on." The little guy clasped a brilliant jar and handed it over to them.

Everyone looked over towards those two old individuals. This was simply too evil.

"Forget it, if you don't want it, then I'll just take it back. Everything is settled here.” The little guy threw it into his bag and turned around with joy.

“Brat, you want to set us up and leave? Not a chance!” The two old men directly pounced over to deal with him.

“Qie, if you two had your eyes on the bronze book and the precious blood, then just say it. Do you think I’m scared of you two?” The devilish brat looked at them with contempt.

Weng

A flame flew over, and it was as if the magma from the earth's core surged. The great flames were like a scarlet liquid as they directly submerged forward. This was bird grandpa's bird taking action, and it was extremely terrifying.

Everyone's expressions changed. This was definitely a top level expert who concealed his strength. It displayed strength that was at the absolute peak of the blood transformation realm.

Even the little guy's expression changed. This old fellow's strength did not match his appearance. He never saw this type of strength before, and it was the first time he encountered something like this in the starting ground.

Hong

His palms released lightning. A string of light beads flew out, arranging into ten stars and a sun. Ten purple stars and a brilliantly flourishing sun collided, bursting into a radiance that made people unable to look directly at it.

The purple multicolored light erupted within the boundless heaven and earth. This was a pure lightning that was emitted from the collision of the lightning spheres, its divine might absolutely shocking.

The little guy used an extremely powerful precious technique in fear of something unexpected happening. This one attack made all of the surrounding people back up, scaring their souls into trembling. They no longer dared to dally here.

“The stinking brat is too savage!”

Bird grandpa shouted loudly. When the brilliance dispersed, his charred black body was exposed. His clothes were tattered, almost completely destroyed. As for his hair and beard, they were already standing erect. He was like a hedgehog, and his body was still making chila chila sounds as electrical light was emitted.

Chirp chirp... On the side, a bird was miserably shrieking. It was running as fast as it could, because the little guy was chasing after it.

When bird grandpa heard this, he shouted out in a hurry, “Stop, you can’t hurt it!”

The little guy was too fast. With a stamp of his feet, the ground below him cracked apart. When he rushed up, he reached an altitude that was even higher than a mountain. He possessed extreme speed and caught that bird.

This was an extremely strange and powerful divine bird. It had flames curling about it, and rainbow colored light danced about. Not long ago, it roasted the disciples until they were half-cooked with a single swoop. Its power shook this region, intimidating everyone here. However, it was now caught by the devilish brat. It wailed incessantly as its feathers were continuously being pulled out, and its feathers swirling in the air.

“Who told you to attack me from behind? You almost burned off my hair, so I’ll pluck you naked as well and barbeque you!” The devilish brat shouted viciously. A few locks of his hair were burnt, allowing one to see just how powerful this bird was.

“Don’t pull anymore! This old one won’t make any more trouble for you!” Bird grandpa became extremely worried.

When coin elder saw this, he also stopped and didn’t make any moves. He was fully aware how powerful bird grandpa was, yet he actually wasn’t able to gain any advantages, and was instead charred black by lightning. One could see just how terrifying the devilish child was.

In the end, that bird was plucked until it was half naked before it was able to flee in panic back to bird grandpa’s shoulder. When it looked at the devilish brat again, it was as if it was looking at a demon. It no longer dared to act recklessly.

“I’ve decided, I still want the precious blood. Who cares if those great powers come at me? I’m not scared of them.” Coin elder transmitted mentally to the devilish child.

“Not giving!” The little guy hugged his bag, as if he was a savage little beast protecting his food. “You said just now that you didn’t want it.”

“Who said we didn’t want? Of course we do.” Bird Grandpa also spoke.

“You guys are already so well into your years, and your cultivations are so high. Of course you guys don’t need it.” The devilish brat ‘fairly and considerately’ explained for them.

“Stop talking nonsense and give it to us. Or else, we’ll join up with those large powers and make trouble for you every day.” Coin elder fiercely threatened.

“Who’s scared of who? Bring it on!” The devilish brat directly rushed forward, immediately unleashing the Kun Peng technique. A huge fish soared out from the vast ocean behind him. Symbols covered the sky, oppressing the old men.

Hong!

Coin elder continuously retreated while swinging his arms. He grimaced in pain, and his precious technique quickly faded.

The little guy felt a cold chill. Turns out that coin elder and bird grandpa were top level experts after all. Otherwise, how could they fight him head on and take his attack like this? These two were quite formidable.

One has to understand that everyone else were immediately killed. Even when a group of people came up together, they were still sent flying, exploding in midair. It was difficult for them to escape death.

“Seniors, here, these are your precious blood.” In the end, the little guy had a smile on his face as he handed over the jars of precious blood.

“Brat, what are you plotting?” The two of them were vigilant, and didn’t seem to be too trusting.

“I honor my words!” The little guy hurried over and placed his arms around their shoulders.

The two elder’s hairs began to stand on end. This brat really was a dangerous character. He actually moved close to them, making them feel rather uncomfortable.

Such a large group of experts were blasted apart. With such a short distance between them, if the little guy went crazy, the two of them probably wouldn’t be able to do anything.

The little guy did not make things difficult for them. He spoke to them enthusiastically in a low voice, as if they were familiar with each other.

“You’re telling the truth?” The two elders were immediately aroused. They couldn’t hold back the enticement.

“Of course!” The little guy slapped his chest.

“Good, when the time comes, let us take a look at the precious bronze book!”

“Of course.” The little guy took out the copper piece and let them look at it. However, he did not place it into their hands. If they were to work together in the future, they naturally had to be familiar with each other. In the future, if he gained anything, he would let them see it.

“Brat, the price we paid was truly too great. Our moral standings were even placed in your hands.” Coin elder said.

“Qie, you’ve done so many bad things and cheated so many people. What moral standings is there to even talk about?!” The little guy curled his lips.

“This won’t do... Fighting for someone else’s benefits really won’t do.” Bird grandpa said.

“If it’s no good, then the deal is off!” The little guy did not loosen up.

Then, the three of them gathered together and began to slowly chatter. They discussed for an extremely long time, as if they didn’t even notice the weird stares coming from all directions.

Finally, the sun fell behind the mountains and night descended. The little guy ran away and left the Void God Realm.

Hu...

Under the willow tree, the little guy opened his eyes. After passing through and exiting through the gate, he appeared directly within the village. His spirit returned to his body, and it all happened several times faster than the first time back then.

It was clear that the Willow Deity was much more powerful.

The sunset glow was also scattering down within stone village, creating a scene that was auspicious and peaceful. A group of large aunts were taking care of some things, and as smoke rose in spirals, the fragrance of meat assailed his nostrils. There were also all types of berries that were emitting their fragrance.

Above the horizon, a group of robust males were returning from a rewarding journey. They dragged a pile of prey behind them, the amount almost enough to make a small mountain. The sun that was on the verge of disappearing stretched out an expanse of long shadows.

“Little guy, you woke up!”

Pihou, Snot baby, Ermeng, Huzi and a group of people rushed over. They directly threw themselves over and buried him underneath, asking him to tell them what happened in the Void God Realm. They were all itching to go inside.

Even the big red bird, Ziyun, Dapeng, Second Baldy and the others rushed over. It was clear what they were hinting at, because they were truly restless as well. They really wanted to enter the Void God Realm.

“Stinky brat, have you seen? This time, we killed so much prey that we’ll have enough even if we don’t go out. Tomorrow, you have to bring us too!”

Shi Linghu, Shi Feijiao and the large group of men also began to gather around. Their expressions were fiery and full of expectation. Even Chief Shi Yunfeng came over, seeming quite moved.

The little guy was too happy. This time, the rewards from his trip were too great. He had a silly smile on his face as soon as he came out, and he didn’t even hear what everyone else was saying.

“Little big brother, say something! What happened? Can we go?” Qingfeng shook his arm.

“Don’t worry! When the time comes, it won’t be a problem even if the entire village wants to go. Of course, you must first reach the blood transformation realm, otherwise, your spirit won’t be strong enough to enter that world.” The little guy said.

“Awesome! We can finally see what the outside world is like! This is too exciting, I want to leave as soon as soon as possible!”

“We can’t wait any longer! This is so exciting! I want to go inside the Void God Realm immediately and see what the beautiful outside world really is like!”

The group of youth were all crying out in excitement as they continued to jump about. They had grown up within the great wastes their entire lives and never entered the vast world. They really wanted to see for themselves what it was like.

They were like birds trapped within cages, and now they could use their wings to soar into the skies. One can well imagine how excited and hopeful they were, as it was enough to make them intoxicated.

Forget about the children that were going crazy, even Shi Linhu, Shi Feijiao and the others were rubbing their fists and wiping their palms in excitement. They beated their chests and shouted at the top of their voices. They truly didn’t want to wait any longer.

“Uncles, when you guys go inside, you all can’t act recklessly. When you see other people’s battle companions, don’t think of them like the prey inside the great wastes.” The little guy reminded.

Shi Feijiao laughed while he scolded, “Stinky brat, do you really think your uncle is a muddle-head? Of course we won’t be as savage as you. I heard Qingfeng say that you ate everything inside of a region and those geniuses from the various clans all had to hide from you.”

“Actually, there is no need to worry. After we get there, you can just act like you do in the village. I’ve requested for two bodyguards that will guide you all in your cultivation, and they will protect you guys as well.” The little guy said.

What he discussed that entire time with coin elder and bird grandpa was precisely regarding this. There were two of them, and they were both definitely top level experts that promised to protect the villagers. This was his greatest gain, because it allowed him to be feel completely relieved without any fear of consequences.

“I received some archaic descendant precious blood. After entering the Void God Realm, everyone can undergo baptism, because there are more than ten jars here.”

After the little guy received so much precious descendant blood, there was no way he could use it all up by himself. That’s why the Heaven Devouring Sparrow, Qiong Qi’s blood were only going to be used on him by the Willow Deity.

He wanted to give Shi Linhu, Shi Feijiao and the others a great cultivational boost. Dazhuang, Ermeng and the others missed precisely this type of baptism.

That night, all of the villagers suffered from insomnia. Regardless of if it was Dazhuang, Pihou or the other robust men, after laying down, their snores would immediately shake the heavens. However now, they went through an entire night without sleeping out of excitement. In the end, they all left their stone houses and gathered together to wait for dawn.

They were too excited. They have never taken a single step outside the great wastes, and so they haven’t seen the ancient countries. The amount of people they met were limited, and so they really wanted to take a look at the outside world.

Finally, the sun appeared. Golden colored multicolored light broke out from the mist, scattering down on the mountains forest. The warm radiance fell onto everyone's bodies.

Everyone wolfed down their food. After their breakfast was quickly consumed, they gathered in front of the willow deity. The children excitedly shouted, and the grownups also hurriedly made their way over.

"Have you guys memorized the things I handed out? Carefully study them, we are about to enter the Void God Realm." The little guy said.

Everyone first greeted the Willow Deity, offering it their sacrifices. Then, they all sat around and began to meditate, trying to feel the Void God Realm.

At this, time, the Willow Deity's tender green branch shot towards the sky, directly piercing through the heavens. A gate was opened, and as symbols curled up, rays of lightning flickered about.

"Let's go!"

At long last! Everyone's spirits were raised as they stepped into that unfamiliar land, appearing within the ruins.

"This is not it. We still have to advance!"

The little guy quickly called out. This bunch seemed like they were looking for something within the ruins, as if they seeking out precious treasures. The little guy stopped them from being distracted and told them to continue moving.

"The divine king is up ahead. If I'm not mistaken, this is actually not an ordinary road, but rather chopped up primal chaos. We are entering through the abandoned earth of various deities." Second Baldy muttered. It felt extremely shocked.

Finally, the little guy brought the bunch into the golden passageway. They entered the starting ground in a grandiose manner.

"Ah, too miraculous. We walked out from a golden passageway, but why do we feel like we just penetrated through the void? What a strange feeling."

"It really is interesting. Can we go back and do it again? I haven't experienced it enough yet."

Snot baby, Pihou and the large group of youth were filled with fresh experiences. They were curious about everything, creating a huge racket. It gave the little guy a huge headache.

“Heavens, there are treasures here! Quick, bring a hammer over, these are precious bones.” A few of the smaller children were standing on the large limestones. They stared continuously at those primitive symbolized bones and were about to take action.

There were many people in the starting ground, and they all knew that the devilish brat appeared. They ran over to take a look, so there was already a vast crowd so early in the morning. When they saw this group of youth acting like so, everyone became dumbstruck. Why did they feel like this style was somewhat familiar?

“This... Why do I feel like a group of devilish brats appeared? What are they trying to do?” Someone muttered.

Above the large limestones, the little guy felt as if he was losing control. His group of companions were constantly moving up and down as they looked around. There wasn't a single one that was easy to deal with, as everything was brand new to them.

“So many people! Hey, why is that old man's eyes emitting green light?”

“Why is that beauty over there disfigured? There's another eye on her forehead. What a pity, the heavens were truly unfair towards her.”

The little guy immediately felt his head throbbing. The elder emitting green light from his eyes was definitely a powerful creature that took human form, and the girl with a vertical eye was an expert from the three-eyed race.

“That group of old men over there aren't worthy of respect. They are already so old, yet they still make two beauties wait on them. This is truly an example of shameless lust-filled old men.” Snot baby said.

Up ahead, there were stone tables and chairs. Two young ladies were pouring tea and waiting upon a group of old men. It was obvious that these were important characters from a few of the powerful clans.

“They are lead by the devilish brat. They seem a bit like him, and this time they came in a group.” The people sighed.

“Nine flood dragons are pulling an emperor carriage, and it seems rather elegant and precious. That’s a good treasure!” Pihou tapped the little guy and said, “Are they your enemies? Do you want to go steal it?”

“There is a golden bird over there that’s carrying a purple-haired beauty. That one seems a bit like the one we ate, could it be some golden Peng as well?”

The little guy really couldn’t take it any longer. When he saw them so excited, he really didn’t want to put a stop to their fun. He summoned up the courage to grab these people by the necks and began to look for coin elder as well as bird grandpa.

“The bird on that old man’s body seems like it’ll taste good.”

“It’s too small, it won’t fill us up.”

As soon as they met, the group of youth began to discuss among themselves. They were interested in the bird on bird grandpa’s shoulder, and were all wondering if that was a descendant.

“Stinky brat, stop! You’re just going to throw this this group of savages on us? You’re too irresponsible! Won’t this tire us out?!” Coin elder and bird grandpa bellowed from behind. They felt that this group of youth was extremely unruly. They were all like little pricks, and were extremely difficult to bring around.

However, the little guy made his getaway. His speed could only be described as too quick, as his figure had long disappeared.

Fortunately, Shi Linhu, Shi Feijiao still played their part. They did not run from one side to the other like the kids, and had innocent looks on their faces.

“You guys seems alright, seeming rather sincere.” Bird grandpa nodded.

The group of mature men scratched their heads. Shi Linhu said in a soft voice, “Old ones, it’s okay if you just teach us some random precious techniques.”

“We heard that you two were peak level experts, and can teach us some extremely powerful methods. In the future when we become unrivalled under the skies, seniors will also receive glory.” Shi Feijiao also began to smile in a simple and honest way.

“This is still called sincere?” Coin elder casted a sidelong glance.

“Pretend I didn’t say anything!” Bird grandpa said with a sigh. Then, he rushed into the distance and shouted, “That brat! Where did he run off to?”

The little guy already opened the golden passageway, and was about to leave the starting ground.

“I’m going to the higher heavenly paradises to conquer some great rivers and mountains. You all wait for me. In a few days, there will be news. At that time, I’ll bring all of you with me.” The little guy transmitted mentally.

With a bright flicker, he disappeared from the golden passageway.

The starting ground erupted into commotion. Everyone knew that the little guy was going to unleash a crazy siege. It seemed like he wasn’t satisfied at all with the results of yesterday’s battle, and as about to create an enormous shockwave.

Chapter 209 – Heavenly Paradise

A hazy transient light appeared. The stars began to fall back in reverse, and the little guy felt a strange sensation, as if he was traveling within an ocean of stars. His lone figure traveled through the tens of thousands of ancient ancient skies.

Without much time for him to admire what was going on, the golden passageway opened, and a new world appeared before his eyes. He stepped onto a giant boulder and raised his head to look at this heavenly paradise.

At the starting ground, after a large commotion, everyone began to return. They quickly made their reports, because this was an important matter.

“What?! He really rushed into the higher heavenly paradises?”

“He’s merely a single child, yet he dares to make so many great powers into enemies. In addition, he is so powerful! This is truly a strange thing.”

Regardless of whether it was the Void God Realm or the ancient countries, after they received the news, they all felt a wave of shock. The devilish brat actually started taking action.

The rumors only began spreading yesterday, yet he already entered the heavenly paradises today. The decision was made in a swift manner, and everyone was able to see how decisive the devilish brat was.

This naturally instilled a huge disturbance. After the people saw the power he displayed in the starting ground, they became fully aware of how terrifying his fighting strength was. No one knew just how many groups were paying attention to this matter.

“This brat, he actually went there without even taking a small break, creating such an enormous disturbance. Truly a disaster child!”

Within the Fire Nation Imperial Palace, a scarlet light flickered. A woman wearing red clothes adorned in feathers softly spoke with her eyebrows knitted. She was extremely beautiful, and even though she was only fourteen or fifteen, her physique was rather tall and her curves undulated up and down.

This was precisely Huo Ling’er. Soon after, she recalled the nickname the devilish brat gave her – big fatty. She immediately clenched her teeth, and her bright white face became filled with anger.

Ever since she was born, no one had ever said anything bad about her figure. Why did that scoundrel call her a fatty?

Right at this moment, a small gray creature ran over. It held a stalk of spiritual medicine in its mouth, and with a sou sound, it disappeared into its own small home.

“Thankless wretch, why are you so obedient towards him? Every day you eat good stuff, as if you want to squander my entire storage.” Huo Ling’er was annoyed.

The small wolf hid within the small nest that had spiritual grass covering the floor. Its large eyes blinked, and its face was completely innocent.

“Alright, let’s go to the Void God Realm and see how he’ll end up. Does he really think he’s unrivalled under the heavens? At the very least, I know a few who aren’t inferior to him, but the the better question is whether or not any of those people will show up.”

A dense smoke rose and mists curled about. This was a fairyland-like area with lofty mountains towering above. Precious splendor was being emitted, and all types of spiritual medicines grew on top of them. There was even one that swallowed the natural luck of the sun and moon, and it was faintly discernible within the mist.

A purple-haired girl suddenly opened her eyes and walked out from a cave within the divine mountains. She looked into the distance and bit her bright red lips. “Shameful devilish brat!”

Rain Clan, Tuoba ancient family and many others received the news as well. They were all making their preparations.

“The wastelands aren’t the only entrance point into the starting ground. At the very least, there are creatures from the archaic divine mountains that don’t use that route, and there are also many other creatures that have other ways of entering. Should we invite some others to our side? It’ll be best if we can get the heirs of the archaic creatures to kill their way over.”

There was already someone who began to scheme, wanting to be like a ‘wolf devouring a tiger'. He wanted to use the pure-blooded creatures from legends to defeat the little guy.

"You absolutely must not provoke them! Even my clan's ancestors don't dare to enter those prohibited lands. It will bring a huge disaster onto the clan!"

"The archaic divine mountains can't be touched. Even if you are from some aristocratic imperial family, it will still be razed to the ground. However, are there any other creatures outside that can be drawn in?"

The wastelands were extremely vast, and the land it contained was boundless. However, outside of it, there were still many great regions.

"Forget it, it's too large. There's simply no way of crossing it." Someone shook their head.

"Hmm, that might not necessarily be so. There are still some splendid geniuses that might cross over to this region after establishing success in their homelands. We won't have to invite them ourselves."

The little guy found everything he saw new and odd. Within this upper domain, the spiritual essence was even richer, far surpassing that of the starting ground. It was a place extremely suitable for cultivation.

"It feels almost the same as if I was in the real world. I almost thought that I entered with my physical body." He began to doubt himself again. Exactly what was with this world created by the deities that were worshipped by the ancient residents?

Could it be that one can cast aside their flesh after reaching the peak of cultivation? After possessing an immortal spirit, would it lead to reaching the divine realm?

"Too scary, even getting rid of the flesh. What is the point then?" He shook his head and jumped off a giant boulder. Nearby, birds chirped and the fragrance of flowers wafted about; the scenery was elegant and beautiful.

"Yi, a stalk of precious medicine. Let's pluck it and see what kind of effects it has." After running around and after passing through an elegant mountain, he saw an ancient medicine rooted within a cliff.

The little guy leapt up and plucked it, eating it in a few gulps. He felt as if the essence energy within him increased a bit.

“This world is constructed out of essence energy, and everything from the grass to the tree corresponds to the outside world. It would turn out exactly like how it was created. The deities are truly terrifying.”

“The devilish child came!”

Up ahead, there was actually a city. It wasn't that big, but it was still rather impressive. It was like a reclining divine beast as it radiated strands of bright light.

There were many people who were looking around. They all stood on the city wall, filling up the space.

The heavenly paradise was extremely huge. It was vast and boundless, and only by passing this region could one proceed into the various precious lands. Otherwise, they would never reach the other parts of this region.

Nearly every great clan occupied a piece of land within this paradise, and there was quite a bit of distance between them. Only by passing these city walls could one advance.

“So this is Heavenly Passage City!” The little guy stopped to size up everything before him.

The city was not very tall, but it was ancient. It had never collapsed from the ancient times, and since it was constructed out of essence energy, it was just as sturdy as in the past.

He was informed by coin elder that Heavenly Passage City was a connecting city that lead to the various heavenly paradises. It was an extremely vital location.

“The city's name matches this region of the heavenly paradise, suppressing people down to the heavenly passage realm. Hmm, I established the ninth heavenly passage, so there shouldn't be much danger.” The devilish brat said to himself.

However, he was still looking forward to it. He wished to encounter a few true opponents, because if he swept everyone before him like rotten vines, then it would be too boring. He wanted to sharpen himself.

“Heavenly Passage City, I have arrived!” The little guy shouted loudly. Then, with a fierce stamp of his feet, he soared up. Even though they were separated by a large distance, he made his way over and smashed down onto the ground with a rumbling sound.

The incomparably solid rock began to crack apart in all directions. The entire street almost crumbled apart, revealing streak after streak of black crevices. It was clear how powerful the impact was.

Everyone became dumbstruck. This child was too ferocious! Not even the city gate could hold him back as he directly smashed in like a huge boulder.

The little guy scratched his head. He thought that there would be people there to stop him, and so that’s why he directly ran in. He didn’t think that he would create such massive destruction.

A stone tablet rose up, and a few small brilliant words appeared. The Void God Realm issued a warning, and the main idea was that if he dare to destroy the city walls any more, he would immediately be expelled.

The devilish brat’s face immediately became green. He had just returned! He had been locked out for two whole years, and if he was chased out now, then he would truly spit out blood.

When these people saw this, they were all dumbstruck at first. Then, they began to laugh loudly. This child truly possessed amusing traits. Even though he was savage, there were still times when his action were hilarious.

The little guy walked forward dejectedly, and even even his steps were carefully placed. He was scared of crumbling the ancient city, so he directly ran to the center of the village. There was a symbols passage there that allowed one to select a destination.

“I know! There are many people from the great powers here. Now, I will declare that starting from the Rain Clan and Tuoba family, every clan has to bring ten jars of precious blood. Otherwise, I will personally go and take it from them!”

The devilish stood at the center of the city. He loudly proclaimed his arrival and tried his best to put on the most bandit-like look he could. However, no matter what he did, it didn't match at all.

However, not a single person laughed. They all knew that they absolutely couldn't laugh, or else the devilish brat would immediately take revenge. The great powers that caused the bloody Heaven Mending Pavilion war were all made into his targets.

There was a storm raised within the city. Even though the devilish brat's tone was rather aggressive, the people all knew that it was highly likely that he possessed destructive force. It was likely that he could truly cause those great powers to suffer great losses.

"Is there anyone from the Rain Clan here? Let's start with you guys. Quickly bring out ten jars of descendant precious blood, or else I will personally pay you guys a visit. I will give you guys two hours to make your preparations." The devilish brat shouted.

Soon after, news was spread to all different lands. In particular, after the information traveled to the real world's Stone Country, it created a huge uproar. Within the Rain Clan's mansion, everyone became furious.

The savage child actually made the first move, threatening in such an open manner. He was clearly forcing them to fight, because they wouldn't bring out ten jars of precious blood even if they had them! Otherwise, how could the Rain Clansmen raise their heads in the future?

Time passed, and the two hour time limit was almost up.

"I've decided that I'm going to suppress the Rain Clan and pull them up by the roots. I am going to start by expelling them from this heavenly paradise!" The devilish child shouted.

This disturbance this created was too great. It was just a single youth, yet he threatened to invade an ancient family and wipe them out from this domain! It truly was a big deal.

This was the the Rain Clan's foundation within the Void God REalm, because their younger disciples typically stayed here. Since their strength were limited by their cultivation levels, it wouldn't help them much even if they entered the higher domains.

If that place was eliminated, then it was the same as destroying one of the Rain Clan's old nests.

It was clear that the aftereffects were tremendous. Not only did this event influence the Void God Realm, even the real world was in uproar. Everyone began to discuss, and many cultivators quickly rushed into the Void God Realm to see what was going on.

"Have you guys heard? A youngster is going to exterminate the Rain Clan by himself, and he's going to raze their foundation to the ground."

"I don't think that's possible... The Rain Clan is such a large power! Who could knock it down? After flourishing for so many years, how could a single child accomplish such a thing?"

"Don't forget that this child carries the reputation of angering Gods and people alike. Until now, he has never been defeated, so he might truly break through the heavens."

Within the Rain Clan, a group of people were absolutely furious. At the same time, they were a bit nervous, because everyone's eyes were truly on them this time. The news had already been released; who knew just how many people were already waiting in anticipation?

Why did he start with them? They anticipated that many of the large ancient countries, ancient inheritances and countless great powers were watching.

If they lost, the news would inevitably spread everywhere. Would the Rain Clan still have any face left? They would thoroughly fall into disrepute and bring about an extraordinary shame and humiliation.

"He's too wild! Does he really think he can defeat my clan alone? Kill him until both his body and soul are both destroyed. Prepare a great killing artifact, make his void body and real body fall at the same time."

"That may be true. However, we can't deny the fact that he's truly heaven defying. Under the cultivation restrictions, it is truly difficult to say what the end result will be like."

“Has Yi’er exited the divine garden? Go and take a look. If he came out, then we must have Yi’er come over. Within the same cultivation realm, that devilish brat will definitely explode to death!

Void God Realm, Heavenly Passage City.

The little guy directly went on his way. He entered a golden passageway towards Rain Clan, and behind him, many outstanding individuals became stirred up. They followed behind, because what was about to happen was definitely going to be a big event.

The great mountains were majestic, and dense spiritual essence enveloped this place. This was a grand piece of paradise where auspicious animals and spiritual birds moved about. Clouds and mist floated about, creating an area that was radiant and almost-illusionary.

This was precisely the Rain Clan’s heavenly paradise region. In front of him towered a majestic building; a great pure land was established there.

Following the little guy’s arrival, everyone within this pure land began to move. Countless experts appeared, and they all came out, because if they didn’t after someone threatened to attack their foundation, then they would no longer be the unshakeable and splendid Rain Clan.

“Rain Clan, you attacked when the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s people were down and killed so many of our elders and disciples. Without talking about other grudges, your actions within the Heaven Mending Pavilion alone already makes it so that we cannot coexist!

“Heng!” Someone snorted and did not give out a response. However, killing intent filled the pure land; everyone was furious and wanted to kill him until he was in pieces.

“I will single-handedly exterminate your pure land and let you all experience the sorrow and bitterness of losing your home and people.” The little guy spoke in an overcast voice. He readied twenty Soul Shattering Needles, because how could he not kill the important characters in this battle?!

He wanted to raze this land to the the ground and turn this pure land into ruins, destroying its existence.

Countless people appeared from behind him, and all types of outstanding individuals followed over. They wanted to see this fierce battle between giants, and there were some that felt like the Rain Clan was about to suffer from great misfortune.

Everyone's attention were focused on this place, and it was boiling with activity everywhere.

Everyone from Rain Clan had gloomy expressions on their faces. Regardless of how the outcome turned out, they would not become a winner. Being surrounded and watched by so many people made them extremely discontent.

"Lay out the formations! As long as he dares to attack, then let his body and soul get destroyed. Even his real body will die!" An elder coldly shouted.

At this moment, the little guy no longer advanced. The Rain Clan's pure land was definitely transformed into a 'dragon pool' and 'tiger cave'. They prepared countless killing weapons against him.

He stood on his original spot and slowly drew his sword. It was a broken black sword, and he hacked out with a sudden force towards the pure land.

Weng

The thick sword radiance soared into the heavens. It was incomparably bright and resplendent, and it suspended in the sky like a river of stars before it hacked down towards the vast pure land.

Chapter 210 – Fighting the Rain Clan Alone

The vast expanse of sword qi was like an ocean as it swept out. Stars scattered down from within, and a bright sun descended; the scene was simply outrageous.

While this scene unfolded, a mist was proliferating outwards. Lightning flickered and thunder rolled; this grand spectacle made it seem as if the heavens itself were opening up. It made people feel reverence as their hearts began to beat faster.

“Not good!”

The Rain Clan’s people quickly retreated. A great fear began to stir within them, because they could feel the might of that sword. It was not something they could meet head on, as its strength was difficult to match.

Everyone rushed towards the sides, quickly fleeing for their lives. That giant sword qi fell down between them, hacking straight down the middle of the pure land. With a honglong sound, it was as if a galaxy was falling down.

They could clearly see the sun, moon and stars falling. The sword qi tore through the skies and hacked the building in half, creating a huge black crevice.

Bo

On the ground, precious bones appeared one after another. Soon after, cracks appeared on them. As if they were withering flowers, they fell down one after another before ultimately breaking into fragments.

These were only the symbol bones originating from that huge crevice, so one could imagine just how many were laid throughout the entire pure land. They were simply waiting for the devilish brat to walk into their killing formations to directly destroy him.

“Kill!”

An elder from the Rain Clan shouted maliciously with an ashen complexion. Killing intent poured out from him like a tide, because he hated that child bitterly. With only a single strike, their pure land already suffered a tremendous harm.

Within the Rain Clan’s strategic area, all types of light flew about, creating a vast expanse of symbols. Everyone moved together to create a large mass of symbols and precious techniques that aimed at a single direction.

With a rumbling sound, it was as if the earth’s core itself was being blown apart. Symbols bubbled forth like magma as they shot towards the little guy. Being so vast and concentrated, it was not a force one could easily withstand.

The little guy was startled. This powerful wave of strength was not something he dared to meet head on; after all, this was created from the cooperation of countless experts. After grouping together, it turned into killing beams of light. They gathered together and focused on him.

If he was actually struck, then forget about his cultivation level; even those with fighting prowess at a much higher level than his would be unable to defend themselves.

He shifted his body to another position, and when his body moved, it was as if a Kun Peng appeared. Golden wings spread out as he soared past, avoiding this attack.

Waves of energy spread throughout the entire region. The area he previously stood on exploded, immediately forming a bottomless abyss. Numerous giant boulders weighing tens of thousands of jin flew in all directions, creating a scene that was absolutely terrifying.

Chi

The little guy's entire body emitted light. An innumerable number of golden feathers shot out from his back like divine arrows, densely descending down on the center of the pure land.

Zheng zheng sound continuously sounded, and golden light clustered together in the sky. They interweaved into a lightning-like divine radiance before dropping down and creating pu pu sounds. Almost a hundred people were penetrated on the spot, releasing miserable shrieks.

“No!”

The golden divine feathers were terrifying. They pierced through their chests, heads and abdomens, bringing about large blossoms of blood. In addition, when these golden feathers pierced through their bodies, they sent them flying for over ten zhang.

This type of spectacle made the people's hearts tremble. Their souls were even shaking, as this was too terrifying. The Kun Peng's technique displayed its might, and a single attack took so many lives.

“Sky-sealing Aqua Barrier!”

An elder shouted loudly, and a light blue curtain of light rose from within the pure land. It turned into a large light screen, blocking the area in front of him. It looked like it was made out of a blue crystal as it flickered with beams of light.

Finally, the golden feathers disappeared, and those divine arrows began to vanish one after another. The Rain Clan did a head count and found that this one attack actually seized the lives of nearly a hundred men, making them resentful and incomparably angry. Their losses were disastrous.

Of course, many experts avoided the attack, and it was mainly those whose cultivation levels weren't powerful enough that suffered. However, even though this was the case, it still made them furious.

“Just one move of his displayed such strength! The devilish brat is so powerful!”

“The Rain Clan will most likely suffer greatly!”

The people muttered amongst themselves. The devilish brat was powerful beyond their expectations, actually possessing a great killing artifact that could destroy the Rain Clan's formations.

As a result, miserable cries rose and fell in succession within Stone Country in the real world. Nearly a hundred people were killed, making their spirits suffer injuries. Even their real bodies suffered heavy damage.

"Send out more experts and have them all enter the Void God Realm. Bring the clan suppressing primitive killing formation to slaughter him!" Someone howled. This truly couldn't be endured, because even though the battle had just started, the losses were already so disastrous.

Within the Void God Realm, the various outstanding individuals in front of the Heavenly Paradise were all excited. Watching this battle made them all stirred up.

Of course, there were quite a few people whose faces were gloomy as well, because their sects once sent people to the starting ground to fight the devilish child. They were his enemies, and now that they saw how powerful the little guy was, it indicated that they might suffer misfortune in the future as well.

Silver light flickered with dazzling brilliance. An enormous piece of beast skin appeared within the Rain Clan's pure land. Then, it turned into a vicious beast that was as tall as a mountain. Its entire body was covered densely in scales that flickered with cold metallic light.

It opened its mouth to reveal ferocious teeth. There was a horn on its head, and even though it looked like a wolf, it had the tail of an alligator. There were also a pair of wings extending from its ribs. This was a Lunar Sky Wolf, also known as a Silver Sky Wolf, and it was extremely powerful.

"Wu, the Rain Clan used an extremely powerful precious artifact! That beast skin is definitely rarely seen among archaic descendants. It's extremely shocking!" Quite a few people were shocked.

Aohou...

The Silver Sky Wolf rushed over, its aura frantic and berserk. This was a precious artifact that was activated through the cooperation of everyone, allowing it to reach the peak of its fighting potential. The silver-colored beast skin formed the true body it had back then.

The little guy stared at that wolf and did not use the broken sword. The reason he didn't do so was because it consumed too much energy to use, and he already noticed that the other party was relying on their great numbers to exhaust his strength.

A blood-colored precious fan flew over, releasing brilliant scarlet multicolored light. This was the precious artifact he seized from the four great clans back then, and it was the Yuan Clan's suppressing treasure.

Hong

With a gentle fan, flames immediately overflowed into the heavens before rushing forward. It was as if a volcano was gushing out scarlet flames, causing blazing magma to surge. It completely submerged the area in front of him.

Ao...

The Silver Sky Wolf was as large as a mountain. However, after being enveloped within the divine flames, it still roared angrily and released miserable shrieks. It was set aflame, becoming a flaming wolf.

“Yuan Clan’s supreme precious artifact!” An elder within the Rain Clan’s complexion became gloomy.

Back then when this precious artifact had been lost, the Yuan Clan became absolutely furious and sent out large groups of experts to search for it. After they entered the Hundred Shattering Mountains to catch the little guy, their losses became even greater.

Ao... The silver wolf was extremely terrifying. Symbols erupted all about its body to defend against the divine flames. It charged towards the little guy and was going to kill him.

It had already turned into a flame wolf. Scarlet flames curled about it, fiercely burning its body. However, it did not give up and opened its ferocious mouth wide to shoot out silver symbols. They were like stars as they exploded one after another.

On top of that, its large claw dropped down, causing the ground to split apart. It was incomparably terrifying, and its divine might shocked everyone.

The little guy was fearless. He released a roar and directly met the Silver Sky Wolf head on. His entire body erupted with immeasurable amounts of light as his fist smashed into its large claw, creating a huge weng long sound.

The Silver Wolf roared loudly. It actually began to stumble about after being struck and almost dropped down onto the ground. Its large silver claw was smashed to pieces.

“Return!”

The Rain Clansmen felt fear and trepidation after what had just happened, no longer daring to meet the little guy head on. They quickly collected their precious artifact, or else it was going to be destroyed.

The little guy pursued and attacked. A purple radiance appeared within his palms and wrapped around his fist. Purple lightning danced about, and with a honglong sound, it smashed into that mountain-sized wolf's back.

Hong

The silver wolf's vertebra exploded, and a large portion of its flesh was missing. It cried out miserably as it fled.

At the same time, the little guy waved the scarlet precious fan. Vast flames rushed forward, surrounding the Silver Sky Wolf and turning its body pitch black. Its previously brilliant fur was turned into a charred black color.

In the end, it fled into the pure land and turned into a sheet of wolf skin before floating down.

The people watching all became foolish. The little guy was able to smash a portion of it into pieces. It was now no longer bright, and was instead pitch-black, almost being burned down.

"Rain Clan, how can you act like this? I am just one person, yet you guys are holed up inside after I attacked you guys. Could it be that you all are extremely terrified of me?"

After the little guy stood in front of the pure land and spoke like this, it made the Rain Clan stare viciously at him. Their faces were simply beyond ugly.

This was especially the case since he was just a child. His eyes were bright, and he looked incomparably pure. When this type of individual challenged such a flourishing aristocratic clan by himself, what kind of face would they still have?

In the distance, the outstanding individuals all revealed strange expressions. When they tried to put themselves in Rain Clan's shoes, they felt that it was truly difficult to bear. A single youth was standing outside their pure land and threatening to destroy their sacred land! This was truly a disgrace and humiliation.

"Kill!"

Within the Rain Clan pure land, a group of old men shouted. The entire pure land became dusky as mists enveloped the area. Large sections of symbols lit up as they began to unleash the immeasurable killing formations.

Ear-piercing chichi sounds rang out, and streak after streak of light flew out; they took the initiative to attack. In addition, a huge palace building actually left the ground and smashed towards the devilish brat.

They unleashed their attacks, because if they truly hid behind their doors while being attacked by a single child, even if they won, they would still have lost their pride and dignity. After news of this was spread outwards, others would only laugh at them.

This threatened their reputation. They were the splendid Rain Clan, so not only did they have to win, their victories had to be brilliant and magnificent.

This building was an imposing ancient structure with precious bones accumulated within. At this time, countless rays of murderous light were released. They poured down in torrents to submerge the devilish brat inside.

“Kill!”

The little guy shouted loudly and rose high into the air. The broken sword in his hand erupted with divine light, and contained within the sword qi were various circulating suns and stars. It was incomparably large as it poured down like a sea of stars.

Hong!

That imposing building began to violently tremble on the spot, and precious bones began to shatter. In addition, they were violently shaking, as if they were going to fall off.

“What?! Even this level of precious treasure isn’t a match for him?”

“Something isn’t right. That broken sword seems extremely similar to the one that the Heaven Mending Pavilion’s first ancestor held. This is bad!”

The Rain Clan were overwhelmed with shock.

The little guy did not seem to pay attention to their reactions. He exhausted all of his capabilities and continuously brandished the sword. Waves of sword qi poured out like an ocean, submerging the imposing building.

Kacha!

Finally, the sound of shattering rang out. The grand and imposing building was smashed apart, erupting into an endless rain of light. The sky became incomparably bright.

Within the pure land, the elders' vision were turning black as their blood sprayed out. This was one of their clan's treasures and it was priceless. However, it was destroyed just like that.

This was truly a disastrously loss. This precious artifact consumed an innumerable amount of precious materials to make, and was created after being refined for many years.

“Kill!”

The devilish child took the initiative to attack. He inhaled a huge breath and used his nine heavenly passages to seize the luck between the heaven and earth. His entire body was filled with energy as he unleashed a huge attack, targeting the pure land.

A great battle erupted, and that broken sword's black light covered the sun. Its sharpness possessed a divine radiance, and suddenly, brilliant light erupted and covered this pure land.

Hong!

The great earth split open and dirt overflowed into the heavens. The broken sword's divine might was unrivalled, and despite the fact that it caused the little guy to exhaust an extremely large amount of energy, it really was without equal. It caused the ancient constructs within the pure land to collapse.

Many miserable shrieks rang out. The Rain Clan's losses were disastrous.

They possessed many great protection formations, but currently, they were broken apart one after another, unable to defend against the little guy's attacks. He was incredibly savage, and was about to make his way in.

“Kill ah!”

The Rain Clansmen were anxious and angry. They activated the primal divine formation at the heart of their clan, unleashing their counterattack.

War cries immediately shook the skies. Precious techniques flew everywhere as the pure land erupted into action.

Not only were the people within the Void God Realm were shocked. Countless people rushed over to observe this battle. Even the great powers from ancient countries in the real world were paying close attention to this. All of them were quietly waiting for the results.

The reason was because the effects of this battle were extremely great. It was just a single youth, yet he wanted to break open a glorious ancient family by destroying one of their true pure lands.

Was he trying to get the title 'unrivalled' or was he going die at the hands of the Rain Clan? Everyone was waiting for the results, as this battle affected all of their hearts.

"If they are truly defeated by him, a balance would be destroyed! A single person laying waste to an ancient tradition! This will inevitably shake the world!"

"How many years has it been? Has another ridiculous individual appeared in this world? It truly is shocking. How savage!"

The world was far from calm, and currently, regardless of whether it was the ancient country's imperial family or the upper figures from various sects, they were all waiting for the curtain to drop on this battle.

"Only victory, defeat is not allowed!"

Within the rain clan, an ancestor released a low bellow of rage with a sinister face. Defeat was unacceptable, or else the Rain Clan would definitely be laughed at by others. How would they keep their footing within the aristocracy then?

"However, he's just too powerful. Within the Heavenly Passage realm, he's unmatched. In addition, he has a supreme treasure in his hands, making it difficult to contend against. Unless Yi'er comes out from his training, we will have a tough time defending against him."

"Depart for the divine decree. Not only do I want his void body to die, his real body must be annihilated as well and turned into eternal ashes!" The elder's pupils were malicious, and his voice was extremely cold.

Chapter 211 – Divine Decree

A temple that seemed like it was constructed out of golden pillars was emitting light. As it bathed in multicolored splendor, it seemed incomparably divine. As it rested within the innermost area of the Rain Clan, a rain of light scattered down.

This was one of the Rain Clan's important locations in the real world, and it was providing them with a magical fragrance, causing the auspicious qi to overflow. Typically, no one was allowed to enter, and only during great events that affected the Rain Clan's reputation would they be able to.

Currently, a group of elders were kowtowing one after another. As they walked over, their expressions were solemn and dignified. These people were all incomparably devout, and traces of blood could be seen on their foreheads.

They were kneeling and bowing with their hands joined, giving their greatest respects to a statue of their divine ancestor. At the same time, they gave an offering. Everyone was in prayer, and their expressions were extremely solemn.

Did all the ancient deities die off? This question wasn't something that anyone could give a clear answer to. It was likely that they had all fallen, buried with the passage of time.

Upon entering the temple, an extremely indistinct stone statue could be seen. Its appearance had long become unrecognizable. Its mystical golden body had cracks in it; its luster was dull and its coloring mottled.

Rumor has it that the Rain Deity had long fallen within an ancient battle. However, the Rain Clan still worshipped his ancestral figure, hoping to bring about the miracle of him returning someday.

Even though the exterior of the temple was brilliant, the interior was rather old-fashioned and full of antique energy. The Rain Clan's people were all kowtowing and mumbling as if they were in meditation.

Finally, under the lead of an ancestor, they opened up the altar in front of the divine figure. A small jar was buried there; its body was pitch black and it carried rain-like spots.

Kacha

The jar was opened, and a wave of terrifying energy immediately rushed out. It was as if a divine being was coming into existence, and the brilliance that erupted made it seem as if the sun itself had burst open. It completely lit up the old-fashioned temple.

These were pieces of torn earthen-colored papers. After combining together, they were barely enough to form a complete document. Every piece fluttered upwards like constellations in the sky. As they circled about, they brought a rather oppressive feeling.

This was the last decree left behind by the Rain Deity, but due to various reasons, it was shattered.

It was divided up into more than ten pieces with each piece carrying a few characters. Only when combined together did they reveal what the divine will represented.

Everyone within the Rain Clan was shivering, and even their souls were trembling. This kind of pressure and aura made them feel like their bodies were about to shatter, as if they were being offered up to the deity.

In the end, only after that ancestor read some complex incantations did those pieces gradually calm down and the divine splendor fade. In addition, the people here had sliced their wrists to trickle out some blood, proving that they were the Rain Deity's descendants.

A female walked up. Her eyes were closed, and her delicate hands were like jade. She began to feel for the ten or so pieces of paper. After choosing a piece, she clasped her hands together before retreating.

She was precisely Yu Zimo, a female who possessed spirituality and a strange perception ability. Her body was sparkling like jade, incomparably pure and holy.

The group of people piously conducted the ceremony. They returned the remaining paper into the black jar before burying it within the altar. Soon after, they silently left the ancient temple.

"Alright, this is the one. This piece of the deity's decree has the characters ‘attack’ and ‘word’. Even though it isn’t ‘kill’, it should still be powerful enough to kill any opponent.

The old ancestor began to laugh loudly. A single ‘attack’ character was enough to represent the profound strength of the decree. It would inevitably demonstrate its power and kill off all enemies within the Void God Realm.

“Bring it over and carefully protect it. After using it, it still needs to be returned to the altar!”

Within the Rain Clan’s pure land in the Void God realm, a great battle was carrying out. Great formations were activated; flood dragons covered the sky, peacocks cut across the heavens, and many archaic descendants rushed forth, as if they were truly appearing.

The Rain Clan’s great formations were mysterious and extremely powerful, all of them targeting the little guy, making it momentarily difficult for him to charge in. Together with the numerous experts using their most powerful symbols, even the exceptionally powerful broken sword was not enough to overcome this.

On the other side, the little guy was covered in bloodstains. His strength had been exhausted considerably, because the broken sword was like an abyss, frantically consuming his essence energy without end.

This was all still happening under the restriction of this heavenly paradise. If this was in the true world, the after effects will truly be inconceivable.

Fortunately, the little guy’s body was sufficiently powerful. Wave after wave of magma-like liquid trickled out from the void and bubbled within his body, replenishing his needs.

This was precisely the profoundness of the heavenly passages, the seizing of the luck between heaven and earth.

“Yi, just how many heavenly passages did he open up? He started with five, and now increased to seven. It seems like there are still a few volcanoes hidden.”

This was the first time the devilish child revealed his heavenly passages. Bright volcanoes appeared one after another, surging with heaven and earth essence that nourished his powerful flesh.

His spirit was transformed. The process was not much different than if it happened in the real world.

“Youngster, you’re too unbridled! You don’t know how high the sky is and how deep the earth is. To offend my Rain Clan’s prestige, even if deities descended, they still wouldn’t be able to save you!” Within the pure land, an elder’s expression was gloomy and cold as he shouted, his voice like thunder.

Within the Void God Realm, endless debris lied at the border of the ruins. An extraordinary willow tree was rooted within the void, and at this time, it was as if it received some sort of insight. A willow branch gently swayed, causing green and lush radiance to circulate.

In the end, it once again calmed down. It no longer made any unusual movements.

Within the Rain Clan’s pure land, a group took the initiative. They unleashed a great killing formation, and all of the precious bones were wrapped within multicolored light. Those flood dragons, peacocks, and others completely disappeared.

“Yi, what is the Rain Clan doing?” The group of heroes were all apprehensive.

The little guy didn’t seem to care at all. He directly brandished the sword and hacked in front of him. Since an opportunity was presented right in front of him, how could he let it go? Of course he would attack.

Suddenly, the sky and the earth shook. The area that the Rain Clan occupied began to fiercely shake, and a wave of terrifying aura erupted. It actually affected the Void God Realm’s rules and order, turning this place indistinct and warped.

“What?! This type of force almost seems as if some type of limit was broken through, a power that could destroy the the laws of this place!”

“Exactly what did the Rain Clan bring? Why does it make our hearts unsteady and our souls shake?”

The outstanding heroes were all absolutely horrified. They felt as if the rules and order of this world were about to transform, and an earthen radiance began to appear. It was as if a deity was coming into this world.

“Suppress and kill!”

Everyone within the Rain Clan shouted together. They wholeheartedly offered their worship. Upon looking up into the heavens, one could see a piece of shabby yellow paper. It flowed with hazy splendor, as if the primal chaos were being opened.

This was the decree of a deity, and was far superior to the wordless paper of the Hundred Shattering Mountains. That was simply an empty one, while this was a divine object that truly contained the deity's intent.

Chi

The piece of divine decree exploded, and countless drops of golden rain scattered down. They descended frantically, directly striking towards the little guy.

“Not good!”

At this moment, the little guy became frightened. He no longer dared to be reckless in the slightest. The hairs on his body all stood erect, and with a turn of his body, a pair of Kun Peng wings appeared, rapidly increasing his speed.

He seemed like an unstable light, but also like a fleeting shadow as he fled frantically. At the same time, the broken sword hacked out behind him, blocking the densely concentrated golden raindrops.

Dang

However, no matter how fast he was, there were still golden raindrops closing in. It swept through everything and shook the world. As the drops fell onto the broken sword, ear-splitting keng qiang sounds were continuously emitted, making his arm numb.

At the same time, the devilish brat's arm was pierced through by one of the raindrops. Fresh blood immediately flowed out.

It was simply impossible to outspeed this bright rain. It was too concentrated, and it covered the sky and earth with incomparable speed.

"I'm going to risk it all! Who cares about how powerful you are. Don't tell me that you are going to disobey the Void God Realm's will and exceed the Heavenly Passage Realm!" After being struck, the devilish brat went crazy and suddenly turned around.

The reason was because he knew that he couldn't outspeed the golden rain. Continuing to run in such a frenetic manner would only make it easier for him to get injured.

Dang, dang...

He brandished the broken sword and continuously hacked about, turning into a wheel of wind. Symbols covered the sky, ultimately turning into a vast ocean to confront the divine decree.

"No matter how powerful you are, there's no way it's greater than ten heavenly passages or else you will definitely be suppressed. I'm not weaker than it by much, and together with the broken sword, I refuse to believe that I can't hack you apart!" The devilish brat shouted.

He did not retreat, but rather pushed forward, killing his way over. In addition, he went completely berserk; his body lit up, in the end making him look like a great fireball that burned with matchless brilliance.

The black blood traces on the broken sword in his hands became indistinct, making the sword become increasingly resplendent. Beams of light soared into the heavens, continuously hacking towards the symbol parchment in the air.

Kengqiang sounds rang out as the battle raged on.

Everyone became dumbfounded. In particular, the Rain Clan's people felt their scalps going numb; how could the devilish brat be so powerful?! Was he going to stand off against the will of a divine creature?

"How could the will of a God be something a cockroach like you can resist? You are simply asking for death!" An elder within the Rain Clan shouted.

"Deity my butt, can he defy the heavens and disobey the rules of the Void God Realm to surpass the Heavenly Passage realm? If not, then you can just dream about catching me!" The savage devilish brat shouted.

He began to fight for his life even more furiously, because he knew that as soon as he loosened up in the slightest, he would undoubtedly be killed. Moreover, his words weren't completely ungrounded. Even if a deity came, only by defying the order here could they break through this restriction.

He believed firmly that the Rain Deity had died, and that it was impossible for a small piece of badly damaged symbol parchment to defy the rules here. Only by fighting fiercely head on could he make it through this great disaster.

"Kill! I am going to chop you into pieces!"

The devilish brat cried out loudly. His entire body shone, releasing his endless potential and unifying with the broken sword. An extraordinarily powerful sword radiance hacked out, making even the heaven and earth shake as it continuously struck the symbol parchment.

Everyone became dumbfounded. This fellow was too savage, not even fearing a God as he resisted in such a manner. He wanted to destroy that decree, truly fearless!

"This... was this one of the ten Archaic savages? This was too ferocious! Did he go crazy? Was he really going to withstand the will of a deity?"

"This devilish child is not normal. Did he consume the Octadic Treasure Chicken's blood or something? This is simply too unbridled. With no fear of anything, he is going to scale the heavens to slaughter a deity!"

The spectators were all nearly speechless. This was too crazy! Challenging the will of a deity while loudly clamoring, it seemed like a small aboriginal of a primitive tribe.

The Rain Clansmen were also stunned. This piece of divine decree did not dominate the devilish brat, but rather evoked his stubborn and savage nature. He was shouting loudly as he rushed towards the heavens.

If it was the people on the sides, they would have become discouraged a long time ago. However, this devilish child's fighting spirit was still high, as if he had the imposing intent of killing through the heavens to meet the true God. His heart was completely fearless.

"Dare to kill me? I am going to eat you!" The devilish brat shouted. He exhausted everything, igniting flaming divine light around his body. This type of declaration once again made everyone somewhat stupefied.

This wasn't even like that of a human anymore. How could he have this kind of reaction and thoughts? This was quite different from ordinary people, and this made everyone curse silently. This youngster was definitely not a true human.

Hong

Within the skies, the symbol parchment shone. An 'attack' character appeared. It was the will of the deity, and with rumbling sounds, the supreme law interweaved, terrifying people's souls.

In the blink of an eye, the tattered and damaged decree seemed to have revived. It was as if it carried the will of the True God. The golden rain was like a waterfall as it poured down in torrents.

Everyone became overwhelmed with shock. How could this type of divine might be resisted with just the heavenly passage realm? Was he trying to transcend?!

Only, the devilish brat continued to shout. "Still not breaking? If you have the ability, then break through! Otherwise, you can't kill me!"

Outside his body, honglonglong sounds rang out. Nine heavenly passages simultaneously appeared, and the 'magma' surged, continuously trickling out. It was just like a waterfall as it submerged him, endlessly supplying him with essence energy."

"What?! Nine Heavenly Passages established? For humans, this has only been recorded within ancient texts!"

Even though such a thing was heard of before a long time ago and was something long suspected, it still made the people shake when they saw it in person. He was like the heir of a living deity, too terrifying.

"Broken sword, wake up! Isn't it just a piece of tattered paper? Shatter it!" The devilish child shouted loudly.

Several holes appeared in his body after being penetrated by the golden rain of light. However, he did not possess any type of fear and only became increasingly valiant. With a single step, he soared into the heavens to hack at the symbol parchment.

The Rain Clansmen's hearts were all shaking. Was there still heavenly reasoning in this?! This devilish child was too ridiculous! Could it be that not even a divine decree could suppress him?

This was not some ordinary precious artifact, but rather a decree carved from the essence of a divine creature's will. It far surpassed those supreme treasures, yet it was being resisted like this. The devilish brat was strong to the point that it made people wanted to curse him; he was fierce beyond belief!

Pu

A few more bloody holes appeared in the devilish brat's body, but his eyes only grew increasingly bright. Light shone from his entire body, and his nine heavenly passages rumbled. The Kun Peng diving wings flapped; he was actually about to take flight.

"Eat, eat! Eat them all!" He shouted out loudly, and the black broken sword in his hands erupted with brilliant light. It continuously hacked towards the sun-like divine decree high up in the sky.

"This..." In the distance, a purple-haired girl became rather speechless. She came from the Archaic divine mountain, and even though her status far surpassed that of the great wastelands, after seeing this scene, she still had a foolish expression on her face.

"This fellow is truly mad!" In the distance, a young lady was wearing scarlet multicolored clothes that fluttered about. She was also a bit stupefied and couldn't help but mutter this out in the end.

Chapter 212 – Disrespecting a Deity

“What stupid deity? If you are so powerful, then break through the rules and order of this place to kill me! I’m going to cut, eat, and eat! Eat everything!”

The devilish brat did not feel any fear towards deities, so reverence was even more out of the question. He shouted savagely, his young and tender face carrying a bit of provocation. It was just like when he challenged big yellow in the village when he was younger.

He was clearly fighting with his life on the line, yet it almost seemed as if there were some immature stubbornness in his expression. It truly made people not know whether to laugh or cry.

The broken sword in his hand was like a blazing sun as it shone with matchless brilliance. Sword qi gushed out streak after streak, and these fluctuations alone could shave off mountain peaks.

In the sky, the thick sword streaks of radiance numbered in the hundreds, and they all struck down on the symbol parchment. The Rain of Light there poured down in torrents, creating an ear-splitting sound, as if great stars were being smashed open.

Bo

The earthen-colored symbol parchment emitted light, blossoming like fireworks. The character 'attack' became increasingly intimidating, releasing an unwavering aura as it shook incessantly.

The rain of light became even more magnificent, and a golden waterfall cascaded down from within the parchment's symbol. It carried within it the will of the Rain Deity, and was not something one could defy since it held within it the laws of a deity.

Unfortunately, it was still suppressed down to the Heavenly Passage Realm, and so it couldn't surpass that.

Hong!

However, even though things were as such, it was still terrifying. The golden rain of light was as sharp as blades, and with weng long sounds, it shook even the heavens. The golden light was concentrated as it struck down on the broken sword with dang dang sounds.

Pu

Even though the little guy's defenses were extremely powerful, he was still not able to completely avoid this. His calf was pierced through by a drop of light, immediately causing a string of blood to blossom.

"Stupid paper. You're about to shatter already, yet you still dare to hurt me." The devilish brat was angry. The nine volcanoes around his body rumbled, and the magma began to flow like a large river, continuously entering his body.

"Rotten paper, hurry up and break!" The little guy shouted, and the ancient black sword began to flow with strand after strand of multicolored light. It was as if a black phoenix had awakened. Its aura became even more frightening as countless streaks of sword radiance sliced towards the sky.

Peng

The symbol parchment was shaken until it was displaced. After seeing how it was shaken back and forth, one could see just how fierce those attacks were. Even the decree of a divine being couldn't endure it and seemed like an ordinary boulder.

The little guy pursed his small lips. His expression became increasingly serious as he continuously hacked down. His arms left behind afterimages in the air, because his movements were too fast.

The broken sword violently shook. It had already been brandished countless times, and at this point, the black sword and his arm were resonating together. Weng weng sounds fell incessantly, turning this area into a sea of swords.

The sound and images of the broken sword meshed together. The multicolored light released by the symbols directly turned into an immortal ocean of sword qi that engulfed the skies.

Dang

The divine decree violently shook. Its brilliance quickly dimmed, and was sent flying.

The broken sword in the little guy's hands did not stop. It continuously slashed about, and within the sword ocean, several streaks of extremely powerful sword qi rushed forth. They were astonishingly thick, and as they smashed over, they seemed to have possessed the force of a mountain.

The divine decree continuously turned about as it flew out several zhang after being struck. In addition, its luster became increasingly dim, and the divine flames curling about it seemed to be on the verge of being extinguished.

Everyone became overwhelmed with shock. Just how terrifying was this sword qi? It could actually collide against the symbol parchment of a deity! It was powerful to an unbelievable degree.

The Rain Clansmen were even more alarmed. This was too savage! It was merely a single child, yet he actually withstood the Rain Deity's decree. After all this time, he didn't fall, and was actually starting his counterattack now.

"Worship the Rain Deity!" Within the pure land, a group of elders sat down. Upon seeing this scene, the youngsters behind them followed suit. They began to mumble, chanting out an ancient incantation.

An wave of mysterious fluctuations proliferated, spreading out like a tide.

The Rain Clan's decree seemed to have recovered, immediately becoming more powerful than before. It was as if it woke up from its slumber, and with a rumbling sound, it turned into a golden sun.

Hong

At the same time, lightning flickered, and golden rain erupted with the brilliance of a sun before cascading down. This was the profound mysteriousness of the Rain Deity produced in a fury after its essence energy recovered.

Deities shouldn't be provoked, and one couldn't speak profanity against them. If they found out and felt that their prestige was offended, they would immediately erupt into fury!

"Rotten paper, how come you became stronger again?" The little guy grimaced as two more bloody holes appeared on his body. His body was so powerful, yet it couldn't defend against the divine rain's attacks.

He fiercely fought back, but was still struck down from the skies, completely submerged within the rain of light.

The devilish brat displayed his precious technique, causing a black body of water to overflow into the heavens. It stopped the sun-like golden rain and resisted the deity's profound mystery, enduring a tremendous pressure.

In the end, he once again fell down to the ground.

The devilish brat was unconvinced and did not yield because he knew that as soon as he retreated and tried to flee, he would immediately be killed.

He definitely could not retreat now, and had to fight to the end. If he ran, his speed would definitely not be faster than that mystical parchment. It possessed the mark of a deity, giving it power at the absolute limit of this heavenly paradise.

Golden rain poured down, carrying with it waves of thunder-like sounds. An endless torrent was descending.

"I'll cut, I'll cut, I'll cut with everything I have!" The devilish brat shouted. With a step of his feet, he once again rose high into the air. The Kun Peng wings behind him moved, carrying him forward.

The little guy was without fear as he continuously brandished the sword. The nine heavenly passages around his body shone, gradually fusing with his flesh. The broken sword erupted, creating ocean sized waves.

Meanwhile, he activated a precious technique. The Kun Peng and the sword fused together into one body and rushed murderously into the skies.

True Kun Pengs' bodies were not completely gold. There were also black symbols, and when they soared into the skies, the spreading of their wings would cover the heavens.

Comparably, human bodies were just too weak and weren't even comparable to dust. It directly devoured that golden sun-like divine decree; the scene was absolutely shocking.

The symbol paper transformed, becoming bigger. It released an undying radiance that illuminated the heavens, its aura flourishing even more magnificently.

The Kun Peng was without fear. After fusing with the sword qi and merging together, it possessed a type of invincible and imposing manner as it oppressed the heaven and earth.

Hong!

A majestic aura burst forth. The Kun Peng swooped over with symbols numbering in the tens of thousands. The golden parchment was struck and sent flying. It continuously flickered, as if it was about to be blown apart.

The Kun Peng pursued, wanting to swallow it in one gulp. Its enormous body covered the skies, making all of the spectators dumbstruck; this was simply too shocking.

"This isn't a great Peng, but rather the Kun Peng! Truly frightening! He actually revealed this type of precious technique!"

With a hong sound, the little guy dropped down to the ground before once again charging over. He merged together with that Kun Peng, positioning himself at the center. The broken sword flourished with an even greater light as it transformed into a beak that fiercely rushed forward.

The result was a collision on a world-shaking scale. The rain of light scattered down, and the divine radiance shone in all directions. What happened inside was not visible, because the dazzling light made it so that no one could look straight at it, forcing them to close their eyes.

Only much later did this light completely disappear and the skies once again become peaceful. The little guy cried out miserably as he fell down. His body was covered in blood; this time, he received a serious injury.

What about the Rain Deity's decree? Everyone was confused, because they couldn't see the earthen colored parchment after the rain of light vanished.

At this moment, everyone from the Rain Clan couldn't sit still any longer and was about to go mad. That was a symbol parchment with the will of a deity contained within! How could it vanish just like that?

"Rotten paper!" After the little guy fell onto the ground, he began to curse in a sulky manner. His body was covered in bloodstains. Taking out a jar of precious blood, he quickly unplugged the cork and began to drink it like water.

Weng

Suddenly, a golden symbol parchment flew over from the horizon with an intimidating aura. The earthen yellow became truly golden. It flourished brilliantly and possessed an astonishing divine might.

A crack appeared on it. It was clear that the symbol parchment received serious damage from the great collision just now and was not a match for the Kun Peng and broken sword.

However, the will of the deity was unsurpassable. Currently, it was furious, and even though its spirit was fractured, it was still a deity. Being hacked apart and sent flying by a mortal was definitely not something its will could tolerate.

“Still didn’t break?” The little guy was a bit apprehensive. The injuries on his body weren’t light, and could be considered rather serious.

The golden-colored symbol paper emitted light. The ‘attack’ symbol on it rang out with qiang qiang sounds and released an undying aura. In addition, its killing intent overflowed into the heavens.

The rumbling sounds were shocking. It was as if a golden vast body of water surged from above the symbol parchment. This was not a rain anymore but instead a divine ocean that directly cascaded.

The little guy curse and began to flee frantically. Behind him, the divine wings shook, rapidly increasing his speed to help him evade.

However, the vast golden body of water were too ferocious and violent. It reached everywhere, hiding the sky and covering the earth as it arrived. He was directly buried, unable to avoid this.

“Get off me!”

The Kun Peng precious technique rushed forth and a black ocean appeared. No one knew how many li it covered as it surged up violently to withstand the vast golden body of water. Meanwhile, that black great fish also soared up, devouring the divine light..

Qiang

The symbol parchment shone in the sky. Every single stroke of the character shook, as if they were precious artifacts. They unexpectedly flew out like strokes of iron and silver with an upright and strong force.

The little guy's expression changed. He took out the broken sword and sent it flying towards the sky to block the 'attack' character. The two came together into a huge collision.

Within the rumbling sounds of confrontation, the two continued to shake violently as they exchanged attacks. The divine sounds that erupted sounded like the chants of deities, frightening the spectators.

The golden rain poured down in torrents. In addition, lightning and thunder appeared, erupting from the attack symbol. The lightning flowed like streaks of astral rivers as they hacked towards the little guy.

Thunder and rain interweaved. As a Rain Deity, how could it not know about lightning? They were interdependent, making it even more powerful. At this time, the divine decree completely erupted.

The little guy grimaced, revealing an expression that was even uglier than crying. Today, he truly suffered, receiving heavy injuries. After such a long time, he still wasn't able to get rid of the symbol parchment.

If people other people knew what he was thinking, they would definitely become stupefied. This was a showdown with the mark of a deity, so being able to last until now was already a world shocking event. However, he was still acting like this, so could it be that he was going to destroy the decree? That was the same thing as directly blaspheming a divine creature!

In the sky, the 'attack' symbol shone, and every stroke seemed like a streak of lightning. It rumbled continuously and shown brilliantly in all directions. The little guy that was struck was about to emit black smoke.

The broken sword blocked withstood it, creating kengqiang sounds as it continuously shook.

"Hurry and wake up. Don't let that stupid paper have it's way!" The little guy shouted.

He felt as if the broken sword did not fully activate, as if it was still testing him. He still had to depend on himself, making the devilish brat furious. He almost stepped on the broken sword out of anger.

The battle was incredibly fierce. The symbol parchment shone and surged with a vast golden body of water that met the black waters behind the little guy's body head on. The huge black fish turned about, creating a heaven shocking wave.

Meanwhile, the 'attack' symbol from the symbol parchment seemed like a precious artifact, hacking out with lightning. Killing energy descended with a ferocious force to suppress the devilish child.

It seemed as if there was no way out. The little guy was forced into desperate straits. He had no one to rely on, and no route of escape. He could only depend on himself to fight to the end and persevere on.

Hou...

The purple Suan Ni erupted. It was as tall as a mountain, towering into the heavens. It wanted to swallow the lightning that was descending, and one of its claws slashed out to shatter the 'attack' character.

Hong

The two individuals clashed. They were both lightning in nature, causing an incomparably fierce collision. Endless lightning radiance were emitted, throwing this place into chaos.

The battle reached its climax, and the Rain Clan was uneasy. This devilish brat was too powerful, actually being able to defend against a piece of the damaged decree. It far surpassed their expectations.

They were inwardly anxious, fearing that something bad was going to happen. All of their faces were pale as they watched the battle nervously. They were hoping that the Rain Deity's will would immediately kill the devilish child.

The little guy received serious injurious, and his body was about to break apart. There were over twenty bloody holes, dying his clothes in a bright red; he truly looked rather miserable.

He had never been in such a desperate state while fighting people. He was about to be killed, because the will accumulated within the divine decree was too powerful. It forced him to be on the defensive.

"If I had ten heavenly passages, I would directly eat you!"

He continued to persevere and did not give up. In addition, he began to gradually feel that the symbol parchment's luster was starting to dim. It was not as rich and powerful as before.

"Stand firm! It's on the verge of falling as well, so I have to press on!" The devilish brat clenched his teeth. If he was defeated now, then he would truly die without a grave.

"Yi, that symbol degree has become dim!" Right at that moment, the others also began to notice this abnormality.

Everyone from the Rain Clan felt their faces becoming absolutely pale without the slightest bit of color. They were all frightened; how could things have ended like this? Could it be that the Rain Deity's decree couldn't suppress him?

Finally, the symbol parchment shone and once again became brilliant. It turned into a huge star as it rushed towards the devilish brat with the intention of killing him.

“Not good! The symbol parchment is burning up its last bit of energy, its strength inevitably becoming stronger. He’s going to be killed!” Huo Ling’er was shocked and felt that things were turning bad.

“The deity is using his final ultimate move!” The others also sighed, because they felt that it was truly difficult for him to escape this disaster.

The little guy roared. A Kun Peng and a Suan Ni appeared outside his body and began to spin with extreme speed to defend against that symbol parchment. At the same time, the broken sword also flew out to fiercely collide with that decree.

Finally the broken sword seemed to have awakened . It hacked that symbol parchment in half.

However, that symbol character seemed unaffected. It still similarly descended towards the little guy’s chest. The two halves of the symbol parchment continued to shoot down to kill the little guy.

“Rotten paper, I’m not scared of you!” The devilish child shouted.

Hong

The symbol character unleashed its final light, submerging this area. No one could see what was going on clearly and only felt a boundless force spreading out.

Even though he couldn't protect his life, the little guy still struggled on. Flinging his head, the sparkling small pagoda in his hair collided with that 'attack' character. A ding sound immediately lightly rang out, obstructing it.

Unfortunately, the small pagoda had not yet recovered. The two merely knocked into each other.

Even though that was all that happened, it was still terrifying. It made the 'attack' character lose quite a bit of brilliance, moreover, allowing him to once again grab the broken sword at this time. After swinging with all his strength, an ear-splitting kengqiang sound sounded, making the 'attack' symbol dim once again by quite a bit.

The little guy cried out loudly. He truly went for broke this time without any fear as he once again brandished the broken sword.

Suddenly, he felt his chest burning extremely vigorously. He felt a wave of boiling heat, and a terrifying aura filled the air. Strand after strand of multicolored light were released, seizing that attack character.

It was as if a black hole opened up there that frantically devoured. The little guy couldn't help but shout loudly, because he felt a great itchiness at that area. Supreme essence blood was strengthening, giving birth to an inexhaustible life force.

Chapter 213 – Heaven Warping Talent

The little guy's chest began to heat up and burn like a fiery furnace. His entire chest began to sparkle, and drip after drip of blood essence was created. It was as if it was wrapping itself around a deity that was about to be reborn.

Ao...

The little guy was aching. Not only was his chest itchy, it was also extremely sore. It felt like it was being torn apart.

In the distance, everyone sighed. It was a pity that such a heaven warping youth was going to die here. They could tell that he definitely met misfortune and was about to be killed by the divine decree.

Everyone from the Rain Clan laughed coldly. So what if you have a heavenly potential? In the end, you're still going to die and not be able to grow up. There was no way he could resist the will of a deity!

"I'm going to die from pain, ao..." The devilish brat shouted out.

The brilliance here was dazzling, and no one could see what was happening clearly. They all surmised that the Rain Deity's decree must have displayed its final divine might to exterminate him.

At this place, a deity could reach the extreme realm and transcend worldliness. Even though they would still be under the restriction, they would surpass any outstanding geniuses.

"It is truly unfortunate, because he definitely would have become an extremely shocking genius. Outside of using the divine decree, there wasn't even any way to kill him. In the end, he was still cut off from his prime."

Outside of those great powers, there were still many people that weren't affiliated with them. They did not have any hatred or grudges towards the little guy, so they only felt sympathy towards him for what happened.

A genius like this falling was truly too unfortunate. He would have definitely displayed extraordinary skill and become a supreme expert that wasn't weaker than a pure-blooded creature!

"He invited this disaster on himself. A deity is so high and mighty, do you think a bug like you is worthy of challenging it?” An elder from the Rain Clan sneered.

Only now did everyone release their pent up breath of air. If nothing strange happened, the devilish brat would inevitably die. He would be turned into a lump of blood, and even his real body will die.

It was because this was the law of the divine dao. It could completely erase his spirit and will. He could not escape, and his real body would turn into a living corpse.

Haha...

There were people who began to carefreely laugh with joyous expressions. Once the devilish brat dies, this huge mess would finally calm down. They would never have to worry about him challenging everyone again.

These people included those from Tuoba Family, the four great Kun, Li, Yuan, Meng families, and many others. They were all ancient inheritances that bore great grudges against the devilish brat.

The little guy's body was currently in a transparent state. His chest, in particular, was like jade, so even the circulation of his blood was visible. A circle of light could be seen, and it was as if it was wrapping up a deity. It was absolutely dazzling as he bathed in the divine flames to undergo rebirth.

It was a small bone that was without form. It was currently being nourished by essence blood, producing a transparent bone outline. It was extremely brilliant, as if a small segment was trying to be reborn.

A wave of terrifying aura circulated, but it was luckily drowned out by the light created by the divine decree. No one could see what was happening, so they all thought that it was the attack symbol displaying its divine might.

The little guy's chest had symbols circulating about it, as if a divine altar was constructed. The flames ignited as if they were trying to seal a deity, and the essence blood's vitality was too powerful as it continuously nourished that circle of light.

The 'attack' symbols had dimmed after colliding with the small pagoda, and it was even hacked by the broken sword. It was already unsteady and would most likely not escape destruction.

The little guy's chest shone. Like threads of silk, the light twisted about that 'attack' symbol before removing its divine essence to unceasingly nourish the blood and bone in his chest.

"It seems like it still can't grow out." When the acute pain subsided and he recovered his state of mind, he began to feel a bit of regret.

After all, it was only a small corner of a badly damaged decree, not an entire sheet. It wasn't complete, and so its divine essence wasn't enough to make that circle of light undergo transformation.

"I hope the Rain Clan can bring the remaining pieces of the decree as well." The little guy's injuries were severe and his body was in tatters, yet his eyes were still roaming around like a thief as he thought about other divine objects.

After who knew how much time had passed, a bo sound was heard, and that 'attack' symbol shattered. It disappeared, and the light around the little guy's chest also faded.

As he anticipated, that bone was not able to take form and come into existence. Even though he felt rather disappointed inside, from a different perspective, he was also extremely excited. This meant that the supreme being bone was extremely terrifying, and that the divine essence from a small corner of this decree was not enough to bring it back to life.

The broken sword was like a small sun, and it seemed to resonate with the mysterious fluctuations originating from the little guy's chest. It was recovering just now as well, and only now did it gradually dim from its previous brilliance to return to its original state.

This place became peaceful once again. The Rain Deity's 'attack' symbol disappeared, and only paper remained. Moreover, it was cut into two, and even though there was still some divine splendor to it, it was far from what it previously had.

The two halves of symbol parchment were suspended in midair motionless.

The devilish child directly pinched one of the halves and carefully gave it a try. Nothing dangerous happened, and after the attack character disappeared, the earthen paper also lost the divine creature's will, no longer attacking him.

“What? He actually survived? Even the deity’s decree wasn’t enough to kill him?!”

The outstanding heroes watching were all shocked, not believing what they were seeing. This result went against everyone’s expectations. They all thought that he would undoubtedly die, so how could they have anticipated that he would be still be in such good shape?

Everything in front of the Rain Clan’s people turned dark, because the result was difficult for them to take in. The savage child didn’t die, and the attack character disappeared instead. This made them so furious they wanted to cough out blood.

Tuoba Clan, four great families and many others were similarly stupefied. They clearly just heard a heart tearing cry from him earlier, so how was he still alive? Just now, they were still sneering, this... It was as if they took a slap to the face, making their faces burn with rage.

The little guy began to loudly talk drivel. After grabbing that decree, he directly shoved it into his mouth before chewing with kachi kachi sounds. His behavior was truly bold and unrestrained, as if he was chewing on a radish!”

“You...”

Everyone from the rain clan immediately felt their faces turn green. What was this? It was the Rain Deity’s decree, yet it was actually being chewed by him in such a rude manner!

Ah pu...

Several elders with greater statuses within the Rain Clan immediately spat out blood from anger. The divine ancestor’s decree was actually being eaten; this was simply disrespecting a deity! How would people view them now?!

“He really... ate it?”

In the distance, the outstanding heroes were all stunned. They all looked as if they saw a ghost. They heard his loud cries not long ago about how he was going to ‘eat, eat, eat it all’, but they had all thought these were words shouted out of anger and not in seriousness.

They never thought that he would really chew on it without knowing what kind of materials it was made out of. It was like beast skin, and was also like bright silk. It made crisp sounds that one could hear from even far away.

That savage child continuously chewed with his small bright teeth, making gazhi gazhi sounds ring out incessantly as he bit down with vigor.

The Rain Clan's people were so angry they were becoming dizzy. This was a completely undisguised disrespect! How could they endure this?

Kachi kachi

The little guy continuously chewed, and the sound created was rather loud. He wrinkled his small nose as he mumbled, “Doesn’t taste good at all.”

The group of people was about to lose consciousness. Was the taste of this something that should be evaluated? This child was too savage! He even chewed the decree of a deity to pieces, biting down with all his strength. Was he not scared of being stuck by heavenly lightning?

“You... You are truly wretched!”

Everyone from Rain Clan went mad. This was an absolute disgrace. The most sacred object left behind by their ancestor was being chewed on by a human as if he was a horse chewing a peony! This was absolutely too hateful.

“Shameful devilish child!” When the purple clothed girl in the distance saw this scene, she didn’t know how to evaluate it. In the end, she could only curse out like this.

Dumbstruck, Huo Ling’er sighed and said, “This brat... Too evil. Is he the reincarnation of a Taotie or something? Why does he put everything in his mouth and dares to eat anything?”

The outstanding individuals watching all became dizzy.

Rain Clan members within their pure land were so angry and stifled that their faces turned red. Their vision blurred, and they were about to faint. They really wanted to rush up and kill him, but they were scared that they would die themselves, since the other party was ridiculously strong.

“The heavens are unjust!” They cried out in anger.

However, there was foreign matter flickering in the sky. It was as if the heavens heard their shouts as a lump of light descended and emerged beside the little guy’s side.

Meanwhile, a stone tablet appeared. On top of it were some sparkling and translucent characters that flickered with multicolored light; this was the Void God Realm’s record stone tablet.

Everyone from the Rain Clan was stupefied. Was this to make them die from anger? There was no heavenly reason, truly no heavenly reason anymore! The devilish child actually established another record!

The outstanding heroes also felt a wave of shock. This fellow was going to establish another record? However, after thinking about it, they felt relieved. Just now, the battle was definitely something worth recording.

The little guy suspiciously looked at the circle of light. With a bo sound, the curtain of light broke apart and two bronze pieces appeared in his hands. His eyes immediately widened from extreme happiness.

He shouted and jumped. He almost tripped over himself; this was unexpectedly more pieces of the Archaic divine book! In addition, he got two pieces all of a sudden.

“This is too great! At this speed, it won’t be long before I obtain another unrivalled precious technique!” The devilish child was absolutely elated. It was as if he didn’t notice how dark the Rain Clanmen’s faces were at all.

There was a line of writing on the stone tablet, directly stating that he defeated the will of a deity. His amazing bravery was worth rewarding, establishing a new record.

Tuoba family, four great families and the others’ faces were all extremely ugly. This fellow was just powerful to a ridiculous degree. He defeated the decree of a deity, and even received such heaven defying things.

If it was said that the spectators hesitated previously and weren’t super jealous, then now, they couldn’t help but seriously consider it. Just how long did this take? He already obtained three bronze book pieces.

Kacha

The little guy wrinkled his nose. He ate half of the paper and smacked his lips. In the end, he did not explain the reasoning behind his actions and directly grabbed another half. Regardless, it still contained powerful divine essence, and so he was going to eat it even if it didn't taste good.

"This half... Tastes like chicken!" After biting it to pieces, he spoke out these words.

"This is intolerable harassment!" Everyone from Rain Clan couldn't endure this.

During this entire course of events, the little guy continuously circulated symbols to recover his injuries. This time, he was almost killed by the divine decree, and his body was about to break.

"Do you think I'm scared of you bunch?" The little guy was always holding back a bit of his strength. He wanted to make his move a long time ago, but after narrowly avoiding death just now, his injuries were extremely severe, so he was quietly recovering.

"Don't give him a chance. Take advantage of his serious injuries to exterminate him!" Someone from the Rain Clan saw the opportunity and shouted loudly, but did not leave the pure land. Instead, he unleashed a great formation to twist him to death.

The little guy raised his head and drank a large mouthful of descendant precious blood. He then rushed out quickly and hacked out with the broken sword. Since he even fought with the will of a deity before, was there anything else to be scared of?

"Quickly fall back, we will fight him. We cannot have everyone stay here." An elder muttered. The great formation did not require all of them to be there to be activated. To prevent even more mishaps, it was still better to evacuate some of their people.

"You can't escape! The one that runs is the one that I will chase after and kill!" The devilish brat shouted savagely.

The battle unfolded, and the little guy used all of his strength to attack. He charged into the pure land and withstood the attacks from the great formation's endless symbols.

No one knew just how many precious bones were buried inside of here. At this moment, they displayed their might, and the divine formation in the center surged with a bit of primal qi. It was extremely terrifying.

The little guys continuously shouted out. A single mishap would result in him losing a chunk of flesh. It made him grind his teeth in pain and quickly back up.

Hong!

The broken sword displayed its might. His nine heavenly passages opened, and the little guy seemed to have ignited into flames. He charged into the pure land and resisted the symbols.

Finally, a miserable shriek rang out. He broke through several layers of the formation, unleashing a slaughter. In merely a split second, seven to eight bloody heads flew off. They streaked across the sky without even being able to close their eyes.

At this time, the devilish child was like an evil god. His actions were ruthless as he massacred through all of his enemies. When he thought back to his dead senior brothers and sisters, his wave of grief swept through his heart.

Hong!

The little guy raised his sword and hacked apart another formation. He rushed in murderously and immediately killed another twenty or so people. Blood immediately soared high into the air.

"Hateful! After destroying my pure land, you better not let me find out where your clan is located. Otherwise, I will completely exterminate it without leaving a single person alive!"

An elder bellowed under his breath, his heart absolutely furious. When had the Rain Clan ever received this type of torment? It was obvious that after today, they were going to be at the forefront of discussion. This type of defeat was simply too humiliating. At that time, they won't even be able to lift their heads.

The little guy did not show any mercy and killed the entire way. The terrifying

Kun Peng wings flapped and golden light surged. With a hong sound, more than ten people in front of him were directly blasted to pieces without even leaving behind a skeleton.

As he swept forward, he saw an elder of high status. He used all his strength to rush forward, and the Suan Ni precious technique was activated. Countless streaks of lightning descended, collapsing a mountain peak. Buildings were destroyed, and ten people turned into processed coke.

That elder was the only one remaining, and after being struck by the electricity, he began to convulse in a spasm. His entire body was charred black, and he had difficulty budging an inch. A cold glint flashed by the little guy's pupils, and with a raise of his hand, a scarlet demonic needle flew out. With a pu sound, it landed right between the elder's eyebrows.

Ah...

A mournful scream rang out, and the elder immediately dissolved, disappearing from this world.

"Soul Shattering Needles!" The outstanding heroes all cried out in alarm.

The Rain Clansmen's hearts were torn apart. They roared out, but it didn't change anything. Such a high level elder died, and the real body became a corpse as well.

The little guy's expression was blank as he rushed forward murderously. After the Heaven Mending Pavilion was destroyed, the faces of his senior brothers and sisters still appeared in front of him. It made his heart completely ruthless and his eyes cold.

"Kill!"

He broke through eleven great formations in succession and killed a huge group of people. The dead were piled up in heaps behind him as the devilish child went berserk.

"You are too unbridled! One day, you will be kill by my clan!" Everyone from the Rain Clan hollered.

Hong!

The little guy roared, and a Kun Peng spread its wings before swooping forward. This time, seventy to eighty people were blasted and crushed apart by the powerful precious technique.

“This child was is too heaven defying. To restore the Kun Peng’s precious technique to this degree, it’s truly rarely seen! In the future, it just might be possible for him to comprehend all the mysteries of this unrivalled ability!”

Someone within the outstanding heroes muttered.

Tuoba Clan, the descendants that rushed over from the Western Tomb Beast Mountain and the others’ expressions all changed when they saw this scene. The Rain Clan encountered a calamity, and it was as if this was an ominous foretelling. Were they going to end up in a similar situation?

“Kill!”

Everyone from the Rain Clan went crazy as well. They began to fight with their lives on the line.

Right at this moment, an elder’s gaze became fierce, and a sneer appeared at the corners of his lips. “Do you think you can beat me in ferocity?”

With a hong sound, the entire pure land suddenly exploded. Near the center, a formation was shattered, exploding and causing divine light to rush into the heavens. The little guy was not the only one that received heavy injuries; many of the Rain Clan’s people were directly blown to pieces. They turned into a bloody mist without even having to time to make a sound.

“So fierce!”

The outstanding heroes’ hearts shook, and all of them trembled. The Rain Clan had at least a hundred people that fell. After suffering such a sudden attack and being directly blown up, even their real bodies’ vitality will suffer greatly.

“Did he die yet? If not, then use the Soul Suppressing Pagoda to make his real body die together with his void body!” That elder roared fiercely.

They also brought over a magical artifact that could destroy one’s soul and making the real body fall as well.

The little guy did indeed receive an extremely serious injury. His body almost split apart, and bloody scars covered his body, spread out like a web. He was so powerful, and his physical body reached such an extreme level, yet he was still injured like this. It could be seen just how terrifying the explosion of that formation was.

His grimaced in pain. Thinking back, he was too careless just now. He thought that after destroying the deity's will, the Rain Clan's pure land was already practically defeated. As a result, he was almost killed.

Currently, his injuries were too severe, and his body was in tatters, on the verge of breaking apart.

"This works out just fine! If you didn't die yet, then it's perfect for the Soul Suppressing Pagoda to refine you, making your real body die!"

In the distance, the outstanding individuals were all stupefied. They did not think that the battle tides would suddenly turn. They originally thought that the Rain clan's pure land was on the verge of being annihilated and did not think that the devilish child would suffer an attack that would injure him greatly. It was possible that he might die.

"I was careless. However, it's impossible for you guys to kill me!" The little guy was fearless, and essence energy ignited all about his body to restore his injured body. All of his hidden capabilities erupted out.

"Yi, that's..."

"Heavens, what happened? Is it a miracle?"

The spectators were all stunned. There were many cracks in the devilish brat's body, and it seemed like he was going to break apart, but suddenly there was still a boundless living essence energy that bloomed.

An indistinct volcano appeared, as if it was linked directly to the great universe. With a rumbling sound, it fell from the sky and suppressed downwards.

Even the little guy was stunned. A strange change was happening to his body, as if it was being transformed, was this... the tenth heavenly passage?!

"I broke through myself, and didn't need the baptism's aid!" The little guy's eyes contained an unswerving determination as he clenched his fist.

“Is this something from a legend? There was actually someone that opened a tenth heavenly passage!”

People cried out in surprise. This was like a fairytale.

“Hurry and stop him! He absolutely must not be allowed to establish it!” An elder from the Rain Clan roared in fury.

Chapter 214

He attacked furiously and spat out a mouthful of blood. This result was too terrifying, as the situation was now practically in his hands!

“Hurry and attack, we can’t let him succeed!”

The Rain Clan members were all worried. Breaking through into the tenth heavenly passage in the middle of a battle was something straight out of a legend, yet it actually happened. Could it be that even heaven wanted the Rain Clan to lose? Such an unfathomable event made people absolutely frightened.

If this child was allowed to grow up, then he would inevitably look down on everything under the heavens and show disdain towards other talents. At that time, how would they face him... It was simply something unimaginable.

In the distance, the heroes all felt indescribably shaken. They felt as if even their hearts were trembling.

Nine heavenly passages was already something that was only recorded within ancient records. As for ten heavenly passages, there was even less of a need to think about. It was practically something that should have been impossible.

Yet the impossible actually came true. Under the gazes of everyone, a single youth was likely going to break through. Even though that volcano was rather indistinct, it was already taking form.

Outside the little guy’s body, nine heavenly passages were flowing with ‘magma’ as it seized the luck between the heaven and earth to nourish his body. An indistinct tenth heavenly passage could be seen, as if it would struggle free from the void and appear at any second.

The large heavenly passage was an extremely spectacular sight. Magma surged and worldly essence energy boiled before cascading down like a waterfall to baptise the little guy’s body.

Every single person felt as if what they were seeing weren’t real, and none of the humans dared to believe what was happening. This child was too terrifying, far exceeding what they imagined.

The little guy was extremely nervous. The tenth heavenly passage was truly too difficult to obtain and establish. Forget humans, it was something that was extremely difficult even for heavenly rank Archaic vicious beasts descendants to accomplish.

And yet today, as a human under such circumstances, he was suddenly about to break through within the Void God Realm.

This all happened suddenly, and even he himself was not prepared. He narrowly escaped death in the last battle, and that last explosion from the great formation almost blasted his body apart. He exhausted everything he had to circulate his essence energy to prevent all of his body's potential from surging out.

“Kill!”

Everyone from the Rain Clan launched their attacks. Tens of thousands of feather began to fly about at the heart of the pure land. Every single one of them were like streaks of rainbows, both dazzling and intimidating. They were all symbol arrows.

Normal arrows were useless against the little guy. These arrows with bone text engraved on them carried incredible attacking power. With ten thousand of these fired at once, cities would be destroyed, and even great mountains couldn't help but collapse.

Wuwu sounds rang out. Divine radiance flew out streak after streak, interweaving into a densely knit web of light. It was as if this was the law and order of this world.

“Break open!”

The little guy shouted out loudly. A Suan Ni rushed into the sky and roared. His body was sparkling purple with a few golden streaks running through. It was as tall as a mountain as it blocked in front of his body.

Electric radiance danced about as lightning rushed into the heavens, blocking all incoming arrows. It turned into a purple cage, and as sounds of thunder rolled on, the rumbling shocked the heavens.

Kacha

In the sky, feathers broke apart one after another before turning into fine powder.

This scene was a bit frightening. They were clearly symbol arrows and powerful, or else how would they be able to pierce through mountain peaks, destroy cities and destroy the bodies of experts? However, right now, the thousands of arrows were completely blocked. They were destroyed upon being struck by the terrifying purple lightning, all of them exploding and turning into powder.

The outstanding heroes' expressions changed. The devilish brat was shocking after all, reaching great heights in cultivation alone. Within the heavenly passage realm, it was difficult for him to meet an enemy. He reached the peak of the cultivation realm, so it was no wonder he was about to establish the tenth heavenly passage.

"He absolutely must not be allowed to succeed!" Several Rain Clan elders shouted loudly, as if they were crazy. If they allowed this savage child to open a tenth heavenly passage, then nightmares will accompany their entire future.

That kind of situation can never be allowed to happen. It was not something they could accept, and was terrifying to even think about.

Weng

A giant mountain rose steeply from the ground and flew towards the little guy to suppress him. This was originally a precious imprint that was kept within the pure land, and now, it became enormous to cover the great earth.

After many years, the precious imprint transformed into a mountain, and currently, there was lush greenery growing atop it. There were also all types of beasts and birds moving about in great vitality.

With such a large imprint smashing over with such exuberant vitality, it was as if a heavenly paradise world was pressing down. Its aura was terrifying, and strands of auspicious energy were flowing about in strands it tried to crush the little guy.

"Break apart!"

The little guy raised his head and shouted loudly. His pitch black hair flew into the air as the essence energy in his body boiled. All of the golden symbols around his body flickered, as he transformed into a divine bird.

Hong!

A giant Kun Peng appeared. It fiercely rushed high up into the sky, and with a rumbling sound, smashed into that great mountain. The mountain stone was blasted apart, the ancient trees were broken, and the waterfalls no longer had any water in them as they were all blasted apart.

The Kun Peng despised being below the heavens. With a single charge, this precious artifact that the Rain Clan's elders cooperatively refined for so many years was collapsed at the first blow, turning into ashes.

Everyone became indescribably shocked. This was too powerful! With just a precious technique, he tore apart the heaven and earth, destroying that rarely seen great mountain imprint.

"En?" The little guy was a bit confused and felt that something wasn't quite right. With the appearance of the tenth heavenly passage, it seemed like his essence energy consumption was especially great. He had to go all out to open it.

Originally, he wanted to wait and allow it to naturally appear. However, now it seems like the tenth heavenly passage wanted to seize the luck between the heaven and earth to take form, and only then would it fully appear.

"Open up!"

He released a low roar. His entire body lit up, and nine heavenly passages appeared to pour essence energy through his body. They were gathering to set up an origin for the creation of the tenth heavenly passage.

Golden symbols flickered and purple lightning interweaved together. A mysterious layer of radiance appeared around his body. It covered his flesh and continuously released a mysterious force that assisted in the refinement and assembling of his body's potential.

The little guy exhausted everything he had to establish it. He wanted to enter this new realm as soon as possible, because once the tenth heavenly passage appeared, he would be at the most glorious peak!

However, what startled him was how excruciatingly difficult it was. The tenth heavenly passage was already quite clear and was gradually stabilizing. It was on the verge of being established, but was still just missing that little bit.

“Open for me!”

He shouted loudly. A fierce fluctuation was transmitted from within the void, as if it was about to smash free

“He’s too impatient! Ten heavenly passages is extremely terrifying, and is something that even heavenly ranked divine birds and archaic beasts have a hard time achieving. To thoroughly comprehend this process, one must accumulate their energy and slowly break through.”

“I don’t agree. I heard that the chance is fleeting, and if one misses it, then they would find it difficult to ever succeed again.”

There were people discussing in the distance while paying close attention to what was happening here. Everyone was shocked. This child was too heaven defying! With these types of techniques, it was difficult for them to use words to describe what they were thinking.

“How can we give him that chance? Do not spare any expenses and destroy his cultivation base. We cannot allow him to stabilize the tenth heavenly passage!” The Rain Clan’s elders faces were completely sinister.

They began to boss people around, and all sorts great formations were activated. Killing intent roiled and surged like a tide as it flooded towards the devilish brat. They wanted to exhaust his essence energy and disturb his state of mind.

The little guy’s brows furrowed and he stopped temporarily. He could feel the tenth heavenly passage, and he could feel his body undergoing a slow transformation. However, currently, it was too difficult for him to establish it completely.

“Do you think you guys alone can stop me?” The little guy sneered.

He hacked out with his sword, immediately causing a large area to collapse. When it collided into those symbols, the resulting explosion became even more brilliant and shocking.

However, the little guy's body also trembled. The tenth heavenly passage's energy expenditures were too great as it came into existence. With this distraction, he seemed to have affected him a bit.

The little guy thought for a bit before turning around to leave. He wanted to leave this place and find a place to peacefully pass through this crucial point to prevent avoid anything unexpected.

When the Rain Clansmen saw this, they immediately felt a shiver. They began to feel anxious, and among them, a great elder shouted, "Use the divine boat!"

With a weng sound, an azure divine boat blossomed with auspicious light. It soared into the sky and carried many experts. Symbols densely covered the area as it rushed murderously at the little guy.

"Such fast speed!" The little guy was startled. He had just turned around,

"You can't escape!" The rain clansmen took action. There was a great dreading in their hearts, because they were scared that the little guy would leave and successfully carry out a miracle. If that happened, then the Rain Clan's future problems would definitely be great.

The little guy stopped and did not continue to run. He could tell that this divine boat was not ordinary and possessed extreme speed. Should he be able to leave and find a peaceful place to seclude himself, it would be extremely troublesome if these people suddenly appeared to disturb him and create a huge problem.

Hong!

A cluster of symbols fell, carving deeply into the ground. The little guy fell back quickly and avoided this attack.

His stood far away and silently probed his body's condition. His injuries were severe, and his body was in tatters. However, it was also precisely because of this that he was able to stir up his hidden capabilities to create the tenth heavenly passage.

Following that, he began to carefully study that extremely mysterious heavenly passage. It was faintly discernible, and it was integrated into his entire body. However, it did not completely descend, and was waiting for him to seize heavenly luck.

“There’s no problems, it isn’t like how those people were discussing. The opportunity cannot be missed, and I’ve already grasped it. There’s still sufficient time.”

The little guy exhaled and did not worry any more.

He turned around and directly rushed into the pure land. He was like a demon king as he coldly said, “Since you guys want me to stay behind, then just accompany me to your end!”

However, this time he was especially careful to avoid the explosions of enemy formations. If not, he would really be in danger.

Now, every time he traveled a bit of distance, he would use the broken sword to hack apart the ground in front of him. It was like pulling apart rotten weeds as he rushed into the heart of this land.

Currently, rubble flew into the air and dust clouded the sky. Everyone was shocked; the devilish brat was trying to completely destroy the Rain Clan’s pure land, not leaving anything behind.

Armed with just a sword, the little guy rushed in alone. With a hong sound, rubble flew everywhere as he tried to destroy the final central divine formation. There were many people here.

“Kill!”

Rain Clan’s people roared loudly. Among them was a pagoda that was bright red and strangely mysterious. It was as if it emerged from an ocean of blood, carrying a bitter aura as it tried to suppress the little guy.

“En, it’s rather eccentric!”

The devilish child completely dodged it and did not make any contact. These things were extremely sinister and carried a soul destroying nature that chilled one to their bones.

“Was this the Soul Suppressing Pagoda? The one that could kill one’s real body?” The corners of the little guy’s mouth revealed a cold smile.

His two hands moved about, bringing about lightning. Endless amounts of powerful stellar qi poured down densely, causing dense mists to rise and purple multicolored light to cover this area. What was bravery? He was going to use lightning to refine that pagoda.

Radiance from the lightning poured out like water, quickly surrounding this place. A cauldron appeared once again. The little guy used the creation properties in lightning to construct this type of cauldron, preparing to collect that small red pagoda.

“Suppress!”

Everyone from the Rain Clan became anxious. They never thought that the little guy would still be so terrifying even after receiving heavy injuries. In addition, he still had to divert part of his attention to the creation of the tenth heavenly passage. They immediately became angry and nervous, because the pagoda was about to shift owners.

Everyone watching also became shocked. This youth was just too formidable. Wasn't he trying to open the tenth heavenly passage just now? Shouldn't he be distracted because of that?!

In fact, what the spectators didn't know was that the devilish child already understood his body's circumstances. There was no need for him to wholeheartedly devote himself towards breaking through.

“Kill!”

In the sky, the divine boat rushed over. Endless symbols from bone texts flickered, as if the stars in the sky were falling to earth. It was absolutely dazzling as it submerged the devilish brat.

“Now is the time!”

The little guy suddenly took action and fiercely shouted out. His entire body flourished with magnificent golden light, and a golden Kun Peng appeared. It rushed into the air with the broken sword in its mouth, colliding with that precious boat.

“Not good!”

Everyone within Rain Clan shouted. The Kun Peng was truly enormous as it spread its wings, and it was incredibly fast as the two collided.

The broken sword shone, and with a hong sound, it hacked into that divine boat.

Even though this was a rarely seen precious artifact, how could it match up to the sharpness of the broken sword? A kacha sound immediately rang out, and a portion of the divine boat was hacked off.

“We’re done for!”

The Rain Clansmen’s faces were miserable. One of their clan’s treasures were destroyed.

The only thing the people on top of the divine boat could do was abandon ship and stay away from that terrifying youth. All types of precious light flew about as the experts left the divine boat.

The little guy did not pay attention to them, because if he quickly got rid of this divine boat, then he won’t have much to worry about. He focused on seizing the Soul Suppressing Pagoda to ultimately obtain another magical artifact.

At this moment, he rushed in and unleashed a slaughter on the remaining people here. The golden wings behind his back shook, and ten people immediately exploded with a hong sound.

Aohou... The purple Suan Ni roared. It was as tall as a mountain and constructed out of lightning. It rushed in and unleashed chaos within the heart of this pure land.

Chi

With a raise of the little guy’s hand, a streak of bright red multicolored light flew out. The Soul Shattering Needle quickly pierced through the head of a great elder. He cried out miserably, and his soul was destroyed on the spot.

“Sixth grandfather!” A group of people shouted out. An important in their clan had just died, with their void body and real body passing away at the same time.

Chi

Another streak of multicolored light was released, piecing another elder between the brows. With a pu sound, his body exploded. It turned into a bloody mist before melting.

“What? Fourth grandfather!” Everyone was alarmed. Another elder had died; today’s losses far surpassed their imaginations.

The devilish brat began to massacre everyone here. He swept through everything before him, killing left and right. No one was his opponent as fresh blood died this place in red.

“Little thief, hand over your life!”

A group of people shouted in anger. They threw caution to the wind and began to fight with their lives on the line.

Hong

The Suan Ni precious technique flourished, and golden lightning ran through the pure land. When these people entered the lightning, they were immediately blown apart, turning into blood, bone fragments, and ultimately ashes.

The little guy was like an asura as he attacked in all directions. He was immersed in the blood of his enemies as he moved forward, and no one could stop him from advancing.

“Ignite the pure land, open the divine formation!” Someone shouted loudly.

The little guy felt a shiver. He roared, and his entire body began to flicker with brilliant symbols. A golden wave began to engulf forward, and with a hong sound, that person was struck to pieces.

There were others that shouted, and they were going to activate their last great formation. The devilish child had already suffered from a great mishap, so he naturally couldn’t allow them to do so. Symbols began to cover his body densely.

The great sea was immeasurable, and black waves appeared from behind his back, directly submerging the this area. A huge black fish swayed its tail, and with a honglong sound, almost a hundred people exploded.

The little guy used everything he had. The black wave was completely formed from symbols, and as he began his slaughter, it swept in all directions. Many people were directly blasted into pieces.

“I’ve spent enough time here, it’s time for me to leave.” The devilish child felt that he shouldn't stay there for too long, and that he should establish his tenth heavenly passage.

Suddenly, a wave of powerful energy poured over. The little guy sent a palm flying over, and the two collided. It was as if a volcano erupted, causing endless brilliant symbols to appear.

"What? There's someone who is a match for the devilish child!"

The outstanding heroes were absolutely shocked as they watched attentively.

It was a horned dragon whose entire body was brilliant. It was emitting a dazzling radiance that seemed as if it belonged to a deity that wanted to kill the little guy.

"Pure-blooded creature!"

"An archaic vicious beast's heir!"

Everyone began to tremble with fear. They could tell immediately that this was a pure-blooded horned dragon. Otherwise, how could it fight with the devilish brat?

"It's you!" The little guy recognized who it was. It was that horned dragon that he traded moves with in the Hundred Shattering Mountains.

"It is me. Hand over the precious bronze book and I will immediately leave!" The Horned Dragon's expression was cold. Its entire body was covered in dazzling scales, as if it was made out of immortal gold.

"There's no way you will get them." The little guy turned around. He had to establish his tenth heavenly passage, so he did not want to engage in any excessive chatter.

Hong!

The horned dragon attacked and wanted to engage in a great battle with him. It was not willing to give up, causing precious techniques to surround this area.

Weng

Suddenly, the space shook. Like a streak of lightning, a figure rushed over and blasted towards the little guy with incomparable ferocity. Its killing intent overflowed into the heavens.

With a dong sound, the heavens shook. The great earth split apart and the pure land began to crack open. This one attack was extremely terrifying, as if it was a great earthquake.

Everyone was shocked. It was just a human, and actually forcefully sent a palm at the devilish brat. The power was a bit excessive!

“How could this be? How many more human youth are there?” No one dared to believe what they were seeing.

Who was this? No one had ever seen this person before. A ninth heavenly passage human youth actually appeared! It was a bit horrifying, as such a thing was never heard of before in the past.

The little guy gave him a cold look and once again turned around. He really couldn't stay any longer, and had to open the tenth heavenly passage.

“Leave behind the precious book! If not, you won't be able to escape, and don't even think about opening the tenth heavenly passage!” The Horned Dragon blocked his way.

In addition, there was a type of unruliness to that human youth. His bronze skin shone, and he was well built. He also rushed over to kill.

“No one can stop me. Today, I will open the tenth heavenly passage and show you guys!” The little guy rushed in fiercely, and the broken sword lit up.

However, the opposing party clearly also had a supreme treasure. It was similarly terrifying and met him with equal harshness.

Hong

The Suan Ni raised its head. The devilish child released lightning, surrounding this place. Then, he personally rushed up with lightning radiance to clash with the two individuals in succession and fight within the sea of lightning.

At the same time, from within the void, that mysterious heavenly passage seemed to have become a bit more distinct as it released an immortal energy.

“What? Could it be that he is going to establish the tenth heavenly passage in the middle of battle? Too heaven defying!”

Everyone cried out in surprise, all of them revealing shocked expressions. It was as if a vast body of water was undulating and fluctuating fiercely. The heavenly passage became increasingly distinct, as if it was going to completely form.

A light weng vibration rang out. That youth was extremely terrifying, and with a precious technique activated, symbols covered the sky. It was as if it was going to suppress all directions, carrying with it an unrivalled aura as it continuously smashed into the little guy.

“If you don’t hand over the precious book, then forget the tenth heavenly passage. Even your life will be forfeit!” The Horned Dragon was callous as it attacked at full force.

“You two better not provoke me. Otherwise, I will eat you completely!” The devilish brat revealed his small snow white teeth and threatened seriously.

Chapter 215 – Great Enemy

Hong!

An extremely huge palm carried with it earthen radiance as it descended from the sky. It was as if a deity took action to smash the little guy into pieces.

It was precisely that human youth. He seemed to be about fourteen or fifteen years old, and his build was sturdy. It was as if a barbarian god descended as he exchanged over ten fierce blows with the little guy.

The devilish child cried out loudly with great bravery as they crossed swords. He was like a small deity. Even though his stature wasn't that large, he was still incomparably intimidating.

Between the two, multicolored light rushed forth and essence energy surged. Astral winds fiercely blew about, blowing the mountains until they were split open; one could see just how terrifying it was.

A battle of life and death unfolded. The little guy and the other individual were both sent flying. This type of bloody battle was extremely thrilling. Precious techniques wreaked havoc like a flood and radiance covered the sky and earth with extreme ferocity.

The cry of a dragon rang over. The other powerful enemy that was eyeing covetously pounced over murderously.

The horned dragon was powerful and sturdy. Its scales shone with dazzling brilliance, and its body seemed like it was forged out of immortal gold. As it rushed past, it smashed apart several boulders that weighed over tens of thousands of jin.

Its body was extremely powerful. It was an archaic vicious beast's heir to begin with, and together with its race's powerful body, it rarely met a well-matched adversary.

Peng

The Horned Dragon and the little guy collided. It first sent a claw into his fist, and then it turned around and whipped its tail. Its thick and long body was dazzling as it swept over.

The little guy dodged. The dragon tail sent enormous stones that ranged from tens to thousands of jin into the air. They exploded in the air, causing silt and stones to tumble around. Lightning flashed and thunder roared; it was extremely terrifying.

When the little guy raised his hand, lightning immediately began to dance about. A brilliant purple sea of lightning appeared, smashing into the horned dragon ferociously.

A hong sound rang out. The horned dragon avoided it, however, a mountain behind him was struck instead, blasting apart on the spot and turning into dust. In addition, the area it struck was charred black.

The huge streak of lightning curled about the ruins and created chi la sounds. The outstanding heroes watching were all stupefied. The devilish child's body was in tatters, and he bore heavy injuries, yet he was still able to put on such a display of divine might.

The Horned Dragon's pupils were cold. He rotated his sparkling and brilliant body and charged over once again. The dragon's body coiled about, wielding with its movements the astral winds, causing the world to shake.

Brilliant symbols decorated its body. Those were true dragon markings, and contained within them were profound mysteries. When its precious technique was released, there would be tens of thousands of multicolored light streaks.

The chanting of deities could vaguely be heard. It shook the nine heavens and resonated in all directions. This sound began to grow stronger and rush towards the little guy like a great ripple.

Giant boulders weighing up to hundreds of thousands jin were smashed apart one after another. When that dragon cry arrived, the ripple would brush over them and turn it into powder.

The little guy shivered and began to carefully proceed. The bone text written within the True Primordial Record surfaced in his mind. The ordinary bone text began to transform miraculously, containing within them a supreme profoundness.

The devilish child's expression was serious. Splendid symbols flickered in front of his body, rapidly arranging themselves into a golden sea. With a honglong sound, it collided with the ripple created by the horned dragon. Both attacks simultaneously collapsed.

The outstanding heroes were all shocked. With these types of existences fighting, it wasn't abnormal at all for normal people to feel despair. After reaching the limits of the heavenly passage realm, how could other people be their opponent? If they participated, it would only result in their death.

The little guy began to fight with the horned dragon. They both rushed forward and collided repeatedly. In the end, both were sent flying far away.

The devilish child wiped away a strand of blood from the corner of his lips. The light in his eyes were clear. He received heavy injuries after fighting off the deity's decree, and later on, he was hurt again by the explosion of the Rain Clan's formation. His body was covered in many wounds, and his body looked like it was on the verge of breaking.

And at this moment, he was fighting with a mysterious youth as well as an Archaic vicious beast heir. Their exchanges were fierce, and after receiving these attacks, his injuries naturally worsened, causing blood to flow.

However, the savage child was still fairly savage and not scared at all. He rushed toward the horned dragon several times while grinding his small shining white teeth, about to bite down.

"My body is seriously injured, so I cannot use all of my strength to fight with them. If this continues, things will turn out really badly." The little said to himself.

There were ten slits that were especially prominent on his body, and they intersected each other. Blood were flowing from them, and if this continued, it seemed like his body was going to be torn apart.

“Hand over the Archaic divine book!” The human youth shouted before rushing over.

With a honglong sound, the earthen yellow mist began to surge. His palm seemed like a mountain as it dropped down, and it quickly expanded, covering the heavens. A hazy Bi'an rushed out.

This was his precious technique, and it was finally revealed, erupting from the mist. Light overflowed into the heavens as it engulfed the world.

The Bi'an was as terrifying as a deity. It towered like a mountain, and even though its body had the form of a lion, it had a dragon horn. Its body was a golden color and covered in dragon scales. A terrifying aura was being emitted.

The little guy released a long roar, and his pupils were emitting precious light. A purple-colored Suan Ni rushed out from behind his back, similarly tall like a mountain as it rushed towards that Bi'an. Lightning curled about, and the two fiercely fought fought.

Everyone was incomparably shaken as they watched these two Archaic vicious beasts fight. The rivers and mountains were annihilated, the heaven and earth torn, and even the sky trembled.

At this time, the little guy also rushed up and personally fought with that youth. The two Archaic vicious beasts fought with each other as blood scattered out from between them.

“You won't be able to keep the precious copper book!” The mysterious youth shouted.

He was extremely powerful. He had beast skin clothes on, with his shoulders and arms bare. His body was of a bronze color, and it was robust and sturdy. It was as if a barbarian deity descended onto this world.

Hong!

The little guy responded with a fist. Despite his body's injuries, he was still just as fierce as before as he struck the youth. He used actions to explain himself.

Both of their bodies trembled, and then their bodies emitted light. Symbols interleaved across the sky with such brilliance that it was difficult for people to open their eyes.

Ah...

The youth roared loudly, and his pupils widened. The other party was heavily wounded, and his age was much lower than his, yet he could still similarly fight back. He wasn't any bit inferior to him, making him feel rather unsatisfied.

Weng

The youth swung his leg, and it was like a mace as it swung out, bringing with it wuwu sounds as it smashed into the air. Symbols surged like an ocean, and it was like a humanoid vicious beast, excessively powerful.

The little guy soared upwards and avoided this attack. At the same time, he also swung out his leg high into the air before bringing it down. His right leg swept towards his head, and a flourishing golden light submerged the area in front of him. Peng!

This youth used an arm to block this kick, and at the same time, the other hand reached out and grabbed his ankle. He wanted to capture the little guy and then hack him down.

His black hair was thick and his eyes were bright and penetrating. As they opened and closed, electricity would be released. There was a terrifying type of unruliness to him.

Normally, who dared to fight so fiercely with the devilish child? The mysterious youth accomplished this, and not only did he fight him in such close distance, he was even going to hack down the little guy alive!

Heng!

The little guy snorted coldly. His right leg firmly struck down on his arm, its force sinking downwards. His other leg shot towards the head, and his entire body pressed down.

“Break open!”

The mysterious youth raised his hand to block the foot. Both had a heavenly collapsing might, and after catching his leg, he was once again going to strike him down.

Hong!

The little guy's legs both trembled, taking root within the void. They were like boulders, and couldn't be moved. At the same time, both of his palms burned with magnificent golden light. A Kun Peng was vaguely visible as they struck towards the youth's head.

Ah... The youth roared, and his aura changed. White waves of energy overflowed into the heavens as he released the little guy's foot. A white tiger appeared to block the Kun Peng.

After that, the two individuals' bodies also collided. With a honglong sound, waves poured out like that of an ocean, submerging this land.

The outstanding heroes were shaken. These two were so fierce, and were unexpectedly so unyielding. They had just made their moves, yet such aggressiveness was displayed, collapsing this pure land.

The Rain Clan's pure land was completely split apart. Now with this type of attack happening, it was in an even worse state. Broken walls stood, and stones rolled on the ground; this place turned into a silent and dried up piece of land.

Hong!

Finally, the little guy pushed down this youth, dropping down from the sky and smashing into the great earth. The ground immediately cracked open, causing stones to fly into the sky and dust to fill the air.

A huge cavity appeared at that location. The devilish brat went mad and pressured his opponent like a small vicious beast. They fiercely exchanged moves and fought at a close distance, both of them dyed in blood.

The ground blasted apart. The devilish child's entire body was covered in blood, because the divine decree as well as other factors caused him to bear heavy injuries. Currently, more than ten wounds became even more serious.

Meanwhile, the youth that had unknown origins was also in a terrible state. His arm had blood trickling from it, and his chest was almost blasted open, similarly receiving great injuries.

Hong!

The two once again attacked each other, and the little guy seemed to have turned him over. Then, his leg swept out, sending that youth flying.

The mysterious youth avoided crucial damage, but his face was still struck. He was in scorching pain as blood tricked out.

This was not enough to decide the victor. However, even if you hit a person, how could you hit their face? This minor injury immediately made him go crazy and act even more violent as he rushed towards the devilish brat.

Hong!

They fiercely crossed swords, and the battle became more fierce. In the end, blood began to drip out from his wounds, and his little face seemed rather pale. With a pu sound, he spat out a mouthful of blood.

Meanwhile, blood also began to flow from that mysterious youth's mouth.

They separated and stood away from each other, watching each other carefully.

With a hong sound, the little guy's surroundings was in pieces as magma surged. He was trying to forcefully break open the tenth heavenly passage and transform within the great battle. He was pushing himself to the limit to advance.

The reasoning behind his actions was because he saw that it was too difficult for him to escape. Two great foes stood in his way, and since he was suffering from serious injuries, he had to go through another bloody battle.

With a weng sound, the horned dragon rushed over and attacked the little guy. It did not give him the opportunity to have a breather, and even less so the chance to open the tenth heavenly passage. It wanted to seize that bronze book and gain a heavenly opportunity.

The little guy met it head on and once again began to fiercely exchange attacks. During the course of these events, his tenth heavenly passage continuously flickered, yet it refused to truly appear.

The circumstances were far from reassuring, and the devilish was in a perilous situation. Even though he was extremely strong, his body was after all in tatters. If he continued to be attacked by two experts that were like heirs to deities, then he might truly fall.

"You've made me angry! I'm going to eat both of you!" The devilish brat widened his eyes and stared at them furiously.

The current situation was extremely bad, and he felt as if his hands and feet were tied against these formidable opponents. His body's condition was not good, making it difficult for him to go all out.

The little guy began to fight with the Horned Dragon, rushing towards its back. The Horned Dragon turned around with the flexibility of a snake. Its body seemed like it was forged from immortal gold, shining with matchless brilliance.

“Hand it over!”

The Horned Dragon shouted, and with a wenglong sound, its dazzling body began to brandish about. It unexpectedly wrapped itself around the little guy like a giant snake around a mountain, binding with increasing tightness!

Hou...

The Horned Dragon opened its mouth, revealing its bloody mouthful of white teeth. He chomped down on him, as if he was going to devour him in one bite.

The little guy's eyes emitted light. He also opened his mouth, directly biting into the Horned Dragon's flesh. With a kengqiang sound, the scales shattered, with over ten scales directly being torn off by him.

Pu

Blood rushed forth. The devilish brat swallowed the dragon blood in huge mouthfuls, seemingly a bit savage. The outstanding heroes watching were all stupefied; who was the Horned Dragon and who was the human? Why did it seem like it was the other way around?

The Horned Dragon was in intense pain, and he was also overwhelmed by shock. He had just opened his mouth and wanted to swallow this human youth, yet he was the one bitten instead.

Ao... It was furious as it swooped over. Its huge mouth was opened to bite the devilish child.

Hong

A Kun Peng soared upwards and enlarged. It was dazzling as it rushed towards the Horned Dragon's mouth. It was startled, and quickly abandoned the devilish brat to soar into the sky.

With a weng sound, the little guy was flung away. In the end, he began to suck in, causing a brilliant streak of blood to blossom from the Horned Dragon, entering his mouth.

Under normal circumstances, it was vicious beasts that ate humans. Now, it was the opposite. The little guy smacked his lips as if it was rather delicious. Just now, he bit off a chunk of the Horned Dragon's flesh.

"It's fragrant and sweet, worthy of being precious flesh!" In front of his body, the tenth heavenly passage once again appeared. Divine light surged, and auspicious multicolored light shone brilliantly. However, it was still not completely established.

"What do I do? Can I let them combine forces? Should I let them come at me at the same time and open the tenth heavenly passage to undergo an extreme transformation? If I can do that, then pushing back these experts wouldn't be an issue any more." The little guy said to himself.

Chapter 216 – A Glimmer of Hope at the Darkest Hour

“Have any of you heard of such a youth in the wasteland, fourteen or fifteen years old, in the heavenly passage realm be so unrivalled?”

“Why isn’t he well known?”

The spectators were all amazed. The unruly youth actually possessed such strength, yet was never heard of before. He was excessively powerful, and it would have made more sense if his actions shook the world.

Everyone became suspicious. Where did he come from? It was most likely either the Archaic divine mountain some ancient forbidden land secluded from the rest of the world. Otherwise, how could they not know about him?

“Maybe he’s not someone from the great wastelands at all and came from a great region!”

There were people who came up with these speculations. Such a thing had happened in the past, where a genius approaching the limits of cultivation crossed over to this region and conquered every direction for the sake of breaking through.

It was to a point where there were other unrivalled geniuses that crossed over into new regions in search of new opportunities to reach a higher level. Things like the copper precious book were what they hunted after.

While people were trying to guess at his identity with bewilderment, the battle reached its climax. It was turning more and more fierce, throwing the heaven and earth in disorder.

Great heavenly bodies began to move about one after another. That human youth was extremely terrifying. His two palms seemed to guide the sun and moon, as if he was a divine king. His entire body was brilliant, and his bronze-colored body was packed with explosive energy.

Everyone became overwhelmed by shock. What kind of might was this? He could actually control the heaven and earth! His movements truly shocked one’s soul.

Hong!

The little guy met him face on. His palm slammed out, directly striking one of the great stars into pieces. He advanced bravely and began to fiercely exchange moves. The two both fought while risking life and limb, causing a bloody war to break out in the pure land.

A dragon cry shook the nine heavens. The Horned Dragon coiled and twisted about, causing the mountains to immediately be destroyed. He swooped over while surging with terrifying and brilliant symbols, also joining the battle.

The little guy's entire body was covered in blood. From entering this world until now, this was the battle that was the most dangerous, as he could fall at any time. These two were both great enemies that established nine heavenly passages. They were truly formidable opponents in both name and reality. He, on the other hand had a body that was suffering from great injuries, making his situation rather grim.

"Why can't I establish it yet?"

After fighting like this, the devilish brat also began to feel a bit upset and scared. If this continued, then he would undoubtedly die as soon as he became slightly careless. Moreover, his body's condition was getting increasingly ruined. He couldn't establish the tenth heavenly passage no matter what he did, and he was running out of tricks. It was to the point where he no longer cared and used every last bit of essence energy to charge through.

He finally understood why even heavenly ranked vicious beasts found it difficult to establish the tenth heavenly passage. It was simply too hard, and was fundamentally different from the ninth heavenly passage.

This wasn't something that a treasure could help with, as it was difficult to draw help from other objects. It was something that one had to personally strive for, seizing the natural force between the heaven and earth to break through. There was no better way.

"Why can't I do it?" The little guy was furious. He could clearly feel that it was about to appear in front of him. It was just missing that tiny bit.

If this continued, he truly would be missing the tenth heavenly passage by such a tiny bit, losing out on this great opportunity.

“Just open!”

At this moment, the little guy roared angrily. On one end he was fighting a great battle with powerful enemies with blood trickling out from his mouth, and on the other, he was sparing no effort to stir up the tenth heavenly passage and open it.

Peng

He was attacked by that unruly youth, suffering a palm to his back. He was sent out horizontally, smashing apart a huge boulder. His entire body smashed into the dust, blood covering his entire body.

The Horned Dragon swooped down and wanted to add another blow with his claw to firmly decide this battle and steal the precious book.

The little guy was furious, and he had never been struck while down since he was born. Today, however, he suffered misfortune again and again, and he was going berserk. However, he could feel that his back was split open and blood was flowing out, exhausting too much of his essence energy.

In the end, he controlled himself. He shifted his body to another position, as he did not want to throw away his life while fighting a bloody battle with these two creatures. He began to fight while retreating.

“Let’s take some chances and test something out. I’ll borrow their power to break through!”

He always had this idea, but did not dare to put it into action because it was too dangerous. However, now that things reached such a stage, he was truly out of options.

The little guy’s body shone, and golden ripples began to appear one after another. They began to slowly rotate to devour worldly essence. It was extremely mysterious.

They fought fiercely, and the little guy made mental preparations. Finally, he found a good opportunity and shouted loudly. He forcefully tried to break through and open the tenth heavenly passage.

“You still aren’t willing to hand over the precious book? Forget about establishing your heavenly passage, you won’t even be able to keep your life!” The Horned Dragon shouted and swooped down.

In reality, he was extremely nervous himself. Even those heavenly ranked vicious beasts found it difficult to open their tenth heavenly passage. He was just a human, yet was actually able to peer into such a realm. This type of feeling made him feel extremely restless.

One of the Horned Dragon's large claws dropped down while emitting a dazzling precious splendor. It was as if the sun had exploded, and symbols were everywhere.

This time, the little guy did not dodge, and instead directly met him face on. He reached out his hand, and with a peng sound, he grabbed the Horned Dragon's claw. He exerted himself to pull it closer, activating the Golden Ripple Technique to absorb its divine force.

Meanwhile, that unruly youth also rushed over murderously, pushing the sun, moon, and stars as he advanced. It was as if a divine king descended into this world as he directly hacked over.

Hong

The little guy used his other hand to stop him. With a peng sound, he caught his hand, and golden symbols similarly appeared to frantically devour his divine force.

The Golden Spiral Rippling technique was the Kun Peng's precious technique. Its power was inexhaustible, and could dissolve the attacks of one's enemies and refine their divine might, channeling it into their own bodies instead. It was a truly a unique and profound mystery.

However, it was still situational. If the opponent was powerful enough and decided to use all of their strength, it was simply impossible to refine such powerful essence energy. Trying to do so would destroy one's body, leaving behind only a corpse.

"You're courting death!"

The Horned Dragon and unruly youth both sneered. Their origins were great, so how could they not see through the profoundness of this precious technique. They fiercely activated their divine strength to end the little guy's life.

"Open!"

Right at this moment, the little guy roared loudly. Not only did he not protect himself, he even guided the two waves of power into his body, mixing them into his own essence energy and control. He wanted to forcefully break open the tenth heavenly passage.

At the same time, the nine heavenly passages around his body burst with light, connecting the heaven and earth. Magma surged, and incomparably brilliant light flourished, resonating and helping him link together the tenth heavenly passage.

A terrifying fluctuation of energy was produced from this place, flattening the ruin and surging violently like turbulent waves. The spectating heroes' faces immediately changed as they quickly retreated.

Nearby, rock turned into powder, and mountains were splitting apart with kacha sounds. The space itself seemed like it was being distorted, creating an absolutely shocking scene.

The little guy cried out in pain. It felt as if his bones were being shattered and his soul was being hacked apart in a never-ending loop of torment.

It was as if he was placed in some type of unbearable purgatory. The devilish child howled, but even though it was excruciatingly difficult, it was something that he had already decided to go through with. However, the tormenting he was currently going through was truly a type of torture.

The tenth heavenly passage suddenly began to fluctuate between being clear and indistinct. It continuously flickered, making people feel rather anxious. Waves of auspicious multicolored light was released in all directions.

“He is trying to borrow his opponent’s power to establish his own heavenly passage and undergo transformation!”

Everyone sucked in a cold breath of air. This child was just too daring! A single mistake would cause his body and soul to be entirely extinguished. In addition, how could his opponents willingly go through such a thing?

Sure enough, the unruly youth and Horned Dragon were both absolutely merciless. They fiercely stirred up their strength to break apart his body. The wave of divine force immediately erupted, rushing out from his body in an irregular manner.

Ah... The little guy shouted out loud and continuously coughed out blood. There were cracks all over his body, as if he was about to explode.

“Let me open it!” He roared in anger. His essence energy turned into a lump of hazy light as he forcefully conducted the two individuals’ dominating strength to rush the tenth heavenly passage.

The devilish brat never gave up. Even after reaching such a dangerous state, he still did not let up and still wanted to borrow their power and thoroughly refine it into his body.

The tenth heavenly passage was terrifying. At this time, auspicious multicolored lights were emitted strand after strand to devour the essence energy from all directions. The divine forces that were being lead by the little guy were completely absorbed.

“Not good!”

For the first time, the unruly youth and the Horned Dragon’s expressions changed. They noticed that the situation exceeded what they had predicted, and was no longer in their control. Their essence energy flowed out like an unending stream towards the devilish child’s body, and then went towards the establishment of the tenth heavenly passage.

Their bodies lit up. They trembled, resonating with the technique. The most terrifying part was that they felt as if they had sunk into a swamp. They couldn’t move a muscle, completely locked in place.

“What?! Is he actually going to succeed?”

“Stop him, he absolutely can’t be allowed to refine the force of the world to establish the tenth heavenly passage!”

The Rain Clan’s pure land was in ruins, and the the ones defending this place were wiped clean. However, there was still the Tuoba Clan, Western Tomb Beast Mountain, four great families and others. Many people rushed forward.

However, before they could come close, they were attacked by a undulating wave. Their bodies were shaken until they began to cough out loud mouthfuls of blood. They couldn’t even take half a step nearer, and an strange domain was established here.

At this moment, even though the little guy was suffering from an excruciating pain that felt as if his entire body was being broken and reforged, he was still feeling rather excited. He was going to establish the tenth heavenly passage with the strength of three.

Everything was lining up, and it seemed like he was going to succeed!”

Time continued to pass by bit by bit. The little guy’s entire body shone, as if his body was trying to hide a small sun. It was incomparably dazzling, as if a deity was entering the world of mortals.

Honglonglong

It was as if the great Dao was rumbling. The mysterious symbols around him circled about, and the other heavenly passages appeared together. They released essence energy, nourishing the tenth heavenly passage together.

This place was extremely auspicious and holy. The events were progressing smoothly in the right direction.

After two hours, the sound of an explosion rang out. The little guy shouted loudly and began to exhaust everything to give the energy in his body a final push. If he succeeded, then the tenth heavenly passage would arrive, and if he failed, then there was a chance for him to die.

The unruly youth and Horned Dragon both shouted loudly as well, because this was the point where the essence energy being plundered from their bodies was at its greatest, almost drying.

Hong

A huge sound was transmitted. Heaven and earth became incomparably brilliant as endless brilliance scattered down. The tenth heavenly passage gushed with auspicious multicolored light, and it seemed like it was about to succeed.

Suddenly, the little guy's body shook violently. He continuously coughed out blood and was sent flying horizontally. There were wounds everywhere on his body, as if it was on the verge of breaking down.

The tenth heavenly passage grew dim, immediately becoming indistinct. It once again concealed itself within the void.

The little guy fell into the dust. The slits on his body were terrifying, and his injuries were at a critical point. If he was even struck by someone once, he would definitely be broken into pieces and turn into a corpse.

The devilish brat clenched his teeth. Without saying a word, he circulated the true primordial record to nurse his body. His face was completely emotionless!

It was a terrifying defeat. He had never suffered such a thing before, moreover one so thorough. The tenth heavenly passage was already almost established, yet it was broken off in the end, leaving his body on the edge of disappearing.

The little guy was stupefied. He endured the pain and silently tried to heal himself.

Not far off, the other two individuals also suffered from the attack. They both coughed out large amounts of blood while lying on the ground. Their bodies were covered in blood as they shook, but their injuries were definitely better than the little guy's.

This region became deathly quiet. Everyone was stunned. It was clearly going to succeed, yet why did it suddenly fail?

"The tenth heavenly passage is difficult to establish after all. No wonder even the Taotie, Wu, and other true descendants can't necessarily succeed. It really is a rarely seen thing."

The people all sighed, because the tenth heavenly passage was too heavenly defying. Regardless of how exceptional one's natural talents were, at the final juncture, they still had to experience dejection and bitterness, to a point even their life couldn't be preserved.

Hahaha...

A few people laughed loudly. Tuoba Family, Western Tomb Beast Mountain and the other great powers all released their pent up breath. Following that, many figures quickly rushed forward together to get rid of the little guy.

The little guy suddenly jumped. He did not feel any attachment to this place as he turned around. His speed was extremely fast as he fled towards the limits of this great earth.

“Chase!”

How could these great powers give up this chance? The devilish child was injured and dying, so it was the perfect time to kill him. There were some that quickly reported to their superiors to prepare magical objects like the Soul Shattering Needle and Soul Suppressing Pagoda.

At the same time the Unruly Youth and the Horned Dragon also soared up. They followed and chased after the little guy's traces.

As a result, the little guy was in a rare silent state. He fled far away from a certain direction, because he saw the purple-clothed girl. That was a 'vicious beast' that was quite difficult to deal with.

At the same time, he relied on his spiritual instincts to avoid wave after wave of terrifying fluctuations. He directly broke into a primitive forest to flee for his life.

An great and unprecedented chase unfolded, throwing the entire heavenly paradise into chaos!

News traveled everywhere, and a tempest was raised even within the real world. Everyone was shocked!

First of all, the Rain Clan's pure land was exterminated, pulled up by the roots. Roughly eighty percent of the experts guarding the place were killed, and among them, three great elders' real bodies met disaster as well.

Just how shocking were these news?! The one that caused this was merely a single youth! Just by himself, he rushed into the Rain Clan's pureland and unleashed an unstoppable massacre!

Moreover, he even ate the decree of a deity. This made people flabbergasted, as his actions were truly unbelievable.

These events made Stone Country boil with commotion. Everyone was discussing this, making it difficult for the Rain Clan to raise their heads.

Moreover, this child actually established the tenth heavenly passage, only when he was about to succeed, there was a sudden disaster. He failed at the last hurdle, causing even greater shock and astonishment.

The entire great wasteland was abuzz as everyone discussed these events.

The appearance of the Horned Dragon and the existence of the unruly youth were all mixed within this incident.

"Go and hunt down the devilish child!"

This order was sent out by many different great powers, such as the four great families, Rain Clan, and Tuoba family. A great disorder was staged within the Void God Realm.

Every passage was sealed off. The various powers joined hands to search for the little guy. They wanted to end him in this world, not giving him the opportunity to survive.

It was obvious that they had already prepared demonic artifacts. Even though they were precious and incomparably rare, they all took them out today. They couldn't rest at ease as long as the devilish brat was still alive.

This was a place of bloody rain and foul winds, and was even more so a place of chaos. The entire heavenly passage was in a state of unrest, encountering a great calamity.

The little guy travelled for several days without sleep or rest as he continuously fled for his life, no one knowing just how many times he had been struck. The great battle continued for days on end, covering his entire body in blood.

The worst part was that he encountered the Horned Dragon and that human youth again, the repeated battles worsened his injuries.

The most terrifying part was that the golden passageway was sealed off. There were countless experts guarding it, making it so that he had no way of retreating and leaving this domain.

These circumstances had already persisted for ten days. The wounds on the devilish child's body were now even deeper, and his body was in a worn-out state. He could die at any time, and was barely holding on.

Finally, he managed to escape another chase. He hid inside one of the caves within the mountain range and silently tended to his wounds. Time was limited, and he had to seize every second he had. Otherwise, the enemy would arrive again.

During these past few days, he was always reflecting on why the tenth heavenly passage failed. He just couldn't figure it out, making him feel even more troubled.

That day, he merged the strength from three experts at the ninth heavenly passage stage, yet he still failed to break through. How could that not make him dispirited? He came to the conclusion that even if he tried to peacefully break through alone without any disturbance, it would still not be any better.

After all, that was the strength of three people!

"This fellow is too crazy. Father said that there had never been a human who dared to act so recklessly before. How could one open the tenth heavenly passage within the Void God Realm?" Huo Ling'er furrowed her brows as she spoke.

The Fire Nation emperor had said that as soon as one of those pure-blooded creatures from the Archaic divine mountain gained such a heaven defying opportunity, they would immediately invite a supreme ancient existence to protect them. They would never try to do it alone.

Several days passed. The little guy was still fleeing for his life, and in addition, the injuries on his body reached a crucial point, almost as if they were beyond a point of restoration.

His body was in tatters. After all these years, he had encountered countless great battles, yet he narrowly escaped all of them. Now, however, he felt like he couldn't hold on any longer.

"I really can't accept this." The little guy said to himself. He did not believe that he would be killed, and even now he did not give up. He continued to treat his body and ponder over the tenth heavenly passage event.

Hong!

Another great battle broke out. The enemies caught up, and the little guy began to risk his life again. Blood dyed his clothing, and his entire body was bright red as he once again escaped.

This time, after he fled, he collapsed within the primitive mountain forest. His body was torn everywhere, as if even a gust of wind could break him into pieces. Blood dyed this grassland red.

"This is the final opportunity. I still must break through!" The devilish brat stubbornly stated. He still had not given up.

It was because the tenth heavenly passage had been there all along. Even though it was rather indistinct, it was still circling around his body.

He completely cleared his mind and no longer cared whether or not enemies were coming. His entire mind was empty, temporarily forgetting everything.

His injured body was in tatters, and his essence energy seemed like it was almost completely exhausted, like a lamp burning out the last of its oil. As a result, it was extremely tiresome this time, and it was quite possible that he might die in the middle of breaking through.

Time passed by bit by bit, and the little guy persevered on. The small oil lamp burned within him, guiding him forward; he was not willing to give up.

Finally, he exhausted his final bit of strength. The oil within the lamp had dried up, and his body became dim. His body no longer produced a sliver of strength.

At this moment, he was like a corpse, an empty shell without a soul. There was no essence nourishing his body, and he was about to die.

Hong!

Suddenly, a wave of powerful energy flooded over. As the last bit the oil lamp dried up, the potential concealed within the deepest depths of his soul was released, rushing out like a vast sea.

His entire body shone, and his injuries quickly healed. In addition, an expanse of divine light surged, and with a honglong sound, it bore through the void, linking up the tenth heavenly passage.

Strand after strand of auspicious multicolored light flowed out, as if a world of immortals was opened!

He was on the verge of succeeding! If nothing unexpected happened, then he would have the tenth heavenly passage!

“My body died here and then was reborn. My body was broken, and every last bit of essence energy within my body was exhausted. It was as if everything was emptied, starting over again from nothing.”

At this time, the little guy completely understood and comprehended everything.

Since ancient times, what every supreme expert went through to establish the tenth heavenly passage was a bit different. He, in particular, actually used this method to break through, standing apart from all others.

“I lost everything... and therefore I transcended.” The little guy said to himself

Immortal light appeared strand after strand as the tenth heavenly passage expanded. It seemed like it was going to completely emerge as it gushed out propitious multicolored light, nourishing his body!

Chapter 217 – Tenth Heavenly Passage

The forest was peaceful. All of the birds and beasts hid themselves within the land, their hearts frightened. They were all staring at a certain direction with respect as they felt incomparable fear.

Within the depths of the forest, the grass seemed to have been dyed red by blood. The little guy lied on the ground, his entire body in a terrible shape as wounds scarred his body. Just now, he was already on his deathbed, yet currently, everything was turning around.

The tenth heavenly passage was established, and strand after strand of multicolored light appeared. They were auspicious and holy, nourishing his flesh and healing his body.

This time, his injuries were truly severe. Under normal circumstances, he would have undoubtedly died without any chance of surviving. However, right when the fuel within him dried up, life force once again appeared, creating a reversal.

Only by overcoming a trial like this could he survive and preserve his life.

The tenth heavenly passage surged with divine multicolored light, as if it was created from the divine chains made from the law and order of this world. Streak after streak of the multicolored light flowed down from the void before entering the little guy's body.

This was a beneficial cycle, and everything was developing in a good direction.

At this moment, his body's hidden capabilities surged to the surface. It was as if a dried up graveyard suddenly budded with soft shoots and flourished with vitality. A type of newborn force was born, allowing him to be revived.

His damaged body was being nourished like a barren field being irrigated. Life force gradually grew more abundant within his body, and he was no longer deathly still.

Honglonglong

Within the little guy's body, waves of powerful potential surged like a great river through the passage running to the tenth heavenly passage, making it truly appear and descend from the void.

This was the seizing of natural force between the heaven and earth. Ordinarily, those that opened the fourth heavenly passage could already enter a greater cultivation realm. However, the little guy advanced soundly through the ninth heavenly passage without ending this great boundary of cultivation.

Noise continuously rang out as the tenth heavenly passage arrived. It seemed like it was more or less established, and as strands of magical energy was emitted, a type of immortal aura proliferated.

Being able to reach such a level was truly not easy to accomplish. The little guy's body was falling apart, and even his essence energy had practically dried up. He practically had fallen already.

He had already experienced death once, and only when his body was emptied did an opportunity to live appeared. Exhausting all of his essence energy and starting from nothing; this was a complete rebirth!

To die after birth, and then to be born again from death, how could a normal person endure such a thing?

This road was the most difficult one. Even descendants of divine creatures found it difficult to establish the tenth heavenly passage. Even if they had natural talents, there was a chance for them to fall at the final juncture and pass away.

During the past half month, the little guy suffered a torment that was difficult to put into words. Through the defeat, bitterness and suffering he held onto hope. He endured a hell-like torture, and he was able to finally hold out.

In the current age, the tenth heavenly passage was practically unprecedented. Even the human race's ancient texts seemed evasive on this topic, as if this was some kind of taboo. There weren't any concrete written reports of anyone succeeding.

Finally, he successfully established it. Nothing unforeseen happened.

The other nine heavenly passages began to revolve, circling around this tenth heavenly passage. Rather than mixing it, it began to carry out a refinement. Dazzling brilliance erupted with matchless brightness, as if ten suns were covering the skies.

Finally, a violent trembling could be heard. The tenth heavenly passage pushed itself into the other heavenly passages, rearranging how they were ordered. It appeared right above the little guy's head, residing at the highest point as it commanded the other heavenly passages.

This 'volcano' seemed particularly powerful, both imposing and majestic. As the 'magma' flowed down, it surge with the most vibrant life force.

On top of the little guy's body, those wounds closed one after another, and his broken body seemed to be nourished. It then continued to flow, initiating a restoration.

This was a powerful fluctuation, engulfing the forest like a hurricane. The depths of the mountain were even trembling, as if a huge sea was flooding this place in huge waves.

The beasts of the field and the birds of the air became even more terrified, as they hid within the earth they trembled with fear.

The little guy sat there with his eyes closed as he nursed his body. Blood stopped flowing from his body, and as a precious light scattered down, his wounds began to wriggle about before quickly forming scars.

Above his head, the tenth heavenly passage was bright and resplendent as it scattered down its dazzling divine splendor. At this moment, even the sun in the sky seemed to have dimmed, allowing it to become the only one between heaven and earth.

Within the tenth heavenly passage, strands of magical light poured down like a waterfall, all it irrigating the little guy's body. It made him seem crystalline and transparent as all of his wounds were healed.

A hazy mist enveloped this area, making the mountain forest seem incomparably mysterious. The little guy was like a god as he received the heavenly passages' nourishment, continuously undergoing transformations.

The previously deathly aura dispersed, and the bloody mist could no longer be seen. All that remained now was an exuberant life force, the force behind the creation of all existences. It was the feeling of the beginning of a world, full of hope and expectation.

At this moment, the surrounding grass were all growing, sprouting out. Branches extended, continuously growing out. Even the few seeds that hit the ground quickly began to take root and bud.

Within the divine light and mist, the plants were just like the little guy, undergoing growth.

The tenth heavenly passage was dazzling as it seized the luck between the great heaven and earth to nourish the devilish child's body. At this time, his body's scars were already quickly coming off, and even the bloody traces had disappeared.

Not much time had passed, yet his body was already sparkling and emitting light. There were no more gaps in his body, nor were there any bloody traces. His body was now completely intact and in excellent shape, and in addition, essence energy continuously flowed into his body from the void.

Very quickly, a circle of light appeared within the forest, and the little guy was wrapped up inside. This was a complete rebirth; he was no longer the same, and a transformation had taken place.

The life force within his body was abundant, and in the end, a huge sea surged, breaking through his original realm. It was so powerful that all the birds and beasts here tremble as they hid within this place.

Finally, the little guy completely recovered. His wounds were healed to the greatest state, and his body was far more powerful than before. He truly reached the peak of this realm.

The tenth heavenly passage was opened to its greatest extent, and it stood above all the others. It could look down on this level, and force back anyone!

Without knowing how much time had passed, the little guy opened his eyes again. It was as if two streaks of lightning sliced through the void. The entire forest became brilliant; it was extremely astonishing!

Only at this point did all of the transformations formally conclude. He felt completely different from before, as if he could truly look down on everyone and stand apart from other outstanding geniuses.

Ten heavenly passages began to converge before slowly retreating. They concealed themselves within the void and disappeared.

Within the forest, the terrifying fluctuations moved outwards like tides before slowly calming down. The area was no longer oppressive or intimidating, and it became rather peaceful.

Everything came to a conclusion. The various vicious birds and ferocious beasts no longer trembled. They quickly got up and fled, as if they no longer had to pay their respects and were allowed to leave.

The little guy stood up, no longer feeling any negative emotions. His pupils were clear, and his mind was peaceful. Divine multicolored light and auspicious energy moved within his entire body. He was in high spirits, and as he looked into the distance, he felt as if he returned to his true self.

At this very moment, the outside world was extremely noisy. The outstanding heroes simultaneously moved, the great powers took action, and many experts were sent out. They were searching for the end of the devilish brat, wanting to kill him.

During this past month, regardless of whether it was the outside world or the Void God Realm, they were both boiling with commotion as people discussed this. Experts were roaming about, all of them taking action.

“This youth is truly terrifying. He’s clearly seriously injured, yet he could still flee from death and not get hunted down.”

“He clearly can’t hold on anymore. If nothing unforeseen happens, then he’ll be struck down in these next few days. His body is about to fall apart.”

The devilish brat’s goal of opening the tenth heavenly passage affected everyone’s state of mind. The Western Tomb Beast Mountain, Tuoba Family, and Rain Clan and roughly ten other sects all didn’t want him to succeed.

During these past few days, the outside world was in an uproar that would no calm down. Ten heavenly passages was simply a legend. If he succeeded, then that would mean that this youth was going to rise abruptly to power!

The devilish brat failed in front of their eyes, yet it still made people feel uncomfortable. Even those great powers that bore no grudges against him were nervously keeping a close eye on the situation.

“Relax, the Western Tomb Beast Mountain had already spread the news that the tenth heavenly passage isn’t easy to establish. In addition, it is only a one time fleeting chance. He has already lost it!”

During the same day, Tuoba Family, Rain Clan and others released this type of news. It made everyone who was watching this affair tremble.

Ordinary people weren’t aware that the Archaic divine mountain definitely understood the tenth heavenly passage. A supreme expert like this appeared before among the ancestors from which their bloodlines originated from.

Western Tomb Beast Mountain was where quite a few Archaic descendants resided. From among them, there were a few experts that once served the Archaic divine mountain, so they understood a bit about this.

When an ancient expert that was once a servant of the Southern Meteorite Divine Mountain returned to his clan, he had also spoke before that if they failed at obtaining the tenth heavenly passage the first time, trying to do so in the future would be nearly impossible.

The real world and the Void God Realm were both in a state of commotion.

There were people who sighed deeply, feeling pity for the devilish child. Towards the human race, this was simply too great of a loss. It was equal to losing a supreme expert that could content with thousands of races for power.

Quite a few people’s attitudes clearly changed. They felt rather unsatisfied with the Tuoba Clan, Western Tomb Beast Mountain and the others, because this was the same as cutting short this youth road to supremacy.

“It’s truly too sad! He was so close, and was just about to succeed!”

No matter how much everyone sighed, with news like this, it only made them shake their heads. There was nothing they could do about it.

Hahaha... Kun, Li, Meng, and Yuan four clans all laughed incessantly. From their point of view, the devilish brat deserved to be punished. If he became a supreme expert, then that would become a huge problem for them.

“In the end, he lost his opportunity. Half a month had passed, and he passed by the optimal period of time. The opportunity has been lost already, so he should be suffering in remorse and dejection right now.” A few people from the Rain Clan had cold expressions as they spoke.

This time, their losses were disastrous. Their pure land was flattened, pulled up by the roots, and even their experts were slaughtered, making it difficult for them to raise their heads within Stone Country. This was truly a tremendous humiliation.

Of course, things couldn't end like this. This was the best time to kill the devilish brat, so they wanted him dead.

“After things have reached this point, what kind of disturbances could he still cause? It's time for us to take his head.” From within the ancient Tuoba Family, several princes moved out with their men into this mountain range.

In reality, other than them, there were still many great powers that were in pursuit and closing in on this mountain forest.

These were merely the first group of people who hurried over. They got here the fastest, with hundreds of people moved out like tigers and apes as they tore through the forest with extreme speed.

“Last time, I was so close to catching him. This time, I absolutely cannot let him get away!” A youngster in red spoke callously. Currently, his eyes were extremely cold.

Beside him, an impressive looking youngster wearing silver clothes laughed and said, “Sixth brother, don't feel so troubled. Last time, me and several elders were able to injure him, almost hacking him in half. Unfortunately, he got away, but this time, let's see who can remove his head.”

Even though he was laughing, the killing intent from Tuoba Clan's second prince was burning even more fiercely. Since traces had already been found and that youth's whereabouts were known, they wouldn't let him go no matter what was said.

Currently, everyone knew that the devilish brat was seriously injured and his fighting strength dried up. An ordinary beast would even be able to take his life, so if they were to let him go, what kind of face would they have left?

“Second brother, let’s make a bet. This time, I will definitely be the first one to kill him.” The sixth prince held a scarlet demonic needle in his hands that flickered with an evil cold light.

A few of the great clans, like the ancient Tuoba Family had already used their connections to obtain demonic artifacts. They wanted to kill the little guy completely and make both his real and void body die.

“Fine! If I lose, then I don’t want a single piece of bronze plate from his body. All credit will be yours when we hand them over to the clan.” The second prince laughed lightly.

In his eyes, the little guy was already a piece of meat from a chopping board that was fleeing with difficulty. No matter what was said, he still wouldn’t be able to save his life.

In another direction, the Rain Clan’s people also hurried over. Currently, there wasn’t anyone that felt as pressured as them. The devilish brat killed too many of their experts and destroyed their pure land, making them absolutely humiliated. The Rain Clan felt the urgent need to immediately find him and torture him to death. They wanted to torment him to death, or else they would never be able to wash off the disgrace they received.

“I hope that you can hold on for a bit longer, long enough for us to get there!” The group of experts’ faces were cold, and all of them were emitting bone-chilling killing intent.

“Move faster! Don’t let that Horned Dragon get the first move, or else we’ll lose our chance!”

In the distance, the other great ancient powers also sent out experts. They were also looking in the mountain depths for the little guy to kill both his void and real body.

The reason was because they previously attacked the Heaven Mending Pavilion and were scared of his retaliation.

Other than these people, there were also a large group of people who rushed over for the bronze plates he possessed. Even if they couldn't collect the entire set, they could still exchange it with others for supreme treasures.

Chapter 218 – Supreme Youth

“Yi, there are Rain Clansmen coming from those mountain peaks. They also rushed here during the first moments! Let’s move quickly!” The ancient Tuoba family’s second price spoke in a low voice.

There were traces of the Rain Clan within the mountains and valleys, almost as if they had the same ideas. This was not a good omen. Currently, everyone knew that the devilish brat had the divine bronze book on him. It was reputed as a priceless treasure, so they all wanted to obtain them.

Other than the great powers that wanted to kill the devilish brat, there was a large group of people who rushed over for the treasure. They competed fiercely as a result in order to obtain the precious book.

“En, there are people there as well as Archaic descendants. The situation doesn’t look good...” At this time, the Rain Clan noticed the ancient Tuoba family and the Western Tomb Beast Mountain’s experts.

A group of people rushed forward. Precious artifacts shone, and they stuck close to the ground as they moved through the mountain forest, leaving behind streaks of rainbow light. They bore through the mountain range while leaving behind dazzling and vibrant lights.

This mountain range immediately bustled with activity. Several ancient families left behind prominent footprints as they tried to outdo each other. They all wanted to be the first one to find the little guy.

“It seems like that child is inside this mountain region. Quickly go and inform the master so that our experts can be lead here as quickly as possible!”

There were many cultivators that did not approach this area, and instead turned around. They activated their precious techniques, and after these techniques boosted their bodies, they began to run towards the limits of this great land to inform the experts within their sects.

Immediately, all types of multicolored light sparkled, and precious light danced about. It was as if they were stars as they rushed towards the distance. This mountain range region was bound for great disorder, no longer remaining peaceful.

During this period of time, the powers already began to compete against each other. Was the ancient Tuoba family more powerful or was the Rain Clan? This was crucial because a portion of their main force were sent over, and with so much manpower undergoing the same tasks, it was imperative that they were the first ones to rush into the mountain range depths.

“He’s over there!”

One individual had sharp eyes, finding the little guy extremely quickly. He immediately revealed an excited expression, because this meant generous rewards. After killing him, they could obtain the divine bronze book.

From their perspective, the devilish child was already about to die. He was just like a tiger that lost its fangs, posing absolutely no danger. Even if he wasn’t killed, he would soon breath his last even if left alone.

Sure enough, within the grassland, there was a large expanse of leftover blood, the grassland dyed deep red. It was quite clear that he lost quite a bit of blood, and that his life couldn’t be preserved.

Tuoba family’s people were stirred up. They immediately dispersed and surrounded this forest to prevent him from escaping again.

The Rain Clansmen’s expressions changed. They broke in from the side, because they had to get inside. The treasure was right in front of their eyes, so how could they pass this up?

“He’s still lost in thought when death’s at hand. It seems like ever since he failed to establish the tenth heavenly passage, he sank into a dejection and remorse. The expression you are making is absolutely wonderful!”

Tuoba Family’s sixth prince immediately began to laugh. He seemed rather carefree, but there was still a coldness within his eyes as he stared towards the youth sitting within the mountains.

The others all laughed. There was no better result than this.

Even though the Rain Clansmen were laughing coldly, they still had their teeth clenched, because their hatred for him was just too deep. Just half a month ago, this devilish child destroyed their pure land and unleashed a slaughter, making them truly suffer.

The little guy was truly in a state of stupor. While he sat on top of that rock, he simply couldn't understand why he didn't receive some kind of reward. He should have broke some kind of record, right?

While he was fleeing for his life, he heard a few rumors that within the great wastelands, no one had ever established their tenth heavenly passage within the Void God Realm before because it was too dangerous. He should be the only one to have accomplish this, so the stone tablet should have appeared.

"Why?" The devilish brat was rather unhappy, and his large eyes were full of 'depression'. He kept thinking that something wasn't right.

He was furious and felt that since the Void God Realm was created through interweaving order and laws, it couldn't see everything. It might have overlooked something, so he couldn't hold himself back as he look towards the heavens and shouted, "You still owe me! Owe me the precious book, why aren't you descending yet?!"

Everyone became stunned. This fellow went crazy. It appeared that after seeing the end of the road, he went mad from anger. Otherwise, how could he spout such nonsense, trying to bargain with the Void God Realm....

"Careful not to be swindled by him! This time, no matter what happens, we cannot let him get away!" The Rain Clan spoke coldly, wanting to be the first person to kill him.

"Your act is pointless. You can play the fool and appear pitiful, but after the failure of establishing the tenth heavenly passage, you don't even have the qualifications to live anymore. Why don't you just give up your life while in remorse?" Tuoba family's second prince laughed coldly as he spoke.

At this time, a scarlet needles appeared between his fingers. It was precisely the Soul Shattering Needle with the potential to destroy both the body and soul. The Tuoba prince did not want to give him any chances, killing him both here and in the real world.

The devilish brat was staring blankly this entire time. Only after he finished venting towards the heavens did he pay attention to them. He looked at them with disdain, as he naturally wouldn't feel any bit of nervousness or fear.

Many people became furious. A person who was already going to die still dared to act like this? This was simply contempt for them, not even putting them in his eyes.

The people here wanted to rush together, but conflict began to develop between them. Dispute began to occur between the Tuoba family and Rain Clan, because all of them wanted to kill the little guy and seize the precious book.

“Fellow friends, we were the first ones to discover him. Shouldn’t we go by the first come first serve basis?” Tuoba family’s sixth prince spoke as he looked at the Rain Clan expressionlessly.

“There is a great hatred between him and our clan, so how could we not get our revenge? He must be killed by my Clan!” The Rain Clansmen argued and pushed forward.

The two sides immediately confronted each other at this point. Conflicting views appeared, and fighting intent was in the air. They assumed that the little guy was completely without fighting strength, basically like a terrified chunk of meat. As a result, they began to compete with each other.

“How about this. After we kill him, we will discuss how to distribute the bronze precious book on his body.” In the end, an elder from Tuoba family showed his face. He feared that something unforeseen might happen if they wasted time.

These clans weren’t the only ones here. There were others, and they were all quickly closing in. If they argued any longer, then there might be others that might arrive and demand a piece of the reward.

“Fine, then let’s kill him before discussing how to divide the spoils.” A great elder from the Rain Clan replied.

The group of experts began to group up before walking forward. Brilliant multicolored light shone from each of them as killing intent surged from their bodies. At this point, they were finally going to cut down the devilish brat, so there were quite a few people with cold expressions on their faces.

Only, the devilish brat was looking at them with even more contempt. It made those complacent individuals who thought they were harvesting their prey absolutely furious.

What kind of look was that? No matter how you looked at this, it was as if they were being treated like dogs. There wasn't the slightest bit of nervousness and only apathy; this was too arrogant!

"You know perfectly well that you are going to die, so did you lose your sanity? Let me tell you, even if you want to die, it'll be difficult! I want to let you understand how terrifying it is to offend my Rain Clan!" An elder shouted.

"How terrifying could that be?" The little guy asked.

"You're going to wish you were dead!" That person shouted while pointing.

"I hate being pointed at by others." The little guy had stood up. He raised his hand and raised his finger. Symbols flickered, and with a pu sound, that expert immediately exploded!

"What?" Everyone was completely shocked. What did the youth do to be able to take one's life with just the raise of a finger?

"It doesn't matter. He's already an arrow at the end of its flight. Haven't you seen how he was acting during that last battle? His inner flame was already burning out." Someone shouted.

"Sigh, the fall of a hero! I never thought that such a divine hero like me would fall here." The devilish child sighed, and his eyes contained a desolate look.

When everyone heard this, their expressions all changed. Even he himself admitted it out of despair, so what else was there to be concerned about?

"I'm not going to say too much about handing over the bronze book, and don't want to make things too difficult for you by wasting your time." An elder spoke.

However, this was not how everyone here thought.

Tuoba sixth prince's eyes flickered and looked towards the second prince beside him. "Second brother, is our bet still on?"

"But of course. Whoever kills him first will receive the other's portion of merit after returning as well." After speaking, the second prince walked forward.

However, they did not do the job themselves, but rather allowed the people below them to attack. They were going to attack together and quickly behead the little guy.

At the same time, everyone from Rain Clan made their moves together. Multicolored light erupted and precious techniques filled air as they hacked over.

“A person truly hides behind hundreds of masks during their life! After seeing your shameful performances, I’ve decided to send all of you on your way!” Right at this moment, his expression suddenly became incomparably dangerous, and his body shone with symbols everywhere. His aura was terrifying to the extreme, making people feel a bit shaken.

Everyone felt their souls being affected, as if they were forced to crouch down. It was a type of innate reverence, a bone deep urge to kowtow and bow down.

“What is going on? Is this the divine might of a supreme deity?” An elder cried out with fear.

He once heard that the Western Tomb Beast’s people say that upon establishing the tenth heavenly passage, there would be a type of supreme divine might accompanying it. It made people shaken and even their souls shiver.

Hong!

A domain formed around the little guy. Golden symbols densely covered this area, as if the divine realm was opened and he had descended before these people.

Pu

In that split second, all the people charging over were blown apart into pieces. Within the golden symbols, a rain of blood scattered down and ashes flew outwards; they couldn't even get closer!

This type of power shook everyone. Every single person felt their souls shake while they were in disbelief.

Everything, including those precious techniques that flew over were broken apart. A rain of light scattered about, as if there were sparkling and translucent petals falling gently with incomparable brilliance.

Within that flourishing divine multicolored light, a single youth stood there. His black hair scattered downwards, and his eyes were bright, possessing a type of unexplainable prestige. It was as if he was a young deity as he walked over, every step widened the divine domain.

"Why did it end up like this? What happened?!"

These people felt their lips trembling and their hair standing up. The fear inside of them reached its peak; how were they supposed to defend against this type of imposing aura?

"Quickly, stop him! Don't let him come over!" At that moment, everyone fell apart. They turned around to flee.

However, this was completely useless. The little guy's surroundings flourished, the rain of light flying about. With just a wave, Tuoba family's sixth prince collapsed before flying over.

"Ah, why is it like this?" The sixth prince cried out in fright. He lost control of his body, and was actually flying backwards.

The little guy was like a god, sending him flying over!

Tuoba Clan sixth prince's arms clawed and his legs kicked about as he struggled fiercely. However, it was all futile. In front of the little guy's shining body, he was as weak as a young chicken.

Everyone was frightened. The sixth prince was quite powerful and was a rarely seen genius. However, in the end he was still so defenseless. Compared to that youth, he was just like a chicken or puppy!

This was like a difference between a rock and a pearl, like the heaven and earth.

The little guy removed the scarlet divine needle from the sixth prince's hands . It shot towards the prince's head like a streak of lightning with decisiveness, quickly taking away his life without wasting any words.

The soul was completely extinguished, so his real body also died!

"Ah... No!" Everyone from Tuoba clan shouted loudly. This was difficult to accept; an important genius within the clan died just like that, moreover in such a pointless manner.

With a chi sound, the little guy caught a scarlet divine needle that flew over with his bare hands. It was thrown by the Tuoba family's second prince. Meanwhile, he also rushed over with a precious artifact.

"Why don't you come back!"

The little guy shouted with an imposing voice, and a string of golden ripples could be seen coming out of his mouth. It was incomparably terrifying as it quickly expanded. With a hong sound, the precious artifact at the second prince's feet exploded.

Everyone's minds began to tremble. Just what kind of force was this? With just a simple shout, he could destroy a precious artifact!

With another wave of his hand, the second prince was also sent flying over. Without even giving them another glance, he directly stuck that scarlet needle into the prince's forehead. With a pu sound, he passed away and his body disappeared.

Ah...

Everyone began to tremble and cry out with great fear as they fled in all directions. They were all scattered out as they tried to escape.

It was because every single one of them were terrified, and their bodies were shivering with coldness. It shook even their souls, as if they were being subdued.

"No one can leave!" The little guy spoke. Even though his voice wasn't loud, there was still a type of terrifying awe. It was as if a deity was casting down his will.

Hong!

With him at the center, symbols erupted. It was brilliant like a river of stars, and absolutely dazzling, as if countless great stars were colliding together before exploding apart.

Golden symbols hid the sky and covered the earth, engulfing in all directions. It rushed towards everyone, locking down this place.

At this moment, a magical scene appeared. All of the experts were confined within, and time seemed to have stopped as everything froze in place. They still had their original postures as they suspended in the air or stood on the ground.

These people had alarm in their eyes. They were still in their original fleeing positions, and the scene was extremely strange as their movements suddenly stopped.

Only when the little guy released a light shout did this prison free up. However, when the golden symbols exploded, everyone shouted out loudly before howling in grief.

Hong!

Bodies began to split apart one after another, all of them exploding. They became ashes within this golden rain of light, pulverized by the supreme divine might of the tenth heavenly passage youth.

The little guy didn't even give them a second look. His entire body circulated with brilliant splendor as he walked out from the mountains. He was going to take a look at the other outstanding individuals.

Chapter 219 – Forced Back

“Faster, faster, we have to move faster! If we arrive late, then there won’t be anything left for us! The Rain Clan as well as another group has already entered.”

Outside the mountain range, a group of people were quickly rushing over. Their bodies were wrapped in multicolored light as they charged into the primitive mountain forest depths.

This was a group of powerful experts that came from an ancient sect. They were all experts that came for the bronze precious book, wanting to get in on the spoils once the curtains fell.

In another direction, a group of vicious birds appeared. Their bodies were all extremely large, and their feathers bright. They were like flames burning from coal, and as purple mist hazily curled up around them, they also possessed a lightning-like brilliance.

This was a group of Archaic descendants with eight or nine experts in the lead. A group of fierce birds followed behind, close and numerous as they crossed the mountain forest. They were surrounded by all types of flourishing symbols, it was incomparably terrifying.

“Heavens! The Northern Sky Summit’s demonic birds have arrived! It’s going to be difficult from here on out. Making an enemy out of them is extremely dangerous!”

Within the mountain forest, there were quite a few people who raised their heads. Their expressions all changed, because there were nearly ten Archaic descendants at the lead within that group. A terrifying wave of force poured over, flickering with all types of splendor like a comet as they soared across the sky.

A strong gale blew over. A few vicious beasts stuck closely to the forest as they flew over, immediately making many towering ancient trees to explode. The mountain region was immediately thrown into complete disorder, and all types of broken branches and ruined leaves fell.

“Let’s hurry along, we cannot fall behind. The Archaic divine book is priceless! Even if we cannot get all the pieces, it could still be exchanged with others for a supreme treasure.”

Cultivators began to rush over one group after another. Even though they could see the Archaic descendents that were covering the sky, they still did not retreat. They continued to rush towards the depths of the primitive forest.

Within the mountain forest, all types of brilliant lights and vibrant colors lit up. From time to time, there would be precious artifacts filling the sky. Large batches of experts were charging in and searching for their target.

Shouts rang out, and the cries of birds and beasts also sounded. They rose and fell in succession, causing a huge commotion to stir up within the mountain range. It was extremely noisy, and all the creatures within the mountains were disturbed.

“Such a great display of forces!”

As the little guy strode over, the mountain winds blew over. His head of thick black hair began to fly about, his eyes filled with expression. It was as if two streaks of lightning were shooting out of them, giving out a type of killing intent.

All four sides shook, and countless experts rushed over. However, he was without any type of fear as he strode over, welcoming everyone that were arriving. He wanted to meet those outstanding heroes face to face.

“Found him! He’s here, haha...” Someone began to laugh loudly in an incomparably carefree manner. In the end, they didn’t arrive too late, and actually found the youth first before he was killed by someone.

“That group of vicious birds have overchased. We are truly lucky to be the first ones to find him!”

This was a group of experts, and the majority of them didn’t slack on their cultivation. Within the mountain range, they formed an alliance, becoming a large and powerful force. They began to surround the little guy here.

“There’s nothing much to say. Hand over the bronze copper book!” Someone shouted. They came solely for the supreme treasure.

“For what reason?” The little guy asked.

When everyone heard what was said, how could they not sneer? It was naturally about strength. In their eyes, the devilish brat was already about to die, and had already lost his battle strength. He simply a piece of meat on a chopping block.

“I advise you to just obediently do as we say. Sometimes, forcefully holding on is more painful than dying.” Someone laughed.

This was the best representation of ‘dogs picking up the scraps from a fallen tiger’. These people normally couldn’t even take a single blow from the little guy, but now they could humiliate and threaten him.

Otherwise, if it was still like in the past, how many of them would dare to come forward? In their hearts, a nine heavenly passage expert was simply unrivalled.

“Don’t hesitate to try me.” The little guy calmly spoke.

These people all began to sneer. Without saying anything else, they quickly took action. They didn’t want something unexpected to happen, because if the other great powers rushed over, they would most likely become irrelevant.

Brilliant symbols flickered, and several great experts rushed forward, directly using their most powerful methods. They used the bone text to suppress and surround this mountain region.

More than ten people acted together, and their power was naturally great. This place immediately began to stir with powerful astral winds, causing the towering ancient trees to be pulled up by the roots. Rocks and stones tore through the skies, and the shorter mountains immediately cracked apart as rumbling sounds rang out.

Even though their original behaviors were frivolous, when it came time for them to take action, all of them used full force. They also feared some accident would occur.

Chi

The little guy's pupils revealed two streaks of golden light. They were incredibly terrifying, and strands of brilliant symbols followed his pupils and flew out. With a pu sound, it directly pierced through the four leaders at the front.

Ah... The four individuals all yelled loudly. Their eyes revealed fear, and simply couldn't imagine everything that was happening.

Their chests were dripping with blood, with huge holes appeared in the center of their chests. It made them feel despair and terror. There were only two golden beams, yet they pierced through four great experts.

Hou...

Meanwhile, a huge purple Suan Ni appeared behind the little guy's back. It was as tall as a mountain, and its pupils were incomparably cold and expressionless as it overlooked everyone.

It opened its humongous mouth, immediately making ten people's souls shake. They turned around immediately and ran, but it was too late. When the purple mouth opened and closed, they were all sent flying over, entering its brilliant mouth.

It was a huge mouth forged from lightning, and the moment it closed, more than ten people exploded, turning into ashes. It seemed like there wasn't even anything left over.

This group of people all fell. When the Suan Ni disappeared and everything was restored to a peaceful state, a few ashes scattered down from the skies into the forest.

Apart from this, the mountain region was completely empty. Even the four corpses were turned into dust. This place was extremely clean, and there weren't any bloody remains or shattered bones left over.

The little guy once again went on his way, stepping on the dried branches and withered leaves as he walked outside the mountain range. A light breeze blew over, making the sleeves of his clothes drift about. There was an aura of innocence, completely different from the look of someone who just wiped a group of enemies clean.

Finally, the outstanding heroes rushed over. The various sects noticed him, because the shouting just now spread quite far.

“Over here! Don’t let him escape!” Many people shouted loudly.

This time, it truly was like having enemies everywhere. Numerous figures were here, and the large sects all surrounded this place, rushing over from every direction.

Ahou...

Beast roars shook the sky, and a group of fierce beasts rushed over like a flood. They were huge and sinister, their mountain sized bodies causing the ground to rumble as they tramped over. They directly smashed apart small mountains to open up the path.

Leading them were a few Archaic descendents, all of them extremely terrifying. Some of them had armors that flickered with light, and others’ beast skins were like fabric as they shone with brilliant splendor. They carried with them an overflowing vicious aura as they lead the beasts behind them.

The ground continuously shook, causing the leaves within the mountain forest to fly randomly.

The outstanding heroes were all shocked as they quickly moved out of their way. The group was lead by a Green Scaled Leopard, Gold-Eyed Dragon Horn Lion, Demonic Ape and others for a total of six great experts. They were all like small mountains with imposing auras. Their eyes were large like millstones.

“These are the Western Tomb Beast Mountain’s experts! They also came! Seems like it won’t be easy anymore. Those that want to obtain the bronze book will inevitably have to fight a bloody battle.” The people were shocked.

“Get out of the way!” The Green Scaled Leopard that was over ten zhang tall roared. Its huge body swayed, causing the forest to shake. Its gaze was terrifying as it shouted, “Youngster, get over here and hand over the precious book!”

“Western Tomb Beast Mountain, your group has also arrived. Based on what reason should he have to hand over the precious books to you?” There were also a few great sects within the humans that were not willing concede to them. They pushed forward together as well.

“Right, the precious book was made by the heavens, so whoever’s hands it lands in is who it belongs to. To threaten and keep everything to yourselves is impossible!” A few ancient families’ people also shouted.

A group of people confronted them and shouted loudly. None of them were willing to surrender to the other party. Even though they was Archaic descendants that appeared, they were still without fear.

There were so many human experts that they seemed to be as many as the eye could see. Could it be that they would be scared of the descendants that were leading? After thinking about it, no matter how powerful they were, it wouldn’t match their numbers here.

“We don’t care about these things. The most important thing is to first get rid of his life!”

Kun, Li, Meng, Yuan four families’ people also appeared. Among them, there was someone who spoke these words. Their hatred for the little guy was deep, hoping that he would be killed before discussing the distribution of the bronze precious book.

“Right, let’s kill him first! We don’t want to see his face again, and hope that his life will be eternally erased from this world!” Someone from the four clans parroted.

Among them, there were several experts that had demonic artifacts to kill the devilish brat’s void body and real body at the same time. They brought them from their clan treasury, and were willing to pay such a cost.

“Shut your mouths! You guys don’t have the qualifications to content against us!” The Green Scaled Leopard that was as large as a small mountain roared. Its millstone sized large eyes revealed a malicious look as it overlooked the heroes.

“So noisy! All of you need to shut up!” Finally, the little guy who was at the center of everyone opened his mouth. He began to stare at them, because he couldn’t endure it any longer.

In that instant, the mountain range calmed down. All the experts from the various sects, ancient families and Archaic descendants in all directions looked towards the center of the battlefield.

“Youth, you know who you are speaking to?!” The Green Scaled Leopard roared. Its revealed an ominous expression as it looked down on him.

“Don’t know the difference between life and death!” The little guy only had these words for it.

“You’re looking to die!” The Green Scaled Leopard’s entire body was brilliant with a sheet of meticulous scales covering its body. It directly dropped down a claw, and with its enormous size, this claw alone could shatter a mountain.

Everyone quickly retreated, no longer daring to fight here. With such an enormous creature going crazy, the aftereffects were too horrible to contemplate.

However, something that made everyone even more shocked happened. With just a simple shout, he also raised his fist and smashed it into that huge claw. During the course of events, a circle of incredible light was released, as if it was a sun. It was incomparably huge as it was released from the youth’s fist, directly submerging that Green Scaled Leopard.

Everyone became shocked. Just what kind of divine might was this? The symbols coming from a fist was actually that terrifying! It was like a wave that overflowed into the heavens, covering this place.

Hong!

Accompanying a huge sound, the mountain sized huge Archaic descendant shrieked miserably before quickly splitting apart and exploding into pieces. A bloody rain followed the golden multicolored light. It seemed terrifying yet strangely beautiful.

“Heavens! What happened? Wasn’t he already a lamp that ran out of fuel? Why can he still possess this type of strength?”

Everyone became astonished. It was just a fist, yet it took care of such an enormous descendant. Just how astonishing and terrifying was this scene?!

“Li Clan, Kun Clan, Yuan Clan... You guys still dare to come over? Was the lesson I gave you within the Hundred Shattering Mountains not enough?" The little guy turned around and looked towards the experts from those four clans.

"You..."

The four clans' troops immediately backed off, all of them ranting and raving. Why did things end up like this? It's completely different from the news they received! Everyone was saying that the little guy was already about to die, and there were people from the four clans that have already fought with him in the last battle that confirmed this. Now, however, it was completely overturned!

Weng

Demonic artifacts soared high into the air, suppressing towards that area.

The four great families' people made their moves, using offense instead of defense before quickly retreating. They were scared of the devilish child rising in revolt, because then they won't have a chance anymore.

The little guy coldly snorted. He began to emit golden light from all over his body, causing strand after strand of divine feathers to fly out before turning into countless heavenly swords. Every single one seemed extremely real and sharp.

This was the Kun Peng's precious technique, and it was now being put to use by the current him at the tenth heavenly passage. It was as if a divine creature was slaughtering in all direction with an absolutely terrifying power.

Golden heavenly swords pierced out one after another, causing the four great clans to suffer countless casualties. Their leaders in particular, lost control of their demonic artifacts. The little guy advanced, starting to to kill and subdue them. The leading figures of the four clans were struck by demonic artifacts, immediately bringing about a large shout. They felt unreconciled and fearful as they died.

Within the mountain forest, a bloody mist curled about and killing intent shook the skies. Golden wings shook behind the little guy's back as he rushed in like a tiger into a pack of wolves, killing all these outstanding talents.

These people all came for him, so he did not have any intention of being lenient. He carved out a bloody path, bringing out his supreme precious techniques. It was like pulling apart rotten roots as he flatted even the peaks of mountains.

This place soon became a living hell. There were fleeing figures everywhere, as well as the experts who were utterly defeated. A great number of the ancient great sects' people weren't a match for him, immediately trying to flee for their life.

"What happened?!" A group of vicious birds rushed over. They came from the Northern Heaven Peak and had flew past just now. They had just turned around, just in time to see this scene.

Hong!

The little guy's eyes were cold as he smashed his fist into the heavens. A Kun Peng rushed out, its body carrying black streaks. It filled the sky, immediately blasting apart several leading figures. A rain of blood swirled in the air as feathers dropped down.

"Flee!"

Everyone felt their courage vanishing. They fled towards the outskirts of the mountain range, because there was no way to continue this battle. If they battled any longer, everyone here would die.

The little guy was like a Demon King as trampled over everyone's corpses with large strides. It was just a single person chasing after those outstanding geniuses, but it was completely one-sided because no one could stop him!

Chapter 220 – Shaking the Great Wastelands

The outstanding talents were utterly defeated. They began to flee for their lives, frantically escaping from the mountain range depths. Mutilated bloody corpses fell one after another within the mountains.

Typically, experts from the various sects would look down on everyone within their region with their high statuses. However, currently, they were in complete desperation. They were all fleeing, and as blood splashed outwards, it made everyone tremble.

Even after using their precious artifacts to soar into the air, it was still not enough. Behind them, the god-like youth was sweeping away everyone. With a wenglong sound, golden symbols poured over like ocean waves, engulfing even mountains and rivers. Numerous people were immediately blasted apart before blowing up in the void.

This area became like demonic land. Blood blossomed a thousand meters into the air, and people's deaths were decided within the time it took to snap a finger. It was simply too shocking and unbelievable.

The little guy was emotionless as he moved in an unhurried and calm manner. With just a single step, he made the entire mountains and valleys retreat. Behind him were a pair of Kun Peng wings, improving his speed by a great amount.

At this moment, he was undisturbed and unfeeling. When his hand was raised, symbols would immediately surge out like an ocean and pour over, completely submerging the mountain region in front. Those people had a difficult time fleeing from it.

Even flying in the sky was not enough. After those demonic birds suffered those attacks, they immediately wanted to rush into the clouds. They took to the skies, but never thought that the demon god-like youth would coldly raised his head and look at them with his golden pupils. His entire body exploded with a multitude of divine light, submerging the heaven and earth. Countless golden symbols soared high into the sky to confine them.

Following that, several Archaic descendants were repelled by the separation in the sky. When they were only ten zhang from the youth, a loud explosion sound rang out. Blood and shattered bones splashed out in an absolutely terrifying manner!

When all the cultivators saw this, they felt their scalps going numb. Was this still the strength of a human? Why was it so terrifying? Was this the extreme peak of the heavenly passage realm?! They were at the same cultivation realm, yet to them, this youth was like a god-like existence!

This was a completely insurmountable force. The difference was too great! This was the complete release of hidden potential, and no matter who it was, no one could contend against him!

The little guy's gait was calm. It was as if a dragon or tiger was moving as he travelled towards the outskirts of the mountain range with large strides, fighting with the outstanding talents along the way. It was actually more accurate to say that he was sweeping through them.

"Move faster, it's a young demon king! He's not someone a normal person can defeat!"

"How could there be such a terrifying enemy? If he continued to grow up, who could keep him under control in the future? Once fully grown, would he even make deities tremble?!"

The outstanding heroes were all fleeing for their lives. They had no choice, because stopping meant death. They didn't even dare to think about what was going to happen in the future. They were grand and magnificent ancient powers with great inheritances, yet currently, they were being swept apart by a single youth. It was simply like a story straight out of a legend!

Outside the mountain range, the various sects' reinforcements arrived. After seeing this scene, they all began to stare with their mouths opened. What in the world was going on? They received the report to rush over and assist in the struggle over the precious bronze book because that savage youth was already about to fall. In the end, they actually saw this situation!

"Run, run quickly! Do not stop!" The experts that were fleeing in defeat had blood covering their bodies as they rushed towards their people. They hollered out to warn them.

“There are so many people here, yet you all couldn’t overcome one person?” Many people didn’t believe this and thought that it was a bit unrealistic.

However, none of them responded. The people who were rushing out from the mountain range ran right past them without stopping for a second. Following that, the savage youth began to surge with symbols, and as the golden symbols descended, the ones that had stopped immediately exploded.

Simple and direct, ruthless and unrestrained. The little guy forcefully swept through them like this, obliterating everything as he chased after these outstanding individuals.

They rushed out of the mountain range and entered the boundless great earth. They ran towards all directions, and finally, many people released a breath before breaking free from this battlefield.

This time, the outstanding talents suffered heavy losses. No one knew just how many of them were killed. Those from the four great family in particular suffered great casualties in their upper level figures, being killed by demonic artifacts.

Those that escaped felt a type of appreciation for this world. Being pushed back by a single person endlessly within the great wastelands was definitely a nightmare that shook them to their souls.

Even when the various deities were alive, there still weren’t supreme youth among them that were this powerful, right?

“Leave quickly and report back to the clan lord. The devilish child did not lose and actually recovered. It is suspected that his strength actually increased by a large amount!”

“Simply inconceivable. Hurry and report back to the sect. This is too terrifying, he’s not even human anymore!”

The mountain range was in complete chaos. When the people who escaped looked back, they saw corpse after corpse upon the battlefield. The ground was completely dyed red. Just how many people died?

The little guy seemed to not have stopped at all, killing his way forward this entire time. He broke into the heavenly passage city, followed the golden passageway, and then directly slaughtered towards the great ancient sect’s pure land.

He was incredibly powerful, pulling them apart like rotten vines. He was trying to kill them in one go, slaughtering his enemies until they had no way into heaven and no way into the earth. He was fierce to a ridiculous degree.

“Not good. That savage child didn’t die and slaughtered into my clan’s pure land!” In the real world, there were people shouting loudly within the Tuoba clan to make their reports.

“Second prince, sixth prince, they... were both killed!”

News traveled over, and all of the ancient families were shaken. The situation truly turned around. Didn’t the clan’s experts go to take that child’s head? Why did the opposite happen and end up like this?

“Children, my children!”

An older woman immediately spat out a mouthful of blood and went unconscious. Her favorite two children became living corpses. Their souls were destroyed within the Void God Realm, turning them into empty fleshy shells, never to recover.

“Gather troops for me and bring the clan’s artifacts. Enter the Void God Realm and kill that child for me! I want him dead, go quickly!”

An old ancestor roared out in anger, seeming to have gone mad. Others were trying to hold him back, but they struggled to do so. The second prince and the sixth prince were the two with the best innate talents. To die like this made his heart feel incomparable pain.

“Quickly go and report to the Tuoba Lord. Tell him to come out from his training, or else our clan might suffer a huge wound and invite huge chaos.” An elder spoke in a soft voice as he rushed towards a restricted zone inside the clan.

The little guy was incomparably valiant as he advanced boldly and unleashed a slaughter in all directions. He directly killed into the Tuoba Clan’s pure land, rupturing the great earth and killing the clan’s experts.

Pu

Large groups of experts were reaped of their lives as blood flew extremely high into the air. They all fell within the wasted land, as no one could stop him from advancing.

When the Tuoba Clan's experts rushed into the Void God Realm with their clan's artifacts and saw this scene, they all became stupefied. Their great pure land became ruins, and all of their great formations were shattered as the battle was coming to an end.

"You guys came just at the right time!"

The little guy turned around and roared. Golden symbols began to close in on them and purple energy overflowed into the heavens. Behind him, an enormous Suan Ni took form before charging forward.

Lightning danced about chaotically as purple energy arrived. This mountainous Suan Ni curled up in lightning radiance destroyed everything. More than a hundred people immediately turning into charred coal on the spot.

"Impossible to defend against!"

Everyone was overwhelmed with horror. This was the might of a deity that swept through everything!

Ordinary people in the Void God Realm would only open up to the fourth or fifth heavenly passage. Sixth or seventh heavenly passage was already considered geniuses, and an eighth heavenly passage expert was exceptionally rare, comparable to a phoenix feather or unicorn horn.

As for the ninth heavenly passage, for humans, it was something only recorded within ancient texts. Tenth heavenly passage... that was even more unfathomable, and was a topic that was practically taboo.

In an area where the world was restricted to the heavenly passage realm, the little guy who established the tenth heavenly passage possessed the might of a supreme deity! Who could possibly fight back?

If a truly heavenly deity descended and came under this restriction to fight with the devilish child, it would still be difficult to say who ate who! This was how savage he was, and the reason why he could sweep through so many enemies.

How were the Tuoba Clan's reinforcements supposed to deal with this? As soon as they appeared, a majority of them were blown apart. Vast expanses of corpses were left behind as they were quickly defeated.

"I was wrong, I was crazy! He actually reached such a level!" The old ancestor that previously went mad finally became clear-headed as he yelled.

In the end, he took out a clan artifact. It wrapped itself around the remaining people in light and rushed towards the ends of the great earth, disappearing from this place.

"Such a unique precious artifact! They retreated almost instantly into the horizon." The devilish brat was also at a loss, since he couldn't chase after them.

Finally, he left this place. He once again blow away everything along the way. He killed into the four great families' pure land with extreme speed.

First, it was the Kun clan that was destroyed. Following that, it was the Li Clan whose pure land became ruined... In the end, the Yuan Clan's pure land was also razed to the ground. The four great clans' inheritances were ancient and powerful, but in this world, their treasure ground was pulled up by the roots, no longer existing.

The little guy profited quite a bit, obtaining a pile of precious bones, descendant blood before leaving.

His movements were too fast, and only now did news travel. Everyone was shocked and in disbelief when this type of news arrived. The devilish child didn't die, but instead began to bring calamity and chaos everywhere!

Of course, there was a group of people who still didn't know, because the little guy was fast like lightning as he continuously uprooted pure lands. He was too ferocious as he roared past like a mountain torrent.

Finally, he even destroyed a few ancient sects, stealing everything from them. Only when the pure land turned into scorched earth did news finally spread.

The Void God Realm trembled greatly, and people didn't dare to believe what they were seeing. Just how much time had passed? In just a single day, all of those pure lands were destroyed. He was absolutely invincible, truly like a young heavenly deity that descended into this world!

“Is it true? The savage child didn’t die but instead swept through all those outstanding talents and uprooted those large pure lands by himself? I don’t believe it!”

“Heavens, this is major news, explosive news! The devilish child that angers both man and deity alike is defying the heavens! Within a single day, he swept through Tuoba as well as many other great sects, flattening their precious lands!”

For the rest of the day, regardless of whether it was the Void God Realm or the real world, they were both boiling with noise. When the people received the news, they all became stupefied; this was a bit too crazy.

Many great ancient lands and sects were in miserable conditions. They were killed to such a state, exceeding common sense. The devilish brat blew away all of his enemies in this world, possessing power on a ridiculous and unbelievable level!

Within several great ancient countries, countless experts were shaking. Many nobles and sect lords felt alarmed. They came out from seclusion and returned to their clans to understand the situation.

Even a few human emperors were surprised. Within the great rumbling sound, they opened their eyes, as if they could see through the endless void to peer into a certain region of the Void God Realm.

The wastelands shook. These news traveled like a hurricane, engulfing all directions. Everyone was shaken, and the people from Heaven Mending Pavilion that survived began to tremble. Their blood boiled as they couldn’t help but shed tears and howl towards the skies. There was no longer anything to worry about. Even if the Heaven Mending Pavilion was completely destroyed and only the little guy was left over, it was still enough for them to establish a great school, once again creating their pure land! This made them gratified and joyous as they tears scattered down..

“Could it be that he opened the tenth heavenly passage? How else could he be so powerful? It’s truly breaking through the limit!”

Someone came up with this speculation, because there was no other way to explain this.

“Impossible. If he opened the tenth heavenly passage, then the Void God Realm would have definitely revealed it. That stone tablet would have appeared with words informing all the regions.

Everyone shook their heads in disbelief.

“There’s something odd about this, definitely something abnormal!” An old elder noticed that something was a bit different. The little guy was too powerful, and should have surpassed the ninth heavenly passage.

While the various regions were shaken, the devilish brat did not stop. He continued to advanced like before, tearing apart everything like rotten weeds as he advanced into the ancient sects. The bag behind him was about to burst from spoils.

Finally, he encountered a great enemy. The Horned Dragon appeared to fight him.

“You aren’t enough.” The little guy’s black hair scattered about and his entire body was sparkling and brilliant as it flowed with precious splendor. His eyes were clear, and as he looked at his opponent, he only had these three words.

The Horned Dragon’s entire body was brilliant as scales covered its body. They seemed like they were forged out of immortal gold, and terrifying symbols wrapped around its body as if a flame was blazing. It gave off a powerful feeling, as if it was unrivalled.

In the distance, many people followed. After seeing this scene, they began to feel both stirred up and scared. It was because compared to the two creatures within the battlefield, they were simply too inferior.

The Horned Dragon still did not believe that someone that was disturbed during the opening of the tenth heavenly passage was still able to establish it again. As a result, it was the first one to rush over to see what actually happened.

After meeting face to face, its heart became cold. It was simply inconceivable. The opposing party definitely stood at the very peak of cultivation, and was comparable to their ancestor who killed deities in the past!

Supreme being! This was definitely a young supreme existence that was difficult to contend against!

“Why? Why didn’t anything appear on the stone tablet?” It couldn’t understand and became doubtful.

“I couldn’t catch you inside the Hundred Shattering Mountains, but now I finally have the chance. Go back and guard my village!” The little guy yelled before throwing himself over.

Right at this moment, experts began to appear from the distance. They all came to watch this battle, because they wanted to see if the devilish child really did open the tenth heavenly passage.

Hong!

This battle surpassed everyone’s imaginations. When the devilish brat raised his hand, golden symbols covered the sky, as if a divine creature was chanting a spell. It appeared in the sky and poured down like a torrential rain, immediately making the Horned Dragon cough out large amounts of blood.

“Nine Heavenly Passage expert, yet he was still injured just like that! Truly like a legend!” Many people couldn’t help but shout out. They even felt their souls shaking.

The Horned Dragon shouted loudly before turning around and fleeing. It definitely was not his opponent, because this savage child was too powerful.

“Where are you going?!” The little guy chased after it.

Suddenly, he stopped once again and looked into the distance. At the horizon, there was a large group of experts that rushed over. There were countless armored horses that trampled over the mountains and rivers.

“Big fatty, it’s you. Could it be that you came to kill me?” The little guy could tell with a glance that the group was headed by Huo Ling’er who was seated on a Fiery Scaled Beast. She was wearing silver-colored battle clothes, making her look valiant and formidable. Her beautiful hair danced about, and her clear eyes looked towards this direction. Within her bosom was the small wolf.

Huo Ling'er was initially quite excited to bring her large army, since it was the first time she was able to bring so many men. However, as soon as she heard the words 'Big Fatty', she immediately darkened her face. She was so angry she was going to vomit blood, her complexion filled with anger.

"My father seems to admire you a bit, so I came to assist you. It seems like it'll make more sense for me to kill you!" She grinded her teeth in anger.

Huo Ling'er ordered people to enter the Void God Realm in search of the little guy. However, when they rushed over to the mountain rain, they arrived just in time to see the little guy obliterate the outstanding talents before leaving. As a result, they chased after him and finally got a bit closer. It was because they didn't know what his next destination was, and each time they could only see the devastated ruins he left behind as he turned pure lands into wastelands.

Only at this moment did they catch up to his pace.

"My thanks big fatty." The little guy spoke and then turned around. He ran out to chase the Horned Dragon.

"I won't forgive you. Chase and catch him!" Huo Ling'er's forehead seemed to have veins popping out.

Unfortunately, the ninth and tenth heavenly passage individuals were too powerful. They seemed to have disappeared in an instant like streaks of electricity.

Everyone was in an uproar, and the outstanding talents were all astonished.

"Go, we're going to take a look!" Many people chased after them. They weren't Tuoba Clan's or Rain Clan's people, bearing no grudges against the little guy. However, they still wanted to take a look.

Unfortunately, when they hurried over and saw the little guy again, they couldn't help but be petrified.

He was preparing soup, a pot of Horned Dragon soup. As he sat there, his saliva almost dripped out.

In addition, there was also a seriously wounded Horned Dragon. It lost a large chunk of its flesh and was being sat on.

What kind of ridiculously heaven defying thing was this?! The outstanding talents were all shaken.

Even a ninth heavenly passage Horned Dragon was subdued and sat on, with even a chunk of its flesh became food.

Huo Ling'er also became dumbfounded and held herself back. She did not want to recklessly act out of anger and told her troops to wait from afar.

"Yi!" Suddenly, the little guy became alert and raised his head to look in a certain direction. He looked past the outstanding heroes and looked into the forest depths.

A fair and graceful figure appeared. She was incredibly beautiful, and her entire body was wrapped up in divine splendor. Her purple clothes drifted about, as if a fairy descended into the mortal world.

Beside him, there was another elder that was wrapped up in mist, mysterious and terrifying. Even though she was just standing there, she seemed like she belonged in the indistinct heavens Vicious beast, you also came! This time, return to my village, okay? This Horned Dragon wouldn't listen, so I'm going to cook it. Follow me back to guard my home!" The little guy stood up and widened his eyes. He prepared his lungs before shouting at the purple clothed girl.

Chapter 221 – Honored Member of the Divine Mountain

The purple haired girl was quick and skillful. A thin layer of mist surrounded her, and the corners of her clothes drifted in the wind. Pure light scattered down from her body as she emerged from the earth like a lunar princess.

However, after hearing the little guy's words, she was no longer calm and collected like before, her pure and beautiful face had anger written all of it. It was simply intolerable. Every time she saw him, she would be called a vicious beast.

The purple-clothed girl's bright pupils flickered with with astonishing divine multicolored light. Her teeth began to chew on her bright red lips as she stared at him. She truly wanted to give him a really good beating.

"Vicious beast! Where are you going?!" The little guy rushed over with a whoosh sound, taking the initiative to pounce towards the purple-clothed girl. His eyes were filled with excited radiance.

Everyone became shocked. This pair of old and young that showed up definitely had shocking origins, yet the devilish brat actually rushed up like this! It was truly an example of the strong being daring as he rushed up without any fear.

"Disgraceful devilish brat!" The purple-clothed girl was outstanding and extraordinary, yet currently, she felt extremely angry. She truly couldn't stand the devilish child, because he was always so savage every time he met her.

With a weng sound, her slender jade-like hands made a stroke in the air. Brilliant symbols covered this place densely before descending like a rain of light, submerging everything in front of her. She made her move as well.

The little guy released a light shout, releasing a breath at full force from his mouth. It looked like a real dragon, surging with golden light before turning into a frantic gale. It wrapped itself around the golden symbols and charged forward.

In that instant, the silt and rocks immediately began to fly about in disorder. Earsplitting wuwu sounds could be heard as energy waves poured out like a hurricane. It pulled up the giant trees nearby by the roots and caused giant boulders to roll about before they all exploded high in the air.

With a hong sound, the golden symbols smashed into those symbols. It was as if it struck rotten weeds, directing breaking through the opponent's bone text precious technique. It was ridiculously powerful.

Everyone became frightened. Just how terrifying was this devilish brat? He merely spat out a breath of air, yet it was already so powerful! His power was a bit too excessive.

The purple-haired girl's expression changed. She was a heaven warping talent from the archaic divine mountain. Her identity was shocking, so she naturally saw how terrifying the devilish child was.

He opened the tenth heavenly passage after all! Symbols moved fluidly within his body as the force between the heaven and earth was seized. Just the raising of a limb would create a powerful attack, and even the essence energy he spat out contained powerful precious technique symbols that could destroy divine weapons.

"Vicious beast, where are you going? Today, my cultivation realm isn't any lower than yours, so there's no need to wrestle any more. I'm not scared of your precious artifact's attacks." The little guy shouted.

The purple-colored girl clenched her sparkling white fist. She hated the words 'wrestle' the most, because it was just too crude. Whenever she thought back to what happened in the Hundred Shattering Mountains, she would always feel like she was driven mad.

She was a goddess in the eyes of all clans' geniuses, and was absolutely exceptional. Even the heirs of deities didn't dare to treat her with disrespect. No matter where she went, she would always be held up like a moon among stars within people's hearts.

Normally, who dared to speak so rudely towards her? Not to mention touching her body, there wasn't even a chance for them to approach her. They could only admire from afar.

However, the devilish child on the other side was not like so. He was hateful to the point that it made her hair even stand up in anger. Within the Hundred Shattering Mountains, he grabbed her sparkling white neck and even bit her beautiful ear as they wrestled and tumbled about on the ground.

That was truly an experience that she did not want to recall. This fellow was definitely trying to destroy her 'goddess' image. If these events were made know to others, then it would create a huge uproar. Once news of this travelled to the purple-clothed girl's world, the Archaic divine mountain's extraordinary talents would immediately be stunned. They would undoubtedly say something like 'why don't you just drop down to hell'.

Fortunately, no one knew yet.

Chi

A transparent and divine horn appeared in the purple-clad girl's hands. She slashed outwards as she ran over. The little guy immediately released a strange shout before quickly dodging.

This horn was quite special. The radiance it emitted could break apart bone texts and directly close in, making it impossible to guard against.

"Vicious beast, what is this? Are you forcing me to fight you in close combat?" The little guy widened his large eyes. His saliva gurgled as he once again threw himself over. He was not opposed to wrestling again.

The purple-clothed girl quickly retreated, because this was all happening under everyone gaze. She did not want to roll around on the ground with the devilish brat and wrestle. If something like this really did happen, she would immediately leave in anger.

Chi

Dazzling multicolored light shone. Around her ears, a sparkling and transparent radiance illuminated, forming a curtain of light. It hindered the little guy, preventing him from coming closer.

“That earring seems to be better than the last one. It was refined by a powerful individual, making divine force flow within it.” The little guy’s eyes lit up as he became increasingly lively. He charged forward with full force.

Hong!

As a result, his fist blasted over. Golden symbols covered the sky, piercing through that curtain of light. The tenth heavenly passage was unrivalled, and there wasn’t anything that could stop his advance.

“Vicious beast, you should just stand still and be captured!” The devilish brat shouted loudly, and with the Kun Peng precious technique revealed, gales of wind blew over. Terrifying aura overflowed into the heavens as the divine feathers directly submerged the area.

“He really is formidable!” Finally, the elder on the side spoke. His figure moved and blocked that attack. With a push of a palm, a loud noise rumbled. It was as if the heavens were being opened as a mist began to surge. Multicolored light shot towards the heavens.

Hong!

This was a world-shaking strike. A wave of golden ripples were emitted, and one could clearly see it rushing towards all directions. In the end, the nearby small mountains, vegetation, and boulders were all split apart.

It was like the ripple coming from a God. As it flickered with golden light, it seemed auspicious and peaceful, yet it was extraordinarily powerful at the same time. It was a force that couldn’t be defended against that swept through this area.

“My meat soup!” The little guy cried out loudly as he protected a certain area to make sure that it didn’t collapse.

In the distance, everyone was terrified. They were inwardly rejoicing that they stood far enough away, or else they would have immediately exploded into a bloody paste after being swept by the golden ripple.

This was just too terrifying... What kind of power was this?

Everyone shivered. What kind of background did that elder have? He seems to have the ability to fight with someone at the tenth heavenly passage. It was too shocking and excessively terrifying!

“Are you part of her clan?” The little guy was suspicious as he vigilantly observed everything in front of him.

This elder was too mysterious. The strength he possessed seemed a bit excessive. He was clearly just standing there, yet it gave people an illusory feeling, as if he stood aloof from the Void God Realm.

“Correct!” The elder nodded.

“But you don’t seem like a vicious beast.” The little guy scratched his head in puzzlement. He was a bit doubtful, because an aged vicious beast should seem more terrifying. They usually possessed a mighty divine innate gift. Currently, he only received a peaceful and auspicious feeling.

“Devilish child, you are speaking nonsense!” The elder reprimanded.

“Whatever. Big vicious beast, come again!” The little guy rushed over again. He was quite excited because he was able to meet this type of opponent.

After hearing how the little guy addressed him, the elder blew at his beard and scowled.

Hong!

A huge battle erupted between the two. The devilish brat shouted out before vigorously leaping over. His entire body surged with auspicious light, and it was so powerful that it made people feel despair.

His arms and legs began to move about. Every move and form possessed an extreme power, enough to push back anything. It was world-shaking.

The great powers’ experts were all trembling. This type of strength, this type of appearance was truly worthy of the words ‘Supreme Youth’. There was the disposition of an unmatched deity!

The elder was shocked. As the battle continued, he began to feel it becoming more and more strenuous. The devilish brat's power was too fierce and firm, making his arm feel an almost unbearable pain.

"I know that there is a supreme treasure protecting your arms that possesses a divine creature's aura. Otherwise, you wouldn't be able to endure until now!" The devilish child realized that this elder had opened nine heavenly passages.

The tenth passage was supreme, and once matured, would overlook everything under the heavens. They would be able to command everything, because such a being would truly be unrivalled. However, it was truly a rarely seen thing.

"Stop, I have something to say." The elder spoke.

"Hand over what's protecting your arm." The little guy attacked violently. His eyes were focused on that supreme treasure.

With a honglong sound, a purple Suan Ni rushed out, throwing itself towards that elder with a world-changing divine might. The tremendous lightning hid the sky and covered the earth, the electricity terrifying everyone.

Peng

Finally, the elder couldn't support himself anymore and was sent flying. Smoke was emitted, and his entire head of hair stood erect.

"Stop, I came to look for you regarding some matters. Youngster, don't be so impatient." After the elder spoke, an imposing aura was released. It was as if a supreme deity was looking down, descending into this world.

However, the devilish child didn't seem to care. His eyes lit up, and he wasn't willing to give up on that armguard. He frantically attacked over with an inexhaustible strength around his body, not carrying the slightest hint of loosening up.

"Impudent!" The elder shouted loudly, his voice like thunder as it shook the world. His body lit up, and terrifying aura overflowed into the heavens. It was as if a supreme creature resurrected.

However, the devilish brat was completely without fear. He began to argue noisily, "You're the impudent one."

He was extremely energetic, striking frantically with a barrage of attacks. He had his eyes set on the elder's armguard. His saliva watered, and he was brave to a ridiculous level as he became increasingly valiant.

Everyone was shocked.

The purple-haired girl was stupefied. This fellow was too violent! Could it be that he really couldn't guess her grandfather's identity? No matter what, the Archaic divine mountain was something that would make commoners tremble.

Hong!

The devilish brat was strong and powerful. The Kun Peng wings flapped, making the elder tumble back. Following that, the Suan Ni precious techniques flew out. The electricity made his entire body spasm out before emitting strands of black smoke.

"You are making me absolutely furious!"

The elder turned around and left, no longer fighting zealously. What kind of identity did he have? Yet in the end, he was given a beating by an immature brat.

He truly did not want to stay here any longer.

“Where are you going? Leave behind my armguard!” The devilish brat cried out loudly. He was extremely brave, and after fighting to this point, he didn’t feel the slightest bit tired. He was still full of life as he rushed over.

Hong!

The two individuals tangled together, and the devilish brat began to fight fiercely with him. He was thrown down, and with a hong sound, a huge human shaped hole appeared as dust filled the air.

In the distance, the purple-clothed girl’s small mouth opened. “The elder is so powerful, ruling over an area of the Archaic divine mountain. Who would be able to put him in such a miserable state? Today, the devilish child was actually this stubborn, beating up such a supreme powerful existence.

“Absolutely infuriating!”

The elder was furious. His entire body erupted with symbols, making him truly seem like a deity. The little guy was overturned in an instant. He was seething with anger as he rushed over murderously.

Everyone was mind-blown. This elder shouldn’t be a true deity, right?

The little guy was joyful and not scared at all. He was still bold and unrestrained, crying out with ao ao sounds as he rushed forward. A large golden hand was formed, grabbing the elder by the neck. A fish carrying symbols immediately smashed over.

Peng

The elder released a muffled snort. He was beaten to such a state, and his eyes were even purple as he staggered in retreat.

“Great vicious beast, give me your armguard!” The little guy’s large eyes shone. He was like a lively monkey, arguing noisily as he jumped down to fight with the elder.

In the distance, everyone was petrified. The battle had reached such a state, making everyone frightened. They could guess just how terrifying the elder’s identity was. He came from the Archaic divine mountain, so he was definitely a supreme expert, and could even be a deity!

However, the little guy didn’t care about all this. There was a surplus of energy inside of him as they fought. He was not scared in the slightest, because even if heavenly deities came, he would still beat them up.

“Devilish brat, stop! This old one has a great fate for you, a huge opportunity!” The elder shouted.

The devilish brat temporarily stayed his hand. Before waiting for him to say something else, he once again said the sentence, “Give me the armguard!” His expression was fiery, and there was nothing else in his eyes. He had them set on the pair of supreme treasures.

“If you knew what kind of origins it has, would you still dare to ask for it?” The elder shouted.

“What kind of background?” The devilish brat asked.

“This is the weapon of a deity. After knowing this, do you still want to receive it?” The elder was extremely angry.

With this sentence released, the little guy’s eyes immediately became round. He seemed to have become dumbfounded, and didn’t say anything.

“Do you understand fear now?” The elder snorted.

“Give me the armguard!” The devilish brat began to shout loudly, seeming to be even more jumpy now. He seemed to be hopping as he rushed over, becoming even more like a monkey as he frantically beat up the elder.

Peng

The elder once again suffered a strike, receiving a black eye. He was so furious that he was driven mad as he roared towards the heavens. This fucker truly did not follow heavenly reason! He had never met such a money grubbing devilish child that even dared to beat up existences from the Archaic divine mountain.

Originally, he wanted to discuss something with him. However, he never thought that they would fight fiercely, that the little guy would be stirred up like so. He shouted as he ran up to fight endlessly.

“Grandfather, since you are being suppressed here, let me help!” The purple-clothed girl spoke, because she couldn’t watch any more.

Her eyes flowed with multicolored light. She looked like she came out of a fantasy or dream. Her fine nose stuck out, her red lips were moist, and her white teeth were sparkling. She seemed extremely otherworldly and magnificent.

“Vicious beast, come over! Do you think I’m scared of you?!” The devilish brat shouted as he threw himself over. He penetrated the curtain of light to fight with her, and in the end, he grabbed one of her jade-like hands before directly wrestling with her.

“This devilish brat!” The elder was furious.

As for the purple-clothed girl, she was gnashing her teeth in anger. She was beyond angry at this point.

Chapter 222 – Technique from Archaic Vicious Ten

The little guy clung to his opponent's arm, and threw her down. Burning symbols followed, and with a hong sound, she smashed into the ground, causing earth and rocks to fly everywhere.

At the same time, his palm began to surge with multicolored light. An expanse of golden symbols descended like a great downpour to subdue the purple-clothed girl.

With a weng sound, a curtain of light soared. The purple-clothed girl's sparkling earpiece began to emit light. The radiance wrapped around her before quickly rushing out to avoid this strike.

"Youngster, stay your hand." The elder once again arrived to fight the devilish child.

The little guy was looking for a gap to exploit while fighting him. The opposing party had that armguard, and even though it was suppressed by the laws of this world, it was still rather terrifying.

"Stop! I have something to say. I am going to give you a great opportunity." The elder spoke in a deep voice that was extremely imposing. There was a type of intangible aura that poured over.

"Why are you making things sound so needlessly complicated? If you have something to say, then just say it." The little guy didn't seem to care about his proposal, and was even less scared of his prestige. Within this world, the tenth heavenly passage reigned supreme.

He naturally didn't believe the opposing party. The purple-clothed girl was definitely an enemy not friend. After being chased after from the Hundred Shattering Mountains until now, how could she suddenly have a change of heart and give him a great opportunity?

"Are you doubting this old one?" The elder spoke. His words created a rumbling sound, as if thunder was echoing here.

"Your granddaughter hates me to death, and every time she sees me she would want to chew me out. Why would she bring you over to give me a great opportunity?” The little guy looked at him with contempt, as if he was looking down on him.

“Devilish child!” The elder’s face was thoroughly red. What kind of look was this? It had already been many years since the last time he was looked at like this.

Peng

As a result, because of a single mishap, he was struck by the little guy's palm. He was thrown back with a pu tong sound, smashing apart a stone mountain. Rocks were blasted into the air.

"Just speak. What do you want with me? You better not bring up the bronze precious book." The devilish brat's vitality was too exuberant. He rushed over while shouting, continuing his attacks.

From his perspective, both of them were enemies. It was impossible for them to have a great opportunity for him, so there was no way he would be tricked. There was no way he would ever think that purple-clothed vicious beast would suddenly change her feelings for him.

"Grandpa!" The purple-clothed girl was startled and immediately rushed towards the pile of rubble. She feared that the elder suffered some serious injury, so she became even more furious. Her sparkling white beautiful face was full of unwillingness.

She wanted to beat him violently, but she was outmatched.

Her grandfather was what kind of person? If his identity was revealed, then this great wastelands would be shaking, yet currently, the devilish brat was sent flying. It was truly unbelievable.

"You guys shouldn't be attacking me for my precious bronze book, right?" The little guy mocked before attacking again.

He was quite sure that the purple-clothed girl always wanted to beat him up, so it was impossible for the grudge between them to vanish so fast. If not for his body being so strong when he fought her at close quarters, he would have been killed by her precious techniques within the Hundred Shattering Mountains.

From the beginning until now, the purple-clothed girl always wanted to get revenge, so how could she have suddenly changed her mind? Especially after inviting such a 'great vicious beast' over, he definitely had to stay vigilant.

As a result, the little guy wasn't moved in the slightest and continued to attack fiercely. The Horned Dragon didn't treat him well, and as a result was suppressed and almost turned into soup.

If the elder wanted to trick him, then there was nothing to be scared of either. He believed that he was unmatched here, so even if the opposing party brought over a deity, he would still be without fear.

Hong!

The Suan Ni precious technique was brought out, causing wind and lightning to fly about chaotically. Purple colored symbols began to arrange themselves, and they were absolutely terrifying as they submerged everything in front. The elder was once again sent flying.

If not for that armguard, then he definitely would have been blown to pieces since he wasn't the little guy's opponent. This was a supreme youth, and within this world, he could look down on all of his opponents.

"Fine, this old one admits that he wanted to suppress you, but after hearing that you broke through the tenth heavenly passage, I've changed my mind." The elder truly had enough and began to spill the beans. Otherwise, he truly feared that this devilish brat would never let him go.

"I want to ask, are you a divine creature?" The devilish brat's expression changed. He didn't understand what he was saying, but was actually somewhat interested.

"Why do you want to know such a thing?" The elder was astonished.

"Because I'm curious! After fighting like this, a small divine existence was even beaten up by me." The devilish brat spoke mischievously as he laughed continuously.

The elder's face immediately darkened. "Stop dreaming!"

This battle truly made him feel suffocated. Such an incredible supreme expert was fighting with a devilish child in such a vicious manner! If news of this spread, where would he even show his face?

Hong!

The little guy once again made his move. Thunder struck down, and the elder's entire body was charred black by the electricity. His hair was standing straight out, cutting a sorry figure.

“You still dare to attack?!” The elder was furious, his imposing aura surfacing again.

“What do I have to be scared of? You came because of your granddaughter to suppress me, so you’re obviously an enemy.” The little guy directly began to speak noisily.

“Are you not scared of my identity in the real world?”

“What is there to be scared of? Since I had the ability to open up ten heavenly passages, do you really think I would be inferior to you guys?” The little guy once again looked at him with scorn. It represented that he had power to back himself up as well.

With this sentence released, everyone began to feel their bodies shiver and their minds tremble from fear. There were people that had doubts a long time ago that this fellow’s origins weren’t simple, and that he entered the Heaven Mending Pavilion simply to train himself.

Now that he spoke these words, it immediately gave quite a few people a scare.

In addition, he had just given that elder a beating! It was done with absolutely no restraint, so after taking all of this into consideration, wasn’t the credibility extremely high?

At this moment, quite a few people’s fine hairs began to stand up. They felt a layer of goose bumps on their skin, along with a wave of dread. This was especially startling for those great hostile powers, because they were truly beginning to consider what to do.

Hong!

The little guy’s tenth heavenly passage opened, and it was as if a volcano began to surge, causing ‘magma’ to boil. It was incomparably dazzling as it submerged him, replenishing his essence energy as he continued to battle.

Everyone was frightened. He established the tenth heavenly passage after all, and it was now real in front of their eyes, stirring up a huge commotion.

“Could he be the descendant of a deity?” Many people became uncertain after his words and actions. With the appearance of his divine might, they all felt that he did not speak nonsense just now.

The elder rushed forward to block the little guy. He fought while saying, “The things I need to discuss with you is extremely important and cannot be randomly shouted out. They need to be discussed in a quiet and peaceful place.”

“Give me one of the armguards then. You don’t have to hand over both.” The devilish child set a condition. He did not feel the slightest bit of reverence for an existence from the Archaic divine mountain.

The longer they were here, the more those people quaked in fear, feeling like this fellow’s background was incredible.

“What I want to say is — A precious technique from the Archaic vicious ten, one that is countless times more precious than these artifacts!” The elder said under his breath.

The little guy suddenly stopped. His eyes widened until they were round, and his attention was finally attracted. This was truly what he wished for the most.

The Horned Dragon was lying on the ground with its body of brilliant scales unconscious this whole time. The little guy walked over and sat on top of him. After seeing this action, all of the outstanding heroes began to shake uncontrollably.

That was a pure-blooded creature, yet he just sat his butt down on it like that! It truly made people speechless.

“Smells so good!” The soup in the pot was sparkling and translucent. The little guy lifted it and began to drink as he ate the chunks of Horned Dragon Meat with delight.

The elder walked forward and began to sigh. He had truly aged... The things that this little fart of a child did truly amazed him. This was a bit too unbridled! No wonder he shouted for his granddaughter to protect his village! Comparatively, they were already rather fortunate, because this Horned Dragon was truly out of luck.

“You should just let him go. This old one can step in so that it doesn’t hold any grudges,” said the elder.

“Make your granddaughter not hate me first. She’s always forcing me to wrestle with her.” The little guy lifted his hand as if he was getting a headache from this helpless situation.

The purple-clad girl was extremely outstanding and otherworldly. When she heard this, she immediately wanted to bite him. Who wanted to wrestle with you? You’re always the one that gets stirred up, running and yelling at me.

“It’s always you that provoke me!”

“Nonsense! If it’s not because of you chasing me down every time you see me, why would I be forced to wrestle with you?” The little guy wasn’t going to yield.

“That’s enough, let’s stop this for now.” The elder spoke.

“Just what kind of race are you? What kind of vicious beast? Are you going to refuse following me back?” The little guy was hopeful as he looked at the purple-clothed girl.

Killing intent immediately soared, the chill making people feel cold to their bones.

“Hey, old one, she’s thinking of making a move again.” The little guy said.

The elder’s head began to feel sore. His granddaughter and this devilish brat truly did not get along.

Finally, these things were temporarily paused when the elder said, “Didn’t you say you liked this armguard? If you exchange with the precious bronze book, I can gift you a pair.

“There’s no need to exchange, I think I can steal it from you!” The little guy spoke valiantly. In the end, it turns out that it was as he anticipated and that this elder did still have his eyes on his precious book. Other than to suppress him, the other reason for his arrival must have been for this.

After noticing that another battle was going to happen, the elder immediately closed his mouth. He was extremely unsatisfied inwardly. He was such a magnificent honored individual that commanded the great wastelands, yet he was actually subdued by the devilish brat’s vicious might.

“Then fine, let’s talk about the Archaic vicious ten matters.” The elder slowly approached.

Within the Archaic divine mountain, there have been people that discovered traces of divine descendants. Rumor has it that there is an Archaic Kun Peng nest in the coastal regions of the wastelands, and that a long lost matchless precious technique was hidden within this place.

“What?”

When the little guy heard this, he was immediately shocked. His eyes was opened wide and his heart was beating quickly. This was the precious technique that he needed the most, because he had always walked this path.

“After finding such a great thing, why would you look for me?” Quickly, he had a look like he didn’t think it was worth doing. It was obvious that this elder was not a good person, and it was clear that he was trying to scam him.

The elder was completely silent. The devilish child was rolling his eyes at him and looking at him with disdain again. How many times was this now? It has been so many years since the last time he was treated by someone like this.

“It’s a forbidden land that has many requirements. Only individuals at the spirit transformation realm can enter and exit freely, and it must be someone that established ten heavenly passages there to open the path.” The elder said.

The devilish brat began to despise him even more, and he even almost directly attacked.

This old fellow wasn’t some good person. He definitely wanted to use the little guy to open the way, and later on will definitely kill him off. Would there still be any chance of survival here?

“You can be at ease. We won’t be fighting among ourselves while seeking out this unrivalled divine ability. It’s not only our group of men, so we need you to display your tenth heavenly passage strength.

The little guy was at the peak of the heavenly passage realm. The next realm he was facing was precisely — Spirit Transformation.

“Do you even believe the words coming out of your mouth?” The little guy looked at him with disdain. Even though the Spirit Transformation stage was right around the corner, fighting with this old thing was still not possible.

“I believe that we can use a curse to seal a pledge. Should I ever endanger your life, then it will inevitably react.” The elder spoke. They really needed someone at the tenth heavenly passage, or else it would be impossible to open the passage.

Ancient curses were extremely mysterious. Once affected, it was difficult to get rid of. The little guy had disturbed ghost grandpa before, and in order to get rid of it, he had to fulfill his promise within the Hundred Shattering Mountains.

However, the devilish brat still did believe him. There was no way he would think the other party was so kind and loyal. Who knows, as soon as he opened the passage, he might be killed off.

“I think it’s more reasonable for you to go back with me to guard the village.” The little guy spoke to the purple-clothed girl.

At that moment, a tense atmosphere immediately rose and another fierce battle almost broke out. The devilish child wasn’t scared in the slightest as he looked face to face with the purple-clothed girl. She once again began to look at the elder with a rage.

“Please believe my words. The Kun Peng has fallen, but its unrivalled precious technique still exists in the this world and truly can only be obtained from that region. I came here to speak to you about this, and I speak with complete sincerity and without harm.” The elder spoke.

The appearance of the Kun Peng precious technique was definitely something that would shake the entire world. Even Archaic vicious beasts couldn’t sit still and wanted to go compete, but with the restriction left behind by the Kun Peng, there was no way for them to enter.

When the little guy said that his heart wasn’t moved, that was fake. He was currently walking down this path, so if he could truly study the true Kun Peng technique, then it would definitely link everything together.

Just like this, the elder began to persuade earnestly for a long time. The little guy’s expression was cold the entire time and did not nod his head once.

He really wanted to go, but wanted to give this old fellow a beating even more.

The other party knew that he walked this path. It was so enticing, and he was clearly trying to sway his heart, but if he did go, he would most likely lose his life.

“Old man, I know that you never had good intentions. You will receive my help in opening the divine gate, and then take satisfy your hatred by getting rid of me. It really is killing two birds with one stone.”

“Little friend, you are misunderstanding. How could I intervene in the struggles between the younger generation? Moreover, it is all on such a small scale, so it’s something that can be dismissed with a laugh.” The elder said.

“You came from the Archaic divine mountain... Help me find two individuals. If you can find them, then I’ll consider it.” The little guy suddenly spoke. He remembered that his own parents ventured into the Archaic divine mountain to pick divine medicine for his sake only to never return. As of today, there wasn’t even a trace of them. Just thinking about this made his eyes turn red.

“Who are they?” When the elder saw that things were turning for the better, he immediately asked.

“Let me think things through. Wait here for now.” The little guy turned around and ran away with whooshing sounds. Even the Horned Dragon was left behind.

“The great wastelands are going to become chaotic. If we can obtain this unmatched divine ability, then in the future, we’ll have a stable foundation. Youngster, you need to properly consider this.” The elder sent his words mentally, so no one else could hear this.

“Wait here for me!” The little guy replied. When he passed Huo Ling’er, he stopped and said, “Big fatty, thanks! In the future, I will definitely pay you back generously.”

He knew that the fire emperor’s troops were definitely sent because one, out of appreciation for him, and two, because of Huo Ling’er’s contribution. After all, they stuck together together for a period of time within the Hundred Shattering Mountains, so it was extremely likely that she put in a word of advice.

Huo Ling’er didn’t feel grateful and instead flipped out. “You are the fatty! Your whole family are fatties!”

The little guy ran away extremely quickly. The outstanding heroes frantically made room for him, not daring to obstruct him. This fellow even beat up a supreme expert from the Archaic divine mountain! With such recklessness, what was there that he didn't dare to do?

The little guy sped along, returning to the starting ground through the golden passageway. Following that, he once again opened some kind of passage to enter the ruined earth filled with primal chaos. The willow tree that took root within the void appeared again.

“Willow deity, I was informed about the nest of a Kun Peng...” He quickly told it everything. He wanted to ask whether or not the Willow Deity would be able to provide support when the time comes if he went.

In reality, he didn't believe that elder or any of the other supreme creatures. Even if they made an oath and used some kind of curse, it was still unreliable.

The only one he could rely on was the Willow Deity, and when the time came, if the Willow Deity was willing to help out and open up a passage, there would be nothing to worry about.

Chapter 223 – Deal Reached

“Kun Peng... An unrivalled expert that fell after so many countless years. What a pity, it was so powerful, yet its powerful tradition was lost like this.” The Willow Deity sighed with sorrow.

It was rooted within the void, and its thick scorched branches extended into the heavens. A light breeze was blowing about, and the primal chaos was moving about. More than ten green and lush willow branches gently swayed, almost as if it returned to the era of creation.

“It shouldn’t be a mistake. If the Kun Peng precious technique still exists within this world, then it should just be within that sea area.” The Willow Deity spoke after carefully thinking it over.

“Then can I go?” The little guy asked hopefully.

“You should go and compete a bit.” The Willow Deity gave a decisive reply.

“Awesome!” The little guy was jumping with happiness. He was incomparably excited, because he truly wished for this kind of precious technique, and was finally going to take a look at such a unrivalled divine ability.

He began to carefully speak about everything that happened, not overlooking a single detail to let the Willow Deity understand. After all, he was going to encounter other creatures from the Archaic divine mountain, so it was extremely dangerous.

“Within that world, you can kill him.” When the Willow Deity heard that the elder wanted to deal with the little guy before, he spoke peacefully like this.

The devilish brat was stupefied. The auspicious and calm Willow Deity was actually so aggressive. That was a supreme expert from the Archaic divine mountain! When it spoke, its voice was actually completely natural.

“Fortunately, he changed his mind.” The Willow Deity said.

If not for the little guy breaking through the tenth heavenly passage to make that elder change his mind, then it could have been entirely possible for a bloody battle to have unfolded. At that time, it would have definitely shocked the world.

Wind blew over and mist filled the air as the Willow Deity stood in this world.

Within these boundless ruins, the scorched black tree had brilliant green tender branches extending outwards. They were hazy and mysterious.

“Willow Deity, I opened the tenth heavenly passage, so do I still need to undergo a baptism?” The little guy was excited as he asked, because he wanted to share his joy with it.

“You are quite incredible, surpassing my expectations.” This was a sincere praise coming from the Willow Deity. Originally, it wanted to use the baptism to give the little guy a helping hand, but never thought that he would break through on his own.

This was definitely rare ever since the ancient times. Normally, when a supreme youth broke through, there would always be a supreme expert for protection. They would lend their hand from the side, because this was just too incredibly dangerous.

The little guy came from an unorthodox background, and for him to forcefully break through, his bravery was just absolutely ridiculous.

“You can go and give him your word. Leave quickly and come back quickly. It’s about time I give you your baptism.” The Willow Deity spoke.

The devilish brat shouted loudly, becoming even happier as he passed through the golden passageway as fast as lightning. He was returning to that world to see meet that elder.

“He came back!”

Everyone was astonished after seeing that the devilish child came back so quickly. They all revealed shocked expressions, and those that were about leave stopped their steps.

“After coming back so quickly, it seems like you came to a proper decision.” The elder was all smiles. It was as if he was relieved from a huge burden.

“I still haven’t agreed yet.” The little guy sat his butt onto that Horned Dragon’s body.

The Horned Dragon was truly unfortunate. The noble pure-blooded creature was almost eaten by the devilish brat today, and in addition became his exclusive chair. The people watching all became speechless.

“Could it be that you still have some other type of request?” The elder asked.

“Help me break open the eccentric symbols within this Horned Dragon.” The little guy said.

“It’s obvious that this Horned Dragon has some taboo symbols within its body. You should have been able to sense that you would explode as soon as you touch it. Even if a deity came, it would still be useless.” The elder shook his head.

The little guy wanted to get his hands on the Horned Dragon’s precious techniques, but in the end, it was just not possible.

“Sigh, that region is just so dangerous. If I were to help open up the passage for you guys, I wouldn’t have the strength to protect myself. How can I dare to venture into such a place?” He seemed to be frowning and worried.

The elder’s smile was frozen. He knew that this brat wanted to extort some divine ability, precious bone, or other things from him.

“I’m going to do my best for you guys, but won’t even have any assistance to protect myself. It’s just too terrifying!” The little guy began to shake.

“What do you want?” The elder asked.

“You clan’s precious technique...” When the devilish child saw the other party’s face darken, he quickly continued. “Of course you guys wouldn’t hand over.”

“Only if my clan was exterminated.” The elder said.

“Then I don’t have any other requests besides letting me borrow the armguard. I don’t need both, just one is enough.” The little guy said.

“Even if I gave it to you, you still wouldn’t be able to bring it outside the Void God Realm.” The elder spoke with his face darkened.

“I just want to borrow it and take a look. My request shouldn’t be that high, right?” The little guy calmly spoke.

He naturally wouldn’t believe the other party. If he truly went to the seaside, as soon as he lost value, then he would immediately be killed. Even though he already informed the Willow Deity, he still wanted to obtain a bargaining chip.

“After returning from the sea, the armguard will be returned to you.” The little guy said.

The elder frowned. This was truly making it difficult for him, because if the brat was to die, then since the armguard wasn't in the Void God Realm, wouldn't it also disappear? This was going to be the case unless they quickly drew out its soul.

However, it was truly difficult!

That sea area was extremely dangerous. If he suddenly were to die in battle, then there definitely wouldn't be enough time.

When the time comes, there definitely won't be a single individual there. They all came from divine mountain or other restricted lands, and so there will be many fierce and great battles. The sea area will all be dyed red in blood.

“Could it be that you guys were going to get rid of me as soon as I became useless? Killing me immediately after opening the passage?” The little guy ridiculed.

“Sigh, this old one doesn't even know if my later generations are going to live or die after this. You are truly making it difficult for me.” The elder shook his head.

“Then it's better if I don't go. Why would I throw away my life.” The little guy seemed to be resolute.

Immediately, the atmosphere became tense. The place was stifling, and both sides became silent.

“Alright, I'll lend you an armguard.” The elder nodded, and finally took off a precious artifact, handing it over.

The little guy calmly received it, but his heart was actually surging with waves. This Kun Peng precious technique was indeed shocking, actually making all of the Archaic vicious beasts come out. They were willing to pay any cost to fight for it.

“Grandfather, you cannot lose this supreme treasure! The purple-clothed girl reminded, revealing her anxiety.

“So selfish, what a waste for you to have grown so fat.” The little guy muttered.

“You’re the fat one!”

The little guy quickly put on the armguard. In that instant, he felt as if his left hand exploded with power, as if it could pierce through the heavens. However, it was soon suppressed by the restriction of this world, not allowing it to break through the heavenly passage gate.

Soon after, the little guy’s expression became serious, and a bit of sadness appeared. He transmitted sound, and drew out the imagery of a man and woman, to allow the elder to search for news about them. This was the precondition to going out to sea with them; if they weren’t found, then he would back out.

The elder was dumbstruck. This was truly a problem.

The devilish child’s eyes turned red. He firmly required the elder to do this, as well as not leak out any information.

Finally, the elder compromised and agreed to his request.

“Since it’s like this, then it’s decided. You already reached the pinnacle of the heavenly passage realm, so you can enter the spirit transformation realm at any time. We will wait for you!” After speaking, the elder turned around to leave.

“Old one, don’t leave! Let’s chat for a bit longer, give this young one some guidance.” The devilish brat urged.

“I still have things to take care of.” The elder did not want to stay here for a second longer. After confronting this devilish brat, he ended up taking a beating. His face darkened, and truly did not want to even look at him again.

“How should I eat this dragon?” The little guy scratched his head. After drinking a bit of the soup, he felt the essence energy within his body boil with a powerful greatness.

Even though it was the Void God Realm and everything was created from essence energy, it was all similar to everything in the real world. Similar effects would happen, illustrating how terrifying the deities were.

“Why don’t you hand over this small dragon to me? When we leave for the sea area, you guys might be crossing in the same boat.” The elder said.

“It attacked me and became captured. If I let him go like this, then wouldn’t it seem like just anyone could bully me?” The little guy definitely wouldn’t let the Horned Dragon go.

“This is the descendant of someone from the Archaic divine mountain.” The elder reminded.

The little guy had a look of disdain as he said, “So any creature from the Archaic divine mountain can forcefully attack others? Since it wanted to kill me, it should have been aware that there was a chance of being eaten.”

“What are you going to do?”

“Use some kind of divine ability or precious artifact to exchange.” The devilish brat spoke in a matter of fact way.

Dark lines began to appear on his forehead. This youngster truly angered both humans and deities alike, making people leave in fury. However, they still couldn’t tidy him up.

“It wanted to kill me! Old one, are you saying that after catching it, I still have to send it off?” The little guy chewed on his lip.

“You shouldn’t say it like this. As they say, you cannot know each other without fighting first. My little master will go out to sea with you, and after being around each other, all the past conflicts will disappear with a laugh. It can also be considered having a type of good karma.”

Two tall and lofty figures appeared in the distance. They were dazzling and in human form, however, golden hair covered their entire body. Symbols were everywhere, and they were actually two golden beasts that were known as divine servants.

In the distance, everyone was shocked. It was truly worthy of being called the Archaic divine mountain. To have such powerful creatures as servants, who could compare?

The little guy shook his head and said, “If everyone came to kill me and then told me that it was for good karma, then I might as well commit suicide. This kind of life is too depressing.”

“This old one is going to take his leave.” The elder spoke stated before turning around to leave, no longer staying here. He believed that the devilish child wouldn’t kill the Horned Dragon and only wanted to extort more out of him. Someone was going to be paying a huge cost.

The two golden beasts quickly displayed a great courtesy as they respectfully departed with the elder and purple-clothed girl.

The two golden beasts came from the Archaic divine mountain, and even though they were servants, their statuses were extraordinary. They possessed an innate powerful aura “Youngster, we admit that you’re powerful, but the Archaic divine mountain is not weak either!” A golden beast reminded.

“Are you threatening me?” The devilish brat directly rushed forward, and with a raise of his hand, golden symbols covered the sky, about to suppress those two golden beasts.

In the distance, the outstanding heroes were all shaken as they watched. This savage child was indeed intimidating, not fearing the Archaic divine mountain in the slightest. In his eyes, the two golden beasts reputed as divine servants were truly only servants in his eyes.

“Alright, we admit willing to recognize you as a young master.” The two were a bit scared, because this devilish child even dared to give the illustrious elder a fat beating. If the two of them didn’t back off, then it was possible that they would be eaten by those small savage teeth.

In the end, the little guy seemed satisfied. He obtained a lightning ancient technique that was incredibly profound. As soon as it was used, lightning flooded the heavens; it was extremely terrifying.

Unfortunately, this ancient technique was badly damaged and incomplete. It made him somewhat regretful.

Within Stone Village, a wind blew over. The great willow tree’s body lit up, blossoming with auspicious brilliance. At the same time, the hazy mist of the primal chaos pervaded the air, making it appear extremely mysterious.

Half a month had already passed since the little guy returned, and during this period of time, the Willow Deity was always like this. It was as if it was making some kind of preparations. It was extremely solemn, and radiance began to flow and pour down like water.

This made everyone shocked. The Willow Deity seemed to be extremely serious.

“This world will become chaotic soon, so I should make make a few preparation. This time, it is not just for your baptism. I also need to complete a transformation.” The Willow Deity dispelled their doubts.

At the same time, the Willow Deity pointed out that the Kun Peng technique was reputed as a unrivalled great divine ability, so it was difficult to predict just what kind of creatures will make an appearance. It needed to undergo a transformation and recover its wounded body.

Someone as formidable as itself also wanted to obtain that world-shocking precious technique!

It was not just one person that was saying that a great disorder was going to happen to this world. It made the little guy feel rather gloomy inside and an urgent need to become powerful quickly.

Chapter 224 – Extreme Baptism

Honglonglong!

The forest trembled, and the earth shook. All of the ancient trees swayed, and leaves flew chaotically into the air. It was as if a great earthquake happened.

A ground dragon roared. Its body was as large as a mountain, and it was over a hundred meters long. It was currently making its way through the forest, and a collision from a vicious beast like this was enough to collapse a small mountain.

A thick claw dropped down, crushing the ancient trees. Giant boulders flew in all directions as it directly trampled apart the mountain ground. Even though it looked rather clumsy, its figure was still enormous, so every step allowed it to travel a large distance.

However, such a ferocious beast was currently fleeing. Behind him, a small shadow was chasing from behind like a shooting star. Every single step he took would cause the ground to crack apart. Even though his figure was small, his strength was matchless!

Aohou...

The ground dragon roared. It realized that it could no longer move because that small figure grabbed his tail. It was as if he was carrying a sack as he pulled the ground dragon back.

Rocks tumbled about, and ancient trees collapsed. The little guy was dragging an enormous ground dragon as he walked out of the great mountains. Under the light of the setting sun, it was extremely horrifying to see such a small figure pulling a hill-sized giant beast behind him.

The sunset elongated their shadow, almost to a disproportionate length.

“The little guy is too strong!” In the distance, Pi Hou and Er Meng were stupefied.

In the past few days, the little guy underwent all types of training, and fighting giant monsters was undoubtedly the simplest and most direct way. He did not kill any of them, but rather captured the creatures near the mountain range that could threaten the villagers before dragging them far away.

This was already the eight giant beast subdued by him! It was absolutely shocking.

In the morning, the little guy got up early and left again. This time, he arrived at a waterfall that was five hundred li away. He stood below and resisted the force of the downpour.

A vast expanse of whiteness above him, and from time to time, huge stones would roll down. Light covered his body, and instead of using his fists, he used the dense symbols to defend against it.

“Rise!” he shouted.

Hong!

The vast white waterfall paused momentarily, and soon after, it actually began to flow in reverse, moving upwards. Golden symbols wrapped around it, as if it was a divine river.

When he trained his body in the past, he also endured the pounding of the waterfalls and the falling rocks. However, currently, it was completely different. With just a single breath of air, he released a shout that made symbols rush into the sky, propping up the enormous waterfall!

Within the eyes of mortals, this was simply a miracle. Golden symbols were everywhere, almost dyeing the waterfall golden. Symbols interweaved, imprinting them within the waters, making it look divine and incomparably gorgeous!

The little guy was training his body and consolidating the heavenly passage realm. He was waiting for the Willow Deity’s baptism, because it was possible that another miracle could take place!

He depended on himself to break into the tenth heavenly passage, surpassing the Willow Deity’s expectations. However, it still insisted on giving this child a baptism to see if he could bring about a new transformation.

At noon, the little guy arrived in front of a lake and suddenly jumped inside. Soon after, water immediately surged, and with a honglong sound, over a hundred jin of water rushed out. His body’s position became like a vacuum, separating a portion of the lake water and bringing it into the sky. He was like a flood dragon as he controlled and held the water in the air.

The little guy was training himself, but lifting rocks was already useless for him. Meanwhile, this type of practice was much more exhausting, challenging both his body and symbols. Even his mind and spirit were being used up.

With the opening of the tenth heavenly passage, the little guy could lock down everything within a certain area. Once this type of divine might was released, ordinary opponents would find it difficult to escape.

This was not some kind of precious technique, but rather an accumulation of divine might. After a large amount is gathered, it would erupt, almost forming a type of domain. This was what allowed him to force back all those heavenly passage realm enemies before.

He had reached the absolute peak of this realm, and could look down on everyone else in the heavenly passage stage like a god!

Finally, he once again exhausted all of his divine might. With a hong sound, the golden symbols disappeared, and the lake water descended with a sound of muffled thunder, shaking the great earth.

The little guy was directly pounded by everything. He was in a miserable state, and only after a long time did he crawl out from the great lake. He was completely spent as he collapsed on the grassy shore.

He had already trained to the peak of this cultivation, yet he was still not satisfied. He still wanted to advance more within the heavenly passage realm and break the limits of the tenth heavenly passage!

“I need to surpass the limits and become the strongest!”

The devilish child howled about. After getting enough rest, he began to throw everything into disorder again. The entire mountain range was not able to calm down, and all of the vicious birds and fierce beasts were frightened away.

Two months elapsed in a flash. The willow tree at the front of the village had shone the entire time. A hazy mist was floating about, and as the harmonious aura diffused through the air, it made people feel safe and relaxed. Cultivating here would result in twice the accomplishment with half the effort.

Recently, the big red bird, Ziyun, Little White the unicorn and the others all gathered around this place to cultivate, making great progress.

The little guy spent his days leaving early and returning late. He would torment himself until he was completely drained to completely consolidate the heavenly passage realm. In addition, he was still trying reach the highest level as he earnestly advanced.

Finally, the third month arrived. The Willow Deity once again became peaceful, however, this was only a temporary silence. It began to emit a divine sound, calling the little guy over.

Even though they were separated by over a hundred li of the great wasteland depths, the devilish child could still feel it. That type of imprint was like a streak of lightning as it sliced through the sky before appearing in front of him.

“It’s finally going to start!” He dropped everything and quickly rushed back to stone village.

The villagers were all alarmed. This was a major event, and everyone was nervous. Even Second Baldy, Octadic Treasure Chicken and the others were shivering with fear as they stuck their heads out to look around.

Hairy Ball was scratching itself nervously. It really wanted to rush over, but was blocked out, not allowed entry.

The little guy returned and caught his breath. He allowed the essence energy to fill up his body before sitting under the willow tree. He was extremely serious, no longer having his normal mischievous face.

“It’s starting.” The Willow Deity seemed extremely peaceful. It only spoke these words, and soon after, its body lit up. Over ten branches descended like divine chains as they emitted precious brilliance.

First, four jade jars were broken, and four drops of crystalline divine liquid flew over. With a honglong sound, they erupted into an expanse of magnificent multicolored light and surged like the waves of a vast ocean.

This was precious blood from the four great vicious beasts, individually created from the Heaven-Swallowing Sparrow, Mount Yi’s creature, Qiongqi, and Southern Meteoric Divine Mountain’s creature. It was a concentrated essence that had once been refined by the Willow Deity.

At this time, the four drops of blood burst open, emitting a divine might that made it seem as if the heaven and earth were collapsing. A powerful fluctuation like this was enough to completely destroy a village and the great earth around it.

However, all of these ripples were stopped by the ten or so willow branches. A vast wave of multicolored light was tamed, transforming into small streams. They converged to form a waterfall that poured down from the skies, cascading onto the little guy's body.

This was a type of miraculous scene, as if the world of immortals was being opened and the sweet dew of the immortal spring was descending. It nourished this youth in the secular world, refining his flesh and seizing the force between the heaven and earth.

The little guy closed his eyes, and his body began to shine with a brilliant luster. The divine light formed from the blood of those supreme experts entered his body and began to rumble. At this moment, all of his organs began to glow, and the multicolored light within his body seemed as if it could allow him to transcend.

Ripples were released one after another. The little guy began to feel bones burst and flesh move all around his body. With pipipapa sounds, it was like a segment of divine music, carrying with it a certain rhythm.

He had already reached the pinnacle of the Heavenly Passage realm, and it was difficult to advance even an inch further, so only his physical body was becoming stronger. Even though the symbols flourished magnificently both inside and outside his body, there wasn't too excessive of a transformation.

"I don't believe it! This isn't my limit, and I can still break through more!"

The little guy suddenly opened his eyes. His head of black hair drifted in the wind, and his eyes seemed to have streaks of lightning running through them. His body was surrounded by a rising haze of multicolored light, making him seem just like a supreme young deity that possessed a world-shocking aura.

Hong!

Within his vicinity, ten heavenly passage appeared simultaneously. This time, they did not pour out 'magma', but instead began to refine this multicolored light. They began to devour the divine essence of the four great supreme experts, causing rumbling sounds to sound incessantly.

Among them, the Heavenly Passage at the very peak was the largest, filling up the void as it commanded the other nine heavenly passage. It was incomparably powerful, producing an overwhelming pressure.

During these past days, he had continuously studied as to why the largest Heavenly Passage was different. He wondered if it was possible to make the other nine heavenly passage just as grand and imposing, because that would allow his divine might to increase greatly.

“This isn’t going to be wasted, right?” In the distance, the old village chief was astonished. If the tenth heavenly passage was going to squander this divine essence, then it would truly be a pity.

“He is returning the favor. Normally, he draws divine strength from the tenth heavenly passages, but now, he is nurturing them back with the endless divine essence. Is he trying to establish more heavenly passages?” Second Baldy was puzzled. He had already conquered all ten heavenly passages, so what else could he do?

Suddenly, the little guy released a loud shout. The symbols around his body ignited; his bones began to crack with pipa sounds and his flesh began to move about as inexhaustible essence energy formed a true dragon that rushed out. It split into ten parts around his body before entering the ten heavenly passages.

Honglonglong!

The rumbling sounds of the ten heavenly passages fell incessantly on everyone’s ears. They became even more brilliant and splendid, as if the immortal world was appearing. The ten heavenly passages were joined together, their dazzling brilliance shocking as divine radiance surged.

In the sky, the four great experts’ divine essence turned into a waterfall and poured inside. It was as if the heaven and earth were being divided, and there was even a haze of primal chaos that filled the air.

The ten heavenly passages absorbed it all, but it was still not enough!

The Willow Deity took action, lowering more than ten of its tender and moist branches. Suddenly, they began to burn magnificently, and the most tender tips of each branch released a drop of liquid.

The divine light connected the heavens. This was the Willow Deity's divine essence, and when the drop fell, it was as if the life force of an ocean descended. This type of aura alone made all of the vegetation near Stone Village grow frantically, because the vitality was just absolutely shocking!

Within the grass and earth, many seeds directly took root and began to bud. They rose abruptly from the ground and grew at an amazing speed.

On that cliff, the withered old trees and giant dying vines instantly emitted light. They became rich and green, directly recovering and obtaining a new life force.

It was a miracle. The Willow Deity's liquid seemed like it could split earth and heaven apart to create a great world. Even at the end of the nothingness, a tremendous amount of life force appeared!

In front of the village, everyone began to feel relaxed, and even their old illnesses completely disappeared. There was an indescribable type of comfort, because the life force was just too rich.

Even the aged elders felt their complexions becoming rosy. The essence energy was exuberant, making them feel as if they became several years younger.

In the center of the courtyard, the little guy sat cross-legged under a willow tree. The scorched black tree stood behind him, and the fresh tender branches surrounded him. Sparkling liquid floated above him, making him feel a wonderful feeling that was difficult to put into words.

The endless essence energy surged with noise before completely entering his body. Following that, it began to flood into the ten heavenly passages and turn into countless symbols. They were densely packed and numerous, bringing about another shocking baptism.

He depended on himself step after step to reach this level. Only after reaching this extreme realm did the Willow Deity give him this baptism. It wanted to see whether he was going to be the same as others, or if with this help, create another miracle!

Weng

The great vitality rushed into ten heavenly passages and caused them to sharply inflate. The ten heavenly passages could barely hold divine essence from the Willow Deity. There was too much, and every single drop of divine essence was like an ocean to him.

A majestic aura spread. The tenth heavenly passages rumbled before fiercely expanding, almost running out of space for the willow deity's divine essence. It was an enormous amount, and every single drop was as vast as an ocean.

Hong!

The little guy's body shone, and he released a breath of air. His essence energy was refined into light, and after rushing out of his body, it flew into the ten heavenly passages.

At this moment, the world seemed to have calmed down. Everything seemed to have frozen, and all of it returned to the void. It was as if he traveled beyond time and space and built the sky and earth!

That instant of time felt like millions and millions of years. His mind traveled from the great emptiness to the splitting apart of the heaven and the earth. His essence energy merged with the ten heavenly passages, forming an Immortal Domain!

"I think I know what I should do!"

Chapter 225 – Reconstruct

He was deeply touched by this. It was as if he suddenly understood it all and knew what to do next.

A single thought traversed through the barren universe, roaming through the great emptiness. It witnessed the creation of celestial bodies and crossed the vast ocean of time without end!

The little guy's spirit merged with the ten great heavenly passages. It was as if he experienced the era when the heavens were opened. For just a brief moment, he could sense the true wonders of the great dao.

It was extremely vague, but it was still intimidating. He seemed to have witnessed the establishment of the world, the evolution of life and how all living things operated.

His mind was clear as he watched everything. He was appreciating the profound mysteries of the heaven and earth, understanding the transformations of the world.

The primal chaos undulated up and down. Specks of light appeared, turning into supreme creatures one after another. The spiritual mountain shattered, giving birth to spiritual wonders after seemingly endless years.

The little guy was in high spirits, and his mental state was calm. Even though he was young, his ability to grasp things was astonishing. He was trying to seize those fleeting imprints and keep them inside his heart.

Auspicious multicolored light surged and a bright mist filled the air. His mind was fixed here, becoming one with the heavenly passages. It was as if the formation of all living things were unfolding here.

“Open!”

Finally, he released a light shout, and his mind was integrated into a heavenly passage. He was going to reconstruct this ‘volcano’ and reopen the heaven and earth to expand it.

Honglonglong

Divine force fluctuated and brilliant auspicious colors lit up the area. Countless ripples proliferated, creating a divine rumbling sound. It made the little guy seem incomparably sacred. His body was completely still, yet it was shining.

His spirit left his body and mixed into his heavenly passages. However, he could still similarly resonate with his body. Threads connected the two, as if they were divine chains that connected the luck of the heaven and earth.

Nine out of the ten heavenly passage were overflowing, and all of the essence energy were concentrated at one opening. Even the willow deity was like so, and while sparkling brilliantly, it was like a vast ocean that poured down, centralizing at one opening.

“Heavenly passage, evolve further!” The little guy grunted. He concentrated all of his essence energy and poured it all into an opening, continuously reconstructing it.

Speck after speck of light appeared, as if they were living creatures. They flourished within this heavenly passage with life force.

The power of creation, something so exceptionally powerful was difficult for him to obtain. Since the ancient times, just how many people could do such a thing? He was trying to attempt it at the heavenly passage realm, and the creation and release of life force was still something he could test.

When his divine will was condensed within the ten heavenly passages, the great vagueness of the world seemed to react to it, becoming affected.

Divine multicolored light diffused and auspicious lights overflowed this area. The other nine heavenly passages’ magma began to pour into this heavenly passage opening. The willow deity’s liquid seemed even more like a seed of life, causing this place’s vitality to overflow with an aura of evolution.

It was indistinct, but it seemed to possess life.

“Open!”

The little guy shouted loudly and began to repeat this with the other heavenly passages to create vitality. He was hoping to make them greater like the tenth heavenly passage.

Sure enough, it was effective. Specks of light began to appear, as if they were growing living beings. They quickly grew bigger, making all of these heavenly passages bright and full of vitality.

It was just like this great world. After the heavens were opened, all types of living things came into existence. Only when all types of creatures were multiplying did it become more majestic. Its liveliness flourished, becoming increasingly magnificent and refined.

Tens of thousands of creatures were growing, also supporting the establishment of the world. The order of the world was developed like this, becoming increasingly eminent and unapproachable.

The force of life gradually increased, remodeling this heavenly passage. It seized the luck between the heaven and earth, and the little guy imitated this process on his small heavenly passage, using the endless divine multicolored light to analyze and continuously establish it.

However, in the end, the little guy released a sigh. He was still too young, and his cultivation realm wasn't high enough. It was too difficult for him to establish it.

In the end, he was still at the heavenly passage realm. The creation of life was far above the scope of what he could control, and to forcefully push further would only trigger bad omens.

"Is opening the tenth heavenly passage truly the limit? Why is it that no matter how much harder I work, it's still hard for me to advance even an inch further?"

The little guy spoke softly. He watched as the specks of light within the heavenly passage exploded one after another. The life force and refined spirit once again returned to being multicolored light. He silently observed everything and carefully began to think.

In regard to this, the Willow Deity did not say a single thing the entire time. He did not speak or give out any pointers, and merely watched him break through by himself.

In reality, the tenth heavenly passage was already perfect. He had already reached the peak of this cultivation realm, and so it was hard to find any more suggestions for it. The little guy could only depend on himself to advance, because everyone's path was different. With too much intervention, it will only lead to a confined way of thinking.

Mountain winds blew over, and a haze appeared around the great willow tree. Misty haze enveloped this area, and only the ten or so willow branches were sparkling and crystalline. They descended around the little guy's surroundings, once again protecting him.

"Have I really reached the end of this path? Maybe it was just not left behind in this world, and those individuals who truly reached it only sighed, not leaving behind a single word in this world." The little guy said to himself.

Above his head, the tenth heavenly was massive, surpassing the other nine heavenly passages. It was the most majestic when absorbing and releasing divine might. If the other heavenly passages could become like this, then the divine might will increase many times over.

He understood his situation quite clearly, but no matter how difficult he tried during the past three months, it was still extremely difficult for him to advance further. He wasn't able to carry out these plans and reach those results.

It seemed like he reached the end of the road. It was difficult to advance any further.

"Could it be that I really have to take the risk and give it a test?" The little guy revealed a serious expression. A brazen idea sprung up inwardly. This was what he was thinking, but in reality, it could easily result in death.

He had already established the tenth heavenly passage, and could be said to have reached a glorious level. Since ancient times, there hasn't been any supreme youth who was like this, because there simply wasn't any reason to risk such danger, as it was merely a little bit of unreconciled feeling.

It was possible that there was still more down this path, but the method was not passed down in this world. He wanted to take that step and cut down the obstacles in his path to tread on his own road.

However, it was just too dangerous. As soon as he failed, he would disintegrate. The ten heavenly passage legend would become a wisp of smoke, and at that time, it would truly be falling from the heavens into the underworld!

“Willow Deity...” The little guy raised his head and looked towards those green and lush willow branches, wanting to know its opinion.

“This is your own path. Whether or not you can succeed depends on your own self. I am merely a bystander.” The Willow Deity quietly spoke.

The little guy began to consider everything. When he lifted his head and saw the scorched black willow tree, he immediately decided that at worst, he would just try again. Even the willow deity could be reborn from such darkness, so if he lost, as long as he was still alive, then there was definitely a day when he could stand up again.

This was the stubbornness of the devilish child, and also his young savageness. However, sometimes, people truly did need this type of boldness, or else how were they supposed to become strong, advance, and persevere unswervingly from start to finish?

“Qingfeng, Ermeng, Pihou, if I am to fail here, you need to catch a big fatty for me in the future to take care of the latter half of my life.” The devilish brat shouted out. He was prepared to go mad.

Everyone was dumbstruck. This fellow was behaving as if he was putting his life on the line. Shouting out so noisily like this indicated that he was going to do something great that could affect him for the rest of his life.

“Be careful, do not act rashly!” The group of people howled loudly. They revealed anxious expressions as they reminded.

“What exactly is he trying to do?” Second Baldy was confused. Hairy ball scuttled towards his head and began to shout incessantly at the little guy with zhizhi sounds.

Hong!

The little guy gathered the force of the nine-heavenly passages and bombarded one of the heavenly passages. All of his essence energy withdrew, returning to their original states. They began to emit divine might before starting to firmly react.

“Heavens!” The big red bird cried out in shock.

Even the village chief’s face also became pale. He stretched out a trembling hand and shouted out nervously, “Child, don’t! You are already a supreme youth, do not act so impetuously!”

He was actually trying to destroy one of the heavenly passages. This was too crazy! Who dared to do such a thing? He could easily fall here, and a slight mishap might cripple him, wasting his lifetime of cultivation.

“This fellow went crazy!” Second baldy was stupefied. This was too terrifying! Was he trying to destroy himself? He was walking down a path of self-ruin!

The little guy did not say a single word as he sat there. He was isolated from the outside world, submerged within his own world. He exhausted everything he had to assemble the force of the other nine-heavenly passages into that one heavenly passage.

Hong!

Finally, that volcano cracked apart and magma surged. It shattered within the void, making it seem as if the heavens collapsed here, destroying everything.

More than ten willow branches swayed, causing green multicolored light to drizzle down and subdue all directions. It did not allow those divine multicolored lights to frantically rush out, forcing them to return.

The little guy coughed out large amounts of blood, and his body began to shake. That heavenly passage was struck to pieces, making him receive a grave injury. This was an extremely dangerous action, and if it was any normal person, he would have definitely shattered.

It was because that surging divine might was comparable to a stellar river. It rushed in every direction with the ferocity of an ocean, drowning him within.

The one thing he could depend on was how strong his body was. Even though one of his heavenly passages broke apart, there were still nine more. Moreover, his body began to turn sparkling and translucent, becoming closer to immortality.

He already opened ten heavenly passages, so even if he were to destroy one of the heavenly passages in this cultivation realm, he could still endure it and preserve his life.

However, the injurious were unavoidable, moreover, they were extremely severe. Streak after streak of terrifying wounds appeared, and in the end, his sparkling flesh split apart. Even a body as strong as his ended up like this, so one could see just how frightening it was!

“Child!” The village chief howled, almost coughing out a mouthful of blood. However, he didn’t dare to shout too loudly in fear of disturbing him.

Shi Linghu, Shi Feijiao and the others all clenched their fists. Qingfeng, Dazhuang, Snot baby and the others walked over as well. They were all extremely nervous, and even Ziyun, Hairy ball and the others felt incomparably concerned.

They could only watch from the distance, since there wasn’t anything they could help with.

To reopen the heavenly passage, once again evolving the force of life.

When the little guy’s eyes opened and closed, divine light would erupt and shoot out. He had already reached the perfect tenth heavenly passage, and naturally had enough experience and understanding of this realm. He had to reform it once more.

In particular, he thought back to when he established the tenth heavenly passage.

“He silently stabilized his breath and used the divine force to refine the Willow Deity’s fluid. His body quickly healed and he started to create it.

“Exhausting everything, extinguish it all into nothingness before creating the heavenly passage once more.”

He spoke softly. He thought back to his experience within the Void God Realm where he had to evolve further. To form the most powerful heavenly passage, he naturally couldn’t follow the norm and had to go further, walking a different road.

Hong!

After recovering his wounded body, he earnestly pushed forward. However, after exhausting all of the divine might in his body to reconstruct the heavenly passage, an abnormality occurred. Right as soon as the heavenly passage was about to form, it suddenly exploded.

This time, the little guy's wounds were extremely severe. His body was in tatters, almost breaking apart. It was a spectacle that was too horrible to endure, and there were many parts where even his bones were revealed.

"Not good! After destroying one's heavenly passage, it's difficult to establish again. This is a type of inhibition, imprisonment by the laws of this world. After being destroyed, how could it be that easy to recreate." In the distance, Second Baldy was feeling a great fear inside.

The little guy however was not discouraged. If he couldn't even reconstruct a single heavenly passage, how was he going to complete what he had in mind? He was going to reopen the ten heavenly passages to become more powerful!

After walking to the limit of this road, he was not satisfied, and instead wanted to surpass it. He wanted to advance even further and break through this limit, stepping onto a path he could call his own.

"Again!"

His body was dripping with blood, and his body was splitting apart. The little guy frowned, but did not even make a sound as he began to try again. He was going to evolve the heavenly passage and reestablish it.

His mind and spirit were being challenged. His body shone, and the symbols that appeared were like golden butterflies as they danced lightly around his body. With a hong sound, a blazing divine light surged, piercing towards the heavenly passage that turned into nothingness.

This time, he used up everything he had to establish it as soon as possible. He repeated the process, and with the support of the other nine heavenly passages, endless divine multicolored poured over to stabilize it.

Unfortunately, he failed once again. The little guy cried out loudly as his body almost broke apart and blood shot out from his mouth. This was truly difficult to accomplish. To reconstruct a heavenly passage after destroying it was more difficult than even scaling the heavens.

Just like this, he continuously attempted it non-stop, receiving serious injuries several times. Finally, things turned for the better, because he could vaguely see the shattered fragments.

When that heavenly passage cracked apart, revealing fragments that flickered with symbols. This was a hazy expanse of the great dao's profound mysteries!

It was difficult to grasp completely, but even though it was like so, there was still a lot to be gained from even a mere glance. These were the world's natural laws, a part of an undisputable dao that was as old as this world.

His injuries were pretty severe, but he still continued to reconstruct the heavenly passage. During this period of time, he continued to study these shattered pieces. His body was already ruined to a point where it was almost beyond recognition, yet his essence energy seemed like it was improving, becoming more and more exuberant.

Hong!

This time, he was finally able to establish it. The heavenly passage was not destroyed, and those mysterious symbols that he was watching began to resonate, interweaving into his spirit. It made this heavenly passage release a rumbling sound, as if it had life once again!

This heavenly passage was extremely large, just like the tenth heavenly passage. It surged with auspicious colors that submerged this area, and a terrifying divine fluctuation.

He found the breakthrough point, and was about to exceed his current cultivation realm, advancing further!

Just like this, the little guy spared no effort to test every way he could, enduring the tormenting of having his body torn apart. Finally, after a day and a night, all ten heavenly passages were completely reestablished. All of them were now extremely massive, possessing fluctuations that were absolutely shocking.

"There seems to be some kind of new change!" He was astonished as he spoke to himself.

Chapter 226 – Change Again

“This is something that is going to frighten to death even those ancient powers!” Second Baldy was speechless, and even his eyes and mouth were opened wide. It simply couldn’t believe everything it was seeing, because this was just too heaven defying. Was this still a human?

The big red bird was also stupefied, watching from the side with a stunned look. This was too scary. This did not follow conventional reasoning at all, and was definitely an oddity.

After the ten heavenly passages were all recreated, they all began to ring with honglong sounds. The divine might was like an ocean, causing immortal light and auspicious vapors to surge. If those geniuses saw this, they would definitely be scared to death.

The old village chief was shaking from excitement, and even his lips were trembling. He felt happy for the little guy, and his voice was shaking as he continuously praised the little guy

Even Shi Linhu, Shi Feijiao and the others were stunned. They were all shaken. Soon after, they used their large fists to beat their chest with excitement, expressing their joy.

“Too powerful!”

Pihou, snot baby, Huzi and the others were also excited. They cried out loudly in celebration. They were the little guy’s comrades from birth, and so they truly felt happy for him.

Under the willow tree, the little guy sat with his legs crossed. Around him, the ten heavenly passages rumbled, creating a truly magnificent sight. Every single one was incomparably large, as if they were holding a world of immortals in place. Precious splendor rose and auspicious vapors descended; it was truly spectacular.

These heavenly passages were extremely large, and every single one seemed like the tenth one. The essence energy they emitted was like a divine waterfall, pouring down in a ferocious and astonishing manner. Those that were watching couldn’t believe what they were seeing.

However, this was what was truly happening. The ten heavenly passages were large and perfect.

In addition, at this time, they had already transformed. They were no longer like volcanoes, but rather like monstrous and multicolored words, becoming true 'heavenly paradises'.

This kind of transformation immediately made the little guy think for a bit. He felt that he could still transform a bit further. The little guy was stubborn, not willing to stop here.

Then ten monstrous and multicolored circles of light were like ten worlds. If he could join them together, just what would happen? When he reached this point, he became inspired. He decided to apply it and give it a try.

"Don't take any more risks! This is already enough to scare all those ancient powers. Are you still not satisfied?" Second baldy shouted, reminding in a loud voice.

This was indeed already heaven defying, and could be considered standing on glorious peak. It was enough to overlook the heavenly passage realm and show disdain towards everyone else in the same realm. To continue any further would make everyone feel like he was going too far.

However, the little guy already decided to put it into action. He was going to merge all ten heavenly passages into one. All types of auspicious multicolored light surged, and this place became covered in dense essence energy. They continuously surged, making this place incomparably gorgeous and dazzling.

The little guy was unsatisfied. He attempted to refine them, and the ten heavenly passages violently shook. They turned into one mass, fusing together into a single world!

Everyone was mind blown. What kind of strange scene was this?

Within the vagueness, people could see images. Majestic spiritual mountains, elegant verdant peaks, and divine waterfalls were revealed one after another. Bright multicolored lights scattered down, and auspicious beasts and precious birds appeared.

This... is simply like an immortal domain!"

Of course, everyone understood that these were just images and weren't real. These were scenes that appeared when the little guy was opening his heavenly passages, and they were reappearing now.

When his large eyes were opened, lightning radiance shot about. Only when one carefully looked would they be able to see this.

The ten heavenly passages merged, turning into a great world. It was vast and borderless, as if it could hold the sun moon and stars. It seemed like it could lock in the heavens.

"So fierce and powerful!" Second Baldy exclaimed.

Hong!

As soon as its words were uttered, that world began to violently shake. The ten heavenly passages simply couldn't truly be fused together. They collided into each other, as if they were going to break apart this region.

Even the little guy's body was swaying. He received a tremendous attack, and a strand of blood immediately appeared on the corners of the little guy's lips. This was much more serious compared to before.

The ten heavenly passages began to shake at the same time. If they truly exploded into pieces after colliding, then his body and soul would inevitably be exterminated. Even if a deity intervened, he still couldn't be saved.

The little guy began to meditate with rapt attention, and was finally able to separate those ten heavenly passages, allowing them to rearrange in all directions. They released an undying fluctuation, creating a river of essence energy that flowed onto his body.

"Not good, this road is extremely difficult and won't work." He could clearly sense that it was difficult to make this process work. If he continued, it was extremely likely for his life to be put in danger.

However, the devilish brat's little 'savageness' wouldn't be calmed that easily. He was carefully testing and continuously coming into contact with it. He still wasn't willing to give up, wanting to see if he made some kind of mistake on this route.

If he wasn't mistaken, then no matter how difficult it was, he would still continue on. The only thing he was scared of was taking the wrong path.

Hong!

After unending refinement and repeated mixing, the ten heavenly passages finally reveal a hint of fusing together. However, there was a huge problem with his body. The ten lumps of light squeezed together to refine his body.

Sure enough, the ten great heavenly passages merged together, and his body was the hindrance, about to be exterminated. The lights congregated, becoming parts of a whole.

This made the devilish brat stupefied. If he wasn't even here anymore, what was the point? Was he supposed to be the sacrifice to leave behind a heavenly paradise world?

"Is this the wrong way?" The little guy became confused, and then began to continuously try again. He was so shaken that he began to cough out blood. The ten great heavenly passages weren't stable, almost creating a big problem.

In the end, he sighed. This route isn't clearing up...

"It truly is wrong." The willow deity spoke.

It had a powerful deductive ability, and after seeing the what the little guy was trying to do, it could tell with just a glance. This route was using his own body as a living sacrifice, so it was impossible to succeed.

"However, this can result in a type of taboo technique." The Willow Deity softly spoke, and then entered a state of silence. It began to quietly contemplate.

Finally, the Willow Deity sighed softly. This type of technique harmed the heavens. It was excessively ferocious, and continued use would most likely resolve in the wrath of heaven.

"Yi, I understand as well. If the enemy tried to kill me while borrowing power from their heavenly passages, I could use them as living sacrifices." The little guy was extremely sharp-witted when it came to cultivation, understanding in that instant.

Living sacrifice! If the opportunity was presented, then they could use the heavenly passages to turn the owner into a sacrifice, offering them alive.

This wasn't the time to be absent-minded. The little guy once again calmed down and concentrated on the difficulty in front of him. He continued to bathe in light like before, submerged under the flourishing radiance while he tried to break through.

Within the peaceful silence, the little guy felt that he truly reached the peak of the heavenly passage realm. There was no chance of breaking through, and it seemed like this was the end of this path.

"Willow Deity, in the past, has there been anyone like me, completely reestablishing the ten heavenly passages?" He asked.

"What do you think?" The Willow Deity did not answer his question directly.

"Endless years have passed, and there are countless creatures that have existed throughout the boundless land. I believe that there has to be someone who walked down this path, and don't think that I am the only one." The little guy said. He was clearheaded, and did not feel complacent over this.

"It is excellent that you can be alert and have this type of reflection. Everything else doesn't really matter." The Willow Deity said.

"I want to advance further, but there's no way. Willow Deity, do you have any other suggestion?" The little guy asked for guidance.

"It has been your own struggle from start to finish. In order for you to tread on a different path, I cannot allow my words to restrict your way of thinking." The Willow Deity was serene and tranquil like before.

"I understand, but I still want to advance further." The little guy was at a loss. His expression was a bit bitter as he carefully considered. However, he didn't have a better way.

Two hours passed just like this. The little guy knew that he didn't have any better ideas himself, and it was difficult to open up another path. There was a chance that only a last opportunity was left.

"Willow Deity, I am going to break through with all I have. I am going to try one last time and open the ten heavenly passages again, allowing it to soar past the extreme!” The little guy spoke. He wanted to carry out one final baptism.

“Give it one more push then.” The Willow Deity nodded.

Within the void, the liquid was still there. They were sparkling, transparent, and brilliant. The little guy did not completely squander it, and was currently going to make an all out effort to make use of this divine liquid in one final push.

“Open for me!”

He released a loud roar, and the ten heavenly passages resonated. They were extremely stirred up, and as essence energy roiled, it became like magma before pouring down like a divine waterfall towards his body.

With everything he had released, the little guy threw caution to the wind. The ten heavenly passages flourished, releasing an immortal splendor. His body was also like this, and as dense symbols circulated about, it was as if his life was being ignited, blossoming with the most powerful strength.

He stood up and roared towards the heavens. His hand began to stand up, and essence was spurted out from his mouth. Symbols danced about, as if divine butterflies spiralled around his body. At this moment, his essence qi penetrated into the vast sky.

The little guy seemed to have ignited with energy. All of his power was released, reaching the most powerful point.

Hong!

The ten heavenly passages were opened, and they were all incomparably massive. They began to resonate, and as the little guy made them collide, precious splendor erupted.

“This...” Second Baldy’s entire body was covered in goosebumps. His scalp was numb, and he quickly backed off. This was too crazy! The savage child actually advanced to such a stage.

Ten heavenly passage began to bump into each other, and it could easily end up in the destruction of both their body and soul. What was he trying to do? Did he go crazy?

With a wenglong sound, this entire place became distorted. The ten heavenly passages were going to become damaged. They continuously collided into each other,

The devilish child roared loudly, and was not willing to give up. At this time, he began to frantically spit out and take in while circulating the symbols around this entire body. He began to centralize them towards his chest, as if he was trying to resuscitate something.

Hong

They fiercely collided, and the large volume of divine might roared. Together with the crystalline liquid in the sky, this place began to boil with activity. It became a vast body of divine essence.

The little guy released and absorbed, making the symbols congregate towards his chest. It focused all of the essence energy into his body, entering his chest. They frantically stirred about, simply putting his body on the point of exploding.

Finally, a great might pressed down. A honglong sound continuously trembled, its terrifying might overflowed into the skies, making even people's souls tremble.

The little guy's ten heavenly passages resonated, shining from his chest region. He began to tremble noisily, and only light and essence energy were left behind here. Everything was submerged, and violent fluctuations were released. It was powerful to the extreme.

If he didn't have the Willow Deity keeping things under control, then a great problem definitely would have happened. The surroundings would have received the most terrifying battering.

The heavenly passages collided, creating cracks. Then, under the oppressive attacks, the center underwent a terrifying change. In the end, a strange connection was actually formed between them.

"Burst forth for me, one more push!"

The devilish brat shouted loudly. He didn't want to destroy the ten heavenly passages, but rather wanted to join them together. In addition, he used the forbidden force from his chest, thinking of a way to make it resuscitate and participate in this process.

The ten heavenly passage revolved and collided. In addition, they were drawn towards the mysterious aura around his chest. They resonated with each other, bringing forth a mysterious transformation.

With a weng sound, the ten heavenly passages continuously revolved around the little guy. They were mutually linked together into a magnificent and imposing divine ring. It was splendid and dazzling, causing divine multicolored light to illuminate into the nine heavens.

Finally, they began to resonate, burning even more fiercely. It was as if a flourishing divine sun had appeared, suspending in the sky with the little guy at the center.

This type of scene made people feel fear. It was a world-shocking divine ring formed out of ten great heavenly passages. They were joined together with a single person at the center, overlooking the world.

Chapter 227 – Great Success

The divine ring up in the sky was absolutely dazzling as it surrounded the little guy. When it was calm, It was like a divine moon with a single figure at the center. Pure splendor scattered down, creating an auspicious and divine scene. When it was powerful and exuberant, the divine ring was like a fierce sun, and the figure at the center was incredibly terrifying.

This scene shocked everyone. He actually decided to go on such a path. The ten great heavenly passages linked together, fusing together and forming a divine ring. It truly was a marvelous sight.

Second baldy was immediately scared badly, muttering, “This isn’t just enough to scare the great ancient powers, but even those great Archaic fellows might be startled...”

Even the Willow Deity was shocked. Its ten green and lush willow branches began to move freely in the wind. Specks of multicolored light began to fill the air, making this place seem like the pure land of a deity.

As for Stone Village’s people, they’ve had stupefied looks from a long time ago. This was simply too crazy! The little guy was like a heavenly deity as the magnificent divine right circled about him with a stunning aura.

When had they ever seen such a scene before? They never even heard of something like this before. This was a path carved out by the little guy alone, his own dao that evolved to such a step. No matter who it was that saw this, they would all be shocked.

Hong!

Suddenly, the divine ring crumbled, and the ten great heavenly passages began to disperse. They curled and danced about, rising and falling within the little guy’s vicinity.

“What happened? Could it be he failed?”

Everyone was suddenly alarmed. If the little guy were to fail here and suffer the consequences, his body and soul would definitely both be extinguished without doubt. That was truly something to be scared about.

“No, he is still fine!” The big red bird cried out.

The devilish brat stood up, seemingly a bit confused. It was because he could feel that there was a lump of light within his body that was currently expanding. It was extremely astonishing, somewhat surpassing his expectations.

With a weng sound, he once again fused the ten great heavenly passages, allowing them to mutually interconnect. A dazzling divine ring was formed, and as it surrounded him, it made him look like a young deity.

His black-hair scattered down. His eyes were bright and his body was sparkling. Together with the magnificent illustrious divine ring, no matter who it was, they would all tremble and feel like a deity was descending.

“Even deities would only have this kind of appearance. Moreover, this radiance is formed from interconnected heavenly passages, so if their cultivation levels are similar, then they are going to be inferior to this savage child!” Second Baldy sighed.

“What a strange feeling.” The little guy carefully felt about. After the ten great heavenly passages were linked together, they rushed towards him. The force of divine essence nourished his body, and his supreme being bone was comfortably warm. That lump of light also became increasingly rich and powerful.

Strand after strand of essence energy surged and surged, entering his body. His entire body lit up, and the supreme being bone in his chest was already calming down after absorbing a portion of the frantic energy. It went into seclusion, once again becoming dormant. However, his body was still emitting light.

Finally, the ten great heavenly passages rumbled with wenglonglong sounds. The divine ring was blinding, and the splendor was light water as it cleansed the little guy’s flesh, nourishing his body.

“This is...”

At this moment, everyone could see that something was different. The light being emitted from his entire body was abnormal. Why did it seem like the dazzling light was becoming brighter and brighter?

In the end, the light within his body formed a central lump that shone with absolute brilliance.

“The ten heavenly passages are being nourished, and strands of auspicious energy are concentrating at one point... Is his flesh becoming a heavenly passage?”

The big red bird was astonished, feeling an extremely weird feeling. The little guy seemed to have transformed into a heavenly passage himself, becoming extremely bright and resplendent. His divine essence was unending as it surged in waves.

The devilish brat was constantly puzzled. It was exactly this feeling that made him confused. The energy within his body was unending and extremely strange.

“This should have been caused by the divine ring, forming a flesh heavenly passage... It can't be, is this real?!” Second Baldy went stupid. As he uttered these words, he found it difficult to believe.

The little guy stood at the center of it all, and was finally starting to understand. This wasn't a heavenly passage, but was similar to one. Essence energy surged wave after wave, but it originated from the nourishment of the ten heavenly passages.

However, if he displayed his might right now, it would certainly have the effects of a heavenly passage. It truly was complicated and mysterious.

Was this a heavenly passage? What was he supposed to call this? Even the Willow Deity felt rather speechless, but there was still a great sense of admiration.

“This is the nourishment cooperatively produced by the resonance of ten great heavenly passages...”

The lump of light within the little guy began to flourish with increasing vigor as if it was a sun. The ten heavenly passages were interconnected, mutually discharging divine essence to form this central lump of light.

The rain of light was hazy. It was incomparably peaceful and auspicious, making this place extremely sacred as if it was a piece of divine land.

“How are you going to utilize it?” In the distance, Second Baldy's gaze was fiery as he asked with curiosity.

“Isn’t it obvious? The ten great heavenly passages have to each nourish a precious technique, and in the future, so I will definitely have to find supreme abilities in the future. As for the one inside my body, it will naturally be used to command the ten heavenly passages, because it will nourish my unique and unrivalled precious technique.” The devilish brat said noisily.

The big red bird and Second Baldy became fearful. After thinking for a bit, they realized that this fellow truly was truly shocking.

The old village chief knew that this child wasn’t joking around. He had a supreme being bone within him, and if it was reborn in the future, it would definitely produce his own unmatched divine ability.

In addition, after going through nirvana, the precious techniques contained within would also become even more unordinary. They would transformation along with his body, becoming completely different. It was difficult to imagine just how powerful they would become.

“Wu, ten heavenly passages with a precious technique in each. Now that there is a circle of light within my own body as well, then my own precious technique has a place to grow.”

The devilish brat was elated. He was so happy that his large eyes became like crescent moons.

This time, he created a new route that made him stand out from everyone else. Not only were the villagers shaken, even an old bird like Second Baldy became stupefied. The Willow Deity even became moved, feeling a sense of absent-mindedness.

Right, this even drew the Willow Deity’s attention. After thinking and carefully analyzing this situation, it released and sigh and said towards the little guy, “You are correct.”

Recently, the Willow Deity often praised the little guy, and these feelings were all sincere. The devilish brat was quite gifted in the area of cultivation, far surpassing those ordinary geniuses and often bringing surprises.

The little guy continuously formed the divine ring, and then separated them in an effortless manner. There wasn't the slightest bit of hindrance, and as its divine splendor gushed out, it made people exclaim in admiration.

"This heavenly passage to raise the Kun Peng, this heavenly passage temporarily for the Suan Ni, this..." He began to count happily. His smile was extremely pure.

What made people speechless was that he was imposing and powerful just now like a supreme deity, yet currently, he was actually laughing like this.

When fighting, he possessed an intimidating divine might, but when he was calm, he was like the boy next door. It gave people a sense of familiarity, because the little guy was straightforward by nature and extremely 'real'.

"Alright, your baptism is complete." The Willow Deity said.

The mist dispersed, and those green and lush branches retreated. Multicolored light began to recede, allowing this place to return to normal, no longer being surrounded by the dense essence energy.

"I succeeded just like that?" The little guy scratched his head. Even though this process was extremely dangerous and his body was almost split apart, seemingly on the verge of being exterminated, he was finally able to stick it out.

The devilish brat seemed to be a bit dizzy as he reflected on everything. He was truly full of happiness, and in the end, he had a somewhat silly smile on his face.

The villagers woke up from their stupor, and a group of children rushed over. They were full of joy and excitement, and all of them cried out loudly. They threw themselves over, burying the little guy under them.

"You guys are crushing me to death!" The little guy shouted.

"Yeah, right! Even a mountain can't crush you to death."

"Exactly! Grandpa Chief said that if we don't put you down now, we will regret it in the future, and we agree. When you become a deity in the future and we become aged, we can tell our children that we even bullied a deity before. Wouldn't this be great to brag about?"

"Haha, subdue him!"

The group of children threw themselves over and began to wrestle and roll on the ground with him. It was just like when they were little; these comrades were extremely intimate, and their feelings for each other were extremely deep.

This kind of sincere affection and feeling will eternally be carved into the innermost parts of the little guy's heart. No matter how many years pass after this, no matter how the world transformed after this, he would never forget.

After tossing and turning about, the little guy crawled back up. The clothes on his body were wrinkled and dirty.

"Child, you aren't little anymore, and should go and marry a big fatty." Shi Feijiao walked over and stroked his head with a beaming smile.

When Shi Linhu heard this, he immediately walked up and grabbed the little guy's hand, saying, "What about our family's Huniu? Is she fat enough?"

"What? I didn't hear anything!" The little guy shook off his hand and ran into the wastelands.

"Haha..." The group of people all began to laugh loudly.

The little guy in the distance darkened his face as he tried to ignore them.

The group of adults were chatting, and they all seemed extremely happy because what they had discussed before was going to come true. With the little guy being so heaven defying, then it was entirely possible for him to bring back an Archaic vicious beast youth to protect this place.

'Child, don't be so embarrassed. We aren't forcing you to marry a girl from this village. Is there someone outside that was to your liking? Hurry and bring one back! We are all waiting to drink at your wedding feast." Er Meng's father spoke.

The little guy in the distance did not dare to reply.

"Right! Could it be that there's already several fatties out there? Hurry and bring them all back. We are all waiting in anticipation!"

"Haven't you seen brother Dazhuang already? There's even a child now! We can feel at ease once you have a few descendants."

...

The group of elders also began to laugh with hehe sounds. There wasn't a single thing they weren't willing to discuss.

In the distance, Ermeng, Pihou and the others were all making faces at him.

Only the little guy was completely silent. He ran away in a dejected manner.

"Haha..." Everyone laughed loudly.

"You can go to the Void God Realm now. You might receive some kind of reward." Right at this moment, the Willow Deity spoke.

"What?" The devilish child quickly returned and ran towards the village entrance. He looked up towards the Willow Deity and said, "The rewards that I am receiving, are those the one that the Void God Realm owed me when I broke through into the tenth heavenly passage?"

This thought was constantly in his mind, and after coming back, he mumbled about it towards the Willow Deity quite a few times about how the Void God Realm still owed him this debt. Only, the Willow Deity never replied.

"After the passage of countless years, the Void God Realm's laws and order is no longer as great as before. If there was someone that intervened, then a few changes could have happened." The Willow Deity said.

The little guy immediately widened his large eyes and replied in astonishment, "Willow Deity, it shouldn't be you, right?"

Could it be the Willow Deity that intervened?" He began to become somewhat suspicious.

"It wasn't me. It is a problem with the laws and order itself." The Willow Deity shook his head and said, "The Void God Realm has a spirit, something created by the deities of the past. No one is certain just what remains of it."

"Will there be any dangers if I go then?" The devilish brat asked with astonishment.

"Unlikely. That was merely a rare accident." The Willow Deity did not speak in detail.

"Then I'm going to go now!" The devilish brat was extremely stirred up as he cried out. He was happy and excited.

With a hong sound, the willow branch tore through the heavens and opened a mysterious gate. Lightning appeared and thunder roared as symbols covered the sky.

“My reward, I’m coming!”

After spending three months here, the devilish brat appeared once again in the Void God Realm. It naturally instilled a huge tempest. There were many people who felt reverence, and also many who were curious. With his appearance, a vast crowd immediately appeared.

The ones that were most anxious and hopeful were those from the Archaic divine mountain. They had been waiting for the little guy this entire time, and after disappearing for three months in one go, it made them impatient. They hoped that he would reach the Spirit Transformation realm earlier so that they could find the ten vicious descendants’ techniques.

Chapter 228 – First News

“The savage child returned! What is he trying to do now? He shouldn’t be trying to create some kind of heaven overflowing chaos, right?” Many people truly feared him. This fellow was full of energy, and only heaven knew what kind of things he was going to do.

Those great powers that were nearly flattened were feeling even more fearful. They were gnashing their teeth in anger after hearing about the devilish brat’s return, because who knew if they were going to be targeted. It was as if these people were facing a great enemy; their faces turned ugly as they nervously waited.

The little guy was completely unaware of this. After appearing, he seemed extremely familiar as he called out, waved his hand and patted the shoulders of random people.

“Why do you seem so familiar? I think I killed you before! You already recovered in just three months, truly not simple.” The devilish child was extremely friendly, giving people an unbearable feeling.

Those experts hiding within the crowd immediately felt their faces pale after being recognized. They took to their heels and fled frantically, because their injured bodies were far from being completely healed. They merely forced themselves to come to pass on some information.

If they were killed by the savage child now, then their true bodies would most likely be ruined as well. At the same time, they felt more and more suffocated and annoyed. In just a short period of time, a group of people were frantically running away.

“Ah, could it be that I’m familiar with so many of them? Were they all people that I killed before? Am I really that ruthless? I don’t recall killing so many...” The little guy scratched his head.

The group of people cursed silently. The amount of people you killed were few? After forcefully pushing everyone back, the Rain Clan, Tuoba Clan, four great families and many others all suffered disastrous losses, having their pure lands directly flattened.

The devilish brat appeared again, causing everyone to gather in this area. After returning to the Void God Realm, he became the hottest topic. No matter whether it was friend or enemy, they were all paying particular attention to him.

“Don’t run! Even though I still have some soul shattering needles here, they weren’t prepared for you. What’s there to be scared of?” The devilish brat blurted out with seemingly good intentions.

This was just too strong of a blow, clearly disrespecting them. Even though he felt that they weren’t worthy of the soul shattering needles, it truly made them feel upset after hearing his words.

It hurt their pride too much! The group of people were furious, especially those geniuses. They all felt an urge to never enter the Void God Realm again.

The devilish brat seemed extremely insensitive and enthusiastic. As he watched them flee frantically, he didn’t chase after them and merely saw them all kindly. He told them that he wasn’t actually going to chase them.

“Absolutely infuriating!” No matter whether it was the older or younger generation, they all felt the urge to spit out blood.

Rain Clan, Tuoba Clan, Western Tomb Beast Mountain and the others’ faces became ashen. They truly regretted coming here, because they truly felt stifled and wronged. This wretched brat.

The little guy also began to run with sousou sounds, leaving the starting ground. He entered the golden passageway and directly entered a higher level region to the place where he established the tenth heavenly passage.

“I’m coming! There is still a debt.” As soon as he arrived, he began to shout and scream.

Within the primal chaos and ruins outside the starting ground, the Willow Deity took root. More than ten tender branches pierced into the heavens, as if some kind of existence was being roused, causing the heaven and earth to tremble.

Within the heavenly paradise, an array of brilliant light descended from the skies. The rain of light seemed auspicious and holy as it swirled in the air, scattering down on this mountain range.

A circle of light descended, and keng qiang sounds rang out. Strand after strand of divine light burst forth, and streaks of auspicious light was spat out. Two pieces of bronze book appeared, dropping into the little guy's hands.

The multicolored light receded and the mist of light began to recede. The bronze pieces were simple and unadorned with a few patterns carved on it.

The people who followed along were all shaken. Did this child defy the heavens? After howling towards the sky for how there was still a debt, the Void God Realm directly dropped down two pieces of divine book. This really made people speechless.

Everyone became stupid, this... Was this real? They didn't see him do anything, yet he was able to obtain two pieces of bronze book so easily.

No one knew just how many people were watching from the distance, because the devilish child was too well known. As a result, there were many outstanding individuals that followed along to see just what kind of things he was going to do.

"So selfish. Where is the interest? Why are there only two pieces? It's been accumulating for such a long time already!" The devilish brat was furious as he jumped and shouted towards the sky.

The outstanding individuals watching were all petrified. How freaking ridiculous was this?! To be unsatisfied with the law and order of the Void God Realm, this child was truly unmatched. He was truly hopeless and incurable.

Wenglonglong

Within the sky, a dark cloud began to roll about. It began to descend, moving towards the little guy's head.

"I don't want it anymore! You can keep the interest!" The devilish brat immediately took to his heels and ran. Back then, it was precisely this dark cloud that expelled him from this place and labelled him 'unwelcome'. Now, it came again, and he truly didn't want to be kicked out for two more years, because that would be too embarrassing.

Finally, the black cloud dispersed, and the world became peaceful once again.

Everyone was astonished. The Void God Realm truly had a spirit and definitely shouldn't be provoked! They began to revere this place even more. It was difficult to imagine just how the deities of the past founded this place. Could some kind of existence have ex?

A sparkling stone tablet appeared, and the words on top began to shine. The recording tablet arrived a bit late, but it still came in the end. There wasn't that many words, only a few words: Heavenly Passage Sovereign.

Hong!

The outstanding individuals were shaken. Then, this entire area began to clamor with noise. The four characters were enough to explain everything, making everyone tremble!

Heavenly Passage Sovereign; this was a type of confirmation, and the pinnacle of glory. Even though there was only a few words, it still explained everything. Currently within the heavenly passage realm, he was the most powerful.

In other words, to be called the most powerful within the heavenly passage realm means that it is true at least within the wasteland's Void God Realm, because no one has broke through like he had within the this spiritual world before.

"This fellow is so powerful! Suddenly rising to power and forcing people back the entire time, just how many years has it been since such a person appeared?"

"Within the boundless land, there exists countless creatures. Too many great experts have appeared, and as for how powerful those legendary figures are, no one can clearly say.” Someone shook their head in disagreement, because this was merely within the wasteland’s Void God Realm.

Someone so carefree and unrestrained like the devilish brat was still rarely seen. To attack in such an unorthodox methods, his mental state was too disgusting. Of course, one can also say that he had too much confidence.

The little guy was elated, jumping around as he looked at the bronze book. Now, he had a total of five pieces, or in other words, he had completed half of the entire book.

“Sigh, after flattening so many great powers, I haven’t seen any kind of reward. Could it be that some kind of problem occurred?” He looked towards the skies and really wanted to shout out.

“Of course there isn’t. There are those from the ancient times that were way more fierce than you. There was someone who completely wiped out ten pure lands, eradicating even more great powers than you.” Someone replied from the distance.

“But I’m so good and honest.” The devilish brat said to himself.

“Ah pei!” Many people spat out these two words from their hearts, and these were naturally the disciples of those ancient sects whose pure lands were destroyed. Even though they felt hatred, they still did not dare to come forward.

“Why isn’t there anyone trying to steal these now? I’m waiting here.” The little guy muttered. He held the pieces of bronze book in his hand as if they were bricks, lifting them up and down as if he was trying to see how heavy they were. His action were extremely provoking.

Everyone cursed silently. This child was deserved to be known as someone who angered god and human alike. In reality, many people wanted to steal them, but they truly didn’t dare to. They could only conceal their jealousy deep within them.

“Youngster, I finally found you. Your were running too quickly.” In the distance, several elders were gasping for breath as they followed over.

These people began to emit divine light one after another, becoming bright and dazzling. It was as if they were enveloped within divine rings; one of them was in a circle of silver light, another had purple mist around, and there was even one where specks of scarlet multicolored light floated about.

Everyone sucked in a breath of cold air. What kind of experts were these?! They were definitely not ordinary, and were likely all formidable characters from ancient clans.

“Why would I need to run? Could it be that you guys want to steal my divine book?” The devilish brat turned around with an extremely excited look on his face.

“No no, we don’t have those intentions.” Those individuals quickly shook their heads. They truly feared that he would make things difficult, mowing them down and stripping them clean.

Soon after, the little guy knew where these people came from. They came from the Archaic divine mountain, because all of them were unordinary and had strange appearances.

Among them, an elder shone with golden light like a divine sun. It was just like a golden beast in the shape of a human, but golden fur covered the entire body. His age was extremely great, and his teeth seemed to have almost all fallen off.

The other creatures were similarly in humanoid form, but weren’t actually humans. For example, there was the spirit race with silvery light covering their bodies, or the wood clan wrapped in divine light. Their ages were great, and were old servants.

They came from the Archaic divine mountain, representing several different powers. They wanted to leave for the sea not too long in the future again, but could never find the devilish brat. Now that they saw him, they naturally rushed over.

“I still haven’t entered the spirit transformation stage yet. Breaking through isn’t something that can be rushed. Do you guys have some kind of divine text or supreme precious technique? Just give me some random guidance.” The devilish brat spoke.

Several people began to stare blankly. Wasn’t he speaking rubbish? He was already at the peak of the tenth heavenly passage and could enter the spirit transformation realm at any time, so how could he not succeed?!

“If you guys don’t believe me, then just take a look. I really didn’t break through yet. Give me some kind of Archaic divine mountain breakthrough sacred manual please.” The little guy’s skin was extremely thick.

“There isn’t much time left. We are going to move out soon, and can’t wait any longer.” A purple-clothed girl with divine aura rising in spirals around her walked over. Her voice was slow and unhurried, as if they were the pleasant sounds of nature.

“What about the news I wanted?” The little guy asked. Surprisingly, the little guy actually didn’t call the purple-haired girl a vicious beast. In addition, his face was serious without the slightest hint of a smile.

“It seems like you care about them quite a bit.” The purple-haired girl said. She was extremely quick-witted, and an intelligent light flashed through her purple pupils as she tried to read the little guy’s face.

“Turns out you are also a fatty. Hurry and tell me.” The little guy urged.

The purple-haired girl’s sparkling white forehead immediately revealed several dark streaks. She clenched her small fists, holding herself back. However, she truly felt like it was unbearable, and was already cursing inwardly.

“Nine years ago, there truly was an extremely powerful couple that once lingered around an Archaic divine mountain. In the end, they left the wastelands.”

“What?!” The little guy was shocked. His eyes were widened, and it was unclear whether there was sadness or pain on his face. He didn’t say anything for a long time.

“I still want to know more.” Only after a long time did he say these words.

“They left the wastelands, so currently it’s quite difficult to get any sort of news.” The purple-haired girl said. Even the powerful Archaic divine mountain could not investigate everything, especially if they were no longer in this region.

The little guy’s eyes were red, and he seemed completely different from before. He was extremely quiet, and it was quite a while before he recovered.

“I still want to know more detailed information.” He put forth his requirement.

“We can only do what we can. Currently, you need to enter the spirit transformation realm, or else there won’t be enough time. We don’t know how many different powers are going out to sea, and so there will definitely be a disastrous war. Blood will die the sea surfaces red, and bones will fill up the seas. You need to quickly improve your strength to defend yourself.”

“Fine, I get it.” After the little guy said this, he turned around and left.

The old servants each represented different powers. They were going about to ask for a concrete period of time from him, because they truly didn’t want to wait any longer.

In the end, they were all blocked by the purple-haired girl, not allowed to speak. It was because she knew the savage kid’s temperament; forcing him any further wouldn’t do any good.

“Father, mother, where are you guys?” The little guy walked slowly by himself. He stayed away from the outstanding heroes, quickly disappearing within the limits of the horizon.

Soon after, he began to pace between different ruins. The ruins of Rain Clan, the Tuoba Clan, and many others. He had visited these places before, and was currently thinking about his personal matters.

This made the various great powers all feel rather gloomy. They were truly unreconciled, because this was like visiting old memories. Was this an overview of his future ‘glory’?

It didn’t matter whether these outstanding heroes were content or not, because no one dared to go up and suffer misfortune. Currently, the devilish brat represented savageness, so no one wanted to provoke him.

Unknowingly, the little guy arrived at an extremely vast and majestic pure land. Spiritual energy descended streak after streak from the mountain tops, as if it was a small waterfall.

“Martial Imperial Mansion!”

The little guy suddenly lifted his head and saw a stone tablet sticking out from the pure land. On top of it were three words.

“Father, mother, you both definitely came here before, even though you are no longer here.” The little guy clenched his fists. His gaze was intimidating, as if two streaks of lightning were shooting out.

A long time passed, and the terrifying aura finally disappeared from his face.

“Who is there? Freeze, you are not allowed to enter!” Right when he reached the gate, even though there was still quite a distance separating them, someone already shouted, coming out to obstruct him.

“You... What are you trying to do?” Someone cried out in shock after recognizing him.

“I’m coming as a guest.” The little guy only had these four words.

Chapter 229 – Martial Imperial Family

When the devilish brat arrived, the Martial Imperial Family immediately became scared. This was simply a sign of murder. Even though he wasn't that old, he still stirred up the entire Void God Realm.

"You... What are you trying to do?" It was as if they were facing a great enemy, and someone quickly ran inside to relay information. With the appearance of this unrivalled disaster child, there wasn't a single person who wasn't nervous.

If they were in the the real world, then they would naturally be fearless. However, inside the Void God Realm, the devilish brat was invincible and could blast apart ancient great powers. After continuously eradicating the Rain Clan, Tuoba Clan and many others' pure lands, how could it not make people fearful?

"I came to visit, yet you guys are unsheathing blades and drawing bows. Could it be that you want to attack me?" The little guy asked.

The group of people backed up, but they did not let go of the weapons in their hands. Their great bows were drawn back, and it was clear that they were nervous to the extreme.

This was a special kind of power and influence. Even though the little guy was still young, no matter where he decided to travel to, there would definitely be people trembling in fear within that pure land, not daring to relax.

"Back down!" An elder appeared and shouted before coming over. "It is an honor to meet this little friend. Your presence brings light to my humble dwelling, we welcome you inside."

This was an elder from the Martial Imperial Family. After receiving news, he was the first one to rush over. He did not dare to show the arrogance of a king, but rather had a serious expression on his face. This child was just too famous, and he truly feared that the little guy might sweep this place clean.

"Elder is quite courteous." The little guy did not act disrespectfully and replied in a similar manner.

Within the mountain gates, the pure land's scenery seemed like it was carved from colored glass. Iris and orchids were everywhere, their fragrance wafting through the air. All types of rare birds and unusual beasts appeared. In the distance, mist was enshrouding a spiritual mountain, and essence energy was also curling about. It was truly a precious cultivating land.

There was even less of a need to describe the palace. It was grand and majestic, situated within the spiritual roots. It took in and sent out multicolored splendor, and as the dense vapors rose, it was like a divine temple.

“It truly is a good place. I wonder how many outstanding heroes visited this place to cultivate before advancing to higher regions.” The little guy spoke.

The group of people felt rather strange, because they didn’t know why he would mention such a thing.

“Sigh!” The little guy released a soft sigh and entered into the heart of this pure land. He walked past many enormous buildings, but he did not enter any. Instead, he merely wandered around outside.

Along the way, there was a palace pavilion with a small bridge with flowing water. Various hills towered from above, and there were spiritual springs that were rushing forth. The scenery was extremely beautiful; as essence energy was taken in and sent out, precious light shone brilliantly.

“Rumor has it that the Martial Imperial Family is affiliated with the Rain Clan?” The little guy asked.

When these words were spoke, they immediately made the others’ hairs stand up straight. Many people became anxious and frightened, because their relationship with the Rain Clan wasn’t shallow. They had actually sent out some troops to assist the Rain Clan not too long ago, but they were cut off by a great elder along the way and sent back. If everything was revealed, then it might truly end in disaster.

“There is a certain degree of relationship.” The elder that was guided him replied while feeling extremely nervous inside. Did this murderous thing really come here to destroy everything?

However, who could have guessed that this murderous thing did not make things difficult and only uttered an oh sound. This gave them another wave of nervousness, because they didn’t know what he was truly trying to do.

The little guy did not enter those palace halls and merely came to those cultivation lands to find clues of his parents. He walked by them one after another before ultimately releasing a sigh.

After arriving at this place, his mood immediately became complicated. He wanted to flatten this place out of fury, but after coming down, he once again lost those feelings, because he didn't see the people from back then.

Back then when war broke out within Stone Mansion, there were many elders and great elders that took action. However, today, he didn't see any of them.

If those people were here, then he wouldn't mind suppressing them and bringing back a bit of honor for his parents. However, towards these unrelated people who looked like they were facing a great enemy, it made him lose interest.

It was quite obvious that these people were feeling incomparably tense.

"Now that I think about it, I also have some relations with you guys." The little guy suddenly spoke out like this.

"What kind of relationship?" The elder asked from the side with an extremely serious expression.

"Shi Yi belongs to your family right?" The little guy spoke.

"Correct, Yi'er is a dragon among men, and did indeed come out from my Martial Imperial Family." From the side, an elder couldn't help but open his mouth. A sense of pride clearly manifested from his confidence.

However, he snapped back to reality soon after. In front of him was a murderous being! He was similarly a dragon among men, moreover, his performance after entering could be described as excessively formidable.

When such praise was spoken about Shi Yi, would it lead to this youth being unhappy? He felt a wave of nervousness and immediately closed his mouth, no longer daring to say anything more.

"Shi Yi... How many heavenly passages did he open?" The little guy asked.

"This... I do not know." An elder from the Martial Imperial Family replied. What he said was the truth, because Shi Yi never allowed others to know about his cultivation. After breaking through to such a stage, the great elders of the family still did not know anything.

“Don’t tell me that he couldn’t even open nine heavenly passages, right?” The little guy said.

Within the Martial Imperial Family, a group of youth couldn’t hold themselves back. They were all roughly twelve or thirteen, and one of them was not willing to give in, saying, “The Martial King even came out from his seclusion, and many other supreme experts were invited to protect brother Yi together...”

“Shut up!” An elder shouted.

They didn’t know all the details, only that the Martial King who was previously training in isolation came out. As for how Shi Yi was being protected, they didn’t know.

When the little guy heard this, he nodded and said, “After all, he is still my senior brother. We both entered the Heaven Mending Pavilion, and so there is still a bit of camaraderie.”

Everyone became stupefied, not knowing how to respond.

“Only, after growing within the Heaven Mending Pavilion, receiving so many great resources and even entering the ancient divine courtyard, he didn’t even participate in the final battle. It truly is a bit unacceptable.” The little guy opened his mouth again.

“No one knows exactly when the ancient courtyard will open, and so Yi’er cannot be blamed for not participating in the battle. He didn’t even know about outside matters.” An elder defended.

“Did he really not know? It seems like the other great powers all heard about this and sent their own children to take advantage of the great opportunity to submerge themselves within the rain of the deity. It seems like this time, you guys benefitted the most. How could the ancient divine courtyard be an ordinary place?” The little guy said.

“We do not know about that. They were all arranged by ancestor Shi Li.” The people from the Martial Imperial Family were hesitant on this topic.

The little guy was not unfamiliar with the name Shi Li. Back then, this individual was the one that sent all those forces at his parents, and also the one that did everything he could to shield Shi Yi's mother and the rest of her family. Within the old ancestors, he was ranked ninth, and his authority was great

"Whatever." He walked forward and said, "When is that senior brother coming back? I want to test myself against him."

With these words released, the Martial Imperial Family's people expressions immediately changed. Right now, who didn't know about his ten heavenly passage? He was known as the supreme youth, so he definitely had the strength to subdue an entire region.

Shi Yi was similarly shocking and illustrated, but the most important thing was that he had many trump cards, so outsiders didn't know just how powerful he was.

Stone mansion's people all had quite a bit of confidence in Shi Yi. He possessed the divine gift of dual pupils from the ancient saints to open the world, so who could contend against him? This was a natural divine ability! Together with the mysterious divine being bone, he could be said to be without equal.

In reality, the little guy never had contempt for Shi Yi. Even though he opened up ten heavenly passages, he was still in a serious mental state. It was because he knew that this small big brother was truly terrifying on the field of cultivation.

The most important thing was that within the ancient sacred courtyard, should be, if he wasn't mistaken, the recorded Heaven Mending technique.

What was the Heaven Mending technique? It was known to be able to mend the heavens, so as for how powerful it really was, it was difficult to imagine. What all people in this world felt was regret in their cultivation, yet this technique could make up for that, granting them another opportunity.

The little guy unknowingly arrived at the practice fields of this pure land. There were all types of weapons, as well as a few strange stone tablets that were emitting precious light.

"What is this?" He was rather amazed.

"These are our Martial Imperial Family's own record tablets." An individual spoke out.

The little guy was speechless. He looked carefully to see whether there were any traces left behind by his father, however, after looking everywhere, he could see experts from successive generations, yet there wasn't any records left behind by Shi Ziling.

This shouldn't have been the case, because every person had their own records, and only that generation was missing.

On the contrary, he found Shi Yi's monument at the most noticeable spot. It was incomparably dazzling.

"What kind of record did he establish?" The little guy asked.

"The stone tablet has the imprint he left behind. It allows others to see the laws and dao he comprehended." A white bearded elder spoke.

"Can I give it a try?" The little guy was curious.

Everyone frowned. Frankly, they really weren't willing, but since he already said these words, how could they refuse?

This stone tablet's materials were special. It was created from an otherworldly meteorite with mysterious force concentrated within. It was indestructible, and was truly a divine stone that was optimal for preserving this imprint.

It was sparkling and dazzling. There was a palm imprint on its surface, and even though it wasn't enormous, it was extremely distinct. Just by approaching it, one would be able to feel a wave of intimidating energy.

The little guy was extremely calm as he reached out with his palm, pressing into that imprint. In that instant, this place erupted with a most dazzling light that shook all four directions.

En?!

The little guy was shocked. He felt a type of mysterious energy that made his chest feel like it was burning. This was an imprint carved through the force of the supreme being bone.

After learning about this, there was a bit of coldness within his eyes.

Hong

Suddenly, this stone tablet exploded, splitting into pieces in the ground. Divine light surged, startling everyone.

“What happened?” Everyone became shocked. This stone tablet was extremely special, and was known as a divine stone. It was difficult to shatter, so what was going on right now?

In addition, there was Shi Yi’s name imprinted on it. Even if the clan’s ancestors were invited over to cooperative take action, it would still be difficult to do anything within the heavenly passage realm.

But now, it was blasted apart on the spot!

“You...” Everyone began to glare at him.

“I apologize, it was not done on purpose.” The little guy did not lie, because his breastbone resonated, causing a terrifying wave to crush apart the stone tablet.

There wasn’t much they could say, because even though they were discontent, it was still a stone tablet in the end. Once Shi Yi returned, they could recreate it.

“After coming to my Martial Imperial Family and creating such a disturbance, do you think I’m nobody?!” Suddenly, someone released a low roar.

At the same time, the little guy’s body began to shine. All types of symbols interweaved like streaks of lightning around his body. This place immediately became so dazzling that it was hard to see anything clearly.

The great restrictive formation was activated, and the little guy was trapped within.

Someone had just returned from the real world, bringing back a group of experts and trapping this place. In addition, these people immediately made things difficult by activating the pure land’s great ancient formation.

“Are you trying to get rid of me?” The little guy calmly asked. He was standing at the center, not having taken a single step. It was as if he didn’t even notice the extremely powerful restrictive symbols below him.

“Stop, do not create any misunderstandings.” The elders that originally accompanied the little guy hurriedly spoke. They shouted loudly to stop the backup troops.

“After breaking into my pure land and destroying Yi’er’s record tablet, what kind of misunderstandings are there?!” An elder walked up. His pupils were like golden lanterns as they flickered with brilliance.

The little guy could tell with a glance that this was Shi Li, ranked ninth within the ancestors. His influence was extremely great, single handedly shielded Shi Yi and his mother as well as commanded everyone to hunt down his parents back then.

Chapter 230 – Simple and Direct

“Since there is no misunderstanding, are you going to kill me?” The little guy was very calm. As he stood at the center of the great formation, he looked at the group of people in front of him, particularly at the one in the middle.

Shi Li had blazing and powerful eyes. Though he was old, his mind was strong and his cultivation level was high. His posture was always extremely good, so living for several decades longer wasn't even a problem.

He squinted his eyes to stare at the little guy, and wisps of radiance came out from his eyes. There was killing intent hidden inside him, but he did not reveal it right away.

This was a powerful youth that was known as a supreme being. He could look down on the Void God Realm, establishing record after record, so he was a big threat to Shi Li.

According to what he knew, this young man could become a formidable adversary to Shi Yi. This made him feel like he had a thorn stabbing into his heart, so he had been paying close attention to the little guy this entire time.

When he heard that the devilish brat come to visit today, Shi Li's heart thumped. He rushed over immediately, because he wanted to deal with this at the earliest opportunity.

When he arrived, he saw the young man standing at the center of the great formation, right in the middle. He wanted to immediately kill the young man, because if he was able to kill him by activating the formation, then everything would truly be perfect.

He did not know why, but he felt uncomfortable the moment he saw this young man. He kept feeling like there would be great consequences in the future, as if ominous things were about to happen.

“Young man, you are too arrogant. My Martial Imperial Family isn't that easy to bully. By breaking in like this, you are challenging the dignity of an entire imperial country!” Shi Li shouted, finally making a firm resolution.

Although the young man was extravagantly powerful, he was now standing on the eye of the formation. Could it be that he was going to defy the heavens? You have to understand that this was an ancient great formation that was known as an ancestral formation.

The Martial Imperial Family was one of the bloodlines of Stone Country, it naturally possessed outstanding methods. This was a formation passed down from an ancient guardian spirit that possess endless power and boundless terror.

The guardian spirit, also known an ancient deity, was worshipped by the entire country. How could the things it left behind be low quality?

At first, Shi Li was worried. After all, this young man once ate the decree from the Rain Deity. However, after seeing him standing at the center of a formation that will certainly kill him, Shi Li immediately felt reassured.

Even though the devilish brat was ridiculously powerful and could break apart this formation, it was difficult for him to escape this disaster unharmed.

“Ancestral elder, he did not break in but instead paid a visit. We brought him inside to give him a tour.” An elder spoke righteously, but he was worried at the same time. He was scared that an accident might happen and turn the entire situation into a disaster.

Many people wanted to kill the devilish brat, but did any of them succeed? All of them died, even many big families; these are all examples that should be learned from. It was so destructive that even their sacred lands were wiped out.

“There is no need to be scared of him. You all dreaded his vicious might and tried to reach a compromise, but there is absolutely no need.” Shi Li spoke coldly.

“Did you finish talking? If you want to kill me, then you might as well make your move.” the little guy was very calm as he stood there, showing no fear at all.

“You...” The little guy’s reaction made Shi Li feel as if he only struck thin air. The little guy was too calm, leaving him an unsatisfied feeling inside. At the same time, his heart felt a wave of restraining fear, making him feel as if something wasn’t right. There shouldn’t be any unforeseen incidents that could happen here, right?

Even though the decree passed down by a guardian spirit deity would still be restricted, it shouldn't have any problems killing the devilish brat standing right on the center.

Why did he still feel anxious? His eyes revealed his unsettled mood.

"If you continue to hesitate, then I am going to move and deal with you." the little guy said.

He looked ahead. Other than Shi Li, there was still another group of people that all looked a bit familiar. After so many years had passed, he could still recognize their appearances.

They were from the same branch of the family, Shi Yi's relatives. These people were precisely the ones that protected him and his mother, as well as the ones who attacked the little guy's parents.

However, during that battle, these people were far from enough. They were all sent flying by Shi Ziling's spear, and since the difference was so great, they all previously suffered serious injuries.

"Ancestral elder, please reconsider!" in fear of creating a huge disaster, an elder standing on the sacred land sent these words to Shi Li who had just rushed over.

"Kill!"

At that moment, Shi Li waved to give the order. The field was activated immediately, causing bolt after bolt of multicolored lights danced towards every side. This place became so bright that it was a bit terrifying, as if it was a sea of blazing lightning.

The interconnected symbols concentrated at one point, heading toward the devilish brat. That was the center of the formation, and it was currently gathering all of the murderous power to smash the little guy into pieces.

However, at that moment, the devilish brat did not run away at all. He stood at the center without any movement, and a circle of indescribable radiance suddenly erupted from his body.

The ten heavenly passages appeared at the same time, and it seemed as if they had erupted. After they collided together, no one could see anything else.

The little did this on purpose. The integration and connection of the ten heavenly passages created an absolutely resplendent divine ring. However, no one was allowed to see it clearly. The essence that was released pierced towards everyone's eyes like divine needles, compromising their perception!

Within the vast expanse of whiteness, everyone's eyes began to bleed out, losing all of their senses. It was as if they were facing a supreme deity, filling them with dread. Was this still the strength of a human? Why was it so terrifying? They were all within the heavenly passage realm, yet the difference was like heaven and earth.

A deafening cracking sound was emitted from the formation. Those terrifying symbols were all burning, and as the two forces collided, it was as if two great mountains had smashed together. Following that, the symbols collapsed.

Shi Li's eyes were swelled. He began to retreat as fast as he could as fear grew within his heart. He never would have thought that the terrifying restrictive formation was not enough to immediately kill that youth.

This was just too terrifying! The formation had been passed down from Stone Country's guardian spirit, so it was definitely powerful to the extreme and possessed power at the peak of this world. After standing on the eye of such a formation, it was the same as if Stone Country's guardian spirit's strength directly hacked down on his neck, so just a tiny bit of force should have been enough.

Why did it end up like this? The formation was clearly releasing strength, even seeming to be getting more and more ferocious. However, that youth seemed like he was about to step out of it!!

"How is that possible?!" He became overwhelmed with horror as his face paled.

Within the center of the great restrictive formation, the little guy was surrounded by a divine ring. The ten heavenly passages interconnected into a divine ring, and as the domineering force released, it did not try to break the formation bit by bit, but instead crush it in one go.

The ten heavenly passage began to surge with divine energy, and as its power merged with his flesh, he began to destroy the symbols imprinted in the void as if he was tearing out rotten weeds; his strength was just too powerful.

Hong!

Meanwhile, the majestic and imposing ten heavenly passages were also terrifyingly powerful as they revolved around the little guy. They directly smashed apart the ground, collapsing the symbol-carved pure land and sweeping through everything.

This was a type of divine might, a true and unparalleled power!

The little guy forcefully pushed forward, destroying the great formation as he made his way out. As for the symbols within the formation's center, they were directly crushed under his feet and turned into powder.

This scene and might was just absolutely horrifying. However, thanks to the needlelike radiance released by the ten heavenly passages, no one outside could see what was happening inside, and so they thought that he was still trying to defend himself.

In this way, the little guy swept through this region, destroying most of the symbols. The entire great formation was about to sink into a deathly stillness, losing a majority of the sky-covering multicolored light and patterns.

"Heavens, what happened? Why did the great ancient formation lose its effectiveness? Why can't I feel its fluctuations any more?"

Everyone was shocked. It was missing the divine fluctuations, a sign that its divine force had been depleted. Could it be that the essence energy within the great formation had dried up and its symbols obliterated?

Hong!

Finally, a loud sound rang out, and the rear formation was broken apart. A resplendent circle of light appeared, as if a divine god came down into the secular world. As he stood there, it was as if he was looking down at them.

The divine light around the little guy scattered, separating into ten heavenly passages. Despite this, he still seemed like a deity, giving people an unapproachable type of feeling.

“This was the great restrictive formation of the Martial Imperial Family? That’s rather disappointing.” The supreme youth shook his head and spoke calmly. Everyone who heard felt as if their ears were struck by thunder!

This was truly something straight out of a legend. It was just a single youth, yet he destroyed the formation left behind by Stone Country’s guardian spirit in just a split second. This... was this true? It was just too difficult to believe!

Everyone finally understood how horrifying the devilish brat was. He truly deserved his reputation of being ferocious; he was just too ridiculously strong!

At this moment, it was incomparably quiet. After snapping back to reality, everyone felt the hair on their body stand straight. It was because they knew that after taking the initiative to provoke the little guy, all hell was going to break loose.

The little guy began to move forward, directly rushing towards Shi Li. The ten heavenly passages shone, and with a honglong sound, symbols immediately lit this place up. This region immediately seemed like the world of deities.

“Ah...” Shi Li cried out loudly. He activated his precious technique, immediately turning around to flee.

However, the devilish brat’s movements were extremely simple. As soon as his hand was raised, golden symbols were imprinted into the space around him. Everything within this place seemed to have been completely frozen in place.

Following that, Shi Li flew out in reverse. He kept his original movement, only now he was quickly moving straight towards the little guy. The little guy grabbed him and threw his body down in one motion before stepping on it.

After that, all of the golden symbols disappeared. In this place, there was only a youth wrapped in light stepping on Shi Li’s body. As the little guy overlooked Shi Li, he said, “Someone like you, killing me?”

It was only a few words, yet it immediately threw Shi Li’s mind into disorder. He almost spat out a mouthful of blood. When was the last time someone treated him with such disdain? This kind of gaze was too scornful, as if he never thought much of Shi Li.

“You...” Shi Li’s face was thoroughly red, however, while being stepped on, he couldn’t move at all.

“What do you mean ‘you’? For the Martial Imperial Family to have someone like you, it truly is embarrassing.” The little guy shook his head.

Even though this youth was known as the heavenly passage supreme being, Shi Li still couldn’t tolerate him. After living for so many years, his status was extremely high and his influence was heaven overflowing, yet he was currently being looked down with such despise from a mere child.

Ah pu... Shi Li spit out a mouthful of blood. He could not bear any more.

The little guy forcefully stepped down, causing Shi Li to spit out even more blood. Being stepped on like this, how could he defend himself?

Following that, the glint of a Soul Shattering Needle shone. It flickered with sparkling bloody light and released a terrifying chilliness.

At this moment, Shi Li became absolutely horrified. He immediately became motionless; who didn’t fear death? There wasn’t a single person, yet there wasn’t anything he could do to prevent it. The great disaster that happened today was all caused by him alone, making him full of remorse.

“Using the Soul Shattering Needle on you feels a bit like a waste...” The little guy talked to himself.

When Shi Li heard this, he first felt a wave of relief, and then extremely anger surfaced. Who was he? He was a magnificent ancestral elder! Within the real world, he could make everyone tremble with just a stamp of his feet, yet he was currently treated with such contempt. This was truly more unbearable than even death.

“There are things that you still haven’t seen the results of yet. If you were to die now, it would be letting you off too easily.” The little guy said to himself.

He wanted to visit the Martial Imperial Family later in the real world and tell them that he, Shi Hao, was still alive and in this world! Moreover, he wanted to cut down the people who stole his supreme being bone, letting everyone who harmed him in the past personally witness this result.

In the end, he was still a child. There was anger and resentment in his heart, making him want to fight them.

“Return, clean up your own necks and survive.” The little guy muttered. Not everyone heard what he said, so he shouted loudly, “Get lost! Don’t disgrace yourselves any further!”

Pu!

He stamped his foot and killed Shi Li directly. Simple and direct, as if he had trample a worm.

“There is still you guys. You all don’t deserve to have Soul Shattering Needles used. It would be a waste!” The little guy spoke. He raised his hand, and golden symbols flooded the skies. Following that, pu pu sounds rang out, and they all exploded.

All the troops that came with Shi Li were obliterated, turning into a bloody mist.

PW Chapter 231

Chapter 231 – Getting Ready

The scene was currently peaceful, and the remaining people were all frozen in place as their scalps became numb. How were they supposed to fight, and who was the enemy? If they continued to rush ahead, then they would all die!

This was a demonic deity, an invincible supreme youth! Elder Shi Li was stepped to death with one single foot, how lame was that?!

In the real world, Shi Li could bid wind and rain to come at will, and commanded regions from high above; all because he was an honored elder who held great power in the Martial Imperial Manor.

Yet now he was despised as such, being killed by a stomping foot without one bit of concern. The opponent surpassed proudly with one strike, which had made Shi Li unworthy of his great reputation.

In the real world, a roar erupted from the Martial Imperial Manor. All hair stood up on Shi Li's head, making him look like an old lion. A savage look appeared in his eyes and blood was trickling down from the corner of his mouth. Rage filled his heart, pushing him towards craziness.

Numerous screams were heard at that same time. Those led by Shi Li all woke up badly injured, and their minds were severely damaged. This of course caused quite a stir, astonishing everyone in the manor.

“What happened? Had formidable enemies invaded the Void God Realm? Inform the elders immediately! Do they need reinforcement right now?” Clamour filled the manor. Everything was in chaos.

Inside the Void God Realm, the devilish brat did not start another slaughter in the Martial King's pure land. As in that bloodline, those who deserved to die had all been destroyed, and the rest were not on his killing list.

He looked back. One glance from him was enough to mortify the crowd. They were terrified of him getting angry again. If that happened, this place would end up sharing the same fate as the Rain Clan, leaving nothing but wasteland behind.

The little guy walked out without hesitation. “You guys had nothing to do with this. I will not attack unless I am attacked.”

He stopped outside the pure land and looked back again. There stood the stone tablet inscribed with three words: Martial Imperial Manor.

He would not come here again. If he did visit, the place would be the Martial Imperial Manor in the real world. He could imagine what a disturbance it would cause. It would sweep the capital of the Stone Country!

The little guy walked away steadily, as if a young deity was out on an excursion. Members of the Stone Clan outside the mountain gate shivered with terror. They couldn’t help but step back, leaving the road wide open for him.

People of the pure land finally exhaled with relief when he was far away. It felt like a mountain had been removed. The air was so oppressive just now, they could hardly bear it.

“Where is the great enemy? We are here to help!” Shouted a crowd gathered in force outside the pure land. These were the experts of the Martial Imperial Manor, and they had brought with them their forbidden killing weapons. They were here to guard the place.

“He has already left, please stop shouting!” An elder came forward and stopped them hastily.

The aiding members were dumbfounded. The Martial Imperial Manor had never been intimidated like this. They had always been the ones with crushing power and defeating all rivalries, yet today, they had to endure this.

“Don’t mess with that kid!”

“Sigh!”

After hearing everything, they realized that the little guy was not there to eradicate the pure land. All exhaled with relief, yet all sighed at the same time.

“Being such an outstanding youngster, just how wonderful would it be if he were born as a member of the Martial Imperial Manor? We’ve already had Yi Er, so with a supreme youth like him, no one can compete with us in the future.”

“Actually, we should have had a supreme youth, a natural born supreme being...” said an elder with sad and regretful expression.

“Don’t speak of it. What’s passed should not be mentioned carelessly now.” Many faces turned gray and the speaker was being hushed.

“Why can’t I speak of him? The poor kid was born a natural supreme being, but had withered at too young an age. If he were alive now, even Yi Er may not be comparable to him!” The elder seemed very emotional and raised his voice. Looking back to what had happened in those days, anger and grief filled his heart.

As a matter of fact, a group of people in the Martial Imperial Manor all felt the same way. They found what had happened then very unfair, but the other bloodline had grown so powerful. The winner takes all; there was nothing they could do but to accept the fact.

Shi Yi, on the other hand, was outstanding and powerful enough to amaze everyone. Even the Martial King had reappeared from his long seclusion for Shi Yi, inviting supreme experts to protect Shi Yi.

“I wonder what is going on with Ziling and his wife now. Have they been killed in secret by those men?”

“I hope they are safe and well. The Martial Imperial Manor has owed them too much. The kid is the most pitiful. He was born a natural supreme...”

“You are right. Our clan should have had a supreme youth with all the glory, yet all has been lost in that incident.”

...

The little guy walked the whole way back without further delay, because there was nothing left here that was worth his attention. Through the golden passage, he returned to the ruined earth filled with primal chaos where the Willow Deity was waiting.

The next moment, they were back in the Stone Village.

“I’m about to start my cultivation. When news from the Archaic divine mountain arrives, I’ll set out to look for Kun Peng precious technique in the ocean!”

The little guy did not break through right away and was still strengthening himself. The ten heavenly passages formed a dazzling ring, nourishing the heavenly passage that was his flesh. Such phenomenon was too mysterious, or at least, no relevant written words could be found in any ancient books.

He needed to carefully experiment and understand it to make sure there was nothing wrong. Furthermore, he needed to try to evolve various fighting techniques from it.

The surrounding divine ring would bring fundamental change to his fighting methods, so it was worth looking at. He had to carefully comprehend it, because his fighting capacity will definitely see great improvement!

The little guy was optimistic. He had soon forgotten that unpleasant incident and immersed himself within his cultivation.

Stone Village had seen some significant changes in the past few months. The spiritual medicines that had previously been planted one after another as well as the future divine medicine silver peach tree were currently spurting out spiritual essence. Essence energy was scattered down generously, transforming the whole village into an actual pure land.

The Octadic Treasure Chicken also stayed, settling down next to the Willow Deity for good. The villagers couldn't chase it away even if they wanted to. It started to produce spiritual eggs, which became a continuous source of precious medicine.

The youngsters' cultivation was quickly advancing, making everyone delighted.

The sun was setting, and a group of kids were returning from the distance while riding unicorns. The gathering of silver lights were like divine mounts as they neighed towards the sky.

It was the hunting team. They had come back fully loaded, dragging all sorts of wild delicacies behind the unicorns.

Within the lake in front of the village, golden ripples sparkled in the water as a group of teenage girls were catching fish. Those were Dragon Tassel Fish that could increase one's strength. The fish were entirely golden-colored and very precious.

Now that Stone Village was on the right track, it would only become more powerful in the future.

“Uncle little guy, teach me... cultivate.” Dazhuang’s child tottered over. He was just over one year old. The plump little body looked sturdy and adorable.

The crowd bursted into laughter. Addressing him as ‘uncle little guy’ sounded really funny.

“He’s not ‘the little guy’ any more. Let’s call him by his real name Shi Hao from now on. Otherwise, even Dazhuang’s toddler will start using the nickname. That’s not appropriate.” Shi Fei Jiao suggested with a smile.

“You are right, we should change the habit. We’ll call him Shi Hao from now on.” The adults agreed with him.

In another few months, the little guy would have his eleventh birthday. Time passed fast, and another group of little kids had replaces him as ‘the young ones’ of the village.

“It doesn’t feel right. ‘Shi Hao’ doesn’t sound as intimate as ‘the little guy’.” The teenagers teased.

“Uncle little guy!” Dazhuang’s son joined the chorus.

“No, you all have to change the habit. I’ll deal with you all personally if anyone still tries to use that nickname.” Shi Linhu added.

The village chief walked over and nodded his approval. Shi Hao was no longer a little kid. He should be addressed by his official name. He could not be ‘the little guy’ forever.

The chief now had a ruddy complexion and walked with vigor and easiness. He had fully recovered his health, so his cultivation had seen some rapid enhancement. Stone Village now had another master.

“This is so unfair! Why can he use his official name, but I’m still called ‘snot baby’?”

“And me! Why am I still ‘Pihou’?”

“When your nose stops running, and when Pihou stops acting like a flaming monkey, you’ll all have your official name.” An elder said with a smile.

Thus, although it took a little bit of getting use to, villagers started call the little guy by his real name, Shi Hao.

A month later, when Shi Hao was cultivating alone in the mountains at noon time, he saw streaks of black smoke rising from afar.

“En?”

Shi Hao rushed to a mountaintop and looked into the distance.

“Truly a group of brutes!”

Tragedy was happening again, only this time, it had just started. A herd of roving bandits invaded a village and was about to slaughter it. They were going to eradicate the village.

The village was less than 2000 li from the Stone Village. It was a small place with a mediocre Guardian Spirit. The spirited bird could not fight off the enemies, and was getting slaughtered.

A group of teenagers from the Stone Village had seen similar scenes back then. Now that history was recurring in front of Shi Hao’s eyes, he leapt high from where he stood, before descending towards the village.

“Hong!”

The resulting collision was like an earthquake. The huge ferocious beast brought by the bandits that was standing outside the village was more powerful than ordinary village Guardian Spirits, yet he was still crushed into a mush by this landing.

The devilish brat jumped down the mountain as if he was falling from the sky. His glowing body smashed right into the beast; the latter had no way to ward him off.

Had it not been for the Kun Peng wings on Shi Hao’s back that raised right on time to stop his momentum, the impact would have drilled open a huge crevice into the ground, completely ruining this area.

“Who the hell are you?” The bandits were currently brandishing their knives, and upon seeing this scene, they became extremely shocked.

“You are too cruel and violent to be human. You should all die.” Shi Hao felt a sudden need to kill. This group was extremely cruel, and had eradicated several villages back then

It was pure slaughter. The arrival of Shi Hao had saved the village. After the divine ring displayed its power, all of them were frozen and locked in place. They could not move at all, and as a result were killed off by the furious villagers.

“After discovering a supreme treasury, Little Western Sky has constantly been making preparations. They need a large amount of black gold and other materials to destroy the formation. Aside from their never ending transport of these materials, they’ve also been using bandits to exploit the clans within the great wastelands. It seems that the opening of the divine treasury isn’t too far off.” Shi Hao frowned.

He was going to leave soon, but this place was not peaceful. If the Willow Deity went with him, wouldn’t Stone Village be in danger?

“This won’t do. I would rather not go out to sea than put Stone Village in danger.”

After returning to the village, the little guy informed the village chief as well as the others about what he saw. He explained everything to the Willow Deity as well.

Needless to say, this land would see bloody battles in the near future. Little Western Sky was an ancient sect. In the past, they had subdued supreme experts from divine mountains into becoming their guardian spirits.

“You... needn’t worry about the village. Set out towards the ocean. Take this with you. I’ll come to you immediately if necessary.” Said the Willow Deity.

A sparkling palm-length willow branch fell down, falling into Shi Hao’s hands.

“Willow Deity, you don’t have to come along?” The little guy was surprised, but soon became relieved.

“There is a familiar aura that has been lying dormant within this region this entire time. I need to keep my eyes on it and wait for its appearance.” The Willow Deity said.

Shi Hao suddenly realized something. When he journeyed into the great wastelands together with Hairy Ball and unicorn back then, he saw the earth split apart several thousands of li away. A giant claw reached out from the earth, scattering the clouds.

Could that be it? He was quite shaken, and back then, he had spoken to the Willow Deity about these things when he came back.

Did the supreme treasury have any connection to that incomparable and frightening creature? Even the Willow Deity was waiting for that creature to appear, so it must be extremely formidable.

Time flew by, and Shi Hao finally reached spirit transformation stage. He was only eleven years old! To achieve such a level at his age could shock the world.

Moreover, he had also opened ten heavenly passages, meaning that it should have taken him even longer to improve. However, he was still so unnaturally talented, enough to leave the rest of the world in absolute shock.

He had entered the Void God Realm several times, so the people from Archaic divine mountain simply couldn't wait any longer. They were exceptionally anxious, fearing that some kind of change might happen to the sea area and cause the Kun Peng treasure to slip from their hands.

The purple-clothed girl brought another piece of information on Shi Ziling and his wife, but because it lead beyond the great wilderness, it was not worth much, and did not leave behind many clues.

"We really should get going, or else we may lose that opportunity." The urges from the archaic divine mountain almost became pleads.

This was because they were not the only team on the move. A few creatures from the Archaic diving mountain had received these news, and they were all carefully making preparations.

There were also some who did not plan to use people with ten heavenly passages to clear the path, but found ancient methods instead. Some even got ahold of some bony remains of the Kun Peng.

The situation did not look good. They would surely meet fierce competition!

“Fine, let’s set out to the sea!” Shi Hao nodded his approval.

PW Chapter 232

Chapter 232 – Heavenly Mountain

After some discussion, Shi Hao decided to leave for sea with the others in search of the Kun Peng's precious technique. However, when a certain topic was brought up, a problem arose.

"We will pick you up. No matter how far away you are, we can quickly rush over even if you give us an exact location." A divine servant spoke.

Shi Hao naturally refused, because he couldn't leak out the location of Stone Village or else huge issues would arise. This was a place of great importance to him, a place where his heart and spirit was entrusted to. It was not a place where anyone was allowed to enter.

However, without these people picking him up, was he supposed to walk over there himself? The great wastelands was boundless, and a single turn would result in millions of li. If he truly was going to trudge his way there, who knew just how long it would take him.

"Tell me the location and wait for me!" Finally, he left behind this sentence before leaving.

After returning to Stone Country, Shi Hao's face became gloomy as he asked the Willow Deity for help. Otherwise, it was impossible for him to reach his destination within a few years.

"That's not a problem, and is quite simple to take care of." The scorched black tree trunk did not move, and only the dozen or so green and lush branches swayed in the wind as they released light. The Willow Deity gave him its decisive response.

"That's great!" Shi Hao was happy, because he wasn't really willing to travel so arduously.

When news of his journey spread and he was about to leave Stone Village, everyone came out and surrounded him. They were truly not willing to see him go.

“Child, you’ve only returned for a few months! Why is it that you have to go again? Can’t you stay a bit longer?”

“It’s so dangerous out there. Going out by yourself, how could we not be worried?”

These comforting words made the little guy feel extremely nice and warm inside. He slapped his chest and said, “Don’t worry, my appearance is like a disaster for others. No one dares to bully me.”

Haha... After hearing what was said, the group of youths all began to laugh. When they entered the Void God Realm earlier, they learned quite a few things. They were fully aware how much of a disaster the name ‘devilish brat’ brought. He was known as a troublesome character that angered humans and deities alike.

“Child, you only knowing how to comfort us and not how much bitterness you suffered in the outside world alone. You absolutely must be careful and protect yourself well first.”

“Child, you have to return safely. Uncles and elders are all still waiting to meet your future wife!”

The group of people were all warning him in every way possible. They were truly not willing to part with him, and there were many great aunts that shed tears. Towards this pitiful child that grew up without parents, they had long considered him their own.

“Don’t worry. After I leave this time, I will definitely bring back even more great things!” Shi Hao was extremely happy as he spoke. He wanted to bring back even more presents for his fellow clansmen.

“There’s no need for you tire yourself so. Currently, our Stone Country isn’t missing anything. Look, we even have dozens of spiritual medicines, and even the divine medicine is about to bear fruit. With even an Octadic Treasure chicken here, this place has already received a heavenly blessing.”

The villages warned repeatedly for him to be careful and to return early.

The big red bird scratched its head in all different ways. It really wanted to go, but was stopped by the little guy because his journey this time was too dangerous. They were all creatures from divine mountains, so only heaven knew what he would end up encountering.

On the contrary, Second Baldy shook its head from the start and was definitely not willing to go. It seemed to have some kind of relationship with the Archaic divine mountain, and as a result did not want to meet any of them.

“Little Big Brother, you have to take care of yourself!” Qingfeng waved towards him as he left.

This was all because they didn’t know how long it would be before they would meet again. If everything went smoothly, it might take a few months, but if some kind of danger appeared, then it would become difficult to say.

At the entrance of the village, the lightning-struck tree body became full of symbols. It was as if a dragon coiled about and roared towards the sky like a Hou. These were all created from the scorched black patterns. The Willow Deity shone, and more than ten branches began to move about. An expanse of magnificent symbols appeared, creating a lush and green passageway that lead to an unknown place.

“Goodbye!” Shi Hao turned around. Even though he was smiling, there was quite a bit of reluctance within his heart. His eyes were almost becoming red, because he didn’t know if this trip was going to take many years. The great wastelands were vast, and the seas were boundless. There were simply too much that was unknown.

Chi

A streak of golden light pounced over. Hairy Ball scuttled over, landing on top of Shi Hao’s shoulder at the most crucial moment; it was going to follow along.

He was originally going to refuse, after all, the road ahead was unpredictable. The vast sea was definitely full of bloody rain and pungent winds, but after thinking about the golden hairy ball’s possible origins, he ultimately brought it along.

“Come back as early as possible!” The group of people shouted from behind them, and many of their eyes were turning red.

Finally, Shi Hao gave them one last glance before rushing into the shining passageway. His figure became indistinct as he gradually disappeared.

Symbols interweaved, and as the dozen or so willow branches brandished about, a dazzling splendor rose, sending him off.

When Shi Hao appeared, majestic mountains towered before his eyes. The terrain was relatively open, as if an old dragon was lying down in a coil or an ancient tortoise was living in seclusion. This was a piece of divine earth, and as soon as he arrived, he felt as if this place made him feel much lighter. It was because the spiritual essence here was extremely dense, making its way into his body autonomously.

In the distance, imposing mountains could be seen that reached into the skies. They were... the Archaic divine mountains!

Shi Hao had arrived. His small delicate and pretty face was full of amazement as he looked into the distance. Forget about those true divine mountains, even the dormant turtle and coiling dragon region below his feet was so outstanding.

Nearby, a spiritual waterfall cascaded down from the stone cliffs. The old medicine below him scattered their fragrance, and in the distance, precious birds and auspicious beasts roamed about.

What made him shocked was that there were still a few thatched cottages nearby where experts of various races lived and cultivated.

Were these the legendary pilgrims? He once heard that there were a few powerful characters that wished to worship and enter the gates of the divine mountain. As a result, they set up their own residences here.

It was to the point where a few creatures were willing to become servants in order to enter and receive guidance.

Of course, this region was divided up. Most of the Archaic vicious beasts here were illegally occupying this land. There were no divine creatures in sight, but even though it was like so, the creatures still did not dare to linger for too long, or else they would be completely devoured.

It seems like the master of this divine mountain wasn't too bad, belonging to the more good-natured ones.

"You've arrived." A clear voice rang out. An elder appeared soundlessly, revealing an excessively powerful force.

The little guy turned around and saw a golden beast with a human body. Golden hair covering its body brilliantly. It was quite old old already, and its body was scrunched over. As its supreme energy floated about, it terrified people to their soul!

This was definitely an expert that was ridiculously powerful. It made people feel intimidated as soon as they saw it, unable to resist their urge to bow down. However, the little guy was completely fearless because he was innately confident. A glimpse of the ten heavenly passages could be seen, blocking that indistinct pressure.

After taking a careful look, he felt that this individual seemed rather familiar. He had encountered it before within the Void God Realm, and at that time, this divine servant's teeth were almost all gone. In the past, this servant had been threatened by him.

"Hehe, youngster, you're scared now right?" The divine servant's laugh was quite scary. He was just too powerful. If he were to appear within the ancient countries, he would definitely be treated with great respect.

"Turns out you are so powerful! It truly is a bit unfathomable. Why didn't you seem that special at the heavenly passage realm?" The devilish brat talked noisily, lacking any respect.

The divine servant's cold laugh immediately froze on his face. How could this devilish brat be so confident regardless of whether he was in the Void God Realm or in the real world? He actually dared to talk like this.

"Youngster, this isn't the Void God Realm. In front of you is precisely the Archaic divine mountain!" The divine servant was incredibly awe-inspiring. The golden light covering his body was heaven overflowing. It was as if a sun was blazing, releasing a aura that was terrifying to the extreme.

The little guy felt pressured. Ten great heavenly passages were released, creating rumbling sounds as they became similarly brilliant.

“What is so special about the Archaic Divine Mountains? I came from a divine creature’s village, so stop putting on so much airs in front of me. Didn’t you guys want to go out to sea? Hurry up and lead the way, stop dilly dallying.” The devilish brat spoke.

“This...” The divine servant was prepared to give him a good beating. He wanted to tell him not to be so arrogant, because if they weren’t on good terms when they traveled together, there would be many troubles and headaches. In the end, he never thought that the devilish brat would act like this, not tolerating it at all.

Faced with the divine mountain, he still seemed as if he had sufficient backing. Could it be that this was the heir of a deity? However, it was quite likely that he was the child of that Shi couple...

“Quickly bring me inside the divine mountain to take a look. Time is precious.” The devilish brat’s eyes shone. He had long set his eyes on that precious land.

“You... Sigh!” The divine servant released a roar. It truly couldn’t control him, because at this point, they were begging him! They needed his ten heavenly passages to open that restricted passage.

The divine servant was rather depressed. Its entire body emitted dazzling light, causing a brilliant passage to spread out on the ground. It extended outwards, and not even the ancient trees, rocks, or streams could obstruct it; it was like a divine bridge.

“You are so powerful! Old one, give me some guidance okay? Pass me some supreme precious technique and I’ll pay you back in the future.” Shi Hao’s eyes lit up, and his small and pretty face was full of expectation.

The divine servant felt like he couldn’t match his temperament at all. Just now, he was acting fearless, yet in a split second, he began to beg the servant. In addition, he was trying to directly learn its secret divine ability.

“What a grand and imposing mountain. Is this the Daoist land created by Archaic deities back then? It is still so holy to this day!” The little guy sighed in admiration.

The mountainous paths were like a dragon, its might soaring into the heavens as it linked up the mountains and valleys. It was as if it had a life of its own, and on top of them, streams flowed and waterfalls poured down. All types of beautiful and exalted plants grew in the surroundings.

On top of the cliff, there were spiritual flood dragons coiled about. Crow nests were built on top of the enormous trees, and from the piles of rubble, a divine sable appeared. There was even a black tortoise bobbing up and down within the deep pond.

The spiritual elegance of this place was shocking. All types of exotic creature and rarely seen creatures existed here.

As soon as he arrived outside the mountain gates, Shi Hao widened his eyes. He saw a pair of Octadic Treasure Chickens that were leisurely pecking at the spiritual grass. He immediately jumped off the brilliant passageway and chased after them.

“Hey, what are you doing?!” The divine servant shouted out.

“Catching chicken.” The little guy replied. These were one of the Octadic Archaic Treasures and were rarely seen. He did not expect to see a pair of them outside the gate.

The divine servant’s forehead was full of black streaks. This fellow was too good at causing headaches.

“Those are the spiritual birds raised by the divine mountain. Don’t go after them randomly.”

“Aren’t we still outside the mountains?” The devilish brat was unsatisfied.

“Let’s hurry up and go. If you are able to gain the Kun Peng’s forbidden ability, at that time, forget a pair of spiritual birds, even obtaining all eight of the Archaic Octadic Treasures wouldn’t be a problem.”

The little guy turned around while still moving forward, constantly thinking in his mind. “So extravagant. You guys aren’t raising them to eat their meat, right? That would be too wasteful!”

“Is this the human youth you heavenly mountain folks picked up? So savage, not even letting a chicken go.” A youth that was roughly fourteen or fifteen walked over. His entire body shone with a copper radiance, and his face had look of ridicule as he mocked the little guy.

There were several old servants following behind him. They were all surrounded by divine light, appearing to be incomparably terrifying.

“It’s not only the chicken that I’m not willing to let go. Actually I don’t want to let you leave either.” The devilish child stared with his saliva dripping. It was as if he was looking at his original body.

“Impudent!” The youth shouted, his eyes glaring out like lightning. He tore through the skies with a head of hair flying behind him!

“You’re the impudent one! Are you looking to get beat up?!” The devilish brat stared and took large steps forward in fury. Even after arriving at the Archaic divine mountain, there was still nothing that he feared. It made the divine servant at his side stupefied. This savage child truly acted powerfully no matter where he went!

Cough... The divine servant hastily coughed and said, “This time, our families are in an alliance, so we cannot have any internal struggles.”

The few old servants behind that youth also quickly advised him otherwise, not allowing him to act out of anger.

The green-haired youth’s gaze was extremely cold. After staring at Shi Hao for a long time, he released a snort.

“Behave better. If you dare to snort or whine towards me anymore, I’m going to eat you.” The savage child threatened.

“This...” The divine servant was speechless. Who was the one going to who’s home now? Why did this fellow still seem like such a prick, not being scared of anything in the slightest?

The green-haired youth was furious. Green divine light began to dance about his entire body as he was about to leap into the skies and attack.

“Stop, our families are joining hands. This is for the sake of finding the Kun Peng precious technique. We have no time for internal strife right now.” In the distance, someone shouted.

Several young males and females walked over. They were all wrapped up in blazing divine light as if they were deities that had descended into this world; it was absolutely divine and terrifying.

There were several old servants behind every one of them. They were all surrounded by holy light and excessively powerful.

The purple-haired girl was the descendant of the heavenly mountain's master, so she was naturally among this group of youths. It was precisely her that opened her mouth, stopping the green-haired youth from using force.

"Why are all the girls there fatties with slender waists and big butts? Life within the Archaic divine mountain must be great for all of them to be raised so fat." The devilish brat quietly muttered.

An young girl whose entire body was covered in silver splendor was confused, and her sparkling white face was full of curiosity. Even her hair was silvery white and extremely bright. She asked softly, "Who is he calling fat?"

When the purple-haired girl heard what was said, her forehead immediately grew dark creases. She opened her mouth, but found that it was difficult to explain, because that devilish child's standard of beauty had some serious issues.

PW Chapter 233

Chapter 233 – Conflict and Aggression

“He... has a poor eyesight.” The purple-clothed girl explained with a whisper, making sure not to be overheard by that ferocious kid and irritate him.

Sprinkles of light showered down, surrounding the purple-clothed girl as if glittering petals were swirling around her. It was an extraordinary scene, making her look almost otherworldly.

Obviously, the explanation was vague. The silver-haired girl grumbled with a pout. “No one’s eyesight is that bad.”

Their garments fluttered in the wind, revealing figures that were both slender and curvaceous. They had waistlines that were as soft as billowing wickers, being exceedingly beautiful. They were nowhere near the word “fat”.

Suspicion appeared on Shi Hao’s pretty face. “Why are you whispering like that?”

The others studied him with curiosity. They were amazed by this human teenager’s remarkableness, that he was able to open up ten heavenly passages.

“Did I just hear you calling us fat? Is that so?” The silver-haired girl asked with a sweet smile. Her shiny hair could reflect light like a mirror.

“Is that not so?” The devilish brat retorted surprisingly, hinting the answer apparent. He looked as if he had said the most natural thing, and was glancing at the inappropriate parts of their bodies. “The divine mountain does have plenty of spiritual medicines. You are all over-nourished.”

Among them were several teenage girls. Their clothes were fluttering in the wind, exaggerating their extraordinary body curves. On hearing Shi Hao’s comment, they couldn’t help but tense their fair muscles and clenched their delicate fists. Some even ground their teeth.

“Ignore him. According to him, only those beefy and masculine girls are mighty enough to be considered in good shape.” The purple-clothed girl teased. She explained to the others with a chuckle.

Her graceful body was surrounded by a layer of dim light as her beautiful hair fluttered in the wind. Her fair and pretty face was blurred by the light, and one could only make out those lively eyes that looked like black gemstones. She was shining with a spiritual glow.

“Bullshit. There’s something extremely wrong with your aesthetic standard. Don’t impose your bizarre interests on other normal people.” Shi Hao retorted earnestly.

The purple-clothed girl paused slightly and began to grind her teeth. Exactly whom did he suggest to have a bizarre aesthetic standard? He must have said that on purpose!

With her hands on her spotless forehead, she finally felt defeated. Her red lips clamped tightly and decidedly wisely not to speak again. Otherwise, she might be once again dragged into the devilish brat’s unbelievable logic.

Beside her, several curvaceous girls all felt indignant and frustrated. This guy had a sneaky look in his eyes. He was definitely trying to irritate them!

One of the girls had a lotus-shaped mark between her eyebrows, and the mark was giving off a beautiful glow. The girl warned Shi Hao. “Little guy, are you trying to have yourself beaten up? One more teasing word and the big sisters here will give you a good drub later.”

“Do you want to wrestle with me? You are definitely not my match. Ask her.” The devilish brat raised his chin, indicating the purple-clothed girl and trying to let her explain.

The purple-clothed girl had always kept herself aloft and ethereal after Hundred Shattered Mountains. She had not revealed her face to anyone, but people could somehow still realize her otherworldly beauty.

Yet right now, she raised her eyebrows at his words, and her bright eyes threatened to release anger. She most definitely did not want to mention that incident again. Wrestling on the ground with a devilish brat was too shameful a thing to let out.

The others looked at the two with wondering eyes; so something did happen?

Thus, as soon as they saw each other, the two would immediately start to bicker. It was nothing serious, only enough to make others not know whether to laugh or cry. Meanwhile, that green-haired youth seemed to have been given the cold shoulder.

He grunted coldly and stared at Shi Hao with chilliness in his eyes. His gaze did not look kind at all.

“Wei, staring at me as soon as we meet, what’s your problem?” Shi Hao leered at him and asked.

“You should know that you are in the Archaic Divine Mountains now. You cannot act in this presumptuous way! This is neither mortal men’s realm, nor the Void God Realm. As a human being, you should show some veneration!” Said the green-haired boy.

He was self-assured and somewhat arrogant, because when people mentioned the Archaic Divine Mountain, they would always look up to it.

“Yeah, I know. The Archaic Divine Mountain, right? So what? You are the one who invited me. You need my help, so you should be awed by me. Control yourself, do you understand?” Said Shi Hao.

He was all easy and carefree, not bothered by anything as if nothing here was worth his attention. Instead, he was asking them to pay homage, which was pure irony.

Green flames were flickered within the green-haired boy’s eyes. Pride, gloominess, and every untouchable chilliness filled those eyes, but he did not act rashly.

He was aware that the boy was no common human, or he would not have dared to come alone. Plus, they did need his help.

Even after his ‘service’, they still needed to carefully consider whether or not to get rid of him. As Shi Hao was not an ordinary human, he must have some connections. Otherwise, he wouldn’t have been able to cross millions of li and reached the Heavenly Deity Mountain so swiftly.

Could he have come from some village where heavenly deities reside? It did not seem so. They had come to understand that he genuinely cared about that Ziling couple.

“We have only just met for the first time, so let’s not mention unpleasant things. We need tolerance and understanding among us. We’ll have to cooperate in order to obtain the Kun Peng precious techniques.” Said another boy. He had shoulder-length red hair, the color like a bright flame. He was about fifteen to sixteen years old. Even his eyes resembled the sun, which were blazing fiercely.

Each youngster was followed by several divine servants who were accompanying them to the sea. The servants were all powerful creatures, and were starting to join in on the conversation.

“Let’s enter the mountain.” The purple-clothed girl saw that the tension was released for now. Since they were no longer arguing, she invited everyone to enter the Heavenly Deity Mountain.

They had formed an alliance. Each force was very influential and had enjoyed glories in the past. For all other creatures in this world, such status was unreachable. Now they had aligned, their power was almost unimaginable, and all this effort was put forth to obtain the Archaic Vicious Ten’s precious technique.

More spiritual and auspicious creatures could be found in the mountains, with five-colored cranes living in flocks and Luan birds soaring in the sky. Perfumed irises and orchids were giving off the essence of heaven and earth here. While the group walked through the essence-filled mountain, it felt as if they were a group of divine creatures.

It was not a place where commoners could visit. The mountain was ethereal and peaceful with all sorts of rare birds and beasts roaming about. These creatures were extinct everywhere else, but were still multiplying in this place.

Climbing the mountain was like walking in a fairyland. Divine streams gurgled and bubbled as divine birds swept across the sky, and the aroma of ancient medicines and white mists filled the air. They could see heavenly palaces here and there.

Shi Hao was amazed by this wonderland, because he had never seen such a place before. Staying here for longer periods would sure be beneficial to one’s cultivation.

While they were walking, he grabbed a spiritual medicine right between two stones. He woke up Hairy Ball who was sleeping on his shoulder and gave it the medicine.

The golden little thing was angry at first, as disturbing it from sleep annoyed it the most. However, upon seeing the precious medicine, it lit up at once and began to chew on the plant as if it was a carrot.

“Wu, now that everyone’s here, I hope you’ll work with each other and obtain that great divine power.”

Many others were also on the mountain. They gathered in front of a heavenly palace where many jade tables were arranged and sat cross-legged. White mist crept up to their knees, making it look like a feast held by a heavenly court.

The mountain was magnificent, and various buildings were constructed in it, all of them extremely ancient. The buildings seemed to have been there since the archaic time, enduring all the time and changes.

Spiritual essence filled the air. Five-colored Peacocks spread their tails in the clouds, radiating gorgeously. Three-legged Golden Crows covered the sky, shining like the sun.

The astonished Shi Hao was led to a jade table and sat at it. It was his first time meeting so many creatures from the divine mountain, all of which had important connections.

Even though some of the elders had slouched postures, their bodies were like small imposing suns as they flourished with divine light. As they sat there, even though they suppressed their power, their world-shaking might could still be felt.

They were practically living gods. Sitting at the top tables, their radiation even lit up the jade tables in front of them. A divine ring had been formed, surrounding that area.

They were the leaders of the major forces, and were currently discussing how to profit from the seas this time. Even pure-blooded creatures as powerful as these were mustering such large forces, so one could see just how incomparably powerful the Kun Peng was.

“Everything is covered. We are ready for the sea.” In fact, they had been discussing this for quite some time, and it was about time they moved out.

This campaign arranged by the big clans would use the Spirit Transformation teenagers as its main force. Aside from them, a great number of attendant would also join the team, which included some powerful old servants and divine guards as reinforcements.

In addition to that, a large group of mighty Spirit Transformation experts were also following them into the divine nest, helping them with the competition. A lot of people were going to be involved in this campaign.

“Everything is ready. I am only worried that the so-called ten heavenly passage fellow is too weak. After all, he has only just reached this level, so I hope he won’t disappoint us when he’s most needed and fail to open the gateway.” Someone murmured.

“I want to try him out. See if he’s strong enough.” The person stood up. It was a boy about sixteen to seventeen years old. He had sharp eyes, and even though his position wasn’t as high as those other teenagers, he was important enough to challenge Shi Hao. The boy stared at Shi Hao firmly.

“I agree with you. Otherwise if he fail us, all this preparation will go to waste.” Echoed the green-haired boy. Obviously he was still brooding on the incident at the mountain foot and was now sneering.

“Are you asking me for help or trying to challenge me?” Shi Hao scowled at once.

These were people from the Archaic divine mountain, but so what? He had the Willow Deity to back him up. , so they should all be equals here. He was the guest, so how could they challenge him as they pleased?

“We apologize for that. Young friend, please don’t get us wrong.” A divine servant came up to him with apology.

As for those elders at the heavenly palace, they were still surrounded by divine light. As they stood behind the jade tables, they looked like blazing suns, making it difficult to see their facial expressions. Their statuses were terrifyingly high, and would not lightly voice their opinion.

“If you don’t want my help, I’m going to leave right now. However, since you dare to challenge me, I have been humiliated and offended. I’m not letting you off the hook!” Shi Hao smashed the jade table into pieces with a pa sound. He stood up and took large steps forward.

Everyone was shocked. This was the Archaic divine mountain where all clans of the world looked up to, a place where all creatures worshipped from afar. Who dared to behave like this?

Yet this human boy did just that. He was completely fearless as he pointed towards the challenger, saying, “Come here and die.”

“You...”

That boy erupted into fury. He reached the Spirit Transformation level two years ago and was remarkably talented. How could he possibly be inferior to some ten year old? As amazing as his ten heavenly passages were, he had only just stepped into this level.

Without hesitation, he dashed towards Shi Hao like a burst of light. Mysterious runes rumbled and a crane appeared. It spread its wings and pounced down.

The little guy stood still and waited for his attack. In an instant, all ten heavenly passages open and joined up to become a diving ring. A tremendous honglong sound rang out, as if the heaven and earth were being torn open.

The crane was immediately strangled into pieces by the divine ring. Then with a slap, the Sixteen year-old boy screamed as he split into body parts. The blood rained down in all directions.

Everyone was astonished!

A single attack had smashed a Spirit Transformation expert into pieces. Such aggressiveness was unimaginable and incomparably fierce.

“You!” The green-haired boy burst into rage, because the rain of blood fell right in front of him. Had it not for the light around him, the blood would have drenched him.

“Enough with your bullshit! Come over if you aren’t convinced!” The little guy retorted, becoming furious. After being invited over, someone actually provoked him in such a way. There wasn't much to be said, so he directly took action.

As in this place, the more polite one appeared, the more likely one would be looked down upon. These were creatures of divine mountains. If you behaved aggressively, you would look more mysterious, and they would start wondering what connections you might have.

From the fact that he was able to cross the millions of li of the great wasteland, they could figure out that he was not a common human and show some restraint.

The green-haired boy stood up at once, and was about to start a fight.

"Come over then. I'll kill you!" The little guy said provocatively. Even in the Archaic divine mountain, he was still fearless.

At that moment, an elder sat high up spoke up. "Young friend, please calm down."

PW Chapter 234

Chapter 234 – North Sea

The elders that were sitting in front of the heavenly palace naturally had supreme statuses. Their strength was deep and profound, and they were known as supreme experts. They were the leading figures from various great powers.

At this time, someone stood up and spoke out. The green-haired youth immediately stopped, no longer taking action.

Shi Hao stood there and calmly looked at him, saying, "I'm not creating trouble, it's those guys that are bullying me intolerably."

The blood on the ground hadn't dried yet, and that young expert was blasted to pieces, splashing blood on the divine mountain. His actions were like that of a small demonic deity! After so many years, just how many people dared to fight within the divine mountains?

There were many people that were staring at him, feeling shock from the power he displayed just now. The ten heavenly passages were terrifying after all. He had just entered the Spirit Transformation realm, yet he was already so powerful.

Even the purple-haired girl and the others had multicolored light flowing through her pupils as they looked over. This great divine mountain was extremely peaceful, and everyone was waiting to see how those elders were going to deal with this.

"We were all young once, and I have also acted so frivolously. This brings back memories." This elder began to laugh gently, seeming rather benevolent. As light covered his entire body, the elder didn't actually blame anyone.

"It's just some small matter. After dozens or even a hundred years later you guys will look back at this like a small wave in the ocean. It's not a big deal at all, so it's fine as long as we move on from this." Another elder laughed in an amiable manner, similarly shining like a small sun as precious splendor scattered down.

An originally intense fight was dissolved just like this. Peace was restored to this mountaintop.

“Everything has been prepared, so we should set out. There are other alliances that are making moves, so we are going to fall behind if we wait any longer.” An elder spoke.

“The other clans and I have decided that it’s difficult for us to take action. This time, it will all be dependent on you guys.” Several elders spoke.

With the appearance of the Archaic divine nest, the Kun Peng precious technique was also revealed, bringing about chaotic movement from all directions. If these supreme experts made their moves, heaven knows to what degree their fights would reach.

They agreed among themselves that they were not going to fight; otherwise, the damages would be extremely severe. The entire wasteland would be thrown into chaos, causing the great earth to tremble.

Everything was going to be decided by the younger generation, so in this way, the destruction that resulted wouldn’t be too great while the opportunities would be great. The Kun Peng precious technique would belong to whoever obtained it.

In reality, these elders were far above the spirit transformation realm, and there was no way they could enter the nest of the Kun Peng. This was the main reason why they gave up and handed over its pursuit to the younger generation..

It would be great if they smoothly went in and out of that sea area, but they feared that it most likely wouldn’t be like so. Others definitely will move out and use any means possible to fight over it, turning the sky and earth upside down.

“You all try your best. If necessary, we will show ourselves. We won’t allow anyone to behave dishonestly.” An elder spoke.

While they fought, there shouldn’t be any old fellows participating since they couldn’t enter. However, when they were going to break away from the Archaic divine nest, then it would become difficult to say.

There was a chance that some kind of supreme expert might make their move. It was entirely possible for them to wipe out all of the younger generation for the sake of obtaining the Kun Peng's precious technique. There was a chance for any of these cruel events to happen.

Finally, they went on their way. Their party was grandiose and majestic as they entered the rainbow-colored passage; this was the divine mountains' heavenly path.

"That sea region is extremely special. Since ancient times, no one knows just how many people died. In the past, no one knew what the cause was, and only in recent years did we realize that it was due to the Kun Peng's death. You all must be careful."

Just before leaving, several elders gave out their final warnings.

At the final moments, the purple-haired girl's father also appeared. He was the primary expert in creating this rainbow passageway, and his appearance was incomparably dignified.

When Shi Hao stepped onto the passageway, he called out to him. It made this honorable expert's body go rigid and his face become dark. His hand shook, causing the rainbow passageway to tremble. It made many people's faces pale.

"Hehe..." An elder began to laugh up his sleeve.

This was this clan's mountain guardian, and was well known among supreme experts. After entering the Void God Realm, he was given a good beating by the devilish brat. The elders that knew him would always laugh secretly every time they recalled this.

The elder of heavenly mountain was precisely the purple-haired girl's father. He really wanted to grind his teeth his anger and slap that devilish brat. The elder was going to treat the savage child rudely because he was too heaven defying, but in the end he controlled himself.

"Devilish brat!" In the end, he spat out these two words. He released a breath, causing frantic winds to stir and cloudy mist to cover the sun, directly sending Shi Hao into the depths of the passageway.

"Wei, we still haven't talked about old times yet. We just met again! I wanted to ask senior for advice." That young and tender voice rang out, making the elder's hand shake again. The rainbow passageway violently shook again.

Finally, the large party left. There were divine servants, divine guards and spirit transformation realm youth. Their numbers weren't few, totalling to roughly six or seven hundred people.

It was as if they were traveling slowly through a river of stars. As they stood on top of the passageway, everyone rushed towards the distance. Time seemed to be passing quickly, and it also seemed like it was in disorder a multicolored light shone everywhere.

Without knowing how much time had passed, a heavenly light appeared in front. In addition, a salty and fishy dampness met them head on. They had appeared several millions of li out, and were now far from the divine mountains.

"Ah, this... is so majestic!" The devilish brat's eyes were opened wide. He felt extremely shocked as he stepped on the soft sand.

After getting used to the great wastelands, seeing so many great mountains and hearing so many vicious beast's cries, he suddenly appeared in front of the great ocean. This was a type of shock for him. Shi Hao's eyes looked everywhere, because everything was extremely new and odd for him who had never seen such things before.

"The ocean is truly endless." Shi Hao said to himself. He had seen quite a few great lakes and blue waves, but compared to what was in front of him, they couldn't even be called small water ditches. For a child that grew up within the mountains, this was absolutely mind-blowing.

On the golden beach, a group of people emerged. As they walked out from the rainbow passageway, the majority were completely calm after seeing such a vast body of water.

"This is the North Sea, the northernmost extremity of the wastelands." A divine servant spoke.

The great sea undulated up and down, surging with great momentum. A huge wave rolled over, crashing down like thunder. A huge expanse of white stretched out in front, creating a single line between the ocean and sky. It stirred people's hearts, making them feel rather insignificant.

"Could the legends be true, that there is a Dragon Palace at the center of the ocean? Are there ocean deities?" Shi Hao lightly spoke.

"Be quiet. Don't bring up those taboo matters, or else you might bring about some kind of disaster."

A golden beast whose teeth had practically all fallen off was standing beside the purple-haired girl. Its body seemed like it was forged out of gold, and as powerful fluctuations were released, a brilliant and dazzling radiance shone. Currently, he became the devilish brat's personal bodyguard in fear of him acting recklessly. The golden beast would constantly advise him, as well as reply to all of his questions.

At this time, several old servants were holding ancient scrolls. After spreading them out, they were placed on the sand to be studied. They wanted to make certain their targeted sea area.

"We are going to cross the ocean. That sea area is extremely dangerous. If we took the rainbow passageway, it's entirely possible for all of it to immediately explode along the way."

"This sea hasn't been peaceful since ancient times. There are many creatures within the ocean that are ridiculously powerful. Everyone must be careful." An old servant concealed within silver light reminded.

Finally, a youngster's palm emitted light. It was a small bright and transparent boat carved from the pit of a fruit that emitted a hazy radiance. Obviously, there were some preparations that had been made.

The small boat erupted in the wind, instantly becoming grand and magnificent. It was comparable to a small mountain, and it floated on the ocean surface, it was absolutely dazzling. Auspicious energy floated about the entire ship.

"Let's go, we are going to cross the sea and proceed towards that sea area."

It was obvious that the purple-clothed girl, silver-haired girl, scarlet-haired youth and the green-haired youth that Shi Hao hated made up the main force of this expedition. After they entered the Kun Peng's nest, they were the ones that were going to be relied on to fight.

When the time came, none of these old servants could enter. Only those at the spirit transformation realm could fight it out.

Everyone jumped up and entered this enormous ship. It was as if a mountain was moving as rumbling sounds rang out. With high ambitions, it sped towards the depths of the ocean.

This was a precious boat that could travel extremely quickly. It was not that different from flying, and in the blink of an eye, they had already travelled several hundred li. The great ocean billows were extremely terrifying, yet they barely affected the boat.

After that, they sailed through thousands of li. Suddenly, the ship violently shook and its radiance began to flicker. The entire great ship almost flipped over.

“What is going on?”

“Did something happen?”

Everyone was startled. They could only see a silver fin appear from the vast ocean. It was incomparably terrifying, and also extremely large. It was as if they had crashed into another ship.

Hong!

In the next moment, lightning radiance overflowed into the heavens. The silver lightning rushed over from within the ocean, directly smashing apart this enormous boat. The electricity was absolutely horrifying as it arced across the sky.

Ah...

A miserable shriek immediately rang out. A large amount of people were struck by the electric arcs, exploding into pieces as a result.

“You bastard!” An elder became furious. With a throwing motion, he tossed out a beast skin. It hid the sky and covered the earth, covering up this great ocean. Dense symbols began to flicker with holy splendor to obstruct the incoming electric radiance.

In the next instant, another elder took action. After taking out a beast skin, it quickly enlarged and spread out. It was like a piece of dry land, catching everyone else.

These several hundred people suddenly suffered such an attack, resulting in large casualties. Even the survivors were wounded.

“We were careless!” A divine servant blamed himself. Traveling in the air while using such a powerful artifact exhausted a lot of energy. For the sake of saving labor, they traveled by sea, but never expected to have suffered an attack a thousand li from shore.

“What kind of creature are you? Why are you attacking us?” Below, a divine servant was currently fighting the silver monster fish.

Its entire body was silvery white, its body like a large fish. However, there were no scales, and on top of its head was a pair of ox horns. Its body was like a small mountain.

“I loath you land creatures. My children have all been killed by creatures like you in the past few days.” The great silver fish roared.

Hong!

The lightning hacked over as if it was a huge wave. A huge expanse of white struck down, causing that divine servant’s body to tremble violently. His entire body was charred black and suffered a great disaster before rushing out.

“What a powerful ocean creature!” Everyone was shocked. They haven’t even entered the sea for that long, yet they already encountered such a monstrous fish. Just how dangerous was their road ahead?

“That’s unrelated to us. Injustices can be paid back to their owners, so go kill those true murderers. Why would you attack us?”

The other divine servants took action, suppressing it together.

Symbols instantly flourished, sealing up the sea surface. The huge fish roared and violently struggled. Ultimately, it soared up into the air and revealed its silvery white body, releasing undying streaks of lightning.

Hong!

After a final strike, its body became covered in blood and was almost cut in two. Dropping into the sea, it moved its tail to rush into the ocean depths, disappearing from their sights.

“You creatures must all die!” It shouted this furiously before disappearing.

“Seems like the road ahead won’t be peaceful. We are just starting...” Those powerful divine servants sighed and said.

“Fly higher, don’t move so close to the ocean surface.”

Finally, the remaining three hundred or so creatures began to fly on top of that enormous beast skin. Symbols were spread out, creating an bright and resplendent expanse of light.

After entering ten thousand li into the ocean, a concentrated blue light flew over towards the beast skin. Even though there was quite a bit of distance between them, countless blue symbols flickered as they battered down.

“Sea demons!”

These were humanoid creatures with fleshy wings and serpent’s tails. Being entirely blue-colored, their appearances were extremely monstrous. Even though they had human-like faces, fierce teeth extended out from their mouths, giving them extremely malevolent appearances.

These creatures came from the sea. They all opened their mouths to spit out blue-colored symbols. There were almost a thousand sea demons closely packed, and a similarly large number of symbols were descending on Shi Hao’s party.

“Damn it! These creatures are the hardest to deal with. We don’t have any hatred between us, yet we are being attacked again.”

The divine servant took action, interweaving symbols to block the rain of blue light. Rumbling sounds rang out, and all of them were destroyed.

However, the sea began to turn chaotic as countless blue figures rushed out. The sea demons numbered in the tens of thousands. These creatures stirred up heaven overflowing waves, throwing the oceans into disorder.

“This is exactly what I meant! These guys are extremely troublesome. Upon attacking, they will send out large groups numbering at least in the tens of thousands. At the most dangerous times, there could be over a million sea demons!”

Even the several powerful old divine servants were becoming anxious. The circumstances weren’t optimistic, because forget millions, even hundreds of thousands was enough to bury all of them here.

Layer after layer of murderous blue light rose. Mysterious symbols flickered as murderous intent filled the skies. This was a great seabed formation that could twist and kill everyone high in the air.

“The Supreme Sea Demon has given the order to seal up this region. Anyone that trespasses should be killed without exception!” A loud voice was transmitted from the within the ocea.

“Break out! We need to leave quickly!”

A divine servant took out a beast horn and blew with wuwu sounds. The noise was like thunder, shattering the endless blue symbols. The beast skin lit up as if it had been ignited, quickly flying out.

It was obvious how terrifying that beast horn was. The sound it produced was like the shouting of deities, penetrating through everything in the way. It blasted apart the blue symbols to open up a path.

It was one of the divine mountains’ ancient treasures, left with them precisely for these kinds of dangerous situations.

Only after fleeing far away did everyone finally calm down. It felt like the sea was full of dangers. Just what kind of accident happened?

“What happened? Did the people before us provoke some kind of disaster? Why do I feel like the sea is full of murderous intent? Could it be that the Seafloor Dragon Palace or a supreme ocean deity was disturbed?”

It was difficult for them to calm down, but they still advanced towards their destination.

Two hours later, they entered the great ocean abyss.

Suddenly, the ocean waters turned chaotic. The sound of troops could be heard, shaking everyone to the core. It was as if a magnificent army was charging forward, and as golden spears hacked towards the air, murderous intent flooded the ocean and sky.

“That is...”

Everyone was shocked. A black horse was madly sprinting on the water surface, as if what it treaded on wasn't water but the vast great earth. Its hooves created ear-splitting sounds, all of it created by itself.

Behind him, a headless human appeared. Black armor covered his body, making it look absolutely terrifying. A golden spear that pointed into the heavens was held in his hands as he rushed towards them.

"What is going on? What kind of creature did we encounter?" Everyone became greatly alarmed.

The sea was just too strange. Experts came rushing from left and right, all of them extremely eccentric and odd. This headless expert in particular was even stranger.

A divine servant made his move. With a hong sound, he was directly shaken by that golden battle spear. He spat out blood before flying back.

"Not good. This is a saint that died at sea during the ancient era. Even though this is merely its remaining force, we aren't strong enough to defeat it!"

"Hurry and call for the great supreme experts to come down and protect us!"

They were all shocked. They still haven't even entered the Kun Peng's nest, yet they already encountered wave after wave of eccentric and terrifying dangers.

"Yi, this isn't right. Everything here is sealed up... Could it be that we arrived at the Demonic Sea? There's no way to call the great supreme experts for help, so did we already arrive at the Kun Peng's nest?"

Chi!

The golden battle spear slashed over, slicing at the heavens. The entire beast skin was cut in half, and a small portion was even diced to pieces. A group of people began to miserably cry before being blasted to pieces.

As Shi Hao observed all of this, his heart was shaken. There were so many experts within the great sea! Why did it seem even more dangerous than the wastelands?

PW Chapter 235

Chapter 235 – The Land of Death

The beast hide was cut in two by the golden spear. Over a hundred men exploded into pieces, immediately filling the air with a bloody mist. The headless creature was too powerful; no one could face it head on.

“Run, or else we will all get killed! This is a holy being that fought to death within this sea during the ancient era. Its will to kill will never fade!” Even the divine servants were shaken by it, let alone the others. None of them stood a chance.

“Wuwu...” One of the old divine servants took out a beast horn, which was a supreme treasure. It blew out a wuwu sound, and the resulting ripples expanded to lash at the headless knight.

The rest summoned their treasured artifacts before running in all directions. The split-up was necessary, or they else they would have been completely wiped out, dying together in this battlefield.

The wuwu sounds were deafening. As the beast horn radiated in all colors, silver ripples began to spread and disturb the sea. Waves rose and fell violently, almost touching the sky.

However, the headless creature was extremely powerful. It lifted its spear towards the horizon, causing an extraordinary golden radiance to slash everything. All of the ripples created by the beast horn were dismantled.

Honglonglong!

The hoofbeats shook heaven and earth. The huge black horse stepped on the sea surface before leaping into the air. Its steps were like thunder as it soared upwards, creating an absolutely astounding scene.

The divine servants were terrified, because they could not fend off its attack. They could not buy more time even if they wanted to. Seeing this, they no longer dared to confront this creature any longer and started to flee.

However, the headless holy being was too mighty. With a sweep of the golden spear, wind howled like thunder and the sea roar ferociously towards the sky, defeating everything.

“Pu!”

Six to seven mighty divine servants exploded all at once. Their bodies became pieces of flesh and blood-stained white bones flew in all directions. One sweep and they were all destroyed.

The power was invincible. The remaining killing desire of an ancient holy being alone could cause a disturbance of this scale. It carried everything before it, and would stop at nothing.

“Be quick!”

The divine servants holding beast horns were the only survivors, and they were fleeing as fast as they could. The horn glowed with a precious light that surrounded them, carrying them away at a crazy speed.

“Run! Quickly!”

The others’ faces ashened and fled in all directions. It was a life-and-death escape. They were no match for the headless knight, and staying here would surely lead to death.

The endless sea was vast and boundless. They split up during the escape, but many were still killed. The sweep of the golden spear almost slashed the sky open. Blood spilled into the distance.

People like the purple-clothed girl and the green-haired boy were specially taken care of by the divine servants. They were defended by treasured artifacts as they moved at top speed.

However, they could not avoid the attack. The headless holy being chased after them. It waved the spear, and the golden light soared. Two divine servants sacrificed themselves to cover the rear, their bodies exploding soon afterwards.

Even beings as powerful as them could do nothing about it. Blocking it by force would only mean death. The treasured artifacts would split apart, and the remaining glittering pieces would then fall into the sea.

This was what an attitude of true invincibility looked like. It answered to no one, yet even a holy being as mighty as this one had fought to death in the ancient times, falling into this sea.

“Let’s gather at the sea where the Kun Peng nest is. We’ll go separate ways!”

There was no other way. They all split up and dashed far away into the forbidden seas. Right now, survival was the only thing that mattered, everything else was forgotten.

The devilish brat was of course among those being chased. However, after all the divine servants nearby had been killed off, he found himself somewhat safer.

The headless knight turned to hunt down other divine servants. The horse galloped in the other direction and was soon far away from him.

“He has no head and no consciousness. The only thing left is the eternal desire to kill. The more powerful they are, the more dangerous it is for them to be here since the knight’s acute sense can detect them. Is this what’s going on?” Shi Hao talked to himself.

He then stopped talking. Controlling the golden Dragon Scissors, he soon fled from the scene and ran deep into the sea.

After all, the headless holy being had already died in the ancient time. He was under a peculiar condition now, controlled by an evil desire to kill. He was no longer a complete living creature, therefore after a while, he sank into the sea and did not appear again.

Even so, the team from the Archaic divine mountain had been severely damaged. Of all the three hundred or so people, only dozens survived, and the rest had all been killed.

Apart from the divine servants holding the supreme beast horns, the rest would exploded right away even by a scratch of the spear. It was a heavenly prestige that no one could fend off.

Several hours later, somewhere deep into the sea, the team reassembled. No one said a word, and they all looked miserable. The experience was so terrible. They had not even reached the forbidden place, yet they lost almost everyone.

This expedition of discovering the remains truly started off terribly. Maybe this was an ominous sign!

“How could this have happened?” Everyone was frowning, afraid of failing.

Another four hours passed and no one else had shown up. There were no more than sixty survivors, and the rest were mostly like dead.

However, the most unacceptable fact was that some teenagers who were direct descendants of the divine mountain were also killed. Their divine servants and guards had almost all died in the battle as well.

The only ones left were the purple-clothed girl, silver-haired girl, red-haired boy, Shi Hao, and the hostile green-haired boy. “Why did this happen to you, my lady? How am I going to tell the master?” A divine servant covered in blood was crying aloud. A beautiful girl, a pure-blooded creature, had withered beside him.

“This was not supposed to happen! We haven’t even stepped into the Kun Peng’s nest yet. This place is no better than the devil’s land.”

This region was full of cold winds and pouring rain. Many were wailing sadly, and even creatures as mighty as the Archaic divine mountain ones were not invincible here. They too were attacked after entering this vast sea.

“Can we still make it?” The silver-haired girl asked. Her name was Yin Xue, or ‘silver snow’, and her face full of sadness. That girl was a good friend of hers, and now that she had passed away, Yin Xue felt absolutely awful.

“We’ve already come this far, and the Kun Peng nest is within our reach. We cannot give up now.” Said the red-haired boy. He was called Chi Hou, meaning ‘red fire’, and was a powerful and strong-willed boy. His resplendent eyes were forceful like blazing suns.

“We must obtain the Kun Peng treasured artifact. It is the matchless divine power of the mightiest ten archaic savages, so we cannot afford to let it go to others. It’s so powerful that even the balance of the great wasteland will be affected,” said the green-haired boy coldly. His name was Qing Yun, or ‘green cloud’, and had chilly eyes.

Several divine servants were all sighing. Danger was waiting ahead, but could they turn back now? After seeing so many die, leaving now would be too shameful.

However, the beginning of their journey thus far was truly disastrous. Too many people had died before they even reached the destination, and as a result, a shadow had been cast over everybody's mind.

Only six divine servants had survived. They frowned and started a discussion.

"This journey is going to be extremely difficult. The Kun Peng remains have probably overlapped with the ancient battlefield. Each time it appears, this water would become a devil's sea."

"In the past, ancient holy beings have scrambled for supremacy here with the gods of the sea. They were probably also fighting for this divine power."

Although the divine servants' positions were lower than the teenagers, these powerful creatures were in fact the main combat force now. Their decision would have significant impact on the rest of this journey.

Shi Hao was unsettled. Only a small amount of sea creatures had appeared, but the consequence was horrifying, and the ferocity was no less than the wasteland.

He felt this journey forebode disasters rather than blessings. Now that the group had lost more than ninety percent of its members, would they still have the strength to contend against others? He began to wonder how the other groups were faring.

The beast horn began to emit light, becoming similar to a mountain ridge as it soared through the sky. They stood on it while looking down at the vast sea ahead.

Finally, after travelling for an entire day and night, they approached the place recorded in the ancient scrolls. What appeared before them was a sea of death; most of the intruders that set foot in it had died there.

As they approached, a shout could be heard. "Halt! The Supreme Flood Dragon has ordered the sea to be sealed. No one is allowed to go in!"

The sound came from a seabird that was several zhang in length with black feathers and azure eyes. At the first glance, it looked like a crow. It opened its bloody mouth and shouted at them.

“It’s a Sea Slave, an amphibious creatures that can both fly and swim. They are quite powerful, and usually work for other sea creatures as their guards.”

The Supreme Sea Devil was waiting ahead and the Supreme Flood Dragon had blocked their rear. Both had ordered for the sea to be sealed. This was not a good sign. Could it mean that the mighty sea creatures had also learned of the situation, and were going to join in the competition?

Now that stopping was no longer possible, breaking the blockade with force was the only option.

“Stop them!”

Outside the forbidden sea, a school of silver sharks appeared. Runes spurted out from their mouths, turning into densely knitted divine lights. They rushed into the sky before attacking everyone.

Sea creatures were not only enormous, but also powerful. Each silver shark was extremely huge and caused mountain-high waves to splash out. The waves were infused with formidable precious techniques as they slammed over.

The wuwu sound started, disturbing the air. The silver ripple from the beast horn began to spread like waves as it rushed forward.

The battle started. One side was trying to get in, and the other side was doing everything to stop them.

The sea fluctuated violently. Blue waves soared into the sky as runes crossed each other like lightning. The battle was extremely fierce.

The ten-or-so people from the Archaic divine mountain used their supreme beast horn to break the blockade and entered the terrifying sea of death. Tens of bodies of silver sharks were left behind.

“You are all dead meat!” Angry roars came from behind.

From the distant sea appeared silver dorsal fins. The scene was extremely formidable. Tens of thousands of sharks were closely packed and came at them unbridled.

“Oh my god... This sea is horrible. The boundless water contains so many creatures. Mighty beings like them can show up in the tens of thousands. There's no way we can fight this." Even the divine servants were petrified.

Those silver sharks were no common sea creatures, and were all mighty beings. Now that they came in such huge numbers, the Archaic divine mountain team dared not to put up a fight, soon fleeing as a result.

They finally escaped into the forbidden sea, and the fog was thickening all around. Blue seawater rose and fell, with vapor obscuring the surroundings. The sun was blurred. The deeper they went in, the darker it became.

If things went on like this, they would very likely to get lost. The vapor filled the air and mist coiled up around them. All was quiet, this place was dead silent.

By then, the divine servants were struggling. They could barely operate the supreme beast horn beneath them. They had spent too much divine power here, and could not hold up much longer.

"It is as hard to stay aloft here as in the legends. This place is extremely energy draining, and the more powerful one is, the more unwilling that individual would be to enter here, as unforeseeable things might happen."

They landed on the sea, using the beast horn as a boat. The horn released symbols as it sailed in the vast sea.

"We should be in the right place. I wonder where the Kun Peng nest is. Hopefully nothing will go wrong from now on." Said a divine servant.

They sailed forward. The waters were calm without any waves. Shi Hao and the others didn't feel anything unusual, but the divine servants immediately became shocked. They were suppressed, their cultivation level weakened!

The further they sailed, the more uncomfortable it became. The feeling of being suppressed was terrible.

"Yi? That's not quite the case. Sometimes, the suppression is lifted. My cultivation is fluctuating, very unstable."

"It's clear that we are approaching the Archaic divine nest. Something is not right though."

When the mighty experts approached the divine nest, their cultivation levels would be gradually confined until they were reduced to the Spirit Transformation level. The situation now was somehow different.

“The circumstances are different, and one does not have to be in the Spirit Transformation realm to enter the forbidden land. It seems like even mightier beings can also get in!”

After travelling for more than half a day, the divine servants came to this shocking conclusion after their repeated deduction and analysis.

Some shocking changes were happening within this ocean region, and it was possible that the Archaic Kun Peng nest was about to fully come into being and no longer force such restrictions.

Creatures from the divine mountain all rejoiced and immediately tried to contact the elders. If the elders came, then the chances of succeeding would become much greater.

Shi Hao was the only one that felt that something wasn't right. These changes were very disadvantageous to him.

The forbidden sea was calm, even to a point of feeling lifeless. If no one spoke, the silence could drive them mad. The sea surface was perfectly flat.

The water mist waved in the wind and fog rose in the air. The surroundings were blurrier than ever, and the sun was nearly covered up. It was dim all around.

“Yi? What is that?”

Someone suddenly called out in surprise and pointed to the front where a glimmer could be seen. A mountain-sized ship that was in terrible shape appeared. Symbols flickered as it floated on the sea surface.

“That's a battleship of the Southern Meteoric Divine Mountain. I've seen it before!” Said Chi Huo.

“He's right. I have also seen it!” Nodded Yin Xue.

They all came from the Archaic divine mountain and had visited each other. They had met rivals among the disciples and descendants of other great forces, so they naturally knew about this remarkable battleship.

Obviously, the people from the South Fallen Divine Mountain had been attacked and their treasured ship had been destroyed here. They could not tell if anyone had survived.

This made them even more nervous. The dead sea was full of unknown dangers. If they behaved incautiously here, then those might become their last moments.

The fog was thickening. They kept moving forward, but things on the sea surface were hard to recognize. Everything was a blur.

“I can see a ship...”

Someone called out in surprise and pointed into the distance. Through the heavy fog, they could barely make up some ships sailing slowly. Some were as huge as mountains, and others were only over one zhang long. The ships were separated far from one another.

“This is so weird. Why aren’t they making any sounds?”

When the ships were closer, they could see greenish lights glimmering on them. The color gave the ships a miserable look, and was a bit frightening.

“How ancient are these ships... When were they made?” When they could see more clearly, even the divine servants became astonished.

“They are lost ships of the ancient time, called ‘ghost ships’. Don’t go near them, or terrible things will happen and we may all be killed!”

They turned to another direction immediately, trying to avoid the ships.

Hong!

Shocking waves suddenly rose up. Enormous torrents shook the enormous beast horn. Even though symbols were still shining, they were still nearly overturned.

“Watch out!” Shouted Yin Xue. She looked behind the purple-clothed girl, and horror filled her eyes.

Hair stood up on all their backs as a murderous enmity chilled them to the bone. Kun Peng wings shone brightly on Shi Hao’s back. He threw the purple-clothed girl into the air, and he himself also dodged quickly from the spot.

“Peng!”

A huge tentacle struck down on the place where they were standing. The beast horn was shaken as symbols flashed. It felt like an earthquake.

“How dare you!” The divine servants operated the beast horn together, releasing precious light to fend off the monster.

Huge waves rose up to the sky. A black monster as big as a mountain appeared from the sea, and each of its tentacles were long enough to reach the sky.

The beast horn was a supreme treasure itself, yet the monster could still face it head on, proving how formidable it must be. It was a leading figure of the great savages.

With a “honglong” sound, black lightning struck the beast horn, almost knocked it over. Runes penetrated inside, striking the precious light guarding them and attacking everyone.

At this moment, the beast horn was being struck chaotically. All the divine servants and guards moved to defend the teenagers.

The only one forgotten at this critical moment was Shi Hao. After all, he was only a stranger. When everyone’s fate hung in the balance, he was left out. No one came to him.

“Honglong!”

He was thrown away by a wave of turbulence and fell into the water.

“Not good!” Shi Hao was startled to see a tentacle coming at him like a mountain ridge.

“Ah, screw it!” His eyes flickered. Moving at top speed, he stepped on the sea surface and rushed onto one of the ghost ships that had been lost here since ancient times.

PW Chapter 236

Chapter 236 – Ancient Lost Riddle

Ghost Ships represented death. Those infected by them rarely lived, however, Shi Hao currently had no choice. Behind him, a mountainous monster was running rampant, so without borrowing the force of this ship, there was no way for him to defend himself.

Dong

Great waves took to the skies as a mountainous tentacle that flickered with cold light slammed down. There were many sharp and dazzling spikes on its surface, and as it smashed into the great sea, a multitude of waves rushed out. The ocean waters swirled high into the air, causing even the clouds to scatter.

The ghost ship began to sway, but it did not flip over. Shi Hao fell inside and felt cold air blowing about his body. However, he finally avoided that life-threatening disaster.

The black-colored monster did not attack the ancient boat and instead retracted its tentacle. As it stirred the ocean waters, it began to attack the beast horn in front. In addition, it was at this moment that its entire body was revealed.

This was an enormous octopus, and just its feeler alone was as large as a mountain ridge. When all eight converged, it became ridiculously large. While it moved its body, whirlpools would appear, undulating within the great sea.

Wuwu... The symbolled horn began to sound. It began to emit light, causing silver ripples to proliferate. They all smashed into that tentacle.

In a split second, an angry cry sounded as the octopus began to struggle about. One of the tentacles trickled out blood, dyeing the sea in red. However, the divine might that it released was even more shocking. Its eight legs moved simultaneously to seize that beast horn and completely refine it.

The divine servants' hearts began to tremble. Just how powerful was this creature? Was even a supreme treasure left behind by a supreme expert going to be seized? They became exceedingly nervous as they poured in everything they had.

In the end, the shining beast horn began to release ripples that were even more concentrated, breaking free from the eight tentacles. Moreover, it broke apart a few tips, making this vicious ocean creature let go from the pain.

With a chi sound, multicolored light shot out in numerous streaks that tore through the hazy mist. The entire beast horn lit up and rose high into the air before leaving the great sea. This area was too dangerous, so it had no choice but to take flight.

However, the amount of energy this consumed was great, and the divine servants were starting to find it difficult to endure. After all, this was the sea of death. Their cultivation levels were constantly fluctuating from the unstable restrictions, making them feel rather unbearable

Within the great sea, the enormous vicious black creature's tentacles reached towards the skies. This was a divine ability, and after penetrating the clouds, they struck the beast horn. As the two collided, a dazzling brilliance flourished.

Ah...

A few people cried out miserably as they were separated from the beast horn. While falling, they were sucked in by the tentacles. In the blink of an eye, their bodies were badly mangled. In the end, not even their bones were spared; everything was digested.

This type of scene was just too horrifying. As the beast horn was struck high into the air, ten or so people disappeared from its surface. The remaining people panicked as they mutually felt fear.

Eventually, they were able to fly high enough to a point where the vicious ocean creature gave up. It submerged itself into the waters and could no longer be seen.

Without knowing how much time passed, the people on top of the beast horn finally snapped back to reality. This time, their journey to sea went terribly. All types of disasters befell them, making everyone feel both mentally and physically withered.

“We finally avoided this calamity, but the one with ten heavenly passages climbed into the ghost ship. What do we do?” A divine servant spoke out with an ugly expression.

At the crucial point, Shi hao was actually left behind by them. He had no protection at such a critical moment, and as a result could only fall into the ocean.

“What else can we do? Once affected by the ghost ship, it becomes extremely difficult to survive. Let’s give up.” An elder spoke.

Everyone’s expressions were ugly. Were they going to end their journey to sea fruitlessly? They never even reached their goal, yet they had already lost their qualification to enter.

“He’s still alive.” The purple-clothed girl stood on the beast horn’s back, her clothes and hair fluttering behind her otherworldly body. Her brilliant pupils released a divine light that penetrated through the mist, allowing her to see what was happening within the ocean.

“We can’t go down. That vicious creature might still be hidden within the waters. Moreover, he has already stepped on the ghost ship, so he will die sooner or later.” The green-haired youth stopped her, his gaze ice-cold.

“He isn’t dead and is waving to us right now. We must save him, or else how will we enter the Kun Peng’s nest?” The purple-clothed girl retorted.

“Let us take a look.” The other people were all amazed. That youth actually didn’t immediately die! He was truly rather formidable.

The beast horn descended a bit, and everyone looked carefully through the mist to see the ocean scene. The area became calm, and an old boat was lying in disarray. A single youth was currently waving towards the sky on top of it.

“He really is alive, only, there seems to be a problem. There are black colored streaks of light around him, making it so that he can’t break away.”

Shi Hao truly did encounter an inconvenience. Black light was being released from the boat, trapping him and making it difficult for him to break free.

The boat was extraordinarily large and incomparably broad. It was like a small mountain as it floated in the sea. Its body was ancient, with its wood almost rotten, clearly reflecting the great changes of time.

There was a demonic aura within the boat, and as it rumbled, it was as if an ancient devil was regaining consciousness. Heavy breathing sounds could be heard as it tried to plunder his body's blood essence.

"There's no way for him to live. He has already become the ghost ship's food. He will undoubtedly die, so there is no reason to pointlessly put ourselves in danger." The green-haired youth said.

"Seems like the situation is already hopeless. It would become a huge problem if we became infected by the ghost ship as well. Let's give up." An elder sighed before saying.

"But he's still alive!" Yin Xue muttered quietly. Her large eyes glanced over, looking in that direction.

"What can we do? How can we save him?" The purple-clothed girl asked. Even though she was always angry whenever she saw Shi Hao, he did save her just now. Otherwise, that vicious beast's attack would have definitely landed on her body.

"There is no way." The divine servants all shook their heads, because these things were truly troublesome once provoked. They've drifted within these demonic seas since the ancient times until now without decay, proving how monstrous they were.

"Since he is going to die anyway, let's see his final struggle." Qing Yun spoke. His entire body lit up. His green hair flew behind him as he watched with a piercing gaze.

A chi sound rang out, and a streak of divine light flew out; it was a piece of beast bone. It quickly combusted as the symbols on it flickered, turning into a circle of light that wrapped itself around the bone.

The light became more and more magnificent before it ultimately turned into a small sun, smashing into the ghost ship.

"What are you doing?" The purple-clothed girl turned around and shouted.

“Since he is going to die anyway, I was going to stir up that ghost ship a bit. Who knows, maybe it might even injure that enormous octopus.” Qing Yu laughed coldly as he spoke.

“Sigh, let’s go.” A few divine servants shook their heads. They couldn’t change much at this point, and it was quite possible that staying longer would lead to bigger problems.

Symbols began to linger around like lightning, and that beast horn carried everyone far away.

Hong!

The beast bone piece dropped onto that ghost ship and exploded. Multicolored light overflowed into the heavens, making the ship shake violently. The little guy stared furiously at the sky. Those people didn’t reach out to help, and actually struck him when he was down.

He was currently facing an extremely troublesome situation. The black light within the boat began to burn with an even greater ferocity, as if it was going to devour and refine him completely. Blood continued to trickle from his body as essence energy drained from his body.

This was a dense wave of heaven-overflowing killing intent that made him feel as if he had reached the land of the dead. This type of chilliness was absolutely terrifying.

Sure enough, that octopus didn’t leave the vast body of water yet. It also began to feel these fluctuations, so it immediately began to scurry away as if it was trying to escape from a poisonous creature.

Great waves soared into the heavens. Not even the enormous vicious creatures were willing to mess with the ghost ship, proving just how terrified it was.

Zhizhi... Hairy Ball woke up, and all of the golden fur on its body stood on end as it jumped endlessly on Shi Hao’s shoulder. It had also been trapped by that black light, and was going to be devoured.

During the past few days, it seemed to be addicted to sleep. It would sleep through the entire day without waking.

The situation was dire. After being caught, both Shi Hao and Hairy Ball's bodies were chained up by the black light. They couldn't move any of their limbs, making it difficult to escape.

If his terrifyingly powerful body had been switched for any other normal creature, they would have exploded on the spot. The resulting bloody mist would have been devoured by this part of the ship.

"What kind of demonic thing is this? Get out here!" He shouted with a loud voice.

With a sound similar to a breath, all of the black light on the ship began to resonate and burn even greater as they refined him and Hairy Ball.

"Break apart!" He brandished the broken sword while concentrating all of his essence energy. The demonic cluster was sent flying before erupting into a burning radiance.

A weng noise began to sound. The black blood marks on the broken swords suddenly became scarlet red and moistened, as if it had revived. The sight of it frantically devouring the black light was a bit scary.

"En?" Shi Hao was startled, because he merely wanted to try something out. When he considered how strange the sword was, as well as the degree to which ghost grandpa yearned for it, he began to feel that it probably possessed characteristics that he hadn't observed yet.

However, he never thought a simple movement would bring about such divine might. It devoured the black light, stripping the ghost boat of its energy instead. This scene was extremely bizarre and shocking.

All of the heaven-overflowing black light, cold aura, and deathly demonic clouds were absorbed. The broken sword was like a black sun, both bewitching and astonishing.

Shi Hao quickly recovered his freedom, and Hairy Ball stopped screeching as well, looking at everything in a daze.

After the broken sword resurrected, it no longer needed him to control it. It automatically swallowed all of the ghost ship's mysterious force as if it found the most effective tonic. The two seemed to be of similar in origin!

This entire ocean region was flooded by the radiance of this demonic force. Black light circled about like black-colored lightning to block out the heavens. As a result, even the sea began to tremble.

The ghost ship continuously underwent transformation. The ancient boat's frame turned into a rain of light as it continuously melted. All of the black-colored rain fell on top of the broken sword, making it look even more intimidating.

The rotten wood transformed into light, and the ship shrunk in size as it continuously changed. Shi Hao and Hairy Ball were both dumbstruck. This boat... in the end became only three or so meters in length.

In fact, it was going to shrink even shorter, but Shi Hao forcefully controlled the broken sword, not allowing it to absorb all of the ship's energy. Only then this process stop.

“How did this all happen?”

He was considerably shocked, because it was no longer a wooden boat but instead a black paper boat!

It clearly used to be a terrifying mountain-sized ghost ship that emitted powerful fluctuations. Why did it turn into a black paper boat?

Even Hairy Ball quickly widened his eyes as it continuously cried out with zhizhi sounds. It couldn't believe what it was seeing.

It was completely different! It was not constructed at all, and was clearly a paper boat folded by someone. This was absolutely stunning!

Suddenly, Shi Hao noticed a line of text on top of the paper plate: I am the only one left.

He could feel a type of sadness emanating from those words, as if he could hear someone sighing.

What did this mean? A ghost ship that had floated from the ancient times until now actually had this kind of history to it! Could it be that there was some type of hidden meaning?

He began to carefully look it over, earnestly trying to find any other abnormal things. Soon afterwards, he found a large area of bloodstains. There were fingerprints everywhere, and it was to the point where traces of the loops and whorls of the fingers were still present.

Shi Hao became dumbstruck. Immediately after, he felt a wave of fear. His entire body became cold and he began to tremble.

The paper plate could shrink further, so its original body could become even smaller. Meanwhile, these blood stains and fingerprints shouldn't be that big. As he looked them over carefully, these should have been left behind by the slender jade-like hands of a female.

Was this supposed to be like a message in a bottle?

A scene appeared in his mind. A woman was creating paper boats one after another, releasing them after she was done. However, these boats hadn't been destroyed, floating since the ancient era until now, becoming ghost ships.

How powerful exactly was this woman? This was just too scary.

The message she left behind was especially shocking: I am the only one left. What there some kind of hidden intent behind those words? Was this a reminder for the rest of the world, or was it a request for help? Was this where she released the paper boats?

The more he mulled over it, the more disturbed he became. The ancient era was extremely terrifying!

The energy released by the paper boat and the force contained within the broken sword was quite similar, almost to a point where they could have come from the same source.

As Shi Hao examined it carefully, he noticed that there weren't any special symbols on top of the boat. The sentence and those delicate fingerprints alone made the boat gain intelligence.

"So powerful and terrifying. With just a few blood soaked characters, it actually began the incomparably horrifying ghost ship! How powerful of a diving ability is this? Her methods must be ridiculously powerful!"

Moreover, their creator's original intent wasn't even to create ghost ships, but rather to fold paper boats to float with the current. Only, they weren't seen by the correct people, so they ended up turning into demonic ships.

When everything became peaceful again, Hairy Ball once again fell asleep.

These matters began to toss around a bit within Shi Hao's mind, but he decided not to overthink it in the end. Standing stupidly within the vast forbidden sea like this was not good; they had to continue moving.

"You all invited me to open up the road to the Kun Peng nest, yet you didn't even protect me during the most critical moment. That's already barely tolerable, yet you even struck me while I was down. You guys truly are something!" The devilish brat became indignant.

He began to travel using the small boat. He didn't want to enter the depths of the ocean because he knew that some kind of change had happened, making it so that all of the outside experts could enter.

The divine servants speculated that the Kun Peng nest was going to fully come into existence, and that was the reason why the power of the restriction became so strange and unstable. It could no longer completely suppress someone to the spirit transformation realm.

He didn't want to place himself in danger, so he was going to leave these chaotic seas first and foremost. It was best to watch the course of events calmly from the side for now.

Soon after, he encountered another ghost ship. This time, he voluntarily got closer, bringing the paper boat with him as he leapt over. Black light flickered, and the previous strange event happened again. The broken sword displayed its might again, devouring the ghost ship's energy. This time, he didn't wait for the ship to shrink too small before stopping.

He needed an empty ghost ship to protect himself. By hiding inside, others wouldn't dare come close.

The black paper boat was too small, and its divine might had already waned. Scaring off enemies with it didn't seem likely.

Just like this, he began to move along the ocean. During these days, he saw many creatures from all different races that were moving quickly in a certain direction.

In addition, more and more creatures emerged from within the ocean. It was as if they were all making some kind of pilgrimage, all of them travelling towards those direction with their large numbers.

This was a large gathering of powerful individuals. Experts were numerous, and it was entirely possible for a world-shockingly great war to break out. If they were all leaving for the Kun Peng precious technique, then this entire sea region would inevitably be dyed red in blood.

These creatures were all scared of the ghost ship. None of them were willing to get close to it, immediately running away as soon as they saw it. Shi Hao was extremely safe as he leisurely travelled forward. He wanted to go and take a look for himself.

Two days later, he finally approached his destination. There were countless creatures within this restricted ocean abyss, and all types of creatures were occupying this region. Blood flowed from numerous corpses on the ocean surface

Within the forbidden ocean abyss, shouts of war shook the heavens as powerful creatures fought.

“That is...” He was finally able to survey the scene.

An enormous cliff was situated within the ocean abyss. It was more grand and imposing than an archaic demonic mountain as it rose from the ocean surface. A simple and unadorned ancient bird nest rested on the cliff. There were no symbols or divine light being emitted.

However, strand after strand of primordial energy fell down, creating a scene that was absolutely terrifying!

PW Chapter 237

Chapter 237 – Dying the Blue Sea Red

Kun Peng was one of the archaic vicious ten. Now that the remains of its nest were surprisingly displayed right in front of everyone, the breath-taking scene had left everyone astonished and shaken!

A withered and grand cliff stood in the middle of the sea. The nest was built on it and had existed since the archaic times. It had always hidden itself in the vast ocean, and no one had been able to set eyes on the divine power in the nest.

The sea was blood red with the bodies from all different species floated in the water. Ear-splitting cries of war shook the heavens; with the inevitable appearance of the Kun Peng's matchless precious techniques, all the clans brought over their elites.

"Lightning Dog, how dare you to kill my offspring!" The loud roar of a bird could be heard. A green bird spread its wings, creating strong winds that made the blue ocean waves rise and fall.

The big green bird was a descendant of the divine Green Luan. The brilliant creature shone with resplendent light as it arrived from the horizon. As it swooped down, waves reached high into the sky as the waters moved chaotically, showing signs of just how terrifying and powerful it was.

In front, there was an enormous dog whose entire body was shining. Streaks of lightning flickered all around it as it moved through the waters. As it attacked, Green Luan descendants were killed one after another. The Lightning Dog refined their blood essence to replenish itself.

Fluctuation happened now and then in the forbidden sea, suppressing the cultivation of the mighty ones, squandering a large amount of their divine force. Experts with cultivation levels exceeding the spirit transformation realm felt strenuous here, constantly needing to replenish their essence energy.

The big green bird dove down and released resplendent blades of light. Even the waters exploded upon being struck. The endless sea began to evaporate; this attack was too powerful.

However, the Lightning Dog was also incredible. It howled towards the sky, drowning the Green Luan in bolts of lightning.

Lightning interweaved in the air as blades of light flurried about, causing blood to flash and feathers to dance about chaotically. Both creatures were injured.

Meanwhile, an enormous living creature seemed to be breathing deep in the sea. It was so incredible that the entire world seemed to resonate with it. As it moved up and down, layers of ripples began to diffuse outwards.

“This is bad, it’s happening again!” Many creatures panicked and cried out.

Ordinary creatures weren’t affected much, but the faces of experts beyond the spirit transformation realm immediately changed. They dashed away from the battlefield at top speed for a peaceful region to occupy.

The fluctuation was a form of suppression, forcing them down from a higher cultivation level. Not being able to surpass the spirit transformation level was extremely dangerous for these experts.

Sure enough, there were some experts that suffered attacks after being suppressed by the fluctuation. A group of Sea Demons leapt high into the air to pursue and kill the experts situated at the lowest points.

Pu!

The big green bird and the Lightning Dog were both killed after being surrounded by thousands of Sea Devils. It was truly like the saying where enough ants could kill an elephant. Blood sprinkled everywhere as the two were killed in midair.

Similar things happened all over this sea. The waters become crimson as the corpses painted out a tragic sight.

The suppression finally ceased. Another tumult was over.

Ao hou...

A Nine-headed Lion roared in the distance. It opened its gaping mouths and raise all nine heads high, shaking the heaven and earth. Fierce golden light radiated from the lion, and as it sucked in with its mouth, the Sea Demons in the sky all fell into its mouths.

This type of might startled many creatures. They all became frightened.

“This... Could it be the Nine Spirit King?” Shi Hao stood on the Ghost Ship and watched the battle from afar. He was quite surprised at this, as his sworn younger brother — the Nine-Headed Lion, had a grandfather called the Nine Spirit King.

Beside it, a huge fish leapt out from ocean surface. It radiated a purple glow, making it look like a purple divine mountain. The fish similarly devoured many creatures with a single bite.

It was a strike-back against those experts beyond the spirit transformation level, killed off by creatures at lower levels. It was truly a humiliation, but there was nothing they could do due to the peculiarity of this place. Following the release of fluctuations of the Kun Peng nest from time to time, their cultivation realm would immediately be suppressed.

More bodies decorated the sea surface, dying the ocean surface in blood.

Ao hou... The nine-headed lion roared before ultimately dashing far away. It left behind a trail of blazing golden light as it fled, not wanting to die here.

In fact, other mighty creatures also planned to do the same because they didn't want to take further risks. They started to back away, leaving this battleground.

However, everything was still in chaos. Some mighty beings beyond the spirit transformation level were still moving in and out of the water. They were trying to approach the ancient nest, willing to take the risk for the Kun Peng treasured artifact.

It was too a point where this place did not lack extremely powerful individuals. Even a group of supreme experts quietly sneaked in.

Shi Hao was full of excitement. Even though he was watching carefully, he did not act hastily. It was extremely dangerous here with many big shots lurking.

Hong!

Ocean waves reached sky-high as the sea split open to reveal a grey mountain ridge. It was shockingly enormous. Many creatures in the sea panicked and fled at once.

The mountain ridge began to rise higher and higher from the sea surface. It was almost like a continent, appearing incomparably majestic.

“Oh my god... It’s an ancient flood dragon!”

“It’s... the Elder Flood Dragon!”

Many creatures cried out in surprise. All species, regardless of terrestrial or aquatic ones, shuddered at the scene. They knew who was coming, and that creature was the most powerful creature of its region.

The reputation of the Elder Flood dragon could shake this sea. Like the Elder Sea Devil, it was also the master of a region. Even the creatures of the Sea God Island had to show it some respect.

The Elder Flood Dragon had came in person. It was so powerful that even while suppressed, it could sweep over this place with its mere physical strength. How could the creatures here not cry out in surprise?

Hong!

The sky split open and black fog filled the air. An enormous devil bird crossed the sky, covering the entire sea. It was about to dive directly towards the massive withered cliff.

“The Heaven-Swallowing Sparrow! It’s still alive!” Shi Hao was surprised. His eyes were opened wide as he stared at the bird with hatred and rage. It was directly related to the destruction of Heaven Mending Pavilion.

Had it and the Qiong Qi not come, the divine vine would not have fought to death, and the other sects would not have dared to attack them.

Although the Ghost grandpa chopped off a wing and claw later in the fight, the sparrow had obvious survived the injury and fled the scene.

Now that it appeared again, its mighty strength was world-shaking like a Kun Peng. Being a bird as well, it crave this type of precious technique the most.

Dong!

The body of an enormous flood dragon surfaced in the sea, shaking up endless waves and violently disturbing the waters. The splattered water pierced into the clouds, showing how formidable the power was.

Many creatures were sent flying by the wave. It was very difficult to keep one's footing here. The withered cliff stood tall and was the only thing unshaken, and not even the ocean waves could drown it out.

The grey flood dragon attacked no one but the Heaven-Swallowing Sparrow, trying to drive it away. The dragon did not want the sparrow to get hold of the divine cliff, wanting the precious technique for itself.

"Hong!"

The two fought ferociously. Symbols flashed like a sea of thunder, shaking the heaven and earth, evaporating the water nearby, almost drying the surrounding sea area completely.

"Something has definitely gone wrong. Those above the spirit transformation level are able to enter as well. This is not good." Shi Hao felt regretful.

All of a sudden, the ancient cliff glowed, as if it was responding to something. Circles of golden ripples spread from it and expanded gently into the air.

The Heaven-Swallowing Sparrow cried out in surprise. Its feathers began to flutter in the wind, and blood trickled outwards. It quickly rushed into the air, rushing into the distance while shuddering severely.

At the same time, the grey flood dragon sank into the sea, leaving a huge whirlpool and a trail of blood behind. It had also fled after experiencing the equally terrifying suppression.

This place was full of mighty beings with creatures like the Elder Flood Dragon and the Heaven-Swallowing Sparrow that were rarely seen. They were willing to risk their lives for the Kun Peng's precious technique.

To sum it up, the wasteland was going to be thrown into chaos. Something vital was about to happen, so these supreme experts all had their eyes set on the Kun Peng's precious technique, wanting to strengthen themselves with it.

The sea quieted down. The water turned even redder as bodies piled up higher and higher as the other creatures rushed back again. However, no one knew how many mightiest beings stayed, hiding among them.

A few moments later, the sea was crowded again. Many creatures dashed forward, but no one could get close to the withered cliff. The Kun Peng nest seemed to be within their reach, but it was always some distance away, like a mirage.

The Ghost Ship was also moving forward. Shi Hao sat in it and watched it all quietly. Whenever species holding grudges met in this sea, they would immediately fight to death, filling this place with heaven shaking war cries.

The majority of them were powerful beings. The weak ones were not qualified to come here.

Of course, nearly ninety percent of them were creatures of the sea. This was their home court, so if a member of a clan showed up, thousands of them would follow into the fight.

“Why are such strange things happening?” Shi Hao wondered.

Three days had passed. He had seen too many bloody battles since then, and even his Ghost Ship was attacked several times. Countless bodies floated in the water.

However, they were still unable to approach the ancient divine cliff.

It didn't seem that far away and was quite distinct. Streaks of chaotic energy descended one after another, yet no one could truly approach and enter.

The journey had cost them half a month, with fights breaking out through this entire trip. All the clans fought with their lives on the line, some for old grudges and others to gain a dominance here. Their competitors were wiped out, and some hope could finally be seen.

After trudging for half a month, the ancient cliff suddenly seemed vast and unclimbable. Marks from claws, knives and swords had been left on the wall, recording the struggle of countless years.

A stone staircase was laid out in the sea, leading up to the cliff.

The length of the staircase was a bit terrifying. It was boundless, allowing countless creatures to simultaneously climb any congestion.

The ridiculous amount of effort involved in building such a grand structure amazed them all.

Even though all of them could have climbed it together, the endless killing continued. Experts from all different races fought as they ascended, leaving behind numerous corpses.

“This doesn’t seem like the withered cliff we saw before in the middle of the sea at all. After getting closer, it seems more like a large piece of land!” Shi Hao exclaimed. This was one of the Kun Peng’s personal creations.

He fought back the urge to climb up with everyone else and waited in the sea nearby instead. Other powerful clans had their elders as guardians, some of which even hid in the crowd. He was all by himself, so acting incautiously would be risky.

Several days passed in succession. The fluctuations from the withered cliff became more and more frequent. In the end, the ripples seemed to have become continuous, spreading towards all directions.

It meant that those beyond the spirit transformation level had been completely suppressed, bringing them much trouble. Several days had passed since those people climbed up the stairs, and no bad news had been heard since then.

The devilish brat could not wait any longer and wanted to move into action. Otherwise, he might be too late to obtain anything.

“The mightiest experts had retreated. We can move now!”

Someone murmured from the distance. Quite a few creatures were thinking the same thing as Shi Hao. Another wave of figures began to climb up the stairs.

“Be careful. I heard that some supreme experts took the risk to hide in the crowd. They are also trying to get into the Kun Peng nest.”

“What? Are they crazy? Do you know how difficult it is to cultivate to their level?! They have achieved their cultivation level after many years of hard work. If they die here because of the suppression, all of it would have been for nothing.”

“The precious technique of the archaic vicious ten are simply insurmountable. Obtaining one would immediately give them the qualifications to aim for the peak of this world. Even creatures as powerful as them have gone mad over this.”

Many creatures fell into discussion. The atmosphere was extremely heavy.

Hearing this, Shi Hao held back his impulse and calmed down again. He had to wait. Only after the fluctuations of the cliff truly became continuous and an unsurpassable suppression had formed would he enter. It would be safer that way.

Two days later, the condition was reached. The violent fluctuations formed a carpet of ripples, suppressing this region completely.

During this time, he had witnessed many terrestrial creatures climbed up the staircase while accompanied by divine servants, including several groups of pure-blooded ones.

“Those are alliances of other divine mountains. So powerful! Those youth are all extremely formidable.” Commented Shi Hao.

Those youth were all extremely talented and heroic. They were all at the peak of the spirit transformation realm. If they fought, they could easily defeat their enemies.

The girls all possessed ethereal beauty, looking like fairies that descended into this world. There were a few that especially beautiful, possessing a grace and elegance that was almost peerless in this land.

Pure-blooded creatures from the sea also showed up, and they were all quite young. It was rumored there were descendants from ocean deities and heirs of supreme experts. They were extremely powerful, and were currently taking on human forms.

A power struggle was destined to happen here. Outstanding talents were going to display their skills, and the strong ones will rise. Heavenly youths and peerless beauties moved out at the same time, and the truly unrivalled characters were going to fight for the top. Only the most powerful could have a chance at obtaining the precious technique.

Shi Hao abandoned the Ghost Ship and finally stepped onto the staircase within the sea. Step by step, he walked towards the ancient land.

The closer he got to the withered cliff, the wider it became. It was as if he entered a new world that was incomparably massive instead of an ocean cliff.

“Yi, you are still alive?”

Shi Hao was just about to approach the ancient land after leaving the sea when someone noticed him, revealing a look of shock and coldness.

Obviously, Shi Hao had noticed them as well. They were none other than the members of the Heavenly Mountain alliance. The purple-clothed girl, Yin Xue, Chi Huo, several divine servants and Qing Yun were among them, and Qing Yun was the one who spoke.

Shi Hao looked calm, but his eyes contained a slight chilliness. Not long ago, these people not only did not save him but even struck him while he was down, wanting him dead.

PW Chapter 238

Chapter 238

'You haven't died yet' was the first sentence after he arrived. With such a cold tone, even a statue would be angry.

Moreover, after being invited to travel together and help one another out, he was struck while down by these people. How could there not be any killing intent behind Shi Hao's cold gaze?

"Shut up." The purple-clothed girl spoke, berating the green-haired youth. She was extremely discontent with his words and actions. If not for him attacking the ghost ship at such a crucial juncture, Shi Hao would have probably joined them after meeting again. However now... it became difficult!

"Yun Xi, you are overstepping your boundaries. Watch how you speak to me." The green-haired youth spoke with an unpleasant expression.

When the purple-clothed girl heard what was said, she coldly snorted without paying him any attention. She spoke towards Shi Hao, saying, "What happened previously was our fault. In the future, we will give you an explanation, or even compensation."

"Right! Qing Yun was too impulsive, committing a few things that were excessive. However, he can make it up to you in the future. He definitely has to suffer a bit and hand over something precious." Yin Xue also spoke.

It was clear that they didn't want to give up, doing everything they could to rope Shi Hao in. They were hoping to continue their cooperation as they deliberately spoke in a gentle manner.

"I am only interested in his blood. What kind of race does he belong to? I wonder if the medicinal effects are strong." Shi Hao spoke.

Qing Yun's eyes were malicious, and a hint of cold laughter hung on his lips. "Do you guys see now? Not only does this human not care about your invitation, he even wants to kill me."

The divine servants sighed, knowing that this situation was unsalvageable. Meanwhile, the purple-clothed girl named Yun Xi also frowned. Her quick-witted eyes that were filled with divine multicolored light stared at Qing Yun. If not for him, how could the situation ended up like this?

“This fellow is truly lucky, not dying even after entering the ghost ship. He really is an oddity, and there has to be something eccentric about him.” Qing Yun spoke. Following that, a slight cold smile appeared on his face as he said, “It might be true that we need you to open up the passage. However, there is no need to cooperate, and we only need to restrain you.”

He was incredibly direct and arrogant as he hinted for the old servants beside him to take action and capture Shi Hao.

“What do you guys think?” After speaking up to this point, the smile on his face became even colder. “Since we met up again, then it can’t be helped. Capture him. Why do you guys have to waste your time trying to invite him?”

This tone and attitude made it impossible for others not to be angry. He was suggesting that they capture Shi hao and force him to open the passage.

“Crawl over and accept your death.” Shi Hao said to him.

Qing Yun’s expression suddenly became even colder as he said, “We might not necessarily use you. Rumor has it that the Kun Peng nest has completely appeared, opening up by itself, so we might not need some special method to open it. When we ask you in a bit, please don’t struggle too much. It’ll be unfortunate if we became a bit careless and take your life.”

“So noisy. If you have the strength then just crawl over. Stop wasting time.” Shi Hao seemed extremely calm. Moreover, he had a look of contempt.

“Seize him!” Qing Yun spoke, telling the old servant beside him to move.

This was an honorable descendant who was extremely powerful. He served as a divine servant within the divine mountains, and after turning into a human form, appeared to be extremely old with thinly spread hair. However, his eyes were like two lanterns as he stepped forward to suppress Shi Hao.

“Pretending to be strong in front of me?” Shi Hao’s eyes were clear as he erupted with divine strength. He definitely wasn’t going to act carelessly, and as essence energy erupted, a huge Suan Ni rushed out, roaring towards the heavens before charging forward.

This was simply an ocean of lightning. Within the mountain-sized Suan Ni were streaks of gold, and together with the hundreds and thousands of lightning streaks that descended, this place immediately exploded. The blazing light was absolutely dazzling.

The old servant's palms and fingers were covered densely in symbols. Even though his cultivation was restricted, this deafening attack was still at a high level of power within the Spirit Transformation realm.

Hong

The two collided, and the old servant's hands violently shook. His arms were scorched black, and his sleeves immediately exploded, turning into ashes from the lightning radiance.

Meanwhile, Shi Hao personally rushed forward. He was just too fast, because a pair of Kun Peng wings appeared behind him, increasing his speed by an enormous amount.

With a peng sound, he firmly grabbed one of the old servant's arms. He shook it fiercely, immediately shattering the symbols that the opposing party was trying to activate, making him cough out large amounts of blood.

The descendant felt as if some kind of strange force penetrated through his arm. It was extremely fierce, and with a kacha sound, his bones began to continuously shatter; it was too ferocious.

Everyone became overwhelmed with horror. They had only seen Shi Hao move close and grab the old servant's arm before seeing the other party's body ring out with pi pa sounds. His precious bones continuously broke, creating a scene that was simply too intense.

Ah...

The old servant released a loud howl. His opponent took advantage of the slightest bit of carelessness. However, his skills were still great, and after having his cultivation restricted, he could still display a high level of power within the Spirit Transformation level.

In just a split second, he became to blaze like a stove. An expanse of mysterious symbols rose, curling beside his body to shake Shi Hao off and protect his own body.

Even though Shi Hao had just entered the Spirit Transformation realm, his fighting strength was somewhat shocking. He began to move, putting to use the symbols within the True Primordial Record to dissolve his opponent's bone text skillfully, not suffering any injuries.

He was exceptionally strong and vigorous. Like a Suan Ni, his entire body was surrounded by lightning. Drawing support from the servant's great power, he rushed towards QingYun to directly kill him.

"Just entered Spirit Transformation and you want to fight me?!" Qing Yun's face became cold. With a fierce gaze and a cruel smile, his body erupted with green radiance.

Chi!

A huge green-colored bird rushed out with bright and beautiful plume feathers. They seemed like they were made from green metal as they rang with kengqiang sounds. With a might that could tear apart the heavens, it rushed murderously at Shi Hao.

Hong

Shi Hao's eyes were astonishing as his mouth released a clear roar. Lightning surged, and the purple electricity rushed into the sky, colliding into that Green Luan with a honglong sound. Dazzling radiance exploded in the sky.

"Die!" Qing Yun shouted as he dove down. He was a pure-blooded creature that opened nine heavenly passages. Moreover, he entered this realm a long time ago, possessing strength that was extremely tyrannical.

He firmly believed that no matter how heaven defying Shi hao was, he was still someone that just entered the Spirit Transformation realm. With a low cultivation level, Qing Yun was confident that he could kill Shi Hao.

His right hand became hazy. Green symbols erupted as multicolored light danced about, smashing down together. The clashing of metal sounded, creating clanging sounds.

The scene was extremely terrifying. It was clearly a single hand, yet countless beams of light flew out from within it. The illuminated the skies with endless divine swords.

Tens of thousands of swords began to spin around, hacking down together. The boundless sword qi slashed at everything, and even Shi Hao with his incredibly powerful body felt as if the killing intent could make him bleed.

Hong!

Enormous waves rushed towards the heavens as a black body of water surged behind Shi Hao. A huge fish appeared; this was the Kun Peng's aquatic form, and its might was increased many times here.

It was because the sea was right behind the stone staircase. The blue waves were boundless as they surged ferociously, easily absorbing an endless amount of essence energy.

The great fish displayed its might, as if it was on a level of its own. It swept through the void, smashing apart the numerous swords. Its own body was pierced by a few of the divine green swords as well, causing blood to trickle out.

This strike was extremely astonishing, with Shi Hao obstructing Qing Yun. This was the first time they fought against each other.

Qing Yun's face was ugly. The opposing party had just entered the Spirit Transformation realm, yet his cultivation had already reached such a high level. This clash of power immediately made his gaze even more malicious.

"Enough, I'm going to take your life!" The green-haired youth shouted. His pupils shot out two disks of green moonlight. Rumbling sounds rang out as two streaks of terrifying beams of light flew out.

Those were two starry rivers created from symbols. The stars converged into one, making this world seem as if it was being recreated. Rumbling noises continuously sounded.

After these two streaks of light flew out, his pupils quickly dimmed, returning to their previous state. Energy blazed aggressively all around him as he suddenly jumped up and stamped his foot towards Shi Hao's skull.

Not only did he possess powerful strength, even his methods were extraordinary. Even though he was so domineering normally, he would hardly ever encounter hardships due to these assets.

The two starry rivers that were shot out were actually a type of strange demonic force that sealed up this area. It locked Shi Hao in place, making him feel as if he was stuck within a swamp.

Qing Yun wanted to end this as soon as possible, so he began to use his race's innate ability. Soon after, he soared into the sky, tramping towards Shi Hao's head. He wanted use brute force to completely crush his opponent.

Hong!

However, Shi Hao broke out at this moment. His ten heavenly passage appeared, containing the divine force of Spirit Transformation within them. Following that, they drew out a flourishing circle of light, allowing everyone to open their eyes.

“What?!”

Everyone began to cry out in alarm, and even the purple-clothed Yun Xi was stunned. Her small mouth formed an O shape as her spirited pupils flickered with multicolored light, staring towards that direction.

“Why are they connected together?” Yin Xue also cried out softly. Her beautiful face was full of astonishment.

Ten heavenly passages appeared around Shi Hao, connected together to form an immortal divine ring. It actually allowed him to break free from the imprisonment, enabling him to smash apart the two starry rivers as if they were rotten vines.

As a scarlet flame burned around the youth, his hair seemed to be like a fiery flame. The essence energy around his body rose dramatically as everyone watched with absolute disbelief.

As for the divine servants, they were even more terrified. What kind of divine might was this? How did he accomplish such a thing? To link up all ten heavenly passages, did he advance even a step further from the highest level of enlightenment?!

He had just entered the Spirit Transformation realm, yet he was able to smash apart Qing Yun's innate divine ability! He tore through everything along the way and arrived right in front of his opponent.

Qing Yun's body in midair could see this situation clearly. His mind began to tremble. This child that was younger than him by several years was too formidable! Just how did he do this?

The ten heavenly passages merged together into a divine ring, and as it used the strength of Spirit Transformation, it was simply too shocking. Shi Hao stood within the divine ring like a supreme deity!

His foot descended, wanting to trample on Shi Hao's face. This action was both humiliating and domineering, and even more so an act of arrogance. Qing Yun had his eyes set on Shi Hao, wanting to end this in the shortest time possible.

This was clearly a catastrophic decision made from the contempt he had for his opponent. He had undoubtedly placed himself in an absolutely perilous situation.

Even though Shi Hao had just entered the Spirit Transformation realm, he was not trapped within his technique. He tore through the restriction like a hot knife through butter, using the divine ring to rip apart those starry rivers as he personally welcomed the incoming Qing Yun.

Peng!

Shi Hao avoided the foot aimed at his face and grabbed his ankle. Following that, he seized the opportunity to make his move. With a hong sound, he directly smashed his opponent into the stone staircase as if he was a scarecrow.

This was a historical place that had existed since the ancient times. It remained immortal through those endless years due to the symbols contained within.

Qing Yun cried out miserably as blood gushed out from his mouth and nose. His face directly met the stone stairs, and after colliding, it directly became distorted.

This kind of tremendous pain was simply unbearable.

Shi Hao seized every moment, obviously not willing to let him go. He spun his arms around again, using all of his strength to smash Qing Yun down on the stone staircase again.

Not to mention Qing Yun, even the people watching could feel the pain. The green-haired youth's nose was smashed, immediately sinking in. His face was completely deformed.

He couldn't help but shriek miserably. This type of pain made even his soul throb.

Symbols exploded from his entire body as he struggled for his life. His true strength was extremely great and his cultivation far surpassed Shi Hao's. Upon flaring, he would become extremely horrifying.

However, how could Shi Hao waste a single opportunity? He took the initiative once again to smash him onto the ground, smashing apart his bones and dispersing those symbols. At the same time, his two hands grabbed at the green-haired youth's leg while a foot locked down the other leg. He began to ferociously tear with everything he had.

Pu

Blood splashed outwards simply and violently.

Qing Yun bawled miserably, and even though he wasn't completely split in two, a large part of his legs were split open. This type of pain was carved eternally into his memory, and he wouldn't be able to forget it for the rest of his life.

PW Chapter 239

Chapter 239 – The Real Nest

Chi!

Brilliant symbols began to pour down streak after streak like lava from the sky. Several divine servants were collaboratively taking action, because if they waited for even a moment longer, Qing Yun would have been hacked in two.

Shi Hao sighed, turning around to deal with the symbols.

At the same time, the symbols fell down. Most of them wrapped around Qing Yun to guard him and seize him back.

All in all, Qing Yun himself still had to be powerful enough to survive the attack; otherwise, he would have already been cut in half by Shi Hao just then.

Hong!

Shi Hao released his final strike. His hands lit up, and all of the brilliance was used on that green-haired youth. Bones all over his body were crackling, tens of which were broken.

Unfortunately, he was hindered by the divine servants' symbols and could not unleash his full power. Those divine servants were very powerful, possessing the strength to offset such a fierce attack.

“Catch him!”

Several divine servants moved at once, spontaneously trying to suppress Shi Hao. The boy's abilities were beyond their imagination.

The fusion and joining of ten heavenly passages was such an invincible might. The fluctuation it emitted was immortal. Was he making miracles? He had stepped on a path that no one had walked before!

Now that they've become enemies, if they let the boy leave, who knew how powerful he would grow up to be? Even the divine mountains would dread him. They shuddered just by thinking of it.

In addition, he was able to break through the limits of their predecessors, which would even shake the elders. If they could catch and bring him back, the elders might be able to comprehend something from him.

Among the divine servants were Golden Beasts and long-cultivated archaic descendants. Those were powerful and extraordinary beings, with a single one possessing the power to disturb the world.

However, they were under suppression here. The Kun Peng nest was sending out surges and waves, limiting their battle capabilities to the Spirit Transformation level.

Even so, the battlefield was terrifying. Resplendent symbols dropped like falling stars, making even the sky shudder, as a weng weng noise sounded.

Shi Hao took an evasive move and fell back without hesitation. He did not confront them head on. After all, he had only just reached the Spirit Transformation level and should be content with his earlier achievement.

“Don’t even think about leaving!”

The divine servants shouted and were about to dash forward. Just then, baking heat came at them, ready to melt down the sky. Flaming light rushed in like tides, dyeing the heaven and earth in crimson radiance.

“What is that?” Exclaimed everyone. Not only them, but all the creatures on the stairs were shocked by the scene as they quickly moved out of the way.

The red light expanded wide in the blue sea. Vapors rose up like fallen clouds, filling the space between the sky and sea’s surface. White mist rolled and swirled like smoke, as if the divine clouds from heaven had blanketed the vast ocean.

The flaming tide moved forward at incredible speed without end. The water was almost evaporated completely, turning the sea into a fog and mist that spread up the stairs.

“Those are... legendary Flaming Fish!” Some sea creatures cried out in surprise.

Lengths of these fish ranged from several chi to several zhang. Their bodies were vividly bright red and scorching hot, and as they moved together, it was as if a volcano was erupting.

They were like a gush of living lava, only hotter as they almost boiled the blue sea dry.

Legend has it that the Flaming Fish were formidable creatures that always appeared in the tens of thousands. They were born with a gift of fire essence and symbols. When such forces set out together, their power became terrifying.

Within ancient times, one of the Flaming Fish became a deity and even tried to grab power from several great deities of the sea. The battle astonished the seas, and in the end, this fish clan was defeated and sealed. No one had expected to see them come back now.

Pipa pipa

After these sounds spread, the school of fish leapt up like shooting arrows before landing on the vast staircase. They stood on their tails and waddled forward with them.

The school of fish consisted of at least hundreds of thousands. The joined force was frightful, burning everything on their path to ashes.

Had the stairs not been built by the Kun Peng, this place would have been swallowed by lava and erupting volcanoes like everywhere else. The dao field of an archaic vicious ten was indeed true to its name.

The crowd backed off. Anyone dared to challenge them would be devoured instantly by the fast-moving fish and burned to ashes and dust.

“Peng!”

The divine servant was able to release one last attack towards Shi Hao before he had to back off. The Flaming Fish rushed in like an unstoppable tide, rushing right through the middle of the stairs. They would kill anyone and anything standing in their way without any hesitation.

Shi Hao and the divine mountain group looked at each other across the blazing wave. He too did not want to continue their bloody battle at such time.

“Wait until I’m recovered. I’ll kill you myself next time!” Qing Yun roared with a twisted face. The pain was excruciating. He was cleft between his legs, and blood was oozing out from the wound.

“So arrogant. Exactly who do you think you are? Had they not saved you in time, I would have cut you in half. As for the future... There’s no chance.” The devilish brat responded scornfully.

The green-haired boy was so enraged that he coughed blood. This should not have happened, but he was reckless and did not think much of his opponent. Consequently, he ended up like this.

He was powerful enough to overpower Shi Hao, but the fight only got himself stamped and ripped apart, making him resentful beyond belief. The frustration clogging in his chest gushed out as blood kept dripping from his mouth. He had to roar towards the sky to vent out his hatred.

The divine servants also sighed. The Flaming Fish came ashore unexpectedly, which had interfered with their attempt to kill the boy. They were afraid that Shi Hao would become a great threat to them in the future.

With the passing of the Flaming Fish army, all living creatures gave way to them.

“Each Flaming Fish has trace amounts of divine flame essence within them, but the concentration is extremely low. Extract from a thousand of them and you may still only get one drop of it, of which the value is immeasurable. The essence is a rare divine substance which can be used to refine divine instruments.”

Even though everyone knew the rare value of the Flaming Fish, no one was bold enough to provoke them.

Everyone realised that they were in big trouble now. Flaming Fish would definitely be a formidable competitor in fighting for the Kun Peng’s precious technique. Their clan even dared to challenge a deity before!

Shi Hao turned and merged into the crowd. He did not linger around this place. The withered cliff was a vast place, and when he actually climbed onto it, he found it was almost like a continent.

Moreover, the higher he climbed, the pettier he felt. The symbols here had taken after the nature itself, and was a small universe in itself.

Despite the great number of creatures, this place could fit them all without any crowding. All the powerful ones dashed up the mountain rapidly.

Ten days quickly passed just like this unexpectedly. This was extremely shocking for everyone, because this was the result of running and leaping at top speed.

After another ten days or so, Shi Hao finally reached the top of the cliff. The Kun Peng nest was no longer there, and the flowing chaotic energy was the only thing left. What had happened?

He was not the only one. Everyone else was dumbfounded as well.

The vast cliff top was barren without a single blade of grass. Fog filled the air and crimson glow loomed through the mist. A mysterious fluctuation spread out from here.

“There are remains of an archaic formation!”

Creatures arrived later realized that the mighty ones were disappearing one after another, stepping into the distance from that cliff.

“I knew the Kun Peng nest wouldn’t be that simple! After all, it was one of the archaic vicious ten, how could its nest be built on ordinary sea surface? A wholly different world surely hides behind this.”

Some of the older ones sighed, not surprised by this discovery.

“It was said that the dao field of the Kun Peng was built in the realm of gods, so there might be some truth in that. It could also mean that the dao field was a divine land on its own.”

People realized that this cliff was only a launch point. The nest seemed to be here, but this place was nothing but a transport formation.

“Could it be that this place is merely a projection of the real Kun Peng’s nest?”

Shi Hao did not linger. He stepped on that passage after the other creatures and entered the ancient formation, disappearing from the cliff.

Quite a while later, they could see light in front of them. They were transferred to an even stranger ancient land. Masters of symbols among them whispered their thoughts, speculating that they had been transferred at least seven to eight hundred thousand li away.

The deduction surprised them all. They were sent this far!

They were on a tiny island now. Golden sunlight surrounded them, and everything here looked dream-like; even the plants here were golden-colored.

They looked far into the distance and saw many similar islands in the sea. They were all glowing and radiating different colors.

Many creatures could be seen on each island. They had been transferred to different locations. The spirited essence was extremely dense here. One would feel like transcending by taking a deep breath. Their physical strengths were all enhanced.

The sparkling sea water did not form big waves. The vapors suspended within mid-air were actually Xiantian essence.

“There! The Kun Peng nest is over there on the sea!”

A nest was on a reef in front of them, almost level with the sea surface. The nest was extremely grand, larger than the islands nearby.

The crowd shouted and screamed. All were rushing forward with bloodshot eyes, trying to enter the divine nest.

Actually, killing and fighting had already started there. Every living creature had joined in crowding that area.

Some people had traversed here several days ago and had been fighting ever since. Everyone wanted to be the first to enter.

“The seal is no longer as firm as before and might break. Everyone can head over then.” Whispered someone.

However, despite the ferocious fights and fierce attacks, no one succeeded. The reef was covered in endless blood and dead bodies. It was a gruesome scene.

Shi Hao of course did not hesitate. He rushed forward with the crowd and landed on the immense reef, approaching the ancient nest.

Countless logs of divine wood were used to construct this boundless and unparalleled nest. Chaotic energy surrounded this place, creating a shocking sight.

Obviously, it would still take some time for the nest to open by itself.

Shi Hao had already known that those with ten heavenly passages were no longer the only ones able to open the nest. Some divine servants said that people had found some bone remnants of Kun Peng in the divine mountain, and were going to open up the passageway with them.

The top alliances all had their own methods to rely on, or else they would not be here for the competition.

On one path, a young man was standing with his back to everyone. He was wearing golden armor with a golden trident in hand. His blue hair cascaded down like a waterfall. With a cold and merciless voice, he said, "Leave. This road is closed!"

"This..." the crowd was shocked. He obviously was a descendant of the sea deities!

"Who do you think you are, telling us the road is closed?" Shouted someone.

"Get lost!" The blazing golden-armored boy still kept his back to the crowd, his blue hair flying in the wind. With a shake of his trident came a hong sound, and golden light swept towards them like tides. The speaker and the crowd near him were all bombarded to pieces. Blood mist filled the air.

The mightiness of the boy was bloodcurdling.

The vast Kun Peng nest was boundless. Symbols flickered around it, turning it into a restricted land. Dozen of roads that led to the entrance had already been occupied by now.

Shi Hao did not immediately take action. He noticed that there was another enormous wondrous scenery right beside that Kun Peng nest. Some others were looking at it as well.

An enormous gateway was situated on that island. It was flourishing with brilliant light, as if it connected straight towards the realm of gods. A single river flowed out from within, pouring into the ocean.

"The spirit essence was so concentrated that it liquefied into a river!" Shi Hao was shocked.

There weren't many people there. Most of the people flocked and gathered around the Kun Peng nest.

Suddenly, Shi Hao's eyes were wide open with surprise, because he saw a black paper boat float out from the golden gateway down into the river.

PW Chapter 240

Chapter 240 – Drifting through Endless Eras

The black boat was extremely small and delicate, no bigger than a palm. It was far from possessing the might of a ghost ship, and there was even less of a need to compare their size.

Shi Hao trembled. The ghost ships that had drifted about since ancient times until now were originally like this? Where did they come from?

The shining translucent river was formed from concentrated essence energy. It surged with multicolored light, and as soon as they approached it, they would feel as if their bodies became as light as a feather and incomparably relaxed.

Shi Hao became suspicious. Did that gate truly lead to the realm of deities? Otherwise, how could such a phenomenon like a river of liquefied spiritual essence happen?

Within the great wasteland, such a thing was simply inconceivable. Such a river would have triggered a huge war between ancient countries, making all types of ancient powers fight each other for it. It's value was extraordinary.

He walked up, and with symbols flickering within his palms, he intercepted the paper boat that was drifting with the current. After getting his hands on it, he immediately felt a vigorous life force flowing out from it.

At the same time, a soul felt a tremble that almost made him collapse right there. He felt the sun, moon and stars fall down numerously, as if the heaven itself was going to collapse.

"This is..." Shi Hao was overwhelmed with shock, and only after a while did he stabilize his state of mind. What kind of power was this? It was all sent out from the black paper boat.

Finally, his mind stabilized and everything calmed down. He was no longer affected by any fluctuations.

The black paper boats seemed new, as if they hadn't been folded long ago.

There were a few frightening and glistening words that flowed with extraordinary splendor. The bloody characters wrote: I am the only one left.

As the wind blew and river flowed, it was as if a woman was sighing. It carried with it the mysteries of the ancient years, bringing sorrow and dreariness...

Shi Hao's felt all of his hair standing up straight. The paper plate was still relatively new, and the blood on it hadn't even dried yet. Could it be that the woman was still alive, residing beyond that brilliantly blazing gate?

That can't be right, because even though the liquid hadn't dried yet and was still sparkling, he could clearly feel the force of endless time after carefully examining it.

Everyone has heard of the ancient ghost ships since ancient times. However, other than Shi Hao, no one knew about the mysteries and origins of the black paper boats.

Shi Hao's heart was constantly rising and falling. It was difficult for him to calm down.

Since the black paper boat originated from that place, could it be that it was truly another world? How else could it have drifted through such endless years?

"The nest constructed by Kun Peng is adjacent to the gate, this..." Shi Hao suddenly became silent. He stood there for some time without moving.

After quite a bit of time had passed, the murderous shouts in the distance brought him back to reality from his deep thoughts.

He lowered his head and looked at the black paper fan in his hands. The boat seemed to tug at his heartstrings for some unknown reason. It was as if he could vaguely feel the bleakness and sorrow of a woman. With a single glance, endless ancient eras would seem to have passed by.

He shook his head fiercely to snap out of his state of stupor.

"This blood is so powerful and mysterious, yet it is all contained within this black paper boat." Shi Hao sighed in admiration.

A boundless divine might was contained within the black paper boat's bloodstains. It's wasn't a big deal if it was never burst, but if it really did come out, then the entire world might be affected!

“So shocking!” Shi Hao was shaken. He felt as if the stars were falling out of the sky and the heavens were collapsing when the paper boat first entered his hands. Was this a representation of this blood’s power?

It was clearly just a tiny bit of blood, yet it was able to evolve the paper boat into an unrivalled ghost ship. Currently, the divinity of the blood still had not completely dispersed, and so he should still be able to experience its elegance.

The blood on the ghost ship had already long dried up, while the blood on this black paper boat was still like before. Even though its divinity had already begun to disperse, there was still a portion that had been preserved, radiating within.

Shi Hao carefully preserved it, storing it within his heaven and earth pouch.

He decided to stop thinking about it for the moment and leave this area. Now was not the time to be absent-minded. A single bit of inattentiveness could cost him his life.

The number of people outside that gate gradually increased. This seemed to have brought about some kind of disturbance, and a group of people suddenly took action. Symbols began to fill the air, causing a great battle to abruptly break out.

“Heavens! There’s a piece of divine wood here!”

Eventually, someone cried out. It startled the people around the Kun Peng nest, and many powerful experts rushed over after hearing that.

Shi Hao’s eyes flickered as he watched. Within that flourishing gate was a piece of rotten wood. Even though it had nearly been soaked rotten, it was still releasing a divine splendor that dripped out brilliantly.

He suddenly had a flash of understanding. The reason why this black paper boat took so long to drift out was most likely due to being obstructed by this brilliant piece of wood for all so many endless years.

The broken log was most likely a tree branch. It had the thickness of a barrel with coiling symbols over its entire body. Even though it had already rotted to a serious degree, it still contained a sparkling divine radiance. It was extremely astonishing.

Thanks to the brilliantly burning gate and river of spiritual essence, no one noticed the log previously.

“Look at its patterns and radiance! Why does it seem so similar to the legendary elder wood?” Someone cried out in alarm.

“There is a green sparkling and translucent leaf that hadn’t rotted yet. It looks exactly like the elder wood’s leaves!” A huge sensation broke out in this place.

The battle became even more intense. Creatures from all different races began to call over people from their side to assist them. Blood began to splash and spread out as a large amount of corpses fell; a bitter battle broke out.

The islands region immediately became chaotic, and the people that rushed over weren’t any less than those at the Kun Peng’s nest. They all went crazy over the two words ‘elder wood’, causing numerous creatures to fill up every corner of this place. Symbols filled the sky before submerging this place.

Shi Hao was also astonished. What kind of place was this? How could there be elder wood?

“Is the sky opening and the earth splitting apart? Could it be that there really is a divine realm beyond that gate?”

“Elder wood! Are you sure you aren’t mistaken? This is too unbelievable! Did it truly appear?!”

There were some creatures who tried to confirm this information with their clans as they fought. They frantically killed their way, leaping into the waters to seize the rotten piece of wood.

Pu

However, after entering the river waters, when they went against the river to pass through that gate, everyone was blasted apart and burned into ashes, turning into a rain of light.

This stunned everyone. Even some powerful creatures like the several hundred zhang long ocean beast were still blasted to pieces and turned into a bloody mist, not able to stand a single blow.

That gate seemed to have locked down this region, not allowing mortals to come in contact.

Shi Hao stood in the distance, as emotions flooded his mind. He couldn't calm down at all. His head began to swirl between the paper plate, Kun Peng nest, blazing gate and elder wood; these things were all too mind-blowing.

With the emergence of the elder wood, everything pointed to the divine heavens. This was a bridge that connected man and heaven!

This kind of tree had only appeared in legends. It was known to be heavenly reaching, directly connecting to the blue dome of heaven. It was simply incomparable.

Supposedly, it had been cut down during the archaic era, and ever since, it had never shown up again.

Of course, a few of the oldest divine mountains might still have one or two of its leaves. Anything else would only exist as records within ancient texts.

When everyone initially began fighting, there were still some doubts after the cry of surprise rang out. They thought that it was merely similar to the ancient wood. However, there was a chance that the world behind the restrictive gate of light was truly the realm of gods, so many people immediately believed.

This was most likely really elder wood that contained worldly profound mysteries. With one of its leaves in hand, one could comprehend the dao with much less difficulty, increasing one's cultivation speed. It was a remarkable treasure.

There was a sparkling and translucent elder wood leaf, as well as a piece of rotten wood. It naturally made everyone go mad, and even pure-blooded creatures began to fight over it.

"Get lost, all of you!"

Right at that moment, a loud shout rang out. It was powerful and overbearing, carrying with it a heaven-overflowing golden light. It hid the sky and covered the earth, immediately making many people shake until they coughed out large amounts of blood before flying outwards.

There was even a group of people that was crushed into a bloody paste upon being swept by the golden waves. They were as frail as porcelain, losing their lives on the spot.

“Descendant of an ocean deity!” Everyone shivered inwardly.

It wasn't that those people were weak, but rather that the ocean deity's heir was too strong. His head of hair and golden battle clothes fluttered behind him. With pupils like sapphires, his beauty was like that of female.

This was an extremely powerful youth. While pointing out with the golden halberd in hand, he said, “All of you, back off! Otherwise, be killed without mercy!”

Golden light surged like ocean waves, and he seemed as if he was standing within a vast body of water. His essence energy burned around him vigorously like a furnace as he looked at everyone with disdain.

Naturally, there were people who weren't willing to yield. Among them, the individuals that had long surpassed the spirit transformation realm were even more unwilling. This was merely youth from the younger generation. Acting so arrogantly and domineering in front of them angered them too deeply.

A rumbling sound rang out between the heaven and earth. It was like a falling star as a large expanse of precious artifacts suppressed forward and everyone made their moves.

Honglong!

However, the golden halberd in the youth's hands swept out, causing an immensely powerful radiance to burst forth. The aura it gave out felt as if it could defeat even tens of thousands of enemies as murderous light soared into the heavens.

Pu pu sounds rang out within the golden waves. In front of the golden halberd, experts exploded one after another, and even the most powerfuls were sliced apart. Only their ruined bodies remained, without a single person able to survive.

Those precious artifacts all cracked open before falling down. Not a single one remained.

Those that rushed over all died without a single survivor. This type of power and unrivalled technique deeply shook every single person here. This was simply the rebirth of a young deity!

“Those that want to live, back off!”

The sea deity's heir was unrivalled in power. His head of blue hair danced about as he pointed out with the halberd in hand. Even though his age wasn't great, he possessed a supreme aura that could devour mountains and rivers.

The nearby groups of people couldn't help but retreat. This youth was too powerful, reaching great heights within the spirit transformation realm. He far surpassed everyone else, and within this region, he was like a young deity.

“Did you not hear? Still not backing off, are you asking for death?!”

A group of people wearing golden armor appeared, all of them with cold expressions as they shouted towards everyone. Among them, one was pointing and berating loudly towards Shi Hao who was standing right in the middle of everything.

“An armored servant like you even dare to act so unbridled?” The devilish brat was naturally unconvinced. The youth that fought just now was already unbearably arrogant, yet now the servants below him even dared to act like this.

“Not only did you not show gratitude towards us for not immediately killing you, you even dare to resist our divine ocean group? You're courting death!” Those individuals in golden armor's eyes all widened, their pupils cold while staring at Shi hao. Among them, one person soared up valiantly before stomping down.

These were all fighters from the ocean race who had gone through the tests of life and death. They were powerful, and had bathed in the blood of many creatures. They followed the descendants of the ocean deity, and currently, they swiftly and decisively rushed forward without mercy.

This type of style reflected their strength normally. After soaring into the air, a foot smashed down towards Shi Hao's chest. They were incredibly arrogant as coldness filled their eyes. Symbols flourished magnificently within their hands as they slapped down.

Everyone's expression changed. This was an extremely powerful ocean creature. Could this be a lord? His harsh words were cold and valiant, but he truly possessed strength.

Many people could tell that they could not defeat him if they fought alone. The ocean deity's servant was too powerful.

Shi Hao's gaze was chilly, and without a single word, a broken black sword was raised. It hacked forward, and immediately, black light erupted into the heavens.

The ocean race creature cried out. Hidden symbols erupted from all over his body, covering the skies. A powerful force was released, but it was still unable to block it.

Pu

He was hacked in half by Shi Hao, and from top to bottom, the cut was extremely smooth. A huge rain of blood splashed out as the two halves fell onto the ground.

"His broken sword's power is so great, but he himself is only at the initial spirit transformation realm." Someone was able to see through the real situation.

Everyone felt their eyelids jumping. A powerful ocean race creature was cut down just like this? Many people felt exceptionally overjoyed, because these golden warrior's attitudes were too excessive, making them furious.

All of them were feeling stifled. The ocean deity descendant's demands were already bad, but to be berated by his servants too made them ridiculously furious.

"You dare to kill one of my followers, do you want to die?!" The ocean descendant turned around and pointed his golden halberd at Shi Hao. His head of dark blue hair fluttered about as two streaks of penetrating light shot out from his eyes.

"Who do you think you are? Do you really think you are the ocean deity? Even if the ocean deity were to come here himself, I will still chop him up if he provokes me!" The devilish brat responded fiercely.

PW Chapter 241

Chapter 241 – Descendant of the Sea Deity

The descendant of the sea deity kept his countenance unchanged. Hair flapping in the wind, he raised the halberd in one hand and struck forward. Mighty golden tides surged and exploded with a hong sound.

Shi Hao moved sideways at once, evading the attack. Light trailed behind the halberd like the tail of a comet as golden light swept across the air. Chi la, the river was cut off in the middle.

Pu tong, a huge rock as heavy as eighty to ninety thousand jin was cleft into halves before falling into the river, splashing water all over the place.

The scene was too terrifying. As the dao field of the archaic Kun Peng, this island region was no common place. Even though mighty individuals were fighting, rarely did any of these mountain rocks break.

The power of that one sweep could devour mountains and rivers, able to conquer all regions!

The crowd was startled. The formidable boy had reached the peak of perfection in the Spirit Transformation level. He possessed such an incomparable strength that calling him a reincarnated teenage deity of sea would not be an overstatement.

Shi Hao's pupils constricted, because the situation did not look good for him. He naturally would fight head on if they were at the same cultivation level, but currently, he had only just reached the Spirit Transformation level.

After being cornered like this, he had no choice but to fight back. The sea deity descendant was looking condescendingly at all the other creatures, and even his servants were acting similarly, making it too difficult for anyone to bear.

"You killed my servant, so you are going to pay with your life." The descendant said calmly. His blue hair hung down loosely and shone brightly. His brooding eyes flickered as he lifted his halberd again.

Weng!

Tidal waves of crimson light surged fiercely into the sky.

Shi Hao took the initiative this time, since he was left with no choice. As someone at the initial Spirit Transformation level, he had no choice but to use all of his power to put up a fight.

Ten heavenly passages appeared simultaneously, interconnecting into a diving ring while it surrounded him. He looked as if standing in a blazing sun as resplendent light shone around him.

At that moment, a strange power emerged out of nowhere. Auspicious energy rose up and constrained the entire place.

With the immortal divine ring, Shi Hao waved his sword and stepped forward like a heavenly god. Heaven and earth shook with every step he took, and the world seemed to resonate with him.

The crowd nearby was astonished when they realized that they had been completely immobilized by the divine ring. They were completely still like clay or wooden sculptures.

The broken sword seemed unstoppable as black light erupted from it. Shi Hao swung his right arm, striking down towards the head of the descendant.

Many were shocked and shaken by this. The boy of the sea clan seemed unable to move. He did not try to defend himself, but only stood there.

“Master!” The group of ocean clan fighters were frightened as they shouted at him. The ten heavenly passages had joined into a splendid divine ring. Such a formidable scene shocked every single one of them.

While they were still in fright and everything seemed to have been decided, everything changed.

A golden light split open the sky. The young man in the middle of the battlefield raised the arm holding the halberd towards the sky. His body erupted with mountainous rays of divine light, and his blue hair danced wildly in the air as his eyes flashed with cold lightning.

Dang!

He fended off the broken sword with his halberd. The impact resulted in an explosion of resplendent lights, causing people to shout and scream. Many of them coughed out blood upon being caught up in the attack before flying out.

The impact was astonishing, and the power was beyond people's imagination.

The descendant of sea deity remained nonchalant. He was not inhibited at all and continued to act condescendingly. His aura of invincibility flourished even greater as he pointed the halberd towards Shi Hao.

The devilish brat shivered inwardly. This individual was too terrifying, and was powerful to a ridiculous level. He actually couldn't hold his opponent in place! However, this did not make him dispirited, because he had just entered Spirit Transformation.

The ocean clan youth had a serious look in his eyes as he walked steadily towards Shi Hao. The earth shook at his steps, as if an enormous being was marching over. The golden armor radiated splendid lights, like a god descending to this world.

The golden light rose violently all of a sudden as the boy dashed toward Shi Hao without a single word. The halberd swooshed across the air, causing golden light to surge and gallop like thousands upon thousands of horses and soldiers.

The entire area became chaotic. All were trembling at the scene as they were forced to flee into the distance.

Shi Hao avoided direct confrontation and uttered a long cry. The divine ring shone brilliant like the sun as it surrounded the broken sword. As the two weapons collided violently, an earsplitting metallic sound that shook one to their souls was produced.

At this instant, symbols covered the sky and flooded the entire place. The fight between the two was just too horrifying.

The crimson light faded as the two moved away from each other. Shi Hao's chest heaved as he panted for breath. Had he fought without the broken sword, he would have probably lost his life with his initial level of Spirit Transformation.

The golden halberd in his opponent's hand wasn't ordinary either. It was definitely a supreme treasure passed down since ancient times. It was extremely outstanding, and powerful to a point where it was a bit terrifying.

“I am unrivalled! Who dares to fight with me?” The ocean clan youth spoke as deafening metallic sounds rang through the air like thunder. He was extremely conceited, and even after seeing how mysterious and extraordinary Shi Hao was, he still acted like this.

With the halberd in hand, his golden armor shone brilliantly as he marched forward like a sea deity. Golden waves surged around him, giving him a majestic and invincible look.

“Then come and defeat me!” The devilish brat replied, divine light erupting from his eyes. Even though the situation was extremely disadvantageous for him and might cost him his life, he was still fearless.

His belief in himself did not waiver for one single bit. After stepping into this level, he believed that he could not be defeated. He hadn't been defeated yet, so he yearned for a strong opponent.

Dang!

The collision sent sparks flying. The golden halberd pressed down again, shaking the entire place.

“The hell with being unrivalled, you will all submit to me in the end!” Scorching tidal waves rushed towards them like lava flowing from erupting volcanoes. Blazing crimson light covered the sky, rolling their way over rapidly.

A figure emerged from within crimson light, and while holding a blood-red spear, the individual soared across the sky. The spear arrived with terrifying power, directly striking at the sea deity descendant. The sound was earsplitting as multicolored light flooded this place.

The newcomer was a young man surrounded by red clouds. He was wearing a scarlet red armor, and his red hair flapped in the wind. In his hand was a spear resembling polished blood-red diamonds.

The young man had a majestic look to him like a war deity. He came down from high above with incomparable power as he struck at the sea deity descendant.

Dang!

The blood-red divine spear collided with the golden halberd, creating deafening noise. Symbols spread out towards all directions like tidal waves, creating an absolutely stunning collision.

Flaming light surged high towards the sky, releasing a scorching heat. Countless Flaming Fish appeared from the distance. The crowd became horrified upon realizing the young man's identity.

He was a Flaming Fish had transformed into human shape, which proved how ridiculously powerful it was. The transformation ability was said to be extremely difficult for these creatures, so those that succeeded in doing so were definitely extremely talented.

The youth treaded on endless crimson light, making him appear incomparably mighty. His aura surged with increasing ferocity as he struck the sea deity descendant.

"In the past, my ancestor was only one step away from defeating the ocean deity, but was suppressed by him in the end. This time, I will complete his legacy and rule the blue sea." Said the youth that was surrounded by scarlet multicolored light.

"Survivor, the sea deity could seal your people up back then, and today, I will similarly suppress you!" The ocean clan youth responded coldly.

Dang!

A fight started between the two. The golden halberd collided violently with the blood-red spear, spilling tens of thousands of sun rays and auspicious colors. The place was lit up by fluorescent lights as symbols crisscrossed like tidal waves.

The two young men were too powerful. One was the descendant of a sea deity whose mightiness needed no introduction. The other one belonged to a formidable ancient clan who had challenged a great sea deities with its earthshaking capabilities.

"They are so powerful!" Exclaimed the devilish brat. The two creatures' hostility was directed exclusively at each other, creating a bloody fight right away. This made Shi Hao the outcast, excluding him from the battlefield.

Shi Hao had never met such strikingly talented people like the sea deity descendant and blood-red-armored youth in his life. Their prowess was incomparable, and they were definitely powerful and unrivalled beings within the Spirit Transformation level.

Those two were so much stronger than the people he encountered before. The others of the same cultivation level were no match to them.

Numerous Flaming Fish were gathering here. Their scarlet red and shiny bodies heated up the place instantly, causing the temperature to soon become unbearably high.

Mighty descendants of the sea deity were also hurrying in this direction with great numbers. They stood there facing the scarlet red fish, creating an incredibly tense atmosphere.

Dang!

The golden halberd and blood-red spear collided ceaselessly. The two youths were demonstrating strength at the peak of the Spirit Transformation level. The matchless power created was beyond the imagination of anyone present.

Shi Hao turned away and left, because the battle here did not concern him anymore. He ran quickly towards the Kun Peng nest.

Flaming Fish and sea deity descendants were blocking the doorway of the flourishing gate. Whoever wanted to obtain the rotting elder wood and the green translucent leaf would be left in a hopeless and difficult situation.

Moreover, the gate was a forbidden thing in of itself, since no one was able to touch it safely.

After leaving the battleground, Shi Hao felt golden bone texts flicker as both his vital energy and blood also starting to churn inside of him. It was an alarming sign. Had he fought without the broken sword, an even worse result might have happened to him!

“I am unrivalled...” Muttered Shi Hao to himself. He had to reach a higher level of spirit transformation to stay on even footing with the ocean deity descendants and others. Otherwise, he would be placing himself in great danger.

The Kun Peng nest was seated high on the island with grandeur and majesty.

Chaotic energy was being released from it.

The nest was everchanging. At first it looked primitive and dull, upon closer inspection, one would find that it would gradually begin to brighten into a shining golden color. However, a while later, it would revert to a black state.

The mysterious change left people dumbfounded. This dao field was filled with dense fog, and within it were traces left behind by peerless heros of the archaic era.

Many people gathered here. All of them were trying to get in and compete for the legendary divine ability. Powerful members from all clans fought fiercely, causing countless bodies to fall. However, at this moment, no one had succeeded yet.

“Yi, what’s that?” Exclaimed someone. Precious light radiated from the entrance of the nest, creating great fluctuations.

“The entrance has been breached! Oh my god, someone has opened the dao field and is about to enter!” Shouted many creatures, causing an uproar.

The Kun Peng nest was larger than any of the surrounding islands. It was made of some unknown ancient wood, and those imperishable trunks had existed for eons without any change.

Now that the sealed entrance was breached, chaotic mist surged from the crack, gushing outwards.

A group of powerful beings gathered around it. This group was a top-level force that consisted of terrestrial creatures. They were holding a cracked bone that radiated mysteriously.

The bone looked ordinary, but once it bursted into life, golden lights came out like tidal waves. It then emitted black symbols and light patterns of all kinds gurgled out.

“That’s... the bone fragment of the Kun Peng!” Some began to cry out upon recognizing the object.

People were stupefied at these words. Bone fragments of one of the archaic vicious ten were actually left behind in this world! No wonder the ancient nest was breached, since they were holding such an incredible object.

“Kill!”

After a brief moment of silence, shouts and screams resumed. All forces joined in the fight as they charged towards the entrance with bloodshot eyes. An opportunity like this might not come again. The precious technique was in the nest, so they absolutely could not let it go to someone else.

“The situation is not good.” Shi Hao got there just in time and frowned at the scene. So many had gathered here for the sake of seizing the precious technique. The end result was too unpredictable!

Chapter 242 – Free-For-All

Time was now extremely crucial. There wasn't a single moment to spare, or else someone else was going to get it first. Everyone's minds were filled with these thoughts as they killed their way forward.

Murderous shouts immediately reached its peak, and experts fell down in large amounts. Blood and bone blossomed into the air, clearly showing the enticement of the Kun Peng's divine technique.

They all began to fight while risking life and limb, brandishing their precious artifacts while rushing forward.

Only a short period of time had passed, yet the ground was already littered with corpses. At the entrance to the ancient nest, skeletons of the dead were piled into a small mountain, containing with it the remains of all types of creatures.

“Kill!”

Everyone shouted loudly as they used their precious artifacts. Bone texts were packed densely in this place, turning this place into a field of demons. So many creatures died that the blood converged into a small stream.

“Hurry, they are about to enter!” Everyone shouted. The situation was anything but reassuring. The group of people who held the bony remains of the Kun Peng were trying to prop open the small crack of an entrance, and were on the verge of succeeding.

Shi Hao was mixed in with the crowd, encountering attacks here and there. He carefully dealt with them as he also killed forward. The crevice into the nest was already quite large, and there was already someone that rushed in.

The area around the crack was even more fierce. Roars could be heard from time to time as all types of symbols surged and flooded that area. A group of experts were immediately shaken until they felt unstable and coughed out large mouthfuls of blood.

Shi Hao had just arrived at the entrance when he was attacked. Beside him, a large sledgehammer smashed down with brilliant light. The extremely large weapon was swung over by an ocean beast, creating wuwu noises.

With a hong sound, Shi Hao avoided it, but miserable shrieks rang out from the group of creatures near him. After being struck, they immediately turned into a bloody paste.

A light tremble vibration was released. The symbols on those the sledgehammer burned brilliantly, as if a volcano was erupting. They began to swirl about before smashing down on this place, killing everyone within this group.

This was a top expert within the spirit transformation realm, far surpassing other cultivators in this realm. It had revealed its own technique, and was currently unrivalled in strength here. The silver sledgehammer weighing several hundred thousand jin swept out towards everyone here.

This ocean beast's body was entirely white. It had the head of a flood dragon and the body of an alligator, but its claws were quite long, allowing it to travel upright. Its enormous body gave off an enormous pressure itself.

Chi!

Shi Hao swung out his sword. Black light flickered from his hands, immediately slicing the enormous sledgehammer into two with the blade radiance.

He did not tarry here any longer and rushed into the nest through that crack. The fighting inside was even more intense as heavenly opportunities awaited everyone.

The ocean beast was shocked and followed behind. It had avoided Shi Hao's sword, but as it held its broken sledgehammer, it was incredibly angry.

"All of you, get out of my way!" With a roar, it spat out an expanse of silver bone text that turned into searing light. With a hu sound, it directly melted a group of cultivators into ashes.

"Powerful loose cultivators from the ocean floor!" Everyone was shocked. These creatures had great inheritances and weren't easy to deal with.

Fights were happening all over the place inside. Many creatures were currently engaged in combat to gain an edge in seeing the Kun Peng's precious technique. At every corner, blood as being spilt as people paid for this chance with their lives.

Dang

A wave of symbols immediately attacked Shi Hao as soon as he entered this archaic dao land. The experts were all fighting, and as soon as someone got close, they would attack that individual.

The broken sword shone, blocking the densely packed symbols. He rushed towards a relatively emptier area to defend himself.

Even though there were many people who rushed in, there was still a sufficiently large area. This place was a world of its own. They couldn't see the ancient trees of the Kun Peng nest, they could only see a mist-covered wide space.

Ah...

Not far off, a flood dragon was sliced apart, and its original form was quickly reflected by its corpse. It was over several hundred zhang in length, creating a rather shocking sight.

It was obviously an expert that exceeded the Spirit Transformation realm. However, after being helplessly suppressed, it could only die without displaying all of its divine might, dying in battle here.

Of course, the ones that tried to kill him weren't just mere descendants. Those that could enter weren't weak. All of them had outstanding backgrounds with no lack of pure-blooded creatures.

This place was incredibly spacious, but a large amount of killing was still taking place here. All of these powerful individuals were fighting in muddled warfare as they followed an ancient road into the depths of the cave.

Along the way, there was a large battered boulder that was plain and dull. There was a line of text carved on it: Swallow the sun and moon, refine the primal chaos.

Everyone stopped and sucked in a breath of cold air. Only the Kun Peng could do such a thing, right? Its level of cultivation was unfathomable, and just the slightest bit of its energy could make people stunned. Its power was simply unfathomable.

In that instant, the great battle erupted. It became even more intense, because there were some diagrams carved into that enormous rock. A Kun Peng was spreading its wings into the skies, covering the nine heavens.

Even though it was indistinct, the intimidating fighting aura was already through the roof. Its feathers were neatly spread out, as if they were going to pierce through the heaven and earth. This kind of overbearing aura was truly unmatched.

It was just a single diagram, yet it made everyone begin to fight fiercely. It was because there was a unique dao within, making everyone want to take it for their own to carefully study.

Chi

A flying sword descended, and even though it was only about a dozen inches long, it was incomparably sharp. It released a golden energy that flickered with brilliance as it hacked towards the powerful individuals. Many precious artifacts were broken as a result.

Shi Hao was also within the range of this attack. He quickly dodged to the side, avoiding the strike. The ones that were around him were immediately sliced in half, causing blood to rush high into the air.

They were clearly quite a distance away, yet they still similarly suffered from the attack. It wasn't because they were weak, but rather because this flying sword's power was too great. It possessed a purple luster and flowed with auspicious energy. A single slice killed a large group of people.

Its owner was a fish, a monstrous fish that was a meter in length. Purple scales covered its entire body, and its tail could allow it to walk upright. Two dragon fangs hung from its mouth.

Apart from this, there wasn't anything unique about it. Purple energy diffused from all over its body, releasing an extremely formidable fluctuation!

"Amethyst Fish?" Someone shouted with a look of shock. This was an exceedingly rare creature that existed in legends.

These creatures could swallow worldly essence and store it as amethysts. This was an incomparably precious treasure! Just a single bit of it could allow a precious artifact to improve its grade. For flying swords in particular, adding a bit would immediately make it incredibly sharp and powerful.

An Amethyst Fish that was so skilled and powerful was naturally quite terrifying. Once a rarely seen creature like this was able to cultivate successfully, then they would become extremely powerful creatures.

Even though this was the case, after the experts saw its purple flying sword, their eyes immediately burned with desire. This was a rarely seen treasure! An amethyst sword without any impurities would make even those from the Archaic Divine Mountains envious.

“To set your eyes on me, you all might as well keep dreaming.” The Amethyst Fish sneered. Even though it was only a meter tall, the fluctuations it emitted made people feel as if they were facing an enormous beast.

It opened its mouth and spat out a mouthful of purple energy. That flying sword immediately became even more splendid and transformed into a purple sun before sweeping through everything like rotten vines. Precious artifacts shattered in succession, and a few people cried out loudly. Their blood splashed outwards as corpses began to fall down.

Kacha

Purple energy drizzled down from the flying sword. It rotated in the air and arrived in front of that giant boulder. With fierce slash, stone fragments flew out everywhere. That diagram was carved out by the monstrous fish.

The meter length Amethyst Fist opened its mouth and inhaled. That stone slab shrunk and entered his mouth before disappearing.

Everyone shivered inwardly. This was an incredibly powerful creature of the sea.

Upon seeing it obtaining the stone plate, none of them tried to stop it, because they could see this this wasn't some supreme treasure. How could the true Kun Peng's precious technique be so easy seized?

This path was incredibly long, and the dao field was extremely vast. After walking for more than ten days in a row, they still didn't reach the end. This was definitely a world of its own, or else such a thing wouldn't have happened.

Along the way, the devilish child would fight intensely with others from time to time. Even though he had the broken sword in his hands, he still received injuries, because there were just too many powerful individuals here.

"It's you! Where do you think you are going?!" A loud shout rang out. The green-haired youth was holding a golden whip as he rushed over murderously.

This was not a soft whip, but rather in the shape of a sword. It didn't have a point and had four edges as well as twenty-eight segments. Rather than calling it a whip, it was more correct to call it a short rod with a handle.

During these past few days, the green-haired youth had recovered his injuries. However, every time he thought back to that past scene, the area between his legs would suddenly ache terribly. He was simply torn apart alive! For a pure-blooded creature like him, this was simply inconceivable amount of shame and humiliation.

"Stop him, don't let him get away!" Qing Yun shouted loudly.

Several divine servants rushed over, shining brightly one after another. They were all like old lions with long hair and beards as they released the most powerful force they could muster.

“Don’t go!” Yun Xi opened her mouth, ordering the old servants beside her to stop.

“Loser that got ripped apart by me, why did you appear again? Do you want to go for round two?” The devilish brat ridiculed. The broken sword in his hands swept out, hacking out with black light.

Wuwu...

As the symbol horn sound. The beast horn released silver ripples that poured over like great waves, blocking the slash. An earsplitting explosion was released between the two.

This was a supreme treasure from the Archaic Divine Mountains, and it was something that the divine servants relied out to deal with all types of situations. It was not destroyed even after encountering all those terrifying creatures.

Shi Hao knit his brows; this horn was formidable after all. Once the silver ripples were released, it was was like a cage of sword radiance. This was definitely a supreme ancient treasure.

The ancient beast horn emitted light and confronted that broken sword. The two collided again, and even though they couldn’t exceed the power of Spirit Transformation here, it was still extremely terrifying.

Several divine servants rushed over. Qing Yun sneered, and with the green and gold whip in his hands, he soared into the air like a great peng before hacking towards that space.

“You dare to fight me in the sky? Aren’t you scared of your legs being split open again?” The devilish brat mocked. Within such an intense fight, these words were extremely ear-piercing and out of place.

However, it was extremely effective. When Qing Yun thought of the last battle, his legs immediately became unstable. He couldn’t help but tremble, and the powerful force from that attack was immediately disrupted.

Haha... The devilish brat laughed loudly, seeming completely carefree. Meanwhile, Qing Yun bit his lip as his entire face fell ashen. He truly wished he could immediately kill his opponent.

Hong!

The divine servants' attacks had arrived. Shi Hao's ten heavenly passage flared upon facing this and began to revolve with the power of Spirit Transformation to fiercely contest it. However, he was struck with so much force that his entire body shook, continuously forcing him back.

In the end, he had just entered this cultivation realm. Compared to those that were truly at the peak, his cultivation was still considered relatively low. To be able to fight at such a level was already quite shocking.

After all, would any other creatures at the spirit transformation realm dare to fight the divine servants? It was entirely possible for them to become bloody paste after receiving a single attack, dying on the spot.

Shi Hao realized that his cultivation level was still comparatively lower. He really should study the dao and advance his cultivation, or else he was going to pay dearly for it. However, time was of the essence, so how could he have the time to calmly cultivate? If he missed this opportunity, then he would most likely not have the opportunity to obtain the Kun Peng's precious technique again.

"The end is in sight!" Suddenly, a loud shout rang out, causing noise to immediately fill this spacious area.

All of the fighting stopped as everyone rushed forward towards the exit, all of them trying to outdo one another.

Chapter 243 – Waking Up

An enormous pair of stone doors blocked their road, with ancient trees growing beside it. These were the kind of trees that the ancient wood of the Kun Peng nest came from. They were like walls as they towered over this area, making the route through the stone doors the only path available.

“Are we really only now getting closer to the nest’s true entrance?”

Even though everyone had already entered this enormous structure a long time ago, they had never seen the nest’s ancient wood until now. As a result, it was perfectly reasonable for them to suspect that this was the case.

An ocean beast that was roughly ten zhang in length appeared. It was an ocean whale with half of its body in a humanoid form. With fierce strength, it pushed towards those doors, but in the end, they didn’t move at all.

There were a few creatures in front that wanted to force open the ancient trees to open up the path ahead. However, symbols began to pour down in torrents, completely blasting them apart.

A Silver Violent Ape appeared. It was extremely aggressive, and had been impatient for while now. It quickly took out its precious artifact and struck towards the enormous stone gate to smash it apart.

Hong!

The resulting noise was extremely loud, as if thunder had struck down from the ninth heaven. Within the Kun Peng nest, the stone doors began to shine brightly. All the outstanding individuals nearby cried out in fear as a massive wave of force spread out. It began to engulf all directions, making their hearts beat quickly.

The large number of experts were blasted apart. As this enormous wave of power spread it, they were like bursting bubbles, not able to withstand even a single blow. The entire sky was covered in a shower of blood as bony remains covered the ground; the tragic scene was simply too horrible to endure.

This all happened too suddenly! It was just a single strike, yet more than thirty percent of the people here exploded from the power of the massive fluctuation. Broken legs and mutilated arms flew out everywhere.

It was a terrifying sight to witness. All of the outstanding individuals here felt their hair stand erect. A chill ran all the way from their feet to their heads, and as they backed up, even breathing felt difficult.

“Where did that Silver Violent Ape come from? It dares to strike the Kun Peng symbols! This is truly aggravating and hateful. Is he looking to die?!” Quite a while passed before someone shouted out, cursing loudly in anger.

Shi Hao was also affected by the attack somewhat. Even though he used the broken sword to protect his body and even hid in the back of the crowd, he still coughed out loud mouthfuls of blood. However, there was no endangerment to his life.

A group of people immediately retreated while bearing heavy injuries. The Kun Peng dao field’s bone text killed an extremely large number of people, filling the ground with corpses. Even those that survived were still trembling in fear from what just happened.

The party that held the Kun Peng’s bone remnants suffered the least amount of damage since the force didn’t seem to have been directed against them. The damaged bone was surprisingly protecting them, allowing them to avoid this great disaster.

“Everyone, let’s not keep our treasures any longer. Our Kun Peng remains are already seriously damaged, and its symbols have already disappeared, so we can only reach this point. I believe that there is definitely someone here who possesses a crucial item. Right now, we need to make a concerted effort to open up this gate. I believe that our ocean race friends in particular definitely has some Peng bones.”

The group at the very front spoke. These individuals were an alliance of experts from the Archaic Divine Mountains, and their group consisted of powerful young men and women. Each and every one was unordinary and glowing with vitality.

It was quite clear that they were all pure-blooded creatures. The young men were handsome with divine splendor flourishing about them, and the young ladies possessed an otherworldly beauty.

“We have a damaged scale piece.” The Sea Demon race appeared. A cracked scale appeared within the hands of their leader, and within the golden scale were streaks of faint black patterns.

“Let’s open up this gate first. It’s highly likely that we will face many more difficulties inside, so how will we enter the true forbidden land if we can’t even open up these doors?” Another group of people spoke out.

They brought out half of a ruined feather that flowed with multicolored light. It possessed an aura that was both pure and holy. From its current appearance, it was completely normal for someone to think that this was some fur rather than the feather of a Kun Peng.

As these great powers joined hands, another group of land creatures appeared. They brought out a small chunk of black blood rumored to have been left behind by the Kun Peng. This was definitely a supreme treasure! If it was grinded into powder and consumed, its medicinal effects would inevitably be extremely shocking.

In the end, everyone took out various things that the Kun Peng left behind: Blood, bones, scales, and feathers. They received the approval of the stone gate, and it released a wave of gentle radiance. Following a rumbling sound, the dusty nest was opened.

In that instant, a wave of auspicious multicolored light surged, flooding through this ancient region. Everyone was showered with a rain of immortal light, as if they were going to soar into the clouds and transcend.

Soon after, these powerful individuals rushed forward, stepping into the true ancient nest.

This time, Shi Hao did not continue but instead stayed behind. He began to feel that this Kun Peng nest was too dangerous, and that rushing first did not equate being the first one to obtain the precious technique.

From the time they first entered, half a month had already passed. However, just like before, their efforts still resulted in nothing. Breaking through all these restrictions would take an extremely long period of time.

Sure enough, when he arrived, he noticed everyone else not far ahead of him. He observed his surroundings carefully as he proceeded inward bit by bit, not wanting to trigger any of the traps.

“So many spiritual medicines!” Everyone cried out in alarm.

The nest was just too large. As they gazed forward, a vast and boundless world appeared before them. There were a few regions where medicinal herbs grew, and essence energy was surging from a cliff where various plants shone brilliantly.

This was the Kun Peng’s dao field. After the passage of countless years, not only did this place not decay, it had even grown into a wondrous and spiritual precious land.

Mists curled about. A stalk of precious medicine would appear every so often, emitting auspicious light. The surge of light they were met with upon entering this place all originated from them.

Such spiritual pureness was extremely rare in the outside world, yet such a large amount was present here. It naturally brought about a huge sensation, making everyone want to steal everything here.

However, the enticement of the Kun Peng technique at the deepest parts was still too great. It made everyone calm their stirring hearts, and only a small portion of the disciples were left behind to pick these medicines. The remaining people went on their way.

They had travelled for another half month already and covered an extremely long distance, yet they still did not see the final forbidden land. This made everyone here fearful.

During this period of time, the devilish brat had fought a great number of battles, receiving many serious injuries as a result. Those individuals were all experts who surpassed the Spirit Transformation realm, and even though they were being suppressed here, they were still top level experts.

This made him feel even more stressed, because there was a chance that he could die here if he continued.

“I’ve been too ambitious, trying to obtain the Kun Peng technique right away. As a result, I’ve become more and more restless, to a point where I can’t even calm down.” Shi Hao spoke to himself.

He did not continue to follow them and instead stopped. He wanted to calm himself down and cultivate within this rarely seen precious land for a period of time.

The archaic divine nest was extremely dangerous, with a crisis at every turn. There were too many experts here, so with his currently strength, he would most likely lose his life in the final battle.

Fortunately, he was able to clear-headedly realize what he had to do.

The sea deity's descendant and Flaming Fish youth were both ridiculously powerful. Those were the creatures that truly stood at the peak!

Other than these two, there were still the pure-blooded creatures from the Archaic Divine Mountains, as well as the older generation kings. There were just too many experts here that weren't to be trifled with. In the outside world, the appearance of a single one would bring about a huge commotion.

Shi Hao felt like he still had time. After all, even though they had already entered the nest for more than a month, they were still far from reaching their destination. It was likely that it would still be a long time before they could reach the end.

Rather than impatiently thinking of ways to fight over that precious technique, it was better to calm down and improve his strength first. After that, his plans could be carried out more effectively.

The devilish child assessed his current state and felt rather ashamed. After calming down, he realised that he became really impatient after entering. He ignored the basis of cultivation and lost his earnest heart.

The Kun Peng's nest was monstrous, stretching as far as the eye could see. Even though there were many dangerous areas that would release destructive symbols upon being triggered, there were also many large peaceful regions.

Shi Hao meditated for two days before getting up. He then proceeded towards towards an area with even less people, occasionally passing by creatures that were picking spiritual medicines.

Finally, he entered an extremely peaceful area. After traveling through a small path and climbing up the Kun Peng nest's walls, he sat down with his legs crossed on the ancient interweaving wooden structure to comprehend the laws of this world peacefully.

There was no one who doubted his skills in cultivation and perception. Shi Hao was outstandingly talented; otherwise, how could he so proudly rush headfirst into everything?

He was only eleven years old, yet he had already reached the Spirit Transformation Realm. Moreover, he entered with ten heavenly passages, making those creatures from the Archaic Divine Mountains speechless.

Wholeheartedly devoting himself towards his meditation, the devilish child immediately dissected the various battles that happened within the Kun Peng nest. He then analyzed all of the battles he experienced during the month he travelled through the waters.

He suddenly realized that it had already been more than two months since he first set out for sea. Time truly passed quickly, and it was only because he was so scatterbrained and impatient that he failed to notice the days go by.

“I’ve broken through a long time ago and have consolidated the dao. Now, I can advance my cultivation realm!” Shi Hao said to himself.

During these past few months, he had experienced countless battles, putting himself in many near-death situations. Even though he had acted rather impulsively, it wasn’t completely bad. With some self-reflection, it all became indispensable experience.

The Spirit Transformation Realm was a realm where one had to understand the meanings of each word. It could evolve as well as reconstruct itself, making this stage a crucial stage of cultivation.

Everything had its own spirit, whether it be a blade of grass, a towering tree, a speck of dust, or even a grain of sand. They all had their own spiritual nature, and needless to say, this was even more true for living creatures.

As such, the Spirit Transformation Realm is the transformation of all types of spiritual natures. It is the formation of one’s spirit, and in doing so, reconstructing oneself into being the most powerful one could be.

If the heavenly passage was an unshakeable foundation that reflected one’s endless potential, then the Spirit Transformation Realm was an additional layer of reform and transformation. It was the pursuit of wings that could allow one's 'true self' to fly towards divinity.

It was for the sake of creating the self, forging one's spiritual body. The process was no longer only about the flesh, but now also involved venturing into the profound mysteries of the soul. If they were able to search deep inside and gain enlightenment, then their entire being would advance, transforming themselves into a divine embryo.

However, there were many mortals who were able to obtain great success in this realm, and all of them would place huge emphasis on the remodeling of their own self. There were even a few individuals that would carry out an evolution within their great heavenly passages, forming a divine spirit with fighting power not inferior to their true body.

If one was able to reach the true extremes of this realm, then they would gain unspeakably wondrous changes and benefits.

For Shi Hao to enter the Spirit Transformation Realm, all he had to do was transform the symbols within his body and activate the spirituality within them. As a result, every strand of divine light contained a spiritual nature that allowed him to surpass his previous self.

To transform one step further, not only did he have to activate the spirituality within himself, he still had to mold his spiritual self. Every single symbol had to seem as if they possessed life, and he had to then use those living symbols to nourish his both body and soul, constructing his true self.

During this entire process, Shi Hao's ten heavenly passages were neatly arranged around him. Among them, two were gushing with auspicious energy, separating into a Kun Peng and a Suan Ni. They were undergoing changes within the Spirit Transformation stage.

The Kun Peng was absolutely dazzling. Its closed eyes suddenly opened, as if life had been bestowed upon it. The Suan Ni flickering with electricity released a long roar, as if it had seized a true spirit and will from the ninth layer of heaven.

This was only the beginning, yet the wonders and mysteries of spirit transformation were already visible.

Shi Hao completely cleared his mind, tossing out all conflict to calm his heart and mind. Only an earnest attitude remained as he wandered about unhurriedly within this fantastic and wonderful state of dao comprehension.

This was absolutely remarkable. He was still fretful and impatient not long ago, with his mind dead set on his plan, yet now he had given up on everything. He was wholeheartedly devoting himself towards cultivation. This was also a type of perseverance and willpower.

How could a normal person do such a thing? This was simply an absolute transformation of one's mentality.

Chapter 244 – Spiritualization of the Body

The Spirit Transformation level was truly wondrous. Shi Hao had submerged in a state where it was no longer a monotonous cultivation but rather a type of mental enjoyment.

His flesh was being refined in every possible way through the light of symbols, undergoing countless reconstructions to evolve the spirituality contained within. It was as if seeds of life were sown into the soil as he watched them sprout, take root, and carry out a flourishing growth. Life force grew increasingly abundant, as if there was a feeling of rebirth

Shi Hao currently sat in a cross-legged position. His forehead was glowing, and his divine consciousness was being satiated as he wandered about in a state of dao. His body went through endless changes, gleaming like the brilliance of a divine gold glaze.

Time flew by. The walls of Kun Peng nest was tranquil without any disturbance. All was silent except for a young man who yearned for cultivation, pouring in both his body and soul.

His mind was empty and clear, without any acute emotional fluctuations. A smile flashed from the corner of his mouth, reflecting his current mental state as he immersed himself within a joyful state of mind.

Before long, his body became obscured by a sphere of hazy light and scarlet clouds rose slowly from his glittering body. His skin was now fairer and more translucent than that of a woman, making him appear extremely beautiful.

This was a result of spiritual illumination, which had cleansed his entire body.

Pipa sound rang out, producing a sonorous tune that resonated through his limbs and into his skeleton. His entire skeletal frame was shining; every bone seemed to be trembling, making him shine even brighter.

A thin layer of film appeared over his bones, making them seem like metal. However, at the same time, they also seemed like crystals as they shone brilliantly. If there was someone here, they would have definitely cried out in surprised when they saw that someone at the initial Spirit Transformation Stage was able to achieve so much.

Normally one would start with the refinement from blood and flesh, yet he was doing it at all levels simultaneously. Even his bones deep inside his body were experiencing such changes.

When introducing spirituality into bones, this film of light was pivotal. Once attached, his bones became much stronger almost instantaneously. His body shone brilliantly, as if they were all divine bones.

This was a key step. The further spiritualization of bones will not only benefit one's cultivation, but it will also significantly improve one's agility and strength.

Apart from that, his blood and flesh were also improving. Every bit of progress was like entering another treasure trove! Spiritual light shone on his entire body, nourishing the flesh.

At that moment, he was glistening from head to toe, as if divine existences were sitting cross-legged inside him one after another, guarding his body and soul.

The integration of flesh and bone took place inside out and outside in simultaneously. The film of light emerged, and projected itself onto the body's surface.

Shi Hao was covered by a light film, as if he was wearing a layer of divine skin. He looked sacred and distant, possessing a sense of perfection, spotless and flawless.

At this moment, he looked like a being of the divine realm that did not belong to this mortal world. His body was immaculate. His bones, blood and flesh kept changing, becoming increasingly bright and translucent.

Spirit Transformation meant one had to take in as much as nature could offer in order to evolve one's spirituality and transcend beyond oneself. As if he had been covered in ceramic glaze, his body lighted up the sky. There was no dust or dirt, only divinity.

The Spirit Transformation level was a process of reconstructing his true self. It was a transformation different from the previous stages. He had to start from his physical body to his spirit, then in turn towards the ten heavenly passages to connect the exterior world, bringing about a complete spirituality and evolution.

The change would start first from the blood to flesh. Afterwards, it would then emerge within the internal organs and bones before ultimately ending within deeper levels.

Yet now, when Shi Hao was transforming his spirituality, the change had happened to his entire body all at once without progressing by layers. There were no separations or oppositions, and the physical body was treated as a single entity while the spiritual transformation and evolution took place.

His blood was glowing, becoming glistening streams to nourish his flesh. Divine light then transpired from blood and flesh to cleanse his internal organs, making them clear and bright like pieces of jade. Finally, even his bones were illuminated.

The injuries from his recent fights were all cured. His internal organs glistened with an even greater brilliance, resembling works of art rather than human organs.

The process was both mysterious and vital for his development. The film of light appeared over every part of Shi Hao, gleaming and glistening brightly with exuberant vitality.

Time flew past, and eight or nine days had passed without his notice. Although all forces and clans had joined the battle and fought with one another, Shi Hao paid no attention, remaining absorbed within his world.

He had forgotten everything else. Cultivation and the study of dao were the only things he cared about.

He felt calm and peaceful without the slightest trace of anxiety, which was a stark difference compared to his mental state not long ago. From beginning to end, there was also a sense of happiness and satisfaction.

Strand after strand of multicolored light curled up. As Shi Hao inhaled and exhaled the auspicious multicolored strands, strips of dragon-like energy moved in and out from his mouth and nostrils. He was breathing with a special rhythm, neither too fast nor too slow, as if there was there was a special pace to it.

Too fast was no good, and too slow would not do either; this was a rhythm of his own. After the dragon-like streaks of energy flew out, they circled about his body, separating him from the ground.

It was a strange and fantastic scene. The auspicious energy here was extremely dense, appearing incredibly mysterious. Shi Hao's body continuously transformed, and the thin layer had fully stabilized. It infused itself into his blood, flesh, internal organs and bones, becoming an indistinguishable part of them.

Half a month later, Shi Hao finally opened his eyes. The walls of the Kun Peng nest were silent. Ancient trees were arranged side by side, producing thick spiritual essence.

His eyes were bright, containing a sense of spirituality within them. His entire being seemed extremely outstanding and distant. This was an embodiment of his body's spiritual transformation, giving him an otherworldly appearance and a feeling of transcendence.

Needless to say, his cultivation state had improved and his fighting capacity enhanced. The effect was striking and he had overcome an important obstacle.

The Spirit Transformation realm was divided into several stages. The first was the spiritualization of the body, then came the reconstruction of the true self and the nourishing of spirituality of the ten heavenly passages.

Among these, spiritualization of the body was the most vital and essential stage. However, one could only get infinitely close to perfection, as reaching complete success was just too difficult. If one truly did reach such a state of perfection, then that individual's power would become absolutely terrifying.

In reality, what most people did at this stage was simply the refining of diving light to cleanse their physical bodies and exercising their bones. The process would then go full circle, turning this stage into a repeating routine.

Even pure-blooded creatures found it incredibly difficult to achieve true perfect spiritualization. Of course, one could move onto the next stage and continue cultivation without reaching this nearly impossible state of perfection.

People have discussed 'spiritualization of the body' since ancient times, using it to name this stage. However, just how many were actually able to achieve it? Only a handful would succeed from every era.

“I’m still in the process of spiritualization. There’s still a gap between this and the true one.” Shi Hao said to himself.

When perfected, the body would become a spiritual embryo that could transform all kinds of spiritual powers for self use. Not only would his breathing and speed of dao comprehension become much faster during cultivation, he could even redirect the spiritual essence of an enemy’s attack and use it for himself.

Spiritualization of the body was immensely beneficial. It contained endless wonders, and only those who truly perfected it understood how great it was.

All of a sudden, he felt an inward sensation and turned around to look into the distance. A pair of lantern-like golden eyes emerged from the misty surroundings, containing within them an extremely powerful fluctuation.

It was a mighty being that was far from ordinary.

Shi Hao was alerted at first, but he loosened up soon after. It was actually just Hairy Ball. With a painful expression, it tumbled over while holding its belly with its tiny claws before finally climbing up the ancient wooden nest.

It rolled over towards Shi Hao, because it couldn’t even walk anymore. Only God knew what it had eaten. Its small belly was sticking out, and his originally round body was now even fatter.

“So you went to pick spiritual medicines! No wonder your strength increased so much.” Shi Hao was amazed.

Hairy Ball was always sleeping these days, so Shi Hao speculated that it might be undergoing some kind of transformation to recover its divine power. Sure enough, this was exactly the case.

The fluffy and golden Hairy Ball woke up earlier and saw that Shi Hao was still immersed in cultivation. It then sneaked away to look for spirited medicines nearby. It feasted on the medicines and stuffed itself.

Rosy lights gushed out as soon as it opened its mouth, and spirited essence were spilling out from its nostrils and ears. Had normal people ate as much as it did, they would have bursted by now.

“Hurry up and recover yourself quickly. I’m counting on you to teach me those matchless divine abilities, like conjuring out three heads and six arms.” Shi Hao lifted Hairy Ball up and inquired about the outside situation.

Hairy Ball shook its head. It didn’t know much. The only thing it did after waking up was eating, and it did not have to walk far.

“You’re such a foodie!” The devilish brat gave its head a knock. He then rubbed his own stomach after realizing that it was growling with hunger.

With a flash, he disappeared from his current spot. An hour later, he returned with several spirited medicines in hand. He began to chew on them with a kachi sounds, as if he was eating carrots.

Hairy Ball gave him a look of contempt and shouted in a zhizhi sound, meaning ‘you’re a foodie yourself, why telling me off?’.

The Kun Peng nest contained several forbidden regions that were full of spirited medicines. The lands were luxuriantly green, dazzling even those who looked from afar. Had these lands been located outside this place, even the ancient countries would start a fight over such resources.

“I must achieve the complete spiritualization of the body!” Shi Hao told himself and started a new round of cultivation.

By now he had learned enough about this level and was looking for ways to go beyond the limit. He strived to achieve perfection in each level and aimed to become legendary.

Another several days had passed before he opened his eyes again. Hairy Ball was acting furtively as it dragged back a stone tablet. Ancient characters were written over it.

“What’s this?” He was surprised.

Hairy Ball gestured to explain that it had stolen the tablet, hence the sneaky behavior.

Currently the world outside had fallen into chaos. All clans were searching in the nest, triggering forbidden formations from time to time. Mighty beings fell like autumn leaves, but they did make some great discoveries.

People had discovered some stone tablets. Although there weren't any divine powers recorded on them, they were still valuable since these writings were left by Kun Peng, recording its life stories.

Seeing that the others were grabbing the tablets, Hairy Ball also joined in. Including this one, it had taken back eight pieces.

Shi Hao looked around and saw a pile of stone tablets. He studied them with patience, reading everything carefully. An idea came to him. Although the tablets did not contain secret methods, they did talk about the trainings and penances the Kun Peng went through after being born.

One of them even mentioned that this sea resembled closely to the birthplace of the Kun Peng. The similar environment was suitable for the young ones to train themselves.

Shi Hao stretched out. "Come, let's go outside."

Finally, they walked out of the Kun Peng nest and followed along the path. They found many people had also backed out. After exploring this place for so long and suffering so many deaths and injuries, they still hadn't found the precious technique.

Many were getting doubtful about whether the nest contained that matchless divine power or not.

Everyone had become even more careful now. They only sent part of their teams to explore the nest and the rest waited outside, because continuing to rush forward would be too exhausting.

Putong! Shi Hao dived into the blue sea and started another round of cultivation to toughen himself.

Located at the bottom of the sea were the Cave of the Utmost Yang, the Abyss of Black Ice, and the Tomb of Fallen Stars, all of which were the most wonderful places to train for spiritualization. Common people might not set eyes on even one of them in a lifetime.

Flames surged high in the Cave of the Utmost Yang. The light glistened on the seabed, unextinguishable by the sea water.

Everything was sealed by ice in the Abyss of Black Ice. Frozen sea water filled the place. One could only get near by breaking through the ice.

The Tomb of Fallen Stars consisted of meteorites that had fallen from the sky, and there were even some divine iron ores that were extremely rare in this world. They had all dropped down from the sky, piling up high in this place.

These were terrifying places. Spiritual essence moved so violently that it could easily tear one to pieces. To toughen oneself in these places was like living in heaven and hell at the same time.

“Did the Kun Peng use these to train and strengthen itself when it was young?” Shi Hao said to himself before starting another round of tough cultivation.

He was absorbed by this place and had forgotten the nights and days. For exactly three months, he had introduced all kinds of spiritual powers into his body and pushed his physical strength to another height.

Finally, at the pitchblack bottom of the sea, a figure opened his eyes, emitting two flashes of divine lightnings. It was a striking scene. The figure murmured to himself. “Absolute Spiritualization of the body, I made it.”

